NEARLY 100 MAY HAVE BEEN BURNED ALIVE IN THE VOLTURNO WRECK

Steamship With 105 Survivors Brings Story of Disaster.

Capt. Inch's Account of Tragedy Carried By Wireless.

Simple Statement Fails to Tell of His Own Heroism.

New York, Oct. 15.—Between 80 and 90 passengers on the Volturno were trapped in Compartment No. 1 by the first explosion on the vessel Thursday morning, and either perished at once or were burned alive. This news was brought to port today with the docking of the steamship Grosser Kurfuerst bearing 105 survivors of the disaster.

A wireless received from one of the survivors on the steamship Kroonland told of Capt. Inch's heroism. Although the Volturno's commander did not mention the fact in his own story, it develops that he was injured in fighting the flames. When he finally boarded the Kroonland, his face was scorched and blackened from fire and smoke, his arms and hands were burned, his uniform was charred and the flames had practically eaten the shoes from his feet.

All the while, though ready to drop from exhaustion, he calmed his passengers with cheerful words.

Capt. Inch's Story.

Capt. Francis Inch of the Volturno sent his story of the disaster by wireless last night from the Kroonland, on which he is being brought to this port, to the offices of the Uranium line here.

The Kroonland may not reach here until Thursday or later, as she had a mishap to a shaft, she reported today, and is proceeding slowly. The captain's message was sent to the press through the Uranium Steamship company's offices here. The Red Star Steamship company co-operated in seeing that the captain's story was promptly transmitted.

It is possible that the total number of thedead in the disaster may shrink

"BARBARA FRITCHIE OF SUFFRAGE" RISES

Plants Flag Before Street Car That Would Break Parade Line.

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 15.—A Barbara Fritchie incident was enacted here last night during a parade of suffragists when a motorman attempted to break the ranks of the marchers by running his car through them. Mrs. George Topliff of this city planted an American flag between the tracks and dared the motorman to run it down. She kept it there until the parade had passed, and was cheered for her courage.

SULZER CASE HANGING FIRE

High Court Discusses Situation Behind Closed Doors.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Guessing on when a verdict will be reached as to the guilt or innocence of Governor Sulzer is about as uncertain a thing as can be done now.

Today the high court of impeachment resumed deliberations in executive session on the question whether to admit the testimony of Duncan W. Peck and Harry L. Morgenthau as proof of article 4 of the impeachment charges, or to ask the assembly for another article covering the offenses alleged in the testimony.

The executive sessions of the court of impeachment are pretty successful from a standpoint of secrecy. All persons except the judges are removed from the halls and corridors as well as the courtrooms. Some of the remarks of members of the court leaked out yesterday through a rear door of the courtroom and when this became known soundproof paper was tacked across the door and four policemen placed on guard.

Judges Are Puzzled.

It is doubtful, however, if much could be told about the possibility of reaching a verdict even if the sessions were open. Some of the judges said they were as puzzled over the technical problem with which the court now is wrestling as are the laymen.

All sorts of arguments are current around the capitol as to whether the necessary seventy-six votes in the assembly could be obtained so near election time to adopt the proposed new articles of impeachment. It was said that ambitious candidates would not care to go on record now.

Opinions differ as to whether, in case of the passage of a new article of impeachment, it would be necessary to give the governor twenty days in which to answer it.

SOCIETY LEADER SAYS ACCUSER HATES HUSBAND

MRS. CLARENCE MACKEY.

MRS. MACKAY IS ACCUSER

Declares That Mrs. Blake Threatened to Murder Husband.

Finally Breaks Silence on $1,000,000 Suit for Alienation.

New York, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, suffrage leader and wife of the head of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company, broke her silence today regarding the million dollar suit filed against her by Catherine K. Blake for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Dr. Joseph A. Blake, surgeon.

Through her personal counsel, Arthur C. Train, Mrs. Mackay denies all of Mrs. Blake's allegations, in a formal answer filed in the supreme court, and characterizes Mrs. Blake as one who has a "jealous disposition, an ungovernable temper," and "no affection or love for her husband," who at one time, it is alleged, she threatened to kill.

Since 1895, Mrs. Mackay avers, Mrs. Blake has had no affection for the doctor.

Accuses Her Accuser.

"On the contrary," the answer continues, "she has sought to injure his good name by constantly spreading among his patients, friends and relatives, false and unjust rumors and accusations against him regarding his

TENNESSEE GIRL IS DECLARED MURDERED

Lodger in Same Georgia Boarding House Held By Police.

Thomasville, Ga., Oct. 15.—What at first appeared to be the suicide in a boarding house of Miss Dorothy Haug of Knoxville, Tenn., has been definitely established to have been a murder.

T. W. Duane, a lodger at the same boarding house, is detained in connection with the murder, although exonerated by the coroner's jury.

The girl's skull had been crushed, and although a revolver with one chamber empty lay beside her body when it was found Monday morning, physicians declared she had suffered no bullet wound.

Was Honor Student.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 15.—Miss Dorothy was an honor graduate of the Knoxville high school in 1908, and of the University of Tennessee in 1912. She is a daughter of Mrs. Lucy B. Haug, author and composer, and a granddaughter of the late Rev. Dr. Beard, a Presbyterian clergyman.

WANTS TO TAX EXPORT GOLD

J. M. Gardin of New York Suggests Plan as Protection.

Hepburn Attacks Currency Bill as Political Output.

New York, Oct. 15.—A novel plan for protecting the country's gold supply was suggested today by John M. Gardin, vice president of the National City bank of New York. In an address on "Foreign Exchange Problems," before the second national conference on currency reform, held under the auspices of the New York Academy of Political Science, Mr. Gardin said the president should be empowered to proclaim an export duty on gold exports when necessary to safeguard the supply of gold.

"The most serious problem confronting us to day in our international relations, particularly in view of the pending changes in our banking system," said Mr. Gardin, "is the protection of our gold supply. The United States is the only absolutely free market for gold in the world and we have to suffer for our liberality.

If Conditions Are Normal.

"If conditions are normal and exchanges are against us, it would neither be wise nor good business policy to place any restrictions upon the export of gold at all; but if we see that an export of metal under such circumstances would still further aggravate conditions, it would be perfectly proper to apply the brakes, particularly as recent legislation has made it easier to obtain bars than formerly.

"We could add a premium to the cost of bars, but this premium could not be placed higher than ¼ of 1 per cent as that is about the difference between bars and coined gold. This premium could be made on a sliding scale, with a maximum of ½ per cent. This is about the limit of arbitrary action. Of course, all of this is predicated upon a legitimate export demand on the basis of exchange rates.

Power With President.

"If the demand, however, is an arbitrary one, such as recently took place in connection with gold shipments to

JULIAN HAWTHORNE FREED FROM PRISON

He and Dr. Morton Finish Sentences in Federal Cells.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 15.—After more than six months imprisonment in the Federal penitentiary here for violating the postal laws, Julian Hawthorne and Dr. W. J. Morton of Boston, today are free. They planned to leave for New York.

Hawthorne and Morton were sentenced March 21 last to terms of one year and one day, but it was ordered that their sentences date from the time of their arrest, four months previous. "Good behavior" brought about a further shortening of their sentences.

Since he entered the doors of the Atlanta prison, Hawthorne's record, according to officials, has been such as to prove particularly helpful to his fellow prisoners. He has made noteworthy contributions to the prison paper, it was said, and was considered a valuable counsellor by his fellow prisoners.

UNDERWOOD IS CONFIDENT

Says No Trade War Will Grow Out of Tariff Law.

His Views on 5 Per Cent Clause Are Shared By Wilson.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Representative Underwood, an early White House caller today, defended the 5 per cent clause of the tariff law giving a discount to imports in American ships, by declaring it was merely a return to the original Democratic doctrine of Madison and Jefferson and would rehabilitate the American merchant marine.

"I am not hunting a trade war," said Mr. Underwood, "but the president had the right to cancel any trade agreements that we have that may conflict with this provision. The 5 per cent clause is not nearly so drastic as the maximum and minimum provision of the Payne-Aldrich law. I don't believe in subsidies. The shipper of the merchandise under this arrangement would get the 5 per cent reduction, and the ship-owner would benefit by the increase of business, both of which objects are desirable."

Told Views to Wilson.

Mr. Underwood declared that before the bill became a law he had acquainted President Wilson with those views, and that since the signing of the measure the president had not inquired of him about the subject. Mr. Underwood said he was not speaking for the president.

Mr. Underwood expressed the opinion that there would be no trade war inasmuch as many foreign countries had discriminated in favor of their own shipping.

Later it became known that President Wilson held practically the same view of the situation as did Mr. Underwood, and that the whole matter would be threshed out in diplomatic channels instead of by any effort to repeal or modify the law.

The French ambassador, Jules Jesserand, who returned today, had an engagement with the president.

AMERICAN GREEKS FELL IN BALKAN WAR

Almost Entire Regiment From Lowell, Mass., Was Wiped Out.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 15.—Almost the entire "holy regiment" of Lowell Greeks who returned to their native land to fight the Turk was wiped out in the Balkan war, according to Capt. George Sarris, the first member of the regiment to come back to this country. The majority of the men, he said, were either killed outright or seriously wounded. Others succumbed to pneumonia.

Sarris was wounded in battle, and after his recovery was honorably discharged. He served in only one battle in the war against Turkey, most of his fighting being done in the subsequent conflict between Greece and Bulgaria.

Sarris accuses the Bulgarians of many atrocities.

Goodbye, Cranberries!

Middleboro, Mass., Oct. 15.—The Plymouth country cranberry crop is hard hit by the snow storm of yesterday. Growers estimated today that 50,000 barrels of unpicked berries in the bogs in this vicinity were spoiled.

DUCHESS BECOMES BRIDE OF PRINCE

PRINCESS ALEXANDRA, Duchess of Fife.

PRINCE ARTHUR Of Connaught.

ENGLISH DUCAL HOUSES ARE UNITED BY ROYAL WEDDING

Prince Arthur of Connaught Weds Duchess of Fife.

Notable Gathering of Royalty Marks the Event.

London, Oct. 15.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, son of the duke of Connaught, governor-general of Canada, was today married to Princess Alexandra Victoria, duchess of Fife, eldest daughter of the widowed Princess Royal Louise. The ceremony took place in the ancient chapel of St. James' palace, where both were baptized.

A futile attempt to reach King George and Queen Mary was made by a militant suffragette, Miss Margaret Sterling, as their majesties were on the way to the wedding. The young woman broke through the line of police, waving a petition, but she was seized and arrested.

Royalty There in Force.

There was room for fewer than 300 persons in the simply decorated chapel, but not since the coronation of King George had there been such a gathering of royalties and notable personages as on this occasion.

Besides King George, Queen Mary, Queen Mother Alexandra, the king and queen of Norway and other royal relatives of the couple, the congregation consisted of the diplomatic corps, the British cabinet, members of the royal households and a few distinguished civilians.

Among the diplomats were Ambassador Walter H. Page and Mrs. Page. The ambassador was dressed in plain evening clothes and was the only person who wore neither a decoration nor a uniform.

American Women Present.

Among those present was Lady De-

GRAIN MEN TALK OF TRADE SUPERVISION

Have Raised $10,000 to Fight Adverse Legislative Plans.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 15.—Federal supervision of grading and inspection of the grain markets of the country was the subject of discussion at the convention of the grain dealers' national association here today. Resolutions favoring a national supervision are before the convention. It is said they would not be adopted without strong opposition led by delegates from Chicago.

The association adopted a resolution to raise a fund of $10,000 with which to oppose hostile legislation. The presidents of several state organizations gave assurance of support and made personal contributions.

WILSON NOTE VERY CURT AND TO THE POINT

Accuses Dictator of Lawlessness—Will Ignore Election.

Spanish Minister Calls Diplomats to Discuss Situation.

John Lind's Recall Is Reported, But Promptly Denied.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The Mexican situation today was regarded by officials here as drifting toward a crisis, with the United States awaiting Huerta's next move.

The commanding feature was the action of the Spanish minister in Mexico City calling a meeting of the diplomatic corps to discuss Huerta's assumption of a practical dictatorship. Administration officials and diplomatists attached deep significance to that.

This development attracted great attention because of the Spanish minister's friendship for Henry Lane Wilson, the former ambassador of the United States to Mexico, and because the Spanish minister never has supported the policy of the United States.

Senate Committee Met.

President Wilson discussed the situation with Secretary Bryan and several senators, and later the foreign relations committee of the senate had a meeting behind closed doors. It was a regular meeting day, however, and the session of the senators was not called by developments.

Chairman Bacon of the committee, after a talk with the president, expressed the view that even had the United States recognized Huerta, his assumption of the role of dictator would, in his opinion, have been sufficient cause for a withdrawal of recognition. There are no precedents for withdrawing recognition once extended, but diplomatists pointed out that such an effect might be substantially

CHURCHGOERS FIGHT; ONE DEAD; ONE DYING

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 15.—A dispute over the right of way of two buggies, church-bound on a country road at Elsey, Mo., which was begun last Sunday, came to an end last night with the following results:

The fight began when the two pairs of brothers, driving in opposite directions, met near the church and each refused to turn so that the other might pass by.

GOVERNMENT FILES LUMBER SUIT BRIEF

Washington, Oct. 15.—The government filed its brief in the lumber "trust" case today in the supreme court. It was prepared by G. Carroll Todd, assistant to the attorney general, and marks another stage in the action under the Sherman anti-trust law against a number of associations of retail lumber dealers throughout Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

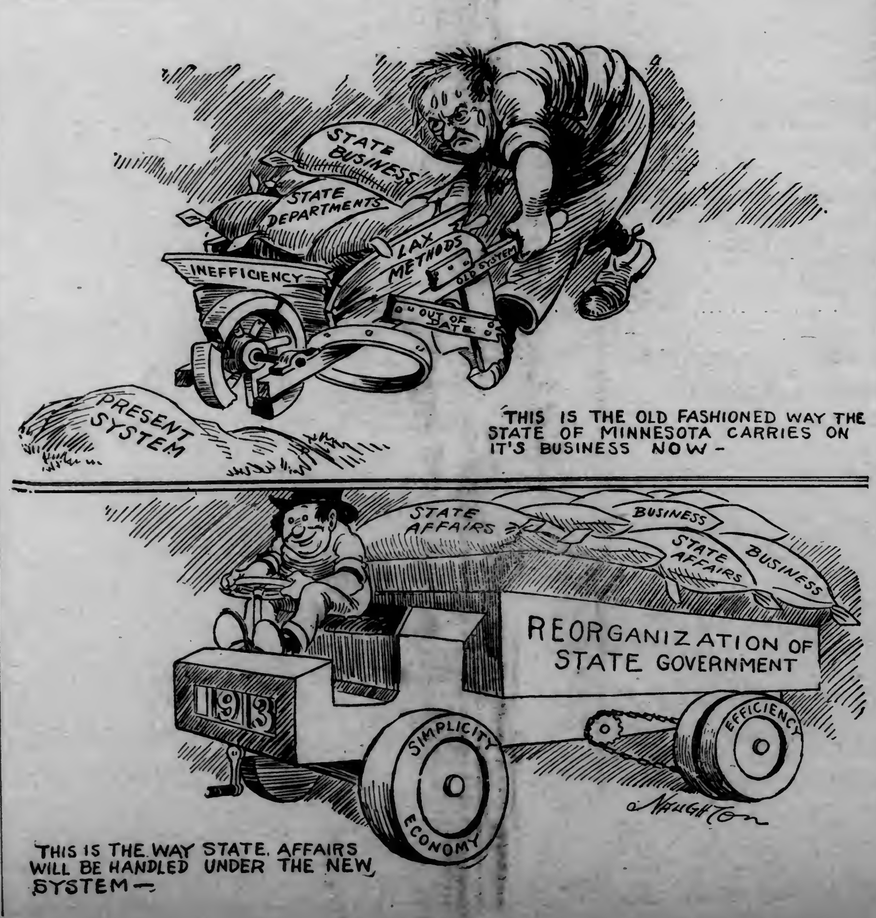

The associations are appealing from the Southern district court of New York, which held the retailers to be violators of the anti-trust law and enjoined the further distribution of blacklists against boycotted wholesalers who sell directly to consumers.

DETROIT RED LIGHT DISTRICT WIPED OUT

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—Commercialized vice under the regulation of the police department ceased in Detroit at midnight last night. In compliance with an order issued several weeks ago by Police Commissioner Gillespie, 167 resorts were closed.

"PERFECT WOMAN IN MINIATURE" IS DEAD

New Albin, Iowa, Oct. 15.—Miss Ruthey Howes, who is dead here at the age of 66 years, was reputed to have been the smallest perfectly formed woman in Iowa. She was thirty-seven inches tall and weighed sixty pounds. Not deformed in any way, Miss Howes was a remarkably beautiful and attractive woman in miniature. She was a school teacher and a musician of ability.

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR THE CURRENCY BILL

Tillman, Hughes and Martine Talk With the President.

Washington, Oct. 15.—"I came to urge President Wilson to run the freight train over obstructionists holding up the currency bill," said Senator Tillman today, as he left the White House. Senator Hughes and Senator Martine of New Jersey also brought the White House advices that prospects for speedy action were growing.

Indorsing the general principles of the administration currency bill, William Ingle of the Merchants' & Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore today condemned a number of its details before the senate banking committee. He defended the recent bankers' conference at Boston and declared that the bankers were absolutely "untrammeled" in their consideration of the bill. He denied any "conspiracy" to oppose the measure.

FRENCH MAIL GOES BY AERIAL ROUTE.

Villacoublay, France, Oct. 15.—The first French aerial mail was dispatched from here by aeroplane at 7 o'clock this morning. Lieut. Andre Ronin carried the bag, containing twenty-two pounds of letters destined for the West Indies and Central America, to St. Julien-Beychevelle, from which place they were transported by automobile to the seaport of Pauillac and placed on board the steamer Perou.

DAVID LAMAR'S BOND DECLARED FORFEITED

Wall Street Man Fails to Appear to Answer Charges.

New York, Oct. 15.—David Lamar, the Wall Street manipulator under indictment for impersonating congressmen and others, failed to appear before Judge Hunt in the Federal district court today for pleading and his bond of $3,000 was declared forfeited.

NIGHT WORK PROGRESSES

Y. M. C. A Classes Are Too Large for Their Present Quarters.

New Class in Mechanical Drawing to Be Formed Tuesday Night.

The Y. M. C. A. night school is making excellent progress. The large drawing room is already full and overflowing. Secretary Turner reports that a new class in mechanical drawing will be opened next Tuesday night at 7:30 to take care of the new students already enrolled and waiting for room. Every drawing board in the building has been taken and new boards have been ordered.

Business Subjects.

The class in business subjects has become so large that it must be divided. This will be done this week or at the first session next week.

The new course in shop mathematics will be opened on Thursday night at 7:30. This offers an opportunity for young men to get a thorough course in practical mathemtics. The first course will deal with common fractions, decimals, money and wages, percentage, circumferences, including cutting and grinding speeds, ratio and proportion, pulley and gear trams, change gears, areas and volumes of simple figures, square root, circles, powers and roots, levers, tackle blocks, inclined plane and screw work, power and energy, horse-power and belting, horse-power of engines, mechanics of fluids, heat and strength of materials.

Advanced Course Offered.

The advanced course includes the essentials of algebra, geometry and trigonometry, including such phases of these subjects as experience has proved to be necessary to the solution of usual shop problems. It includes formulas, explanation of terms, addition, substraction, multiplication and division of algebraic expressions, transformation of formulas, solution of simple equations, simultaneous equations, quadratics, tables and curves, equations of curves, geometric constructions, construction and properties of geometric figures, areas of same, volumes and surfaces of solids. Trigonometry, the six functions, their significance and uses, screw threads and spirals, solution of triangles, logarithms, logarithms of decimals powers and roots.

This course has been worked out with great care and enables the student to cover a great deal of work in a short time.

The men in the bookkeeping and shorthand courses are doing splendid work. The groups are small and close personal attention is given to each pupil. The same is true of the course in penmanship. Several men are preparing for civil service and are making excellent progress. The course in public speaking and debate is forming now and proving very interesting and profitable to the men.

Special Opportunity.

The splendid work done in the show card class last season under the direction of R. G. Coster, the showcard writer at Oak hall, proved the value of this work. A few more students may be accommodated.

Unusual opportunity is offered all men connected with electrical work of any kind, to secure a thorough grounding in the subject of electricity. The work is arranged on a new plan and will meet the needs of all men interested in this line of work and who want to increase their earning power.

SHOULD PAY PRISONERS

Trades Assembly Wants Earnings of Chain Gang Given to Families.

Commissioner Promises to Consider It—Is Work Farm Plan.

The Federated Trades assembly believes that where prisoners are employed on the chain gang for constructive street work, those who have families or others dependent upon them should receive compensation.

The trades assembly does not desire that the money which they earn should be paid to them, as the probability is that they would squander it, but that it should be turned over to their families. Observation has shown that where men are imprisoned as punishment for wrongdoing the greatest sufferers are their wives and children, it is claimed. The breadwinner has food and lodging provided for him at the expense of the taxpayers and those left at home are usually without funds and seldom in a position to help themselves independently.

John E. Jensen, secretary of the assembly, has written a letter to Commissioner Murchison, head of the works division, which has charge of the street work on which these prisoners are engaged, conveying those sentiments to him. The commissioner replied that he would give the matter careful consideration and write the assembly further at a later date.

When the work farm is put in operation this feature is included as part of the operating plan. The men with families will be paid for their work, but their earnings will be turned over to their families to tide them over the period the prisoner is detained. Where prisoners are employed on useful street work it is likely the idea would meet with the approval of the general public and it is very improbable that any objections would be raised.

OBITUARY

Lieut. Col. Frederick Fuger, U. S. A., retired, for more than a half century in the military service of the United States, died in Washington, Oct. 14. He was born in Koppingen, Germany, in 1836.

Dr. E. I. Woodbury, aged 84, died at his home in Council Bluffs, Iowa, Oct. 15. Dr. Woodbury was the first man to practice dentistry in Western Iowa and has for many years been prominent in his profession.

John Fallon, a former member of the national executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, died at Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 14, after an operation. He had participated in the settlement of every general coal strike during the last fourteen years.

LOCATING THE TERMINUS

Traction Company's First Manager Reiterates It Was Eighth Avenue.

In further support of its contention that the Duluth Street Railway company during the fall of 1882 failed to build within the time prescribed by its franchise the required full mile of street railway, the city's counsel in the quo warranto proceedings on in district court, put several more witnesses on the stand this morning.

Each of the city's witnesses testified that the western terminus of the line built in 1882 was located east of Sixth avenue, or about two blocks east of the point fixed by the witnesses who testified for the street railway company during the first days of the trial.

Among the witnesses who were on the stand this morning were Alex McLennan, contractor; John McLennan, his brother, saloon keeper; Hutch Bevier, Mrs. Mary Holler, L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor; W. B. Patton, civil engineer; Jerome E. Cooley, J. W. Schellenberger and W. C. Sherwood. Those who gave testimony along the same line yesterday afternoon were E. C. Heimbaugh, Christina Hoppmann, E. J. Hoppmann, Nicholas Young, E. L. Toomey, H. Lawson, William P. McCrimmon and M. Longtin.

Alex McLennan testified that he had lived at Eighth avenue west and Superior street during the fall of 1882 and that he remembered the building of the first street railway line. He testified positively that the car line was not extended west of Sixth avenue, his impression being that it ended a few feet east of Sixth avenue. He did not pretend, he said, to say where the eastern terminus of the road was that year. The stone quarry, which had been referred to by several of the witnesses and in the newspaper accounts of the building of the line was located by Mr. McLennan at a point between Seventh and Eighth avenue west. Mr. McLennan was at that time 20 years old.

Brother Confirms It.

John McLennan, a brother who was 16 years of age at the time the first line was built, testified to substantially the same facts. Alex McLennan on cross-examination stated that his impression was that the line was built from the east to the west. A number of the other witnesses had testified the line had been built from the west to the east.

L. A. Marvin, deputy county auditor, who stated that he had been a resident of Duluth for fifty years, located the eastern terminus of the road at a point 25 or 50 feet beyond the easterly line of Third avenue east. He remembered, he said, that a turntable was in the street at that point, and that it just cleared the east line of the avenue. On cross-examination, Mr. Marvin stated that along in the early '80s, after the first line had been built, he had never heard any claim made by any one that the street railway had failed to live up to the requirement of its franchise.

The Stone Quarry.

W. B. Patton, who served as village engineer in the spring of 1883, located the stone quarry at a point between Seventh and Eighth avenue west on Superior street.

Yesterday afternoon A. S. Chase, second president and first manager of the company, was recalled to the witness stand for rebuttal. He was positive in his testimony that the first car line extended as far west as Eighth avenue, and that in the fall of 1882 a wooden turntable was installed there.

Attorney Francis W. Sullivan of the city's counsel stated at noon today that the city expected to put on about five or six more witnesses before closing its case.

Ten Killed in English Wreck.

Liverpool, Oct. 15.—Ten passengers were killed and eighteen others injured in a collision near here today between a local train and the Manchester express. The rear coach of the express was shattered.

NO HOPE FELT FOR AVIATOR JEWELL.

New York, Oct. 15.—No hope was held out today that Albert J. Jewell, the young aviator, who set out from Hempstead Plains early Monday morning in a monoplane would be found alive. The theory that he was blown out to sea is generally accepted and it is possible that his body may never be recovered. However, search was continued this morning.

Motor Kills Druggist.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 15.—Harris White, a druggist of Macon, is dead here today as a result of an automobile accident, which occurred near his home last night. His machine skidded and turned over, crushing him.

Heat that offsets dampness

The raw, searching winds, chill rains, and penetrating fogs and dampness of early Spring and late Fall are health-dangerous. Then is the risky time of extremes—under and over-heating. To protect in any weather, by balanced heating,—little to liberal, just as you need it—is the mission and guaranty of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

An IDEAL Boiler will burn least fuel because it is unnecessary to force the fire to send heat to windward rooms—the more heat needed the faster will be the flow of warmth to the AMERICAN Radiators to offset the cold. All IDEAL Boilers are or may be fitted with an IDEAL Sylphon Regitherm, which gives perfect automatic control over the draft and check dampers, insuring great fuel economy and uniform heating.

Saves running up and down the cellar stairs during quick-changing weather. It is the greatest improvement made in a century for exact control of the volume of heat. The practical values and every-day economies, conveniences and cleanliness of these heating outfits have been demonstrated in thousands of notable buildings, homes, stores, schools, churches, hospitals, theaters, etc., in nearly every civilized country, and endorsed by leading health officials, engineers and architects.

That is why IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are so fully guaranteed. Yet they cost no more than ordinary types made without scientific tests of construction and capacity. IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators do not corrode, warp nor rust out by action of fire, gases or water—will last scores of years!

A No. 1124 IDEAL Boiler and 461 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $225, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which are extra and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

Their purchase price is a far-sighted investment, adding 10% to 15% to rentals, and you get "full money back" if building is sold. If Fall winds are now showing how comfortless and costly your present heating is, write us today for (free) book:—"Ideal Heating"—which shows how to put "an armor of balanced heating comfort" around your building and save fuel.

IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators change any house into a home.

CASE SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The personal injury action brought against the Great Northern railway by Esther G. Benedict, who wanted $10,000 damages for the alleged wrongful death of her husband, Fred C. Benedict, has been settled out of court. The trial of the action at the May term of court resulted in a disagreement. The terms of the settlement are not known.

Benedict was killed under the wheels of a train on July 16, last, at Allouez, where he was employed in the yards as a hostlers' helper at the roundhouse. When he met with the fatal accident, he was returning from a trip to the water hydrant. In going to and from the water hydrant he was obliged to cross the tracks.

Benedict was caught in a death trap between the coal shed and a passing train, which, is was claimed, swept down upon him without warning. He was knocked against the side of the building and in falling was caught under the wheels. Both limbs were cut off and his body horribly mangled. Besides his widow, Benedict left twin girls, Florence and Fuoy, for whose benefit the suit was brought.

The action was maintained under the Wisconsin statutes, which established the liability of a railroad company up to the amount of $10,000.

STATE FOREST LAWS.

As a subject of general interest throughout the forested district of the state, a synopsis of requirements of the law relative to the cutting of all classes and kinds of timber and the clearing of right-of-way for railroads and public highways is given below:

Sections 15 and 16, of chapter 125, Laws of 1911, as amended by chapter 159, Laws of 1913, require that all slash from timber cutting, and slash, limbs, roots, debris and everything of a combustible nature, excepting merchantable timber and fuel wood, removed from right-of-way of railroads or public highways, be disposed of in accord with instructions of the state forester, while section 41 of chapter 114, Laws of 1913, requires all persons cutting timber on state or private lands, to mail to the state forester at St. Paul, Minn., before commencing cutting, a precise description showing lots, forties, section, township and range on which they propose to operate, a duplicate of such notice to be conspicuously posted in their headquarters camp at the same time and kept posted there during the entire period of their cutting, non-compliance in each and every case carrying maximum penalties of either $100 fine, or ninety days' imprisonment in the county jail, a reward of $25 to be paid to the party filing information on which conviction is secured, the statute of limitations not applying in connection with violations of this law.

Percy Vibert, state forest ranger, Cloquet, Minn., will be pleased to advise parties desiring further information relative to state forest laws.

GIVES LECTURES ON FIRST AID

Dr. Shields Speaks to Omaha Employes While Going Over Line.

Dr. M. J. Shields, Scranton, Pa., of the American Red Cross Society, who has been making a trip over the Omaha lines, giving lectures and demonstrations on first aid to the injured to employes, spoke in Duluth last evening from his private car to employes in this city. Dr. Shields was accompanied by G. L. Wright, chairman of the Central Safety committee of the Omaha railway.

Mr. Wright says that Dr. Shields' lectures have been of inestimable value to the employes of the Omaha, and large numbers have turned out to hear him on his trip. This was his second journey over the line in two years, and he is widely known among railway men.

Dr. Shields and Mr. Wright left today for Itasca for the day. From there they will proceed to Altoona, Wyeville, and Elroy, Wis. From Elroy Mr. Shields will begin a journey over the Northwestern lines.

Parent Fights School Rules.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 15.—A case involving the respective rights of parents and teachers has come before the Ashland school board, with indications that it will go through the courts for settlement. E. H. Allen, through his attorney, Stanley Smith, presented a petition to the school board asking that his daughter be excused from physical culture exercise. By a divided vote the board turned down the petition. Mr. Smith says now that he will take the case into the court at once.

WANTS ALIEN LAND LAW FOR FLORIDA.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Representative Frank Clark of Florida has addressed a letter to Governor Park Trammel, urging him to call a special session of the Florida legislature to enact a law that would prohibit "Japanese and people of like races," from owning land within the state. Mr. Clark said he was actuated by reports that Japanese had been acquiring property in his state.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It, Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet company, Columbus, O.

BANQUET OF MERCHANTS

Lark o' the Lake May Be Held Again—Praise for Ad Men.

The great success attending the Duluth exposition and a style show, good roads and the advisability of continuing the Lark o' the Lake, were among the subjects discussed at the meeting of the Merchants' association held at the St. Louis hotel last evening.

Resolutions were passed thanking the Duluth Ad Men's association for the effective way in which it had carried through its scheme of decorating the city during exposition week, and in advertising that enterprise and the style show.

The gratifying results that had attended the style show were touched upon in addresses by George A. Gray, Bentley P. Neff, A. Ahlen and B. Silberstein. The idea of continuing it was indorsed by the thirty merchants present.

Before adjournment, it was decided to hold a dinner at the Commercial club at an early date, to which all the retail merchants of the city would be invited. The dinner will be of a social nature, with the idea of fostering a spirit of co-operation among the retailers.

The arriving at a decision on whether or not to continue the Lark o' the Lake was deferred until the next meeting. J. J. Moe, president of the association, presided.

BUSY SEASON FOR PENINSULA LOGGERS

Lumber Companies and Contractors in Upper Michigan Busy.

Channing, Mich., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Upper Michigan logging interests are entering upon a season of woods operations that promises to be as active and productive of fully as extensive a cut as has been recorded during any fall and winter of recent years. Camps are being opened in many districts where lumbering continues to be an important, if not the chief, industry.

Closed down and undergoing repairs for several weeks, the sawmill of the L. Jenson Lumber company at Ewen, Ontonagon county, will resume operations about Nov. 1. Provided sufficient labor can be obtained, a night as well as a day shift will be employed. A manufactory new to Upper Michigan will be an excelsior plant at Maple Ridge, Delta county.

An important deal was recorded when the Connors & McCafferty Cedar & Logging company, with offices at Escanaba, purchased from the Van's Harbor Land & Lumber company the timber on 13,700 acres in Schoolcraft and Delta counties for a consideration reported to be close to $100,000. The land will be logged at once.

With "The Stack Lumber company" as the new title, the Escanaba Lumber company has been reorganized with a capitalization of $1,500,000. This concern, one of the largest in the Lake Superior region, is controlled by John K. Stack, Sr., of Escanaba and his sons. It owns 90,000 acres of hardwood lands in Mackinac, Luce, Schoolcraft and Delta counties and a fifty-mile railroad traversing the upper peninsula almost entirely, connecting the Soo line and the D., S. S. & A. railway at Pike Lake and Seney, respectively. It is the reported intention to increase the annual output to 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 feet of timber products.

The sawmill of the Sagola Lumber company at Sagola, Dickinson county, has not been operating much more than half-time lately on account of a shortage of men in the woods. The company has 6,000,000 feet of lumber in its yards and is shipping at the rate of thirty cars a week. Thomas L. Carey, a jobber, of Sagola, will put in 800,000 feet of logs this season, operating on the Escanaba & Lake Superior railroad. The O'Callaghen Lumber company of Norway, Dickinson county, expects to put in 2,000,000, feet of logs, in addition to cedar posts, poles and ties and pulpwood in considerable quantities.

It is estimated that the input of logs in the Felch and Breen region of Dickinson county this season will exceed 20,000,000 feet, mostly mixed timber. The biggest operator will be the Morgan Lumber & Cedar company of Foster City. A. P. Farrell of Iron Mountain will cut 500,000 feet of timber from his own lands and an additional 500,000 feet for the Morgan company. Eric J. Johnson of Felch expects to put in 300,000 feet of hardwood logs, 3,000 poles, 15,000 cedar posts, 7,000 ties and 150 cords of pulpwood. Andrew Klann of Felch estimates his prospective cut at 1,000,000 feet of hemlock and hardwood logs. John Blomquist, also a jobber, of Metropolitan is figuring on banking 1,000,000 feet of mixed logs, 15,000 poles, 8,000 ties and 2,000 posts.

The season's lumber shipments from Baraga, Lake Superior, will approximate 21,000,000 feet. While the mill of the Nester interests was closed the last of September for the year, after having cut between nine and ten million feet, the plant of the Baraga Lumber company is operating with double shifts and will not suspend for another month or more yet.

While the figures on the year's production will not be available for weeks yet, the season's output of the big mill of Charles Hebard & Sons at Pequaming, Baraga county, will be the largest in the history of this important Philadelphia concern. Sawing was commenced April 10 and it is planned to keep the plant in commission until Christmas.

At Ontonagon, Ontonagon county, D. J. Norton is operating his sawmill double shift. The Greenwood Lumber company has both its sawmill and box-board factory in commission and will begin operations at its hoop mill shortly. This concern is employing 200 men in the woods. The Hawley Lumber company of Ontonagon has manufactured 2,250,000 feet of lumber the present season and is preparing to enlarge its production another year. W. J. Forsythe, jobber, of Ontonagon, will cut several million feet of logs and several thousand poles this winter. Paul Francis of Ontonagon is planning on putting in 2,500,000 feet of timber. The Eddy Lumber company, operating at Lake Linden, Houghton county, will, it is expected, keep its mill in commission until about Dec. 1; its season's cut will approximate 5,000,000 feet. Lave Billings, a Gogebic iron range jobber, has established a camp north of Bessemer and will get out 2,000,000 feet of logs this winter.

The Central Paper company has installed an electric light plant at its mill at Nogi, Mackinac county. The company has seven camps in the woods, two of which are operated by jobbers, and the mill is running on full time.

R. F. Gibbs & Son of Iron River, Iron county, plan to cut 5,000,000 feet of logs this winter. The timber will be obtained from a tract of 2,500 acres eight miles north of Iron River, recently purchased by the company, and will be delivered to the Chicago & Northwestern tracks over Gibbs & Son's own railroad, the construction of which is in progress.

FREIGHT TARIFF CHANGES FILED.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Freight tariffs proposing the advance of 5 per cent by the Eastern railroads poured in on the interstate commerce commission today by the ton. All the great Eastern lines, including the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Erie, Baltimore & Ohio, Reading, Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley filed their new rates.

The preliminaries of the case now are complete. The proposed increases stand as suspended for ten months, or for such part of that period as may be required for investigation.

Dutch Standard Abolished.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The Dutch standard in the examination of imported sugars was abolished yesterday by a treasury department order, in accordance with the new tariff law. The Dutch standard has figured in tariff discussion for many years.

CITY MAY DO OWN LIGHTING

Contract With the Welsbach Company May Not Be Renewed.

Gas Lamps Now Cost the City $15 Per Year Apiece.

The city may take over the street gas lighting.

In any event the proposition will be thoroughly investigated before another contract is entered into with a private concern, according to Leonidas Merritt, head of the utilities division. The contract with the Welsbach company expired last April and the lighting has continued under the same terms by common consent.

Commissioner Merritt points out that the city now operates the city gas plant, although it buys its gas from the Zenith Furnace company instead of manufacturing the gas itself. The city furnishes the gas burned in the street lights but does not maintain the lamps.

The city council is of the opinion that considerable money could be saved by installing more gas lamps in many localities and at the same time increase the efficiency of the service, especially along streets and avenues lined with trees. Commissioner Merritt will have an investigation made to determine whether or not a still greater saving could be made if the city should do its own gas lighting. The gas lamps now cost the city $15 per year, each, and the cost of the arc light is $55 per year, each.

The utilities commissioner says that it is not likely that this investigation will be undertaken immediately. The survey of the existing lighting condition will be completed first. This is being steadily pushed by Electrical Inspector Schneider. He visited Fond du Lac this morning and before he finishes will have checked up every electric and gas light in the city. The tabulated findings will be presented to the city council and a course of action will then be outlined.

The starting of the revaluation of the plant of the Duluth-Edison Electric company is awaiting the return to the city of W. B. Rittenhouse, who will have charge of the work. He was here the early part of last week but left to wind up his other affairs. He expected to be gone ten days or two weeks and is looked for any day now. He may also assist the water and light department to appraise its outside properties, the information to be used in revising the rates and installing the new system which it is planned to start the first of the year.

This work will take less than three months according to present calculations. When this has been gotten out of the way Commissioner Merritt will probably begin to look into the advisability of the city taking over the street gas lighting.

Amusement Notes.

Mrs. Fiske, in "The High Road," will be the attraction at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday.

During the last few years Mrs. Fiske has come to be recognized as America's leading actress, and the engagement should be one of the principal events of Duluth's theatrical season.

"His Last Deal," a Majestic film showing at the Lyceum today, gives an idea of the inner workings and taking of motion pictures. The story runs along clearly until the bandits are about to hold up the stage coach, when a farmer comes running across the field with a pitchfork and stops the action of the pictures by demanding $10 for the use of his farm. This latter scene is shown by the aid of another camera. The first camera and the director of the picture are shown taking the scene of the stage coach robbery. In addition to this picture a Keystone comedy, "When Dreams Come True" and a Reliance drama, "The Missing Ring," are shown. The closing picture in two parts, "The Land of Dead Things" by the Broncho, is without doubt the best Western picture this excellent company has ever produced.

George Lyons and Bob Yosco, the two Italian street singers, who are on the Orpheum bill this week, were on the first vaudeville program ever presented in the Orpheum theater.

In looking over some scrap books yesterday they found some clippings from The Herald telling of the opening of the theater, and reviewing their performance. That they are remembered by the regular patrons of the theater is shown by the reception which they receive. At almost every performance this week they have been given a hearty "hand" on their appearance.

"Since we were in Duluth last we hav traveled a good many miles" said Mr. Yosco last evening. "We have been in nearly every big city in America, and have also been abroad."

Both of the young men are Italians as they represent themselves to be. "We are often mistaken for Americans or Jews or French," said Mr. Yosco, "but we are both Italians, and were born in Italy, so the Italian dialect comes easily to us."

The young men write their own songs, or most of them, and the number "I'm Coming Back to Dixie and You" which they use in their act, was completed but a few weeks ago.

Mr. Lyons who has the appearance on the stage of a youth of about 18 years of age, is accompanied on the present tour by his wife and infant daughter. He was married but a little over a year ago, and the present trip is in the nature of a postponed honeymoon.

For the last two times, the present vaudeville program will show at the Empress theater tonight. Dick Carroll and his players are proving laugh-getters with the farce, "As We Forgive." Much comedy of the broad and liberal kind is spread through the sketch. There are touches of pathos but all ends with a good healthy laugh. Mr. Carroll is an old-time actor and in his present vehicle he has an excellent opportunity to show his ability as a comedian. The other members in the company are: Ethel Chappelle, Julia Shaw and William J. Conlan, all of whom are fitted for their parts.

Bob and Ralph Harmon are good in their new novelty, "A Welsh Rarebit Dream." The hit of their act is the wind-up in which the boys go through a burlesque of the Texas Tommy and do some catchy singing. Leon and Bertie Allen entertain in a pleasing and charming manner with their songs and talk. Their sons are timely while their talk is witty. Burton's celebrated dogs are romping and jumping with glee as they go through their various complicated tricks and feats. Pictures of the better kind close and open the show.

"Genesis iv., 9" ends its successful engagement tonight. It has won considerable comment and praise for its producers, the Smalleys, who are featured by the Universal Rex company. The pretty settings and the acting make this a production of unusual merit. The entertaining story and interesting incidents brought about one by one, will be remembered as original and artistic.

"Genesis iv., 9" has situations that are uncommon; the action unfolds itself in a manner equal to the efficient interpretation given the various roles by the Universal too-notch artists. The scene of the story is laid in the Canadian woods.

DONATION DAY FOR HOSPITAL

Citizens Will Make Gifts to St. Luke's to Help Lift Mortgage.

Donation day for St. Luke's hospital will fall on Saturday. The money raised will go toward paying off the mortgage that has been hanging over the institution for several years.

The donation day committee consists of Mrs. P. V. Paine and Henry Taylor. Groceries, wines, liquors, linen and clothing will be gratefully received by the hospital.

DECISION IS SOON REACHED

George Gazarie Killed By Bullet Fired By Abraham Haddad.

One of the shortest inquests in the history of St. Louis county was conducted at the Grady & Horgan undertaking rooms this morning by Coroner McComb, who investigated the murder of George Gazarie in a pistol duel on Garfield avenue Sunday evening.

In exactly twelve minutes after the coroner's jury convened, the members had returned a verdict declaring that "said George Gazarie came to his death on Oct. 12 by bullet wounds from a revolver fired by Abrahamn Haddad, otherwise known as 'Deb Ferris.'" Owing to the fact that Haddad confessed to shooting Gazarie, Assistant County Attorney Mason M. Forbes announced that he would not introduce all the evidence at this time, but just enough to convince the jury that Haddad did the shooting.

Deputy Coroner McAuliffe was the first witness called by Assistant County Attorney Forbes. He testified that there were four bullet wounds, the one that entered the abdomen having been enough to kill Gazarie. The other three wounds were in the right side, in the left shoulder and through the right wrist.

Chief Troyer, who conducted the chase that resulted in the arrest of Haddad and later his brother, Joseph, who is now charged with assault in the first degree for shooting Capt. Fiskett, was the only other witness called by Mr. Forbes.

The head of the police department told the jury that Haddad has confessed to the shooting, but that he claims Gazarie attempted to hold him up and that he shot only in self-defense.

Mr. Forbes announced that he would not call any more witnesses, as enough evidence had already been introduced to show that Haddad fired the bullets that killed Gazarie. The other witnesses, he said, would be called for the examination to be conducted in municipal court at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Abraham was arraigned Monday afternoon on a charge of murder in the first degree, while Joseph is accused of shooting Capt. Fiskett or assault in the first degree.

The members of the coroner's jury this morning were: Phillip Gordon Brown, foreman; George D. Lucore, J. R. McDowell, Henry Nesbitt, George W. Power and Wallace P. Wellbanks.

Word was received here this morning that Habib Gazarie, brother of the murdered man, is coming from Dutchess Junction, N. Y., to take charge of his brother's body.

BANKERS WILL HOLD BANQUET

Duluth Chapter Will Entertain Superior and Local Men.

The Duluth chapter of the American Institute of Bankers will give a banquet to the officers and clerks of the Duluth and Superior banks at the Commercial club tomorrow night, beginning at 7:30. It is expected that about eighty will be present.

Joseph Chapman, vice president of the Northwestern National bank, Minneapolis, who was a speaker at the meeting of the American Bankers' association in Boston, will give an address on "Chapter and Farm Work." Others on the program will be Mayor Prince, H. G. Fulton, and E. W. C. Ross, toastmaster. Each of the banks in both cities will be represented by a speaker.

RAILROAD NOTES

Fred D. Lyon, one of the oldest general traveling passenger agents from the point of service who covers the Head of the Lakes territory, is here today. Mr. Lyon is with the Rock Island road and has been coming to Duluth for the past twenty years or more.

• • •

William G. Mitsch, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago Great Western, is here today.

• • •

W. S. Chadwick, known to hundreds of Duluthians as "Bill" Chadwick, the organizer of the Get-as-much-business-as-you-can club, and one of the oldest railroad men of Duluth, is here today, clothed in a radiant smile and the latest and most modish sartorial effects. "Bill" is now the traveling passenger agent of the Great Northern. The lure of the railroad game called and William came, for after remaining out of the game for some time he found that he was lonesome and suffered greatly with ennui.

• • •

• • •

H. M. Tait, general agent of the Canadian Pacific Steamship company at Minneapolis, is in the city today.

AUTHOR-HUNTER CARRIES BUT LIGHT OUTFIT

H. E. Prall Tells of Interesting Hunt With Ray Stannard Baker.

Some interesting sidelights were thrown upon the individual traits of Ray Stannard Baker, the magazine writer, by H. E. Prall, formerly of Omaha, who has come to Duluth to take charge of the route department for the Birdgeman-Russell company. Baker and Prall recently went on a hunting trip in the Wisconsin woods together.

"Baker never talks shop," said Mr. Prall, "and nothing regarding his plans or past work was discussed. He went out to hunt, and kept his mind on the thing at hand.

"I have spent considerable time in the Orient, and have visited many places that Baker has written about, so we had many things in common. Baker does not carry any surplus baggage on his trips, but has a practical and serviceable outfit."

STATE SELLS 1,000 ACRES OF LAND

Approximately 1,000 acres of state land in St. Louis county was disposed of at public auction this morning at the October state land sale, which was conducted in the county board room at the courthouse by Theodore Nelson, manager of the state land department. The average price at which the land was sold was $5.25 per acre.

Twenty-two descriptions were sold, some of them including more than one forty-acre tract. Most of the descriptions were sold for the appraised value, $5 per acre. Others went for $6 and one was sold for $7. A number of the buyers were Minneapolis people. The next and last sale of the year will be held on Nov. 19.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver nad bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SYLVIA PANKHURST IS IN JAIL AGAIN.

London, Oct. 15.—Sylvia Pankhurst, the central figure in a fierce struggle Monday night between the police and the militant suffragettes, was arrested last night when about to enter the Popular town hall to address another meeting. The militants attempted to rescue her, but the police, who were in large numbers, succeeded in placing her in a taxicab and driving to Holloway jail.

The meeting was abandoned in order to hold a protest demonstration outside the jail.

BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

with simple, safe, home-made tonic. Get from any druggist 6 ounces of Bay Rum, 2 ounces Lavona de Composee and ½ drachm Menthol Crystals. If you like, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. Mix thoroughly; apply night and morning with fingers; for dandruff and falling hair. Contains no dye or coloring matter, but one ingredient, according to authorities, actually forces into renewed action the dormant pigment-forming cells and thereby restores prematurely gray hair to its natural color. This same ingredient is also a powerful stimulant to the growth of new hair.

MORALITY IN BUSINESS

Dr. Phelan of University Comments on New Social Consciousness.

The fact that there is a new business morality taking possession of many men in this country that makes them feel responsible to the people as a whole, was emphasized by Dr. Raymond V. Phelan, professor of economics at the University of Minnesota, in a lecture last evening. Dr. Phelan's lecture, "The Social Viewpoint," was a part of the university extension course offered by the Young Men's Christian association.

This "social viewpoint" as amplified by Dr. Phelan, implies a broader outlook of the individual, taking into consideration the rights and needs of his fellow man. It affects the buying and selling prices of commodities, the expending of public money, and the use of all those things that affect the social body.

Dr. Phelan's illustrations were to the point, and showed that his knowledge had been gained from personal investigation. He said that a system of selling that multiplied the cost of commodities to the consumer, was anti-social.

As an example, he said a certain washing device, which cost at the factory but 46 cents, went through so many hands before being put upon the market, that the ultimate cost to the user was $3.50.

He said the railroads and all such corporations were responsible to the people in making expenditures, as their income was derived from money obtained from the public.

To further illustrate the "social viewpoint," he spoke of the expenditures of state officials. While they are entitled to proper remuneration for service, he said, they should keep in mind that the money they spend comes from the people of the state.

NO ACTION YET AS TO MRS. PANKHURST

Commissioner of Immigration Issues Statement as to Her Case.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Commissioner General Caminetti of the immigration bureau issued a statement last night defending the attitude of the bureau toward Mrs. Pankhurst, the British suffragette, who is due to arrive in New York the latter part of this week. He said:

"The report that the bureau of immigration or department of labor or any officer of either had decided or intimated that Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst will on her arrival at New York be held for examination by a board of special inquiry at Ellis island, is without foundation. The bureau and the department have no power to order admission or rejection, except as appealed to by other departments. The boards of inquiry are independent of the commissioner of immigration.

"Mrs. Pankhurst will be treated respectfully, but just like any other applicant, and this is all any officer of the bureau or department can authoritatively assert."

Officials Walk Line.

Officials at immigration headquarters, besieged on one side with protests against Mrs. Pankhurst's admission, on the other with protests against her exclusion, are taking pains not to put themselves in the position of doing anything which might in the least respect be considered as prejudicing her case. Consequently, and for the reason that the militant British suffragette is to be treated as any other alien, no orders whatever have been given to the Ellis island station.

But the history of the immigration bureau's practice discloses that in such cases of disputed landings, the immigrant invariably is examined by a special board, and that of course means detention at the Ellis island station.

Woman suffrage headquarters here let it be known that attorneys who have represented the National Woman's Suffrage association before congress are preparing to appear for Mrs. Pankhurst before the immigration examiners.

GALE STREWS THE COAST WITH BOATS.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 15.—A northeast gale swooped down upon the coastwise shipping on the New England coast yesterday, leaving death and ruin in its wake. Heroic rescues kept the known loss of life down to one, that of Capt. Sear Perry of Sandwich, who perished in the wreck of his seine boat on Scorton beach.

The barge Sumner R. Mead, in tow of the tug Paoli, from New York for Boston, piled up on the tip of Cape Cad, and her three men were taken off by the Paoli.

Six men were rescued from the two-masted British schooner Georgie Pearl by the Surf-Side Life Savers on Nantucket.

Another daring rescue of four men took place when a small boat from a Canadian steamer braved the breakers near Grand Manan, N. B., where the British fishing schooner Dreadnaught was pounding to pieces.

POLICEMAN HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 15.—Ted Cannon, a police officer of East St. Louis, Ill., was held to the grand jury for the murder at the state fair grounds last Saturday of Francis McClellan, a horseman of Sheboygan, Wis. Cannon claims self-defense.

BEAR BEATS UP HOMESTEADER.

Seward, Alaska, Oct. 15.—Otto Bergstrom, a homesteader, was attacked by a huge Alaskan brown bear near here early yesterday while going home. The bear knocked him down, tore his scalp almost entirely off his head, bit off his ear and inflicted fifty other wounds on Bergstrom's body, arms and hands.

Bergstrom crawled 500 feet to a neighbor's cabin. There is a chance for his recovery.

Wilson Sends Message.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Returns from the West Virginia election were awaited with keen interest in congressional circles and at the White House. Representative Doremus of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, carried the news of the Democrat's election to President Wilson at the theater, and the president left his box to congratulate Mr. Doremus on the committee's work and to send a cordial message to Representative-elect Neeby.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

The West End Commercial club will distribute its prizes, amounting to $69, to winners in the recent garden contest, among the children of the West end, on Friday evening. A special program has been arranged by the committee in charge for the evening.

Mayor W. I. Prince will act as chairman during the evening. The program will include addresses by some of the members of the club, representatives from other commercial bodies of the city, selected numbers rendered by children of the Lincoln, Ensign, Adams and Munroe schools, a reading by Miss Mary Shesgren, an address by Miss Margaret Culkin, social center director, and a vocal solo by Louis Dworshak.

It is expected that the large auditorium of the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, in which the meeting will be held, will be packed to its capacity. Hundreds of people are interested in the affair and during the past summer more than 500 children entered in the contest. That it has proved very popular is shown by the fact that 143 children requested that the committee view their gardens in the hope of winning one of the prizes.

With the exception of four prizes amounting to $11 the money will all be paid to the children. The exception are the prizes awarded to the Lincoln school, $5; Ensign school, $3; Adams school, $2, and the Munroe school, $1. These prizes were awarded for the schools on the effort shown by the children of the various districts.

Best general gardens of the West end:

Erling Klippen, 715 Twenty-sixth avenue, first, $10.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT BETHANY CHURCH

Parthenoe Society Presents Very Attractive Program to Large Crowd.

The Parthenoe Society of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church entertained at its annual fall festival in the church parlors last night. The young ladies had the church prettily decorated with American and Swedish colors and the members of the society made a fine appearance in costumes worn in their fatherland.

The principal feature of the program was an address given by Rev. O. J. Johnson, president of the Gustavus Adolphus college. Rev. Mr. Johnson spoke of the progress of the Swedish Lutheran church in America, stating that since 1860 it had grown from a membership comprising 3,747 people in seventeen congregations employing twenty-four pastors, to 1,154 congregations with 646 pastors and totaling 270,000 members. He also enumerated the number of institutions now supported in this country and abroad by the Augustana synod.

The program also included organ selections by Miss Mabel Samuelson, vocal solos by Mrs. A. Loftgren, a recitation by Miss Seniba Rudberg, mandolin solos by Edward G. Pash, a dialogue by Mrs. Elvin Olson and Miss Hildegard Miller, and violin duets by the Lavick brothers.

MORE THAN 500 ATTEND BAZAR

Rev. Chas. N. Thorp Makes Address; Good Program Is Planned.

Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church was the principal speaker last night at the bazar being held by the women of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Rev. Mr. Thorp told of the early history of the Congregational church and its principles.

The second night of the bazar attracted a large crowd of people. The attendance was more than 500. This evening the special address will be given by Thomas W. MacLean, rector of the Trinity pro-cathedral.

The following program will be given:

KILLED IN IDAHO.

News of Geo. Ek's Death Reaches Parents in This City.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ek, 2620 West Fourth street, yesterday afternoon received news of the death of their son, George, which took place Monday evening in Idaho. The young man had been killed while employed as a lineman for an electric company.

George Ek was 23 years old and was reared in this end of the city. He left here early in the summer to engage in work in Idaho.

The body is expected to arrive here over the Omaha on Friday, and the funeral will be held from the home of the parents. The arrangements will not be made until the body arrives.

BAZAR IS PLANNED.

Women of Zion Church Arrange for Big Annual Event.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will hold its annual bazar in the church Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings this week. Programs of a musical nature have been planned for each evening.

The members of the society will serve supper each evening. Booths containing fancy work made by the members are being planned, and auctions of articles will be held from these each evening. Tomorrow night the program will include musical numbers by the choir and an address by one of the visiting pastors attending the conference which is being held in Superior.

SOCIAL CENTER MEETING

First of Series Will Be Given at the Bryant School.

The first of a series of semi-monthly entertainments under the auspices of the social center at the Bryant school, Third and Vernon streets, will be given this evening. A program of several numbers, including addresses, musical selections and moving pictures, will be given.

Andrew Nelson, a member of the school board, and Julius H. Barnes will be the principal speakers. Vocal selections will be given by Miss Maude Matteson and James McGhie. Miss Margaret Culkin will also give a short talk.

SHOWS STRENGTH OF CHARACTER

The family of D. C. Baikke, 2209 West Fourth street, has as a guest one of the most interesting men in the Northwest. He is John Lauby, a former Duluthian, but now a resident of Minneapolis. His strength of character is shown by the manner in which he has risen above afflictions that are more than usually hard to bear. He was born deaf and dumb and in later years became totally blind through an accident, but by persistent effort he learned the trade of woodworker, and makes his living at it.

Mr. Lauby was one of a family of six, which years ago resided on East Sixth street near First avenue. The oldest girl could hear but the other five were born deaf and dumb. The family left Duluth some years ago. In addition to the affliction of being deaf and dumb, John Lauby had a cataract over one eye. When he was about 18 years of age while celebrating the nation's natal day one Fourth of July, he sought to blow a can up with powder. The fuse did not work well and after waiting for a time, he started to see what the trouble was. Just as he bent over the can, the fuse ignited the powder and the flying can knocked out the unfortunate man's good eye. Dr. McAuliffe was called but could do nothing. It was hoped at the time to be able to save the other eye and remove the cataract, but it became inflamed from the wound and that eye also had to be removed.

At first Lauby was almost crazed by his misfortune and, in the sign language, talked suicide. However as he became calmer, he was provided with tools and learned to make little things in wood. He became much interested in his work and got so that he could make very pretty things in inlaid work. He distinguishes the different woods by their smell. He had a shop at Spooner, Wis., for a time, and did well there, but some time ago he moved to Minneapolis, where he resides with his deaf sister, who is married there.

Mr. Lauby has begun now to make a specialty of foot stools of a special design, and is prospering at it. His friends look after his interests well for he is very popular and is regarded by his acquaintances as possessed of an exceptionally fine and lovable character. He is now about 35 years old.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Agent, Max Wirth.

DAMAGE FOR SHOCK.

Passenger in Collision Asks $5,000 for Wrench in Back.

When a "wild" ore car became detached from a train and ran for four miles down a grade at Wilpen, crashing into a passenger train standing at the station on Oct. 8, 1912, the force of the collision badly shook the passengers.

Albert Brieder, who claims that he was a passenger between Sherwood and Hibbing, started suit against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railroad company for $5,000 damages. He alleges that his back was badly wrenched and that he was injured internally.

The Mothers and Teachers' club of Park Point will meet at the Whittier school building Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The domestic science and manual training classes will be opened there for the first time this year on that afternoon and visitors will be welcome at these classes preceding the club meeting.

The program arranged for the club meeting will include victrola numbers; song, "Home, Sweet Home," by the club; a talk on "The Advantages of Domestic Science in the Schools," by Miss Marguerite Turner; domestic science teacher; a piano solo by Miss Dorothea Engel; a talk on "Manual Training in the Schools," by Frank Gottwald, manual training teacher; talk on "Recent Discoveries of the Service of the Brain," by Mrs. S. W. Richardson; chorus by the seventh and eighth grade girls; piano duet by Misses Helen Norman and Anita Hovey. The business session will close the meeting and refreshments will be served by the eighth grade girls.

HAMILTON-PARKES.

Duluthian Will Wed St. Paul Girl.

Of considerable local interest is the wedding to take place in St. Paul Saturday of Miss Sybil Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hamilton, and A. B. Parkes of this city. Mr. Hamilton is the British consul at St. Paul. Mr. Parkes has been employed at the Minnesota Steel company for the past six months.

The wedding will take place at the St. Clement's Episcopal church, after which a dinner will be served for the bridal party at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Parkes and his bride will leave Saturday evening for a wedding trip to Chicago. They will be at home at 211 East Sixth street after Nov. 1.

AT BETHEL.

Women's Meeting Open to All.

At the regular weekly women's meeting which will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Bethel, corner of Mesaba avenue and West First street, at 2:30 o'clock, Miss Mauch, superintendent of the Bethel Home, will speak, and there will also be a short talk by one of the Bethel converts. A social half hour will follow the meeting and all women interested in the work of the Bethel are invited to attend.

At Commercial Club.

Autumn leaves in ropes from chandeliers to wall and baskets of mountain ash berries and asparagus ferns formed the decorations in the ballroom and supper room at the Commercial club "ladies' night" last evening, the first of a series planned for this season. Parliamentary Law Class.

At the meeting of the parliamentary law class of the Twentieth Century club held at the library club room yesterday afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Crowley presiding and Mrs. C. H. Merritt as secretary, the work for the year was discussed and it was decided to hold a course of four morning meetings for the study of important points in parliamentary law, the meetings to be held on consecutive Tuesday mornings at 10 o'clock at the library club room. Different leaders and secretaries will be appointed for each meeting to give as many as possible an opportunity of practising the points of parliamentary law and at the meeting next week Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield will lead and the topic for the morning will be "Motions."

PRIMA DONNA APPEARS ON STEAMER DRESSED AS A BOY

MAGGIE TEYTE.

Maggie Teyte, the vestpocket prima donna, has come to these shores again to sing in concert and opera and will be heard in Duluth. She gave the passengers on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse a new sensation on the way over by appearing on deck dressed as a boy. This is the way she dresses when on her vacations, she explained, and she likes it so well that she has determined to stick to her breeches while in this country if she is permitted to do so. The costume was very fetching when worn by Miss Teyte, the passengers agreed; but they were unanimously of the belief that it would not be becoming to all prima donnas—to Tettrazzini for example. Miss Teyte had intended to land in her breeches but the captain would not permit it. So when she had been photographed she went to her stateroom and resumed the conventional skirts.

LEARNED TO MAXIXE, YET?

The Tango Is Archaic, the Turkey Trot Prehistoric in New York.

Nixola Greeley-Smith in the New York Evening World: Do you Maxixe? If you don't, its about time you learned how to do it—for the Maxixe has been in New York a whole week. It was imported from Brazil via Europe by Maurice and Florence Walton, his dancing partner. But unless you have supped at Reisenweber's, where these dancers appear every evening in this latest and most exotic fantasia for the feet, you don't know how archaic the tango is and how prehistoric the turkey trot has become.

What is the Maxixe? Maurice says it is easy, that he could teach the most stupid person to dance it in an hour—he doesn't add $40 an hour—but that's what he got on the last westward trip of the Imperator, when Mr. and Mrs. Spreckels of San Francisco, who were fellow passengers, decided that they positively must learn to maxixe right away. In San Francisco, and elsewhere, Spreckels rhymes with shekels, but ordinary mortals on dry land pay Maurice $25 an hour. The extra $15, of course, was for asking him to maxixe on his sea legs.

It May Have a Shock in It.

One afternoon recently Maurice and Miss Walton gave a special performance of the new dance at 46 West Sixty-ninth street so that everyone might get an idea what the maxixe is like.

Maurice says the dance is not shocking; Miss Walton says it is shocking if you dance it that way.

I can't say positively whether it is or not. Nevertheless, I should advise all persons who are easily upset to have a shock absorber somewhere about when they see the maxixe for the first time.

The maxixe begins with the man and woman dancing side by side in a forward heel-and-toe movement, like a modified buck and wing.

In the second position they face each other and swing into the old-fashioned two-step, revolving about till they have made a complete circle and accompanying the rhythm of the music with a slow, swaying motion of the shoulders (not the discredited shoulder movement of the old turkey trot, but a languid, graceful motion.)

In the third position the girl is in front of the man (that is, her back is toward him, though he clasps her hands), and the step is one—two—three, one—two—dip.

The fourth position of the maxixe is, literally and figuratively—the kick. It is also the one which stern moralists will view with a dubious eye—and they, too, may make a kick. Miss Walton described it this way.

"The step is the five step of the tango. I do the man's step with my foot in the air and Maurice comes forward with the woman's step, so that his knee touches mine as my other knee recedes.

"As Maurice comes forward with the woman's step he literally raises me from the floor with his knee. For this reason a fat woman cannot dance the maxixe, though it would reduce her more than any other dance if she could. But no man could lift such a weight as would be required of him if he danced the maxixe with a stout woman.

Heavyweights Are Barred.

"For this reason every woman in New York who weighs more than 130 may consider herself safe from the temptations of the maxixe."

"It is the national dance of Brazil," he said, "and succeeds the tango—the national dance of Argentina. It is proper when properly danced, just as the waltz is proper or improper according to the people who dance it. As they do it in Rio de Janeiro sometimes, where man and women whirl around for an hour till they become dizzy and senseless, it is what you would call risque. It is the rage in Paris. But the French do not dance it properly.

"They don't dance anything properly. It's only in America that you see clean, fine dancing. Why, the amateurs in New York—the men and women who get up and dance at Reisenweber's every night—are far better dancers than half the professionals in Europe that people pay real money to see. French women cannot dance without the wiggles and waggles that make a dance suggestive. They are all right for slow, languishing music. But when it comes to a 'rag,' they're a joke, and a risque joke at that. Ragtime, after all, means a good time, a clean time; but only American boys and girls understand that."

"Europeans can't dance," Miss Walton interrupted. "I taught the tango to the Grand Duke Michael and later to the Grand Duke of Mechlinberg-Strelitz. Strelitz told me I was the first woman he had ever danced with. I didn't have any difficulty in believing him. Because I felt as if I were dragging a chair around the room. But when he got on to the swing of it he learned quickly the tango, the maxixe—everything.

"Oh, the maxixe," shrugged Maurice, "is easy. I could teach anybody in an hour."

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

One of the Superior street shops where they sell only ready-made garments has an unusually fine showing of afternoon and evening coats for the season. One particularly attractive coat of chiffon velvet was of a rich mahogany shade trimmed with a small fur collar with a rich rose colored silk lining. This was of a weight for carriage wear.

In kings blue, black, grey and white plush were coats of long and three-quarters length made with draped effect and most of them either with fur or mouffion collars and cuffs which were sufficiently varied to be distinctive and all of good style.

A pretty coat of black plush had a collar and cuffs of white plush and another of blue had collar and cuffs of skunk fur which was an attractive garment.

Another little evening wrap shown at the same shop of bright red panvelvet was made on Japanese lines and the shopper was interested in the fact that it could be worn either side up. The lining was of a flowered silk but the garment was cut in such a way that the wide oriental band running across one end could be worn over the shoulders or turned and form the hem of the coat.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

A Splendid Tribute to the Children's Poet.

The other day, in Indiana, the children of the public schools took the day to hold exercises in honor of the birthday of James Whitcomb Riley, the beloved "Hoosier poet." Throughout the state the little ones recited from his poems about "The Raggedy Man," "Out to Ol' Aunt Mary's," "Th' Gobblins 'll Git You ef You Don't Watch Out," "Little Orphant Annie," "The Old Swimmin' Hole" and others, which have made the gentle poet famous.

He is not only the "Hoosier Poet," but he is the children's poet, and the people's poet as well.

It is this man, himself child-like and gentle, who has expressed the simple poetry of the life of children and of everyday folk better than any man ever has done it in this country before. He has been able to write such poetry that it can be understood and appreciated and loved by the common people.

Isn't that, after all, the consummation of literary art and accomplishment, rather than the writing of "high brow," involved verse which it requires intellectuals of the first water to appreciate and understand—if even they always do?

I believe it is.

After all, what is true literature but that which expresses, in terms of the heart, the thought and life and feelings of the people. This Riley has done in the highest degree. And he has done it in a homely, haunting way that makes him beloved wherever the English language is read or spoken.

Small wonder, then, that on his every birthday, especially since he has been afflicted with illness, the school children of his beloved Indiana do him honor, and that the little ones of his home city parade past his door, and bear him tokens of love and respect.

The world is much the better for Riley's having lived.

FRUIT PUNCH.

Eldora Lockwood Dow in Woman's World: One large fresh pineapple, one can of grated pineapple, three cups boiling water, one cup freshly steeped tea, juice of six lemons, juice of ten oranges, one quart of fruit juice, such as strawberry, currant or grape juice, one bottle of Apollinaris water, or the same amount of cold, clear water, one quart of sugar, made into syrup with one pint of water, four quarts of water.

If fresh pineapple is used, grate and boil with the four quarts of water twenty minutes, strain and add the rest of the fruit juice, tea, etc. If charged Apollinaris water is used, it should be added just before serving. The punch should be made early enough to stay covered on ice for several hours before serving.

This recipe serves a large company. Divide portions for smaller companies.

REAL GOLD FOR ST. PAUL'S CROSS.

New York Sun: It has been decided to regild the cross, ball and trusses of St. Paul's cathedral. The regilding is very expensive, as only the best English "double gold" leaf will be used. It is of pure gold, and is double the thickness of that ordinarily employed for outdoor work.

The work will be carried out by a firm of experts in the fixing of lightning conductors. This will prevent a repetition of the accident which occurred when a similar task was undertaken in 1821. The original cross and ball set up by Wren had then to be taken down, and scarcely a day passed without some part of the scaffolding or the machinery connected with it being deranged. A great part of the circular framework of heavy planks erected above the Golden gallery for the prevention of accidents was carried over the housetops by a high wind and an observatory which had been built above the usual site of the cross narrowly escaped the same fate.

THE STATE EFFICIENCY COMMISSION.

It is no small task that is carved out for the commission appointed by Governor Eberhart to investigate the state government and to propose to the legislature a plan for reorganization in the interest of efficiency and economy.

The present state government is a thing of leisurely and aimless growth. As a new need arose—and there have been many—a new department or bureau was created by law, and stuck into the fabric wherever it would conveniently go. Simple in its beginning, by this process the state government has grown complex, cumbersome, wasteful, unnecessarily expensive. There is much overlapping of effort and expense. There are men paid to travel the same ground over at the same time, when one man could do it all as cheaply and as well. There is an utter lack of co-ordination even between departments that should be closely allied.

Such will inevitably be the result of growth without planning.

The time has come when the whole structure should be overhauled, and rebuilt along lines of simplicity, efficiency and economy. The appalling increase in state expenses, which has resulted in a formidably high state tax rate in spite of enormous increases in the state's revenues from indirect sources, makes such a reorganization not only timely and desirable, but absolutely necessary.

Though the general public will unquestionably give hearty approval to the plan, there is a sure opposition to be expected. Results cannot be attained unless unnecessary employes lose their places, and unless the heads of unnecessary bureaus and departments are subordinated. These employes and officials all have friends, and many of them are politically powerful. Those who witnessed the utter failure at the last session of every measure looking toward reorganization realized the strength of these influences.

The legislature, however, will feel these subtle influences more than the citizens' committee appointed by the governor; hence the great need that a legislature be elected with every member pledged to a thorough and effective reorganization.

Nearly a year and a quarter will elapse before the next legislature convenes; but that is none too long a time for the commission. Governor Eberhart's suggestion that the commission divide itself into sub-committees, each to attack a specific branch of the work, is good, and doubtless it will be followed by the commission. For instance, a sub-committee consisting of Chairman Craig, Thomas Kneeland, Hugh J. Hughes, Dean A. F. Woods and Frank Lycan would be admirably constituted to prepare a plan for a department of public domain and a department of agriculture; though such a committee should consider the advisability of making the department of agriculture a division of the department of public domain.

Another sub-committee composed of such men as Chester A. Congdon, Lewis C. Spooner, who led the fight in the house last winter for the appointment of a reorganization commission, John Moonan and T. T. Hudson could do effective work in the investigation of the executive departments of the general state government.

No radical or revolutionary change in the character of the state government is necessary, advisable or even possible at this time. Such things as government by commission, of which there has been favorable talk, should be left to a constitutional convention, of which there is great need also.

But the state has certain necessary functions to perform. It wants them performed as simply, as effectively and as cheaply as possible. Because it is a thing of aimless and haphazard growth, the present system of government performs these functions inefficiently and wastefully.

Here lies the whole province of the reorganization commission, and in it there is work enough to attract any public-spirited citizen and to keep the commission busy from now till the newly elected legislature convenes in January, 1915.

The designer of the harem skirt says women will soon wear trousers. And some women would sooner wear them.

HUERTA, THE IMPOSSIBLE AND UNSPEAKABLE.

It should surprise nobody to learn that it is rapidly becoming impossible for this nation to maintain any sort of relations whatever with a government dominated by a brutal and murderous tyrant like Huerta.

Recent developments are no more than might have been expected. A man who would not balk at treacherous murder to gain the power he covets would not hesitate to throttle the legislature if it suited his high-handed purposes. And Huerta has done both.

Reason and friendly offers of aid in restoring peace are wasted on such a monster. John Lind might as well come home. Little is to be gained even by keeping a charge d'affaires at Mexico City, except to convey needed though perhaps wasted warnings.

It is safe enough to give plenty of rope to a man who conducts himself as Huerta is doing. Drunken with power and greedy for more, he will surely hang himself. The unfortunate part of it is that in the meantime the unoffending populace of Mexico must suffer.

It is devoutly to be hoped that Huerta will hang himself soon. There is a limit to the length of time this country can sit by with folded hands watching a traitor and a blackguard play ducks and drakes with an alleged free government and prosper at the bitter cost of an afflicted people. Nobody—except those selfishly interested—wants this nation to intervene forcibly in Mexican affairs. If Huerta does not destroy himself soon he may make it necessary.

Just the same, it does seem as if the combination of full mourning and a slit skirt is—well—going some.

MR. IVERSON'S SLOGAN.

State Auditor Iverson is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and the main plank in his platform is economy in state affairs. Governor Eberhart, who is of course a third-term candidate, has also made this issue his.

We are glad to hear all this. We hope that the platform of every candidate for every state office, and of every candidate for the legislature, will put economy in state affairs in the first place.

But particularly we hope that legislative candidates will do this, for while a governor can recommend, and may accomplish a very little by his veto, which he cannot use to reduce exorbitant items but only to strike out whole appropriations, the legislature can provide for a reorganization of the state government and can study economy in framing its appropriation bills.

As to Mr Iverson's candidacy, the field is free and any man has a right to become a candidate for governor. The more the merrier, for it is well to give the people as wide a choice as possible. We hope to see more candidates, and we hope also to see a lively contest for the Democratic nomination as well.

But the state should let nothing distract its attention from the fact that the chief need in the next campaign is a legislature pledged to put a stop to waste and extravagance in state affairs.

Keeping of livestock must be precarious these days. The "lost" column the other day told of the disappearance of three dogs and one cat. And the cost of living still going up.

HOBSON AND UNDERWOOD.

Richmond Pearson Hobson, the "hero of the Merrimac," of wholesale kissing episodes and of an absurd notoriety-seeking jingo campaign, has added nothing to his fame by his attack on Majority Leader Underwood in the public prints and on the floor of the house.

The underlying motive of it all is too plain, in the first place, to permit any mistake about it. Mr. Underwood is a candidate for United States senator from Alabama. Mr. Hobson also is a candidate for United States senator from Alabama. That explains much; and it also illumines Mr. Hobson as one of a puzzling type of individuals who think they can rise by blasting the reputations of their opponents, instead of by superior merits and capacity.

It is a matter of taste, largely, of course; like Mr. Hobson's capitalizing the fame of his Santiago bay exploit on the lecture platform, and his acceptance of dividends from that feat in the form of a multitude of kisses from hysterically sentimental females.

Mr. Underwood can stand a great deal of this sort of buzzing from an insect like Hobson.

Next thing the police know this man Spencer will be bragging about Ann's age and the Billy Patterson incident.

THE RIGHT WAY TO DO IT.

The campaign in New York against the loan shark evil has resulted in the conviction of a man known as "king of the loan sharks," and his sentence to six months in jail.

There is great rejoicing over this victory among those who recognize the evils in the loan shark system. And there will be few who will not share in that rejoicing.

Attacking the loan shark evil works good in two ways—by abating the oppressive greed of the loan sharks and by lessening the opportunities to promote the improvidence of the thriftless.

But this is not the only way to attack the evil, or the best way.

The loan shark, even though many or even most of his kind prey mercilessly upon their victims, meets a real need that is not met in any other way in most communities.

People living on salaries or wages often have as great and as legitimate a need to borrow money as people in business. Sickness, deaths or other calamities often beset people of small means, and they need money to meet the emergency quite as much as a merchant does who sees a chance to make a good turn by buying a bargain with borrowed money.

There is provision through the banks for the merchant, but none in most communities for the salaried man except that which the loan shark offers.

Therefore the best way to fight the evils of the loan shark system is to provide better and more merciful accommodations for the poor borrower than the loan shark does. This can be done by such provident loan association as Duluth and a number of other communities have established.

War

Life: War is a system of reducing population, when all other dishonorable means have failed. A few leading patriots get together for this purpose and after the box of Havanas and the congenial high-ball have been brought out, they decide between drinks that there are too many people. A list of grievances is then published and the gunmakers, having been notified of the amount of their rake-off and the families of the leading statesmen removed to a place of safety, war is then declared, Providence notified and the clergy requested to pray for the murder of as many of the enemy as is consistent with the most progressive Christianity.

After the gunmakers have made a sufficient profit to enable them to get new steam yachts and other necessities for their children, and the country against whom war has been declared has given up enough of its territory to satisfy the demands of conscience, Peace is then announced; the wives and mothers of those killed express their great pleasure in the privilege given them to contribute, and the hospital service, which during the war has been found inadequate, is thoroughly reorganized in the columns of the leading papers; the bankers also begin to collect the interest on their loans, several new forms of taxation are discovered and the blessing of God is asked to fall upon a liberty-loving people.

Women Are Not Domestic.

Corra Harris in the Saturday Evening Post: Women are not by nature domestic. They do not belong in their homes any more than birds belong in the cages where they have been imprisoned. They are there for the same reason—caught and put in and trained to service some thousands of years ago by men who chose them singly for this purpose. The proof that they have never really settled down willingly is that they have to this day no initiative about living in a house. They have never invented a single thing necessary to lighten the labor of the home. Every device known in the modern establishment for comfort or convenience was invented by a man. Women have been trained merely to do what is to be done, whichever way they are told to do it. They are of all creatures in this world the wildest, the least capable of exercising the genius of civilization, because people in bondage never have the liberty of mind necessary to develop any kind of genius.

I do not know if men are to be praised or blamed for this situation. Certainly they not only have the advantage in strength, but they have made the world what it is, written all the Scriptures, defined all the virtues for their own convenience, even set the Lord himself up to be feared and served more particularly by women with their heads modestly covered while they continue to hobnob opportunity with the easier devil. It has all been very shrewdly managed, and doubtless for the best. But I say we, the women, are not what we were made to be. We are merely the trained automations of an order of things we did not invent.

On a Monday Morning.

San Francisco Bulletin: Monday morning is a hard test for the institution which we call life. Life may be all very well on Saturday night and Sunday morning, but how about Monday morning? If you wake up then with a pleasurable anticipation of the week of work which is ahead of you, you are a happy man.

The instinct of the bad boy who plays truant never quite dies out of us. One dreams of a Monday morning, when the sun is shining and the air is clear, of slipping quietly into one's clothes, of tiptoeing softly out of the house, of scaling the fence and crossing the meadow and losing oneself in the alluring woods, while timeclocks remain unpunched and whistles blow in vain.

How This Man's Girl Made Him Save Money

From the American Magazine.

The American Magazine has been offering prizes for the best letter entitled "How I Saved My First $100." In the October number the prize winning letters are published. Following is one of them—written by a man who was influenced to save money by the girl he was in love with:

It was all due to the Girl. Before I knew her the idea that I could save anything out of my small salary seemed preposterous. I was not extravagant, but I liked to gratify my desires. Self-denial I had not tried to practice, but I have discovered it is absolutely essential—the heart, in fact, of saving.

After we had come to a tacit recognition of the fact that I was "her beau" the Girl one evening said:

"How much do you pay weekly for your room?"

"Don't you think you can get a nice hall room and be comfortable enough for $3? You go and do it and give me the other dollar."

"Anything else you wish me to do?"

"Yes," she answered. "You call on me once a week. You live only a mile away, but I suppose ride. Walk, and give me the 10 cents car fare. You'll find the walk short if you think of me. Then every night you come here you smoke two cigars. What price ones?" I answered, "Ten cents."

"I'm not going to ask you to smoke poor cigars," she said, "but instead of two, smoke one. By smoking slowly and not all at once one will last you just as long as two and you can give me the 10 cents difference. Then you ride both ways to business, don't you? Well, I won't ask you to walk home when you are tired, but rise a little earlier and walk down. It will do you good and you can give me the 30 cents a week that you'll save. What do you spend for your luncheons?"

"Only 25 cents."

"Well, cut out the piece of pie or something you really don't require, reduce the cost to 20 cents and give me the 30 cents weekly difference. It's a mistake to eat hearty midday meals—makes one sleepy and dull. Then you go to the 'movies' six times a week, you told me. Go three and give me the 15 cents saved."

Well, I obeyed her and found it not at all difficult. I started the first week in January, 1911. The first week in January, 1912, she handed me $101.40.

"That's what you've saved," she said. "I didn't take the money for myself, but to show you you could save if you tried. Here's a statement:

Car fares saved visiting me....	$ 5.20
Car fares saved walking to business	15.60
Saved on cigars	5.20
Saved on "movies"	7.80
Saved on luncheons	15.60
Saved in room rent	52.00
Total	$101.40

I married the Girl, and it's needless to say we live fairly well and have a constantly increasing balance in bank. It's the small unnecessary outlays that eat one up. You can cut most of them out and save if you will.

The Bird an Air-Made Being.

From John Ruskin's "The Queen of the Air:" The bird is little more than a drift of the air brought into form by plumes; the air is in all its quills, it breaths through its whole frame and flesh and glows with air in its flying, like brown flames; it rests upon the air, subdues it, surpasses it, outraces it—is the air, conscious of itself, conquering itself, ruling itself. Also, in the throat of the bird is given the voice of the air. All that in the mind itself is weak, wild, useless in sweetness, is knit together in its song. As we may imagine the wild form of the cloud closed into the perfect form of the bird's wings, so the wild voice of the cloud into its ordered and commanded voice; unwearied, rippling through the clear heaven in its gladness, interpreting all intense passion through the soft spring nights, bursting into acclaim and rapture of choir at daybreak, or lisping and twittering among the boughs and hedges, through the heat of day, like little winds that only make the cowslip bells shake and ruffle the petals of the wild rose. Also upon the plumes of the bird are put the colors of the air; on these the gold of the cloud that cannot be gathered by any covetousness; the rubies of the cloud, that are not the pride of Athena, but are Athena; the vermilion of the cloud bar, and the flame of the cloud crest, and the snow of the cloud and its shadow, and the melted blue of the deep wells of the sky—all these, seized by the creating spirit and woven by Athena herself into films and threads of plume; with wave upon wave following and fading along breast and throat and opened wings, infinite as the dividing of the foam and the sifting of the sea sand—even the white down of the cloud seeming to flutter up between the stronger plumes—seen, but too soft for touch. And so the spirit of the air is put into, and upon, this created form, and it becomes, through twenty centuries, the symbol of divine help, descending as the fire to speak, but as the dove to bless.

Sobs of the Headliner.

Say! You folks who read the papers;
I mean you—and you—and you—
Do you know what sort of capers
Those who edit them must do?

Did you ever stop to cipher
What a task is his who pools
The intelligence you cry for,
In between two column rules?

Have you any comprehension
Of the puzzle in a line
Holding letters ten, to mention
Mr. Oscar Hammerstein?

When an automobile smashes
(As one does 'most every day)—
If we can't say "Auto Crashes"
What the dickens can we say?

Col. Roosevelt's wild Progressives
May some theme in conclave greet,
But the head must bear possessives
And say, blindly, "Moosers Meet."

"Moosers Meet" may tell the story,
But it isn't what you'd write
If mere literary glory
Were the only thing in sight.

When "investigators" hover
Round the surface of the globe,
Ah! it's then you may discover
What a useful word is "probe."

There are others I might mention
Such as "ban" and "bat" and "slain,"
Which are used with no intention
Of affording readers pain.

You may talk about the trouble
That it is to pack a trunk,
When you want to carry double
What the thing will hold in junk.

But believe these earnest pen words
Of a person who has tried!
It's a cinch to putting ten words
In a column eight words wide.

Youth's Pleasures Not for the Old

From the Youth's Companion.

Miss Polly Grimbie of Hightop farm, where the Fendersons were boarding, cast a sharp but kindly eye on Mrs. Fenderson, as that lady, looking rather subdued, approached from the barn, and dropped into a piazza rocking chair.

"There's been a humming bird round the hollyhocks, and the South Equity Sunday school picnic went by in three wagons, and a big motor car jounced out a screw going over the thank-you-ma'am, and the language that chauffeur used while he was crawling and tinkering was scandalous," said Miss Polly cheerfully. "I wish you'd been here. It's been real lively. Excuse me, but there's straw in your hair. That's it—I thought you ought to know. I guess you didn't find any eggs, did you?"

"Egg?" repeated Mrs. Fenderson vaguely. "No, I didn't look for eggs. Miss Polly, how old do you think I am?"

"Younger'n you look today and older'n you looked yesterday," responded Miss Polly promptly.

"It's that horrid haymow," said Mrs. Fenderson. "It's made me feel so blue and old! You see, when I was a girl there was no place I thought so nice. I fled to a haymow to get over my troubles, and make my plans, and dream my dreams. The landscape looked glorified somehow when I saw it through the big barn door, and the air was all strange and golden—not like the everyday world at all. Curled up in the hay, I could imagine anything, and hope for anything. I entered all my finest castles in Spain through a mysterious secret passageway that led into a barn, and up a ladder, and across a slippery, rusty, tickly, exhilarating mountain of sweet hay. I suppose I'm talking nonsense."

"Maybe," assented Miss Polly, "but it's nonsense I've sense enough to understand. I've mooned in a haymow myself."

"Then you will. Well, today was the first time since I've grown up that I've had an hour and a hayloft together all to myself; and, O M'ss Polly! the dust make me sneeze, and the straw prickled, and a brier scratched my ankles, and I saw cobwebs, and watched out for spiders, and felt as if I should smother, and wondered if it wasn't going to be worse getting down the ladder than it was coming up. It was dreadful! I've grown dull and old—that's it. A haymow is just a haymow, and the glory is gone, and life is turned to prose, and it's ridiculous to mind it—but I do!"

"Is that your girls coming across the medder?" asked Miss Polly, irrelevantly. "Carrying water lilies, too—my, my, what armfuls! They must have been clear to Great pond. I wonder, now, Mis' Fenderson, if there was ever anything you or me or anybody else could dream into the finest of air castles much nicer'n four pretty girls coming smiling up a hill, swinging trails o' water lilies, and waving to their ma? I wonder?"

"No, Miss Polly," declared Mrs. Fenderson, shrugging away her blues with a twitch of the shoulders and a swift answering smile. "There couldn't be anything half as nice. And they're still in the dreaming time, bless them! Bear witness, please, Polly Ann Grimbie, that I, Alicia Fenderson, hereby and forever abdicate my royal haymow in favor of my rightful heirs!"

Canada and Free Wheat

Suspend the Duty.

Toronto Sunday World: In the interest of the Canadian Western farmer, the Borden government should forthwith suspend the duty on wheat and flour, and by that act secure free entry of Canadian wheat and flour into the States. There are several reasons why it should be done:

(1) The farmers want it. With the new tariff in the States and our withdrawal of the duty on wheat and flour, there will be a realization of the alleged benefits of reciprocity free trade in foods and some natural products), without the alleged political dangers (annexation or fiscal dictation from Washington). Both sides on the reciprocity fight ought now to be satisfied.

(2) It may compel Canadian buyers and Canadian mills, if they want Canadian wheat, to compete with the buyers of the United States.

(3) It may force the Canadian Pacific railway to reduce its freight rates in order to hold the business for Canadian rails and Canadian ports.

This last is the most important, and the World, strong as it has been and is for the development of Canadian industries and for Canadian trade channels, will forego these for a time at least if it forces our greatest and wealthiest organization—the Canadian Pacific railway—to cease its ungenerous and unpatriotic course of taking the highest freight rate that the Canadian farmer can bear or our laws or tariffs allow! The Atlantic shipping combine and the inland lakes combine are the children of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy; The Canadian Pacific can handle the grain trade lower than any other organization if it is forced to do it. The Canadian farmer, the Canadian miller, and the Canadian Pacific railway can beat the world if there is a fair deal all round. We want that fair deal!

If the Canadian Pacific has to lower freights, the World's whole fight for years against that unjust railway will have suddenly been made good.

We wait the result with interest.

Hush Piety.

Chicago Tribune: A local minister is very much perturbed over the "cruelty of reformers," citing as an instance the publication by the committee of fifteen of a list of property owners whose property is used for dives or houses of prostitution. This zealous apologist is of opinion that these property owners are innocents injured "and are no more responsible than is an Englishman living in England and owning stock in a city railroad for the fact that an intoxicated motorman ran over and killed a child somewhere in Chicago."

The reverend gentleman's eloquence is in spirit of the English poet Clough's version of the decalogue, as for example:

Thou shalt not kill; but need not strive
Officiously to keep alive.

As long as they live the men and women whose names were published as the owners of property used in the works of the devil will have to smart for it. They are now the targets for the shafts of ridicule and scorn that every ranter, and demagogue, and infidel cares to hurl, who hates religion and people with some means, and who gloats over the opportunity of clouding somebody's title to a good reputation.

To comment were to paint the lily.

Here and Abroad.

Chicago News: According to one critics, there are not enough husbands to go around in England, but over here the complaint is sometimes heard that they go around too much.

TheExtra Session That Didn't Happen

What the State Press Thinks About It.

New Form of Announcement.

Slayton Herald: There will be no special session of the present Minnesota legislature. Governor Eberhart announced that because of the unresponsive attitude of the house organization he is convinced that no measure for state control of public utilities can be passed now. He will refer the matter to the next regular session and make it the issue of the next primary and general elections. The governor's statement practically is an announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election although he does not say so in so many words. The only way of securing the enactment of a public utilities law for Minnesota is to submit the whole matter to the people, he says.

When in Doubt, Play Safe.

Warren Sheaf: Governor Eberhart was roundly criticised by those who opposed a special session of the legislature to enact a public utilities law, but now that he has given up the idea of calling a special session, his critics do not seem pleased. Had he opposed a special session, they would have been in favor of one—that is certain. Always against the governor is their motto.

Sees Ulterior Motives.

Luverne Journal: Governor Eberhart gave it out in his union depot statement that the reason he had abandoned his great idea to call an extra session of the legislature was because the house of representatives would not be likely to pass a state public utilities bill—and as it was to get such a bill passed that he purposed calling the session, he, of course, had had to change his mind. The Journal is most reliably informed that one Ed Smith was opposed to this extra session, and it is to be noted that Ed has just returned from Europe where he was sojourning while most of the talk about it was going on. Just why Mr. Smith does not want the legislature to meet again until it has to we, of course, do not know. But it is generally supposed that he is on extremely good terms with the brewers, railroads and other big business interests of the state and that these same interests feared that if the legislature was brought together this fall or winter in extra session it might pass some laws they don't want. Whether or not this fear was transferred from the interests mentioned to the heart of Mr. Smith and thence to the heart of the governor, the Journal would not care to say. But at any rate the matter seems to have been most satisfactorily disposed of as far as the interests and Mr. Smith are concerned. And the people of Minnesota have learned to know that when Ed Smith is satisfied Governor Eberhart pretty nearly has to be.

Governor and C. P.

Floodwood Broadaxe: Governor Eberhart now intimates there will be no special session of the legislature. The hand-writing on the wall didn't indicate that the state-wide public utilities measure was an absolute necessity at this time, even should a majority of the lawmakers of the state see it in the same light, which they did not.

The governor is now working on a proposition whereby the common people may enjoy the luxury of partaking of a beef stew semi-occasionally.

Interfere With Traveling.

Browns Valley Tribune: One of the reasons that probably influenced Governor Eberhart not to call the special session was the fact that a legislative session would interfere with his continuous traveling. According to Eberhart's practiced theory, the office of governor has been mis-named and ought to be changed to "official traveler," with the accent on the last word.

Waste Either Way.

Spooner News: We just learn that the governor has abandoned the idea of calling an extra session of the legislature, for the reason that he has seen that the house organization would defeat any public utilities measure that might be proposed. A public utilities commission seems to us, would be a benefit to the people of the state, as it would save the taxpayers a great deal of money, now wasted. But, if an extra session wouldn't accomplish anything, it would also be a waste, to have the legislature called together, to spend some more of the state money.

Kansas City Auto Curfew.

Peoria Star: Kansas City has passed an ordinance forbidding minors to ride in motor cars after 9 p. m. unless there is an older person accompanying them. Paid chauffeurs are not considered sufficiently reputable. If they are brother or sister, or married, the ordinance does not touch them. This is a step in the control of the reckless joy rides that have sent so many of our young people to death and worse than death, and since the parental control seems to be lamentably lacking, it is a good thing that the police power can step in.

Or a Chile Restaurant.

Atlanta Constitution: So far from dynamiting the gold mines of American residents, Huerta hasn't even demolished a hot tamale stand.

Honest Poverty.

Is there for honest poverty
Wha hangs his head, and a' that?
The coward-slave, we pass him by;
We dare be poor for a' that.
For a' that, and a' that,
Our toils obscure, and a' that;
The rank is but the guinea's stamp—
The man's the gowd for a' that.

What tho' on hamely fare we dine,
Wear hodden gray, and a' that;
Gie fools their silks, and knaves their wine—
For a' that, and a' that,
Their tinsel show, and a' that;
The honest man, though e'er so poor,
Is king o' men for a' that.

You see yon birkie ca'd a lord,
Wha struts, and stares, and a' that—
Tho' hundreds worship at his word,
He's but a coof for a' that;
For a' that, and a' that,
His riband, star, and a' that;
The man of independent mind,
He looks and laughs at a' that.

A prince can mak a belted knight,
A marquis, duke, and a' that;
But an honest man's aboon his might—
Guid faith, he mauna fa' that!
For a' that, and a' that,
Their dignities, and a' that;
The pith o' sense, and pride o' worth,
Are higher ranks than a' that.

Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will for a' that,
That sense and worth, o'er a' the earth,
May bear the gree, and a' that,
For a' that, and a' that,
It 's coming yet, for a' that—
When man to man, the warld o'er,
Shall brothers be for a' that.

Emporian Ginger.

Emporia Gazette: The Fort Scott Tribune, a Democratic sheet, whose only right to pose as a critic of English lies in the fact that the Tribune's editor once served as a short-term regent of the state university, under a have-saw governor, the Fort Scott Tribune takes the Emporia Gazette to task for using the word ethics as a singular noun. There may be good reason for criticizing a paper for using the word ethics at all. It is an academic word, like environment or viewpoint. But if ethics must be used, it should be used as a singular noun.

The Tribune probably is the kind of a paper that would put scissors, molasses, and booze in the plural for euphony, and say the crowd are, the committee were, the convention have been.

At any rate, no Democratic editor who gets his spelling from Petroleum V. Nasby, his grammar from Pitchfork Tillman, his rhetoric from Jim Ham Lewis, and his mental and moral pabulum from Tammany Hall, can call down this organ of the pre-Raphaelite movement in Kansas on the use of ethics as a singular noun, without at least a dying yelp of protest. The Democrats may put sugar on the free list and reformed currency in the free lunch, but dictionaries still resist their vandal hands.

Buying Bookkeeping

The other day a man said he had no use for an adding machine because—"my bookkeeper wouldn't have enough work to do."

Just think what that man said.

He is trying to do his work in the slowest way he can, just to keep a bookkeeper busy.

The thing for him to do is to cut down the amount of work that the bookkeeper is doing, and then give the bookkeeper some other work that would be sales-producing—more profitable to him and the bookkeeper.

END INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH—PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Time It! In Five Minutes Your Upset Stomach Will Feel Fine.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store, and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach, all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

ALTMAN ESTATE IS ESTIMATED $50,000,000

Great Art Collection Is Given to Metropolitan Museum.

New York, Oct. 15.—The Metropolitan Museum of Art will receive the great art collection of Benjamin Altman, the department store millionaire whose will was filed here yesterday for probate. Mr. Altman was a bachelor, and his collection occupied most of his time outside of business hours. He had what is said to be the finest collection of porcelains in the world.

Mr. Altman left the Metropolitan museum $150,000 to be devoted to the care of his collection. The Mount Sinai hospital of this city receives $100,000. Other public bequests amount to $80,000. Employes of the Altman store of twenty years' service receive $2,500 each. Those of eighteen years' service, $1,500, and those of fifteen years' service, $1,000. In addition eleven of the oldest employes are left $5,000 each. Mr. Altman's two secretaries receive $10,000 each.

The will leaves to each of the nieces and nephews, $100,000.

The Altman estate is estimated to be worth $50,000,000. The stock in the Altman company, which is believed to be worth between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000, Mr. Altman left to the Altman foundation, a corporation created by special act of the present state legislature. The income of the stock is to be applied, under the terms of the will to the support of such philantrophic and charitable institutions as may be selected by Mr. Altman's assignees and sucessors after the interests of the employes have been looked after through a profit-sharing system.

SUES FOR FINGER LOSS.

Thomas Pezich Asks Damages Because of Peculiar Accident.

For the loss of the middle finger of his left hand Thomas Pezich wants $5,000 from his former employers, the Oliver Iron Mining company. Through a peculiar accident, in which the company is charged with negligence, Pezich lost his finger.

The plaintiff was working in the Adams mine near Eveleth. While engaged in cutting a block of wood, a rock became dislodged and in falling struck him on the right arm causing the ax blade to be deflected. He missed his mark and struck his hand.

UNION OF ALL HOTEL MEN

Duluth Man One of Twelve Who Will Form the Organization.

Proposed New Association Will Cover the Entire Country.

Edwin H. Lee, manager of the Spalding hotel, has been honored by being chosen as one of the twelve of the most prominent hotel men in the country to make a national campaign for a new association of hotel men in the United States.

The new organization, it is proposed, will be the largest of its kind in the country and will include all the national protective and benefit associations now in existence. It will do away with the many smaller societies and create a union that will be a power in securing national or state legislation, also benefits and protection for the hotel men. The American Hotel Men's Protective association is behind the project.

Mr. Lee will leave Duluth on Nov. 5 for Chicago, where he will meet the eleven other hotel men, who are to make the campaign for a national association. The party will leave Chicago on the evening of Nov. 6 on two special cars and they will visit every large city in the East, where they will meet the hotel men and their organizations and explain the proposed union. Each member of the party, including Mr. Lee, is scheduled to make an address in every city visited.

Among the cities included in the itinerary are New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Boston, Louisville, Cincinnati, Syracuse, Springfield and Hartford. It is planned to make several more junkets in the future, visiting the large cities of the Central states, then those in the West and finally in the South. The whole country will be covered by these twelve men between now and next spring.

The honor to Mr. Lee comes to him because of his very effective work in bringing about the recent convention of the Northwestern Hotel Men's association, of which organization he is now the president. It is the largest association of hotel men in the country.

His Associates.

With Mr. Lee will be Rome Miller of Omaha, Neb., chairman of the American Hotel Men's Protective association, which organization is arranging for this special tour of the East; Sam Y. Dutton, Denver, Colo., the man who is credited with having originated the phrase, "See America First;" S. J. Whitcomb, Los Angeles, Cal., ex-president of National Hotel Men's association; Frank Dean, Kansas City, president of the Kansas City Hotel Men's association; John C. Roth, Chicago, the highest salaried hotel manager in the country; J. K. Blatchford, Chicago, secretary of the National Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit association, who is engineering this junket; E. M. Tierney, Binghamton, N. Y., ex-president of the National Hotel Men's association; John C. Kirkpatrick, San Francisco, Cal., largest hotel proprietor on the coast; Reno G. Hoag, Detroit, president of the Detroit Hotel Men's association, and E. M. Statler, Buffalo, millionaire owner of the Statler hotels in Buffalo, Cleveland and Detroit.

The hotel men will take two weeks for their trip, returning to Chicago Nov. 20.

In speaking of the proposed trip Mr. Lee said yesterday afternoon:

"If we can organize an association that we have in mind, it will be even larger than the Steel corporation. There are nine billions of dollars invested in the hotel business in the United States anod with all these owners organized into one solid body, you can see how strong it will be.

"This new association will work to place the word hotel properly before the people. It will aid in making laws, and with its probable influence will see that these laws go through. It is a big work, but the hotel men are all behind it and we expect no trouble at all in our campaign. We plan to first visit the East and to later on take in the other sections of the country."

MELLEN IS TO BE TRIED IN FEBRUARY.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 15.—State's Attorney Judson said last night that the trials of Former President Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford road and ex-Vice President McHenry in connection with the Westport wreck, would begin at the February term of superior court before Judge Tuttle.

After the wreck, more than a year ago, Mellen and McHenry were arrested, charged with manslaughter. Their cases were assigned to trial several times, but were postponed.

DISBARMENTS ARE REVOKED.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15.—Superior Judge Humphreis revoked yesterday his order "forever disbarring" Attorneys Glenn E. Hoover and Hulett M. Wells, because of their connection with a recent defiance by Socialist street speakers. Hoover was disbarred because as counsel he objected to a question asked of a prisoner charged with contempt of court, and Wells because he had signed a resolution defying Judge Humphreis to enforce his injunction.

A GREAT NOVELIST'S GREAT WORK

The Woman's Home Companion announces the new story by Margaret Deland—"The Hands of Esau," which begins in the November number.

This is the first story that Mrs. Deland has written since "The Iron Woman," which made even a greater impression than "John Ward, Preacher," the most discussed novel of its day.

In the opinion of authoritative critics, these novels, together with "The Awakening of Helena Richie" and "Dr. Lavendar's People," establish Mrs. Deland as the foremost American novelist.

THE PROBLEM OF HEREDITY

Nina Morgan, the beautiful heroine of Margaret Deland's new story, is confronted by the tremendous problem of heredity in the man she loves, when she learns that the traits and tendencies of the father are visited upon the son.

Had you been in her place would you have accepted him? Had you been in his place would you have told?

Mrs. Deland's great story, "The Hands of Esau," begins in the November Woman's Home Companion.

NEW RECORD FOR FREIGHT

Railroads in Northwest Do Best Business in History; Tariff Helps.

Cold Weather Will Help Coal Traffic; September Grain Traffic Heavy.

Officials of railroads operating from Duluth agree in the statement that the movement of general freight from here to points through the West, was never as heavy as at present. As a result of the reduction in duty under the new tariff, barley and oats are being already moved this way by the Canadian Northern and the Great Northern roads and that traffic is expected to assume large proportions during the winter months.

"Our freight traffic is making very favorable comparisons with last year," said G. A. Sherwood, district freight agent of the Soo line today. "Shipments of general merchandise have been especially good ever since Sept. 1, and it looks now as if the volume is going to be maintained right through till after the holiday season at least. The towns and country served by our Cuyuna range branch, are developing remarkably, and with the steady gains in ore shipments, the volume of business to and from that territory is exceeding our expectations.

Towns Grow Along Soo.

Many settlers are flocking into the country along the Soo's Duluth-Twin Cities line and some of the towns are growing rapidly, according to Mr. Sherwood. In that connection, he especially mentioned Webster, Danbury and Lewis.

Contractors have nearly completed work on the Soo line's 122-mile extension from Abrose, N. D., to Outlook, Mont., and that considerable grain will be moved over it this fall, is regarded as assured. Crops in that territory are reported to have been good, and the building of several elevators was undertaken far in advance of the completion of the road.

September Traffic Heavy.

J. I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific, avers that operating officials of his road were taken by surprise at the extent of the freight movement developing this fall. The September rush of grain had not been anticipated in view of the lighter crop.

Reports are now being received to the effect that with the necessity of raising money to cover pressing requirements now practically met, growers are showing a disposition to wait for better prices. Marketings at interior elevators have fallen off substantially during the last ten days.

While better than September, coal shipments are still below the mark for the season, Mr. Thomas avers, but on the whole the fuel tonnage moved since the early summer is approximately the same as last year. "We are banking upon a rush with the incoming of real cold weather," he said. "A lot of people, old experienced coal dealers included, never do anything till the shoe pinches and they are up against it to fill customers' orders."

Through keeping close tab on cars at terminals and at grain receiving points, the Northern Pacific has found its equipment of rolling stock ample this fall to handle all classes of freight offering.

$614,136 SAVED ON BATTLESHIP'S COST

Secretary Daniels Declares He Can Do Better Than That.

Washington, Oct. 15.—New bids for armor for battleship No. 39, were opened at the navy department yesterday, with the result that the Midvale Steel company was given the contract at a total saving to the government of $111,784 under the identical bids for the same material received recently from the Midvale, Carnegie and Bethlehem companies.

In announcing the awards, Secretary Daniels declared his intention to continue to urge the erection of a government armor plant. He said he was not satisfied with the reduction procured, but had accepted the lowest figures to prevent delay in the completion of the battleship, and because of the improbability that any further reduction could be obtained now from the three companies which have the only plants equipped to manufacture the plates.

Yesterday's award brought the total saving through competitive bidding on material for the new battleship up to $614,136, the reduction under prices formerly paid having amounted to $502,261 in the contracts for structural steel, lighter plates and turbine castings.

WAR GAME WIDOWS BRIDE OF GUNNER.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 15.—In a daring war game played by the Atlantic torpedo fleet under bad weather conditions Monday night, Gunner's Mate H. T. Garrity of the Paulding was washed overboard and drowned. The destroyer came into port with all hands exhausted. It is thought Garrity hit his head accidentally as he was carried over the stern, where he had been trying to secure some tackle, and that he was unconscious when he struck the water. He was married only a week ago.

Capt. William S. Sims, commander of the flotilla, said that the maneuvers were successful in bringing before the men the real conditions confronted in actual warfare. The problem, which was to locate a hostile fleet in the dark and destroy it, was worked out successfully in a 40-mile gale, with the seas sweeping the decks as high as the bridge and washing over the tops of the forecastles. Through these seas, the twenty destroyers were driven at twenty knots with lights extinguished. Life lines were stretched across the decks and officers and men went about their duties with their life preservers strapped about them.

Mistrial for Dean.

New Westminster, B. C., Oct. 15.—The jury disagreed last night in the trial of Charles Dean, accused of the robbery of the Bank of Montreal here Sept. 15, 1911. The robbery netted the perpetrators about $250,000. Counsel for Dean maintained that the only evidence shown against him was an apparent show of wealth after the robbery occurred."

DEER SEASON DRAWS NEAR

Opening Only Three Weeks Away—Deer and Moose Plentiful.

Game Wardens Busy Running Down Rumors of "Sooners."

The opening of the big game season, Nov. 10, is but a little over three weeks away.

As the day for which hundreds of men and some women have been anxiously waiting draws nearer, the reports from the Northern woods grow more favorable, whetting the already keen edge of desire of those who annually seek the tall pines in quest of the highly prized trophies.

From all directions come stories of the increased numbers of the wily deer and the lordly moose. The woodsmen and the settlers as well as the numerous outdoor men who make week-end trips into the brush from the city, state that they are more numerous than ever. They have seen them singly, in twos and in herds of four and five. Thus far the deer have been comparatively tame, but with the bird hunters cannonading through the woods, they are commencing to get shy, and when the big game hunters start to look for them next week, they will be as wild and shy as ever.

Lloyd R. Shively of Hunter's lodge, located across Vermilion lake from Tower, declares that it is almost an everyday occurrence to see moose and deer, while bird hunters have been meeting with uniform success. The Vermilion lake country has long been famed as an all-around hunting ground and each fall sees scores of hunters scattered along its thousand miles of shore line. Until the lake freezes, the sportsmen who are so inclined can vary their program with some excellent fishing.

New Game Country.

The Canadian Northern road has opened up a great, new country abounding with deer. The hunters who have been looking for partridges in the timber along its right-of-way have seen many of the fleet-footed denizens of the forest. A large number of them have combined their bird hunt with an exploring trip, spotting out country which they later plan to cover when the season for deer arrives.

The iron range territory has long been a favorite with hunters as has that along the Great Northern, Northern Pacific, Duluth, Missabe & Northern, the Duluth & Northeastern, the Alger-Smith line and the logging roads which have penetrated the forests throughout the whole of Northern Minnesota, as well as the long reaches of the north shore.

Under the direction of Inspector of Wardens Tom Storey, the deputies of the state game and fish commission have been busy looking for "sooners." The usual reports of deer killed out of season have been coming to the ears of the men hired by the state to protect the game and they have been running them down in all parts of the woods. Both moose and deer have been slain by the pot hunters and the game hogs. Inspector Storey has augmented his force considerably. Half a dozen additional deputies have been secured and will continue in service until the close of the season, Nov. 30. As was the case last year each hunter is allowed one deer, buck or doe, and one antlered bull moose. They must be tagged as soon as they are knocked down.

Paris, the president of the United States should be empowered to proclaim an export duty on all gold exports unless it can be shown that the export is taking place strictly on the basis of prevailing exchange rates. This power probably would never be invoked, but it would have a deterrent effect."

Hepburn Attacks Bill.

Declaring that the Owen-Glass currency bill now before congress was "born in a caucus and cradled in politics since its inception," A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the Chase national Bank of New York, attacked the Wilson administration measure, speaking before the conference. At the conference leading figures in the administration's fight for the currency bill clashed with bankers opposed to the measure.

Senator Robert L. Owen, sponsor in the senate for the currency bill; Representative Carter Glass, who led the fight for the bill in the house, and Representative Bulkley of Ohio, member of the house committee on banking and currency, defended the administration plan. Arthur Reynolds of Des Moines, president of the American Bankers' association, and Mr. Hepburn spoke for the bankers opposed to the bill. Representative Glass was unable on account of illness to attend, and his speech was read.

The debate revolved largely about the wisdom of compelling national banks to join in the proposed system under penalty of losing their charters, and on the assertion that designation of the members of the Federal reserve board by the president would open the way to political domination of the banking business.

"Cradled in Politics."

"I am not especially fearful of political control," said Mr. Hepburn, turning aside from his prepared speech to emphasize his point. "I am not even especially fearful of incompetent control. But, inasmuch as this bill was born in a caucus and cradled in politics from its inception, business men, bankers and the public in general may be pardoned for having some misgivings whether politics may not have a part in its management."

Senator Owen and Mr. Reynolds disagreed as to the probable success of the propored plan. The senator predicted its unqualified success and expressed the opinion that virtually every bank in the country would join in it. Mr. Reynolds replied by saying that he had attended a recent conference of 600 country bankers in Boston, and that they were united in their unwillingness to join the regional associations proposed. In his home state, he said, he had talked with many bankers and not one of them had expressed willingness to join the associations.

Sprague Suggests Changes.

Various amendments to the bill were suggested by Prof. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard university.

Prof. E. W. Kemmerer of Princeton university, Alexander D. Noyes of the New York Evening Post, and H. Parker Willis of the Journal of commerce also made addresses, which were followed by a general discussion.

Physician Tells How To Grow Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Newspaper Correspondent Tells How to Promote the Growth of the Hair.

A well-known physician who has made a careful study of the hair recently made the following statement: "It is comparatively easy to stop the hair from falling out, promote its growth and banish dandruff by the following simple recipe, which can be made at home: To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. of bay rum and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply it to the scalp with the finger tips two or three times per week. It not only is excellent as a scalp and hair tonic but it darkens faded, streaked, gray hair and makes it soft and glossy. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost."

CRISIS WITH MEXICO IS NEAR, ACCORDING TO WASHINGTON

Naval Plan Scanned.

Plans for keeping an American naval force in Mexican waters commanded almost equal attention, especially in view of the strained situation following so closely Huerta's announcement that his government's permission for the presence of American men of war would not be renewed this month, and the announcement of this government's intention to accomplish its end without conflicting with the laws of Mexico by changing the details of ships.

It was made plain that the Washington government was determined to have a naval representation ready for any eventuality, and some observers thought the next step toward a culmination of the situation might be forced over that point.

Publication of President Wilson's latest note to Huerta attracted wide attention for its brevity and forcefulness. The Mexican government's reply was awaited with keenest interest. Meanwhile all the agencies of government concerned in the situation were in constant and close communication.

Note Was Forceful.

The instructions delivered by Charge O'Shaughnessy to the authorities at Mexico City defining the attitude of the United States toward Huerta's assumption of dictatorship, were as follows:

"The president is shocked at the lawlessness of the methods employed by Gen. Huerta, and as a sincere friend of Mexico is deeply distressed at the situation which has arisen. He finds it impossible to regard otherwise than as an act of bad faith toward the United States, Huerta's course in dissolving the congress and arresting the deputies.

Violation of Guarantees.

"It is not only a violation of constitutional guarantees, but destroys all possibility of a free and fair election. The president believes that an election held at this time under the conditions as now existing would have none of the sanction with which law surrounds the ballot, and that the result therefore could not be regarded as representing the will of the people.

"The president would not feel justified in accepting the results of such an election or in recognizing the president so chosen."

As yet there is no concrete evidence that the Washington administration intends to use drastic measures. The White House has discouraged the heads of the army and navy from taking any steps that would give an alarmist impression.

Hint at New Action.

Some officials said they would not be surprised if the Federals of the Huerta government to comply with promises made to John Lind would cause the Washington administration to consider throwing its support to the Constitutionalists in the north of Mexico. This might carry with it a lifting of the embargo on arms, and many senators think the Constitutionalists would soon triumph if they had such assistance. President Wilson and Secretary Bryan hitherto have opposed such a step, but informal communication within the last two weeks with the Constitutionalists has indicated that the Washington administration is scrutinizing the leaders of the Constitutionalist movement to determine what are their purposes and whether they could establish constitutional authority in Mexico.

Diplomats Discuss Situation.

The Spanish minister to Mexico has called a conference today of the entire diplomatic corps in the Mexican capital to discuss Huerta's decree of dictatorship and the situation generally. Advices to that effect reached the state department early today from Charge O'Shaughnessy.

O'Shaughnessy Sent For.

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 15.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, was requested by telephone to call at the Mexican foreign office late last night, immediately after the conclusion of the cabinet meeting which had discussed the two recent communications from the United States government.

These communications, it is reported, contained a warning against the Mexican government's permitting harm to come to the Mexican deputies imprisoned by Gen. Huerta, and referred also to the unconstitutional situation brought about by the forcible dissolution of the chamber of deputies.

The American charge went to the foreign office and remained there some time, but afterward declined to say anything on what had occurred.

"Status Quo Unchanged."

The status quo will not be changed by the latest exchanges of notes between Mexico and the United States, according to information given out at the Mexican foreign office.

The diplomatic communications between Washington and Mexico growing out of the dissolution of the Mexican congress and the imprisonment of the deputies, have been the subject of intense interest.

The most startling rumor, which became current, was that the American charge was to be given his passports and that the Mexican government regarded the attitude of the United States as such that it could no longer continue to receive a Washington representative. It was also said that President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, now at Vera Cruz, will be asked to leave Mexico. Senor Moheno verbally denied that there was any truth in these rumors.

Regarding the possible withdrawal of recognition by Great Britain and the dispatch of warships by Germany, the foreign minister said that he had no official information.

Germany Is Watching.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The German foreign office is following new developments in Mexico very closely, at the same time adhering to its attitude of allowing the United States government an absolutely free hand in settling its policy without extraneous advice.

The suggestion put forward by some Mexican newspapers that Ambassador Gerard is faced with difficult negotiations in regard to Mexico, is unfounded.

Lind Not Recalled.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 15.—John Lind, President Wilson's representative, has not been asked to return to the United States as reported in certain quarters. It is considered likely that Mr. Lind will remain to continue his observations.

American Was Killed.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 15.—F. B. Ellis of Cripple Creek, Colo., has arrived in Juarez from Torreon. He says his brother, Joe Ellis, was killed by Mexican rebels last Tuesday, while a party of Americans was leaving Torreon for the border. F. B. Ellis was shot in the arm.

Three others of the party are missing. They are J. M. Parsons, Wichita, Kan.; L. M. White, Butte, Mont., and A. T. Stevens, Sacramento, Cal.

The party had reached a point about half way between Torreon and El Oro, when a body of Mexicans in uniform, who claimed to be rebels, attacked the Americans. Joe Ellis was shot and killed in the beginning of the attack. After making a brief stand, the Americans were compelled to flee.

F. B. Ellis says he became separated from the others after finding his brother dead, and he was unable to trace them after the fight. He thinks they fled and were overtaken by the Mexicans and killed.

cies, formerly Miss Helen Vivien Gould, and Lady Alastair Innes-Kerr, formerly Miss Anne Breese. Both were accompanied by their husbands, and wore their famous jewels. The chapel glittered with diamonds and pearls, almost every woman present wearing a tiara and necklace of fabulous value.

The bride entered the chapel between King George and her mother. She was gowned in a dainty dress of white charmeuse embroidered with pearls and diamonds and adorned with exquisite Brussels applique lace, of which the bridal veil also was made.

Bridesmaids Caused Comment.

Much admiration was expressed at the appearance of the five bridesmaids, who were Princess Mary, daughter of the king and queen; Princess Maud, only sister of the bride; Princess Victoria and Princess Helena of Teck, daughters of the duke and duchess of Teck, and Princess Mary, the little daughter of Prince and Princess Alexander of Teck. Their gowns were made of shell pink charmeuse and cream lace and they carried bouquets of carnations and lilies; the same flowers decorated the chapel royal.

The pages were little Prince John, the king's youngest son, and Prince Olaf of Norway, a great popular favorite in England.

Prince Arthur wore his uniform as a captain of the Royal Scots Grays, with its bright scarlet tunic and high bearskin busby. All the men among his royal relatives also wore military uniforms covered with decorations. The king was dressed as a field marshal.

Archbishop Performed Ceremony.

The ceremony was performed by the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London as dean of the chapel royal, and Canon Edgar Shepard, sub-dean of the chapels royal.

After the ceremony the archbishop of Canterbury delivered a short address, in which he pointed out that while only a few had been able to be present at the ceremony, millions of Britons all over the world joined in rejoicing at the marriage of an English prince and princess.

The duke and duchess of Connaught will sail for Canada Saturday.

MRS. MACKAY IS ACCUSER

intimacy with other women and his neglect of his matrimonial obligations, and has constantly declared to said persons that she, the said plaintiff, despised and hated her said husband, and desired to ruin him; and that during the year 1905 and repeatedly thereafter she, the said plaintiff, threatened to kill her said husband.

"By reason of the facts alleged in the preceding paragraph, the plaintiff is, and at all times mentioned in the complaint, has been estranged from her husband and has utterly destroyed whatever affection or love he may have had for her."

Mrs. Mackay alleges further that Dr. Blake has not lived with the plaintiff as his wife since the year 1904, "long prior to the time when he first knew or had any acquaintance with the defendant, but on the contrary, he has avoided the plaintiff as much as possible, and by mutual consent the said plaintiff and her husband have at all times since the year 1904 lived separately and apart, and since the autumn of the year 1910 have maintained separate and distinct establishments."

Mrs. Mackay says she did not meet Dr. Blake until 1909, long after the breach had come between him and his wife, and she prays therefore that the suit against her be dismissed.

The summons and complaint in Mrs. Blake's suit was made public only yesterday. It sets forth that she was living with and being supported by Dr. Blake until four years ago. Mrs. Mackay, she charges, "wilfully, wickedly and maliciously alienated her husband's affections," and still alienates them. Mrs. Blake's suit for separation against the doctor is pending in the courts.

slightly when all lists are balanced. Passenger Agent Fourman of the Ursnium line said that his figures showed that 657 persons sailed on the Volturno, including 24 cabin and 540 steerage passengers and 93 crew. His lists showed that 526 persons had been accounted for, leaving 131 on the missing list.

Capt. Inch's narrative reads:

"At 6:50 a. m., Oct. 9, 1913, latitude 49.12 north, longitude 24.51, the fire was reported in Hold No. 1 by chief officer. At 6:56 a. m. flames were bursting through No. 1 hatches, setting fire to the forecastle and fittings. I slowed down and kept her before the wind to enable us to put the steam extinguishers in operation, also three fire hose from deck connections. The flames were gaining rapidly, reaching the height of the foremast light, and imprisoning the watch below, who were burned to death in the forecastle.

"A series of explosions now occurred, wrecking the saloon and hospital amidships, the compass and steering gear being also damaged.

"I gave orders to get help by wireless as soon as the flames burst through the hatches.

Two Boats Smashed.

"It seemingly being impossible to save the ship, I had boats provisioned and swung out. The ship was rolling heavily. Boats Nos. 13 and 5 were smashed, but No. 2 was lowered in the water with cabin passengers and stewardess in charge of Chief Officer H. P. Miller. After this boat left the ship she capsized, throwing her occupants into the water. She afterward righted herself and several of the crew got back into the boat, the chief officer being one of them. No. 6 boat was lowered and got away safely, filled with steerage passengers, in charge of Fourth Officer Langsell. The No. 7 boat, on being lowered, was caught under the stern of the ship, the boat being completely wrecked.

"Meanwhile the chief engineer, two seamen and myself fought the fire, and apparently subdued the flames. I gave orders to send no more boats away, as I received word from the Carmania that she was hoping to be with us by 11 a. m. Life belts were served out and put on each passenger. The passengers now became calmer. Food was served to them.

Found Bunker Ablaze.

"At 9 a. m. the bunker was found to be ablaze. It being impossible to stop the fire in the bunker on account of gases, the water-tight doors were closed and water poured down the No. 3 hatch on to the fire, but the fire was gaining all the time.

"At 11 a. m. the Carmania arrived and lowered a boat, but could not reach the ship on account of high seas. The Carmania looked then for No. 2 boat. The steamship Seydlitz arrived and lowered boats which could not reach us. About 3 p. m. the Carmania returned and tried to reach the ship with life rafts, but all drifted past our bow, too far away.

"Several steamers had arrived by dusk. The Kroonland put away boats which made four attempts to come alongside, but were swept away each time.

"At 9:30 p. m. the saloon and chartroom were flaming. The deck, bridge and all before the funnel were blazing fiercely. Pumps and dynamos stopped for want of steam. Marconi operators worked with the accumulator until 11 p. m., when the magazine of the bridge blew up, carrying the aerial away.

"Several boats by this time were laying off the ship and induced passengers to jump, and they were rescued by boats.

Weather Was Squally.

"At 12 midnight the weather was overcast and squally. Operations were suspended, it being too dark for boats to see. The fire meanwhile worked through the women's steerage to the after end of the ship, but we kept knowledge of this from the passengers, who were quiet throughout the rest of the night.

"The chief engineer, the Marconi men and seamen and myself spent the night making small rafts, in case the fire burned through the deck before daylight.

"At 5:15 a. m. the first boat arrived. Weather and sea having moderated, boats were enabled to come alongside ship, which enabled passengers to embark quickly. All the steamers laying around the ship sent boats. Now we were enabled to load three boats with passengers at once. The passengers left in an orderly way. There was no panic. Women broke down and cried, however, when help was alongside, and all were off the ship by 8 a. m., about 400 passengers.

Searched the Ship.

"I searched the ship myself and found no one else on board, and so decided to abandon her, as the No. 3 hatch was well alight by now, so, with the remainder of the crew, I embarked on the Kroonland.

"Nothing at all has been heard of the two missing boats. Passing vessels were asked to keep a lookout for them."

THINK ONE THIEF HAS MURDERED HIS PALS

Theory Is Advanced Regarding Thief River Falls Robbery.

Cass Lake, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Did one of the three bandits, who held up the employes of the Thief River Falls express office and got away with $7,500, kill his two companions and get the entire loot for himself?

This theory was given credence here today when it was learned that the unknown man found dead on the railroad track near Bena a few days ago, is believed by detectives to be one of the robbers.

When the man was found there was absolutely nothing on his person to reveal his identity and he was buried in the potter's field at Bena. A day or two after a man who was believed to be a detective called on the coroner and presenting a photograph asked if the likeness did not resemble the man who was found. He was informed that it did. Following this the body was disinterred and examined closely and there were strong indications that it was the same party. The only difference being that the man found was minus one part of a finger and the picture did not indicate that. However, the picture was taken about two years ago and there is a great possibility that the finger could have been injured during that time. The body was reburied and reports are today that it was again disinterred.

The manner in which this man came to his death closely coincides with that in which the man picked up last week near Bemidji, and identified as one of the bandits was killed.

HEALTH OFFICE IS CLOSED BY DISEASE

Eleven Georgia State Employes Down With Diphtheria.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 15.—Offices of the Georgia board of health have been closed by order of Dr. H. F. Harris, its secretary, eleven members of the office force having contracted diphtheria within the last few days. Dr. Harris said that office employes probably had become infected through carelessness on the part of physicians in sending diphtheria cultures through the mails.

ZULU PRINCE CALLS FOOTBALL TOO ROUGH

Makes His Decision After Studying the Game at Harvard.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 15. — "American college football is altogether too brutal," said Prince Nadikane Q. Cele of Zululand, who has been studying this subject as the guest of the family of Robert T. P. Storer, captain of the Harvard university football team. The prince expressed the intention of introducing "milder forms" of the game into his country, as well as basket ball and baseball.

Prince Cele is in this country to raise money for the establishment of an industrial and trade school in Zululand and to take back a bride. Next week he will wed Miss Julia Smith, a student at the Hampton institute in Virginia.

AMERICAN AERONAUTS HAVE PERILOUS FLIGHT

Bridlington, Eng., Oct. 15.—The American balloon Goodyear, one of the contestants in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett aeronautic cup in which representatives of eight nations started from Paris on Sunday, had an adventurous journey. The balloon, with the pilots, Ralph A. D. Preston and Ralph H. Upson on board landed near Flamborough Head on the North sea, within 200 yards of the edge of the dangerous Bompton cliffs, which fall sheer into the sea.

When the Goodyear left Paris on Sunday the weather was hazy and there was scarcely any wind. The balloon drifted across Central France slowly in the direction of the English channel. The coast was reached in the neighborhood of Cherbourg at midnight on Monday. The wind then freshened and the aeronauts sighted Southampton at 3 o'clock on Tuesday. Then began a northward drift, but the wind later increased to half a gale and Mr. Upson decided that it was unwise to continue further.

SOME MEN ARE ALIVE IN WELSH COAL MINE

Twenty-Nine Signal From Living Tomb to Rescue Crew.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 15.—Rescuing parties searching for the 400 miners still entombed in the Universal colliery got into touch shortly after noon today with a party of twenty-nine men shut in one of the galleries by a fall of coal. They signalled that another group of fifteen of their comrades had been closed in further along the gallery, but that they probably were dead.

Altogether about 500 of the 931 men were rescued yesterday and today's discovery of further parties of living men gave rise to hopes that the fatalities would not be so numerous as at first supposed.

SLEEP DISTURBING BLADDER WEAKNESS BACKACHE-RHEUMATISM, QUICKLY VANISH

Even Most Chronic Sufferers Find Relief From Few Doses of Croxone

Croxone soon relieves such conditions because it reaches the very roots of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys; through the walls and linings; cleans out the little filtering cells and glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid substances that lodge in the joints and muscles to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; heals the inflamed membranes of the bladder, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, lifeless kidneys so they can filter and sift all the poison from the blood, and drive it out of the system.

So sure, so positive, so quick and lasting, are the results obtained from the use of Croxone, that three doses a day for a few days are often all that is required to end the worst backache, regulate the most annoying bladder disorders, and overcome the numerous other similar conditions.

Croxone is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results.

An original package costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give desired results, regardless of how old you are, how long you have suffered, or what else has failed.

CLUB WOMEN OPEN SESSION

Attendance Records Excelled at Fargo Meeting of N. D. Federation.

President Nielson and Other Officers Make Their Annual Reports.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the largest attendance in the seventeen years since its organization the Federated Clubs of North Dakota assembled in Fargo today for the annual session. Three sessions will be held today and Thursday and two Friday.

The coming of National President Pennybacker is the big card of the session. She is down for two addresses. Thursday night there will be a reception for her and she will make the chief address.

At 8:30 this morning the delegates began to assemble in the Civic Center building and to present their credentials. The building was well filled with representatives from all over the state when Miss Minnie Nielson of Valley City, state president, called the convention to order. Following a piano duet by Misses Beard and Folsk and the invocation by Rev. Dr. R. A. Beard of Fargo, Mrs. N. C. Young of Fargo welcomed the delegates. Mrs. Young is one of the most widely known club women of the state and an eloquent speaker. The response was by Mrs. J. E. Phelan of Boyman, a former resident of this city.

The convention then got down to business, the first event on the program being the address of President Nielson in which she proudly cited the growth of the organization during the past year and gave the members an optimistic outline of the work accomplished. Mrs. M. A. Baldwin of Fargo, vice president at large, made her annual report and was followed in order by Mrs. Zimmerman of Valley City, recording secretary; Mrs. Pressler of Valley City, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dochterman of Williston, treasurer; Mrs. Boyden of Jamestown, auditor; Mrs. Budlong of Bismarck, historian. Following the reports of the officers the rest of the forenoon was devoted to business.

The afternoon session was opened with a piano solo by Mrs. C. H. Ambeler of Fargo and there was a symposium of six-minute talks on different matters. There were two conferences following this, one of the vice presidents of the different districts, presided over by Mrs. O'Connor of St. Thomas, and another of the different departments, each of which was presided over by the regular chairmen, as follows: Arts and crafts by Mrs. Chandler of Grand Forks; conservation by Mrs. Cunningham of La Moure; endowment by Mrs. Goss of Bismarck; home economics by Miss Bascom of Wimbledon; extension by Mrs. Sheppard of Fargo; industrial and social conditions by Mrs. Hildreth of Fargo; landmark, Mrs. Amidon of Fargo; legislation by Mrs. Overson of Williston; literature and library by Miss Paddock of Jamestown; music by Mrs. Wilder of Jamestown; and public health by Mrs. Andrews of Valley City.

Following an informal ballot on the next officers an adjournment was taken at 4 o'clock for the benefit performance at the Grand theater for the endowment fund.

This evening Miss Paddock of Jamestown, Prof. Huff of Grand Forks, Mrs. Hazelton of Fargo, Mrs. Budlong of Bismarck, Prof. Andrews of Valley City, Miss Bascom of Wimbledon, Miss Stoner of Fargo, Miss Farnsworth of Valley City, and Miss Fulton of Wahpeton will all make short addresses. There will be instrumental music by Messrs. Haggart, Codding and Miss Gormeley and songs by Miss Belle Mahin of Grand Forks and Mrs. La Rose of Jamestown.

CLOQUET WILL FRAME COMMISSION CHARTER

FRED D. VIBERT,
A Prominent Member of the Charter Commission.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The judges of the district court have named the commissioners who are to frame the charter for the prospective commission government for Cloquet. They are as follows:

Fred D. Vibert, Dr. J. G. W. Havens, Attorney Walter L. Case, John Mattinen, Ole Kolseth, W. J. Peters, L. A. Fauley, C. J. Berg, John Long, William Kelly, H. G. Stevens, C. L. McNair, H. J. Danielson, H. M. Dixon and Joseph Loisel.

The commissioners have six months in which to report, and in the meantime, in November, Cloquet will elect a new set of city officers and the campaign promises to be close. There will be a vote on license, and the dry element will put a ticket in the field.

RUGBY WOMAN AT HEAD OF MISSIONS

North Dakota Presbyterians Conclude Sessions By Electing Officers.

Langdon, N. D., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The election of officers by the North Dakota Presbyterian Women's Missionary society was the concluding feature of the annual gathering here of the several state Presbyterian bodies.

Mrs. A. D. Collins of Rugby is the president of the mission department, and the other officers follow: Foreign corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. J. Goodail, Bathgate; home corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. H. Myers; Bismarck; secretary of freedmen's division, Mrs. J. McKechney, Portal; secretary literature department, Miss Anna Burr, Bottineau; Westminster guild, secretary, Mrs. Frye, Oakes; young peoples' secretary, Miss Lucy Gordon, Langdon; treasurer, Mrs. R. McKinnon, Bottineau.

Permanent committees for the year of the general Presbyterian synod were announced by Moderator C. W. Harris, the following being the chairmen: Home missions, Rev. G. W. Simmons, Jamestown; foreign missions, Rev. F. J. Hubbard, Langdon; education, Rev. D. M. McIntosh, Grand Forks; public and Sabbath schools, Rev. D. McIntyre; church erection, Rev. R. H. Meyers, Bismarck; ministerial and substitution fund, Rev. J. C. Wilson, Bathgate; freedmen, Rev. C. M. Haas, Colgate; Christian Life and work, Rev. T. G. Westpahl, Ambrose; Sabbath preservance, Rev. F. B. Stevenson, Courtney; temperance, Rev. T. G. Westpahl, Ambrose; college board, Rev. W. H. Matthews, Grand Forks.

The executive board for the coming year consists of Rev. R. T. Fulton, Towner; Rev. H. S. Morrison, Rugby; Rev. D. M. McIntosh, Grand Forks; Rev. G. W. Simon, Jamestown; Rev. P. W. Erickson, Minot; Rev. T. A. McCurdy, Bismarck; Rev. D. McIntyre, La Moure; Elder J. A. Coffey, Jamestown, and Elder James McEwen, Cavalier.

One of the interesting features in connection with the synod was the dedication of a church at Maida, near Langdon, in which several of the delegates participated.

CO-OPERATION URGED FOR POTATO GROWERS

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. Rowley of Minneapolis, manager of the State Fruit Growers' association, spoke before the Cloquet Commercial club last night on the co-operative selling of farm produce. His discourse was especially directed toward the marketing of potatoes, which is the largest crop of Carlton county. Prof. Rowley urged the farmers to form co-operative associations, demonstrating the need of such organization by the present condition of the potato market. Local farmers are receiving from the commission men who send agents here to buy potatoes, 35 cents per bushel, while the product is retailing in Minneapolis at 40 cents per peck. Prof. Rowley sighted the success of co-operative organization among the western fruit growers, where "instead of flooding the markets and competing with each other, their market is over the whole country, it being easier for a organization to market carloads of apples than for one farmer to dispose of half a carload at a profit to himself.

He also spoke of the success of the co-operation method in the Green Bay country, where it is only recently being tried. Prof. Rowley urged that a uniform kind of potatoes be raised and that the farmers get together on the subject and be ready for another season. Many farmers were present at the meeting.

Potatoes are being shipped from Cloquet, Carlton, Moose Lake, Mahtowa, Atkinson and other points along the line of the Northern Pacific, and at Atkinson farmers are receiving 10 cents more per bushel than in Cloquet.

Local farmers are hustling to harvest the potato crop before bad weather begins. Not nearly all the crop is in and all the available help is being utilized. Many women are in the fields digging potatoes or picking them up, and crowds are seen going out to the farms early each morning. School boys are working after school and on Saturdays.

DENATURED ALCOHOL DREAM MAY COME TRUE

North Dakota Farmers May Have New Source of Revenue.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The manufacture of denatured alcohol, a visionary dream of the North Dakota farmers for the last decade or more, may now become an actual reality. When T. F. Marshall of Oakes was in the lower branch of congress from this state he made considerable political capital at Washington in his advocacy of the manufacture of denatured alcohol from the waste products of the farm. A bill was finally passed but there was a joker which was slipped in at the last minute surrounding the manufacture with so much red tape and useless expense the farmers could not make it at a profit.

When the recent tariff measure went through Senator Lane of Oregon added an amendment under which farmers can now manufacture denatured alcohol. The machinery necessary is both simple and inexpensive if the German process is used.

With the immense amount of potatoes and corn and other products that can be cheaply grown in North Dakota and are rich in alcohol, there is no reason why the manufacture of denatured alcohol for commercial purposes could not be done at a profit in this state. All the government requires is that the product be at once denatured so that it cannot be used as a beverage.

HOMESEEKERS HAVE EYES ON MINNESOTA

State Immigration Official Reports Unusual Interest By Illinois Farmers.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—Minnesota is attracting thousands of homeseekers this year. The bulk of these come from states of Iowa, Illinois and Indiana. The Minnesota exhibit at the state fairs of Illinois and Indiana were particularly attractive to the farmers of those states and daily people are visiting Minnesota in search of moderate priced lands, who received their first inspiration to seek a home in the North Star state, by visiting the Minnesota exhibits during their state fairs.

At Illinois last week thousands of names of prospective Minnesota homeseekers were registered by the men in charge of the Springfield exhibit and literature setting forth Minnesota's great advantages as a place in which to acquire a home at moderate cost, will be mailed to them from the state board of immigration office at St. Paul. The people living in the territory of high priced $175 and $225 an acre land in the states above mentioned, are looking for an opportunity to secure a home where it does not require so much cash to make a start, and within a short time there will be a large increase in the movement towards Minnesota and the moderate priced lands.

In Illinois at the state fair, hundreds of farm renters and factory men visited the Minnesota exhibit booth and stated freely that they were going to make a trip to Minnesota in the near future, with a view of taking advantage of the great opportunities offered here for homebuilding. All of them have some means but not enough to start a home with in the states of high priced lands. Commissioner Fred D. Sherman of the state board of immigration says, that the interest shown in favor of Minnesota at the Illinois state fair far exceeded any and all expectations.

PENINSULA FARMER ACHIEVING SUCCESS.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 15.—S. H. Bridges, on the Sturgeon river, has 130 acres under cultivation. This year he has harvested 120 tons of hay, 1,500 bushels of buckwheat and 900 bushels of potatoes. Of livestock on the farm, there are eleven horses, four milch cows, six cows running with calves, thirty young cattle, forty-four hogs and 100 hens. In the way of improvements during the past year, Mr. Bridges has built a wagon shed, 20x50 feet, and has arranged to have two new wells drilled to supply water for the stock. He has purchased a new gang plow. The 2,500 second growth pines, on a portion of Mr. Bridges' farm, are growing rapidly. The growth this year is three feet in height and over an inch in diameter. Some of the tree are at least eighteen inches in diameter and the average is about twelve inches.

Partridge Scarce.

Crosby, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nimrods returning from the hunting fields report that the partridge are scarce this season, and those that are lucky enough to bring in a "mess" are envied by the less fortunate ones.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Pequaming—Work on the construction of a club room and bowling alley is in progress at Pequaming. Charles S. Hebard, who has accomplished many deeds of philanthropy for the employes of the Charles Hebard & Sons' Lumber company, is having the building erected and will equip it with all modern appliances, so that the people may have a place to meet and enjoy themselves.

Negaunee—Announcing to her friends in Negaunee that she was going to Ypsilanti to resume her studies at the state normal school, Miss Marion Reidy, daughter of P. J. Reidy, left during the forepart of the month for Omaha, Neb., where she was on Oct. 2 married to John Layne, who is now employed at Glenrock, but who formerly lived in Marquette.

Foster City—The Morgan Lumber & Cedar company, operators of the lumber plant at Foster City, is preparing for its usual active campaign in the woods. The company will operate two camps and will employ sixty-five men in each. In addition to the usual input of posts, poles, ties and other small stuff, the company expects to cut about 8,000,000 feet of pine, hemlock, maple, elm and basswood logs. Much of the timber will be hauled directly to the mill by the company's road locomotive.

Ishpeming—Coroner William Prin of Ishpeming conducted an inquest at Big Bay over the remains of Paul Abbott, who killed himself with a razor. The verdict was suicide.

Hancock—Professor. Hmari Krank has left Hancock for Finland to take a position as government engineer. He has been an instructor of mathematics at Suomi college for three years. A farewell banquet was given by the students and faculty Saturday evening. Mr. Krank has been popular at the college and his departure is regretted.

Hubbell—There are at least three men in Hubbell or its vicinity who have demonstrated their ability to raise mammoth pumpkins. The largest of the vegetables weighs eighty-three and one-fourth pounds and came from the garden of James B. Cooper. Another tips the scales at fifty-five pounds; this came from the garden of O. Perrault. The third pumpkin was grown by August Moehrke. While this is the smallest of the three it tipped the scales at forty-four and one-half pounds.

Marquette—The financial statement of the Marquette County Agricultural society was made known yesterday by Treasurer Wright. The report shows a balance of $18.50 in cash, with an indebtedness of over $6,000. At the session of the county board officers filed a communication with the board for an appropriation of $5,000. The committee will act on it next week.

Marquette—Miss Grace Retallic, daughter of Charles Retallic, and Rudolph Anderson, of Chicago, will be united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A large number of invitations have been sent out for the occasion. The wedding will take place at the Retallic home on Third street.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Le Sueur—Mrs. Wieland of St. Henry, mother of Mrs. John Beer of this city, died at the home of her son, Anthony Wieland at St. Henry. She was nearly 90 years of age and had been sick for some time past. The interment took place from the Catholic church at St. Henry.

Atwater—Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Ida Walen, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Walen of Irving to J. T. Johnson of Plumb, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home at Plumb after Oct. 5. The bride will be remembered by many of our people as a foreign missionary in China.

Litchfield — Mrs. Christine Sophia Scarp, widow of August Scarp, died at her home in Litchfield on Sunday last, after a decline in general health that had afflicted her for two or three years. Deceased was born in Lekarid, Smaland, Sweden, Nov. 29, 1844.

Minneapolis — William Healy, formerly of Faribault, and Miss Ida C. Meyer of Minneapolis, were married at St. Joseph's Catholic church by the Rev. Father Richards.

Faribault — At high noon on Monday, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pope, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Margaret Pope, to Clifford Hegg, both popular young people of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. B. J. Rothnem, under an arch of flowers and leaves.

Mallory —The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hultgren of this city was the scene of a pretty wedding, when their daughter, Miss Therese, was given in marriage to William Robertson of East Grand Forks. The marriage was solemnized at 4 o'clock, and Rev. J. K. Burleson pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiated.

Elbow Lake—Mrs. Helmer Hanson attempted to commit suicide last Friday at her home in Erdahl by taking carbolic acid. Emetics promptly administered saved the unhappy young woman's life. It is said Mrs. Hanson's life has been made miserable by relatives.

Fergus Falls — Henry Biersdorf has finished threshing on his farm in the southwestern outskirts of the city, and has a yield that comes very close to the top of the record. He had in thirty acres of wheat and secured a yield of 27½ bushels per acre; from seven acres of oats he obtained 500 bushels or a yield of 71½ bushels to the acre. The wheat graded No. 1 northern with no dockage.

Fergus Falls — The marriage of John Snowbeck and Miss Maude Claypool, both of this city, took place yesterday.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Wimbledon, N. D.—A number of the Wimbledon club women motored out to the Dover schoolhouse and enjoyed a pleasant social meeting with the Dover Woman's club. A short program was given opening with responses to roll-call. Mrs. W. O. Joos gave a talk on Cuba and her people, as seen in her late visit there. Mrs. Wanner talked on the benefits of club life for women. At the close of her remarks a woman's club was organized in Dover and officers elected were Miss Nutt, president, and Mrs. Russell, secretary and treasurer.

Rheumatic Blood is Whole Story

Sciatica, Lumbago, and Dreaded Articular Rheumatism Cured.

You Will Feel Like an Acrobat After Using S. S. S.

There is a host of pills, powders, tablets and what-not for rheumatism, but they all lack the first essential to being a natural medicine. To begin with, rheumatism is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains, and can only be reached by irrigating the entire blood supply with a naturally assimilative antidote. True, the pains may be eased with narcotics or the acids may be neutralized for the time being. But such methods merely temporize and do not even lead to a cure. There is but one standard rheumatism remedy, and is sold in all drug stores under the name of S. S. S. Attempts are often made to sell something claimed to be "just as good." Insist positively you will have nothing but S. S. S.

It contains only pure vegetable elements and is absolutely free of mercury, iodide of potash or arsenic.

The recoveries of all types of rheumatism by the use of S. S. S. is a fine tribute to the natural efficacy of this remarkable medicine, for it is assimilated just as naturally, just as specifically, and just as well ordained as the most acceptable, most palatable, and most readily digested food. Do not fail to get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day. You will be astonished at the results. If your rheumatism is of such a nature that you would like to consult a specialist, write to the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 220 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

HARVARD LOOKS THE BEST OF ALL EASTERN TEAMS

Crimson Eleven Is Further Advanced at the Present Time Than the Yale Machine.

BY BRUCE.

GENTLEMEN, for your inspection the Eastern football situation in the Balkan states of the gridiron game. We are about to introduce some of the prospects of Yale, that proud relic of the past, Harvard, Princeton, Penn and a few of the others. Pray why don't you begin? We will, and shortly.

So far there has been little basis to build the strong and upright structure of belief upon. Those who liked to bet through the devout desire to accumulate the medium through which the desires of the world are secured, have been searching the dope book with furrowed brow and fading orb, for alas there is little real and authentic dope running about the place. Those who wager from causes induced by that disease known as college spirit, will wager on their special institution anyhow, so it matters not in the least—also it might be jotted down at this spot that fathers are the fall guys for the losing Johns and Archies that have not as yet left school.

• • •

Harvard Looks It.

ONE generally clings to a ship until it goes down. Mangy and frayed old cats hold a peculiar fascination for some simple minded folks, through the medium of long associations. A loser and a relative who has lost his or her or some other person's money are two of the things that are dropped the quickest, competing upon fairly even circumstances with the hot iron and a hand bill announcing a prayer meeting. Among the clinging articles, besides the famous old ivy, that has formed plots for pastoral dramas and innumerable bucolic poems, are the champions of this mundane sphere.

At the present time Harvard happens to be the champion football team of the East, and therefore there are certain people who will emulate the example of the boy on the historic burning deck, in that they will be tenaciously on Harvard until Yale or Princeton shows that it possesses class and butting power sufficient to overcome the cherished position of the sons of the institution that stands sponsor for the five feet of some very dry literature, which by the aid of innumerable book agents has been scattered in various humble homes throughout this great and equally glorious country.

Brickley Is Still There.

UNTIL one Charles Brickley matriculates, graduates, is fired or bunches on his own accord, Harvard will remain as one of the destructive instruments of the football field.

In the days of old the candidates for the team were chosen on the point of lineage. Those who could trace their revered and simple ancestors back to the hardy days of the Mayflower and the famous incident of the rock, which lay—as Plymouth Rocks do—on our Eastern coast, were sure in the harmless days of the team to make the eleven. Those whose papas and mammas lodged safely and prominently in the high places of society, were also reasonably sure to make the team.

But times are changed. These be parlous times for the society buds. The rough necks, if you will pardon the expression, have changed the complexion of the team and have made it one of the great machines of the past few years.

Harvard is generally thought to have at this time the greatest eleven of the East. Yale is believed to be developing fast. The question is one pregnant with possibilities—for Yale, just as many other situations in the innumerable falls of innumerable years past have proven in the case of the elevens of the bull dog institution.

Can Yale Come Back?

IN THE great and glorious days of the athletic supremacy of Yale it was accounted a bad year when the New Haven institution did not win the rowing races at New London, the track games, and invariably the football championship.

But alas and likewise alack there has been a change, a sweeping, dark brown change if you are disposed to look at the nature of the change from the standpoint of the Yale yodler.

One by one the honors of the great trilogy of sports have slipped from the weakening hands of the great and game school of New Haven. Can the bull dog football team come back this fall? All over the land, east and west of the Alleghanies, they are asking this question. Its answer is at the present time sealed. On the afternoon of Nov. 22, when the golden sun is turning to a dull red glow, and its slanting and dimming rays are throwing a brilliantly reflected light over the great Harvard stadium, with its multitude, the question will be answered—until then, gentle folk, speculate as you will; neither the hand of fate or the immutable law of deduction will wholly satisfy you.

It's Up to Jones.

THE whole athletic system of Yale has gone to pot. In the case of the football team Howard Jones has been made head coach, as Haughton was at Harvard some three or four years ago, and the graduates and students of the old school are hoping that the former Yale star will turn out to be the genius that Percy Haughton has undeniably proved.

Yale meets Washington and Jefferson this Saturday. This game will give the followers of the team somewhat of a line on the Blues. In the event of Yale continuing the line of improvement which was so manifest in the game of a week ago, it is very likely that those of the East will begin to think more of the chances of Yale blue against Harvard crimson.

Harvard plays Norwich and little line will be obtained from this contest. Dartmouth and Princeton meet upon the historic gridiron at Princeton, and this of all the games of next Saturday should serve to give the most satisfying line on the condition and potential strength of one of the big three.

While hardly classing Michigan with the teams of the East, we can't under the present peculiar arrangement of things group the Wolverine with the Western guys, purely in the matter of football. Michigan, speaking from the standpoint of the gridiron, is neither fish, flesh nor fowl. Yost's pupils meet Vanderbilt at Nashville, and this will serve to give the soft spoken and silent R people of the Southland one of the big games of the season.

On the first day of November, the same day that our Minnesota is battling with Wisconsin, Cornell will meet Harvard and this game will most assuredly furnish a trustworthy line on the abilities of the crimson eleven. Yale will meet Colgate on the same day, and the contest, while not expected to prove an ordeal of crucial testing powers, should give the lynx-eyed followers of the development of the punch some very accurate idea of the possibilities of the Yale team.

On the eighth of the month that follows nut brown October and the accompanying ale, will come the clash between Harvard and Princeton. Yale will tackle Brown on the same afternoon, and these two contests will clear the college atmosphere and make all ready for the contest between those old and honorable foemen, Yale and Harvard, this game being set down for Nov. 22.

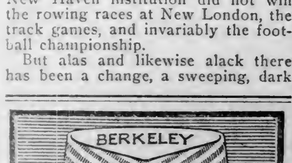

It has been the wont of Yale to develop slowly during the years of some of its greatest triumphs. This inherent trait is what is buoying hope in the breasts of the followers of the team. So far Harvard and even Princeton have shown greater strength, greater finish; it remains to be seen whether the blue team, wonderfully strong in rising to meet the demands of an occasion, can this season bring back to New Haven the vanished fame of the years that have passed.

FOOTBALL FANS MAY RIDE IN SPECIAL CAR.

Many followers of football in this town are planning to make the trip to Madison to witness the contest between Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Tentative plans were formed yesterday to secure a special coach from Duluth to Madison. In this event the Duluth delegation will sleep in the coach and will not be obliged to take chances of trying to get accommodations at one of the crowded hostelries of the Wisconsin capital.

Ed. Furni is making the arrangements with the railroad people for the coach.

SET NEW RECORD.

British Golf Champions Make Remarkable Scores at St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.—Harry Vardon and Edwin Ray, British golf champions, set a new record for the Glen Echo Golf club links yesterday. Incidentally, they administered overwhelming defeat to Stuart Stickney and Christian Kenney, the pick of the local golfing fraternity.

Ray went around the 18-hole course in 70 strokes, eight below bogey and two better than any score ever made on the links. The afternoon cards for the 36-hole course were Vardon, 73; Ray, 70; Stickney, 76; Kenney, 77.

AL TEARNEY IS AGAIN PRESIDENT

Made Head of Three Eye League for Another Year.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—"Al" Tearney of Chicago conquered his opposition yesterday and was re-elected president of the Three Eye league at its annual meeting. The opposition failed in the test of one ballot—only two of the clubs, Bloomington and Davenport, not voting for him, their votes going to Ed Holland of the latter organization. A second ballot made the choice unanimous, and with the election of J. T. Hays of Davenport as vice president of the league, harmony reigned complete.

No changes were made in the makeup of the league, Rock Island, a former member, sought admittance, but it was declared its representatives did not not show the strength required back of it, which was owing, it is said, to a feeling of unfriendliness on the part of some well-known Rock Island men toward the faction in power in the league. The ill feeling dates from the separation of the Arsenal City from the circuit.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONS GET PRIZE MONEY.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Twenty-six checks were distributed here yesterday by John E. Brunee, secretary of the national baseball commission, to the officials and players of the Philadelphia American league ball club, as their share of the world's series money. The club received a check of $68,333.79, of which $10,000 has been put up as a forfeit to comply with the rules of the series. This was the net amount after 25 per cent had been deducted from the club's total, which will be turned over to President Johnson of the American league for distribution to the other seven American league clubs.

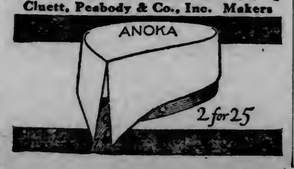

Each one of the twenty-five players eligible to compete in the series received $3,243.94.

Roster Not Completed.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The roster of the American league ball players who will travel on the round-the-world tour with the New York Giants and other National leaguers, was not completed yesterday, as Secretary Grabiner of the White Sox expected it would be. It is likely a dozen members of the Sox will go, however, and a number of others are expected.

CLEVELAND WINS OVER PITTSBURG

Naps Take Seventh Game, 4 to 1, in Inter-City Series.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—The Cleveland Americans won the seventh and deciding game of the inter-city series yesterday, defeating the Pittsburg Nationals by the score of 4 to 1. The official attendance was 2,953 and receipts $2,135.50.

Adams was batted for six hits in three innings, but McQuillen, who replaced him, did not allow a hit, and only nineteen batsmen faced him. Steen was steady except in the second inning, when three hits gave Pittsburg its only run. Singles by Leibold and Jackson in the first inning and Johnston's triple netted Cleveland two runs, Graney tripled in the second and scored when Wagner fumbled Leibold's grounder. Cleveland made another run in the fourth when Wilson muffed Chapman's fly and Chapman scored on singles by Lajoie and Johnston.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg 01000000	1	8	4

Batteries—Steen and Carisch; McQuillen, Adams and Simon. Umpires—Eason at plate, Evans on bases, Emslie in left field, Dineen in right field.

BREWERS LOSE TO WESTERN CHAMPIONS.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 15.—Denver defeated Milwaukee yesterday, 5 to 2, and acquired a lead of one game in the race for the minor leagues championship. The series now stands two games for Denver and one for Milwaukee. The next game will be played Thursday.

Denver lost no time in its half of the first inning in scoring two runs. Milwaukee tied the score in the third when Denver increased its lead by one run and added two more in the fourth. In the Milwaukee half of the fourth, the association champions were prevented from scoring by a remarkable catch of Channell. He leaped the center field ropes, caught Berg's long drive, and held three men on base at their sacks by a swift return throw.

Denver 20120000x	5	9	1

Batteries — Cutting, Hovlik and Hughes; Wolfgang and Block.

REMITS BEER FINE.

"Ping" Bodie Made Happy By Manager of White Sox.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—"Ping" Bodie, the Chicago Americans' famous slugger, was one of the happiest members of the team last night when he found in his final pay envelope the $600 he thought he had lost when he was discovered by Manager Callahan, drinking a stein of beer in St. Louis last summer. Bodie's contract included a stipulation that he must refrain from drinking during the season or forfeit $600 of his salary, and drinking the beer was a violation of the terms.

Pleased with the player's all-around work, and convinced that he had been guilty of no other infractions, Manager Callahan remitted the fine. Bodie was so gratified he pledged himself never to drink again during the playing season.

Decision Over Panke.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.—Marty Rowan of St. Louis, making his debut as a middleweight, was awarded the decision over Billy Panke, formerly 158-pound champion, after eight tame rounds of boxing last night.

WILL WAR ON MAJORS

Federal League Plans a Campaign Against Organized Ball.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 15.—The war, which it was rumored, that organized baseball would make upon the Federal league next season, will be carried to the big leaguers by the independent circuit and will be fought to a finish, according to J. Edward Krause, president of the local Federal league club and one of the powers in the circuit. In a statement Mr. Krause tells of plans of the new organization to try to lure players from major leagues.

"There will be no half-way measures, for the Federal league has come to stay," the statement says. "We learned during the last season that we must have a higher class of players, and have concluded that the only thing to do is to get men who have reputations as big league ball players.

"We have the money and the ambition to succeed. The money will tempt the players we want, and next year we will be able to offer our patrons a better grade of baseball. This policy, already settled, will be ratified at a meeting of the board of directors Nov. 1. After that time we will make overtures to major league and Class AA players."

At the meeting Nov. 1 officers for next year will be elected, and it is stated that the circuit of the Federal league will be increased to eight cities, two of which probably will be major league towns.

RALPH ROSE IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 15.—Ralph Rose, world's champion shotputter, is fighting for life in a hospital here against typhoid fever with which he was stricken some days ago.

"I consider it a very serious case," said the athletic's physician. "It will be from four days to a week before the crisis will be reached."

VIRGINIA EXPECTS TO DEFEAT ADAMS TEAM

Coached By Rademacher the Range City Claims to Have the Strongest Football Eleven in Its History.

Coached by Bill Rademacher, one of the greatest players that the University of Minnesota ever produced, the city football team of Virginia will meet the Adams eleven next Sunday in what is expected to prove the hardest game of the season for the blue and white bunch.

According to the statement of Ralph Wilk, a newspaper man of Virginia, the present team is the strongest that has ever been developed on the iron range. Rademacher has been coaching the town team for the past month and the rangers are coming to Duluth imbued with the belief that they will be able to take the measure of the West end team.

A Well Trained Team.

In the Virginia eleven the Duluth boys will meet the best trained team they have been called upon to play this season. Many of the Minnesota shifts have been taught to the range boys, according to the information that has been sent out from the Queen City. Rademacher was on the Minnesota team when these shift plays created so great an impression in the West and East, and apparently he has taken the Minnesota mode of attack and taught it to his men.

The Odanah Indians were entirely too light to give the Adams men even a warmup. With the Virginia team it will be quite different. The rangers will prove to be the heaviest team the Adams men have met during the present season, and if the team work of the visitors is up to the standard claimed the West enders will face the hardest contest of the present season.

Virginia has been training especially with the Adams game in sight. There is a hankering desire upon the part of the Virginia aggregation to take the measure of the Duluth bunch. It was with this idea in view that Rademacher was secured to put the team in shape for the game.

Followers of the independent game here would heartily welcome a game with an even score and it is to be hoped that the range team is as good as the reports from the range would indicate, for the majority of teams that the Adams eleven has played during the present season have been completely outclassed by the Geistman aggregation.

Following the game with Virginia it is very probable that one of the crack teams of Minneapolis will come to the Head of the Lakes to try to cop the laurels from the Adams club. Both the Marines and the Beavers are very strong, and either of these teams will make the bunch out in the West end go some to win.

IS COACHING HIS PUNTERS

Weak Spot in Minnesota Team Is Being Strengthened.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14.—Coach Williams of Minnesota turned over his regulars to graduated stars yesterday and gave his attention to his punters, Tollefson and Shaughnessy. This department has been weak in the two games played and a wholesome fear of Nebraska demanded that this weakness be corrected.

That Dr. Williams has a line plunger under cover who will possibly eclipse the great work of Shaughnessy, has leaked out past the censorship that had enveloped Northrop field since the opening of the season.

Following the game with North Dakota here Oct. 25, it is expected that Thomas H. Shevlin, the former Yale star, will come here to assist in finishing the squad off for the big games with Wisconsin Nov. 1 and with Chicago Nov. 15.

WINS FRENCH TITLE.

Chantilly, France, Oct. 15.—George Duncan, the fastest playing English professional, yesterday won the French open golf championship with an aggregate of 304 strokes for the four rounds of the 18-hole course. James Fraid of England, who has held both the British and the French open championships, was second with 307. H. Sherlock, also of England, finished third with 309. Arnaud Massy, the former French champion, finished with 310, and Dr. H. D. Gillies, a London amateur, scored 311.

GOES SEVEN HEATS.

Hotly Contested Race at Grand Circuit in Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—The Ashland stake for trotters eligible to the 2:19 class on June 16, the feature of yesterday's Grand Circuit program, was won after seven heats by Judson Girl, which took the final three heats. The first two heats were won by Uncle Biff, and in the next two veteran "Pop" Geers put Reusens past the wire in front. It was the longest race of the meeting and each heat was warmly contested.

Sweet Spirit won the 3-year-old trot, carried over from Monday, Tuna Z., taking second money. Lowanda won the 2:10 pace after losing the first two heats to Walnut Grove. Omar won the 2:11 trot in straight heats.

Because of an accident, Ross K. was distanced in the first heat of the 2:01 pace in which slow time was made. Earl, Jr., won the race in straight heats from Braden Direct.

DISASTROUS PRACTICE.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Football practice was somewhat disastrous to the University of Pennsylvania varsity eleven yesterday. Besides being defeated by the scrubs in a scrimmage match, by two touchdowns to none, two of the Red and Blue star players received injuries which may keep them out of the Brown game on Saturday.

Capt. Young, in an attempt to tackle Merrill, the varsity substitute quarterback, received two bad gashes, one above and the other below his right eye. It was necessary to put a stitch in each of them.

The other player hurt was Russell, left guard on the varsity, who had his back so severely wrenched that he was forced to leave the field.

JUNIOR SCHOOL LEAGUE ENTERS FOOTBALL FIELD

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon teams of the Bryant, Whittier, Adams, Lakeside, Washington and Merritt schools were organized into a school league. The scheduled games will begin immediately and it is expected that the winner of the league will be decided within the next month.

There will be two games between each of the teams and the members of the winning team will be awarded sweaters. In the case of a tie at the end of the schedule there will be a post season game played to decide the winner of the pennant.

High school boys will be chosen as officials of the games. The contests will come on Tuesday and Friday and will be played after the close of school. Every school boy will be eligible to compete and there will be no restrictions other than than those of school attendance.

This is the second season that a school league has been formed in Duluth, and the present season is expected to prove the most successful in the history of football in the public schools of Duluth.

All of the boys are just naturally crazy for the opening of the season. Each "kid" trying for one of the school teams has visions of wearing one of the coveted sweaters at the close of the season. It was primarily through the intense interest upon the part of the boys that the teachers in the various schools were induced to take steps that led to the organization of the league.

Junior football is now one of the recognized institutions of the city. With one junior league already playing, and the second, the school league about to enter the field, there promises to be a lot of crack young players developed before the close of the present season.

CONNIE MACK'S STARS ARE SAVING THEIR COIN

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 15.—The majority of those world champion Athletics, who today were each mailed a check for approximately $3,280, are going to use their winnings in buying farms, investing it in business, educating themselves or laying it aside for the rainy day, while a few of them are going to spend a small part of it doing such frivolous things as taking a trip abroad or buying a new automobile.

"My check goes to the bank to stay with the little wad I have there now," said Capt. Eddie Collins. "Some of these days when my account gets quite sizeable, I'll look around for some investment that will bring me nice returns when my baseball days are over."

C. Albert Bender, pitcher—"My money goes into the bank. Some day I may need it."

Ira Thomas, catcher—"I own thirty-four houses and two stores in Philadelphia now. That $3,280 will enable me to build about two more houses and I'm going to get busy just as soon as I find some good locations."

Eddie Plank, pitcher—"I'm going to put my money in the bank. If I see a good farm down my way later on I'm going to buy it."

Jack Barry, shortstop—I have a small interest now in a garage up in my home town, Worcester, Mass. I'm going to invest my world series winnings in buying a bigger share.

Frank Baker, third baseman—The bank for mine. Don't quote me as saying I'm going to buy a farm. I've got some farms already. When I get through with baseball I hope to get into some other business than farming.

Rube Oldring, left fielder—The minute that check reaches me I'm going to rush over to New Jersey and buy a farm that I took an option on a few months ago when it looked as if we'd surely grab the pennant.

Eddie Murphy, right fielder—I'm going to use part of the money buying a new automobile, trading in my old machine in part payment. The rest of it will buy in part a farm near my home in White Mills, Pa.

Amos Strunk, center fielder—I havn't made up my mind yet. For the time being, I'll put the money in the bank.

Dan Murphy, outfielder—I've got a cafe up in Norwich, Conn. It will return bigger dividends if I enlarge it and improve the looks of the place, and I'm going to use the larger part in making these changes.

"Stuffy" McInnis, first baseman—Part of mine goes to buy a share in a jewelry store in my home town, Manchester, Mass. With the rest of it I'm going to buy a big sailboat so that I can go cruising around and satisfy one of my whims.

Levan, utility infielder—My dad staked me to about $2,000 to cover my tuition and expenses at the University of Michigan. That much of my money goes back to him and the rest will go to pay my way through college during the coming year, which will be my last.

Fennock, pitcher—Guess I'll use part of it taking a trip to Europe.

Houck, pitcher—Part of it goes into the bank and the rest will buy me an education. I want to learn some profession.

Schang, catcher—There's a little farm just outside of Buffalo, N. Y., that I have wanted for some time, and the first thing I'm going to do is to buy it.

Bush, pitcher—I'll use about $1,000 establishing a billiard room in Brainerd, Minn. The rest goes into a farm.

Orr, utility infielder—I'm using mine to buy a farm near my home in San Francisco.

Shawkey, pitcher—Real estate for mine.

Jack Coombs, star twirler, who has been laid up in the hospital nearly a year, no doubt will use a portion of his winnings to fatten the bank accounts of sundry doctors, nurses and the hospital.

MARSHFIELD FANS COMING TO CHEER FOR FREDDY BEELL.

A big delegation of fans is coming up from Marshfield, Wis., the home of Fred Beell, to root for the little Dutch farmer on the evening of Nov. 4, when Freddy will stack up against the winner of the Yokel-Jordon match.

Yesterday a block of seats was reserved for the hometowners who are coming to lend moral assistance to the Wisconsin bear cat when he wrestles what may prove one of the last great contests in the career of the little German.

When Beell met and vanquished Americus at Baltimore, which gave to Freddy the title of being called the greatest light heavyweight in the world, five of the more enthusiastic fans of Marshfield made the long trip to see what proved to be one of the hardest and fiercest contests ever wrestled in this country.

When Fred enters the ring for the contest against the winner of the match in Salt Lake City there will probably be some of the faithful few who made the long trip to Baltimore and a lot of others who believe that there is no man in the world of anywhere near the poundage of the little Badger who is able to take his measure.

Since the memorable evening when Freddy, then a mere novice and known as the Marshfield strong boy, hurled the great Harvey Parker through the ropes and defeated one of the really great ones of the pad, he has been the idol of his townsmen and the coming contest, the really most important Fred has had since his go with Americus, is attracting the interest of nearly all of the little Wisconsin town, the place that Fred put on the map.

Appetite Ho! Ho! 'Tis a Great Joy

Appetite is very largely a series of signals from the stomach. When one has a rousing appetite at the sight or smell of food the stomach through its connection with the mind of man is asked whether the food seen or smelled would be welcome.

The stomach if healthy says yes and at once our mouths water and we are hungry from desire—keenly, ravenously hungry. If the stomach be sick then we have no appetite and are actually nauseated.

Appetite makes the glands of the mouth open and saliva flows very freely—hence the term "Mouth Water." This is the first digestive juice. It has an important office to perform as all starchy foods are partially digested by it because one of its ingredients, ptyalin is almost an instant digestive of starch. This process reduces the starch in foods to sugar.

The appetite causing a free flow of saliva aids the stomach by its ability to mix the food eaten with the mouth juices which enables it to more readily do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the mouth like food, are eaten, then dissolved and fluidized by the saliva. This mass then goes into the stomach and there quickly readjusts the stomach juices so that in a short time food is not offensive and man's appetite comes speedily back to him and he is hungry in a healthy, normal way.

By all means use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet the very moment you efel a loss of hunger. The quick return of appetite to you will convince you quickly that your stomach has been out of order and that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were the means of restoring its normally healthy condition.

Every druggist carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and no matter where you may be you can always obtain a box anywhere for 50 cents.

KELLY-WALTERS BOUT POSTPONED

Injured Arm Will Prevent Boxers Meeting Friday Evening.

"Spike" Kelly and Billy Walters will not meet on Friday evening. Such was the decision made late yesterday afternoon by Sig Abrahams, after the official of the Twin Ports club has received a wire from Manning Vaughn of the boxing commission confirming the statement of Walters that his arm was out of kilter.

As early as Monday Abrahams received a wire from Walters asking for a postponement of the bout. The wire from the prospective opponent of Kelly declared that his arm was bad and that he had been working too steadily of late. Back came the message to come anyway and that Walters would be held strictly to the letter of his contract.

It was after this that the Waukegan boxer submitted the injured swinging member to several of the members of the boxing commission, and the severity of the injury was confirmed, as shown by the receipt of the wire from Vaughn.

No definite date has been set for the defered encounter. Mr. Abrahams stated today that the bout would probably be put over until sometime during the present month.

Curley Ulrich has a bout coming on Oct. 28, according to recent announcement, so that if the original date is held to by Curley this will bring the two shows across the bay on dates closely approaching one another.

CORNHUSKERS WORKING HARD

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 15.—Hard, steady drilling in preparation for the Minnesota game next Saturday began yesterday on the Nebraska football field. The line must be strengthened, Head Coach Stiehm says, particularly left guard and tackle, which showed woeful weakness in the game with Kansas agricultural school, and if improvement is not shown there will be two new players there against Minnesota.

Coaches are not worrying about the backfield which made a good showing in both the championship games of the season. All the regulars save Shields, left tackle, are in good condition. Cameron, generally regarded as placed at center, probably will give way to Thompson, who has been playing a superb game.

MAKES NEW DISTANCE RECORD IN BIPLANE.

Johannisthal, Germany, Oct. 15.—Victor Staeffler, in a 100-horsepower biplane, has beaten the world's record for a flight covering the period within twenty-four consecutive hours. He started from here shortly after midnight for competition for the chief prize of the naval aviation subscription to be awarded for the longest European flight of the season. He landed at Mulhausen at 12:42 o'clock this morning, having covered 1,376 miles. His actual flying time was 22 hours, 47 minutes.

LIKE NELSON, WOLGAST ALSO NEARS THE END.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 15.—A little less than four years ago, Ad Wolgast wrested the title from the Dane at Port Richmond, Cal., after what was probably the hardest, bloodiest and bitterest lightweight battle in pugilism's history. Monday night Wolgast won by a wide margin, but in winning demonstrated that whatever hope he may have of wearing the championship laurels again is but dust and ashes.

AMERICAN BALLOON WINS

Upson in the Goodyear Takes James Gordon Bennett Cup.

Paris, Oct. 15. — Seventeen of the eighteen balloons which started for Paris Sunday afternoon in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup have landed. The Goodyear, piloted by the American, Ralph Upson, has covered the longest distance. The Goodyear landed at Bridlington at noon yesterday, having crossed the English channel early in the morning. The distance between Paris and Bridlington in a straight line is more than 400 miles. Upson claims to have covered 550 miles in forty-two hours.

The only balloon not yet reported is the Austrian Frankfurt.

London, Oct. 15.—The balloon Goodyear, with the two American aeronauts, Upson and Preston, aboard, engaged in the race for the James Gordon Bennett cup, landed yesterday afternoon near Bridlington, close to the cliffs. Bridlington is in the county of Cork, twenty-six miles from Hull.

The landing of the balloon Goodyear was effected in a wind blowing forty miles an hour. The aeronauts covered 550 miles in forty-two hours. The balloon crossed the English channel and passed over the neighborhood of Southampton.

DUNDEE GETS DECISION.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 15.—Johnny Dundee, a New York lightweight, won a decision over John Azevedo of Sacramento in a twenty-round match at Vernon arena last night. Deputy sheriffs were present to see that the affair was not a prizefight and to stop it if it became one. Azevedo was outclassed.

It was the first boxing bout staged publicly in Los Angeles since the Willard-Young match, which resulted in John Young's death. The authorities offered no interference, although it had been predicted.

VISITING CHAMPIONS LEAD IN GOLF CONTEST.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 15.—Playing consistent golf, the visiting English, Irish and Canadian champions all survived the opening round of match play in the nineteenth annual woman's national golf tournament championship yesterday on the links of the Wilmington Country club.

Reversals of form by several American entrants, resulted in the elimination of the title holder, Miss Margaret Curtis of Boston and Miss Catherine Harley of Fall River, a former champion, whose showing in the qualifying round, had led many to believe that she would figure in the semi-finals. Miss Harley finished in fourth place Monday with a card of 92 while Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield defeated her yesterday, two up, and barely qualified with a score of 112.

The visitors all won in comparatively easy fashion, Miss Ravenscroft, the former English champion, defeating Miss Frances C. Griscom, a former American champion, from Philadelphia, 6 up and 5 to play; Miss Mabel Harrison, Irish champion, winning from Mrs. Hirsch 6 up and 6 to play, and Miss Dodd, English, taking her match from Miss Noblito of Wilmington, 5 up and 6 to play.

Miss Violet Pooley of British Columbia won from Miss Lillian Hyde, a former Metropolitan champion, of New York, 4 up and 3 to play. Miss Florence Harvey of Hamilton, Ont., defeated her fellow countrywoman, Miss Frances Scott, also of Hamilton, 5 up and 3 to play.

In addition to Mrs. Stockton and Miss Painter, the American contests in the second round today will be Miss Harriet Curtis of Boston, a sister of the defeated champion and who tied for second place in the qualifying round, with Miss Dodd; Miss C. H. Handerbeck, and Miss E. P. Fitler of Pennsylvania, Miss Fanny Osgood of Boston, Miss Myra Helmar, Miss Elaine Rosenthal and Miss F. S. Colburn of Chicago, Miss Marion Hollins, the Metropolitan title holder, and Miss A. L. Cahn of New York.

Bests K. O. Brown.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 14.—Frankie Russell of New Orleans had the better of six rounds of a 10-round no-decision bout with Knockout Brown of New York here last night.

Dillon Too Clever.

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis, aspirant for the middleweight title, won the decision over Walter Monaghan of Canton in the fourth round of their scheduled twelve-round match here last night. Monaghan was so completely outclassed that a towel was tossed into the ring.

Harvard Player Disabled.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 15.—Charlie Brickley, Harvard's halfback and kicker, was not out for practice yesterday, owing to an injury sustained in the Williams game Saturday. Physicians told him to rest a few days.

LORIMER'S NAME TO BE USED IN TRIAL

Hines Also Will Be Mentioned in Funk Conspiracy Case.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—The names of William Lorimer and Edward Hines, millionaire lumber merchant, will play a part in the trials of Attorney Dan'el Donahoe and Detective Isaac Steifel, charged with conspiring to defame Clarence S. Funk, formerly general manager of the International Harvester company. In spite of the opposition of counsel for the defense, the two names were admitted into the record when the examination of prospective jurymen was begun.

Donahoe and Stiefel are charged with having conspired to induce John C. Henning, a bellboy, to sue Funk for $25,000, charging the alienation of Mrs. Henning's affections. The suit, which was brought after Funk had testified that Hines had told him it "cost $100,000 to put Lorimer over," was dismissed.

While examining Henry C. Corbin, a venireman, Assistant State's Attorney Bell mentioned the name of Lorimer.

"Your honor, interrupted Attorney Burres, for the defense, "Senator Lorimer is not connected with this case, and his name should not be used. The defense objects to it."

"I don't mean that he is connected with the case," asserted the state's attorney, "but his name will be used during the trial."

No jurymen had been definitely accepted by both sides when an adjournment was taken last night.

About Your Own Vigor

Sent Free To Men

MR. READER:

Here is something I have to offer you absolutely for nothing—a little private book of special information about the legitimate uses and unnatural abuses of manly vigor; about the preservation of manly strength and its possible self-restoration; an illustrated pocket compendium of 8,000 words, 72 pages and 30 half-tone photograph reproductions—which I am very pleased to send by mail, absolutely free of charge, in a plain sealed envelope, to any man, young or elderly, single or married, who writes for it.

MANHOOD WINS IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE.

Over a million of these books have been thus sent to applicants all over the world since my free offer first appeared. Publishers are charging as much as $2 for books on sex subjects, while my book is free. Therefore, reader, if you would like a great fund of inside information relating directly to the subject of manly vigor, all put up in perfectly plain, easy-to-read language, with many hints that you can surely apply to your own self, no matter how strong you may be, or how nervous or rundown you may be—if you want to know the facts about this particular subject, given to you without a single scare, then fill in the coupon below, send it to me and receive my book, sealed, by return mail. In one part of this little publication I describe a mechanical invention of my own, which I call the SANDEN Vitalizer, something you wear at night as an aid to the restoration of lost or waning strength; but you are not expected to get one of these appliances unless you decide for yourself that you want one. The book is complete, and there is absolutely nothing you are required to buy or pay, either now or in the future. Therefore, please send me your name and address today.

SANDEN, Author.

MANHOOD! The quality which rules the world today. My friend, there never was a time in the history of the human race when real, sturdy manhood, manly vigor and manly courage counted for as much as they do now, this very minute. No matter what your years, whether you are 20 or 60, you must be either entirely in the race or entirely out of it. It is invariably the fellow who proves up strongest in this human strength that forges to the front, while weaklings stand aside; it is he also who is in most demand and most sought after by women and men of his community, simply because he radiates that marvellous magnetic influence which only an abundant vigor and rugged manly health can radiate. I believe any man can hope to completely develop or restore this same vigor or manly strength, no matter what his past follies may have been, provided he is willing to REALLY MAKE THE EFFORT; and provided, of course, he is not weighed down by extreme old age or is not incurably diseased. To my mind, the read of the one who wants more vigor is perfectly plain, but it is a read that any man MUST travel if he attains the highest ideals in respect to his own manhood. See information in my free book.

As to the SANDEN Vitalizer, previously mentioned, will say it is a little mechanical appliance, weighing but a few ounces, which you wear at night. This Vitalizer generates and sends forth a certain soft, penetrating force which I call Vitality. It drives this Vitality into your nerves, blood, muscles and organs as you sleep. It is quieting to the nervous system—or, at least, so users say. Men write that it takes pain out of the back often at once and restores vitality in ninety days. Remember, the general information of the free book is independent of this Vitalizer, and you are not expected to get one of these little appliances unless you want to. You can write me later as to that if you so desire. With special attachments, my Vitalizer is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. If you live in or near this city I should be most pleased to have you call in person at my office, where you may see and test the Vitalizer free of charge. Hours—9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1. Or if inconvenient to call, do not fail to write for the free booklet.

To Get Free Book Please Use Coupon.

If you live too far to call, or if you cannot call, please fill in the coupon below and send it to me. You will receive free, sealed, by return mail, my 72-page illustrated book, containing 8,000 words, a complete compendium of useful information for men, young or elderly, single or married, who want the truth about the subject of vital strength, its preservation, its possible self-restoration and its legitimate use and wanton abuses. You get it all free.

MAY CENSOR RANGE MOVIES

Hibbing Officer Complains of Too Much "Blood and Thunder."

Declares Boys Are Absorbing Ideas That Will Prove Detrimental.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that a large number of cases in juvenile court had been traced to the ill effects of moving pictures, C. E. Everett, probation officer, appeared before the council yesterday afternoon and requested the passage of an ordinance establishing a censor for the "movies" or some means of suppressing pictures that were of the "blood and thunder" order.

"Judge Hughes and I have talked this matter over several times," said Mr. Everett in presenting his case to the council, "and have agreed that some steps should be taken to protect the children. We would not recommend this unless we had found from the court work that the children had been affected by what they saw on the screens."

As an instance Mr. Everett cited the case of two young boys aged 7 and 9 years who were apprehended following a forcible entry into a residence where after a thorough and systematic search they had taken a $10 bill. The case mentioned took place a year ago in September at the time of the county fair. The two boys invited a number of their young friends treated them to the sights of the fair, in the evening took in the "movies" and hired an automobile in which they rode home in luxury, penniless but happy. Some days later the robbery was traced to them and they were taken into court where they told of breaking in through a window and hunting for money.

"Where did you get any such ideas?" the boys were asked.

"We saw a man do it at a moving picture show," was their explanation. "He got caught, but we didn't expect we would."

Following the suggestion of Mr. Everett, the village attorney was instructed to obtain copies of the ordinance in force in other cities of the state, so that a suitable measure could be drafted to apply to the village of Hibbing.

"I believe in having the pictures clean," said one of the council members following the action, "but the man would like to pass an ordinance for, is the automobile driver who took money from those kids knowing that they never secured it in any legitimate way."

HIBBING HOSPITAL PLANS ARE HELD UP

Authorities Differ as to Policy in Reference to Contagious Diseases.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The possibility of contagious diseases being communicated to the patients in the non-contagious addition, in which case the city would be liable for damages, and the uncertainty of the privileges which the city now enjoys on the land occupied by the present detention hospital, may be arguments of enough force to change the present plans calling for a twenty-bed addition to the structure.

Though bids for the erection of the foundation of the addition were received by the council at their meeting yesterday afternoon, no action was taken and the architect was instructed to stop work on the plans until the matter is settled.

Two propositions were discussed in lieu of the addition, the removal of the present building to land owned by the village, where the addition could then be erected, or the letting of a contract for a separate hospital to be used only by non-contagious diseases.

The land occupied by the institution is owned by the Oliver Iron Mining company, which has generously allowed the village to build upon it and make whatever improvements they desired. The village has, however, no certain right of possession that will prevent them being compelled to move at any time, and therefore feel uneasy at requesting additional privileges. The mining company upon being advised that the addition was contemplated wrote and requested a sketch of the proposed structure and would undoubtedly grant the favor.

The danger of spreading contagious diseases by having the two classes of patients so close together was scoffed at by Dr. Morsman, who pointed to the hospitals in large cities where, in many cases, contagious cases were quarantined in one room in the hospital, while in others only a ward or perhaps a floor was set aside for that purpose. "The day of cottage treatment for contagious diseases is past," said Dr. Morsman, "and the Hibbing plan is in keeping with up-to-date methods."

The increase in the cost of maintenance and the possibility of one of the two buildings being closed in case the present officers did not remain in charge of affairs, were the objections offered by the head of the health department to the two building idea.

The bids received for the foundation work of the addition were as follows: George Kidd, $1,593; A. L. Guyett, $2,229.34, Johnson and Watne, $1,977. All were laid on the table.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today; You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

We have in our possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that we think every man who wishes to regain his health, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So we have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write us for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and we are convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together. We think we owe it to our fellow man to send him a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what we believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, spot-touching remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop us a line like this: Interstate Remedy company, 4071 Luck Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and we will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but we send it entirely free.

VIRGINIA SOLONS MEET WITH MUNICIPAL LEAGUE

PRESIDENT MICHAEL BOYLAN.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Michael Boylan, president of the city council, and Alderman F. J. Mollan will represent the city as delegates to the convention of the State Municipal league at St. Paul on Thursday and Friday of this week. They will leave here this evening.

IRON MINES CLAIM ANOTHER VICTIM

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nicki Junich, 35 years old and with a wife and four boys living in the Euclid addition, was killed last night at 11 o'clock by a cave-in at the underground section of the Chisholm mine. His partner, Mike Rapaich, escaped with slight injuries.

The two men were working on an underground contract when the ore caved catching Junich, who died immediately. The funeral will be held tomorrow at the Servian church. He was a member of the Servian Orthodox society.

Mikich was killed at the Shenango mine Monday while jumping on a train of which he was brakeman. After throwing a switch he attempted to jump on the train moving toward him. His head was cut off. He has no relatives here.

HIBBING IN CLASH WITH TROLLEY COMPANY

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesaba Railroad company's electric cars will be prohibited from running through the village of Hibbing unless the repairs that have been repeatedly ordered by the council on the block paving between the tracks are completed at once. This was the ultimatum ordered sent to the officers by the council at their meeting yesterday afternoon, following a hearing of complaints. Not only was the present condition of the paving between the tracks declared to be unsafe for street cars, but the council felt that the company had been given sufficient time to make the repairs ordered.

Manager Newton, of the road, stated later that his intentions were of the best and that the delay had been caused by the failure of a manufacturing plant to ship certain tie plates and rail appliances that must be attached before the new paving is laid.

INEBRIATE VISITS A TOWER CHURCH.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man who was considerably intoxicated entered the Presbyterian church Sunday at the hour for service and to the consternation of those gathering for the service entered the pulpit and sat at the organ, which he demonstrated he was familiar with. A member of the congregation succeeded in persuading the intruder to permit a lady to preside at the instrument, and in the meantime others invoked the aid of a police officer. The intoxicated man, however, left the church of his own accord before the officer appeared.

Dr. F. E. Thomas finished his work here for the present and left Monday evening for Virginia.

The Trout Lake Lumber company will operate five camps this winter. One will be at Bear creek, only eight miles from Tower, one on Ross lake and three on Trout lake. A large number of men will be necessary to operate all these camps.

HIBBING PLANT TO USE ELECTRICAL POWER.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the present plans of the water and light board are carried into effect the six boilers now used for running the electric light plant and pumping the city's water supply, will be abandoned next year and the entire plant electrified.

This is to be made possible by the use of power from the St. Louis Power company whose lines are rapidly nearing the village and from whom all electric light and power will be purchased beginning next month.

Two boilers will be kept in use during the winter to run the pumps and to supply the fourteen patrons of the steam heating plant.

Alice Wants Viaduct.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Residents of Alice have petitioned the village council for a viaduct to be erected over the Great Northern tracks on St. Louis avenue in the western addition to that suburb. The matter is still under consideration pending communication with the officials of the road.

LISTING BOOKS FOR CHISHOLM READERS

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Margaret Palmer, who began her duties as librarian for the new library the first of the month, has had temporary quarters fitted up in the basement of the high school building and has spent the last few weeks in preparing lists of the books which will be placed in the new institution.

Two thousand dollars have been appropriated for the purchase of books, and there will be close to 2,000 volumes in the library when it is opened to the public.

About 700 books have already been ordered and are expected to be delivered daily. This list includes standard books of fiction and non-fiction of a readable and popular sort. Another list is in readiness to submit to the book committee, including 317 volumes for juveniles, 57 volumes of 1913 fiction and a number of standard reference books.

WARBA TO HAVE FIRST COMMUNITY FAIR

Itasca County Village Plans Neighborhood Exhibition Oct. 24.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schools of Warba, assisted by the neighboring schools, will give a community fair at Warba, on Friday, Oct. 24. The exhibits will include vegetables, grains, poultry, dairy and household products.

The history of these community fairs is, as yet, short, this being the first annual one in Warba, and the second to be held in the district. The first annual community fair held at Bigfork ten days ago was such a success that Warba determined to have one of it's own.

Entries will be accepted up to 11 o'clock of Friday morning, the 24th, and the judging will be done in the afternoon, with a discussion of the good and bad points. At the close of the judging the address of the day will be given by Supt. A. J. McGuire of this village, superintendent of the state agricultural farm. On Saturday evening there will be a box social to defray the expenses of the premiums. Forty-three prizes have been announced, and it is believed that the entries will be many.

GRAND RAPIDS BANKER IN MONTANA FIELD.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cashier Leon M. Bolter of the First State bank has returned from a three weeks' trip through Montana, attending the formal opening of the three new banks in the chain in which he is interested. The new banks are at Winifred, Geraldine and Roy, Mont., in the Judith basin, which has only recently become thickly populated. Mr. Bolter made a trip to Montana early in the summer, and at that time made the preliminary arrangements, going out in September to attend to the last of the details. The cashier of the Geraldine bank, which will be known as the Farmers' State bank, is David Creighton, formerly assistant cashier of the local bank of the string. The other banks run by the same management are the First State banks of Grand Rapids, Bovey and Keewatin, and the Farmers' State banks of the three new towns.

VIRGINIA NIGHT SCHOOL ENROLLS 138.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening of the night schools last night showed an enrollment of 138. Of these 103 will take primary work, twenty-five the commercial training and eight the commercial course. No work was done in the domestic science department last evening, but many have signified a desire to take the work, and in all probability a class will be formed in this department later in the week. The manual training work will include mechanical drawing and lathe and forge work. In addition to the other work there are also evening gymnasium classes.

Ten teachers are at present employed and this number will be increased as it becomes necessary. The evening classes meet on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and there will also be afternoon sessions for the benefit of those who work nights. The attendance last evening was the largest for any opening night and the faculty members are satisfied that within a short time the number of students will be much larger than in any past year.

HIBBING HEBREWS PLAN ENTERTAINMENT.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are already being made by the Hibbing committee of the Range Young Men's Hebrew association for the entertainment of the members here next March.

At the Chisholm meeting last Sunday when the association was organized, Max Rogalsky, Isaac Cohen and M. E. Osherman were selected as the local representatives and the third meeting assigned to this village.

In December the association will meet at Eveleth and will listen to an address by a prominent speaker from Madison, Wis.

The speaker for the Hibbing meeting has not been decided upon but special effort is to be made to secure an excellent one and to arrange an exceptionally good musical and entertainment program.

NEW BONIFACE FOR BIWABIK HOTEL.

Biwabik, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. C. Beatty will be the new landlord of the Hill hotel, Mr. Beatty taking charge yesterday morning. Mr. Weitzel sometime ago notified Mr. Hill, owner of the property, that he would not lease the place another year. Mr. Beatty comes to the management of the local hotel with considerable experience in the hotel business. Mr. Beatty intends to run the place on the European plan, where it has previously been run on the American plan.

Mr. Weitzel has as yet not definitely decided just what he will do. Mr. Beatty for a number of years past has been a conductor on the Iron Range.

COBALT WINS SUIT FROM GILBERT FIRM.

Virginia, Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Cobalt was awarded $400 by a jury in district court yesterday for injuries received last April while riding in an automobile owned by the Broadway Livery company of Gilbert. Cobalt and his family were members of a wedding party which had hired two automobiles and were on their way to Eveleth when the car in which Cobalt was riding turned turtle, his collar bone being broken, besides which he received other minor injuries. David Morkoinen, proprietor of the livery, and Ignace Babich, the chauffeur were sued jointly for $5,000 and in its verdict the jury found for the plaintiff in the case against Morkoinen and for the defendant in that against Babich.

VIRGINIA PASTOR RESIGNS CHARGE.

Virginia, Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Henry E. Neff, for many years pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has tendered his resignation and will leave the city. A meeting will be held in the church tomorrow evening to consider the resignation. Rev. Philip Schwarz of Eveleth will preside at the meeting.

Rev. Neff has made no decided plans as yet. Before deciding where he will make his future home he must first await the action of the local congregation and the presbytery. His health has not been the best of late and during the severe winter months he has suffered considerably. In case he leaves Virginia he will in all probability move South.

SULLIVAN SALOON LICENSE REVOKED.

Virginia, Oct. 15.— (Special to The Herald.)—The city council has rescinded its action of a week ago granting a liquor license to Ansel J. Sullivan. This action was taken last night after a communication had been read from Mr. Sullivan in which he withdrew his application. The license was formerly held by Pat Sullivan, father of the new applicant, and was revoked last April after he had been found guilty of a violation of the liquor law.

Drill Man in Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. W. McDonald of the firm of Cole & McDonald, who for some time has been in charge of the Superior office of the firm, has removed to this village, and has already taken an office here, where he will in future make his home. Mr. McDonald owns large tracts of land on the range, and plans to look after his own interests in this section of the state.

DISTRICT COURT RESUMES SESSIONS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sitting of district court was resumed this morning, after a three days' recess, and the first case to be taken up was that of the King Lumber company of this village against Jacob and Sofi Fransholm. The case is one in which the company asks for money on a bill, the amount of which is disputed by the defendants, and the contest centers about a discussion as to the foreclosure of a mortgage for $15,000, upon property owned by the defendants.

The court ordered the drawing of a special venire of eighteen men, for the morning of Oct. 21, when the next of the jury cases will be taken up. The cases now in hearing are all court cases, and the next issue will not be ready for trial until the date named for the drawing of the special venire.

YOUTH MADE OWN "COIN" FOR SLOT MACHINE.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Caught in the act of making lead slugs, presumably for use in slot machines, gum vendors and mechanical pianos, Clarence Cayo, a young boy, 19 years of age, was arrested yesterday in the ball park by Officer Starkey.

Seated in one corner of the field, in the shadow of the homerun fence, Cayo was working on a sheet of lead with a section of iron pipe that had been shaped and sharpened at one end. Beside him he had a pile of forty or fifty slugs, some with their edges filed smooth and others still in the rough.

It is claimed that the same boy has been working for some time at the slug making business and has flooded many of the local machines with the worthless coins.

Cayo is believed to be a slot machine fiend for in his pocket was a letter from a friend warning him not to play the game too strong.

Find Stolen Mileage Book.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mileage book, reported to the police as missing, with the coat and overcoat, said to have been stolen from the Fred Betts home, a week ago, was found Monday morning in the courthouse by the janitor, Charles Huss. The 1,500 miles said to have been left in the 2,000-mile book, were all there and the book had apparently not been tampered with. It is supposed that Mr. Betts either dropped the book out of his pocket, when he visited the courthouse Saturday afternoon, or else that the thief himself paid a visit to the courthouse and dropped it where it was found later, when the corridor was swept.

H. W. RICHARDSON, Local Forecaster.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. ISOBARS (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. ISOTHERMS (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100° ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The chill in the air today is revivifying and while some remarks are being made about fall being on the job, still there is no apparent objection for Duluth is being handed out its usual fine brand of autumn weather.

The weather man says that the weather will be fair tonight and tomorrow, but frost may be expected.

A year ago today was fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:26 and will set this evening at 5:21 o'clock, giving ten hours and 52 minutes of sunshine for the day.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder temperature prevails throughout the Northwest. Freezing weather was the rule in that section this morning. In the eastern lake region, upper Ohio valley and North Atlantic states the temperature has risen. The highest velocity of the wind at Duluth last night was 48 miles from the Northwest. Light rain fell during Tuesday or last night over the North Atlantic and North Pacific coast districts and over Eastern Texas."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Thursday; colder tonight with freezing temperature.

Auto Breaks Child's Leg.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Natie Hostin, the 5-year-old son of Paul Hostin, a local merchant, was run into by an automobile operated by George Decker yesterday afternoon, one of the little one's legs being broken. Decker was backing his car from the garage into the alley, where the boy was at play, and did not see him in time to avert the accident.

YOUNGSTERS WANT PLACE WHERE THEY CAN PLAY

Mayor Prince Gets Letter From West End Boy, Telling of Plight of Children There.

"Kids" living in the vicinity of Twenty-first avenue west and Second street want Mayor Prince to help them get a place where they can play.

Acting as spokesman for "de bunch," William Heiam, 2024 West Second street, writes that the only place now available is the street and that when they try to amuse themselves there they are driven away by a policeman.

The mayor said that he would endeavor to secure permission from the owners of nearby vacant lots to let the boys use them until the matter of securing a playground can be given further attention.

ALLEGES SWINDLE IN AITKIN COUNTY LAND

Iowa Man Tries to Recover $16,000 From Streeter and Kerr.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 15.—George C. Lawrence, a lawyer of Anamosa, Iowa, told the jury in the district court here today of the purchase of 6,000 acres of land in Northern Minnesota, on which he had paid $16,000, under representation that the tract would be colonized by a St. Louis company organized with a $2,000,000 capital, to bring European farmers to Minnesota.

When he investigated the company in St. Louis he found its offices to consist of two small rooms in an old building, a desk and a typewriter on which $10 had been paid. He also testified that two of the company's principal stockholders were serving terms in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth for fraudulent activities.

Lawrence wept bitterly while on the witness stand, explaining that his tears were caused by the fact that he had used his influence to induce friends and relatives to invest their money in the venture. The land is situated in Aitkin county, Minn.

Lawrence's appearance in the Minneapolis court was occasioned by a suit to recover his money which he brought against James B. Streetor and the O. W. Kerr company, real estate agents, who, he says, induced him to buy the land. Both defendants deny the allegations.

UP TO THE SKATERS.

Open Rinks Cannot Be Taken Care of By City This Year.

The pupils of the Lester park school will take care of the open air rink in their part of the city the coming winter. Assurances to this effect were received yesterday by Mayor Prince from Miss Bertha Beinhorn, principal of the school.

The same steps will have to be taken in other sections of the city if the rinks are to be operated this year as the city treasury is so short of funds that it cannot bear the expense, estimated at $2,500. The city will flood the rinks and resurface them from time to time as needed but all other details will fall upon those using them.

BRAINERD STREET RAILWAY CO. BUSY.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the Minnesota Central Railway company, which has secured a franchise to construct a street railway in Brainerd, Joseph Ferrier, vice president and treasurer, was authorized to employ an engineering staff of seven men. The line of the interurban on the Cuyuna range may be surveyed this fall, and not later than early next spring. Dr. Joseph Nicholson of Brainerd was elected chief surgeon of the company, and George Nicholson, also of Brainerd, was chosen local counsel. The Northwestern hospital, at Brainerd, was designated as the official hospital of the company.

The Minnesota Central Railway company of Duluth, which is a Minnesota corporation, has won its suit against the Minnesota Central Railway company, a Maine corporation having its headquarters in Minneapolis, and which has a line planned from Minneapolis to St. Cloud and thence to Mille Lacs lake. The Minneapolis company changed its name to the Minneapolis & Central Minnesota Railway company and pays all the costs of the action.

GUN EXPLODES AS BOY FALLS

Companions Wounded By Shot—Injuries Are Not Serious.

Emil Friedman, 20, and Arthur Friedman, 17, of 1612 East Fifth street, had a narrow escape from death on Sunday afternoon while hunting partridges near Arnold.

The two brothers and Erwin Franz, 18 years old, were walking through some underbrush, when young Franz stumbled and fell. He yelled as he fell to the ground and the two brothers turned around just in time to receive part of the discharge of Frantz's gun. One stray shot entered the forehead of Emil, while several entered the back and arms of Arthur.

Following the shooting the two brothers took a car and went to the office of Dr. E. J. Patton, who dressed their wounds, which were not serious.

Delay Bleached Flour Case.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Arguments in the supreme court on the government's big bleached flour case, to test the right of the millers under the pure food laws to bleach flour by the so-called Alsop process, has been postponed by mutual agreement and probably will be heard in January.

REPORT IS UNFAVORABLE

U. S. Army Engineer Deems Improvement of St. Louis River Unnecessary.

Acts on Advice of Board Which Made the Survey.

W. H. Bixby, chief engineer of the United States army, after an examination of the report made by a special staff of engineering officers on their preliminary survey of the harbor of Duluth and Superior, with a view of extending the 20-foot channel up the St. Louis river as far as Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, including a channel of the same depth on the south and east sides of Big Island, recommends to the war department at Washington that the improvement would not be advisable at this time. His reason for not advising the work is that the increase in traffic would not warrant the outlay of money that would be necessitated.

Engineer Bixby in his report, printed copies of which have been received in Duluth, outlines the improvements already made. He says that a channel twenty feet deep and 200 to 260 feet wide has been excavated up St. Louis river for about four miles above Grassy Point, terminating near the upper end of Big Island. From the head of this channel to Commonwealth avenue, New Duluth, there is a navigable depth of thirteen feet for five miles.

Special Board Report.

The special board reported that at present large steamers do not go above a coal wharf, situated about three miles below the head of the present 20-foot channel, and only two industries on the upper river now use the waterway, and deep water is not required for either of these.

The board of engineers for rivers and harbors, which made the preliminary investigation, opposed the improvement for two reasons, viz: that the present traffic did not warrant it, and the prospect of an increase in traffic was insufficient to warrant such a large outlay of money at the present time.

Work Not Urged.

The board reported that before it made its final report to the chief engineer that interested parties were advised of the unfavorable report of the board and given an opportunity of expressing their views. None of these parties, the board says, made any communication in the matter. The board states that there is at the present time very little commerce on the river.

The preliminary examination was authorized by the river and harbor act of Sept. 19, 1890, and the duty was assigned to Maj. James B. Quinn, corps of engineers. Maj. Quinn's report was that the river "was worthy of improvement, although the present navigation is inconsiderable."

Reasons for Improvement.

There were many reasons expressed why the improvement should be made. Among these were that there would be more room for docks and new manufacturing plants, which would be a great benefit to the public when such room was needed. E. H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation said that a deeper channel to New Duluth would be necessary when the new steel plant had been put in if the plant's traffic were to be carried on by water.

The commerce on the river at present according to the report follows:

"The coal wharf at the Zenith Furnace company, seven miles from the Duluth canal, is as far up the river as large steamers go. Above that point the only industries on the river are the Minnesota Steel company, the Paragon Oil company and the stone quarries at Fond du Lac. The construction material used on the work at the steel plant is all brought by rail, a great portion being taken over the Interstate Transfer bridge at New Duluth. This bridge, which is owned or controlled by the steel company, is completed for railroad traffic and in operation, though no provision has yet been made for the passage of vehicles.

"The Paragon Oil company has five oil tanks, with a capacity of 1,080,000 gallons, on the Wisconsin side of the river, near the Interstate Transfer bridge, thirteen miles from the Duluth canal. This company, which ships nothing by boat, is the only company above West Duluth that has cargoes arriving by water, its oil being pumped from steel oil barges into the tanks. The barges, which have a draft of about nine feet, are towed by harbor tugs drawing twelve to fourteen feet. The company received five cargoes during the past summer with a net tonnage of 405 tons each.

Former Improvements.

The report outlined the former improvements and appropriations as follows:

"The board of engineers on rivers and harbors and the chief of engineers both expressed the opinion that at the present time it is inadvisable for the United States to undertake the work in question.

"Appropriations and former improvements: In the years 1893 and 1895 the sum of $47,500 was expended in the improvement of the river from appropriations made in 1892 and 1894, which gave a 15-foot channel up to the St. Louis river as far as New Duluth.

"Congress in 1896 made appropriation for continuous contracts to the amount of $3,080,563 for Duluth-Superior harbor under a project which had been prepared in 1894. In accordance with this project a channel twenty feet deep and 200 to 260 feet wide was constructed to a distance of about four miles above Grassy Point, reaching to the north end of Spirit lake. It is called the 'Minnesota Channel,' and was completed in 1902. It is in good condition at the present time."

MEMBER OF DISTINGUISHED FAMILY

John B. Ireland Was Descendant of Follower of William the Conquerer.

James D. Ireland, general manager for the M. A. Hanna company in Duluth, is now in New York, having been called there by the death of his father, John B. Ireland.

The New York Sun, in speaking of the elder Mr. Ireland, traces his ancestry back to Sir John de Ireland, one of the followers of William the Conqueror, at the battle of Hastings. His ancestors in this country have been prominent as soldiers, statesmen, and financiers. The funeral was held in New York yesterday.

"Mr. Ireland was born in Steuben county, N. Y., on Sept. 6, 1822. His father, John L. Ireland, who married a granddaughter of Gen. William Floyd, a famous New York Revolutionary patriot, traced his descent to Sir John de Ireland, one of the followers of William the Conqueror at the battle of Hastings. Gen. Floyd was a member of the continental congress from 1774 to 1783 and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mayor Jonathon Lawrence, who was a member of the first New York state senate, was also his ancestor.

"In 1841 John B. Ireland was graduated from New York university. Until his death he was the oldest living graduate of that college. Later he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1845, but was never active in that profession.

"His business interests were confined to the care of the real estate which he and his wife inherited. In 1851 he began a six-year tour of Europe and the Levant and wrote a journal of his trip entitled 'Wall Street to Cashmere,' which was published in 1860.

"Mr. Ireland was married in 1863, in New York, to Adelia Duane Pell, whose ancestors were Robert Livingston, Col. Robert Troup, a conspicuous figure in the Revolution, and Judge James Duane, one of the first mayors of New York and the first judge of the United States district court in New York. The Robert Livingston Pell estate at Esopus was inherited by Mrs. Ireland from her father.

"Among the historical and artistic treasures Mr. Ireland possessed was a portrait of Lafayette and another of Alexander Hamilton, given to Miss Duane by Col. Troup, who was Hamilton's college mate. Mr. Ireland also owned two handsome residences on Long Island, one, Rosedale, at Brookhaven, and another at West Islip, besides his town house. He was a member of the Union club, the Sons of the Revolution, St. Nicholas society and the Church Club of New York.

"He is survived by Mrs. John B. Ireland, his wife; J. Decourcy Ireland, James Duane Ireland, and his daughters, Helen M. Campbell and Mrs. Montgomery H. Sicard and Robert Livingston Ireland of M. A. Hanna & Co. of Cleveland, Miss Elizabeth Ireland, his daughter, and Robert Livingston Ireland, Jr."

SETTLERS DESTITUTE

The family of Henry A. Musolf, a farmer on the northwest quarter of section 32, in the town of Gnesen, has been left destitute, his son, Mike, and his wife are in St. Luke's hospital seriously injured from burns, and the house and entire vegetable crop of the year are lost as well as $100 in cash, as the result of the explosion of a can of gunpowder on Sunday.

The explosion took place at some time between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Mike Musolf was loading an old muzzle-loading gun, brought here from Germany many years ago, when the powder exploded and set off a can of powder standing nearby. Mr. Musolf and his wife and 5-weeks-old infant child were in the house at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Musolf were seriously burned about the head and body, but the child was unhurt. The parents managed to crawl from the wreck with the child but were unable to prevent the fire which consumed the home.

Neighbors took the three to the hospital. Shortly afterwards Henry Musolf, who was hunting during the morning hours, came home and found the place in ruins. In the basement of the home had been stored the supplies for the winter. Here were 200 bushels of potatoes and many bushels of vegetables of various kinds all spoiled. Cash amounting to about $100 was also lost in the fire.

"The loss of our home has left us in destitute circumstances, without money, food, shelter or clothing," said Henry Musolf this morning. "The boy and his wife are in the hospital but it may be months before they are able to be out. My wife was visiting relatives in Superior when the explosion occurred and she is still there for we have no place to go to.

"We have lived on the place for years and do not want to give it up. A little assistance from charitably inclined people would pull us through the winter. I have been staying with neighbors since Sunday and am trying to recover something from the wreck. The only thing we have left is the clothes on our backs."

PLATE GLASS IS BLOWN OUTWARD

Two Mysterious Breakages Puzzle Meat Market Proprietor.

Twice within a month a plate glass window in the meat market at 26 Fourth avenue west has blown out.

Last night was the time of the second blow-out. There was a brisk wind blowing and it was supposed that a draft from the rear caused the window to blow outwards, but today the man in charge says that there is no chance of that for the reason that the only ventilation in the rear is by way of a skylight, and it is so constructed that no wind can get in that way.

Along about 10 o'clock last night a young man who drives a hack for the Board of Trade livery was walking up the hill on Fourth avenue, and had just passed the meat market. A noise like an explosion occurred, and after he had executed a jump that would smash records at the Olympic games, he discovered that the window in the market had broken. He says that the glass was scattered all over the sidewalk, so he telephoned the police to take care of the place. How the smash happened to be outward is something that the management of the market would like to know.

SOUL RE-LIVES IN MANY NEW BODIES

Man Shapes Mor[illegible] and Intellect for T[illegible]ds of Years, Says Dr. Rogers.

The soul is not created at birth according to L. W. Rogers, national lecturer of the Theosophical society, who lectured last night at the Unitarian church on "Reincarnation." It has been evolved, he declared, from the spiritual side of the universe as worlds and stars have been evolved from the physical side.

If the human soul had been evolving for tens of thousands of years, he said, it was easy to account for the differences of mentality and morality that undoubtedly exist at birth but if the soul is created at birth and one is gifted with genius while another is blighted with stupidity there could be no justice in life.

"Only by the hypothesis of reincarnation," said the lecturer, "can we harmonize the wretched inequalities of life with the idea that divine justice rules the world." If reincarnation were true, he argued, then each person had been shaping his intellect and molding his morals for thousands of years and each one is therefore responsible for what he is at birth.

Mr. Rogers said that it was quite true that the infant did not appear to be an old statesman or philosopher returning, but this was only because mature powers could no more be manifested through an immature body than a great musician could give a performance on an imperfect instrument; that the infant body was no more the full impression of the soul animating it than a green shoot peeping through the ground was the lily in bloom.

Tonight Mr. Rogers will speak on thought power.

KILLED CHILDREN.

Stepmother Says She Was Jealous of Them.

Waco, Tex., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Ellen Etheridge, second wife of J. D. Etheridge, a farmer, has confessed she murdered four of her stepchildren within the last two months by administering poison, according to a statement given out by H. S. Dillard, prosecuting attorney. Jealousy, because her husband showered all his affection upon his eight children, was assigned by the woman as the reason for her act. She is the daughter of a minister.

Etheridge was the father of eight children by his first wife. Two of the children, 2 and 10 years old, died last June. On Oct. 2, shortly after the noon hour, three of the other Etheridge children suddenly became ill. A doctor was summoned, but before he arrived the boys, Dick, aged 9, and Oscar, aged 5, were dead, and the little girl, Pearl, aged 7, was in agony on the floor. The doctors saved her.

RUNAWAY FREIGHT CAR WRECKS TROLLEY

Four Killed and More Than Twenty People Injured.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 15.—Four persons were killed and more than twenty injured when a freight car which broke from a train on a down grade, crashed into an interurban passenger car near here last night.

The collision occurred on a 50-foot trestle and demolished the front of the passenger car, but without throwing it from the bridge. The dead are:

WALTER O. SEAY, Dallas, motorman.

WALTER R. HULBERT, Lancaster, Tex.

JAMES SHIPPY, Waxahachie.

J. CARPENTER, Waxahachie.

BULL MOOSERS BUSY IN NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the possibility of securing Former Senator Beveridge of Indiana for two speeches in Fargo and Grand Forks, in the interests of the Bull Moose cause, members of that organization in North Dakota are decidedly optimistic over conditions.

At a meeting here of the leaders of the movement in this state, committees were named to organize every precinct in the state and to secure speakers to campaign in each county during the coming winter. Lieutenant Governor Krasbel, who was in Fargo during the session, denies that he was here to attend the meeting of the Bull Moosers.

WISCONSIN POSTAL SAFE ROBBED OF $400

Citizens of Plainfield Pursue Thieves—Two Men Arrested.

Plainfield, Wis., Oct. 15.—The local postoffice was entered and the safe blown late last night, and $400 in money and stamps stolen. The sound of the explosion awakened the villagers and posses started in pursuit of the robbers. Two men were captured at Bancroft, near here, and are said to have confessed.

NO DAMAGE DONE.

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: Referring to Kentucky the other day and speaking of the traditional characteristics of the colonels of that glad state, Congressman Edward T. Taylor of Colorado told of a Blue Grass incident that might have been a tragedy.

Some time ago, according to the story of the congressman, an esteemed colonel in trying to board a boat was precipitated into the water.

Ready hands seized boathooks and ropes and in a few minutes the colonel was safely hauled ashore.

"Are you hurt, colonel?" asked one of his anxious friends as they helped him to his feet.

"No, sah!" answered the Colonel with a feeling of thankfulness. "I didn't swallow a single drop, sah!"

BRIEF SESSION IN MRS. EATON'S TRIAL

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 15.—Spectators, barred yesterday because talesmen occupied all the seats, thronged today to the courtroom to watch the real start of the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton for the alleged murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph F. Eaton. The session lasted only half an hour.

After the indictment had been read District Attorney Barker outlined to the jury the relative positions of the different buildings on the Eaton farm at Assinippi and the rooms in the house. Court was then adjourned until tomorrow and the jury left for Assinippi to view the premises.

FIREMEN ARE SENT UPTOWN

"John T. Black" Will Be Used Only for Second Alarms.

"John T. Black," Duluth's finest fire engine, named after the former chief of the fire department, is placed out of commission by the removal of two of the engine company's men from the No. 8 fire hall to uptown stations this morning. For the present the engine will only be used in responding to second alarms and it is intimated that it may be taken entirely out of the service as far as this hall is concerned.

The engine has been in service at the West Duluth fire hall for a little over three years. It was purchased by the city council only after years of agitation on the part of West Duluth business men and residents. Prior to receiving this engine at the hall, West Duluth had an old gasoline engine that had seen service for about twenty years and was useless for some years before the new engine was installed.

The order of the commission removed this morning R. E. Rasmusen to the headquarters fire hall and William Yax to No. 4 fire hall. This leaves the engine practically useless for fire calls and the order is to take it out only after it has been called for by the captain of the company after his arrival on the scene. The team will be left at the hall for a short time but it is proposed to also remove the horses in a short time.

From sentiment expressed among the business men it is probable that a large delegation will call today or tomorrow on the commission asking for the replacement of the men. The carrying out of the order was the principal matter of discussion this morning among the merchants and many expressions of disapproval of the action were heard.

EDWARD S. DASH DIES.

Well Known Resident of Smithville Passes Away.

Edward S. Dash, 36 years old, a resident of Smithville for over twenty years, died this morning after a short illness from cancer. Mr. Dash was well known in the western end of the city.

He is survived by two brothers, Victor L. Dash, chief deputy sheriff; and William Dash, and three sisters, Mrs. J. G. Brink of Smithville, Mrs. D. Gapp of Philadelphia and Mrs. H. Hogebeen of Winnipeg.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Harvey Webb Methodist church of Smithville with interment in Forest Hill cemetery.

LEAGUE ENTERTAINS.

Lodge Chapters Give Joint Party, First of Winter Series.

The first of a series of entertainments for members of the West Duluth and Pocahontas councils, Royal league, was held last night. Cards were played and honors were won by Mr. and Mrs. Winkler, Mrs. M. J. Murray and Louis Bennett. Dr. E. W. Boerner was awarded the consolation prize.

The next entertainment will be held on Oct. 20, at which time the committee in charge will be from the Men's lodge. The members of the committee will be Emil J. Zauft, chairman; Frank M. Ashley and E. G. Kriedler.

Mrs. Robinson Dies.

Mrs. Mary A. Robinson, 52 years old, 1111 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, wife of John Robinson, an engineer at the Minnesota Steel company's plant, died last night after a three months' illness of cancer. She leaves two sons and one daughter. Funeral arrangements will be made after receiving word from the two sons, one of whom resides in St. Louis and the other in Cincinnati, Ohio.

MAY EXTEND CALL TO IOWA PASTOR.

Rev. J. Frederick Katlin of Ames, Iowa, will arrive in the city tomorrow and will have charge of the prayer services at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues tomorrow evening. He will also preach at both services in the church Sunday.

It is probable that an invitation may be extended Rev. Mr. Katlin to become pastor of the local church. Since Rev. H. A. Stoughton left on Oct. 1 the church has been without a pastor.

Juniors Win.

The senior football team of the Duluth Industrial High school was defeated by a score of 24 to 2 by the junior team in the school championship football game played yesterday afternoon on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds. The juniors who averaged about ten pounds less per man outplayed the older classmen.

The younger boys were faster in making passes and on end runs and were able to withstand the rushes made by the seniors. The game gives the championship to the juniors. This team, as sophomores last year, won the championship for 1912.

Guild Will Meet.

The St. Margaret's Guild of St. James Catholic church will meet at Gilley's hall, 322 North Central avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Plans will be made for holding the society's annual fall festival and supper, which will be held on Oct. 21 and 22 in the Dormedy hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street.

Irving Alumni.

The Irving School Alumni association will hold its first fall meeting tomorrow evening in the school building. Plans will be made for a number of fall activities as well as a Halloween party.

West Duluth Briefs.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Third Swedish Baptist church will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Nels Nelson, 318 North Fifty-ninth avenue west. A large attendance is expected

The Ladies' Aid Society of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, will hold a business meeting in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

J. J. Holmes, 420 North Fifty-third avenue west is spending a month visiting in the Twin Cities.

Excelsior Lodge, No. 59, will initiate a class of candidates at its meeting in the Odd Fellows hall, Central avenue and Cody street, this evening.

A musical program is planned at the Swedish Mission church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Green street for Friday evening. Mrs. Julia Moline, who recently returned from Eu-Europe, will sing, and an address will be given by Rev. R. Liddell of Chicago.

MARCONI COMPANY TAKES OVER TOWER

The wireless telephone tower on the crest of the hill will be utilized by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company of America. The company has already taken possession.

Several towers were constructed in different cities on the Great Lakes by the Great Lakes Radio Wireless Telegraph company. The Duluth tower was one of them.

It is believed by some that the tower here and in Milwaukee and Chicago were constructed to make a "good front." No use was ever made of the tower here, and now with the reported taking of it over by the Marconi company, the dreams of some of the investors will vanish in the thin air of disenchantment.

CAPTAINS OBJECT TO FLASHING LIGHTS.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—Captains of lake ships who have strongly objected to the flashing red and white lights in the Livingstone channel will receive another jar when all the lights in the West Neebish channel in the Soo river also go into commission as unwatched flashing lights.

Pilots claim that channels where range lights are not used should have its sides lighted by fixed lights only as it is not possible to line up the sides of these channels at night with flashing lights many of which are obscured when most needed. When numerous groundings occurred this season, in the Livingstone channel, President Livingstone requested opinions from lake captains in regard to better lights for this channel.

Scores of letters were sent in, and the most common objection to the present system of lighting was the flash lights. With the many crooks and turns in the West Neebish channel many masters claim that the placing of flashing lights there will result disastrously.

E. C. Collins, traffic manager of the Pittsburg Steamship company, has asked that all steamers of the Lake Carriers' association give their names by whistle signals as they pass Detour, bound down with ore, in order that ships can be more efficiently distributed at the lower lake unloading docks.

GRAY'S GAS BUOY OUT OF REPAIR.

The following notice has been received from George A. Marr, secretary of the Lake Carriers' association: "Gray's reef shoal gas buoy out of commission Oct. 13. Will be repaired and relighted as soon as practicable. Gas buoy showing white flashing light marking east breakwater under construction, Ashtabula Harbor, out of order. Fixed white light will be maintained pending repairs."

MAY KEEP HARBOR OPEN ALL WINTER.

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 15.—Three powerful ice-breaking tugs will wrestle with the frost king this winter when efforts will be made to keep the harbor open all winter. Marine men say that with the three boats there should be no difficulty in keeping channels through the ice field.

The ice breaker St. Ignace is undergoing a general overhauling at the dry dock, and the James Whalen and the new tug J. Thorne have been made ready for the fight.

Fire on Coal Dock.

Fire in the roof of a building on the Northwestern Coal company's Dock No. 2 late yesterday resulted in a loss of about $250. The fire was confined to the roof. It is believed to have started from sparks from a switch engine.

Dies of His Wounds.

C. A. Clark, 31 years old, part owner of the Belt Line restaurant at 1219 Tower avenue, who shot himself Saturday afternoon, died late yesterday from the effects of the wound at St. Mary's hospital. Clark is said to have shot himself in a fit of despondency, blaming whisky for the deed. The body will be taken to Battle Creek, Mich., for burial.

Lineman's Injuries Fatal.

Walter Goodspeed, a lineman, died yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's hospital as the result of a fall from a telephone pole Saturday afternoon. Goodspeed dropped onto a guy wire and slid to the ground. His stomach was badly lacerated. The body was taken last night to his home in Minneapolis.

THREE EPISCOPALIAN BISHOPS QUIT POSTS

Wells and Gray Resign on Account of Age—Knight Changes Work.

New York, Oct. 15.—The house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church convention today accepted the resignation of three of its members. Rt. Rev. Lemuel Wells, missionary bishop of Spokane and Rt. Rev. William Crane Gray, missionary bishop of Southern Florida, retired on account of age. Rt. Rev. Albion Williamson Knight, missionary bishop of Cuba, gave up active service in the church to become capital vice chancellor of the University of the South at Sewanee, Ten.

The house of deputies devoted the morning to further discussion of the remaining sections of the report of the committee on provinces. Yesterday the house adopted the first part of this report, calling for the grouping of the various dioceses of the American church into eight provinces. Today there was a lively debate over the proposal that each province be governed by two houses with a presiding bishop as the head officer of the province.

ONE MORE SALOON MAY LOSE LICENSE

One more saloon may lose its license as the result of the arrest this morning of Daniel Buchanan, bartender for Buchanan & Hogan, 119 East Superior street, on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

A boy, 17 years old, is the complaining witness against Buchanan, and he declared that the latter sold him a quart of malt beer Saturday evening. Buchanan pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court following his arrest and his trial was set for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Buchanan was released on payment of $100 bail.

Should Buchanan be convicted on the charge, there is every likelihood that Commissioner Hicken will recommend the cancelling of the saloon's license. Six saloons have lost their licenses since the commission government went into power last spring.

U. P. Directors Re-elected.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 15.—At the annual stockholders' meeting yesterday directors of the Union Pacific Railroad company were re-elected. Officers will be named at a later date. Directors of subsidiary organizations also were re-elected at the meeting.

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH BULLET

Five Corners Settler Commits Suicide for No Apparent Cause.

Had Been Summoned as Witness in Street Railway Suit.

Ole M. Nelson, 60 years old, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a 38-caliber revolver at the home of August W. Johnson, a farmer residing at Five Corners, some time last night. The bullet entered just above the right ear and went through the head, passing out on the left side.

The cause of the deed is unknown. Nelson was apparently in a happy mood last night when he retired and intended to get up early in order to appear as a witness in court at 9 o'clock this morning. When Johnson went to his room at 4:30 o'clock he found him dead with the revolver lying across his chest.

Nelson had been summoned yesterday afternoon to appear as a witness in an action against the Duluth Street Railway company. It is not believed that this had anything to do with the suicide.

Mr. Nelson was the owner of a small piece of land located a short distance from the Johnson farm. He had lived on this until early this spring, when his shack was struck by lightning. Since then he had refused to sleep in the place, but had used a room in the Johnson home.

Coroner McComb was notified and Joseph Olson of Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms was sent for the body. The funeral arrangements will be made after the arrival of his brother, N. G. Nelson, of Minneapolis.

STOVALL FLIRTING WITH THE "FEDS."

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 15.—George Stovall, deposed manager of the St. Louis Americans, said today that unless he obtains his unconditional release from the local team by tomorrow, he will begin negotiations with the Kansas City Federal league club, which has offered him the position of manager.

It is understood the Kansas City Federals have offered Stovall a three-year contract at $6,500 a year, with a bonus of $5,000 to $10,000 to be paid when he signs his contract.

Stovall said today that if he had obtained his unconditional release he would not have considered leaving the American league.

Lewis May Not Recover.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—Harry Lewis, the middleweight pugilist, still is in a serious condition from injuries suffered in his fight with "Joe" Borrell of this city Monday night. He spent a restless night and attending physicians said today that prospects for his recovery are not very favorable.

You'll Be Interested to Know Why We Can Sell These Fine Wooltex Coats and Suits at Such Low Prices

Each season the makers of Wooltex select a number of garments to illustrate in their national advertising.

Of course these beautiful garments are typical of the highest standard of Wooltex design and quality and every store that sells Wooltex throughout the United States is privileged to select a few of each style for its own use.

No great number of any one garment is sold to any one store, but when you realize the great number of stores throughout the big cities of the country selling Wooltex you will realize the makers receive very large orders on these special numbers which enable them to produce these garments at the lowest possible cost.

The advantage so gained is shared by us and we in turn give you every advantage conceded to us. That is why such strikingly handsome garments and such very remarkable values are possible here.

Tomorrow we invite you to see the very special values in very smart

Wooltex Coats at $15.00 to $45.00.
Wooltex Suits at $25.00 to $55.00.

Try them on! See how becoming they are. So very refined! So "uncommon." See the styles worn by the models at Mme. Savarie's style lecture at the Lyceum.

Waffle Checks Offer a Change From the Well Known Shepherd Checks

These new fabrics are especially effective when made up into separate skirts or coats. Just as the name implies, the surface of the cloth has a sunken-in effect just like a waffle. They are shown in "black and white" only, which makes them especially desirable for the purposes they are to be used. 54 inches wide—$2.50 and $4.50 a yd.

We are showing this much wanted fabric in a line of the new shades as well as the staple colors. The design is refined and not too large. Will make most effective gowns and waists. These fabrics, as you know, give the maximum amount of wear.

They have what is known as the "liberty" finish, which allows for excellent draping possibilities. 36 inches wide—an unusual value, we think, at $1.25 a yard.

MOIRES WILL BE IN EXCELLENT DEMAND THIS SEASON.

They will be made up into suits, coats and gowns. Several qualities we are featuring this season are soft and graceful draping, being moired on an excellent quality of Crepe de Chine. Other qualities in Bengalines and taffetas. Widths run from 21 to 40 inches. Two-tone and solid colors. Priced from $1.25 to $4.00 a yard.

Now Ready

Exquisite single flowers for corsage wear.
Millinery Section

There Is An Aristocratic Tone in $6.00, $8.00, $10 and $12 Hats We Will Have Ready Tomorrow!

There are most uncommon styles with a pleasing individuality, made up of handsome velour, silk velvets and fine felts, with trimmings of flowers, fancy feathers and ribbons.

There are stunning effects in the new fall colorings; there are charming combinations in black and white as well as the plain colors.

High Art Hats of Rare Distinction

Unusual charm marks the showing of higher priced lines which are seen in felt pokes, white felt hats and medium sized Rembrandts which are variously trimmed with fur, flowers, gold lace, silver lace, real lace and velvet.

RECEIPTS AT WATER AND LIGHT PAY STATIONS ARE DOUBLED

The collections and the number of bills paid at the outside pay stations have practically doubled since the stations were instituted last June by the water and light department.

From 1,971 bills, representing payments of $2,691.33 in June, they have jumped to 3,683 bills, representing payments of $5,991.33 in October.

As a result the twelfth of the month, the last day for payment, at the main office is much like any other day. The crowding and the confusion, with consequent liability of mistakes, have been eliminated. Analysis has shown that most of the payments at the outside stations are made in the last two days by people who would otherwise jam the downtown office on the twelfth. The installation of the pay stations has also been greatly appreciated by the public, as they have meant a saving of time and trouble.

The record collection has been at the store of George A. Gray & Co., where $712 was paid in one day this month.

The following table, prepared by George L. Gross, secretary of the water and light department, shows the payments at the various stations since they were started in June:

Station—	June. No. of Bills.	Cash.	July. No. of Bills.	Cash.	August. No. of Bills.	Cash.	September. No. of Bills.	Cash.	October. No. of Bills.	Cash.

DULUTH MAN IN ROCHESTER HOSPITAL.

Word was received here this morning that Thomas Carnes of 2617 West First street is in a serious condition at a hospital in Rochester, N. Y., as the result of being caught between two freight trains just outside of Rochester last evening.

Carnes' escape from instant death is considered miraculous, according to the dispatch. He sustained several fractured ribs and is very badly shaken up. He is expected to live, however.

ASKS $25,000 FOR LOSS OF A LEG

For the loss of his right leg, which was cut off under the wheels of an ore car in an accident at the Bray mine, eight miles from Hibbing, on May 14 last, Mike Rebrovich, ore trimmer, wants $25,000 damages. In district court this morning he started suit against his employers, the Republic Iron & Steel company, mine operators.

Rebrovich at the time of his injury was riding on an ore car, which was moving under its own momentum on a down grade. He claims that he attempted to stop the car by applying the brake, but owing to the defective appliance on the car, he was unsuccessful. The car crashed into a string of cars standing on the track and the force of the collision threw him to the ground. His body did not clear the track and the wheel of the car passed over his right leg.

Get a Good Watch! You'll Carry It a Long Time

The selection of a watch is an important matter. For you will rely on its accuracy a hundred times a day. You will make of it a companion, either trustworthy or faithless, a true friend or a false one.

We highly recommend the wonderful South Bend Watch. It is made of finest materials, under the highest standards, put through the most exacting tests. We know of no watch in America that is better made, that will give more actual satisfaction than

"The South Bend Watch"

We regulate every "SOUTH BEND" to your personality. We adjust it exactly to suit your occupation, for no two people treat a watch the same. Thus you secure absolute accuracy in time-keeping qualities, a watch you can depend upon through thick and thin.

The newest South Bend has the "double roller" movement, a master achievement in watchmaking.

Come in and let us tell you about it. It is as superior to ordinary watches as a four-cylinder automobile is over the old two-cylinder.

BEING TRIED FOR MURDER

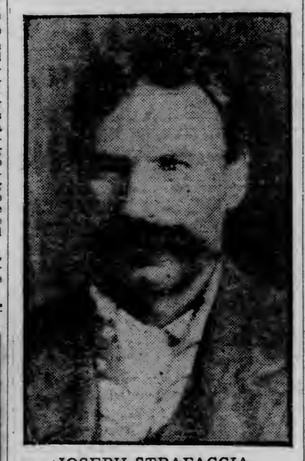

Joseph Strafaccia Faces Charge of Killing Frank Rossi.

Prisoner Will Plead That He Acted in Self Defense.

Joseph Strafaccia, charged with the murder of Frank Rossi at the latter's home, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, on the night of March 2, when following a quarrel over a card game he fired three shots into Rossi which resulted in his death at a local hospital thirteen days later, was brought to trial by County Attorney Warren E. Greene in district court this morning.

Strafaccia showed no emotion when the proceedings started. He maintains an air of indifference. On one or two occasions he conferred with his attorney, Walter F. Dacey, who was engaged in the examination of jurors. All of the morning session was given over to the selection of the jury. When court adjourned at noon only three men had been examined as to their qualifications to sit upon the jury. Of the three two were selected. They were: Alexander Gow, contractor, and David Horak.

The privilege of having a board of three triers, attorneys sworn to pass upon the qualifications of a challenged juror, was waived by the defendant and it was stipulated between the county attorney and the defendant's attorney that the court should pass upon these questions as in the ordinary criminal case.

Strafaccia's plea, it is understood, will be self defense. From all that can be learned, it is expected that he will claim that the shooting of Rossi was excusable and justifiable. It is understood that the prisoner was given an opportunity by the county attorney to plead guilty to third degree murder, an offense which carries with it a sentence of thirty years in the penitentiary with the chances of parole, and that Strafaccia refused to consider it.

Strafaccia and Rossi, the police claim, quarreled following a card game at the Rossi home on the night of March 2. During the altercation, Strafaccia pulled a gun and fired three shots into the body of Rossi. As his victim lay helpless before him, bleeding profusely, Strafaccia, the police claim, kicked him brutally, after which he threw him out into a snow bank, where he lay in a state of unconsciousness until picked up by the police some few minutes later.

Strafaccia escaped but was captured in July at Fort William, where he was working for an elevator company under the name of the man, he is alleged to have murdered, Frank Rossi. Strafaccia, it is claimed, has admitted to the police that he shot Rossi, but insists that he did it in self defense.

STRIKERS HALT MEN AT COLORADO MINE

Twenty-Two Are Accused of Picketing and Being Armed.

Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 15.—Twenty miners, the working force of the McLoughlin mine of the Santa Fe Coal company, were prevented from going to work today by thirty-five strikers, some of whom were armed.

Deputies reached the scene before the strikers had dispersed. Twenty-two were arrested, charged with picketing and carrying concealed weapons.

HAS DROPPED OUT OF SIGHT

Northern Pacific Fuel Inspector Is Reported to Be Missing.

C. J. Conley, fuel inspector for the Northern Pacific is missing. He disappeared at Duluth about ten days ago and the road would like to know what happened to him.

Conley has charge of all the fuel used on the entire system of the Northern Pacific, and made frequent trips to Duluth to inspect the supply. About ten days ago he came here and made a visit to the various places where coal is assigned and distributed at the Head of the Lakes. The last seen of him was at the Duluth roundhouse of the road, and the local officials did not know that he was missing until this morning when inquiries began to come in from St. Paul as to what had become of him. Mr. Conley was about 35 years of age and married. His home was in St. Paul.

COURT ORDER GIVEN TO COPPER STRIKERS

Sixteen Hundred Deputy Sheriffs Take Up the Work.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The 1,600 deputy sheriffs in the Houghton county copper miners' strike zone today started to serve every striker with the state supreme court's restraining order against picketing. In Keweenaw county this action was started yesterday by Sheriff John Hepting and his deputies. A large number of strikers in that district are reported to have refused the service and arrests may be made. There was some peaceful picketing this morning at the Allouez and Mohawk mines in Keweenaw county.

TEACHERS RE-ELECT FORMER OFFICERS.

Last evening the Duluth Teachers' Retirement Fund association held its annual meeting in the board room at the Central high school and elected officers for the ensuing year. R. E. Denfeld was re-elected president, Leonard Young vice president, and Miss Mary Murdock secretary.

The association is in its fourth year and is in a most prosperous condition. Heretofore the membership of teachers in the association has been optional. Now it is obligatory, and as a consequence the fund for retirement of teachers is steadily growing.

MASKED MAN ROBS WESTERN MAIL CAR.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 15.—A masked bandit robbed the mail car of a Southern Pacific passenger train near Burlingame, Cal., late yesterday, rifled the registered mail pouch and escaped.

The robber entered the car as the train left Burlingame, chased two postal clerks under a table and is believed to have jumped off when the train slowed down in the San Francisco terminal yards.

Examination of the rifled mail pouches was made by postal inspectors here and it was said the loss would not be great. Nineteen pieces were opened.

WHEAT STILL ON TOBOGGAN

Flaxseed Also Weak in Spite of Buying By Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 15.—The wheat market broke again at the close on heavy selling. December wheat closed ⅜c down and May ⅝c down. November durum closed unchanged at 79¾c and December unchanged at 79¾c.

Oats closed ⅞c lower at 34⅝c.

Further weakness developed in the wheat market at the opening today. The contributing factors were lower cables, liberal offerings and only nominal Eastern demand. Declines of ⅜c were recorded in both options in the first hour. Good buying then appeared and quotations reacted to within a fraction of yesterday's close up to the final hour.

December wheat opened unchanged at 83¼c and weakened to 82⅞c. May opened at 88¼c and also declined ⅜c Durum held steady, opening ¼c off and recovering on light offerings and fair demand.

The dropping off in receipts continued, arrivals at Duluth and Minneapolis for the day being reported at 695 cars, a decrease of 415 cars from last year's tally. In spite of the decreased marketings, elevator stocks here are still piling up, a net increase of 639,000 bu being shown today, bringing the stores in the local houses up to 16,427,000 bu. As the grain handling situation at Buffalo is growing worse, if anything, a serious factor is injected into the trade here, as at the present rate of going, it is feared that considerable supplies will be left at the Head of the Lakes at the close of navigation.

The large accumulation of stocks at Liverpool and other foreign ports is a bearish factor in the market situation at present. Bradstreet's report for the week places the world's visible supply at 176,892,000 bu, as compared with 143,058,000 bu last year. The visible supply for the week increased 9,582,000 bu.

Flaxseed Slumps Again.

The market in flaxseed was heavy from the start. A large volume of business was put through, and liberal buying by crushers was in evidence on the low spots. Seed was pressed for sales on increased receipts and reported good marketings at interior elevators.

The market under that influence broke 1½c all around with closing prices at the lowest of the day. October flax opened ¼c off at $1.37 and closed at $1.35¾. November opened ½c down at $1.37 and closed at $1.36. December opened ¼c off at $1.35½ and closed at $1.34½, and May opened ¼c off at $1.41 and closed at $1.39¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Said a prominent operator on the board of trade this morning, "The man who can guess this market from day to day is a peach. We cannot look for much improvement before the rush at Winnipeg is over."

Further liberal buying of Canadian oats was reported today. While the bulk of the stuff will be shipped direct from Fort William to Buffalo, a portion of it will be forwarded to Duluth.

Advices from Buffalo this morning were to the effect that there are now 4,600,000 bu of grain afloat there, and that the railroads are experiencing considerable difficulty in coping with the volume of wheat offering for shipment to the seaboard and to interior milling points.

The situation in feeds is growing steadily weaker as a result of the falling off in the Eastern demand, quotations in branfeeds were dropped $1 a ton by local millers today.

The new government elevator at Fort Arthur is now nearly ready to go into commission. A few cars of wheat were received at it yesterday, but its entire machinery has not yet been connected up. Its capacity is rated at 3,000,000 bu.

Minneapolis wired—"Cash market holding firm on top grades, but the less desirable milling wheat is slow. One northern blue stem 1c to 2c over; velvet chaff December to 1c over. The break in wheat has scared off flour buyers and new business moderate.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat market easy ¼d to ½d lower, being influenced by the weaker American cables yesterday and the decline in Winnipeg. Following the opening, prices further declined ⅛d to ½d with realizing on the improved weather conditions in both India and Australia and the very poor demand for cargoes in distant positions which are very freely offered at concessions. There was some steadiness, however, in the March quotation which recovered ¼d on the less favorable Argentine weather conditions. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy, ¼d to ⅝d lower.

"Corn—Opened easy ¼d lower on the lower American cables, but later the market settled well, December gaining ¼d on talk of light Argentine shipments aggregating 3,000,000 bu and this caused some outside covering. At 1:30 p. m. the market was steady unchanged to ¼d lower."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Go to New Lows for This Crop.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 15.—Wheat prices sold down to further record lows on this crop today. The market was in narrow range and void of any new feature except continued weakness. December closed ⅛@⅝c lower than yesterday and May ½c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat increased 600,000 bu for four days.

December opened 82⅛@82⅜c; high, 82½c; low, 82c; closed, 82⅛@82⅜c.

May opened 87⅛@87⅝c; high, 87¾c; low, 87⅜@87½c; closed, 87½c.

Flax—Receipts, 59 cars, year ago, 50; shipments, 9. Demand fair. Closing price, $1.34½@1.37.

Barley—Receipts, 112 cars, year ago, 98; shipments, 170. Choice barley sold readily at steady prices, low grades in slow demand. Closing range, 45@68c

The flour market was quoted easier today on account of recent declines in wheat. Shipments today, 69,134 bbl. (In wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis)—First patents, $4.00@4.25; second patents, $3.65@4.05; first clears, $2.80@3.60; second clears, $2.25@2.65.

Bran—Prices unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Options All Get Down Below 90 Cents.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Heavy surplus stocks with no foreign demand to give relief pulled wheat options today all down under 90c. One of the leading houses took a conspicuous part in selling and attracted many trailers. Cables were decidedly weak, influenced by continued pressure of huge offerings from Russia. The opening here varied from ¼c decline to ⅛@¼c advance, but gradually prices sagged ⅝c under last night.

Later a rally took place because of short covering. The close, however, was weak, ⅝c to ⅞@⅞c net lower.

Kansas reports that feeders were arranging to buy Argentine corn in competition with shipments from Iowa had a bearish effect on Chicago dealers in corn. Fine weather also counted against the bulls. Prices, which started unchanged to ¼c off, suffered a much further decline.

There was a subsequent reaction due to the fact that the market had become bare of offerings. The close notwithstanding was weak, ½@¾c under last night.

Oats headed down-grade on account of renewed talk of Canadian imports following with shipments from here to the East, particularly by large consumers. Quotations were somewhat weaker than for any other grain.

In provisions there was general selling, with poor support. The chief reason was a downturn in the hog market. Losses ran from 5@17½c.

London Stocks.

London, Oct. 15.—Money was scarce and discount rates were firmer today on the prospects of an issue of $17,500,000 treasury bills reducing the market supplies of cash. Copper shares were helped by a rise in the metal.

American securities opened quiet and steady. Light buying advanced the leaders a fraction during the forenoon. Later Canadian Pacific declined under liquidating sales, but the rest of the list held the early improvement. The closing was steady.

South St. Paul Livestock.

South St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 15.—Cattle: Receipts, 2,500; killers, weak to 10c lower; steers, $6.50@8.00; cows and heifers, $4.30@7.00; calves, steady, $5.50@9.75; feeders, weak, $4.30@7.40.

Hogs—Receipts, 2,700; steady to 5c lower; range, $7.50@8.10; bulk, $7.85@8.00.

Sheep—Receipts, 1,600; steady; shorn lambs, $5.00@6.50; shorn wethers, $4.00@4.25; shorn ewes, $2.50@4.00.

A BORN SALESMAN.

Judge: Col. J. B. Quinn, the auctioneer employed by the United States government to sell lots in a number of towns opened on Indian reservations of the West, says he has had many compliments on his ability as an auctioneer, but the best of them all was from a woman, the wife of a man owning a town site that Quinn was buying.

"Mother," said this woman, introducing Quinn to an elderly woman in her home, "this is the man who sold lots for the government and made millions for the Indians."

"You certainly have wonderful powers of salesmanship," said the elder woman.

"Wonderful!" interrupted the daughter. "Why, mother, this man could sell icicles to the Eskimos!"

WEAR KNEELETS OF GOLD NOW.

New York Evening World: Kneelets made of gold and set with precious stones have appeared in the streets of Philadelphia. They are worn by slit skirt promenaders as one step more daring than the golden anklets which startled gazers a year ago.

The kneelets apparently are made to fit closely just below the knee and to glisten and glitter as a wearer's stride causes the slit in her skirt to open and close. One jewelry house says it is receiving a greater demand for them than it can supply, and that it is furnishing them to women in exclusive social circles.

EARLY RISE IN STOCKS

Especial Weakness in Canadian Pacific, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio.

New York, Oct. 15.—The stock market was again under the influence of conflicting conditions today, but the undertone gave promise of betterment. Opening prices, while reflecting uncertainty, showed a preponderance of gains. These were soon effaced, but then at the end of the morning session, a general buying movement lifted the level well above the preceding day.

Coppers were strongest of the active group, deriving the stimulous from London, where an advance in the metal was reported. Gains of 1 to 3 points were established before midday by Amalgamated, Steel common and preferred, American Telephone, People's Gas, Union Pacific and New Hven. Can, Harvester and Canadian Pacific were relatively heavy.

Bonds were firm.

An irregular tone was manifested at the opening today. New Haven, which made an initial gain of a point, soon rose 2 points and United States Steel preferred and People's Gas rose a full point. There were fractional gains in such leaders as Amalgamated Copper, Steel and Union Pacific. Reading soon lost its early advance. Canadian Pacific declined a point with some heaviness in Lehigh Valley, American Can preferred and International Harvester.

The irregular trend of the opening became more marked in the first hour. New Haven lost practically all its rise and other stocks suffered similarly, some receding to under yesterday's close. Trading was light, with no indication of public interest.

Repurchase of stocks sold by the bear faction carried the morning rise further, with Union Pacific in keen demand. A better feeling was aroused by the check to the recent liquidation, there being an entire absence of pressure to sell, even on rallies.

Traders were in a waiting mood in the afternoon and were disinclined to operate freely pending a renewal of large ventures by the big speculative interests. Prices lost some of their earlier stability while the immediate covering operations were completed. Atchison became suddenly weak, falling over a point.

The market closed heavy. Another selling movement was inaugurated just before the close with especial weakness in Canadian Pacific, Reading, Can, Baltimore & Ohio and other active shares. The decline wiped out a large part of the gain recorded earlier in the day.

LAKE AND RAIL DECISION WILL NOT TAKE EFFECT ON DATE ORIGINALLY FIXED

May Hear Arguments on Request to Reopen Duluth Case.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The effective date of the order in the Duluth rail and lake case has been extended by the interstate commerce commission from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1.

There is an intimation that a hearing will be held on the application for rehearing and reargument filed recently by some of the rail and lake carriers, although no decision has been reached on that point.

The above dispatch from Washington means that the new rates will not become effective until next year because of the close of the navigation season.

After the order was issued by the interstate commerce commission for the change of rates, to become effective Oct. 15, the order giving leeway until Nov. 1, was received. Then came the application for a rehearing and the second postponement today.

Members of the Duluth traffic commission are saying nothing, but will be prepared to present their arguments if the commission calls for them.

DUTCH SHIP FIGHTS WITH FIRE AT SEA

Second Trip to New York Marked By Exciting Adventure.

New York, Oct. 16.—The Royal Dutch West India mail steamer Jan Van Nassau, Capt. Van der Est, which arrived today from the West Indies, reported that on the outward passage from Amsterdam on Oct. 4, between the channel and the Azores, fire broke out in the coal bunkers, spread to the cargo in the forehold and raged for four days until the vessel succeeded in reaching St. Michaels, when the flames were got under control.

About 800 tons of cargo was destroyed besides all coal in the fore bunkers. There was only one passenger on board.

The Jan Van Nassau is a new steamer and this is only her second voyage.

KILLS MAN WHOM HIS WIFE ACCUSED

Chicagoan Lies in Wait and Shoots Grocery Clerk.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—William Keith, according to the police, was told by his wife that Walter Paul, a grocery clerk, had attacked her. Keith lay in wait for Paul here today and shot and killed him. Keith telephoned the police of his act and was arrested.

ARE EVICTING THE STRIKERS

Copper Companies Turn Families Out of Company Property.

Governor Ferris Moves to Relieve Militia of Guard Duty.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eviction notices on copper strikers in houses owned by the Champion Copper company at Painesdale were served today, and similar action is said to be contemplated by the Calumet & Hecla Mining company in Calumet. Since the beginning of the strike on July 23 strikers have been permitted to live in company houses and have paid no rent.

The house of a workman at the Wolverine mine was bombarded with stones thrown by unidentified persons last night, and the windows broken. A plate glass window in a store also was smashed and the store entered.

Collecting Evidence.

Under strict orders from Governor Ferris, the officers of Houghton and Keweenaw counties are accumulating evidence against strikers and members of the Federation of Miners who violate the injunction ordered enforced by the supreme court, preventing picketing and other activities to intimidate men desiring to work in the copper region of Northern Michigan. There was renewed picketing throughout the district today, especially at

FRANCE MAY SEND WARSHIP

Action By European Nations Sought By Diplomats in Mexico.

Huerta Gets Money in Paris —Situation Continues Delicate.

Paris, Oct. 16.—The foreign office here today received a telegram from the French legation at Mexico City suggesting that a warship be sent to Mexico.

Provisional President Huerta of Mexico, has obtained a loan of $2,600,000 in Paris, chiefly, according to circumstantial reports, through the influence of the chiefs of the Catholic party.

Voted for Warships.

Mexico City, Oct. 16.—The diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Spain, Cuba, Guatemala and Norway, at a conference decided to recommend that their respective governments send warships to Mexico for the purpose of affording legation guards, should conditions so require. A member of the diplomatic corps made this statement. He also said that the diplomatic representatives had recommended a temperate attitude in the matter of Mexico's reply to Washington.

That the crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States is only temporarily delayed, is the general feeling here among Mexicans and foreigners. When and how the next development will be reached, is a question agitating all alike.

Up to Mexico.

VAN DYKE RECEIVED BY HOLLAND'S QUEEN

Expresses Personal Pleasure at Assuming Official Duties.

The Hague, Netherlands, Oct. 16.—Prof. Henry Van Dyke, formerly of Princeton university, the new United States minister to the Netherlands, today presented his credentials to Queen Wilhelmina at the Palace of Hetloo. After expressing to the queen the complimentary wishes of President Wilson, Prof. Van Dyke spoke of his own peculiar pleasure in taking up his mission.

"Holland was the home of my forefathers," he said, "and gave to America the fundamental ideas of religious liberty, public education and Federal union. It is the center of the most thoughtful efforts to promote the peace of the world on the basis of international justice and reason."

Prof. Van Dyke signalized the commencement of his mission by sending to America a choice collection of tulip bulbs to be planted in the garden of Nassau Hall, Princeton.

SEEKERS ABANDON HOPE FOR AVIATOR.

New York, Oct. 16.—Seekers by land and sea for Albert J. Jewell, the airman who vanished in the sky last Monday, abandoned hope today of ever finding his body or his aeroplane. They were convinced that he had been carried out to sea by the wind and had fallen into the ocean and drowned. He was last seen 4,000 feet above Edgemore, L. I.

If Jewell fell into the sea there is a remote possibility that he was picked up by a small boat or tramp steamer outward bound and without wireless.

WARSHIP IS EXPERIMENT

England Launches the Queen Elizabeth as Naval Novelty.

Will Use Oil for Fuel and Otherwise Is "Different."

Portsmouth, Eng., Oct. 16.—Another novelty in battleships—the Queen Elizabeth, which carries an immense armament and uses oil instead of coal for her motive power—was launched at the Royal Navy dockyards here today.

The ship, whose keel was laid on Oct. 21, 1912, is of an entirely new type. Details of her construction have been kept secret. It is generally believed, however, that her armament is to consist of ten 15-inch guns mounted in pairs in barbettes, while her secondary armament of 4-inch or 6-inch guns is also to be placed behind protective armor.

Under ordinary circumstances the carrying of such a big battery would imply a considerable increase in displacement, but this has been obviated by the utilization of oil fuel for the engines in place of coal.

Save Weight and Space.

The substitution of oil tanks for coal bunkers means great economy in weight and space, and in this way it has been possible to increase the offensive and defensive armament and at the same time keep the size and displacement of the warship within limits.

Should the oil fuel prove successful in the case of the Queen Elizabeth, all large warships of the British navy will in the future use it. The Queen Elizabeth therefore is regarded as an important experiment.

The new vessel was not quite a year in the building ways and will be ready for service in less than two years from the time her first keel plate was laid. Far more work was done on her before launching than is usually the case in battleships. With a launching weight of 10,000 tons, she was the heaviest vessel ever sent afloat from a building shipyard in any British naval dockyard.

RACING CAR RUNS DOWN STALLED AUTO

One Man Is Killed and Two Probably Fatally Hurt.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—Al Farr was killed and Tom Simmons and a man named Hogelen were probably fatally injured last night when their automobile which had broken down near Riverton, eight miles south of Seattle was run down by a large racing car, believed to have been driven by Lawrence Duke, a nephew of the tobacco manufacturer.

$2,000,000 FOR BRIDE; $12,000,000 FOR GROOM.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—It is learned here that Henry Clay Frick, just after the marriage of his son, Childs Frick, to Miss Frances S. Dixon of this city Tuesday, handed the bride an envelope containing a check in her name for $2,000,000. It is understood that young Mr. Frick received securities valued at $12,000,000.

GALE TAKES MORE LIVES

New England Coast Has Been Lashed Severely Three Days.

Five Vessels and Seven Men Lost in the Storm.

Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 16.—Two more barges sunk and four more lives lost, were additions today to the toll exacted by the northeast gale which has been sweeping the Massachusetts coast at an average speed of sixty miles an hour for the past three days.

The lost barges were the Oakland, the crew of which perished yesterday in an attempt to reach shore, and the J. B. Thomas. Both had been left anchored off Pamet river. The Thomas rode out the gale without trouble yesterday, but this morning she had disappeared. Later in the day an empty lifeboat marked "J. B. Thomas" was cast up on the shore. The lifesavers at once began a search for the bodies of the four men on her crew.

The gale, which began on Monday, had taken a toll up to noon today of five vessels and seven lives. Most of the accidents were off Cape Cod, the record being:

Barge Oakland, wrecked off Truro; two lost.

Seine boat wrecked off Sandwich; one lost.

Other less serious accidents were the filling and beaching of the barge Knickerbocker at Falmouth, the carrying away of the sails of the schooner Henrietta A. Witney off Chatham, and the rescue of the crew of the schooner Georgia Pearl off Nantucket.

REVENUE CUTTER SEIZES SCHOONER

Supposed Plaster Carrier Is Suspected of Smuggling.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.—There was much speculation in shipping circles here over the action of the United States revenue cutter Seneca in towing to this port today the schooner Woodward Abrahams, which cleared from Cheverie, N. S., Oct. —. The Seneca met the schooner off the Delaware capes yesterday and immediately took her in tow. The vessel is supposed to have a cargo of plaster, and according to information here was bound for either Baltimore, or Chester, Pa.

Smuggling Suspected.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Treasury officials today ordered a thorough investigation and report on the papers and cargo of the schooner Woodward Abrahams, brought into Philadelphia today by revenue cutter Seneca, on suspicion of smuggling.

The Abrahams is unofficially said to have come from a foreign port. She left Vineyard Haven Tuesday night and the revenue cutter Seneca was ordered out to the Delaware capes to lay in wait and intercept the schooner. The treasury department declined to make public anything regarding the case, pending developments at Philadelphia.

The case has nothing to do with Mexico, but beyond that nothing was vouchsafed at the department.

BOYS' $20,000 FIND IS GONE

Find Hiding Place Rifled of Box and Its Contents.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two 12-year-old Lake Linden boys, Will Leolere and Joseph Tremblay, who have had the spending of a fortune of $20,000, last night lost their hoard of wealth mysteriously.

A year ago the boys, playing on the site of the old Bennallack market at Lake Linden, uncovered an iron box containing $20,000 in gold and silver. They hid the box a mile from town in a wild and almost inaccessible district, and since then have been dipping into it as they wanted spending money.

Suspecting some one else was doing the same, they moved the box, burying it beneath the Houghton-Douglas Falls. One of the boys yesterday told his parents of the hidden wealth, and last night they went to the hiding place to secure it, but found it had disappeared. There is no clew.

The sheriff's office is working on the case.

HEINZE RETORTS HE WAS FRAUD VICTIM

Says Gould, Morse and O'Brien Worked Together Against Him.

New York, Oct. 16.—Answering the complaint in a suit brought against him in the supreme court by William Nelson Cromwell to recover $276,000 on a note dated Oct. 2, 1907, Fritz Augustus Heinze, the "Copper King," declares in a document filed with the county clerk that he had been defrauded by Edwin Gould and others through the agency of Charles W. Morse and the late Miles M. O'Brien, one-time president of the Seventh National bank.

The Cromwell suit is one of four recently brought on notes given by Heinze when he obtained control of the Mercantile National bank. Mr. Heinze asserts that Mr. Gould engaged Morse and O'Brien to unload upon him 7,000 shares of the stock of the bank, as well as an option to purchase 1,000 more shares "at a price that would be favorable to Heinze, but as a matter of fact, was favorable to the sellers." The Gould representatives, the answer alleges, misrepresented the condition of the bank.

THOUSANDS PREACH ON LESS THAN $500.

Washington, Oct. 16.—More than 3,000 Methodist ministers in the United States preach and work the year round for less than $500. This was the report of the bureau of sustentation when the board of managers of the Methodist Women's Home Missionary society began its thirty-second annual meeting here. The bureau lamented that such a state of affairs could exist in this most highly favored land at this time of the high cost of living.

The report of the treasurer showed that the receipts of the society for the last year were $901,622.

MRS. JENNIE EATON.

EATON TRIAL IS UNDER WAY

State Claims Admiral Was Poisoned By Jealous Wife.

Prosecutor Tells of Charges She Made Against Husband.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 16.—The preliminaries over, the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, started in earnest today. The courtroom was filled with spectators, eager to hear the outline of the government's case to be presented by Assistant District Attorney Fred A. Katzmann. It was expected that the opening statement of counsel would be completed today and the first witnesses heard.

Miss Dorothy Ainsworth, younger daughter of Mrs. Eaton by her first marriage, arrived here yesterday, prepared to testify early in the trial. She was summoned by the prosecution and last night held a consultation with District Attorney Barker. Her sister, Mrs. June Keyes, planned to come here today.

Says Admiral Was Poisoned.

"The prosecution contends and expects to show," said Mr. Katzmann, "that Mr. Eaton met his death at the hands of his wife by the administration of poison. The commonwealth expects the jury to render a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree if the act is shown to have been committed by a rational being."

Katzmann indicated that jealousy was the motive for the alleged crime. He recounted the incidents of the ad-

FRENCH GENERALS UNFIT FOR SERVICE

Incapacity Shown in Maneuvers Leads to Retirements.

Paris, Oct. 16.—It is announced that the supreme war council has decided that Generals Faurie and Plagnol, commanding the Sixteenth and Seventeenth army corps, respectively, shall be relieved of the functions because of incapacity shown at the recent maneuvers of the French army. In addition, the council has ordered that Gen. Courbebaisse, military governor of Lyons, two brigadier generals and a number of superior officers shall also be relieved of their commands, as physically and otherwise unfit.

WAR RESUMED IN SANTO DOMINGO.

San Domingo, Dominican Republic, Oct. 16.—The rebels in Puerto Plata refuse to accept a treaty of peace, and war operations have been resumed. Foreigners have been advised by the government to leave Puerto Plata. James M. Sullivan, the American minister, returned here yesterday.

Beautiful Wooded Banks of Lester River for City Playground.

Biggest Addition Ever Made to the Duluth Park System.

Will Include Two and Half Miles of Lester River.

Plans are well along toward completion whereby Lester park will be extended approximately two and one-half miles along both banks of Lester river, adding a magnificent stretch of beautiful wooded territory to one of the finest parks in a city famed for its park system.

The project is the biggest in the park history of Duluth, and if the present proposals are carried through, the date which marks their consummation will be a red letter day in the history of Duluth.

The idea was conceived and is being negotiated by S. F. Snively, one of Duluth's well-known and public-spirited citizens. Mr. Snively owns a large tract along the river above Lester park and has announced his willingness to various Duluthians to deed his holdings along both banks of the stream. Mr. Snively has seen other owners, who have agreed to do the same. Some of the property may have to be purchased, but those interested believe that this will be but a small part of the whole, representing a comparatively small outlay for the unprecedented addition which will be made to Duluth's park system.

Seventy-Acre Tract.

Mrs. W. M. Prindle will shortly donate about seventy acres of land which would constitute the upper end of the great extension to Lester park, according to reports from reliable sources.

DATA ON NEW TARIFF OPERATION GATHERED

"Sane Economy" in Estimates Is Demanded By President.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The actual effect of the new tariff law upon the government's revenue will presently be disclosed by detailed comparisons and computations now being made for Secretary McAdoo.

The estimates of expenses for all branches of the government are almost finished. President Wilson has passed word along for a sane economy, and treasury officials interpret it as an order neither to raise the estimates beyond what is necessary to provide a margin for the congressional appropriation committees to cut down—a practice charged by officials against past regimes—nor to stint any government service so much as to cripple it.

While the customs revenues have fluctuated too much to warrant any satisfactory estimate as to what may be expected, the internal revenue receipts are running up a normal increase all along the line, so far showing $4,000,000 ahead of the same period of the last fiscal year.

DELAY TRIAL TO EXPLAIN

Members of High Court Tell Why They Vote as They Do.

Much Uncertainty Attaches to Sulzer Case Outcome.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—It was reported that the high court voted informally in its secret session this morning to remove the governor from office, by a ballot of 43 to 14. A vote to disqualify him from ever holding another office under the state was lost, it was said.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 16.—When a verdict will be reached in the impeachment trial of Governor Sulzer now depends entirely on the length of the speeches of his judges in explaining their votes.

Efforts to attach significance to the informal votes were denounced by many of the senators today as unjust, both to the members of the court itself and to the governor. It was pointed out that questions of fact were being discussed and decided in the case of each article, and also the legal admissibility of the article; and that while a member might vote to admit the article from a legal point of view, on his informal vote, he might decide either for or against it under the evidence when it came to his formal vote. In other words, until the legal aspects

BAD THOUGHTS REACT UPON THE THINKER

Theosophist Says Fate Can Be Ruled By Control of Thought.

That when we know how to control thought and desire we have fate within our control, was the central idea presented last night by L. W. Rogers, who lectured on "Thought Power" at the Unitarian church. He declared that thought is a force as much as electricity, and, like it, could be used for either a good or a bad purpose.

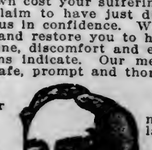

If we thought kindly of everybody, he said, we would in time have no enemies; while every thought of hatred, envy, jealousy or anger necessarily reacted upon the thinker injuriously, while at the same time it stimulated him to more thinking of the same kind. That thought is a force, he said, was clear from experimental hypnotism in which one man, by the mere exercise of thought, could make the body of another either as rigid as rock or as limp as cloth.

Tonight Mr. Rogers will speak on the subject "Delusions About Death."

SPECIAL DISEASES

We desire that any person afflicted with any acute or chronic disease call and see us, so we can explain our method of treatment.

Don't waste your time and money on cheap, dangerous, experimental treatment. Don't increase at your own cost your sufferings by being experimented on with remedies which they claim to have just discovered. They give but temporary relief. But come to us in confidence. We will treat you conscientiously, honestly and skillfully and restore you to health in the shortest possible time with the least medicine, discomfort and expense practicable. Each case is treated as the symptoms indicate. Our method is original and has stood the test of years. It is safe, prompt and thorough.

Prostatic Trouble.
Permanently cured, no matter how long standing the disease.

Obstructions.
Cured without pain or detention from business by our system of treatment.

Private Diseases.
All inflammation and drains stopped promptly in a few days.

Varicoses.
Under my advanced system of treatment the affected parts are restored to their natural condition. Vigor and strength and circulation permanently re-established.

Kidney and Bladder.
All albuminous conditions of the urine, chronic Bright's disease and Catarrh of the Bladder cured by my advanced system of treatment.

Rheumatism.
I cure all forms—Inflammatory, Muscular, Articular, Acute and Chronic. A cure guaranteed in every case.

Nervous Debility
Cured for life and the whole system revitalized and every organ restored to healthy action.

Ulcers.
Recent or old sores, pain in the bones, sore throat, organic weakness, impaired memory or any indiscretions or overwork. It matters not of how long standing, do not be discouraged because other physicians have failed to benefit you; our advanced system of treatment will cure you.

"606" FOR SPECIFIC BLOOD DISEASES AND "914"

Specific blood disease may be hereditary or contracted. If you are suffering from this disease we ask you to consult us at once. We care not who has treated you and failed to cure you as we will cure you just as sure as you come to our office for treatment. Sundays our hours are from 10 to 1 only.

Sample Bottle Often Proves Beneficial

Some time ago I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and was unable to obtain any relief from other medicines so sent for a sample bottle of your Swamp-Root. I received so much benefit from this small bottle that I purchased a large bottle of the druggist. I continued the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root until I regarded myself as cured and am now in very good health. I recommended it to a neighbor who has used it with the same results.

I regard your remedy Swamp-Root, as a preparation that will do all you claim for it.

MRS. ALBERT STERNER,
Cressona, Pa.

Personally appeared before me this 15th of September, 1909, Mrs. Albert Sterner, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention The Duluth Daily Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

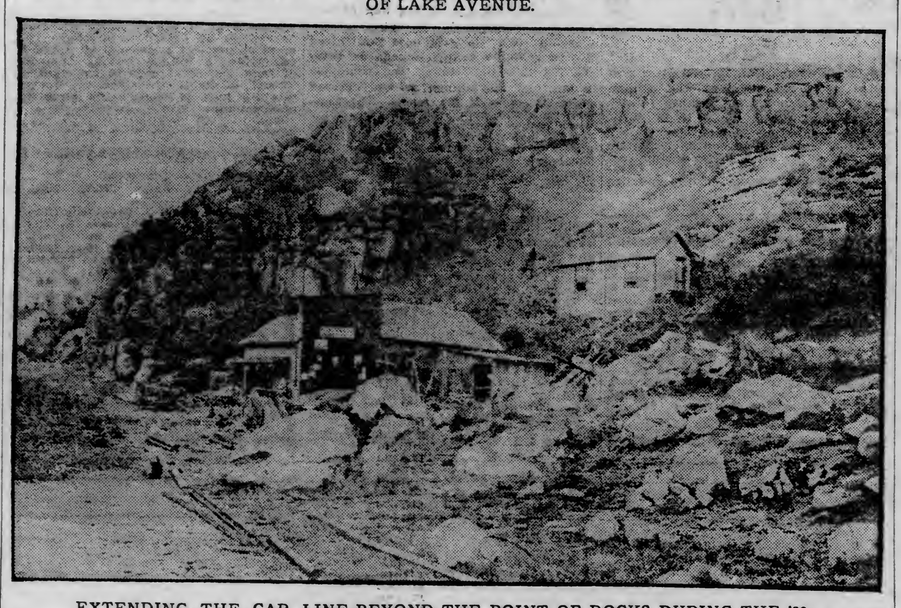

SUPERIOR STREET AS IT WAS AT THE TIME THE FIRST STREET RAILWAY LINE WAS LAID

SUPERIOR STREET, WEST FROM FIFTH AVENUE WEST ABOUT 1885.

The upper picture was taken about the year 1885. It gives a good idea, old residents say, of how Superior street looked in 1882 when the first street railway line was put down. In the litigation now on in court, witnesses for the city declare that the western terminus of the car line ended in this block. Witnesses for the company have testified that the western terminus was at a point near Eighth avenue west.

The cars shown have no bearing on the case, as the date of the picture is not known, but it was probably taken about 1885.

ADRIFT WITH BROKEN RUDDER

According to a report received from the Underwriters' association by Capt. Kidd of this city, the Lackawanna of the Boland & Cornelius line is afloat somewhere on the Great Lakes with the rudder so seriously damaged that it is feared that the boat will need a tow to reach the Duluth harbor.

Information as to the whereabouts and the precise condition of the boat is very meager. At the tug office no information had been received of the Lackawanna.

The message from the underwriters was to have the boat laid up here for repairs.

STATE TRIES TO DISPROVE THE SELF-DEFENSE PLEA

Three Bullets Were Fired at Rossi By Joseph Strafaccia.

Effort to Show That Shots Were Fired From Behind.

An effort to show that Joseph Strafaccia did not kill Francisco Rossi in self-defense, but that the crime was first degree murder, was made by the state in the opening of the case today. Dr. W. H. Magie and Dr. Joseph Jesion, both of whom treated Rossi at St. Mary's hospital, were called to the witness stand.

It took most of the forenoon, however, to select the three men necessary to complete the jury. County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who is conducting the prosecution, and Walter F. Dacey, who is appearing for the defendant, put each venireman through a rigorous examination. The three finally selected were Anton Howe, a street car conductor, Theodore T. Simon, former foreman for the Pittsburg Coal company, and George H. Huseby, ex-game warden. Anton Howe was one of the jurors in the case of the state against Maud Grant charged with keeping a disorderly house.

The nine jurors selected yesterday are: K. C. Hoxie, Charles H. Bradley, David Hamilton, C. K. Dickerman, August Selger, A. W. Lindgren, A. S. Huyck, David S. Horak and Alexander Gow.

Judging from the examination conducted by Attorney Greene the state will attempt to prove that Rossi's death resulted from the third shot fired by Strafaccia. It is admitted by both sides that three shots struck Rossi, following a card game in Strafaccia's house at Eleventh avenue west and Third street. One of the bullets struck Rossi in the elbow, another in the shoulder, while the fatal one struck Rossi in the spine.

The Fatal Wound.

Dr. W. H. Magie, who operated on Rossi for the wound in the spine at St. Mary's hospital testified that this was the fatal shot. He said the bullet struck the spine in the middle between the shoulder blades, severing the spinal column. Paralysis, he said, of the whole lower part of the body resulted. He said that wounds of this nature are incurable as the spinal cord will not grow together after being completely severed. His testimony was to the effect that the bullet had been fired at Rossi's back.

Dr. Magie did not treat the other two wounds, and his memory as to their nature was hazy. He refused to make any absolute statements regarding them except that neither of them was fatal.

Dr. Jesion was questioned as to the other two wounds. He said the wound in the shoulder went through the flesh at an angle of about 45 degrees. He said his impression was that the bullet wound was larger at the front of the shoulder but he was not certain. Dr. Magie's testimony was to the effect that a bullet wound at the point of entrance is small while the point of exit is larger and generally torn. Attorney Greene evidently wished to prove that the shots were fired at Rossi's back, which would practically eliminate the self-defense plea of the defendant.

Dr. Jesion testified that there were bruises about Rossi's head when he was brought to the hospital. These he said might have been caused by his head striking the floor or from a blunt instrument. It is probable that the county attorney will try to prove that these were inflicted by Strafaccia as the latter is said to have struck his victim after he had shot him, and thrown him outdoors in the snow.

WAS MERELY A KEG PARTY

Andrew Molesky Denies Keeping an Unlicensed Drinking Place.

Says Friends Bought Beer and Delivered It to Him.

If several friends buy a keg of beer and then deliver it to your house, where a party is held, are you guilty of running an unlicensed drinking place?

This is the question that Walter Gonska, attorney for Andrew Molesky of 3822 West Fifth street, who was arrested Sunday afternoon by Detectives Toewe and Bradley and Officer Wanvick on a charge of conducting an unlicensed drinking place, this morning asked Judge Windom of the municipal court to decide. Mr. Gonska claims that eight friends of Molesky purchased a keg of beer on Saturday and had it delivered to Molesky's home. The men all gathered in the basement of the home Sunday afternoon to enjoy a quiet card party, says the attorney for the defense, and the police appeared and raided the place.

There was no beer being sold, declared Mr. Gonska in summing up the testimony of the defense before Judge Windom, the men merely having come to Molesky's home because it was a good place to hold a party.

"The fact that men are found drinking in a home does not show that it is an unlicensed drinking place," he claimed.

Molesky was arrested about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon after Chief Troyer had received several complaints from neighbors that a blindpig had been in operation at the Molesky home for some time past. Detectives Toewe and Bradley, who made the arrest, testified this morning that there were long benches and a table in the room, with the keg of beer on tap. The entire room, they testified, represented a miniature saloon.

Judge Windom continued the case until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, when he will announce his decision. There are several decisions on cases similar to this and the court is taking time to look them up. City Prosecutor Gurnee in summing up his testimony declared that it is not necessary to prove the defendant sold liquor to convict him on the charge of keeping an unlicensed drinking place.

Molesky was arraigned Monday morning, when he pleaded not guilty, and his case was then set for this morning. He was allowed to go after the hearing on his recognizance.

Finish Oil Case Arguments.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Argument of cases testing the constitutionality of the law pplacing oil pipe lines under the regulations of the interstate commerce commission was concluded today before the supreme court. The court then adjourned to attend the funeral of the late James H. McKenney, clerk of the court.

WILL AFFECT ALL THE WESTBOUND TRAFFIC

The Commerce Commission May Act Peremptorily in Import Case.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Failure of the railroads operating out of Boston to conform to the conclusions of the interstate commerce commission, acting as a board of arbitration in the import traffic case, probably will result in the near future in a definite order putting the commission's conclusions into effect.

The Boston roads now are charging lower rates on import traffic to points West than lines out of New York. It practically is immaterial to the commission how the rates are equalized, except that, if the New York rates are lowered, it would necessitate the readjustment of the westbound import rates out of Philadelphia and Baltimore.

The likelihood is that, as the only way out of the present situation, the commission will issue an order in the New York case making effective its conclusions as to the whole import rates question, and its action will affect almost the entire westbound import traffic of the country.

Superior

Will Wed in Chicago.

James S. Chamberlain of Superior, and Mrs. Emma Thomas of St. Louis were granted a license to marry in Chicago this morning. Mr. Chamberlain is a cigarmaker with a shop located at 1706 Winter street.

Big Acreage Deal.

The Morse-Davis company of Vancouver, B. C., yesterday completed the purchase of 240 acres of land in South Superior within the limits of the city of Superior for a consideration said to have been $200,000. The deal is one of the largest ever made in Superior property.

May Build Auditorium.

Superior may build an auditorium in the near future if plans fathered by the Rotary club of that city are carried out. Committees of citizens representing various organizations have taken the subject up and it is probable that the city commissioners will be asked to make provisions for such a building in the tax levy. According to plans prepared the building would cost about $40,000.

Wages Reduced.

Lumber companies have reduced the wages offered for woodsmen according to advices received yesterday at the free employment bureau. The reduction amounts to $5 per month. Laborers will receive $30 instead of $35, and teamsters will receive $35 instead of $40.

Amusement Notes.

Harry Holliday, in the cast of Mrs. Fiske's play, "The High Road," is now in his fifty-first year on the stage. He was, in his younger days, associated with the two great stock companies that are always spoken of with reverence by the critical antiquarians, namely, those of Lester Wallack and A. M. Palmer. Of the former, the only two who are still living are Mr. Holliday and E. M. Holland, while of the latter there are four, all of whom are still active in their profession. Strangely enough, two of these are Mr. Holliday and Mr. Holland. The others are May Robson and Louis Massen.

The famous Thanhouser Twins, who appeared in "An Unfair Exchange" at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday, will appear today, Friday and Saturday in a two-part feature "Life's Pathway," assisted by the Thanhouser players. The twins are first seen as babies and then as children about 10 years of age. One girl is adopted and later falls in the social scale, after ruining her husband by extravagance. The second sister becomes a settlement worker. How they are finally re-united makes an interesting story. In addition to this feature there will be three single reels shown.

* * *

Marshall Montgomery, the ventriloquist at the Orpheum this week, is considered by the majority of Orpheum patrons to be the best ventriloquist ever heard in the local theater. He does some tricks that have never been attempted by the average ventriloquist, and gets away from the stereotyped performance usually given with dummies.

One of Mr. Montgomery's feats is to carry on a conversation with his dummy while he eats a dry cracker. Later he drinks a glass of water, and smokes a cigarette, all of the time keeping up a conversation with his little wooden figure.

His whistling while his mouth is stuffed with a silk handkerchief is also a most unusual feat, and judged by the control of his vocal cords alone, Mr. Montgomery is probably the superior of any ventriloquist the Orpheum has presented.

Next week's bill will be headlined by John F. Conroy and his diving girls. The act is claimed to be the biggest aquatic spectacle in vaudeville at the present time, and a special crew of stage carpenters is busy this week preparing the stage for the big tank which contains 5,500 gallons of water. Mr. Conroy claims to be the world's greatest life saver, with a record of 137 people saved from drowning.

* * *

"Henpecked Henry," a "robust, tempestuous comedy, good for five laughs a minute," will be presented by Jack Trainor and a company of eighteen farceurs at the Empress theater, commencing this afternoon and continuing three days.

The story is of a retired banker of Kalamazoo, "where the celery comes from," who, with his wife and daughter, visits Chicago on a shopping tour. The banker is a gay blade, and pursues his artful schemes with considerable success under the very nose of his "Xantippi" of a wife. Mr. Trainor in the title role keeps the audience in laughter continuously, it is said.

Mr. Trainor is supported by Miss Louise Willis in the part of the wife, who makes the old man "jump through a hoop" every time she snaps her fingers.

* * *

Daniel Frohman will present another one of the world's greatest stars, in motion pictures at the Rex theater today, that of the celebrated favorite of two continents, Lillie Langtry, in a tense dramatic play, "His Neighbor's Wife," produced by the Famous Players company.

The story deals with two couples, both holding a high position in social life. Mr. Norton discovers his wife in the arms of his neighbor, Capt. Roberts, a married man, and his first impulse was to kill her. On his way for the gun his little daughter runs to greet him, and this is followed by an awakening to better judgment. That old adage, "paid back in your own coin," is the course he takes in order to avenge himself. Later the captain's wife accuses him of his sin, and he makes an earnest and effective plea for forgiveness.. The scenes where the child destroys the husband's determination to kill, and where the true wife prevents the murder of her false husband, and where the true makes a sacrifice, are scenes that will linger in the minds of all who see this production, it is claimed.

UNION AGENT BEATEN BY CHICAGO THUGS

Charles M. Rau Is the Victim of Murderous Attack.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Charles M. Rau, business agent of the Steam Fitters' Protective association, and one of the best known union labor men in this city, still was unconscious in a hospital today from a murderous attack made on him last night. For the reason that no attempt was made to rob him the police believe the attack was made by labor enemies of Rau. As he was walking on East Thirty-third street, two men seized him, dragged him into an alley and beat and kicked him, leaving him for dead.

UTAH LEPER SEEKS AID IN MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—A man who last night applied for treatment for leprosy at the city dispensary, today gave his name as E. R. Grable, and said his family lives in Ogden, Utah. He said he was pronounced a leper three years ago by physicians at Pocatello, Idaho, and was isolated, but later escaped. He again was isolated at Salt Lake City.

The chief vaccine officer of the board of health today examined Grable and said the leprosy symptoms were not very pronounced.

CATHOLICS BEGIN TO REACH BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 16.—Bishop Charles J. O'Reilly of the diocese of Baker City, Or., who arrived here yesterday, is the first of more than eighty prelates expected to come to Boston to participate in the Catholic Missionary congress which will open Sunday in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Fully 500 priests and several thousand laymen will attend the congress. Those in charge of the arrangements say the opening ceremonies, when Archbishop Bonzano, the pontifical delegate, will officiate at pontifical high mass, will surpass in impressiveness anything of an ecclesiastical nature ever seen in this country.

FRED VIBERT NEXT MAYOR OF CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—All factions in the city are apparently united on Fred D. Vibert as the choice for mayor at the coming election. Mr. Vibert filed his petition some days ago and no other candidate has appeared. Mr. Vibert is an old resident, prominent in business and politics and has held many positions of trust for the city and county. He completed a few weeks ago his term as postmaster.

H. M. Dixon is a candidate for alderman of the Second ward, and W. J. Peters for the First ward. W. H. Ellwood has announced himself again a candidate for city treasurer, and W. H. Skemp for municipal judge.

ANYTHING TO ESCAPE JOE.

Los Angeles Times: "A good politician, a successful politician," said Charles F. Murphy at a Tammany luncheon in New York, "has the persistency of poor Joe Blackburn.

"When Joe Blackburn was a rising young man, he chanced to attend an execution in Louisville.

"The scene was a solemn one. The sheriff, before he adjusted the noose, asked the condemned man if he had anything to say. 'No,' said the poor fellow, clearing his throat. 'No, I don't believe there's any remarks that—'

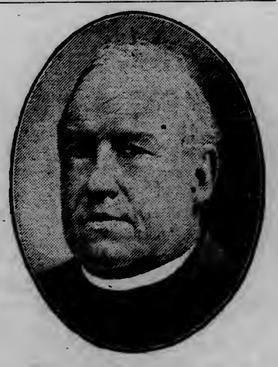

"But here Joe Blackburn shouted cheerily and eagerly from the crowd of spectators: 'Say, Jake, if you ain't got nothing special to say, I wish you'd give me about fifteen minutes of your time old man, just to let me tell these good friends gathered here that I'm a candidate for their suffrages, and to lay before them some reasons why—'

"'Wait!' said the condemned man. 'Wait! is that Joe Blackburn's voice I hear?'

"'Yes. Sure,' chorused the crowd.

"'I thought so. Well, he can have my time. He can have all of it. But go ahead and hang me first, and let Joe Blackburn talk afterward.'"

The Doctor's Advice
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character; the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers should apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Building, College-Ellwood streets, Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mason" writes: "For years I have been taking medicine to cure constipation, liver trouble and the usual disease that come from that source. Headaches, sallow skin, kidney trouble, dark spots before my eyes, dizzy spells and twinges of rheumatism are getting worse."

Answer: Take three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They are packed in sealed tubes with directions and are convenient, effective and highly curative for such ailments as arise from chronic constipation. If you are dyspeptic, also take tablets, triopeptine.

• • •

"MRS. A. D."—Incontinence of urine can be controlled by using the following. Tincture cubebs 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams and comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz. Give from 10 to 15 drops in water one hour before meals.

"OMA W." writes: "I have suffered with catarrh of the head for many years. This has become so bad that it has affected my blood, also my stomach and bowels to a very great extent. I shall appreciate an immediate answer as I suffer greatly."

Answer: I would advise you to purchase a 2 oz. package of Vilane powder; take one-half teaspoonful of the powder and add to this a pint of warm water, snuff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils several times a day. Make a catarrh balm by mixing one teaspoonful of powder with one ounce of vaseline, or lard will do, and apply as far up the nostrils as possible. For the stomach, bowels and blood I would recommend the following tonic: Syrup sarsaparilla comp., 4 ozs., comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz., and 1 oz. of fluid ext. buchu. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed time.

"Gloria" writes: "I would like you to prescribe a good hair and scalp treatment. I am bothered with itching scalp and dandruff. My hair is faded and falling and none of the remedies I have tried have done any permanent good."

Answer: Go to your druggist and obtain a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow Minyol. Apply as per directions. This treatment differs from all and I have actually seen the astonishing transformations which result from its use. The dandruff and itching are conquered with two or three applications, while it makes the hair glossy, wavy and full of intense natural color.

"Myrtle" writes: "Owing to my extreme thinness I am frequently embarrassed by slighting remarks of young people. Can you prescribe a safe remedy to increase my weight?"

Answer: I have so many gratifying reports from the users of three grain Hypo-Nuclane tablets, that I have become to regard these valuable little tablets as a specific and prescribe them to all who are aenemic, thin, wasting, nervous and debilitated. I recommend that you begin their use at once and continue regularly until your system is able to assimilate the fatty elements of your food; then you will grow plump and have plenty of red blood, with color in your complexion bright and sparkling eyes of health.

"Sick M. G." writes: "I have been affected for some months with rheumatism and have taken much medicine in vain. Please give prescription that will cure."

Answer: The most efficient prescription I have ever given for rheumatism is: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams, sodium salicylate 4 drams; wine of colchicum, one-half ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs. Mix and take a teaspoonful at meal time and at bedtime.

• • •

"Farmwife" writes: "You once recommended a home-made cough-syrup. I tried it and found it the best cough and cold syrup that I ever heard of. It was so prompt in relieving the severest coughs and colds and a pint bottle made at home lasted so long that I have forgotten the ingredients. Kindly publish again."

Answer: The splendid laxative home-made cough syrup is made by mixing a 2½ oz. bottle of concentrated essence mentholaxene with a home-made sugar syrup. Directions on the bottle tell how to make and use. It is a fine, cheap remedy.

• • •

"Johnson" writes: "I am bothered greatly with indigestion. Things I like to eat nearly always cause a heavy ill-at-ease feeling in my stomach, and my breath is bad, while I am nervous, irritable and frequently cannot sleep."

Answer: A very excellent treatment which is widely prescribed for its gradual curative action, as well as the instant relief it affords, is tablets triopeptine, packed in sealed cartons. Take a pink tablet after breakfast, white tablet after dinner and blue tablet after supper. Continue and the curative agencies should soon restore natural digestion.

• • •

"Mrs. M. C." writes: "I am recovering from long illness, but am very weak, nervous, sleepless and have little appetite. Can you give me a good tonic restorative treatment."

Answer: Have the following prescription filled and take a teaspoonful before meals: Syrup of hypophosphites comp. 5 ozs., tincture cadomene comp. 1 oz., (not cardamon). Mix and shake well before using. This is a fine nerve tonic and system tonic for old and young.

• • •

John R. Mc asks: "Don't you think it is wise to take medicine to reduce my weight? I weigh about 55 pounds too much."

Answer: I do think so; and a very convenient and effective flesh-reducer medicine is sold in sealed tubes with full directions for home use. It is called 5-grain sibolene tablets and any well-stocked pharmacy can supply them. They are essentially good.

LIFE OF TRAFFIC POLICEMAN NOT ALL MILK AND HONEY

Stands for Hours In All Kinds of Weather Directing Traffic, Answering Questions, and Rescuing Thoughtless or Frightened Pedestrians.

PATROLMAN GEORGE WOOD.

"Who has the hardest job in town?"

The query is one with many answers, but among others it may be noted that the traffic cop at Third avenue west is strongly in the running.

It looks simple enough to the casual pedestrian who drifts along the busy street. He glances over at the blue coat standing in the center of the intersection and as often as not the thought flickers through his mind, "That fellow has a soft snap."

Did you ever stop to ponder that just to stand there, in one place, from morning to night, is in itself a pretty tough proposition? The traffic cop is not on deck just during the comfortable, bright, sunshiny days, but the year around, day in and day out, hot or cold, calm or windy, whether it be sleeting, raining or snowing.

Those who have gone out into the tall pines hunting for deer know how hard it is to stand in one place for a couple or three or four hours. For most of them have experienced the weariness of hugging a runway, even though the tingling excitement keeps the mind active and the body in a constant nervous tension. But it's mighty hard, even at that.

As the hunter is sustained by virtue of the ceaseless watchfulness and the ever present possibilities, so is the fact that the traffic cop is always on the alert the salvation of his job. Every minute he's on the lookout just as much as the hunter and for more important purposes. Just as the man on the deer trail scans the country for a shot, the bluecoat on the corner searches the streets to prevent accidents. Standing in the middle of the volumes of traffic rolling in four or six directions, he dodges the passing street cars, gets out of the way of a team or an automobile, perchance pulling an anxious questioner with him. With a wave of his hand he shoos a driver ahead to prevent a tangle or a blockade or holds him up in time to prevent him knocking down a self-wrapped citizen too deeply concerned with his own problems to notice the world about him.

George Wood, stationed at Third avenue west and Superior street, the busiest corner in the city, is Duluth's first traffic policeman. He will be the dean of the corps when Duluth attains the dignity of a traffic squad.

In addition to the usual duties he is probably the most-questioned man in town. All sorts and manner of questions are fired at him by all kinds of people. And he is expected to answer each and every one of them right under the gun. His case isn't like that of the conductor of a question box, who can take time to go to the records or ascertain the desired information from various sources. They all take it for granted that he has the dope right on tap. And it's remarkable how seldom he is stumped. He has a fund of knowledge which rivals that of the information bureau. And it keeps growing all the time. The few times that he cannot give the information desired he does the next best thing and tells the inquirer where he can learn what he wants. Then he makes it a point, as soon as he has the opportunity, to get the answer himself if it is anything which he may be asked again.

Nay, nay, the job of the traffic cop isn't the biggest snap on earth.

SOCIAL CENTERS HERE TO STAY

Speaker at Bryant School Entertainment Predicts They Will Be Permanent.

The first of the series of programs given under the auspices of the social center of the Bryant school, Third and Vernon streets, was held last night at the school. A crowd which packed the hall of the building attended.

Julius H. Barnes and Andrew Nelson were the principal speakers. Mr. Barnes predicted that social centers were here to stay and that they had been established in many of the larger cities of the country because of the demand for more social activities among the people and the oportunity that such centers afforded along educational lines.

Mr. Nelson stated that the work of the social center had been indorsed and had the hearty support of the board of education. He said that every healthy form of activity should be carried out in such a center.

Miss Margaret Culkin, social center director and Miss Katherine King, principal of the Bryant school, also gave short talks. Moving pictures and solo selections given by Miss Maude Matteson and James McGhie were included in the program.

Surprised By Friends.

CONLEY NOT MISSING.

Northern Pacific Fuel Supervisor Denies False Reports From St. Paul.

C. J. Conley, fuel supervisor of the Northern Pacific road, this morning denied in person that he has disappeared. Word came from St. Paul yesterday to the effect that Mr. Conley has not been seen since his visit to Duluth about ten days ago, and inquiry was made concerning him at the office of Supt. Brown of the Northern Pacific here yesterday. Mr. Brown knew nothing about him.

This morning Mr. Conley arrived in Duluth on another of his regular trips to be met by the news of his supposed disappearance. He assured his friends here that he has not been missing at any time, that he does not expect to be missing and that while he was being sought yesterday he was at his desk in the Northern Pacific building in St. Paul. He cannot understand how such a rumor started. It originated with a St. Paul newspaper, which published an item to the effect that Mr. Conley was missing.

GIVES HISTORY OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Swedish Mission church bazar attracted another large crowd which packed the parlors of the church last night. The principal feature of the program last night was the address given by Rev. Thomas W. MacLean, rector of the Trinity Pro-cathedral, who spoke on the principles and history of the Episcopal church.

The speaker stated that Henry VIII of England had nothing to do with establishing that church as the Church of England, but that he had been instrumental in abolishing the rule of the Catholic church. He said that the principles of the church were as democratic as the Constitution of the United States and that incidentally thirty-four of the signers of the Constitution of this country had been members of the Episcopal church.

This evening Rev. J. H. Stenberg, pastor of the First Norwegian Lutheran church, will be the principal speaker. He will talk on the history and principles of the Lutheran church. The program for the evening follows:

Piano solo .....
Miss Mabel Samuelson.
Vocal duet—"Whispering Hope" ...
Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Lundholm.
Cornet solo.....
Ernest Paulson.
Scripture reading and prayer.....
Rev. J. A. Krantz.
Vocal duet—"Rock of Ages".....
Prof. and Mrs. A. F. Lundholm.
Address—"History and Principles of the Lutheran Church" .....
Rev. J. H. Stenberg.
Song—"A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" .....
Congregation.

Swedish M. E. Notes.

The Epworth League of the Swedish Methodist church will be entertained at a social tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Norling, 614 North Twenty-fifth avenue west. A program will be given.

Regular services will be held Sunday at the church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. The Sunday school will be at 9:30 o'clock; morning service at 10:45; Epworth league at 6:45 and evening worship at 7:45 p. m.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Frank Peterson of 214 Nineteenth avenue west entertained at a whist party last evening at her home. Mrs. G. Wold and Mrs. Christopher won the prizes.

The ladies of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will open their bazar in the church this evening. The bazar will be continued for three days. The ladies have arranged to serve supper on each evening. A program will also be given.

Mrs. Fred Hanson, 1609 West Fifth street, entertained the Ladies' Missionary Society of the Central Baptist church at her home yesterday afternoon.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine, pastor of the First Swedish Methodist church, is expected to return tomorrow from a ten-day visit to relatives in Southern Illinois.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church completed final arrangements for the annual supper and bazar to be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, at the Woodmen hall, at a meeting of the society held yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD—END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head Are Clogged From a Cold. Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Vanishes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 Cents You Can Make Your Hair Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Chronic Constipation
Causes Many Serious Ailments

MRS. JOHN O. ATKINSON,
1259 North Emporia Ave.,
Wichita, Kansas.

Mrs. J. O. Atkinson, of Wichita, Kansas, firmly believes that she would have been dead had it not been for Peruna and Manalin. She was very much out of sorts when her husband induced her to take these remedies. She had been sick for twenty-five years more or less. As is usual in such cases, she was suffering from a complication of diseases.

Of course a great many things had been resorted to, but it appears from the account of her case that she receive no particular benefit from anything that she tried. As her husband states: "Her case had baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians."

Prominent among her other troubles was chronic constipation. Constipation is very distressing where it continues. The choice between constipation and the continued use of physic is a very doubtful one.

It was in this dilemma that Peruna found Mrs. Atkinson. She used it faithfully according to directions, and was completely restored, not only from her constipation, but also her former ailments.

This occurred some twelve or fifteen years ago, since which time we have been in constant correspondence with her, and she has continued to praise Peruna and enjoy the best of health.

HARRISON URGES ISLAND ECONOMY.

Manila, Oct. 16.—Governor Francis Burton Harrison's message to the Philippine legislature asks the adoption of Dean Worcester's slavery report and urges pressing need of economy. It is pointed out that the government probably faces a deficit of $4,500,000.

The new tariff deprives the treasury of export tax receipts amounting to $1,500,000. Drastic economy, says the governor, is required, with the possible cessation of some public works. The governor expressed the belief that the present government's topheavy system of bureaucracy is detrimental, and suggests a cut in the salaries of higher governmental officers, and finally urges self-denial, patriotism and harmony.

Bryn Mawr Head Under Knife.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—Miss Mary Cary Thomas, president of the Bryn Mawr college, was operated on yesterday and is reported to be in an improved condition. Physicians said a speedy recovery was expected.

FACTS AND FICTION

Experiences of Duluth Citizens Are Easily Proven to Be Facts.

The most superficial investigation will prove that the following statement from a resident of Duluth is true. Read it and compare evidence from Duluth people with testimony of strangers living so far away you cannot investigate the facts of the case. Many more citizens of Duluth endorse Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. H. Tomlin, prop. grocery, 112 W. Palmetto St., Duluth, Minn., says: "I have had no need of a kidney medicine in several years for Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and you may continue publishing my indorsement. For two years I suffered severely from kidney complaint. I finally got so bad that I had to lay off from work for days. My back was very painful and I was nervous and restless. In the morning I felt all tired out and I had trouble from the kidney secretions. I got little relief from medicines until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. A great many people have asked me about my cure and every time I have been pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I always keep a supply on hand."

BILL DOESN'T SUIT ALDRICH

Former Senator Severely Criticizes the Glass-Owen Measure.

Says It Tends to Socialism and Would Establish Bryan Idea.

New York, Oct. 16.—Former Senator ..elson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island last night attacked the Wilson administration's currency bill, now before congress, which he declared embodied the theories of William J. Bryan. He denounced the bill as unsound, socialistic and revolutionary, characterizing it as an "endeavor to secure, by partisan legislation, the triumph of the doctrines and principles which had received the repeated condemnation of the American people at the polls."

He quoted from Woodrow Wilson's writings to indicate that the president, in his earlier days, had entertained beliefs contrary to provisions of the bill.

"If the house bill should be enacted into a law," Mr. Aldrich asserted, "Mr. Bryan will have achieved the purpose for which he has been contending for a decade."

No Reference to His Bill.

Mr. Aldrich's speech was delivered at the closing session of the national conference on currency reform. He made no reference to the so-called Aldrich plan for currency reform. He opposed many features of the Glass-Owen currency bill, but directed his strongest opposition to the provision dealing with the issue of government notes and providing for a central government board with supervision over the system as a whole.

"The proposals with reference to note issues," said Mr. Aldrich, "are radical and revolutionary in their character, and at variance with all the accepted canons of economic law.

"I believe it will be found that there is no substantial limitation upon the amount of notes that can be issued under the house bill, except in requirements for reserve."

"Extreme Pressure."

Mr. Aldrick said that "extreme pressure" was being brought to bear upon congress to enact the administration bill, and that the reason given was that the adoption of the bill was necessary to fulfill promises made by the Democratic party. He traced the history of the Democratic party's attitude on the subject in earlier years, and quoted President Cleveland as saying that "the people of the United States are entitled to a sound and stable currency."

"The theory that the United States should issue currency in the form of its promises to pay," declared Mr. Aldrich, "is a Populistic doctrine. It had no standing as a Democratic party principle until the advent of Mr. Bryan as a nominee for the presidency in 1896. It was injected by Mr. Bryan into the party platform in spite of the protests and against the votes of the men who had been most prominent in the party councils, men who advocated loyalty to the policies and principles to which the party had adhered throughout its existence.

Was Unheralded.

"There had been no suggestion that an attempt was to be made to revive the greenback policy, or to adopt in legislation the rejected theories of Populists. The Democratic candidate for the presidency was silent upon the subject during the last campaign, and he has not, so far as I am aware, up to this time, publicly expressed his approval of Mr. Bryan's ideas with reference to note issues. The large majority of the American people, who favor sound money, believed that the question of further greenback issues was settled permanently by the elections of 1896 and the following years. If the house bill should be enacted into law, Mr. Bryan will have achieved the purpose for which he had been contending for a decade."

The speaker characterized the provisions for government note issue in the administration bill as "an emphatic condemnation of theories of government and the economic teachings of every great Democratic leader, from Andrew Jackson and Thomas H. Benton to Samuel J. Tilden and Grover Cleveland."

"It is undoubtedly true," he continued, "that the support of Mr. Bryan and his followers was necessary to procure any legislation upon this subject, but it is unfortunate that to obtain this support it seemed necessary to sacrifice the cherished principles traditional of a great party."

Federal Reserve Board.

In the proposals to create a Federal reserve board, and to provide for the issue of government notes, Mr. Aldrich said, the bill follows a plan submitted by President Tyler to congress in 1841 for the creation of an exchequer board. The plan, he said, found no substantial support in either branch of congress and went down to oblivion.

Speaking of the possibility that national banks might surrender their charters rather than enter the proposed system, Mr. Aldrich said:

"It is safe to say that the serious disarrangement of credits, the contraction of circulating medium, and the destruction of confidence that would certainly arise from a transfer of any considerable amount of the banking business of the country from the national to the state system, would end in a financial panic such as we never have seen in any country."

Socialistic in Tendencies.

Mr. Aldrich referred to the bill as Socialistic in its tendencies.

"This is, I think," he said, "the first attempt to give a government board the right to manage a great business which is more important in its intimate relations to all the people than any other. If the attempt is substantial, it will be the first and most important step toward changing our form of government from a democracy to an autocracy. No imperial government in Europe would venture to suggest, much less enact, legislation of this kind.

"The creation of this board is clearly a favorable response to Socialistic demands."

Mr. Aldrich quoted from writings of Woodrow Wilson in his earlier days an extract in which he said:

"Only a great commanding bank, everywhere known, whose note really and always represented gold, could supply paper worth its face value in all places or keep exchanges from chaos."

Mr. Wilson, he said, was an enthusiastic defender of the "Second Bank of the United States," saying that it had "not only served its purpose as a fiscal agent of the government to the satisfaction of the government, but had also steadied and facilitated every legitimate business transaction, and rid the money market of its worst dangers."

FOR U. S. CONTROL OF FIRE PREVENTION.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Government regulation of compulsory physical standards of fire protection was advocated at the sessions of the national fire prevention convention here. H. M. Wilson, engineer in charge of the experiment station of the Federal bureau of mines, suggested that congress should be petitioned to "provide a bureau, the energies of which shall be solely devoted to fire prevention in all its phases."

A substitute committee was appointed to review the question of compulsory physical fire standards and to prepare a resolution covering the attitude of the convention.

were decided, questions of law and of fact would be inextricably involved in the formal vote.

Can Change Votes.

The fact that a member is privileged to change his vote at the open session of the court was emphasized today as indicating that the informal ballots should not be considered as accurately showing the final result.

All of the eight articles of impeachment will be discussed in the secret sessions and informal votes taken on them. This is for the purpose of giving each member of the court an opportunity to air his views and permit a mutual exchange of ideas regarding the law and the evidence.

The first article was under informal discussion when court adjourned last night. It was expected that all the other articles would be covered informally and the vote reached today. Even after the final voting begins, there are likely to be long delays. Many of the court, besides the judges, are attorneys, and most of the legal minds desire to give lengthy explanations before their voting.

More Uncertainty.

There was no certainty this morning that all of the articles would be thrown into open court for a vote. As the informal discussion proceeded the court was to decide if any of the articles were not substantiated by enough evidence to warrant their being left to vote on. Hence there is a possibility that the objections of the attorneys for Governor Sulzer to the various articles will be disposed of in the informal discussions.

The discussion may end tonight, or may not be completed before Friday, the last court day of the week. The trial has been in progress a month today.

The eight articles will be voted on separately in order. Not until after the eight articles have been voted on, will a vote be taken as to whether Governor Sulzer should be removed from office.

May Not Be Removed.

Conviction on even one article would be sufficient ground on which to remove him, but on the other hand, conviction on all of the articles need not mean necessarily that he would be cast out. He might be found guilty and still be permitted to retain his office. The extreme penalty would be removal from office and prohibition from ever again holding a position of honor or trust under the state.

Before going into secret session today, Presiding Judge Cullen emphasized to the newspaper men the fact that the present sessions of the court were of the nature of a "private consultation between the members of the court to formulate the views which will determine their final action," and that this action would be taken in public.

"In the Judge Barnard impeachment case," he said, "the vote was taken in private consultation. It is not the intention of the court to take the vote in that manner in this case."

Extra Guard of Police.

An extra guard of police was placed before the doors of the court this morning and those interested in the course of the trial were not allowed to congregate in the corridors.

Calumet and in Keweenaw county.

The Calumet & Hecla has put night shifts to work at four more mines.

Governor Ferris is determined that the state shall be relieved of its responsibility in the copper strike zone as soon as possible. Through Maj. Boisey, now in command of the troops in the district, and Adjt.-Gen. Vandercook, he has demanded that both the civil authorities and mining companies take prompt action to put an end to lawlessness which has characterized the strike.

Troops Used Too Much.

The governor made it plain that both operators and civil authorities have been depending too much on the troops to handle the situation. The governor declares the troops are here only to suppress violence and disorder, and not to protect strikebreakers or men brought in by the companies to take the place of strikers.

The operators, their attorneys and the sheriffs of Houghton and Keweenaw counties, have been informed of the governor's wishes, and as a result Sheriff Cruse of Houghton county has taken the situation in hand. The troops are now held for emergency use.

BIG TRACT OF LAND TO BE ADDED TO PARK SYSTEM AS GIFT BY DULUTHIANS

The ground is beautifully situated and would be a most valuable addition to the city's park holdings. It is stated that Mrs. Prindle will deed this tract, a large and most beautiful park in itself, independently of the city acquiring the two or more miles intervening between it and the present limit of Lester park. It lies towards the further end of the corporate limits along the banks of Lester river.

Lester river is visited annually by thousands of citizens as well as by numerous tourists. Its natural beauty is appealing, not only to those who love the trees and shrubs but to the fisherman, for it is famous for its trout, and to those who are attracted by birds and the smaller animal life.

Fine driveways now wind about and through the park and its surroundings. Should the large addition be secured other boulevards would be constructed; the present roads would be improved and a connection would be built with the Snively road. And when the $1,000,000 Congdon boulevard is constructed along the lake shore a branch running to it from the park driveways would add another attraction.

The Rogers boulevard affords one of the greatest panoramic views in the world and forms the connecting link of one of the finest park systems in the country. The Snively road is one of the prettiest of drives. The Congdon boulevard, stretching 100 feet wide along the rocky, bold shores of the lake, will be without parallel. With two and one-half miles added to Lester park, along the banks of a river which seems to have been created to form the central ribbon of a park, with wooded boulevards and roadways, and with another driveway planned to circle back of the country club to Woodland, Duluth is leaping ahead with giant strides which will give it a park system which will outrank anything between the two oceans.

EATON TRIAL

miral's courtship and his marriage to Mrs. Eaton, and told of unsettled life in the household.

"This resulted," he said, "in Mrs. Eaton's becoming irascible and developing the temperament which has brought her to her present pass. One form of this temperament was unfounded jealousy."

Called Husband Insane.

For years, he said, Mrs. Eaton had tried continually to have her husband adjudged insane. The foundation for these attempts, he said, was Mrs. Eaton's accusation in the summer of 1908 that her husband had poisoned a child adopted by them the previous spring. According to Katzmann, Mrs. Eaton wrote to Prof. Whitney, the Harvard medical school chemist, to whom the child's stomach was sent for examination: "I rely upon you for finding poison in the stomach to have my husband declared insane." The official report, however, showed death to have been due to natural causes.

The death of the child was followed, Katzmann said, by constant charges by Mrs. Eaton that the admiral was dabbling in poisons.

"Mrs. Eaton cried in the highways and the byways," said he, "that the admiral had poisoned the child and had tried to poison her and her daughters."

memorandum, and the foreign offices say there will be none for the time being, it is regarded as certain that the nature of the American government's notification regarding future recognition will necessitate action on the part of the Mexican authorities.

It is not expected that the election which President Huerta seems to regard as one of the cardinal principles of his policy, will be postponed by reason of his decree, although it is admitted that this is a possibility.

The impression which is gaining ground that other countries are inclined to fall in line with the Washington administration in the matter of further policy toward Mexico, it is argued, may tend to cause the Mexican officials to seek some ground on which they can with dignity meet Washington half way toward an adjustment of the strained relations.

The deputies still are in the penitentiary and processes in the civil courts are being prepared against them.

England Waiting.

London, Oct. 16.—The British government has adopted a waiting attitude in regard to the Mexican situation. It considers the matter thus far as an entirely internal affair in Mexico and does not contemplate any action, although it is watching events closely.

The British foreign office has not received any information from the legation in Mexico City in respect to the reported conference of the members of the diplomatic corps there.

Situation Delicate.

Washington, Oct. 16.—The Mexican situation remained unchanged today, and administration officials agreed generally in the view that Huerta would make no answer to President Wilson's latest move. News of latest Constitutionalist victories was received without comment. The delicacy of the situation, however, was unaltered and the attitude of the Washington government was still a waiting one.

JOINT USE OF POLES FAVORED BY REPORT

Electric Railway, Light and Telephone Companies Represented.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 16.—Among the reports presented at today's session of the American Electric Railway convention was that from the committee on the joint use of poles, on which the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the National Electric Light association and the American Telephone & Telegraphy company were represented. The report advocated the joint use by all the principal wire users of the country of one set of poles in city and village streets, which would mean the abolition of great numbers of the poles which now disfigure streets.

Will Study Fares.

The association authorized the establishment of a bureau to make a study of fares. This action was taken on the recommendation of a committee headed by J. T. Mortimer of Milwaukee. The bureau is expected to settle definitely the question of what is actually costs to transport passengers on electric railways.

Assistant Surgeon General W. C. Rucker of the public health service, in an address before the transportation and traffic association, an affiliated body, declared, on the authority of officers attached to the health service, that sanitary conditions on American railways, generally speaking, were a vast improvement over those on railways in European countries. The blame of such unsatisfactory conditions as exist at present, he said, "rests as much upon the traveling public as upon the companies."

BONDING COMPANIES ATTACK NEW LAW

North Dakota's Essay Into Business Stirs Corporations to Action.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A test case to determine the constitutionality of the state bonding act was started today. It seeks a writ of prohibition and injunction against Insurance Commissioner Taylor and State Treasurer Olson. Max Stern of Fargo as a citizen and taxpayer and also as a director and stockholder in a bonding company, has brought the action. Lawrence & Murphy, Pierce, Tenneson & Cupler of Fargo and Bangs, Netcher & Hamilton of Grand Forks are the attorneys of record with Aubrey Lawrence of the first firm as the attorney in charge of the case.

State Senator Ellingson of Steele county introduced S. B. 156, which is now known as chapter 194 of the session laws of 1913. It provides for a state bonding department to be conducted by Insurance Commissioner Taylor with the premiums to be paid to State Treasurer Olson.

The act makes it obligatory for every county official (except justices of the peace and constables) all city, township and school treasurers to take out surety in the state bonding department. It has an exception where the bonds exceed $50,000, the latter figures being the maximum to which any official can be bonded.

The measure provides that the bonding department be established by Jan. 1, 1914, and Insurance Commissioner Taylor already has the forms and books prepared ready for the active operation of the department the first of the year.

Petitioner Stern contends that the law creates a monopoly for the state bonding department taking away the legitimate business of bonding companies chartered by this and other states and effectually kills off all competition.

It is also contended that the act arranges for the deficit of one year to be paid by the premiums of subsequent years. There might be no losses in the county in which a taxpayer resides, but he would be compelled to pay for deficits in another in which heavy losses might occur. These deficits might be of long standing and a newcomer to the state might be taxed to pay for defalcations occurring three or four years before he became a resident.

The action cites fourteen violations of the state and three of the Federal Constitution. Among the most important is that the state is prohibited by the Constitution from entering into business in competition with its own citizens.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat Less Meat If You Feel Backachy or Have Bladder Trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

FANNING BEE WITH PRESIDENT WILSON.

Washington, Oct. 16.—"Pop" Anson, Clark Griffith, manager of the Washington Americans and Brownie Burke, mascot of the Cincinnati Reds, dropped in on President Wilson today and engaged him in a conversation on baseball.

"I used to tell folks during the campaign," said Anson, to the president, "that Taft was content to run things from the bench, that Teddy wanted to be pitcher, first baseman and everything, and do his own rooting besides, but that the Democrats bunched hits and won out."

"Well," laughed the president, "there was nothing left for me, to do then, except umpire the game."

TO REDUCE DEATH RATE OF UMPIRES.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—Announcement was made today that President Hedges of the local American league team and President Britton of the St. Louis Nationals have agreed that in future contests between the two teams the national commission shall govern. This action resulted from the fight at the last game of the post-season series Monday, when the umpires had no real authority over the players.

Weather Good for Game.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 16.—Crisp weather ruled today for the fourth game in the minor league championship series being played here between the Milwaukee American association and the Denver Western league clubs. It seemed probable that Hagerman would do the twirling for Denver and Young for Milwaukee. Play will be started at 3 o'clock. Denver has won two and Milwaukee one game.

NEW PREMIER OF DENMARK AND WIFE

MR. AND MRS. ZAHLE.

Denmark is a kingdom; but the people of that country could teach us something about democracy. A new cabinet was appointed recently, most of the members being from the staff of the journal, Politiken. The new premier, Mr. Zahle, has a wife who has been for some time parliamentary stenographer. When her husband was put at the head of the cabinet, she did not give up her work. She has continued to fill the office of official stenographer, but while her husband is premier she will give her salary of $825 a year to the Stenographers' Benevolent fund.

HAVE TALKS WITH WILSON

Democrats Who Would Delay Currency Bill Go to White House.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson today sent for Senators Hitchcock, Reed and O'Gorman, the Democrats of the senate banking committee who have been regarded as opposed to the administration program for currency legislation at the present session of congress. The president saw the senators separately and conferred at length with each.

"The president feels," said Senator Hitchcock afterward, "that to let the currency bill go over into the next session would seriously interfere with other parts of the administration program. I want to see Democratic harmony and I should like to see the president's wish gratified. I do not want the administration program to be sacrificed, but on the other hand I do not wish to see the merits of the bill sacrificed.

Senate Will Be Slow.

"I think that even if we do get a report during the first week in November, which would be about two weeks after the hearings close, there will be difficulty in getting quick action on the floor of the senate."

The Nebraska senator was asked if he saw any prospects for passing the bill during the present session.

"Not yet," he replied.

Changes in the bill that would give lower interest rates to the people of the newer states of the West were advocated in the senate banking and currency committee. Senators Hitchcock, Democrat, and Weeks, Republican, insisted that all sections of the new country should enjoy the same rates of rediscount under the Federal reserve bank plan. They conceded that such a system undoubtedly would bring down interest rates in Western states where money is now earning high rates. Both senators insisted, however, that all parts of the country were entitled to equal benefits under the new currency law. The bill as it passed the house would permit the Federal reserve board to fix different rates in the different reserve districts.

Heard Minnesota Man.

William H. Bucholtz of the Omaha National bank; N. F. Banfield, of the First National bank of Austin, Minn.; William Ingle of the Merchants' & Mechanics' bank of Baltimore, and Senator Thomas of Colorado were before the committee.

Mr. Bucholtz declared many of the bankers of Nebraska oppoosed the administration bill as it now stands, and that many national banks in that state were preparing to resign their charters and become state banks unless some of the desired changes were made in the pending bill.

A plan to issue government bonds that would be exchangeable at all times for a special form of currency was presented to the committee by Senator Thomas. The plan was drawn by William A. Amberg of Chicago. Some members of the committee expressed the opinion that such a plan would automatically regulate the volume of circulating currency.

Wants New Mortgage Provision.

Mr. Banfield, representing country bankers, urged the committee to change the bill so farm mortgages running five years could be taken by banks as security for loans. The bill now limits such mortgages to one year, and the amount to 25 per cent of a bank's capital and surplus.

MUMMIES MAKE PAINT.

Tit-Bits: In order to furnish the innumerable delicate tints of paint required by artists, manufacturers have nowadays to ransack the world. Even mummies have lately been called into use.

Mummies are usually preserved in the finest bitumen, and this ancient bitumen has, in the course of centuries, turned the mummies a leathery brown tint. It has been found that when the bitumen and the shreds of mummy are ground down by machinery, a beautiful brown pigment is the result—exactly the tint required for painting certain shades of brown hair.

Sepia is one of the commonest of artists' paints. It is a deep brown in color, and comes from a source equally strange. It is prepared from the black, inky fluid discharged by the cuttlefish to blind and baffle its enemies.

Raw sienna is soil from near Sienna, in Italy. Burnt sienna, another common tint, is simply the same earth burnt.

The majority of pigments for making colors—that is, the dry powder—are obtained from minerals, but many pigments come from the animal kingdom. Cochineal, for example, comes from the dried bodies of insects. A kind of pitch is also used for certain pigments.

WORK AMONG IMMIGRANTS

Episcopal Church Takes Big Step in Mission Field.

New York, Oct. 16.—The house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church, in triennial general convention here, voted today to hold the next general convention at St. Louis in 1916. The decision must be ratified by the house of bishops. Indications were that this would be done. St. Louis was selected unanimously after it had been recommended by the committee having the matter in charge. The convention will open on the second Wednesday in October.

The house of deputies decided today that the church should extend its missionary work hereafter to immigrants and their children. Several of the leaders characterized this action as the greatest advance the church had ever made toward a broad realization of its mission.

Amend Prayer Book.

The ritual murder trial at Kiev, Russia, was condemned in a resolution adopted by the house of deputies. The Episcopalians also took steps to amend their prayer book by eliminating the passage in the Good Friday collect, where Jews are classed with "infidels, Turks and heretics."

In presenting the resolution regarding the Kiev trial, Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, said:

"Jews in this city are deeply moved by this matter. Jewish brethren have asked me to bring before this convention a protest, voicing the sentiments contained in a petition signed in England by the archbishop of Canterbury and by many bishops, clergy and laymen of the church."

Resolution of Protest.

The resolution said:

"We call upon the archbishops, bishops and other members of the holy orthodox Eastern church of Russia to make formal pronouncement that charges of so-called 'ritual murders' are without foundation or justification in the teachings and practice of the religion of Israel.

"We remind them that in the early days of Christianity similar charges were made by ignorance and superstition against our own most holy religion."

The committee on prayerbook of the house of deputies reported favorably on a petition to amend the collect in the Good Friday service by omitting the words "all Jews, infidels, Turks and heretics" from the general prayer for humanity. Consideration of the committee's report was postponed, however, to permit discussion regarding further amendment which proposed that this prayer be offered for "the ancient Jews and all atheists."

The social service commission met with Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts in the chair, and discussed "cooperation with secular agencies" and "education for social service."

Tribute to Tuttle.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—The movement to bring the next triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church to St. Louis was launched by friends of Bishop Daniel Sylvester Tuttle of the diocese of Missouri, who is the presiding bishop of the church. The holding of the next convention here was suggested as a fitting tribute to the bishop, who three years hence will celebrate his golden jubilee in the Episcopate.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty-Seekers

W. C. D. says: "My face is freckled the year round; nothing I try seems to help much. Is there anything that will really take off these horrid spots?" Have you tried the treatment recommended to Minnie L.? I've known this to remove very obstinate freckles.

Ellen B. asks: "What should I do for deep lines under my eyes and across my forehead?" Such lines, and all wrinkles, are best obliterated by bathing affected portions in a good astringent and tonic lotion, which strengthens and draws in the relaxed tissue. Here's a reliable formula: 1 oz. powdered saxolite, ½ pt. witch hazel; mix and use daily until entirely relieved.

Minnie L.: The undue redness as well as the pimples, may easily be removed by using ordinary mercolized wax. Apply nightly like cold cream and erase mornings with warm water. Soon you'll have a beautifully white, clear, soft and velvety complexion. Mercolized wax, sold by all druggists, is better than cosmetics for any complexion trouble. One ounce suffices for most conditions. Woman's Realm. Adv.

WILL CHECK UP BARBERS

Health Inspector Wants Clean Towel for Every Customer.

Sterilized Razors, Undefiled "Needles," and Healthy Barbers.

A healthy barber to work on you whenever you get into a chair.

These are among the provisions of the ordinance which is proposed by Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, to insure sanitary barber shops in Duluth. The rough draft has been practically completed and when it has been rounded into shape it will be submitted at an early meeting of the city commission.

Dr. Webster has been considering the barbershop as it pertains to public health for some time past. He has conducted a quiet investigation of the tonsorial art and the various features pertaining to it and he has reached the conclusion that such a measure would do much to improve conditions. The health director states that Duluth has some excellent shops but that it also has some which are very much in need of improvement.

The doctor points out that eminent authorities have made analyses of the various tools of the craft and have found them to be pregnant disease spreaders. For instance, he points out that the tips of the alum sticks which are used to stop bleeding have been discovered to contain the bacteria of numerous various contagious diseases. He suggests that the powdered product, though perhaps not quite as efficient or convenient, would serve the same purpose and have the advantage of being sanitary.

In many shops he says that the same towel is made to do service for many patrons who have their faces smoothed. In many instances he states that the razors are merely wiped on a piece of paper before they are used on the next comer. He maintains that they should be sterilized, either by holding the blades in boiling water for several minutes or by placing them in a sterilizer, heated to 140 deg. or more, for half an hour or thereabouts. He asserts that this could easily be done as every barber has, or should have, a number of razors. He also declares that it is important that the barber himself should be able to show a certificate of good health not more than a month old.

THE EVIL FLY.

Chicago Journal: The true cussedness of the fly seldom shows forth till about this time in the fall. He is more numerous now than before, and seems many time a greater nuisance.

He haunts doors and windows, watching for a chance to slip inside. He promenades over your face while you are trying to get a beauty sleep in the morning. He comes from garbage can and stable to walk over every uncovered bit of food, and he seems to take a fiendish pleasure in drowning himself in the milk pitcher.

The Chinaman who hates you bad enough will kill himself on your doorstep, so that his ghost may haunt you. The fly loads himself with typhoid germs and plunges to a milky grave that he may start an inflammation in your Peyer's patches.

Fly swatting now is necessary, but palliative. The buzzing pest is too well grown to be destroyed. All that can be done is to hold him in check, starve him by covering all garbage and stable litter, catch and kill him when possible—and resolve to make a more effective campaign against this murderer of babies next spring.

STOMACH PUMP MISSING.

New York Sun: There is only one stomach pump in the village of Brownsville, Minn., and James P. Colleran, feeling ill, had taken a dose of medicine that he supposed was the kind that he needed for his ailment. Instead it was a very powerful horse medicine containing a quantity of poison.

Colleran was soon doubled up with pain, and a hurry call was sent out for Dr. Francis Duffy. When the physician arrived and ascertained the trouble he dispatched a messenger to his office for a stomach pump. The messenger returned saying that the pump could not be found. The doctor rushed back to his office and found the report correct.

Then it was learned that the small son of the doctor had taken the pump to pump out his launch. A hunt was made for the 10-year-old, and along a nearby stream he was found with the pump applied and rapidly emptying the launch of a lot of surplus rain water. Much to his disgust the pump was wrenched from him and rushed to the bedside of Colleran. After working over him for two hours Dr. Duffy got the stricken man out of danger. As soon as he felt comfortable again he agreed to buy Jimmy another kind of a pump so as to not have the stomach apparatus working overtime.

Recently on one of the Indian reservations it was found that a native had swallowed half a bottle of horse liniment because of "the pain inside." When the stomach pump was applied he grimly said: "Get all so put all back in bottle."

TEACHES FRENCH AND GERMAN TO AMERICAN OPERA SINGERS

Miss Bertha Firgau has a unique mission in the world of music. She teaches languages.

To some minds it may not be clear how a teacher of languages could have an influence on the production of music in its best form but those who know music will understand when it is stated that Miss Firgau teaches German and French to opera singers. In the controversy now raging in musical circles in New York over the use of English text in operatic productions the point has been made by eminent critics that correct tone values are impossible unless the words to be sung are conformed to the music. Richard Wagner wrote his own words as well as the music of his operas and he even created words to give the best expression to his musical thought. Incorrect pronunciation of German words in German opera obscures half the musical value.

For this reason Miss Firgau has taken to coaching opera singers in the foreign languages. Last season she coached Miss Lila Robeson, who joined the Metropolitan Opera company and made a distinct success as the grandmother in Koenigskinder and in other German roles through the clearness of her dictation. Lillian Eubank also passed through Miss Firgau's finishing hands before she joined the Metropolitan company. Robert Henry Perkins, who is an American baritone, studied German texts and diction with Miss Firgau, and his knowledge of them enabled him to take a prominent place in the Court theater at Darmstadt, where he is now singing. Miss Firgau sees a great future for American voices, and she says she finds American students who possesses not only natural ability but who are earnestly ambitions. Miss Firgau naturally does not believe that a proper interpretation of German opera can be had in an English translation. Miss Firgau came to this country from London twelve years ago. She is a native of Hamburg, which is one of the foremost musical cities of Germany.

A WOMAN'S NIGHT IN A CELL

Sympathy for Other Unfortunates Was Her Dominant Emotion.

Anita Ainslee in the Chicago Tribune: With a grating sound the barred door swung to. The matron turned the key in the lock. Her step echoed down the corridor. I was locked in jail.

It wasn't a joke now. It was no longer a matter of keeping my face straight while I told my story. I was locked in, and there I would have to stay until morning.

Something like a panic seized me. The clang of the door had chilled me. The next time it clanged—who might be pushed in to keep me company? What creature would join me? One like the ragged, tousled, drink sodden old woman who had leered at me from behind the bars as I answered the matron's questions?

Then it had seemed a comedy. "Name" "Age?" "Address?" "Nationality?" "Occupation?" "Charge?"

"202," the officer had said with the slightest wink of his eye toward me. He was the only one who knew it was a fake arrest.

The Matron Didn't Know.

"Fighting?" asked the matron, looking at me disapprovingly, but kindly, over the top of her glasses. "You don't look like that. Have you ever been brought in before?"

"We won't book her," said the officer, "until morning."

"Any valuables?" asked the matron, and quickly ran her hands over me to see if I had weapons or "dope."

And then she led me to the cell nearest her desk.

"It'll be all right," said the officer encouragingly, and laughed.

"Yes," she repeated, not knowing that his words were meant to cheer an innocent person. "Since it's your first offense you'll probably be let off with a warning."

And then they were both gone. I peered around the cell. It was large—much larger than I had expected. And clean! For that I could have wept. I was so thankful. I hadn't expected it.

I sat on a hard wooden shelf six feet long and a little less than two feet wide. Opposite me was a similar bench. And that was all there was in the cell. I found a nail on which I could hang my hat. And then I sat down.

From the cell next mine came the low confidential talk of two negresses who had been there all day, I afterward learned. One had been fighting and her "ole man" had run her in.

Now there was no quiet, no sign of peace. Two officers led in a fat woman who was blubbering as if her heart would break. She could not answer the questions for sobs which racked her from head to foot. As she stood in the light of the matron's desk I looked at her sharply. Shoddy clothes, run-down shoes, untidy hair. But in her hand she clutched a hat which would have aroused envy even in a leading woman. It was as smart, as chic, as adorable as any illustration from a French fashion paper.

And I marveled at the incongruity of the mind which spends a comparative fortune on a hat, while the rest of the wardrobe is scarcely fit for the ragman.

And then an officer brought in a hard-faced, thin-lipped girl, very neatly and becomingly dressed.

"Irma Mueller, 20, German," she answered the formal questions indifferently.

"2018?" asked the matron. The officer nodded. 2018 is the number of the law against soliciting.

They put her in the cell next mine, where there was already a young girl who was sobbing softly.

"Say," demanded Irma Mueller of her cellmate, "I'm not crying, am I? Shut up and do like me."

"The benches are so hard," sobbed the girl.

"What d'ye expect? Upholstered divans and springs and sofa cushions? Don't blame me. I don't furnish this place."

"Will you get out tonight?" asked the girl.

I lay quiet while the two young magdalens talked of such terrible things that even in the darkness of my cell I hid my face.

Groans, Screams and Abuse.

I lay on my bench and counted the bars on the door—six up and down, seven across—and one side fine wired. There would be a lull, so intense, so strained, that the ticking of the clock over the matron's desk sounded like a sledge hammer.

And then some one would groan or scream, and a woman on the other corridor would shriek "May-trun! May-trun!"

The matron, kindly faced, solicitous, would go to her to have the woman say: "What's de time, you old—" Or again, "Bring me a drink." Or sometimes merely be subjected to abuse.

Now and then there would be a shriek from the "coke" fiend in the first cell where the chair was.

"Quiet!" the matron would command. "Keep still in there," and again the ticking of the clock.

Seven bars across—six up and down.

After immeasurable spaces of time it was morning. A crepuscular morning so like night that the eye might easily have been deceived but for the faint stirring through the jail—the added noises which crept up through the halls and corridors from the street—the sense of quickening.

We were led out, all of us, to wash at the sink at the end of the corridor. I plunged my face eagerly into my water filled hands. The words which had filled the jail during the night seemed almost material. I longed to wash away the pollution.

How Bright It Was Outside.

At 8:30 we were marshaled out. At the door of the matron's room stood the officer. He called me inside and the rest of the women passed on.

"Well, now," he said with a indulgent smile, as one looks at poor, half-witted people or children, "did ye have a good time?"

A shudder of revulsion ran over me. Pent up speech, horror of the things I had heard, shame at the sister women I had seen trembled on my lips. And then I braced up.

"Sure," I answered him steadily. "I guess I'll go get a nap now. These benches aren't eiderdown quilts." And with a quavering laugh I went out into the sunshine.

How bright it was! How clean! How sweet and grateful the pure air was after a chloride of lime, the carbonized atmoshphere of the jail. How glad I was that I was free! Free to walk away quickly from all the vice and violence and sin.

And it had been only twelve hours! I could go home now at once and get away from it.

The sun was blinding in its brightness. A wave of sympathy and tenderness for all the wicked and wretched people in the world came over me.

I looked in my pocketbook to see if I had money enough for Irma Mueller's fine and turned my steps toward the morals court.

BUT NOT IN SUFFRAGETTE CIRCLES.

New York Tribune: While purchasing the little sausage of which we are so fond we noticed the departure of Mrs. Peter McCabe and the arrival of our friends Totty and Toodlums. Said Toodlums: "Who's that went out?"

"Janitor's wife," said Totty.

But Toodlums was not satisfied, so asked: "What's a wife?"

At this Totty scowled at Toodlums and replied in the loud tones one commonly employs in making English intelligible to a foreigner: "Toodlums, a wife is a woman that does a man's washing and cooks his dinner. Now, I want you to remember that, for I ain't a-going to tell you again!"

SONG NAMES OF THE STATES.

London Chronicle: The most beautiful place-names in the world, according to Robert Louis Stevenson, are those of North America. "The names of the states and territories," he declares in "Across the Plains," form themselves into a chorus of sweet and romantic vocables: Delaware, Ohio, Indiana, Florida, Dakota, Iowa, Wyoming, Minnesota and the Carolinas. There are few poems with a nobler music to the ear; a songful, tuneful land; and if a new Homer shall arise from the Western continent, his verse will be enriched, his pages sing spontaneously, with the names of states and cities that would strike the fancy in a business circular."

DULUTH WOMEN SAVE MUCH MONEY

Instead of so much meat a great many Duluth housekeepers are now serving "Minnesota" Macaroni twice a week. They say the men folks are not only glad to see them save the meat money, but like the delicious nut-like flavor of "Minnesota" Macaroni much better than meat.

To those who do not know what a big difference there is in macaroni as sold at the stores, the rich, delicious, flavor of "Minnesota" Macaroni will be a revelation. It is four times as nutritious as beefsteak, is much easier to digest and costs only about one cent a dish.

Try the handy "Minnesota" Cut Macaroni, which is cut into uniform pieces—it cooks more evenly and is quicker to prepare. Adv.

With the approach of fall and winter, many people who otherwise are quite sensible begin to get panic-stricken about fresh air. They become obsessed with the idea that cold air, in winter, should be shut from the house, and not be allowed to enter in the slightest degree. Of nights, they proceed to close the windows and pile on the covers for fear a breath of air will strike them. In so doing, of course, they lay themselves liable to colds, pneumonia and other ills that flesh is heir to in the winter season, if one does not use judgment and common sense.

Fresh air is as important in the winter as at other seasons. There is no reason why, with the approach of the chilly nights of autumn, the windows of sleeping rooms should be closed. On the contrary, they should be left open just the same as throughout the summer; and when it gets uncomfortably cold, it is easy enough to provide more covers.

Overheated, illy-ventilated houses are the bane of us Americans. We get our homes so oppressively hot that when we step out into the cold air we cannot but take cold. It is wise at the beginning of the winter season to begin to keep the house at a certain temperature, ranging from 68 to 72, and keep it as nearly that as possible all winter.

It is the extremes of heat and cold, passing from one to the other, that cause illness. If one becomes accustomed to a house that is properly heated, he will note a difference in the way he feels, and he will want moderate temperature and fresh air all the time.

THE LARK-O'-THE-LAKE.

The retail merchants' association has not yet decided whether it will favor a continuance of the Lark-o'-the-Lake, which entertained Duluth and its neighbors admirably for six week-ends last summer.

By all means this institution should be made a permanent feature of summer in Duluth. It is good advertising, of a sort Duluth needs because Duluth has not yet begun to make the capital it should out of its splendid summer climate and its year around advantages for work and play.

The Lark-o'-the-Lake fully justified itself this summer, and we are sure it will be a great disappointment to Duluth people and to the people in surrounding towns who come here to help us enjoy it if it is not continued.

In this connection, however, The Herald would renew two suggestions it made when the Lark-o'-the-Lake season closed. These are that the "doings" be on Thursday and Friday instead of Friday and Saturday, with the parades on Friday evenings instead of Saturdays and on First street instead of Superior street.

It was made clear last summer that the plan of holding the parades Saturday evenings, while convenient for many, absolutely shut out of this enjoyment all the thousands who must work Saturday evenings. Friday evening would be as convenient for the others, and it would allow those who work Saturday nights to participate with the rest.

And the parades should be held on First street instead of Superior street because the traffic there is smaller, because there are no street cars to interfere or to be interfered with, and beause there will be more room there both for the parade and for those who witness it.

With these changes, the Lark-o'-the-Lake ought by all means to be repeated next year and the year after that and in the following years. It ought to become as distinctive and widely known as the Mardi Gras of New Orleans, and it ought to be made to put Duluth on the map with new emphasis as the country's summer playground.

That Oklahoma man who hit his wife with a brick when she swallowed a diamond evidently thought he was putting a joker on her high trump.

THE MONEY LENDER AND THE FARMER.

There have been those who made fun of Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world; but if there were more rich money-lenders who followed her policies the financial condition of the country, especially with relation to farm loans, would be much sounder.

Though there are adequate facilities for financing railroad operations, manufacturing, wholesale and retail trade, mining and industrial activities of all kinds, there is no adequate system of financing the basic industry of all—agriculture.

So the farmer has to pay too much for his money, and often he cannot get it at all except at ruinous rates.

Hence the demand for some system of rural credits like that which prevails in Europe.

Hetty Green's policy, as outlined by her son in a New York interview, would go far to solve the problem if it were universally adopted by financiers.

This policy is to charge reasonable rates of interest and to keep in each locality the profits made in that locality.

Mrs. Green, according to her son, never has asked more than six per cent for her money, and often she had lent it for less.

Better still, her fixed plan is to keep available in each locality the surplus produced from earnings in that locality.

Col. Green, in discussing these policies, strongly criticises the action of banks in sending their balance to Wall street to be used for speculative purposes.

"These balances," he says, "represent the net business profit of each particular locality—the very cream off the pan of milk in the cool springhouse—yet the creators of this surplus wealth, the farmers, are starved financially when they apply for loans, because the funds of the community are in Wall Street being used in stock and bond promotions reaching even to China and the Philippines."

Though very rich, Mrs. Green is only a single individual. Few others follow her plan. Most lending machinery is part of a system that drains the nation's surplus for Wall Street uses.

Suppose the great insurance companies, for instance, would adopt her policy. They would leave in Duluth, for use here and in the development of the surrounding country, their surplus earnings gleaned in this section. That would make available for local development a greatly increased sum, and it would facilitate enormously the settlement and cultivation of surrounding acres.

This policy has cost Mrs. Green nothing. It has made her money.

While the nation is considering new schemes of rural credits, with a strong probability that it will be forced to go outside the regular lending agencies and adopt co-operative methods, why do not more of the large money-lenders adopt the Hetty Green plan, at least for a trial?

Mexican officials say the latest Washington note to Huerta was intemperate. Tut, tut! With the secretary of state limiting his libations to grape juice?

NOT A "MUCKRAKING" COMMITTEE.

Charles P. Craig, chairman of the state efficiency commission that has been appointed to plan a reorganization of the state government in the interest of efficiency and economy, says that to his notion criticism and exposure are no parts of the committee's province, and that instead of devoting time and energy in finding fault with existing conditions it is the committee's full duty to propose better conditions.

That's exactly the right idea.

It is not necessary to assign blame to any one for the wastefulness and needless complexity of the present system. Even if wanton waste or graft should be uncovered, the commission is no grand jury or legislative probing committee, but a constructive body to which has been delegated unofficially the great task of suggesting a simpler, better and cheaper plan of handling the state's business.

There is nothing the state stands in greater need of than this. It is profitless to waste time in criticism. The present clumsy and inefficient and too costly system is a thing of growth, and the inevitable result of growth without planning.

So the commission will be wise if it takes Mr. Craig's view that its time will be wasted if it tries to indict anybody for any evils it may discover. Its function is to correct them, or to propose corrections, not to criticize or to blame.

Now that a Zulu prince has denounced football as "too rough," our college athletes may feel justified in looking upon the game as part of the white man's burden.

THIS IS A BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT.

Nelson W. Aldrich—whom you may remember as a former senator from Rhode Island who took shelter in retirement from the brooding storm of popular revolt—doesn't like the administration banking and currency bill.

Now this is a grievous and disheartening disappointment. Here the whole people, congress and the president have been laboring with might and main to get up a bill that would please Aldrich, and now he doesn't like it when it is done!

But then the whole country condemned the currency bill Mr. Aldrich made,—which was a much more "socialistic" bill than this except that the big bankers were to operate the system it provided instead of the people through government,—so it only makes it even for him to condemn the bill the whole people made by their wisdom in picking an administration and in making plain their demand for government by and for the people.

Now those timid souls who feared there would be no gubernatorial campaign can once more sleep in peace.

HONESTY IN SPORT.

We note with some surprise the fact that there are people who are astonished that the world's series wasn't prolonged to extract the utmost dollar of profit out of it.

There were five games. There might have been two more if the "Gi'nts" had won the fifth from the "Athaletics." Two more games would have meant at least a hundred thousand dollars more in receipts to be divided, and as the seventh game would have played off a three-to-three tie, the fences would probably have caved outward with the final crowd.

But there were only five games because it took only five games for the Philadelphia players to get the four games necessary to decide.

But why should anybody be astonished because the world series was so manifestly "on the square?" Except for an occasional scandal about tickets, which baseball managers should lean backward to avoid, there is nothing in this country that is squarer than baseball.

And we like to believe that this is not because of the difficulty of hippodroming a baseball game, but because of the spirit of the game.

Fighting and wrestling can be and are hippodromed for commercial purposes. Baseball, which is essentially a commercial proposition in its organization, is NOT hippodromed. If it ever should be, of course the day it happened would be the day that began its sudden decline and fall. It would share the fate of foot-racing and other sports that have gone crooked.

But there is little fear of that fate for baseball.

Some Scotch suffragists threw apples at the head of a judge who sentenced two of their companions to prison. Those women are surely getting desperate.

HOME SURROUNDINGS AND THE CHILD.

For the edification of those opponents of the Duluth housing ordinance who appear more thoughtful about profits than about human health and well being, we should like to quote some interesting figures from the report of investigations made in England of the results of human living conditions on physical welfare.

These figures seem to show that children are larger and stronger and healthier in the so-called "garden cities," which are a variation of the Duluth Homecroft idea, than in the industrial centers.

They also show a decided relationship between the size of the home and the size of the children.

A study of the school children of Glasgow is particularly interesting. It gives average measurements of children living in homes of one, two, three and four rooms, and without exception it shows a gain in height and weight for every added room. Here is the table:

	1-Room Homes.	2-Room Homes.	3-Room Homes.	4-Room Homes.
Total number of children	5,922	43,190	17,648	7,188
Percentage in each group	8.1	57.8	24.2	9.89
Av. height, inches—
Boys	46.6	48.1	50.0	51.3
Girls	46.3	47.8	49.5	51.6
Av. weight, lbs—
Boys	52.6	56.1	60.6	64.3
Girls	51.5	54.8	59.4	65.5

There should be nothing surprising in this. There will be nothing surprising in it to anybody who has ever had a garden.

If you crowd plants and withhold light and air, they dwindle and fade.

If you give plants ample room and good soil and plenty of light and air, they flourish.

Why should anybody be surprised to find that the same thing is true of children?

And, this being true of children, why should anybody oppose laws intended to insure for every child the fair privilege of growth under proper conditions that every gardener concedes to his plants?

WHEN THE SHOE OF ECONOMY PINCHES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With Mr. Hicken as the instigator, Chief Randall the tool and the commission the means, a blundering mistake has been made, whereby the fire department has been crippled, and an engine costing $4,500 has been made useless.

Of course, we in West Duluth are not entitled to even a sham of respect as regards our wishes, and why should we? We are the tail end and are never thought of only when we can be made use of. We never have had any brains in this neck of the woods, have no right to think for ourselves, but must follow the dictations of the vast superior minds of the East end and Lakeside.

Mr. Hicken and the commissioners, why is it that you have gone to the extreme end of the city to weaken the fire-fighting force? Why did you not do so in the central portion where there is an opportunity to do so, or even have gone to your home district? But of course it would be a shame for such numbskulls as we are to think that the silk stocking district should be robbed of its fire department.

Must you raise more money to hire stool pigeons? Have you so injured the revenue of the city by your methods, of the employment of useless help, paying fat salaries, and the other foolish things that you have been doing, that you must weaken our department. Get wise, my dear sirs, and use those $4,000 brains. P. G. PHILLIPS.

Duluth, Oct. 15.

WHO PAYS COST OF TRADING STAMPS?

To the Editor of The Herald:

I want to call attention to just one feature of this frequently exploded theory that trading stamps can benefit any person but the sellers of trading stamps. Just ask yourself the question, "who pays the freight?" These stamps are sold by very smooth talking, energetic young men, immaculately clothed in the latest style. They look like men who would draw salaries of from $5,000 to $10,000 a year. That overhead expense must be borne by somebody. Then there is the money paid out by the merchants in premiums, whether these be cash or refrigerators or vacuum cleaners. Somebody pays for that. Who is it? There can be only one answer. The consumer pays ultimately, perhaps with some assistance from the merchant. It can have but one result—to add to the high cost of living. A MERCHANT.

Duluth, Oct. 15.

The Wife of a "Littlelander"

Forbes Lindsay in Lippincott's Magazine.

"Happy? Oh, yes, and perfectly contented."

I looked into the bright, fresh face, framed in a homely sunbonnet, and wondered how many of her sisters in the city would be contented as mistresses of a one-acre farm and a $200-cottage. Perhaps she divined something of my thought, for there was just a little touch of defiance in her voice when she spoke again.

"We don't own much, to be sure, but we are independent. And how much better off than thousands in the great cities, struggling to make both ends meet—yes, and as likely as not spending more than they can afford, merely to keep up appearances."

"And you?"

"We don't have to pretend to be anything but what we are, and don't want to. No man has any claim against us. We own our farm outright—"

"It is wonderful," I said at length, "simply wonderful that you can make a living out of a mere dot of land like this."

"So many strangers say that," she answered, with a laugh in which I detected a note of pleasurable pride. "But there is no great secret in it. Every square inch of soil is made to produce as much as it can. It is tilled and fertilized with just as much care as the rich man's gardener gives to his hothouse plants. My father has a 1,600-acre farm back in Vermont. One-half of it isn't turned to any account worth mentioning, and the other half doesn't yield one-tenth of what it would if it was handled in the way we handle our land. Why, one acre on that farm isn't of any account at all."

"Yes, and nothing is wasted. That's another great point. I suppose you don't know that dish-water is a fertilizer. Well, it is, and every drop of mine goes onto the ground where it will do some good. Then when it comes to marketing, we don't need to waste a handful. Say we have a dollar's worth of odd truck on hand that it wouldn't pay to send to San Diego by itself. Our community wagon comes along and picks it up. It is put with other small lots of our neighbors', and perhaps a carload is made up that way."

"But if you can get such marvellous results from one acre, why not have more—say, five or ten acres?" I innocently inquired.

"I expected that," she said, with a laugh that had a touch of derision in it. "Everybody who comes here asks that question. We had the same idea when we arrived. My husband talked of buying ten acres. The manager said to him, 'Mr. Harvey, we want to sell our land, but, more than that, we want to see it properly worked. Now, you can't handle more than one acre, to get all there is out of it—no man can. Try a single acre, and if you ever satisfy yourself that you are making it yield to the utmost possibility—why, I'll give you five more!'"

Nagging vs. Drink

San Antonio Light: A debate has been set in motion by members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in New Jersey which bids fair to prove as difficult of arbitration as that ancient query, "Which came first, the hen or the egg?"

The trouble started at a county convention of that organization, whose officials had invited the county probation officer, a talented lawyer, to be present and address them on the causes of drunkenness as he had uncovered them in the course of his routine duties of caring for dipsomaniacs and endeavoring to learn the causes of their downfall. The lawyer took his invitation seriously and answered the question frankly, whereupon he uncovered a rare hornets' nest, for in the course of his address he declared that a considerable number of men took to drink because their wives made their domestic life unbearable—largely by "nagging." And right at this point the convention ceased to be calmly deliberative. "It's my view that drinking husbands drive their wives to desperation and finally to nagging," shouted one delegate vehemently, and the storm of applause that followed this declaration put the probation officer permanently in the background and convinced him that he had made a great mistake.

This mistake lay not in his statistics—he had facts for these, he claims—but in his presenting them to that particular audience, which did not want to hear them and was unwilling to accept them. Certain members of the W. C. T. U. and certain workers for total abstinence outside the ranks of that organization, are congenitally unable to see that there is any evil that does not have drink as its basis. For excessive drinking there can be neither excuse nor adequate cause. To be told not only that some men have an excuse for drinking but that nagging women are the cause is unbearable, and the speaker who said it was overcome by tumult.

There is no sign that the debate will be settled, as there is no adequate tribune to arbitrate it. As a result of this New Jersey incident there will be a certain number of unthinking people who will maintain that most nagging wives have been made so by intemperate husbands, and a certain number more, equally unthinking, who will argue that most intemperate husbands are made so by nagging wives. Both will probably have some right on their side.

It is hard to think of anything more liable to make a woman "nag" than continued intemperance; on the other hand, a "nagging" wife would drive most any husband to drink.

Cannibalistic.

Chicago Record-Herald: Two suffragettes, on a tramp for the cause, were footing it along the dusty road in the hot sun.

"I'm just about baked," exclaimed one.

"Thank goodness!" said the other quickly; "for I am almost starved."

Peeping O'er the Veil

By Savoyard.

Washington, Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Take down your Gibbon and let him tell you the tales of Caligula and Nero, of Dimitian and Comodus, and what do you say? These were unspeakable monsters; it was an age pagan. And what shall be said of our own Christian era, 2,000 years hence, when it is narrated that within a stone's throw of plutocrats worth $100,000,000 each there were hungry women and children, helpless for the day, hopeless of the morrow? Only yesterday we read of the suicide of a poor woman in New York who, contemplating starvation, preferred death to a life of shame. Only a while ago when a Belshazzar feast at $50 a plate was in hilarity in Fifth avenue a good woman starved to death within a pistol shot of that festive board!

And today, here is about the livest passage in profane letters:

"See yonder poor, o'erlabor'd wight,
So abject, mean, and vile,
Who begs a brother of the earth
To give him leave to toil;
And see his lordly fellow-worm
The poor petition spurn,
Unmindful though a weeping wife
And helpless offspring mourn."

Is there retribution? Nay, but J. Pierpont Morgan died of starvation! Lazarus found refuge on Abraham's bosom, and it is writ:

"And the Lord said unto Cain, Where is Abel, thy brother? And he said, I know not. Am I my brother's keeper?"

• • •

And this from Victor Hugo: "It is a disgrace to heaven's azure that there is one unfortunate man in the world!" If the awful interrogatory that came to Cain were addressed to us of this life, twenty centuries after Calvary, it would find more responses that Cain gave than could have been extorted from the Rome of Caligula or Nero, for we are more numerous than they, and while not so cruel, we are just as selfish.

How many poor miserables, able to work, capable of work, anxious to work, with work ready for them, are refused work in every center in our big land!

And we are Christians!

In the Sixteenth century, when in the name of Christ heroes, Catholic and Protestant, were flying at each other's throats, a very powerful man, with titles to enumerate which would fill this column, pious as the then church would have him be, repeated this the "Pater-Noster" of the then constable of France, at that time second to Spain alone as a world power:

"Our Father, who art in heaven"—Go catch me such a one!—"hallowed be Thy name"—Hang that fellow to that tree!—"Thy kingdom come"—Run that other one through with a pike!—"Thy will be done"—Shoot those rascals there in front of us!—"upon earth as it is in heaven"—Cut in pieces those marauders for me, who tried to help this town against the king!—"Give us this day our daily bread"—Burn me this village!—"Forgive us our sins as we forgive those who have trespassed against us"—Set fire to every corner, and let not a house escape!—"and lead us not into temptation"—If the villains cry out, throw them into the fire!—"but deliver us from evil. Amen!"

• • •

Thus Anne de Montmorency, constable of France, construed the Lord's prayer with interpolations directory to his ruffian guards as to how they should harry the helpless of the opposing party. There is no doubt that this man believed himself a pious Christian, "a soldier of the cross," doing God service while he was butchering God's children.

That was the age of the aristocracy of birth, when kings ruled by divine right and were the Lord's anointed. There was a magnificence about it. It made a man proud to reflect that a grandsire of remote generation did bravely his devoir at Hastings or Flodden, at Poictiers or Agincourt. There was a sense of noblesse oblige.

• • •

But ours is the age of wealth. Money stands today for what the sword stood for during the "War of the Roses" when Plantagenet was king of England, and later, during the "Religious Wars" of the continent, when Valois was king of France. In former ages he was the aristocrat who girded on his armor and gathered to his standard by promises of plunder and rapine the stoutest men-at-arms. Now the lion's skin is discarded for the pelt of the fox.

He is become the aristocrat that can swell his millions by a stroke of the pen that issues "watered" stocks, or he gathers gear by the enhancement of values due to the unearned increment. The one is the criminal counterfeiter; the other the sluggard parasite. They are getting after these gentry over in England by means of taxes on wealth—income taxes, inheritance taxes, taxes on land values, and so on. We are beginning it here.

• • •

I am not advocating it. I merely predict. And it is this: The American was a voter at the beginning of this century who will live to see the Henry George idea of land taxes adopted by every state of the Union and by the Federal establishment.

And then a time will come, the present century, when the aristocrat will not be the strong man, nor the rich man, nor the wise man, but the good man. Vide the second chapter of Isaiah and mark the passage: "Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim."

Let Wheat Be Free.

Toronto Star: If we admit wheat, flour, and other products of wheat into Canada free of duty, our wheat and flour will be admitted into the United States free of duty. If not, there will be a duty of 10 per cent on wheat, and 45 cents a barrel on flour.

The American duty on wheat is reduced unconditionally from 25 cents to about 10 cents a bushel; but we can have it admitted free if we please.

Surely we ought to avail ourselves of this offer. The opening of the American market would be an immense boon to our Western farmers. Canada is a wheat exporting country, and the duty is of little or no value, to, our farmers. If we are sincerely desirous to promote the unity of Canada we must show the people of the West that we in the East are mindful of their interests as well as of our own.

Young America's Retort.

Lippincott's: An English girl while visiting friends in Boston had become very friendly with a society belle there, and was invited to her home to tea one afternoon.

They conversed on general topics for a time, then the conversation took a more personal turn.

"You American girls have not such healthy complexions as we have," said the English beauty. "I cannot understand why our noblemen take a fancy to your white faces."

"It isn't our white faces that attract them, my dear," said the heiress. "It's our greenbacks."

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Wants a Real One.

Menagha Journal: The writer believes that Alva Eastman could be elected congressman from this district against Lindbergh or any other traitor to the party he misrepresents, but will Mr. Eastman make the race? It is time that some true blue Republican threw his hat in the ring.

Mighty Good Man.

Sandstone Tribune: We're not going to knock the new Democratic tariff until we know that it deserves it. If the tariff that President Wilson has given us with the benediction "it is the best that I could do" should not prove as good as the one that President Taft defended as "the best that the country ever had" we will be willing to roast the Democrats for their lack of ability at tariff tinkering and state craft. Time will tell. In the meantime President Wilson seems to be a mighty good man to have on the job.

Frank Day Relieved.

Albert Lea Standard: President Wilson has appointed Prof. Arthur Yager, a college friend of Kentucky, governor of Porto Rico. President Wilson seems to be especially inclined to favor his college acquaintances in his appointments, and this is no doubt an admirable choice.

Frank A. Day, who had been strongly indorsed for the position by the most potential Democrats of this state, hosts of others heartily favoring it, was not an active candidate, did not seek the position and, in reality, did not want it, preferring his home life and work in Fairmont, feeling that to accept it would be a sacrifice, but that if it was offered he could not fairly refuse it, and thus the outcome is a relief to him and he is satisfied that the matter is thus disposed of.

Asks Their View of Him.

Sauk Center Herald: Jim Manahan's unsuppressible Democracy got the best of him when the conference report on the Underwood tariff bill came back and he swallowed it, hook, line and sinker, and voted for it, he being the only "Republican" so voting. He stated that he was "particularly well pleased with the rates on wheat and flour." As both these articles were placed on the free list the Herald wonders how the Red River valley wheat makers, who were scared into a blue funk at the idea of Canadian reciprocity, regard their representative.

Masterful as President.

Montevideo Leader: Mr. Wilson has been president but little more than half a year, but he has been on the job all the time and has accomplished things. Even his political enemies agree that he has been capable and efficient and has been a masterful president so far. He hasn't been playing to the galleries, nor into the hands of the interests and monopolists and Wall Street does not own him and cannot control him. He comes as near being president of all the people all the time as any man who has yet filled that difficult and responsible position, and we believe he will continue to fill it with ability and integrity to the end.

Can Nominate Victor Johnson.

Anoka Union: The outside counties in the new Tenth congressional district has fully as large population as the portion of Hennepin county contains. Now's the chance for the outside counties to secure a congressman.

Smile, Confound You, Smile!

Redwood Gazette: Unless there is a radical change in the Constitution of Minnesota, not all the candidates for the 1914 governorship can succeed. We sincerely hope, however, that the disappointment will not cause the development of so many ingrown dispositions as did the 1912 election.

The Oldest Living Person.

Christian Herald: Probably the oldest person now living is Gertrude Alto, whose home is at Old Town, San Diego, Cal. She is of Mexican Aztec Indian blood, and is believed to be in her 124th year of age. She saw the morning dawn, the noonday brightness and the waning twilight and afterglow of her own generation, and now stands as its lone surviving representative a full generation after its sunset. She is hale and hearty and has a real relish for her food. Through her granddaughter as interpreter she declares she never saw a sick day in all her long life. She is still able to easily walk about her immediate neighborhood when aided by some one to lead her, as she is nearly blind. In her earlier years it was her delight to go five miles up the valley on foot to the old San Diego mission for the service at 6:30 in the morning. She attributes her great age and strength to her lifelong regular habits and outdoor life.

Hardly.

Boston Transcript: "What would you do if you had a million dollars?"

"Leave it to my wife."

"But you haven't any wife."

"True, but I could hardly escape if I had a million."

Fight It Out.

Does Destruction seem to lurk
All about?
Don't believe it! Go to work!
Fight it out!
Danger often turns and files
From a steady pair of eyes;
Ruin always camps apart
From an undefeated heart.
In the spirit there is much—
Do not doubt—
That the world can never touch—
Fight it out!

Do the portals of your brain
Freedom lack?
Never let them thus remain—
Push them back!
Do not give the efforts o'er,
If they number half a score;
When a hundred of them fail,
Then a thousand might prevail.
Germs beneath a clod must lie,
Ere they sprout;
You may blossom, by-and-by—
Fight it out!

Have your foemen come to stay?
Never flinch;
Make them win their little way,
Inch by inch!
Scan them well, and fight them fair,
Give them honest blows to spare;
There are meaner things possessed
Than a first-class second-best.
Time may come when you have turned to a rout
Every triumph they have earned—
Fight it out!

All the lessons of the time
Teach us fair,
'Tis a blunder and a crime
To despair!
When we suffer, 'tis to bless
Other moments with success;
From our losses we may trace
Something better in their place
Everything in earth and sky
Seems to shout
"Don't give up until you die—
Fight it out!"

—Will Carleton.

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1893.

•••The militia boys have returned from Chicago well pleased with their trip and the treatment they received. The only unfortunate incident of the journey was the loss of $80 in gold by Lieut. Viers of Company H, through the clever work of a pickpocket.

•••E. W. McCormick has moved from West Duluth to Virginia on the Mesaba range, where he has established a coal business.

•••The Horseshoe club of West Duluth has arranged a series of dances for the coming winter. The officers of the club are: Theodore Schultz, president; Emil Zauft, vice president; Harry George, treasurer; H. B. Wallace, secretary.

•••O. S. Walker, who lives on Garfield avenue, was badly wounded near Cloquet two days ago by the discharge of a gun. The charge entered both of his legs below the knees. He crawled through the woods two miles to a settler's house, and from there was brought to Duluth. His left leg was amputated below the knee and he may lose the other.

•••Rev. James M. Thoburn, late of Oil City, Pa., has taken up his duties as pastor of the First M. E. church of Duluth and delivered his first sermon yesterday morning. He is a spirited speaker and tells plain truths as naturally and easily as most people gloss them over.

•••Prof. L. M. Christol, the wrestler and all around athlete, who arrived here a short time ago, has decided to remain in Duluth and will organize a gymnasium class.

•••Yesterday was a red letter day in the First Unitarian church of Duluth. In the morning Rev. F. C. Southworth, the regular pastor, occupied the pulpit, and in the evening the little church was dedicated, the sermon being delivered by Rev. S. M. Crothers of St. Paul.

•••John Prossor, while hunting about four miles beyond Lester Park yesterday, killed a mammoth female timber wolf. The ferocious creature was chasing a deer.

•••County Treasurer E. J. Crossett has returned from the World's fair.

•••E. P. Towne, H. T. Abbott and R. S. Mahon have returned from a hunting trip north of Ely. Mr. Mahon met with a painful accident. His gun was accidentally discharged while he was removing it from a canoe, and the charge entered his right arm, mangling the flesh badly.

The Soldier's Creed.

"Captain, what do you think," I asked,
"Of the part your soldiers play?"
But the captain answered, "I do not think;
"I do not think, I obey!"

"Do you think you should shoot a patriot down,
"Or help a tyrant slay?"
But the captain answered, "I do not think;
"I do not think, I obey!"

"Do you think your conscience was made to die,
"And your brain to rot away?"
But the captain answered, "I do not think;
"I do not think, I obey!"

"Then if this is your soldier's creed,"
I cried,
"You're a mean unmanly crew;
"And for all your feathers and gilt and braid,
"I am more of a man than you!

"For whatever my place in life may be,
"And whether I swim or sink,
"I can say with pride, 'I do not obey;
" "I do not obey, I think!' "

JUNIORS WILL PLAY ALL STAR ELEVEN.

The junior football team which Tuesday won the class championship of the Duluth Industrial high school by defeating the seniors, have accepted a challenge to play an all-star aggregation composed of a picked team from the entire school. The game will be played on Friday afternoon at the Fifty-second avenue grounds.

Last night the members of the team were guests of the management of the Grand theater during the first performance. The management reserved the first two rows for the team and its friends.

IRVING ALUMNI WILL HOLD MEETING.

The entertainment committee of the Longfellow School Alumni association will meet Tuesday evening at the Irving school to plan its activities for the winter. It is probable that the association will affiliate itself with the social center in the Irving school and may join in the activities at this place.

Among the first of the activities of the association will be a Halloween party planned for Friday evening, Oct. 31. Miss Adeline Buckley is chairman of the entertainment committee for the organization.

HERE ON HONEYMOON.

Calumet Furniture Dealer Is Good Booster for Zenith City.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur A. Bloy of Calumet, Mich., are visiting at the home of James A. Pearce, 429 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mr. Bloy is a prominent furniture dealer of Calumet and has been for years among the leaders of the furniture trade in the Copper country.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloy are on their wedding trip, having been married at Calumet three weeks ago. Mr. Bloy and his bride have enjoyed an extended trip, visiting many Eastern cities, stopping at Chicago, Milwaukee and the Twin Cities.

Mr. Bloy is much impressed with Duluth and enthusiastic over the city's business prospects. He says that he buys extensively in Duluth, and has just placed a large order for furniture with a leading furniture jobbing house of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Bloy will leave for their home in Calumet today.

WAS WILLING TO MEET ALL COMERS.

Calvin Amernan wanted to fight with all comers after having been ejected from a Central avenue saloon at 11 o'clock last night. He was booked up as drunk and disorderly. This morning he pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and costs. Sentence was suspended on promise of good behavior.

Will Give Musicale.

The congregation of the West Duluth Swedish Mission church will be entertained tomorrow evening at a musicale at the home of Mrs. Julia Moline, 307 North Fifty-third avenue west. A program of several numbers in which members of the choir will take part will be given. Rev. R. Lydell of Chicago will give a short address.

Reception for Pastor.

The members of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will tender a reception to their pastor, Rev. W. H. Farrell, and Mrs. Farrell in the church parlors next Wednesday evening. Rev. Mr. Farrell was recently returned to the local church and the reception is planned in honor of the event. A musical program is being arranged.

West Duluth Briefs.

James, Alec and Earl Donald returned yesterday from Taft, where they have been spending a few days hunting. They brought with them twenty-three partridges and twenty-five ducks and several rabbits.

The Irving School Alumni association will entertain at a social this evening in the school. Plans will also be made for a series of entertainments this winter.

Mrs. G. Solem of Bay View Heights is reported seriously ill at her home.

Plans for the annual supper and sale of fancy articles to be held on Oct. 21 and 22 by the St. Margaret's guild of St. James' Catholic church at Dormedy hall, was made at the meeting of the society held this afternoon at Gilley's hall.

Rev. J. Frederick Catlin of Ames, Iowa, arrived today and will preach at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, on Sunday. A call may be extended by the local congregation to the pastor. Watch repairing. Hurst, W. Duluth. Adv

LUMBER RATE CASE HEARD BY EXAMINER

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 16.—Hearings on the complaint of the Ingham Lumber company of this city against an increase on freight rates on lumber from Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas and Missouri points to points in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Illinois were opened here today by C. R. Marshall, special examiner for the interstate commerce commission. A dozen other lumber companies are interested in the complaint, brought in the name of the Ingham company.

The complaint is directed at the Kansas City Southern, the St. Louis & San Francisco, the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific companies. These lines on March 17 last issued a new tariff increasing lumber rates from a half to 6 cents a hundred pounds above the old rate. The new tariff has never been applied because the lumber companies obtained an order from the interstate commerce commission suspending it until a hearing could be given the shippers.

"WELL ENOUGH TO WALK;" FALLS DEAD.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 16.—Deciding that she was so much improved that she was able to walk, Mrs. William Black, aged 52, of Holmen, Wis., rose from her bed at a local hospital today and with the aid of two nurses tried to walk across the floor. She took three steps, then fell dead on the floor.

ELLIOTT ELECTED TO MAINE CENTRAL.

Portland, Me., Oct. 16.—President Howard Elliott of the New Haven railroad was elected a director of the Maine Central at the annual meeting of stockholders. T. Dewitt Cuyler of Philadelphia, a New Haven director, also was added to the board.

HIS PATHETIC TALE.

Lippincott's Magazine: The tramp looked shrewdly at Miss Wary, and she returned his gaze with equal shrewdness; but her expression did not soften in the least.

"You see, it's like this, ma'am. Six months ago I had a little home of my own, but I made an unfortunate marriage. My wife's temper was such that it kept me in hot water all the time.

"H'm," said Miss Wary, drily. "It's a pity there couldn't have been a little soap with it. Only six months ago, did you say?"

HOW DISASTER AT SEA LOOKED TO THE WIRELESS OPERATOR

New York, Oct. 16.—The wireless phase of the Volturno tragedy is told in the following log, kept by Senior Operator W. Seddon of the lost ship. It was sent to the Associated Press today by wireless from the Kroonland:

"Steamer Kroonland, Oct. 16.—October 9th, Volturno found to be on fire 6:55 a. m., lat. 49.12 north, 34.51 west longitude. At that time my junior—Mr. Pennington—was on watch when captain gave orders send out distress signals, which done immediately. We then called steamers Carmania, Seydlitz, Grosser Kurfuerst individually. Immediately finished calling, Seydlitz answered. We gave him our position; replied was coming under forced steam to our aid.

Carmania Also Answered.

"Just as junior gave our position, I reached cabin; immediately gave out distress call as soon as finished with Seydlitz, getting instant reply from Carmania. Then gave him position. His reply was: 'Coming all speed; now 69 miles from you. Hope reach you 3 p. m. (Greenwich meridian time),' but he arrived 2:10 p. m. (Greenwich meridian time).

"During this time we kept up incessant communication. After giving Carmania position, Grosser Kurfuerst answered. Then I again gave position. He then replied, 'Coming all speed.'

"Great difficulty experienced in receiving owing to occasional earthing of aerial through leads coming into connection water tanks on deck, this caused by sagging of aerial owing foremast supports giving way. After some time they managed get mast propped, then leads altered right position, no more earthing took place, signals quite O. K. Further hampered by ship rolling so great almost impossible send at times.

"Cheer Up, Old Man."

"Carmania sent out calls. About half hour later I was in communication steamer Kroonland, 108 miles distant. Also gave him position. He replied 'Cheer up, old man, coming all speed your rescue.' Five p. m. steamer Seydlitz came alongside to windward, thirty minutes later Grosser Kurfuerst arrived. At this time Carmania ten miles distant cruising for our missing boats which left ship when fire broke out. On request returned immediately, all this time in continuous communication with all ships round us. Received prompt reply all this time.

"1:06 (Greenwich meridian) power set gave out. Did best. Used it as long as possible. Towards end current so poor junior holding starting handle, taking out all resistance. Then commenced use emergency set which lasted 12, midnight (Greenwich meridian time), when owing magazine explosion blowing away aerial, could work no longer.

Worked Seventeen Hours.

"Worked set from outbreak fire, thus keeping communication seventeen hours, then only left posts owing aerial going. If this not occurred accumulators would have lasted several hours longer.

"I wish to mention from start, junior stood by me, deserves great credit for way rendered valuable assistance conveying messages to and from captain, who forward fighting flames. When we could could not do more inside cabin, did what little possible on deck. This very little, owing passengers refusing jump for boats which could not come right alongside owing suction being great. Two a. m. (Greenwich) Oct. 10, junior jumped for Kroonland's boat, captain's orders. Picked up unconscious. I stayed until last boat left with the captain, chief engineer, remainder crew.

"W. SEDDON,
"Senior Operator, S. S. Volturno."

Officer a Hero.

Second Officer Lloyd risked his life in many ways, according to refugees who reached here on the Kurfuerst. When the foremast threatened to topple, it was Lloyd who climbed to the wireless platform and fastened it so that communication could be had with other ships. Lloyd fell twenty feet, injuring his forehead. This was before he took his crew of four and entered the Volturno's last boat.

Passengers told of some of the horrors they say they witnessed. Some saw women burned to death, others babies trampled on and killed. Several were quoted as declaring they saw ship's officers keep back with revolvers panic stricken seamen who had swarmed up from the bowels of the vessel after the explosion, and tried to force their way into lifeboats ahead of women and children. It was denied on behalf of the officers that revolvers had been used.

At shelter homes, where they had been fed and clothed, the survivors declared almost in one voice that many of the Volturno's crew were guilty of cowardice. They told of having seen sailors push women and children aside and leap into the lifeboats, while helpless passengers prayed to be saved.

Ovation for Oil Steamer.

London, Oct. 16.—The oiltank steamer Narragansett which "arrived with the milk in the morning" on the scene of the Volturno disaster and by scattering tons of oil on the raging sea helped so much in the rescue work, received a great reception on her arrival in the Thames at noon today.

A band on board a tug met her down the river and played to her both the strains of "Conquering Hero" and a succession of national airs.

The sirens of all the vessels in the river were loosened and salvos of cheers from the crowds on the river banks greeted the crew of the Narragansett as they reached the Anglo-American Oil company's wharf. The ship had a number of survivors on board.

Derelict Not Seen.

Liverpool, Eng., Oct. 16.—No sign of the derelict hulk of the Volturno was seen by the Cymric on her voyage across the Atlantic. She arrived here at 7:45 this morning and her commander reported that she had made a circular cruise around the spot where the Volturno had been abandoned without sighting that vessel or any wreckage.

OUR GEM INDUSTRY.

Gems and precious stones were produced in the United States in 1912 to the value of $319,722 according to Douglas B. Sterrett of the United States geological survey. The kinds of precious stones found in the United States are many, ranging from diamonds of fine quality to low-grade stones such as agates, but as is seen from the total value of the output there are no really large operations.

The principal gem mineral mined in the United States during 1912 was Montana sapphire, of which there was a large output for use both as gems and in mechanical applications. The greater part of the gem sapphires came from the mines in Fergus county, where they occur in a rock matrix. The majority of these stones have the true blue color. The bulk of the sapphire for mechanical use came from the placer deposits in Granite and Deer Lodge counties and consists of varicolored stones.

The development of the opal deposits of Humboldt county, Nevada, was attended with much success, and a quantity of magnificent gem material was obtained. The opal is of an unusual type, consisting of dark translucent mineral with a variety of rich colors. The deposits promise to supply a gem equal if not superior in beauty to the opal from Australia.

Prospecting and mining at the emerald mine in North Carolina were attended with only partial success. Two pockets or deposits of emerald were removed during the year; other developments consisted mainly of exploratory work, which has continued into 1913.

The tourmaline output of Southern California was small, but some magnificent specimen crystals were obtained. Especially fine gem crystals of kunzite were found and brought good prices. The production of turquoise was very small compared with some previous years. Beautiful amethyst was found in Warren county, North Carolina, and some fine gems have been cut from sample crystals. A few fine specimens of golden beryl were obtained from prospects in Alexander county, N. C. Beautiful gems were cut from some of these. The production of agate and associated varieties of chalcedony was again large in several western states.

CAPE COD CANAL.

Indianapolis News: A year's extension has been granted for the completion of the Cape Cod canal, which is now due to be opened in June, 1915. This will be the first link in a chain of inland waterways, which it is hoped will ultimately extend from Boston, Mass., to Beaufort, N. C. The route will include Long Island sound, New York harbor, the Delaware and Raritan canal, the Chesapeake and Delaware canal and a system of canals south of Norfolk.

Philadelphia is soon to abolish all railway grade crossings.

Your Stomach Bad?

NO MONEY FOR CHAIN GANG

Commissioner Favors Paying Prisoners for Street Work; Lacks Funds.

Three Guards Costing $225 a Month to Watch Five Prisoners.

Although he is in sympathy with the proposition, Commissioner Roderick Murchison, head of the works division, states that the city cannot pay chain gang prisoners who work on the city streets. At least, not this season and probably not next.

The commissioner explains that unfortunately the city treasury will not permit of it. The funds of the works division will hardly stretch to cover the balance of the year and there is so much work in prospect for next year that the same condition will likely prevail.

The chain gang does some work but it is a question in the minds of city officers whether the amount of it done is sufficient to warrant the expense. Three guards are paid $75 a month each to watch the prisoners. That is $225 a month for the trio, or $2,750 a year. Many days the chain gang doesn't go out at all. Much of the time the gang isn't much larger than the number of guards. Yesterday five prisoners were on the chain gang, with three guards to watch them. It isn't rash to venture that the works division could use the $225 a month paid to the guards to hire day labor and show better results than are now attained by the chain gang. Acting as a chain gang guard comes prety near being a paradise for a lazy man, it is claimed.

When the work farm is started men with families dependent upon them will be paid and the money turned over to their wives and children. The chain gang never has been a paying institution in Duluth and it will not have much excuse for existence after the work farm starts.

WHY ARE WORKERS UNFIT?

Francis Lyster Jandron in the Engineering Magazine: Why are workers unfit? Largely because they are not vitally interested in their work. This lack of interest arises from a variety of causes: discontent with the social order; lack of aptitude for the given task; unwillingness to put forth a greater effort than is exerted by fellow-workmen; nepotism. The stereotyped methods which are followed in dealing with these various groups consist of calling the representatives of the first "agitators," and sending them to the next town in search of work; tolerating those of the second in the sacred name of "scarcity of labor;" stimulating those of the third with such official crackings of the overseer's whip as discretion may justify. Those whose grievance is the outcome of discrimination find themselves classified with one of the other groups, after the manner of the young Unitarian recruit who received from a stern sergeant on church parade the order to "fall in with the Catholics; no fancy religions in this regiment."

Obviously, the employer cannot, as an individual, be held responsible for the existence of that much-abused institution—the capitalist class. Neither is he always ready to admit that it is his fault if men apply to him for work to which they are not well adapted. The indolence of individual workmen he does not feel able to correct or control. And so for nepotism—he would be glad to see it done away with, and piously repeats the prayer of Augustine, "Lord, give me temperance—but not yet."

REMOVING THINGS FROM THE EYE.

Family Doctor: Small substances, like cinders, dust, or small chips of metal, can often be removed from the eye by very simple means. Sometimes the flow of tears washes them out. At other times, catching the upper lid by the lashes and pulling it away from the eyeball, and down over the lower lid, will clear it out. If this does not prove successful, a loop made of horse hair or of a long human hair can be passed under the lid and swept from the outer side towards the nose and drawn down.

Better than this, however, is the washing of the eye, or flushing with the eye dropper. Have the patient catch hold of the lower and upper lid, drawing them away from the eye, and then fill the dropper, which is like a small syringe, with water, and flush the eye two or three times. This will always remove the cinder at once. Should lime get into the eye, it should be treated in the same manner, first with water and then with vinegar, or lemon juice and water—teaspoonful of vinegar or lemon juice to a teacupful of water—poured over the eyeball.

Germany imported from the United States in 1912 $158,000,000 worth of raw cotton.

Fat Is Ridiculous

Overfat men and women, mortified and humiliated by the publicity of conspicuous rolls and billows of fat, are gradually learning that through the discovery of an eminent physician the burden of overfatness is taken from them, leaving the figure attractively proportioned, the flesh firm, the skin smooth, and the general health vastly improved, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles or flabbiness. There is no equal and no substitute for the famous Marmola Prescription, but there is a new and more convenient form—a tablet form of this safe fat remover. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same harmless, effective ingredients as the original prescription that has enabled so many thousands of uncomfortable men and women to reduce their weight evenly and steadily at the rate of a pound or more a day. An exceptionally large case of these Marmola Prescription Tablets is sold by all druggists at 75c or sent you direct by the Marmola Co., Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., on receipt of price.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: OCT. 19.

THE CONNECTION.

After the tragical incidents of the quails and the repentance of the people, Moses led them on till they reached the southern line of the land they were seeking, and there was nothing to do but send on some spies to get a working idea of what they would encounter and where they should go. This would not only serve that purpose, but would also test their metal and show their attitude toward both the land and the God who was leading them. It was about six months after leaving Sinai, a year and a half out of Egypt. It has taken them a long time to go so far, but they had to be taught, as at Sinai, and then trained by experience, as they had been all the way. Are they ready to take possession? It will require confidence in God, sense of responsibility to Him, self-confidence under Him, co-operation with Him and with each other. They are hardly ready yet.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Spies Sent Out. 1-20.

"And Jehovah spake unto Moses, saying, Send thou men, that they may spy out the land of Canaan, which I give unto the children of Israel; of every tribe of their fathers shall ye send a man, every one a prince among them. And Moses sent them from the wilderness of Paran, according to the commandment of Jehovah: all of them men who were heads of the children of Israel."

1. SELECTION.—They were selected with care. God commanded it. But we learn from Deut. i, 20-22, that the people first suggested it and Moses took it to God. It was a balanced and high-grade committee, as there was one from each tribe, and the best one they could get. Their names are given in the omitted verses. Among them were two afterwards famous for their high characters and services, Caleb and Joshua.

2. INSTRUCTIONS.—It was all under God's direction. Moses was opposed to it at first because he thought rightly that they ought to be willing to trust the leadership of God who had led them through the unknown wilderness. If they had faith in Him as they ought they could have marched victoriously into the land. But Moses tells them to be thorough, to inform themselves about the land, all parts of it, mountains and plains, its products and looks, about the people, their culture, their cities and methods of living and their homes, and to be of good cheer all the time.

II.

Their Unanimous Report. 21-29.

"And they returned from spying out the land at the end of forty days. And they went and came to Moses, and to Aaron, and to all the congregation of the children of Israel, unto the wilderness of Paran, to Kadesh; and brought back word unto them, and unto all the congregation, and showed them the fruit of the land. And they told him, and said, We came unto the land whither thou sentest us; and surely it floweth with milk and honey; and this is the fruit of it. Howbeit the people that dwell in the land are strong, and the cities are fortified, and very great; and moreover we saw the children of Anak there. Amalek dwelleth in the land of the South; and the Hittite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, dwell in the hill-country; and the Canaanite dwelleth by the sea, and along by the side of the Jordan."

1. COUNTRY.—They had done their work thoroughly, had gone from the point at the south, Kadesh-Barnea, to Rehob in the north; reversing it we would say "from Dan to Beersheba," "from John O'Groats to Land's End" and they were satisfied with its beauty and fertility for they brought back specimens of grapes, figs, pomegranates, etc. As far as the country was concerned it was satisfactory. All the twelve united in this report. So far so good. The grapes from Eshcol were extraordinary and, as milk and honey were valued foods, "a land flowing with milk and honey" expressed it well.

2. INHABITANTS.—They were also a unit in saying that the people were far ahead of the Israelites in every element of natural advantage—"strong," meaning well-to-do, well drilled, well equipped, numerous and aggressive; that they lived in cities, fortified and large, and that among them was a race of giants, sons of Anak. Perhaps they took them to be the fabled half gods of whom they had heard. They mentioned the Amalekites with whom they had already fought, and farther up the mountain regions three races, Hittites whom we have learned to be a warlike people, by the records made at least 200 years before this incident and only recently discovered at the town of Tel-El-Amarra which contains an extensive correspondence between the governors of the Palestinian provinces and their rulers, the kings of Egypt; the Jebusites and Amorites. The Hittites were great warriors and were always at war with Egypt or Assyria. These nations were superior to the Israelites in numbers, training and culture, and were in possession of the land when the latter entered it forty years later. On the coast were Canaanites and further to the north were other races. Formidable obstacles guarded the land against their approach.

III.

Conflicting Interpretations. 30-14: 25.

"And Caleb stilled the people before Moses, and said, Let us go up at once, and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it. But the men that went up with him said, We are not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we. And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had spied out unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to spy it out, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of great stature. And there we saw the Nephilim, the sons of Anak, who come of the Nephilim; and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight."

1. BRAVE.—By the time the story was told the people were in a paroxysm of fear. There was something in the way the ten told their story that set the alarms going. There was something in the way Caleb spoke that held the tears in check for a bit. He had said "we can take the land" but when he saw the terror beginning to show in the words and looks of the people he got the floor and tried to stiffen their backbones before the cowards got at them. He admitted the superiority of the enemies but showed that as it had been a matter of divine help anyhow that help was equal to the task and moreover he had some right sense of their own power. He showed intelligent faith that would profit by past experience and all God's past works and urged them to march at once.

2. COWARDICE.—The others said two terrible things—the land would swallow them up and they were as grasshoppers as compared with those giants. In this speech they called them all giants. They prevailed and the people proposed to dismiss Moses and find a man who would lead them back to Egypt. God offered to destroy them all and raise up another nation from the children of Moses. The latter argued the case with God in most heroic and unselfish way and they were doomed to wander till all who were grown when they left Egypt were dead.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The best vine-producing country is Mt. Lebanon and Southern Judea, whence the spies procured the fine specimen of fruit they brought with them. Possibly it might weigh a rottle (six pounds,) and was, of course, carried on its own branch to prevent its getting bruised. The narration should not convey the idea that its weight required two men to carry it. Convenience certainly did, and possibly they were able to convey this fine cluster from Eschol to the camp without its being much damaged by attaching the vine oranch to a firm staff and carrying it between them.—Howe.

Doubtless one of the keenest pangs endured by the lost will be the recollection of the time when there was but a step between them and salvation and foolish fear, or some sin to which they clung, prevented them from taking it. What an army of Sunday school scholars are encamped at Kadesh-barnea! Whether they shall cross into Canaan or die in the wilderness will depend very largely upon the impression which we give them of the Christian life.—Henson.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Is precaution sometimes only another name for distrust of God?
2. Are the difficulties in the way ever great enough to obscure God?
3. What is the nature of the sin of cowardice?
4. How can a cowardly person become brave?
5. What is the value of a bold, fixed purpose?

WHOLESALE TRADE BIG

Duluth Jobbers Receive Optimistic Reports From All Districts.

Prices on Staple Goods Stiffen; Sugar, Wool and Coffee Higher.

Continued heavy trade in all lines is reported by Duluth wholesale establishments this week. Optimistic advices are being received by travelers from over the various districts, and aggregate bookings are said to be showing a marked increase over last year. With the new tariff in effect, business is gradually settling down and in most lines a greater readiness than in several months back, to place orders, is being shown. Consequent upon the rapid marketing of the crops, collections are steadily improving. In some sections of Western Minnesota and North Dakota, a fair proportion of the outstanding commercial paper has already been taken up.

Strong Demand in Wools.

Dry goods trade is showing substantial improvement in every department, according to the F. A. Patrick & Co. A gratifying feature commented on is that prices in wools and woolen fabrics are stiffening in spite of the raw material having been placed on the free list. While the discussion over the tariff was on, retailers had allowed their stocks to run down, so that heavy orders to cover current requirements are being booked. Sorting up and mail order business is said to be exceptionally heavy at present. Liberal orders are also being taken in holiday specialties.

The house avers that the production of its garment factory making mackinaws and shirtings, is showing a large gain over last year, and that the output of the Patrick-Duluth woolen mill is 150 per cent heavier at present than at the same period in 1912. The firm has extended its territory in woolen products, having just put on five additional salesmen to cover Virginia, North and South Carolina, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

Sugar Prices Advance.

Trade in groceriess, staples and specialties, is reported by the Gowan-Lenning-Brown company to be the most active in years.

The market in sugars has just been advanced from 10 to 15 cents per hundred pounds, according to grade.

The stronger tone in coffees, noted ten days ago, continues. The company today received a wire from its coffee expert, G. A. Andressen, who is now in New York looking after purchases, advising that the market in the product is showing an advancing tendency.

Quotations in general grocery lines, including canned and dried fruits and vegetables, are steady, and that is leading to a better disposition on the part of retailers to place orders.

Hardware Quotations Steady.

Gratification is expressed by the sales departments of the two local hardware establishments over the continued liberal shipments being made over the territory. Shelf goods are moving out freely. Prices in general steel and iron products are firm, with no changes in the lists to be noted.

Christmas Trade Opens.

The Peyton Paper company advises the booking of heavy orders by salesmen in Christmas paperteries. Business coming to hand in general stationery is said to be considerably heavier than a year ago. Among the outside buyers at the company's warehouse today were: A. Lyon of Two Harbors, J. Erickson of Spooner, Minn., and J. T. Richter of Cloquet, Minn.

Shoe Factory Busy.

"Our factory is busy in all departments and our main difficulty now is in securing sufficient operators," said F. E. Church, sales manager of the Northern Shoe company.

Increased business is noted by that company as being received from over Northern Minnesota, Northern Wisconsin and Northern Michigan. A slight slackening up is reported by North Dakota retailers, attributable to the fact that farmers are at present devoting all their attention to fall plowing. It is estimated that a greatly increased acreage will be placed under crop next spring as a result of the favorable conditions for the preparation of the soil that have prevailed this fall.

Heavy Week In Furniture.

The De Witt-Seitz company avers that the past week was one of the best in its history in point of the volume of furniture orders received by mail or from salesmen. Comparisons are especially favorable over the Northern Minnesota, Northern Dakota and Montana grounds. Among the visitors from outside the city at the company's warehouse today were: C. Luster, Brule, Wis.; A. Johnson, Cloquet, Minn., and Elmer Bloy, Calumet, Mich.

PLAN WORLD-WIDE WIRELESS STUDY.

Brussels, Oct. 16.—The provisional international wireless committee has decided upon the organization of committees in all the countries adhering to the wireless telegraph treaty which was signed in London in 1912, to aid the governments in extensive wireless observations and experiments. These will be carried out with the object, first, of determining a way to insure constancy and steadiness of wireless waves; second, measuring the variations in signals and atmospheric disturbances at the different stations; third, comparing the intensity of signals. These experiments will be conducted simultaneously on three days of each week, beginning in January. Special meteorological observations will also be made once a month.

Reports of the work of the committees will be made to the wireless conference at Brussels in 1914, with a view to legislation.

DECIDE MISS HAUG COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Thomasville, Ga., Oct. 16.—That Miss Dorothy Haug, whose body was found in her room at a boarding house here Monday, committed suicide and was not murdered as had been supposed, was revealed when an autopsy disclosed a bullet in the skull. The authorities have virtually accepted this explanation of the girl's death.

It had been believed Miss Haug's skull was crushed with a club and that a revolver found near the body had been used by the girl in defending herself.

CHINESE CONSUL'S SON TAKES BRIDE.

Portland, Or., Oct. 16.—With a $10,000 dowry and an elaborate wedding ceremony, Miss Rosalind Goon, daughter of Goon Dip, Chinese vice consul at Seattle, last night became the bride of Lew Geate Kay of Seattle. Floral decorations banked the walls and hid the ceiling of the large Baptist church in which the services were held.

Lew Geate Kay began his career as a Portland newsboy. Later he attended a school in Seattle, was graduated from the University of Washington, and became an instructor at an engineering school in China.

Rev. W. E. Hinson officiated at the marriage rites, which followed American precedure in the main with a few Oriental variations.

CRAIG HEAD OF THE PASSENGER AGENTS.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—W. J. Craig of Wilmington, N. C., passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic coast line, was elected president of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents at the closing session of the organization's convention here. Gerrett Fort of Omaha was chosen vice president; W. C. Hope, New York, secretary, and J. C. Haile, Savannah, Ga., chairman of the executive committee.

OFFERED $2,500 TO AVOID VOTE ON BILL.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 16.—Senator John L. Hare of Lexington, an outspoken supporter of prohibition measures which this special session of the Tennessee legislature has been called to enact, declared in the senate yesterday he had been offered $2,500 to absent himself from the extra session. Senator Hare, who is an independent Democrat, gave no names, but a committee was appointed to investigate his assertion.

ANTIQUARIANS ELECT WILSON.

Worcetser, Mass., Oct. 16.—President Woodrow Wilson was elected a member of the American Antiquarian society at its annual meeting in recognition of his historical work. Other new members elected were Herbert Eugene Bolton of Berkeley, Cal.; Bernard C. Steiner of Baltimore, and Vere Langford Oliver of London. The present officers were re-elected.

SUICIDE MAY BE DETROIT DOCTOR.

Havre de Grace, Md., Oct. 16.—Floating in Chesapeake bay, about six miles from here, the body of a man supposed to be Dr. C. B. Bartholomew of Detroit, Mich., was found. It is believed the man, whose body evidently had been in the water for some time, committed suicide. Uncashed bookmakers' tickets for the Havre de Grace races and a letter addressed to Dr. Bartholomew at Detroit and one at Havre de Grace were found in the pockets.

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

MARRIED MEN LIVE LONGER THAN SINGLE MEN

Recently the New York state health department undertook to learn who lived longest, the married or the unmarried man and woman. A most exact and exhaustive study of the subject was made, and some surprising discoveries were unearthed. It was found that the death rate of married men was very much lower than that of the single men. From 20 to 30 years six unmarried men died to every four who had assumed the responsibilities of married life. From 30 to 40 years thirteen unmarried died to six of married men. As the age increased the difference grew even greater, and from 40 to 50 years nineteen single men died to nine married. It was found that invariably the lower death figures of the married men were due to the fact that they did not take such risks as did the single men, and furthermore, that there was a strong tendency to avoid dangerous and speculative occupations. When the mortality was considered among that class of married men who had lost their wives by death or by divorce, it was found that the death rate was considerably greater than among the husbands of the same age. From the ages between 20 and 30 the death rate of widowers was nearly double that of single men, and the conclusion reached was inevitable that when a husband loses his wife he loses much of the opportunity for longevity which marriage offers. Likewise, the younger the husband is when he loses his wife the greater the number of deaths among them. As regards the differences between married and unmarried women, no very striking facts were discovered. In the period between 20 and 30 years of age married women have a higher death rate than do single women. About five married women die to every four single women.

"A. W." writes: "I am a farmer, 60 years old. I have a peculiar pain in the ball of my left foot. There is no swelling, and I can see nothing wrong. I also have a sharp pain at times in the region of my appendix. Please tell me what you think is the matter."

I don't know whether your letter is meant for a joke or not. Personally, I believe it would be much more satisfactory for you to have some physician in your community examine the parts you speak of and prescribe for you. From the general run of these Doctor's Helps articles, you ought to be able to help yourself a good deal better than I could aid you from the very meager contents of your inquiry.

SUBNORMAL TEMPERATURE; EXCELLENT CIRCULATION; BUT HEAD NOISES.

A California lady, "A. W. Y.," wants to know about subnormal temperature and whether it has any relation to an annoying hissing sound in the head, which is synchronous with the pulse beat.

No. Perfect health can be maintained in conditions of subnormal temperature. Some folks are more phlegmatic than others and do not burn up as much energy. Tissue metabolism, which is just another term for the burning up of the flesh in cellular life, goes along more leisurely in the "sub" cases. It has no significance. The head noises are the result of an irritation of the auditory nerve. Evidently your system is a bit oversaturated with effete poisons, and these should be eliminated. Go see your doctor about this and have your ears thoroughly examined.

TROUBLED WITH A RUPTURE.

Question No. 1—"I am troubled with a rupture, and would like to know from you what you consider to be the best form of treatment—an operation or a truss? I have been wearing the latter for some time, but it bothers me greatly."

Question No. 2—"L. S. D." says: "I am 45 years old, and first noticed a slight swelling in my right groin three years ago. It gave me no pain, but gradually grew larger and is now down to my scrotum. Another swelling is starting on the left side, the same as the right. I begin to have pain now. Sometimes weeks pass without pain, but it is bound to come occasionally. I have never worn a truss. As my condition is becoming more painful, I shall greatly appreciate your advice as to how to obtain relief of a permanent nature."

The simplest and quickest method of obtaining relief for a rupture is to go to a hospital and have the rupture relieved by an operation. If this operation is done by a thoroughly competent surgeon, the result will not only be sure, but will give both of you men a stronger abdominal support than you have ever had. A truss is an utter inconvenience as compared with the fine results of the modern rupture operation in skilled hands.

THIS HEART DISEASE YOUNGSTER DOESN'T LIKE TO STAY IN BED; BUT HE MUST.

"We have a child, 11 years old, afflicted with heart disease. Specialists say there is no help. The trouble is an enlargement of the heart. They advise rest in bed. This is almost impossible. He feels fairly well and wants to do as other children do, as he sees them running around playing. He is very tired of just sitting or lying down. Is there no other method of treatment?"

You have a difficult problem on your hands. The average youngster is full of animal spirits, and squirms and twists and constantly wants to be on the move. Your doctor's advice is the only safe kind to follow. You will have to tax your wits for schemes to afford the youngster entertainment. Why not ask a good kindergarten teacher to suggest various ways whereby your child could have its mind kept employed? To get well, the heart must be at rest. Do not try to compromise with this truth. Otherwise, an acute heart dilation will set in and life will soon fade.

CURING THE SKIN DISEASE, PSORIASIS.

"J. H. L." asks: "Can you suggest a cure for the skin disease, Psoriasis? I have tried many salves, but have obtained no relief."

While there is nothing serious about your ailment, nor contagious, it is, nevertheless, one of the most stubborn ailments. You will have to soak each skin area until it becomes so soft you can lift the scales away and get down to the under surface. Use warm olive oil or plain water. GET THE SCALES THOROUGHLY REMOVED. So long as there are any scales over the sore skin area, any salve will be fruitless. Apply the following ointment: Ammoniated mercury, 20 grains; salicylic acid powder, 20 grains; cosmoline, 1 ounce. Apply each time after thoroughly removing all scales. If two weeks does not bring relief, your skin needs the application of the X-ray to stimulate the deeper activity of cell growth, and likewise you should place yourself under the observation and counsel of a physician as to your systemic treatment, body hygiene, dieting, medication, etc. There is no easy way. You CAN WIN, however, so don't lose your nerve and get discouraged. Write me in two months how you are making out. Take this to your doctor.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription which has benefited the eyes of so many may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye trouble to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription: Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with water, drop in one tablet and allow to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes, and you will thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS TO BE DISCUSSED

State Charities Conference to Hear Judges Tell Actual Experiences.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Operation of the new law providing "mothers' pensions" will be discussed at the twenty-first Minnesota State Conference of Charities and Correction to be held in Minneapolis, Oct. 25 to 28, and officers of the conference expect that much valuable information regarding the actual working of the measure will be developed from the county authorities from all parts of the state who are engaged in administrating the special "county aid" designed to help dependent fatherless children.

Judge E. F. Waite of the Hennepin county juvenile court, president of the conference, will open this discussion with an address on the operation of the law in Hennepin county. About 300 applications for this special aid have been received to date, of which not more than one-third, if that, have been granted. Probate judges and commissioners in attendance from various counties will tell what has been accomplished under the law in their jurisdictions.

The makers of the program for this conference believe they have something of value to offer social workers in every field. Rural conditions that need betterment are to receive special consideration. The treatment of the paroled from penal institutions will be discussed by experts. A feature that is creating unusual interest and promises to draw a large attendance is the meeting in the new prison at Stillwater on Monday, Oct. 27, an innovation seemingly meeting with a hearty welcome.

EBERHART IS FOR DEEP MISSISSIPPI.

Hannibal, Mo., Oct. 16.—Governors Major of Missouri, Dunne of Illinois and Eberhart of Minnesota told the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association, which is holding its twelfth annual convention here, that they favored a deep sea channel for the Mississippi river. The convention, which is being attended by 100 delegates, will consider means of improving river transportation.

EVANS' DAUGHTER SECURES DIVORCE.

Ellsworth, Me., Oct. 16.—Mrs. Virginia Sims Evans Sewall of Washington and Bar Harbor has been granted a decree of divorce in the supreme court here from her husband, Harold I. Sewall, on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment. Mrs. Sewall is a daughter of the late Admiral Robley D. Evans. Sewall is a Boston business man and is at present in Porto Rico, where he has large interests. They have a girl of 8 years whose custody, as well as the amount of alimony is to be agreed upon by counsel.

DRUNK; DRIVES AUTO; IS GIVEN 100 DAYS.

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 16.—One hundred days in jail was the sentence imposed on Paul H. Watson, a stock broker of this city, in police court for having driven his automobile while intoxicated. Watson announced that he would appeal.

Try to White-Wash Pimples

People Who Attempt to Hide Unsightly Pimples Behind Paint and Powder, Clog Their Pores and Coarsen Their Skin.

Pimples are the source of the greatest chagrin and humiliation to the sensitive girl anxious for the admiration that beauty receives. And it is only natural that she tries to hide them behind paint and powder.

She little realizes, however, what almost irreparable injury she inflicts on her skin through the clogging and enlarging of the pores of the skin. The impurities in the blood that cause pimples have now no way of escape and new pimples break out not only on the face but on the shoulders, back and arms. Instead of improving her looks, she has spoiled whatever beauty was left her.

"There's No Use Trying, I Can't Hide Pimples With Paint."

If she only knew how easily pimples can be cured with Stuart's Calcium Wafers, she would never use cosmetics again. Just as soon as her blood has been cleansed by the purifying agents of this sovereign remedy, all the foul conditions of her skin—pimples, blackheads, brashes and liver spots—would quickly disappear. And the rosy cheeks and rich, glowing colors of a healthy, natural complexion will be a hundredfold more attractive than any she could possibly get out of a paint box or powder rag.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers taken into the blood convert the impurities that have gathered in the pores into a gaseous form that readily escapes through the pores. At the same time, they stimulate the pores into throwing off the foul matter that has accumulated about them. The result is that the blood and skin are quickly freed of all impurities and restored to a healthy, vigorous condition. With pure blood, a healthy, beautiful skin will follow as certainly as day follows night.

If you have a pimply, broken out skin, you should clear it up at once with Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Don't white-wash your face. It fools nobody and only makes matters worse. There is only one remedy that is at once safe and effective—Stuart's Calcium Wafers—recommended by the best physicians. There is only one sure and quick way to beauty for you. That is a straight line to the nearest drug store for a 50c box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Start now.

TEXAS WOMAN THE FEATURE

Mrs. Pennybacker Holds Center of Stage at Fargo Convention.

North Dakota Federation of Club Women Have Busy Session.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The presence of Mrs. Percy Pennybacker of Texas, national president of the Federated clubs, made today the most interesting of the sessions of the state federation in Fargo. She will be the center of attraction this evening. The exercises, instead of being held at the Civic Center building, will be transferred to the agricultural college. There will be a reception in honor of the national president, and this will be followed by the Federation tea. After that the distinguished visitor will deliver an address in the college armory.

The trains of last night and this morning brought additional delegates and the attendance and enthusiasm today was increased over yesterday.

When the convention was called to order this morning Miss Bowers of Fargo gave a piano solo. The vice presidents of the six districts of the federated clubs made their reports. In the order named they were Mrs. A. M. O'Connor of St. Thomas, Mrs. W. J. Reynolds of Westhope, Mrs. D. A. Dinnie of Minot, Mrs. E. L. Kinney of Hankinson, Mrs. W. B. Wanner of Wimbledon, Mrs. J. W. Bush of Oakes. Encouraging reports of the growth of the clubs and the increase in their number were made from each district.

The rest of the forenoon was devoted to the reports of the chairmen of the different departments, Mrs. Scott Rex of Grand Forks reporting on "Civics," Mrs. E. W. Cunningham of Larimore on "Conservation," Mrs. Mattie M. Davis of Fargo on "Education," Mrs. E. B. Goss of Bismarck on "Endowment," Mrs. Walter R. Reed of Amenia on "Extension," Mrs. M. A. Hildreth of Fargo on "Industrial and Social Conditions," Mrs. C. F. Amidon of Fargo on "Landmarks," Mrs. E. B. Page of Leeds on "Badges," Mrs. W. F. Cushing of Bismarck on "Press" and Mrs. Frank White of Valley City on "Parliamentary." The new clubs then reported.

This afternoon Mrs. Ernest Wright of Fargo rendered a sporano solo. The public health department was then discussed with Mrs. R. A. Sprague of Grand Forks outlining what had been done. State Pure Food Commissioner Ladd spoke on "Patent Medicines and Food Adulteration" and Dr. Fanny Quain Dunn of Bismarck on "What the Public Health Work Has Accomplished."

The department of arts and crafts had its place on the program, Mrs. H. E. McCartney of Oakes outlining the work of the department. She was followed by Miss Margaret Cabel of the state university who spoke on "Possibility of Pottery in this State," and Mrs. Albert Hallenberg of Fargo on "Home Decoration."

Miss Fanny Amidon of Valley City was in charge of the department of music and talked on "Music Suitable for the Public Schools." Dr. Creegan head of Fargo college, spoke for "Better Church Music," and Mrs. W. A. Gordon of Minneapolis for "Better Home Music." "Kindergarten Music" was discussed by Mrs. Hardin Lucas of Valley City.

While the federated sessions will be concluded tomorrow afternoon the majority of the delegates are planning to remain over till Saturday for the sessions of the Vote for Women league.

CANADIAN CATTLE FOR NORTH DAKOTA

Impetus to Stock Movement Is Given By New Tariff Law.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers of the Northwest will have a new source of supply in their movement to stock their farms with cattle, the new tariff measure operating in such manner that the stock farms of Canada can be utilized for the purpose. The shipment of 260 pure bred shorthorns from the vicinity of Emerson, Man., to Grand Forks, made within a week after the new tariff measure was effective, is indicative of the possibilities.

With the high price demanded for pure bred cattle, the farmers of the Northwest, many of whom have really been desirous of stocking their farms, have been unable to do so. Now, however, with the possibility of getting Canadian cattle, it is believed that they will be able to get good cattle for lower money.

Under the new tariff law the 27 per cent duty on cattle is entirely removed.

Canada is well supplied in the matter of well bred cattle, particularly in Eastern Manitoba and Western Ontario. These have come from the extreme Eastern provinces, where some of the best known stock farms of the Western hemisphere are found.

In bringing the shipment of 260 head from the Emerson district to Grand Forks, the local cattle buyers took the step because they were able to get the cattle at a smaller figure than they have been able to buy them elsewhere.

M. M. O'Connor, one of the men interested in the deal, which involves approximately $15,000, declared that the purchases in Canada had been made at a good saving, and that the plan appeared feasible in every respect. Another feature in connection with the deal that he points out is the fact that the market is so close by that freight rates are saved, the cattle being herded here. The big herd will reach the city this week.

CROOKSTON SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE EXPANDS

Broader Course and Unusually Heavy Attendance Marks the Term.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Illustrating the growth of the field covered by the Crookston School of Agriculture, with only the second week since the opening for the coming year's work, students are now registered from fifty-six different towns scattered in twenty different counties in Northwestern Minnesota. Another very encouraging fact about the attendance is the increasing ratio of the girls to boys. At the beginning there were but a sprinkling of girls who attended, about one to six. Now there is one girl to every two boys, and the ratio of students to enter this year is nearly equal. Another notable fact this year is that the standard of scholarship of those entering is much higher than ever before. Many high school graduates are taking the course, as well as those who are preparing to be teachers, attracted by the special course provided fitting graduates to fill the positions in the consolidated rural schools. The advanced work is starting out in a very encouraging manner.

There are now over double the number entered compared to the same time last year, and more are enrolled now than were enrolled up to Christmas last year.

This large attendance reflects the splendid crop conditions this fall and the fine weather which has permitted practically all farm work to be completed early.

Another special inducement this year over previous years is the advanced course offered which makes it possible for graduates to enter directly from this school to the College of Agriculture at St. Anthony Park if the students desire additional work.

The girls' dormitory is nearly filled and the boys' dormitory is already full. Work on the new boys' dormitory will be commenced next week, and there will be students enough to fill it by the time it is completed next spring. It will provide room for sixty additional boys and will cost $40,000 above the equipment.

ADD $8,122,520 TO MARQUETTE TAXES

State Commission Disregards Plea of the Mining Companies.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 16.—The state tax commission has increased the assessment of Marquette county by $8,122,520, compared with the total of the rolls as approved by the various boards of review this year.

Compared with the total of the rolls passed by the boards of review in 1912 the increase is $8,999,958.

In only one instance did the commission decrease the returns of a township board of review for 1913. It decreased the assessment of Tilden township, by $107,995. Negaunee city was given a decrease of $851,209.

The commission made but few changes as a result of the hearings in Marquette, Negaunee, Ishpeming and Republic, the latter part of last month. Broadly speaking, it disregarded the contentions of the mining men with regard to the alleged over-assessment of stockpiles. The aggregate assessment of stockpiles is not materially reduced, although a few changes were made.

The rolls returned by the commission increase the general mining assessment approximately $3,000,000, it is said. The value of the real property of the mines was decreased something like $2,000,000, but this was much more than made up—nearly $3,000,000 more—by the heavy assessment of the stockpiles and the assessment of buildings not used for mining purposes that were formerly held to be covered by the general assessment. The total assessment of the mining companies is $28,648,014.

The townships were given the largest part of the total increase, nearly $5,500,000, compared with $2,600,000 for Marquette and Ishpeming.

PAID $25 FOR FEW WHISKERS.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Oct. 16.—Sheriff Billings went out to Underwood yesterday and brought in Andrew Eggen on a charge of assault preferred by Theodore Sande of that place, who declared that Mr. Eggen assaulted him, beat him about the head and pulled out quite a handful of his whiskers. He had the whiskers in his pocket as proof of his charge.

Mr. Eggen's story is that they had some words and that he took hold of Mr. Sande's beard, which is an ornament of which any man might be proud, and shook it some, but did not pull any of the whiskers out.

The matter came on in Justice Pfefferle's court and Mr. Eggen was sentenced to pay $25 and costs.

JUDGE BUTTS JOLTS THE BOOTLEGGERS.

Minnewaukan, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—"It is just as dangerous to sell liquor in North Dakota as it is to steal horses," declared Judge C. W. Butts of the district court yesterday, when he sentenced D. M. Jones to nine months in the state penitentiary for violation of the prohibition law.

Declaring that the prohibition law was being better enforced than ever before, Judge Butts called attention to the new law, which permits penitentiary sentences for bootleggers.

"Bootleggers are as detrimental to the community as the horse thieves, and the practice of one is as dangerous as the other," he said.

BANK AIDS FARMERS TO PURCHASE SHEEP.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 16.—R. T. Buckler has arrived from Montana with the 5,000 sheep which were purchased by him and C. A. Hitchcock for the Merchants' National bank, to be sold at cost to the farmers of this vicinity. Many farmers have placed their orders, Mr. Buckler will keep a large number and telephone orders have been received from farmers residing near some of the surrounding towns, one order coming from Bagley.

The 5,000 sheep make a unique sight for this section and many local people have autoed out to see them.

LAMP OVERTURNS; WOMAN LOSES LIFE.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 16.—Mrs. William Bishop, 55 years old, was fatally burned last night when she overturned a kerosene lamp which set fire to the house. Her husband was seriously burned while attempting to rescue her.

ST. THOMAS DEFEATS NORTH DAKOTA "U."

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 16.—St. Thomas defeated the University of North Dakota, 6 to 0 yesterday, in one of the hardest fought gridiron games ever played on the local field.

North Dakota, coming back after but four days rest from the gruelling game with Hamline last Saturday, surprised the St. Thomas team, and it was not till the third quarter that a touchdown was made by Ward after a series of plays that followed a forty yard run by the player who finally placed the pigskin across the line.

Three times in the last half was the St. Thomas goal in danger. Once they held North Dakota for downs on the one yard line, and the ball was back to within four yards of the St. Thomas goal, after a repeated series of gains on line plays, when time was called.

It was an intensely interesting struggle at every stage. North Dakota, appraised in advance of the prowess of the cadets, had expected to see St. Thomas roll up a big score, particularly in view of the crippled condition of the Flickertails, Capt. Harris, being out till the last quarter, while Halfback Bacon was also out, both because of injuries received in the Hamline contest.

BRAINERD TO BE A SOCIALIST CENTER.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—O. M. Thomason, Socialist lecturer, has opened headquarters in Brainerd and will soon have under way a Socialist campaign covering Brainerd and radiating from the county seat to all parts of Crow Wing and Aitkin counties, all to be under the joint auspices of the county central and state committees. The fall campaign will be waged with increasing vigor. Mr. Thomason has just finished three months' work in Indiana and Kentucky.

Charged With Counterfeiting.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 16.—Wallace Bragg, a laborer, was placed on trial in Federal court here today charged with passing counterfeit silver dollars. Bragg, in his defense, declared he did not pass the spurious money intentionally, but that fourteen of the dollars were given him by a vegetable peddler when the latter changed a $20 bill.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Marinette—Arthur Garrott, 26 years old, was arrested, charged with attacking an 8-year-old Menominee girl.

Abbotsford—The body of a young man was found in a car loaded with steel rails from Gary, Ind.

Eau Claire—Miss Clara Thorson and John Fasching of this city were married at St. Patrick's church, the Rev. Father Dowd officiating. Miss Theresa Fasching, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid and Frank Fasching, brother of the groom, was best man.

Chippewa Falls—The death of Martin Andrejesk occurred at his home, West Grand avenue, Tuesday morning. He was born in Germany seventy-eight years ago and has resided in Chippewa Falls many years. He is survived by his wife, four daughters and two sons, Frank and John of this city, also several other children not residing in this city.

Ashland — The marriage of Miss Mame Beck to Sylvester Keefe took place Tuesday morning in the St. Agnes church. The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. J. J. Keefe of Sioux City, Iowa; Mrs. Rose Keefe, mother, and James Keefe, a brother of the groom, from Hampton, Iowa, and Mrs. Henry Beck, Superior.

Chippewa Falls—Miss Cora Russell of Cobbon and Robert Werner of St. St. Paul were married Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. Mr. Harris officiating. Miss Clara Russell was bridesmaid and Albert Barthen was best man.

Cumberland — The Fruit Package company has the foundations in already. One addition to be constructed of brick, one story, is 24 by 60, and one frame structure 20 by 24. The demand for the output of the factory is rapidly increasing.

Ashland—Wilbert Richards, the little 4-year-old son of Mrs. Gertrude Richards, died Tuesday from convulsions resulting from a blow received a week ago last Saturday on the head incurred while at play.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Municipal Judge West performed the marriage ceremony uniting Miss Christine Nelson, aged 50, to Mr. Scriven, aged 54. The bride is from Glassburg, Mich., and the home of the groom is Humboldt.

Houghton—The bills from the copper strike constituted a large part of the moneys expended Tuesday by the Houghton county board of supervisors. The grand total was $23,052.96, including all bills bearing any relation to the strike.

Ontonagon—Andrew Zimmer of Ontonagon, 41 years of age, died Saturday night in St. Joseph's hospital, after an illness extending from the preceding Thursday. Peritonitis of the ear was the direct cause of death. Mr. Zimmer, who was a well known resident of Ontonagon, came to Houghton last Thursday to take treatment for the ear effection from a Houghton specialist.

Hancock—Isaac Wendell, better known as Isaac Wendell Ojala, died yesterday morning shortly after 3 o'clock following an illness of several weeks. He was about 65 years of age and was one of the oldest Finnish residents of the city.

L'Anse—Baraga county's new jail and sheriff's residence that was started the beginning of the present year, has been completed. The building is built of handsome old red mission brick, and stands two stories high and is 34 by 70 in dimensions.

Calumet—The death in Cardiff, Wales, of Samuel P. Martin, a former well known resident of Calumet, is reported. The deceased was a brother of Mrs. August Frickle of Houghton. He was 48 years of age and worked for a number of years for the Calumet & Hecla Mining company and later at Mohawk and for the Copper Range Consolidated. He was a member of the Hecla lodge of Odd Fellows. He is survived by his wife and five children, who are in Laurium. He left Calumet nine months ago.

Hubbell—Dedicatory exercises and a mission festival, the first in observance of the arrival of the new bell, were held at the German Lutheran church, Hubbell, Sunday morning. Rev. Meuller, pastor, spoke in German in the morning and Rev. Bartling occupied the pulpit in the evening, speaking in English.

Hubbell—The engagement of Miss Irene McCormick of Calumet, sister of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney William J. McCormick of Houghton county, to Harold M. Trosper, a graduate of the University of Michigan in the class of 1911, has been announced. Miss McCormick is now a student in the university, taking a literary course. The wedding will take place during next June, it is announced.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Ray, N. D.—Two prominent farmers living south of Ray were arrested for not sending their children to school and heavy costs and fines were piled up against them. The school officers in this county propose to enforce the compulsory educational law to a letter from now on.

Dickey, N. D.—A jury that granted Charlotte M. Carpenter a verdict for $5,318.05 damages against the city of Dickey because she sprained an ankle on a defective sidewalk, was grossly prejudiced, that decision being made by the supreme court which reverses the decision and orders a new trial.

Valley City—The marriage of Miss Cornelia Isensee and Harley Gettman, at the bride's home, took place Saturday, Rev. Willard Crosby Lyon performing the marriage service. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de chine and white roses, while her two maids of honor, Miss Julia Isensee and Miss Mabel Gettman, sisters of the bride and groom, wore pink brocaded satin and pink roses. The ringbearer, Amanda Marshall, carried the ring in the heart of a rose and wore white satin. Mrs. George Isensee played the wedding march.

Grafton, N. D.—C. D. Hamel of Grafton, a former University of North Dakota student and one time secretary to ex-United States Senator H. C. Hansbrough, was robbed of $200 while a passenger aboard the steamer Northwestern, Alaska to Seattle. Nine other passengers aboard the steamer were robbed, the work evidently being that of several well informed robbers who worked while their victims slept, invading their staterooms.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Henry O'Keefe, Jr., one of the well known attorneys of Grand Forks, was elected grand knight of the local council of Knights of Columbus at a meeting held Monday evening. Other officers elected were: Percy Wilder, deputy grand knight; J. J. Dunlap, treasurer; Gerald Rafter, recorder; Ralph Lynch, chancellor; Axel Larson, advocate; Paul Norman, warden; Lee Johnson, inside guard; Leo Norman, outside guard; James Mahowald, trustee.

Minot, N. D.—Charging that the city administration handled the recent I. W. W. riots in a disgraceful manner, Rev. P. W. Erickson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, made a plea from his pulpit for the support of the Socialist candidates in the recall election set for next Saturday.

Beach, N. D.—Charged with selling mortgaged wheat, J. Hammeral of Burkey was arrested on complaint of a local lumber company.

Kenmare, N. D.—Jasper Longanecker was so terribly injured by a Soo train that he died a few hours later.

Bowman, N. D.—Sixty head of cattle are reported to have been stolen from the ranch of P. Peters of this county.

Tabor, S. D.—Tobias Unruh, a farmer, was fatally hurt as the result of being kicked by one of his horses.

Murdo, S. D.—After a chase extending half across the state Deputy Sheriff McQueen has recovered a valuable team which was stolen from the farm of Henry Kuhse.

Lennox, S. D.—New structures, consisting of business houses and residences, to the aggregate value of $80,000, have been erected in Lennox.

Hudson, S. D.—The young son of Richard Timmer died from injuries received when he was run over by an automobile driven by F. C. Johnson.

Rutland, N. D.—As a result of a case of smallpox, the Rutland hotel has been placed in quarantine.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Crookston—Friends here are interested in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Alice Lenora Leischmann, formerly of Crookston, to Harry W. Lindaman of Columbus. The wedding took place at Houston, Tex., Oct. 7, and the young people will be at home at Columbus after Oct. 25. The bride graduated from the Crookston high school afterwards graduating from the Moorhead normal school.

St. James—Charles Sellers fell from a hay loft and died of his injuries.

Mankato—Three horses belonging to J. B. Lien were struck by lightning while in a pasture. They were valued at $500.

New Ulm—Fire destroyed the Herman Pfaender residence, causing a loss of $2,000 on the building and $1,000 on the contents.

Sabin—A wedding of interest took place last week at Sabin, when Nicholas Becker of Grand Forks was united in marriage to Miss Martha Krabbenhorf. The groom is an engineer on the Great Northern railroad.

Floodwood—Miss Mae Nagle, daughter of Judge Frank J. and Mrs. Nagle, one of Floodwood's popular young belles, left Thursday for International Falls where she became the bride of George W. Richardson of Big Falls, Minn., at which place he holds a responsible position with the Bradley Timber & Railway Supply company.

Minneapolis — Announcements have been received of the marriage of Miss Clare Amelia Cross of Minneapolis to Dr. Frederick Andrews Kiehle, which took place Oct. 2 at St. Mary's church, Iffley, Oxfordshire, Eng. They will be at home after Jan. 1 at 266 North Twenty-fifth street, Portland, Or.

Bemidji—That Bemidji has talented actors was proved Monday evening when the Dramatic Club of St. Philip's church presented "Finnegan's Fortune," a three-act farcial comedy. Not only was the play a success but the crowd that turned out to witness the production made it one of the biggest financial successes for a play given by a dramatic club of this city. The proceeds of the evening are estimated at nearly $200.

Bemidji—Arrangements for the consolidation of the Bemidji Examiner and the Minnesota Socialist of St. Paul, the offical organ of the Socialist party in Minnesota, have been completed and the first edition will be printed this week.

St. Cloud—Cupid again visited the McKenzie home on the banks of the picturesque Mississippi river, 523 Fifth avenue north. One week ago Mrs. Martha McKenzie gave an elaborate wedding to her daughter, Mrytle, to Paul Sand of Portage, Wis. Tuesday her son, Albert Stone, from the same residence, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Miss Christina Margaret Duns, of this city. The wedding took place at high noon.

Cass Lake—Litigation of long standing has been settled by a decision which has been made public by the Cass Lake land office, in which the register and receiver have decided that Charles G. Johnson is the rightful owner of a homestead located near Shooks. Soon after Mr. Johnson had made entry for the land in 1912, A. F. Anderson, at one time a partner of Mr. Johnson, sought to contest the entry, claiming that at the time of the entry the contestant was in rightful possession, by tax title, of the premises.

WHO rode to the forum of public discussion with the statement that baseball is a cold and brutal pastime, in so far as the sentiment of the game is concerned? Find the gink, search for him, oh gents, with a lantern of more brilliant rays than the one Diogenes used, and when he is caught make him retract the statement.

Branch Rickey, the plodding and new manager of the St. Louis Browns is to have ten years to make good. Careful analysis of the situation at St. Louis would lead one to the belief that the new pilot of the Browns will need about fifty, but then that is quite beside the question.

However, be that as it turns out to be, the mere matter of granting some hired hand ten years to make good in plainly shows that the game of the diamond is, after all, ruled by the bonds of brotherly love. Where, brothers, outside of one of the numerous state prisons would they let a man ramble on for ten long years with the inborn belief that in the end he would make good?

Goin' to See the Bout.

BILL HART and Walter Liginger, members of the Wisconsin state boxing commission, and H. H. Hedding, the father of the law, it was announced yesterday, would come up to the Head of the Lakes and take in the Walters-Kelly bout.

Hart ambled to the first contest in these parts under the Hedding law, but this will be the first jaunt of Liginger.

Hedding was on hand at Kenosha, Wis., the other evening and made the promoters shell out to Gibbons. The author of the state law declared that the promoters would have to pay even if the loss for the evening gravely totaled $500. Mr. Hedding has the correct idea. After some of the other promoters have lost large and luscious amounts, there will be less promiscuous guaranteeing of large amounts to the boxers. The providers of the glove entertainment are worth just what they can draw—and no more.

Walters Coming Early.

SOL ABRAHAMS received one of the wire slips yesterday announcing that Billy Walters, the gink who is to swap punches with "Spike" Kelly on the large evening of Oct. 23, will reach here tomorrow and will put in what time he has between tomorrow and the evening of the bout in requiring condition and general aplomb. By joining the B. V. D. club and hiking over some of our large and lovely hills Mr. Walters will acquire health and glowing complacency.

Let 'em Shake Once Again.

NOW that Nelson has had his wish and now also that Wolgast has shown to the world that he is still the better preserved of the two once hardy warriors, it is hoped that the boys will shake and bury the hatchet of hate and malice that they have belted about since the well-known quarrel at Richmond some few years agone.

Nelson has persistently referred to Wolgast as the cheese champion. Wolgast in turn declared that the Battler was an old and feeble man and a person for whom he entertained nothing but pity and deep commiseration. Let the boys get their feet together under a table and forget the asperities. They have been excellent enemies, out of the ripeness of their pugilistic years let there spring the sweet waters of firm friendship.

As to Mike and Fred.

WHEN it comes to the point of having friends in Duluth there is little to choose between Beell and Yokel. Both stand high in the estimation of the fans of this town—from the standpoint of wrestling ability and also from the personal friendship equation.

Both are clean wrestlers; both of the boys are the kind of athletes to inspire friendship. If these two are the ones to meet, then there will be little to choose in the attitude of those who witness the contest.

Should Chris Jordon prove the winner over Yokel in the contest of Oct. 27, the case may be different. In the event of Jordon wrestling Freddy in this town, the Greek would be a stranger and it would be an old and tried friend in the person of Freddy Beell opposing the stranger in the case of Jordon.

Great as the popularity of Yokel is here, it is very doubtful if there is a wrestler in the country who possesses the personal following in Duluth that is held by the little Dutch farmer of Marshfield.

Will They Spend, Leslie?

RUMOR creepeth upon nimble limbs in the wake of the famous. Thus do we hear that Leslie Bush, the famous boy pitcher is about to open a billiard parlor in Brainerd. All of the fellows in the town will come and gaze on the boy who stopped the Giants at the time when the gang believed that Connie had shot his last bolt—but, will they spend money to help Les pay for the new tables, incandescent lights in gilded cages, like the young and beautifully unhappy bride, the plush chairs and other accoutrements of the first-class place? That's the question. Other athletes in the past have doped the spending part of the thing quite wrongly.

Virginia Coming Strong.

WITH Rosenwald and Hank Boyle, the Michigan star, in the lineup of the Virginia team, there may be an unexpected ending to the game of next Sunday. One of the most significant considerations in connection with this game is the fact that there are many here who believe thoroughly and firmly that the Virginia aggregation is going to take the measure of the West enders. At least it doesn't look as if the Adams will walk away with the Rademacher bunch.

TO CELEBRATE RETURN OF PITCHER BUSH

Young Baseball Hero to Be Banqueted By Brainerd Townsmen.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Old managers of the Brainerd baseball team, D. A. Peterson and T. H. Considine, have arranged for a banquet to celebrate Leslie Bush's return from the Philadelphia Athletics. There will be seats for 250. The Brainerd city band will meet him at the depot and autos will convey Bush and the reception committee to his home. A parade will follow, led by the band, autos, fans and probably a delegation of Chippewas from Walker, the latter to pay tribute to Bender's share in the great victory over the Giants. Moving picture machines will snap the procession. Following the banquet there will be a dance at Gardner hall. The exact date of Bush's coming is not known, although it was rumored it might be this week.

NOT YET SCORED ON IN AMERICA

New Zealand Rugby Team Defeating All They Meet.

Stanford University, Cal., Oct. 16.—The All-Black rugby aggregation from New Zealand gave emphasis yesterday to its captain's recent criticism that American college teams had not mastered the rudiments of rugby, when it smothered the Stanford varsity by a score of 54 to 0. In every department of rugby, the New Zealanders overwhelmed their opponents.

Much interest centered in the game because of recent comment by the leader of the All-Blacks, who said the rugby teams they had met in America were novices at the game.

The New Zealand team has now played four games in this country and has not yet been scored against.

MANY ELIMINATED.

Women's Golf Championship Contest Is Narrowing Down.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 16.—Miss Mary Dodd, English and Canadian champion, and Miss Mabel Harrison, the Irish title holder, won their matches in the second round for the women's national golf championship yesterday on the links of the Wilmington Country club. The American survivors who will enter the third round with the visitors today are Miss Marion Hollins of New York, metropolitan champion; Miss Harriet Curtis and Miss Fanny Osgood of Boston; Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck and Miss B. H. Fitler of Philadelphia.

The Canadian, Western, New Jersey and Delaware entries were all eliminated in yesterday's rounds. Miss Violet Pooly of British Columbia was defeated by Miss Dodd, 5 and 3 to play, and Miss Florence Harvey of Hamilton, Can., lost to Miss Hollins, 1 up.

Miss Myra Holmar, Western champion; Miss Caroline Painter, Miss Colburn and Miss Elaine Rosenthal, all of Chicago, lost their matches to Miss Osgood, Miss Harrison, Mrs. Vanderbeck and Miss Ravenscroft respectively. Mrs. H. R. Stockton of Plainfield, N. J., who on Tuesday defeated Miss Margaret Curtis, holder of the American championship since 1911, lost yesterday to Miss Harriet Curtis, a sister of the defeated champion. Miss A. L. Cahn, New York, was defeated by Mrs. Fitler.

Mrs. Vanderbeck, who will meet the British and Canadian title holder in the third round today, had the best score for the best nine holes. In her match with Miss Colburn she went out in forty-one strokes. Miss Dodd, who had the next best score, outward, took one more stroke.

NOT MUCH CHANCE FOR A CHANGE

World's Series Not Likely to Be Replaced By Round Robin.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—There is little likelihood that the world's series as played for the last half dozen seasons between pennant-winning teams of the National and American leagues, will be replaced by a general inter-league conflict in which every club of one circuit would meet every one in the other.

B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, yesterday expressed that opinion, arguing that, for the good of the game, the present system should be retained, because of the great interest the series between the champions creates in every town and hamlet.

The proposal of August Herrmann, chairman of the national commission, for the round robin series, was first made several years ago, but not until this fall was it accorded much support. It is possible Mr. Herrmann may get the commission at its meeting here Monday to take up the matter with the clubs, but President Johnson's opposition to the plan probably will delay its adoption for some time at least.

AMERICANS WIN FIRST AND SECOND.

Paris, Oct. 16. — Official announcement is made of the victory of the American balloon Goodyear in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup. The last competitor, the Frankfurt, representing Austria, was reported as having landed at Sougeal, near Saint Malo, on the English channel.

The American aeronouts also secured second place with the balloon piloted by Capt. H. E. Honeywell, while Italy was third with the balloon of Signor Pastine.

GOOD SCORES EXPECTED.

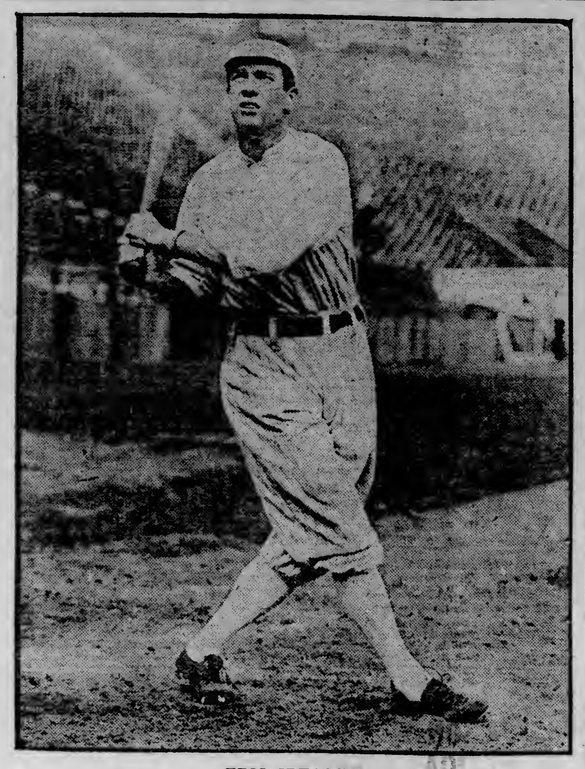

Conditions for Play of Western Open Golf Championship Good.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16. — John Gatherume of Blue Island, Ill., and David Wilson of Portland, Me., were the first to tee off this morning in the contest for the Western open golf championship.

Sixty players were to participate and a 72-hole journey at medal play had been mapped out.

The field is a representative one, including some of the best golfers in the United States. McDonald Smith, present champion will defend his title. The course is fast and with the present weather conditions the prediction is that low scores will feature the tournament.

PLAY BRILLIANT GOLF.

Boston Pair Take Prelude to Championship Tourney.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 16. — Tommy McNamara and W. R. Brady, Boston, with a score of 141, won first honors yesterday in the 36-hole best ball foursome prelude to the open championship tournament of the Western Golf association, which starts over the Memphis Country club course today. Fred McLeod, Chevy Chase and Stewart Maiden, Atlanta, tied with R. Simpson, unattached, and J. B. Simpson, Milwaukee, for second place, one stroke behind McNamara and Brady, and likewise two teams, Dave Patrick and George Bingley, Memphis, and Herbert Strong, Long Island, and McDonald Smith, New Rochelle, were tied with the next best score, 142.

The Boston pair played ordinary golf in the morning round, taking 73 for the eighteen holes, but in the afternoon, they made up for the deficiency of their morning play with a 68, two strokes better than the second best 18-hole score turned in by the Simpsons. McNamara played brilliant golf.

In all twenty-one teams competed in the match.

GEERS DRIVES WINNER OF CASTLETON CUP.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 16.—Anvil, driven by the veteran Pop Geers, easily won the Castleton cup, the feature of yesterday's Grand Circuit races, beating Cheney in straight heats. Cheney finished second in the first heat and third in the second, Robert Milrol taking second place in the final round. The gold cup donated by David M. Look, owner of Castleton stock farm, was presented to Mr. Geers.

The 2:11 trot went to five heats, and was won by Redlac, Jr., after the son of Redlac had lost the first and third heats. Cox brought him back in good shape in the fourth and fifth. Ramey Constantine won the first and third heats, but got a poor start in the last and finished fourth in that heat.

The pacing division of the Kentucky futurity, a two-horse race, was won by Homer Baughman in straight heats, Tillie Tipton being his opponent.

The 2:16 pace was won in straight heats by Great Scott, second money going to Donald McKay.

BOWLING SEASON SHOULD BE BEST IN GAME'S HISTORY.

With the frost on the pumpkin, so to speak, the thoughts of the bowlers are again turning to the pin game. It begins to look as if bowling is going to enjoy the greatest success in the history of its development here. Plans are being made at the present time for a new alley in West Duluth, while the owners of all the alleys in the downtown district are planning for the heaviest schedule since the pin game first took a firm hold in Duluth.

Walter Ryberg, one of the best authorities on the game in the Northwest, was here yesterday. He stated that there was little doubt that Duluth was in for the best season of the game, and that he looked for the Zenith City to send the strongest teams to the I. B. A. this year that have ever been sent from the Head of the Lakes.

There are a number of young bowlers coming to the front here, and with the veteran stars it is believed that Duluth will make a very gratifying showing at the International meet.

FRESHMEN HOLD REGULARS.

Princeton Team Has a Hard Time With the Scrubs.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 16.—With five of their regualrs out of the game, the freshman football eleven held the Princeoton varsity to 15 to 9 in forty-five minutes' scrimmage. Hogg, a former Andover guard, proved a Nemesis for the Tiger backs and not until he was removed could the varsity make any consistent gains. Hogg, with Capt. Driggs at fullback for the freshmen, and Eigler, a freshman tackle, kept Capt. Baker so well covered that his attempts to get away on a long run were futile.

Driggs broke through the varsity line for a 65-yard run, and a touchdown, while Logers, quarter for the Cubs, kicked a field goal from the 43-yard line.

Capt Baker has started again to do the punting for the varsity.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 16.—The St. Thomas college football team defeated the University of North Dakota here yesterday by a score of 6 to 0.

Illini Regulars Defeated.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 16.—The University of Illinois football squad defeated the regulars in yesterday's scrimmage by two field goals. Coach Zuppke announced he would have secret practice the rest of the week to prepare for Northwestern.

New Billiard Record.

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Willard Ralph in a pocket billiard match with Morris Fink last night made what is claimed to be a new record for a five consecutive run, when he pocketed 73 balls straight. The best run at pool is 85, made by Benny Allen in Boston in 1909, while the highest previous run under the new rules is said to have been 59, made by De Oro. Ralph won the game by the score of 150 to 31.

Has Some New Plays.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—The Northwestern university football squad made a good showing in a scrimmage against the freshmen yesterday. The line has been braced and it is expected to make a better showing than in the past. Coach Grady has evolved a number of new plays which he believes will be effective against Illinois.

More Brilliant Playing.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, the British professional golf champions, gave another exhibition match here yesterday, defeating Ennis Miller and Jesse Carleton on the Normandie links. Ray negotiated the difficult course in 72, which has 79 for bogey, and Vardon in 75.

PLANS ARE BEING MADE FOR BOXING TOURNAMENT

Arrangements are being made at the present time by officials and members of the Lakeside Athletic club to hold the biggest amateur boxing and wrestling tournament in the history of the Northwest. The tournament, according to the tentative plans, will be held at the Auditorium during the coming month.

It has been decided to throw open the lists to all amateurs in the Northwest. With all the simon pure mittmen eligible to compete, it is believed by President Ryberg that some of the crack glovemen of the Twin Cities will journey to Duluth in quest of the handsome medals that will be hung up in the various events.

The tournament plan was tried out here for the first time last winter. It proved a thorough success. In the Eastern cities and in Minneapolis and notably Denver, Col., amateur tournaments have proven a big success.

The Lakeside club can boast of some very clever boxers and wrestlers at the present time. There are a number of others in the city, and with outside amateurs to compete in the tournament there would be a large number of bouts on the program.

Duluth Amateurs Strong.

In the matter of glove work it is believed that the boxers of Duluth can hold their own with any of those from the outside. Winners of the tournament of last year have announced their willingness to compete against any from the outside.

In the event of a number of outside amateurs stating their willingness to come here and box with the medal winners of the Duluth tournament of a year ago, it is probable that a sanction will be asked from the Central association of the Amateur Athletic union, and the various winners would then hold a clear amateur title of this section of the Northwest.

CENTRAL EXPECTS HARD GAME WITH RANGE TEAM

Queen City Aggregation Defeated Superior Central During Season.

In former seasons the game with Virginia was regarded in the lurid light of a joke; the game with the range team for next Saturday is looked upon as the hardest test of the present season.

Earlier in the year the Virginia eleven defeated the Superior Central high school team by the score of 13 to 0. The range eleven is being coached by Rademacher, who has been giving his time to both the high school and the town teams of the range city. Virginia has won every game on its schedule to date and is coming here fully confident that it has the best high school team by far that has ever been turned out on the range and one fully equal to the task of defeating Duluth.

Players Get Theirs.

The three days of the present week have been ardently devoted to practice—and call downs. Members of the Central squad have, verbally speaking, been getting theirs. There isn't a man on the team who hasn't been raked forward and aft with the withering canister of criticism, and if the boys don't go into the game of Saturday thoroughly sweetened and awakened to the responsibilities that confront them, the power of words is grievously overestimated.

Speaking purely from the side of football, lest some of the more esthetic be prone to make long, thin and very straight lines with their mouths, it can be said that the souls of the players have been thrown in the dust and rudely trampled upon. Those who have played the game will understand. Any member of the squad in the least inclined to be somewhat chesty before the game with Grand Forks, is at the present time hoping that he will be allowed to play in the game with Virginia and thus show that there is at least the instinct of football bound up in him some place.

Stars Will Be There.

It is believed at this time that Du Moe and Banks will be in the game with Virginia. A story published to the effect that these boys would be barred has been denounced as untimely and without foundation. It is expected that every member of the team will be able to play—and, moreover, it is expected that the game against Virginia will be the best that Central has shown during the present season.

The contest of Saturday will be the last of the season on the home grounds. As the athletic association is at the present time in the mire of financial difficulties, it is desired that the crowd will be the largest that has witnessed a game at Athletic park during the present season.

On the following Friday the Central boys will journey to St. Paul, while on the first of next month comes the annual game with the Superior Central high school. Therefore the game with Virginia will be the last one of the present season to be played on the home lot.

Expect a Hard Game.

"I look for the hardest game of the present season," said Coach Schilling today. "Not only do we look for a strong team in the Virginia team, but we also believe that Central will be compelled to play a game better than any of the season, if we are going to win. The Virginia high school has a very large attendance this year and the members of the athletic association have gone systematically about the task of putting a fast and aggressive team in the field. If the reports that have reached us are correct, and they are surely borne out by the defeat of the Superior Central by the Virginia team, then we are going to have the hardest contest of the season when we line up against the range eleven."

This afternoon Central will be put through the hardest scrimmage of the entire year. During all of the week the work has been generously heaped upon the shoulders of the members of the team, and the result of this grind should be apparent in the work of the boys.

HURL VEGETABLES AND FRUIT AT JUDGE

Suffragettes Resent Sentencing of Arson Squad Pair.

Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 16.—Two militant suffragettes, Margaret Morrison, an artist, and Mrs. Smith, a physician, were sentenced here to eight months' imprisonment for attempting on July 24 to set fire to the residence of the late Sir John Muir, former lord mayor of Glasgow. Irate suffragettes hurled vegetables and apples at the judge's head and sang the "Marseillaise." Three women were arrested.

A RELIC OF GREATNESS, BATTLING NELSON SHOULD BE MADE TO QUIT

(BY BRUCE.)

"Someone should keep Battling Nelson out of the ring."—From the Chicago Journal.

Here is the pathetic end of one of the greatest of all the lightweights of all time. There will be those who will dispute as to the point of the greatest, holding Lavigne and Gans in the narrow chutes of supremacy ahead of the Dane; but there can be none to argue over the question of the gameness of the passing figure of ring history.

It has been generally believed that Battling Nelson was worth in the neighborhood of $250,000. From Chicago comes the report that the Durable Dane—he that was, like the man Kipling wrote of—is land poor and that he is fighting for ready money.

That statement is not certain; it is merely given for what it is worth. For some time the knowledge has been hinted at. There are those who will tell you that Nelson is penny wise and pound foolish; that while he would save and scimp, he would give up a large slice of the coin of the realm for some bogus stock or some equally worthless real estate.

The Dane Is Through.

If these statements are true, more is the pity. If there ever lived a man deserving of a rest from the labors of his career, this individual is this same Battling Nelson.

Taking several accounts of the meeting with Wolgast in Milwaukee as the basis of an opinion, it must be believed that poor old Nelson formed but a pathetic contrast to the Nelson that once presented the nearest approach to a human dynamo that the ring has ever seen.

In training it was found necessary to hire a special sparring instructor for the Dane, and instruct this individual not to hit Bat in the face. The cauliflower ears are subject to puffing and bleeding when the Dane receives a blow, and the nose of this wonderful fighter has been broken in a score of places—almost.

Another thing, Nelson's hands are gone, so say the Chicago writers. The once serviceable maulers of this wonderful piece of fighting machinery, are now almost worthless instruments of punishment and he lacks the old punch as he can't hit without the danger of breaking his hands.

Can't Hear Very Well.

If the Journal man is correct, the seconds of the Dane had to signal when the rounds were over. Excessive punishment about the head has made the Battler almost as deaf as a post.

With hands gone, with his ears a puffed and swollen burlesque on the floppers that hang at the sides of the head of the average human; with his stamina but a meager portion of the vitality of the great Nelson of the past, Bat, unconquerable to the very end, the kind of a person who would reach out with a dying and withered hand to strike at his enemy, is in the ring because an unconquerable heart beats in the body that is but a shadow of the iron frame of the former champion of the world.

"Through the blood of blows you see that grinning face coming at you. I hit Nelson a hundred times hard enough to stop ten men and he only grinned and relentlessly pursued me, never stopping, never ceasing that demoniac grin, and always with the lust of victory in his eyes. The gamest man will quail before that inhuman devil of a man."

That was the Battler of the past. He beat men because the very iron of endurance was in his blood—because he was half inhuman; a sort of devilman.

Paying the Price.

And now the Battler is paying the price. For several years Nelson has been a sort of monomaniac. The writer talked with Bat in Winnipeg, a little over a year ago. He talked incessantly and parrot-like on the great chance he had of beating Wolgast if the then champion would give him another battle. Bat would not admit that Wolgast was a great fighter, his belief taking the form of an obsession.

Nelson was never a great puncher; he jolted and hurt and went on and wore out his opponent. His endurance and the miraculous ability to assimilate the deadliest punches of any fighter in the whole big world made him the champion of his class. Corbett, Gans, Herrera and others could punch harder than the Dane. But no fighter in the world could take the punishment that the Battler could stand with seeming immunity—and no fighter possessed the lion-like heart of this descendant of the old and unconquerable Vikings.

But Nelson is through, and it seems a strange and immutable law of the ring, as well established as the ancient statutes of the Medes and Persians, that the average champion comes to a lowly finish. Why don't they stop? Why doesn't the average business man quit the game, leave its drive and smash, its tear and wear, when he has accumulated a comfortable fortune? How old is Ann?

They don't quit, Bill, but it is time that someone made this relic of the days of his greatness stop before he is killed in the four hempen walls of the ring.

WILSON APPROVES COMMERCIAL PLAN

Gives Sanction to Redfield's Scheme for Reorganization.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson has written a letter to Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce, approving in its entirety the latter's plan for a reorganization of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, with an annual appropriation for expenses increased from $323,300 to approximately $670,000.

It was this bureau which Mr. Redfield, in his speech recently before the National Association of Lithographers, had recommended as a means of ascertaining the cost of production, wages and general factory conditions of the American industries.

The recommendations which Mr. Redfield submitted in a memorandum to the president and which have been approved, will provide that the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce should have a tariff section, which would investigate "whenever industrial changes shall make it essential that the cost of producing articles at the time dutiable in the United States, in leading countries where such articles are produced, details of wages, comparative cost of living and general business operations abroad."

Supplement Consuls.

A force of fourteen commercial commissioners will be authorized under the plan to act as a supplement to the consular service. The consular officers of the state department would be required to report directly to the secretary of commerce with reference to commercial matters. The commercial commissioners would be accredited to certain countries, but they would in some cases have districts including several countries. These commercial attaches would report to the secretary of commerce and would aid in the general work of the bureau in collecting information and assisting the promotion of commerce for the United States.

"We have spent several hundred million dollars preparing the Panama canal," Mr. Redfield said, "and the nations of the world have been getting ready for its use while we have done almost nothing actively to promote the commerce which should repay the nation, in part, at least, for this vast outlay."

H. L. WILSON TALKS OF MEXICAN AFFAIRS

"Looks Like Intervention," Says the Former Ambassador.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 16.—"The developments of the day look like intervention," said Henry Lane Wilson of Spokane, former United States ambassador to Mexico, who arrived yesterday on a brief visit to his home town.

"There cannot possibly be any question of withdrawing of recognition of the present Mexican administration by any government. Recognition of a government cannot be withdrawn, according to well established principles and precedents, once recognition has been accorded. All governments accredited in Mexico have recognized the present administration and are in full sympathy with it.

"The election on Oct. 26 will be just as free as any other Mexican election ever held, but it might be well to understand that no free election has ever been held in Mexico.

"The associated Press carries a Mexico City dispatch to the effect that the Spanish minister has called a meeting of the diplomatic corps. When I retired the Spanish minister automatically became dean of the diplomatic corps. It is customary for the dean to call a meeting of the corps when two or three make a request for such a meeting, and no special significance should be attached to the call at this time."

EARNINGS GROW; STOCK SELLS OFF

Duluth Street Railway Affected By Attack on Franchise.

Duluth Street Railway company continues to show substantial gains in its volume of traffic. Its earnings for the first week of October were reported at $24,298, an increase of $11,419 over the corresponding week of last year. Judging from the present indications, it is estimated that the road will exhibit a gain of nearly $100,000 in its gross earnings for the present year over those of 1912.

Comparisons are now being made with the strike period last year when the company's income was seriously affected, the falling off in receipts being in evidence then from the beginning of September until the week of Nov. 7.

As a result of the attack on its franchise, the company's stock has shown a declining tendency of late on the Eastern exchanges. It sold off to $63 a share on the Toronto stock exchange this week.

WILL GIVE CLASS THE THIRD DEGREE

Duluth and Out-of-Town Masons Will Meet Saturday Night.

Between 200 and 300 Masons, many of them from out of the city, are expected to attend the joint meeting of Palestine lodge, No. 79, and Ionic lodge, No. 186, A. F. & A. M., Saturday evening at the Masonic temple when the third degree will be conferred on a class of candidates.

The lodges of Superior, West Duluth, Cloquet, Two Harbors, Virginia and other range towns have been invited to send delegations to the affair. The ceremonies are open to all Masons.

A lunch will follow the ceremonial work of the evening.

DIAZ IN DANGER OF ASSASSINATION.

Havana, Oct. 16.—Gen. Felix Diaz, who is on his way from Europe to Mexico, is believed to be in danger of assassination on his arrival at Havana. The Cuban government has received information that a band of Mexican conspirators are planning to kill Gen. Diaz, who will reach here Friday evening or Saturday morning.

FILIPINOS TO BE MAJORITY

President Wilson and Secretary Garrison Choose Natives.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson and Secretary Garrison have selected the following Filipinos to be members of the Philippine commission:

Victorino Mapa, Jaime C. De Veyra, Vicente Ilustre, Vicente Singson. Mapa will be secretary of finance and justice.

The fifth Filipino commissioner will be Raphael Palma, who since 1908 has been the only native on the commission. His resignation was not accepted.

The designation of five natives to majority control of the committee of nine, marks the first step in the policy of the Wilson administration aiming at self-government and ultimate independence for the Philippines. Governor-General Harrison recommended the native commissioners, stating that they were among the most prominent and best educated of the islanders.

Who They Are.

The war department made the following sketches of the new commissioners, whose names will go to the senate at once:

Victorino Mapa, about 59 years old, has been an attorney since 1877; has occupied the position of register of deeds of Iloilo and minister of Iloilo and since 1899 has been an associate justice of the supreme court in the Philippine islands. He visited the United States in 1904 as a member of the honorary board of commissioners to the St. Louis exposition. In politics he is a Progressista.

Jamie C. De Veyra, born in 1873 and educated in Manila, is a journalist. He has been governor of Leyte and a member of the Philippine assembly from that province. In politics he is a Naccelanista.

Velto Ilustre has practiced law in the city of Manila since 1904. He has never held office under the American government. He is a Naccelanista in politics.

Bachelor of Arts.

Vincent Singson, born in 1875, took his degree of bachelor of arts at Manila in 1894 and is a graduate of law of the University of Santo Tomas. He is president of the Progressista party and its leader in the assembly.

Raphael Palma, who continues in office, was born in Manila in 1874. During the insurrection he was connected with several newspapers, and was admitted to the bar in 1901 and was a member of the first Philipine assembly from the province of Cavite. He was appointed a member of the Philippine commission in 1908.

In the appointments to the commission three members have been selected from the Nationalist or majority party and two from the Progressive or minority party.

Two have been appointed from the Visayan islands, Manila and the neighboring provinces are given two members and one is from the Llocano province in the north of Luzon.

BIG INCREASE IN GROSS EARNINGS

Great Northern railroad's gross earnings showed an increase of $12,494,948 during the fiscal year ending June 30 last. On account largely of liberal outlays for betterments charged up to current revenue, operating expenses were heavier to the extent of $8,196,707, leaving a net revenue equal to 11.69 per cent on the company's $209,990,750 outstanding stock.

It was shown in the report that the Allouez Bay Dock company's property was purchased last January. As a part of the transaction, 19,995 shares of the Duluth, Superior & Western Terminal company were surrendered in exchange for $2,015,000 mortgage notes of the dock company.

The total amount paid for new equipment and betterment during the year was reported at $8,055,109. For the construction of new lines $6,050,323 was disbursed during the twelve months.

As a result of the Minnesota rate case decision, the company charged $750,000 out of its income to cover refunds estimated to be due shippers under it.

NIGHT COURSE IN ENGINEERING

Practical Studies for Contractors Under University Extension Department.

A new course of study that will prove of great interest to Duluth architects, contractors and builders is to be started in the near future by Fred H. Waldron, Jr., under the auspices of the university extension department. The work will cover important phases of engineering of the most practical nature.

"The course at the beginning," said Mr. Waldron, "will cover the theories of stress and strains, practical and theoretical discussion of reinforced concrete, hydraulics and other branches. More advanced work will be done during the second semester, which will begin after Christmas."

Mr. Waldron said that many of the leading architects and business men in the city will take the course. The cost for the semester will be $7.50. The lectures will be given one night in each week at the Industrial high school building.

The work will be under the engineering department of the state university, and will put the student in position to get a regular college certificate. Mr. Waldron says that boys, who contemplate an engineering course at the university, can greatly shorten their course, by doing the work in this course.

UNVEIL MEMORIAL TO GEN. BRADDOCK.

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 16.—In the presence of dignitaries of England and America and thousands of spectators, the memorial to Gen. Braddock, the famous English general killed by Indians in the fall of 1755, was unveiled yesterday in Braddock park, ten miles from here, in the mountains. Miss Frances Howell of the Colonial Dames initiated the tributes. Among other speakers was P. C. Knox, former American secretary of state. Gen. Codrington thanked the people of the United States for inviting him to so important a ceremony. He brought the greetings of his countrymen and the British army.

"Royal Ladies" in Session.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 16.—The national convention of the supreme lodge, Royal Ladies, in eighteenth annual session, yesterday afternoon selected Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for the convention next year. The body also raised the per capita assessment of the organization 5 cents. Officers were elected last evening, and the convention adjourned.

Relief for Catarrh Sufferers Now FREE

You Can Now Treat This Trouble in Your Own Home and Get Relief at Once.

How the Remedy for Catarrh Was Discovered.

By the new method the nose and throat are treated by an effective local remedy applied directly to the afflicted membranes.

THIS terrible disease has raged unchecked for years simply because symptoms have been treated while the vicious germs that cause the trouble have been left to circulate in the blood, and bring the disease back as fast as local treatments could relieve it.

C. E. Gauss, who experimented for years on a treatment for Catarrh, found that after perfecting a balm that relieved the nose and throat troubles quickly, he could not prevent the trouble beginning all over again.

The Elixir taken into the stomach, has a direct influence upon the mucous membranes of the body and cures the disease by removing the cause.

On test cases, he could completely remove all signs of Catarrh from nose and throat, but in a few weeks they were back.

Careful experiments and investigations have shown that as the troubles were expelled from the nose and throat, the real cause of the disease was overlooked and in a short time the Catarrh would return stronger then ever. Mr. Gauss has gone away ahead of the ordinary methods of treatment and has provided a remedy that and immediately gives relief to the nose and throat.

Kills the Germs in the Blood

He perfected the New Combined Treatment, since admitted to be the logical, sure, scientific method.

Reese Jones of Scranton, Penn., says that after trying many other treatments, he used this new method and—"My nose is now entirely clear and free and I am not bothered by the disease any more. The New Combined Treatment is worth its weight in gold."

Temporary relief from catarrh may be obtained in other ways, but the New Combined Treatment must inevitably be accepted for permanent results.

Sarah J. Cape, Mount Pella, Tenn., says, "I suffered the pains and distress of catarrh for thirteen years and needless to state, tried nearly every method. But by your new method I was completely cured and you cannot imagine the joy that has come over me."

Goes to the Root of

- Stopped up noses
- Constant, "frog - in - the - throat"
- Nasal discharges
- Hawking and spitting
- Snoring at night
- Bad Breath
- Frequent colds
- Difficult breathing
- Smothering sensation in dreams
- Sudden fits of sneezing
- Dry mucous in nose

and any of the other symptoms that indicate approaching or present catarrh.

Trial Treatment FREE

This new method is so important to the welfare of humanity, so vital to every person suffering from any form of catarrh, that the opportunity to actually test it and prove its results, will be gladly extended without one cent of cost.

A large trial treatment, with complete, minute directions, will be sent free to any catarrh-sufferer.

Send no money, take no risks, make no promises. Simply clip, sign and mail the coupon and the test package of the New Combined Treatment will be sent fully prepaid, together with the valuable book on Catarrh.

Have A Case Sent Home

IT'S a mighty fine thing to have a case of beer in your cellar. It provides for an ever-ready beverage for meals, lunches, etc. or for mere refreshment of the most healthful kind.

Fitger's Beer

is particularly well adapted for the home on account of its purity and extra healthfulness. If you could spare the time to be shown through the brewery and bottling house you would understand why it is so good. Physicians recommend it as a tonic and builder of good, rich blood. For convalescents and nursing mothers it is the ideal liquid food.

ON THE IRON RANGES

UNIVERSITY GRADS AT BANQUET BOARD

Grand Rapids Alumni Honors Prexy Vincent and Range Guests.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Seventy-five members of the county and range alumni attended the banquet given in the Pokegama hotel last night by the Grand Rapids alumni of the University of Minnesota. The guest of honor was President George E. Vincent of the university. The decorations were pink roses, which were used on the table and at each cover.

Previous to the banquet an informal reception was held in the hotel parlors. The Grand Rapids orchestra played during the reception, and for the program which followed the banquet.

The toastmaster was Willis M. West, formerly of the history department of the university. Prof. George J. Young was the first speaker, taking as his subject "The University Man and His Responsibilities," then followed the roll call, the representatives including graduates from Deer River, Hibbing, the Canisteo and Virginia.

The selection by the quartet was omitted and Mrs. R. A. McOuat sang in place of the number. Prof. E. H. Comstock spoke on "The University and Minnesota's Natural Resources." Mrs R. A. McOuat sang a second solo. L. B. Johnson, for many years registrar at the university and now in charge of the Alumni Weekly, told of the "General Association."

The last speaker was President Vincent, who chose as his subject "The State-wide Campus," and proved one of the most interesting speakers of the evening. Judge C. W. Stanton of Bemidji, who was to have been one of the speakers was, at the last moment, unavoidably detained.

The program closed with the singing of "Hail Minnesota," at 1:15 a. m.

FALL FROM HORSE SHATTERS MAN'S MIND

Itasca County Farmer, Recently Injured, Is Taken to Insane Asylum.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Benjamin Wiley of Sugar Brook, south of Pokegama lake, who was hurt several weeks ago while busting a broncho on his farm, was discharged from St. Benedict's hospital here today, and was taken to the state asylum for the insane at Fergus Falls on the noon train. Mr. Wiley, while physically quite strong again, seems unable to remember anything of what hapened before he was thrown by the horse. It is believed that the derangement will be only temporary, and that the committment which was ordered by Judge of Probate Clarence B. Webster will not need to be permanent.

SLOT MACHINE BOY MUST GO TO WORK.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — Clarence Cayo, the young boy found in the ball park making lead slugs with which to play slot machines must find work in the village or be beyond its boundaries within twelve hours, according to the action of the local officials.

It is not believed that the lad had any criminal intent, but that he had a passion for hearing the ragtime music of the electric pianos or a craving for gum, chocolate and matches.

At all events, before he will have an opportunity to play the slot machines he must have the real coin of the realm.

INVESTIGATE BABY INCUBATOR PLAN.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—As soon as replies are received from several of the large cities of the country to which the committee has written asking for information regarding the style and workings of the baby incubators that have been installed there, a report will be made to the village council and definite action taken on securing one for Hibbing.

Nearly two dozen letters were sent to as many cities inquiring about the success that the doctors have met with the apparatus and the varieties that are in use.

The committee of investigation that was appointed by the council consists of Doctors Pengilly, Adams, Morsman and Saylor.

BAD SIDEWALK IS CAUSE OF LAWSUIT.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Italia Doto, a resident of the North side, has served notice upon the mayor and city council, claiming $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained on Sept. 16 by reason of a defective sidewalk.

Doto claims that on the night, while walking on the sidewalk, he tripped on a plank which had become loosened, one end of which was elevated. In falling over the plank he asserts that his back was wrenched and his leg sprained. He states that the injuries to his leg are such as to cause him the loss of its use and that the injury to his spine is of a permanent nature. Negligence and carelessness on the part of the officials and employes are alleged in his complaint.

LESLIES DOMESTIC TROUBLES IN COURT

Cohasset Couple, Recently in Limelight, Seek Divorce at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first of the divorce cases, that of Hueston L. E. Leslie against Gertrude Mae Leslie, both of Cohasset, is on in district court here. Mrs. Leslie brought counter suit against her husband, and the two cases have been consolidated, because of the evidence which is practically the same in both cases. Recently Mr. Leslie sued J. T. Jones for $5,000 for the alienation of his wife's affections, the suit being tried a couple of weeks ago at the present sitting of the court, resulting in a verdict of $5,000 for the plaintiff. The divorce proceedings followed.

The case of Messner Brothers, plaintiffs, of Hibbing, against George Matakovich of Keewatin, defendant, will be presented to the court today. The Messner brothers are asking for an accounting between partners, it being alleged that Matakovich signed a contract to buy into the firm, and later refused to live up to the contract, on the grounds that his wife objected to the investment of so much money in one place.

The case of the King Lumber company against Jacob and Sofi Fransholm, for the amount of a bill, was submitted to Judge C. W. Stanton in district court yesterday on brief, and following this the case of A. D. Ingersoll, plaintiff, against M. A. Spang, as county auditor et al, was taken up. This case is one in which Ingersoll, as a taxpayer of the village of Deer River, asks that a bill owed by the county be paid to the village and not to the township of Deer River. The county does not deny its indebtedness, but asks that the court decide which portion of Deer River is the owner of the sum involved. The case was submitted to Judge Stanton on brief, and the result will not be known for some time.

HIBBING MAY ABSORB SEVERAL NEIGHBORS

Kittzville and Several Mining Locations May Be Added to Big Town.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Four new suburbs may be added to the village of Hibbing during the next few months if petitions which it is understood are being prepared by the residents of the neighboring locations are acted upon favorably.

Kittzville, it is said, already has a petition for entrance prepared for presentation at the next council meeting. The residents of that little village have been anxious for some time to seek shelter under the protecting wing of Hibbing.

Agnew, Mahoning and Lectonia are said to seek admission and will have the proper papers prepared in the near future.

The increased improvements that they will obtain by participating in the government of the village and the proper handling of the valuations are the reasons given for the proposed petitions.

EVELETH CHARTER IS DECLARED LOST.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—By the decision of Judge Hughes late yesterday, on the four ballots submitted to him, the commission charter was defeated at the recent election.

Of the four votes submitted, one was thrown out, two were decided in favor of the negativo and one in the affirmative, leaving the final standing of the vote 267 for the charter and 201 opposed. A four-sevenths majority was needed to pass the code.

The election will be contested further on the ground that illegal votes were cast. The hearing has been set for Tuesday.

ELY BUILDERS ARE KEPT BUSY.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.) — Considerable construction work is under way at the present time here, and it is understood more is to follow. Yesterday ground was broken on Sheridan street between Second and Third avenues east for a new dwelling for George Brozich. The work will be rushed to completion this fall.

The work on the Franzetti building on Harvey street between Fifth and Sixth avenues east is nearing completion, as is also that on the Mitchell residence on Harvey street. It is reported that the Oliver Mining company is about to erect a new steel dry at the Sibley mine, also a new office building at the same mine. The work will be done this fall.

The last of this month Alderman and Mrs. William Fulford will return to Ely after an extended visit in England during the summer. They expect to sail in a few days.

HIBBING GETTING READY FOR EVELETH.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great preparations are being made by the local high school eleven for the game here next Saturday with the team from Eveleth.

The Eveleth school put over a surprise when they defeated Virginia last Saturday, showing that they have an exceptionally strong team.

Hibbing is still playing without La Victor, their plunging fullback, but believe that in George Emerson they have found a man who will gain much distance. Kleffman is back in the game and will hold down his old position at half.

The boys are being sent through sharp practice every afternoon and even thought they have had no games since the Coleraine contest, believe that they will not be stage struck when they run up against the moleskin artists from the other end of the range.

Becker-Kuester Wedding.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to August E. Kuester and Miss Adeline Becker, both of this village. The wedding took place last evening at the home of the bride on "The Thoroughfare," and was witnessed by the families and close friends of the bride and groom. The single ring service was used, and the bride wore a white satin gown and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Kuester will make their home here.

ANOTHER TELEPHONE LINE TO THE BORDER

Virginia and International Falls to Increase Long Distance Facilities.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—In order to secure more dependanble telephone service to Duluth and TwinCities, International Falls interests are having estimates made of the cost of a direct line to Virginia, to connect with the Northwestern line. The border town needs two ways of getting service as at times much loss has been sustained by delay on account of the wires being out of commission from storm, or other causes. As soon as the estimates of cost are obtained a subsidiary of the Minnesota & Ontario Power company will submit its plan to the officials of the D. W. & P. road along whose right-of-way the International Falls-Virginia line would be built.

The International Telephone company has crews of men working on a new line along the M. & I. road between International Falls and Blackduck. The line will relieve the long distance wires to the Twin Cities and Duluth. The expenditures on the supplemental line will cost about $10,000.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR RANGE WOMAN.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ladies' aid of the M. E. church pleasantly surprised Mesdames Joseph Bartle and Charles Roskilly Tuesday afternoon at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Roskilly on East Chestnut street. Each was presented with a gift as a token of the esteem in which they are held by their friends. Mrs. Charles Roskilly with her husband expect to leave some time this week for England where they will make their future home, and Mrs. Bartle leaves next week for Crystal Falls, Mich., to join her husband, who is in the employ of the Hollister Mining company.

CHISHOLM SOCIETY AT MASQUE BALL.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Rippert entertained their range friends with a masquerade Tuesday night. Visitors from Virginia, Buhl, Hibbing and other towns responded to the invitations and reached the ball room en-masque. Many beautiful and comical costumes were worn and the competition for prizes was keen. Miss Tressa Beatty was awarded the prize for the prettiest costume, a gypsy dress, while Arnold Hubin carried off the honors as the comedy star. The judges had a hard time deciding who was entitled to the prizes as numerous costumes came in for special mention. Fifty persons were masked.

The hall was beautifully decorated with swaying pennants, streamers and colors and the stage setting was gorgeous, being banked with autumn foliage. Sim's orchestra of Chisholm furnished the music. Masks were removed at 11:30 and the crowd continued dancing until 1 a. m.

HIBBING TEACHERS VOTE ON A VACATION.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—To go or not to go, that is the question that the teachers of Hibbing are deciding in a vote taken at the request of the members of the school board to decide whether the local educators shall be granted a vacation on Oct. 23, 24 and 25 to attend the meeting of the Minnesota Educational association in Minneapolis.

If the vote is favorable to the trip every teacher will be expected to attend, for even though the board has no legal right to deduct the wages for the three days from their salaries, raises can be denied and dismissals can result. As the trip will cost at least $25, many of the teachers do not want to take the trip.

From the votes already in the sentiment appears to be very evenly divided.

VIRGINIA TO HAVE SCHOOL PHYSICIAN.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opposition to the school doctor plan as indorsed by the Virginia council was defeated at the meeting of the board of education last night when by a five-to-one vote the proposition was approved.

W. H. Eaton, chairman of the board of directors, opposed the plan and cast the only negative vote. He argued that the board should not consent to the project until all was made clear as to the duties of the physician.

Mitchell Stewart, clerk, and Director Edward C. A. Johnson spoke for the plan, the former reporting on the action of the council with regard to the subject. He recommended that Dr. Henry Michaelson be appointed to the place at a salary of $125 a month. The council will also pay $100 a month to the physician, who will be known as deputy city health officer. Dr. Michaelson was later informed of the recommendation made by Mr. Stewart.

The board appointed M. H. McMahon to defend it in the action brought by Ida Henry and Marion O. West, two teachers, who are suing for salaries for the month of September. R. J. Montague is representing the plaintiffs who claim that the money is due them on contracts.

Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

Pinex is a most vaulable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FICTION POPULAR IN GRAND RAPIDS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Huntley, librarian of the local public library, today filed her report for the month of September, which shows that during the month 616 fiction and 176 non-fiction books were circulated, making a total of 792 for the month. The average daily circulation for the month was 32.

May Not Move Spur Track.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The spur track of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway, north of the passenger station and parallel to Lake boulevard on the west, which has been the subject of much parley between city and railroad officials for several weeks, following complaints made by residents of the boulevard, may be allowed to remain where it is. At a recent meeting of the railroad committee of the city council and J. H. Elliott, superintendent of the company, the complaints were reviewed and in its report to the council the committee reported favorably upon the petition of the property owners to have the track removed. The city clerk was instructed to notify the railroad company to that effect.

COLLECTED HIS OWN INSURANCE POLICY

Oregon Man Is Convicted of Defrauding Lodge.

Portland, Or., Oct. 16.—James C. La France was found guilty by a jury in the United States circuit court of defrauding the Modern Woodmen of America of $3,000 by burying a corpse in June, 1912, and afterward collecting insurance by false representations that the body was his. Other insurance policies totaling $12,000 were collected by his wife.

MAIL SACK THIEF IS ALLOWED TO GO.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 16.—Charles Stevens, a negro, who served five years in the Federal penitentiary here for stealing a mail sack containing $50,000 from a truck in the Kansas City union station in 1908, was formally discharged from Federal custody by Judge Pollock of the Federal court here today. Stevens was before the court on a second charge of opening a mail sack, preferred against him by postoffice inspectors after his release from the penitentiary a few months ago. The second charge pertained to the same crime for which Stevens already had served a term in prison, and the court held that the original charge covered the case.

The money stolen from the mail sack never was recovered by the government. Stevens was arrested for the theft after Federal officers had followed him through a dozen states.

More Film Censorship.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 16.—At the annual convention of the National Humane society it was decided to appoint a committee on censorship of motion pictures with the object of eliminating films tending to incite children to cruelty.

D. A. R. AT WAR ON ENGLISH SPARROW

The Wisconsin Conference Votes Death Sentence on Bird.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 16.—Pity the poor English sparrow! He has been sentenced to death! With the same spirit which characterized their forefathers when they drove the bally Englishmen out of the country, the state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution, at its concluding session here, resolved that the sparrow must be wiped out.

Vice Regent Gen. Mrs. William Howard Crosby of Racine, speaking on the subject of "Conservation," urged the Daughters to do all in their power to destroy the sparrow. "Trap him, shoot him, get him any old way," she said, and the conference formally indorsed her recommendation.

QUARREL RESULTS IN WOMAN'S SUICIDE.

Eau Claire, Wis., Oct. 16.—Uttering a prayer for the future safety of her children, Mrs. William Crowley, 30 years old, drank poison yesterday while seated with her husband at a table in a local hotel dining room. Just before she died Mrs. Crowley told persons she had quarreled with her husband.

Quarantine on Oranges.

Sacramento, Cal., Oct. 16.—The state horticultural commission has decided to place a quarantine against oranges from Florida, Australia and Japan on account of the alleged presence of melanois and scale.

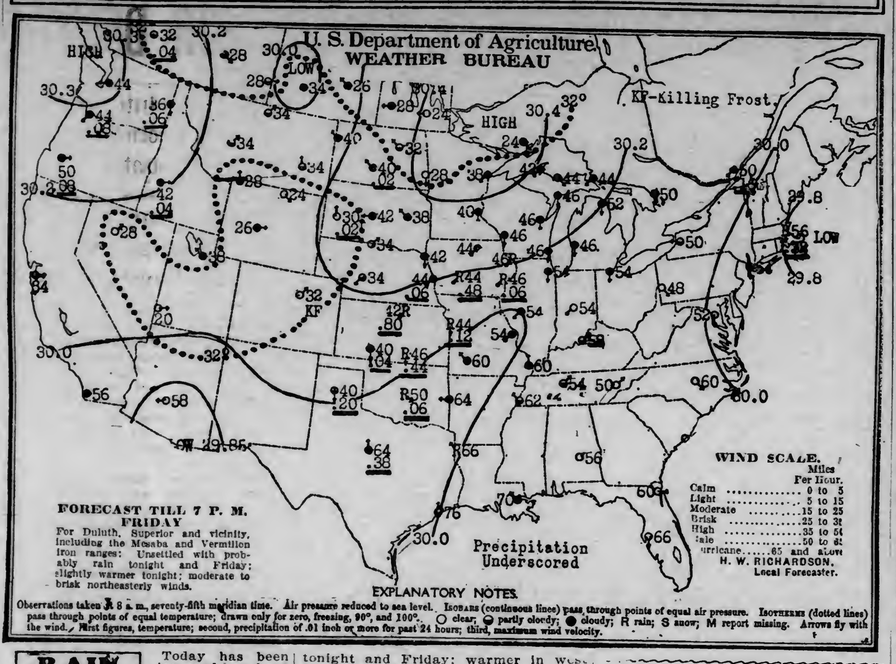

Seek Wisconsin Site.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—Governor Frances E. McGovern of Wisconsin and four commissioners arrived yesterday to select and dedicate a site for the Wisconsin pavilion to be erected at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The site was tentatively chosen.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

RAIN

Today has been nice, and so have several days of the past week, but the weather gods threaten. The news is that the weather will be unsettled tonight and tomorrow with probable showers.

It was a fair a year ago today.

The sun rose at 6:28 this morning, two minutes later than yesterday and will set this afternoon at 5:20, one minute earlier than yesterday. This gives this section of the country 10 hours and 52 minutes of sunlight, which is three minutes shorter than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather:

"Freezing weather prevails over Northwestern Minnesota, Western Canada and the Rocky Mountain region. Temperatures have risen somewhat in the Northwest but they have fallen throughout the Middle West and Southwest. Light to copious showers fell during Wednesday or last night over Iowa, Eastern Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Northern Texas, New England states and North Pacific districts."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled tonight and Friday; colder in east portion tonight.

Wisconsin and Iowa — Unsettled weather tonight and Friday, probably showers.

North Dakota—Unsettled weather tonight and Friday; probably showers; warmer in east portion tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

FACULTY IS ANNOUNCED

Yesterday Fred W. Waldron was chosen as instructor in civil engineering. This afternoon it was announced that G. W. C. Ross would have charge of the business law course. The accounting course is under the supervision of Prof. C. L. Rotzel, and the electrical engineering course will be handled by O. C. Edwards of New York, a recent addition to the university faculty.

Only one course of those planned remains to be organized. This is the course in salesmanship, and much interest has been aroused in it. Forty or fifty students are already prepared to enroll for this course as soon as a competent instructor can be secured.

The classes will in future meet at the Central high school. The use of the building has been secured, and the classes will be transferred there from the Y. M. C. A. rooms.

The university extension work has been confused by many with the Y. M. C. A. night school work. There is no connection between them. The Y. M. C. A. has a night school, but the university extension work might be called a night college. It takes the student where the Y. M. C. A. leaves off and gives more advanced work. The Y. M. C. A. for example has a bookkeeping course, but the extension department has an accounting course.

KING AND QUEEN BABY'S SPONSORS

London, Oct. 16.—The christening of the marquis of Bemont and Cessford, heir to the dukedom of Roxburghe, took place today in the chapel royal at St. James, with King George and Queen Mary as sponsors, in addition to the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ogden Goelet and his uncle, Lord Alastair Innes-Ker, whose wife was Miss Anne Breese of New York. The infant was named George Victor Robert John. The christening gift of the king and queen was a silver doubled handled cup and cover.

WOMAN BETRAYS MAN TO OFFICERS

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 16.—H. H. Johnson, who figured in a sensational jail breaking here a year ago, has just been arrested at Oskaloosa, Iowa, and will be brought back to serve a sentence in the Chester penitentiary. He was betrayed to the authorities by a woman friend.

QUICK RESULTS ASTONISH DULUTH

There is astonishment in Duluth at the QUICK results received from simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis. This simple mixture drains such great amounts of foul matter from the body that a SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. The speedy action of Adler-i-ka is surprising. W. A. Abbett. druggist, 205 West Superior street.

HEAD STUFFED? GOT A COLD? TRY PAPE'S

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends Colds and Grippe in a Few Hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken. It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

WEALTHY FARMER KILLED BY AUTO.

Sharon, N. D., Oct. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Losing control of his car while making a sharp turn last night, John O. Jensen, a wealthy farmer was thrown under the machine as it turned turtle and instantly killed. He was picked up some time later by a passerby. His neck was broken. Edward Olson, riding with Jensen, was unconscious when help arrived but will recover.

The Easy Way to Banish Those Ugly, Hairy Growths

(Toilet Talks.)

Every well regulated toilet table should find room for a package of powdered delatone to be used for banishing hairy growths. To remove objectionable hair or fuzz, make a paste with a little delatone and water and spread on hairy surface for about 2 minutes, then remove and wash the skin. This simple treatment is harmless and seldom requires a second application to remove every trace of hair. Any druggist can supply the delatone in an original package. Adv.

Rheumatism

A Home Cure Given by One Who Had It

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bedridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I want every sufferer from any form of rheumatic trouble to try this marvelous healing power. Don't send a cent; simply mail your name and address and I will send it free to try. After you have used it and it has proven itself to be that long-looked-for means of curing your Rheumatism, you may send the price of it, one dollar, but, understand, I do not want your money unless you are perfectly satisfied to send it. Isn't that fair? Why sufffer any longer when positive relief is thus offered you free? Don't delay. Write today.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten it.

There is some dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of child-birth.

Mother's Friend is a penetrating, external application. It makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, and with none of that peculiar nausea, nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and homes.

Thousands of women know from experience Mother's Friend is one of our greatest contributions to happy motherhood. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Especially recommended as a preventive of caking breast.

STREET RAILWAY CASE IS DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Testimony May All Be Submitted By End of Week.

Luther Mendenhall Reviews Financial History of Company in Detail.

With the testimony of one or more witnesses, attorneys for the state and city in the quo warranto proceedings to test the validity of the legislative franchise of the Duluth Street Railway company, expect to rest their case.

Rebuttal testimony on both sides may require an additional day in court. It is not unlikely, it is said, that the entire case will be in the hands of the court by the end of the week at least, as far as the evidence is concerned.

This morning, R. E. Olds of Davis, Kellogg & Severance of counsel for the city, launched into an extensive cross-examination of Luther Mendenhall, former president of the Duluth Street railway on the subject of the corporation's financial history. It is understoood that the city is contending that the plea which the company is making that a large number of innocent stockholders of the company will suffer irreparable injury if the franchise is invalidated by the court, is ill founded and that as a matter of fact the company owns and controls a number of other franchises which are not affected by this litigation.

Mr. Mendenhall review the financial history of the company at some length, starting with February, 1883, when he acquired his first interest in the company and bringing it down to the present time. The first issue of stock was made in 1883. On Jan. 7, 1886, this stock was called in and cancelled and 600 additional shares at $100 each issued, making the outstanding stock at that time 3,000 shares of $300,000. Mr. Mendenhall testified that between the years of 1885 and 1893 he was out of the company and was not familiar with its affairs.

In 1894, the stock ledger showed, the Duluth-Superior Traction company, a New Jersey corporation came into the company's affairs as a holding corporation for the stock of the Duluth Street Railway. During that year, stockholders turned over 2,991 shares of 3,000 shares of the Duluth Street Railway stock to Edward Douglas, trustee for the stockholders of the holding company. The remaining nine shares were qualifying shares held by directors. Later, the witness testified, the Duluth-Superior Traction company, a New Jersey corporation turned over its holdings to a Connecticut corporation of the same name.

In Financial Trouble.

The Duluth Street Railway company in 1900, the witness testified, was in a bad way financially. It had been in the hands of a receiver and was buried beneath its obligations. Mr. Mendenhall then related how the late Thomas Lowry, the Twin City street railway magnate, had effected a consolidation of the traction interests of Duluth and Superior and had put the company back on its feet. In 1900, the West Duluth Traction company, and the Superior company were also in the hands of a receiver. The Lakeside company was not in the hands of a receiver.

Mr. Lowry, the witness testified, personally undertook the consolidation and brought it about after working on the proposition for about two or three years. The details of just how the consolidation was brought about, Mr. Mendenhall stated, had never appeared on any of the records of the company. The Superior traction interests were bought in at a receiver's sale and turned over to the Duluth street railway, the Lakeside company was purchased, $50,000 being paid for the bonds. The Woodland company was acquired. So far as Mr. Mendenhall could recollect, no consideration was paid for this property as the Woodland company was heavily in debt. The West Duluth interests and the Duluth Heights interests were also taken over.

Result of Consolidation.

The effect of the consolidation was about as follows: The Duluth Street Railway company issued $2,000,000 worth of bonds, which were turned over to the Duluth-Superior Traction company. In addition to this, the Duluth-Superior Traction company carried a charge on its books of $1,500,000 against the Duluth Street Railway company. The same amount appeared on the other side of the ledger of the Duluth Street Railway company's books. All of the stock of the Duluth Street Railway company, except qualifying shares for directors, was also turned over to the holding corporation, the Duluth-Superior Traction company. Although the consolidation took place and all of the various traction interests were acquired by the Duluth Street Railway, the capital stock of the company was not increased to conform with the new condition of affairs until about 1909, when the indebtedness shown by the $1,500,000 loan from the Duluth-Superior Traction company was wiped out by an issue of $1,500,000 of stock. This stock was turned over to the Duluth-Superior Traction company in consideration that the loan be scratched from the books. The present capital stock of the Duluth Street Railway company is $1,800,000. All but a few shares are owned by the Duluth-Superior Traction company. The capital stock of the Duluth-Superior Traction company is $6,000,000, all of which is outstanding. Some of the stock is owned by the stockholders of the old Duluth - Superior Traction company and some of it is controlled by those who were stockholders of the Duluth Street Railway company before the consolidation was affected, in 1900.

The First Track.

Mr. Mendenhall was also cross-examined by Attorney Olds as to his recollections of the first piece of track which was put down. Mr. Mendenhall stated that he remembered quite clearly that a wooden turntable had been put in at near Eighth avenue west during the fall of 1882. He stated that he had no recollection of it ever having been used by the company. The impression of the witness was that it was taken out the following spring when the line was extended around the ledge of rocks at Eighth avenue west and an iron turntable put in at Eleventh avenue west.

Mr. Mendenhall showed no reluctancy in testifying that in all probability a good deal of the first line which was laid during the fall of 1882 and which was not operated during the fall and winter months, was rebuilt during the following spring before cars were operated.

G. G. Hartley was called to testify in rebuttal by the company this morning on the location of the western terminus of the first street railway line. Mr. Hartley stated that he came to Duluth during the fall of 1882 for the express purpose of looking over the street railway then in course of construction with the view of buying an interest in it. He said that he remembered inspecting the property and was positive in his statement that the western terminus was at or near Eighth avenue west. Mr. Hartley stated that he remembered the old car which stood in the street the winter of 1882-1883 in the block between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, but asserted that the line did not end at this point.

Following Mr. Hartley, Dr. F. O. Sherwin took the stand and testified on behalf of the city that to the best of his recollection after thirty years, the car line which was built in 1882 ended at a point between Fifth and Sixth avenues west.

George Spencer, called by the city as a witness, stated that he had been a resident of the city for forty-three years. He located the eastern terminus of the line at a point about twenty-five or thirty feet from the easterly line of Third avenue east and Superior street.

Merritt On Stand.

Leonidas Merritt, commissioner of public utilities, and one of Duluth's pioneer residents, was called to the stand by City Attorney Harvey Clapp to testify as to his impressions of the building of the alleged first mile of street railway in Duluth during the fall of 1882.

Commissioner Merritt, according to the record books of the street railway company, was a director of the corporation shortly after its organization. The witness stated that he did not recall having been director but supposed that he was if the record showed it.

At the time of the building of the first line, Mr. Merritt was in partnership with F. W. Eaton, one of the incorporators of the company. The firm was known as Merritt & Eaton. Commissioner Merritt testified that he remembered that shortly after Mr. Kendall had put the franchise through the legislature, the latter came to him with the request for a loan of $1,200 for the purpose of building the first line. The money was advanced.

The advance was made, according to the testimony of Commissioner Merritt, shortly before the directors of the company let the contract for the building of the first mile to Wilson, Le May & Son. Maj. Wilson, one of the firm, is still living but no one connected with the case has been able to locate him. When last heard from he was in Chicago.

Commissioner Merritt, at the mention of Maj. Wilson, expressed his opinion that the "major" was a "skinflint." "I didn't have much confidence in him," said the commissioner.

"Oh, yes. He was a nice companion, just the same as a lot of gentlemen I know," was his answer.

On cross-examination by Mr. Mitchell, Commissioner Merritt was asked whether or not any question had been raised by anyone in the company or out of it as to a full line of railway having been laid by the contractors in the fall of 1882. Mr. Merritt stated that he knew of none. The directors, he supposed, evidently thought they had a mile of track.

Mr. Merritt testified that the next day after he had sold out his interest in the company the village council passed a resolution providing for putting the street in shape for the extension of the car line to Garfield avenue.

"Like a Thousand Years."

When asked by Mr. Mitchell how long he had been commissioner, Mr. Merritt caused a ripple of laughter in the courtroom. "Darned if I know," he said, "it seems to me like a thousand years."

"What I want to know, Mr. Merritt, is whether you were commissioner at the time this litigation was started or not," said Mr. Mitchell.

"I would probably have voted in favor of it, if you want to know that," said the witness.

At yesterday afternoon's session Harold A. Carmichael, former city attorney, took the stand to give testimony, the effect of which would be to disprove the contention of the street railway company that the court in several proceedings of the past few years has recognized the legislative franchise now involved in litigation as being a valid and existing document.

After a legal skirmish, during which Attorney Mitchell for the street railway company strenuously objected to the witness testifying concerning any court records on the ground that the records themselves were the highest and best evidence, the former city attorney was allowed to get his testimony into the record.

Mr. Carmichael was asked whether or not the validity of the company's franchise was made an issue in the mandamus proceedings brought about a year ago in district court before Judge Dibell. He replied that it had not been and that the city in framing the issues in that action had carefully avoided admitting the validity of the company's franchise.

The testimony of Mr. Carmichael was admitted only after a foundation had been laid for it by the introduction of the records themselves.

The court, after listening to the arguments of both sides, decided to admit the testimony and to overrule the objection made by Attorney Mitchell.

Several other witnesses were examined yesterday afternoon along the line of personal recollections of the alleged first mile of street railway claimed to have been built in 1882. All testified that the western terminus was located somewhere between Fifth and Sixth avenues west on Superior street.

Michael Fisher, city fireman, testified that as a boy of 14 he remembered playing around the car which laid up for the winter of 1882-1883 a few feet from the end of the line in the block between Fifth and Sixth avenues west. Mr. Fisher stated that he lived in this block half way up the hill. He stated that it was the first street car he had ever seen. Others who testified as to their personal recollections that year were John Hicken, brother of Commissioner Hicken, Peter A. Sjosino and Emil Schlender.

MARTINE WANTS TO REPEAL PANAMA PACT

Says the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty Is Much in the Way.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Senator Martine of New Jersey today urged the senate to recommend repeal of the Hay-Pauncefote Panama treaty with Great Britain on the ground that it interferes with too many American rights. He said he had received many protests that the tariff bill's 5 per cent shipping rebate was a violation of the terms of the treaty.

The senator added that he preferred a repeal of the treaty rather than a repeal of the 5 per cent rebate in the tariff law, and predicted that the United States would have commercial reprisals because of the 5 per cent rebate.

"If Germany should elect to try it on us," said he, "we would shut off her supplies of cotton, copper and potash. To Great Britain we would give the same medicine. Should South America throw down the gauntlet we could shut off their coffee and rubber for a little and ruin would stare them in the face. Japan needs our cotton and besides this we are her best market. No senator, no citizen, wants commercial war or any other kind of war, but other nations grant important favors to their industries."

FORMAL OPENING.

Stevenson, pianist, assisted by Miss Gladys Reynolds, soprano.

MAN 98 YEARS OLD DROWNS IN PUDDLE.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 16.—Charles Cook, aged 98, the oldest man in La Crosse county, was today found dead in six inches of water in a creek at the county poor farm, of which Cook was an inmate. He was lying on his face and had evidently been drowned. It is believed he slipped and, unable to help himself, perished in the shallow water.

OBITUARY

Rev. George A. Bryan, one of the oldest graduates of Yale, died at his home in Norwich, Conn., Oct. 15, after a long illness, aged 93. He was graduated in the class of 1843. Mr. Bryan was ordained a Congregational minister in 1849 and held numerous pastorates in Connecticut until his retirement at the age of 70.

PUBLICITY FOR DULUTH

Queries Pour Into Commercial Club From All Parts of Country.

Many Magazines Laud Duluth's Business and Agricultural Development.

Continuous publicity is the portion of Duluth. After years during which the city was inconspicuous, if not obscured, on the map, it has blazed forth as a community to which others look for ideas and example. During the last year Duluth has had much of the kind of publicity that cannot be purchased, but the bouquets have not ceased to come.

The mail of the Commercial club is a good indication of how Duluth is regarded elsewhere. Almost every mail brings requests for information about the city and the surrounding country and, more important, almost daily requests are received for articles about Duluth or about special phases of Duluth development, to be illustrated and published in magazines, newspapers or other publications.

City Planning Exhibition.

Just now the publicity committee is engaged in preparing material for a city planning exhibition to be conducted in New York, Nov. 24 to Dec. 6. The work has progressed far enough to show the certainty that some good material will be submitted from Duluth and the city will be well represented in the display. City officials and private citizens are co-operating with the club to make the display comprehensive and distinctive, so that the Duluth showing may carry a lesson to other cities. After being shown in New York the display will be taken to other cities.

Several magazine articles on Duluth will appear soon. "National Waterways," published at Washington in connection with the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, will expose the joke on James Proctor Knott by publishing his speech on Duluth with figures to show how his shafts of wit and sarcasm were turned against him. Photographs of Duluth scenes will also be shown.

Publicity in Magazines.

The Christian Science Monitor will publish an article on the work of the Commercial club with a photograph from the city. The Commercial club has recently furnished agricultural photographs to illustrate an article on Minnesota agricultural development methods for Munsey's Magazine. Material has also been furnished for a story on Duluth's harbor in another national magazine.

Organizations in other cities are interested in civic movements in Duluth. From San Diego, Cal., the Commercial club received an inquiry as to the purpose and plan of conducting the Home Products' dinner, which was held in connection with the Industrial exposition last month. The inquiry was from the Manufacturers' association of the California city, and the secretary said he had read in a San Diego paper of Duluth holding its second annual Home Products' dinner. The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce wrote to the club for a description of the methods used in its agricultural work. The Chamber of Commerce of Denver will publish an article on the Commercial club of Duluth, with a panoramic cut of the city.

Represented in Blue Book.

Duluth will be represented in the Automobile blue book and in the Northern Pacific Railway company's new edition of "Opportunities in the Northwest," the Commercial club furnishing the material for both. Material and photographs will also be furnished for the summer booklets of various boat lines and railroads, in the interests of the tourist travel to Duluth.

Builders and Building Management, a magazine devoted to the interests of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, will give the members of the association a good idea of Duluth in advance of the convention to be held here next summer. With the co-operation of the Commercial club it will publish a series of six articles, beginning with the January number, devoted to Duluth, its industries, buildings, show places, climate and other features. The articles will be profusely illustrated and will undoubtedly do much to increase the attendance at the convention.

CURIOSITIES OF KOREAN MARRIAGES.

Wide World Magazine: The Koreans marry very young, generally between the ages of 12 and 15. For a woman to reach 20 without marrying is considered a terrible thing. A peculiarity of these weddings is that they would appear to be a matter of interest to every one except the parties mostly concerned, who often see one another for the first time on the wedding morning. This is because in a Korean household the boys are kept apart from the girls, the father and the sons occupying the front of the house, and the mother and the daughters living in the rear of the establishment. Moreover, in their social life the boys are not allowed to mix with the gentler sex. The parents and friends arrange the match, in accordance with their own interests, and if both parties agree and the bargain is concluded, the formalities are of the simplest. There is no religious ceremony and no legal contract.

Early on the wedding morn the best man arrives to tie the bridegroom's pigtail in a knot on the top of his head, and this not only remains forever as an outward and visible sign of his condition, but entitles him to wear a hat for the first time in his life and to be treated as a man and enter public life. He may be a mere child, 12 years of age, but he has no longer any right to play with his boy friends, and must choose his associates among old men. He has now all civil rights, and is expected to behave accordingly. If, on the contrary, a man is unable to afford the luxury of a home and a wife, he may reach the age of 50, but he must still wear his pigtail down his back, has none of the advantages of citizenship, and is expected to play with kites, marbles and such like. Any folly he may commit is excused in the same way as the naughtiness of a child who is not responsible for his actions.

The wedding ceremony itself is most simple. The whole function consists of a procession, when the bride and bridegroom are conducted by their respective relations to a dais. There they are put face to face, and probably, as already stated, see each other for the first time. They merely glance at one another, then bow, and the knot is tied indissolubly.

DREAMS.

Indianapolis News: Dr. W. E. Scripture of New York city says that ambidextrous persons never dream, while right-handed persons dream with the right half of the brain and use the left brain lobe for conscious thinking only.

IT ISN'T REALLY HARD WORK THAT MAKES YOU FEEL TIRED

Dr. Thomas Darlington delivered some time ago, before the American Iron and Steel Institute, at a meeting held in the Waldolf-Astoria, an address on "What Causes Fatigue?" the conclusion of which was:

"If a muscle is fatigued from too rapid movement or from too long continued use, or if it is pushed in use when it is already fatigued, changes take place which affect the protein of the muscle and it is long in recuperating. After a double task muscle requires four times as long as normal to recover. Work that is too hard and too long continued is harmful. Ambitious workmen doing piece work will sometimes produce this result by speeding beyond the limits which nature prescribes.

"But we must not charge to work what is properly chargeable to other causes. Ordinary tiredness resulting from proper effort is not harmful but beneficial, enabling us to enjoy and digest our food and obtain rest and recuperation from sleep. Work, in itself is a joy and a blessing. It promotes longevity. As a rule, people who work hard are not troubled with either indigestion or insomnia. Sound and true is the saying of Ecclesiates: 'The sleep of a laboring man is sweet, whether he eat little or much; but the abundance of the rich will not suffer him to sleep.'

"The conclusion is that both fatigue and efficiency depend upon the fundamentals of hygiene more than upon exercise alone, and that our aim should be to use the words of Prof. Leo, 'To make of labor a physiological rather than a pathological exercise.' Thus shall we be able to obey the injunction of the Apostle Paul: 'Quit you like men; be strong.' In the language of Maltbie Babcock:

We are not here to play, to dream, to draft;
We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle; face it. 'Tis God's gift.

Overfeeding, underfeeding, improper feeding, the lack of sufficient oxygen, and a number of other things are the chief causes of fatigue, according to Dr. Darlington, and hard work, provided it is not overdone, takes its place among the minor causes. Says he:

Muscular energy depends largely upon three things:

1. The amount of fuel stored and the ability of the system to bring it into use.

2. The ability of the system to furnish oxygen to burn the fuel.

3. The ability of the system to carry off waste or other toxic substances.

Conversely, fatigue is due primarily to the failure of the system to perform properly one or more of these functions.

First, fatigue may be caused by anything that interferes with the storage of fuel. This may arise from a lack of fuel. Under this head would come underfeeding, improper feeding, indigestion of food, lack of assimilation of food, and incapacity of the liver and muscles to store sufficient glycogen.

He goes on to show that food which does not furnish energy may lead to fatigue. "For example, cabbage is a very common article of diet, but there is little energy in it." After food reaches the stomach there is often much needless waste, particularly of the sugars, due to fermentation in the stomach. Overeating and rapidity of eating also affect digestion and therefore promote fatigue. He continues:

Secondly, fatigue is caused by anything that interferes with the carrying of oxygen to the tissues. This may be a diminished amount of oxygen in the atmosphere, diminished carrying power of the blood, diminished lung capacity, or interference with the circulation of the blood.

The two factors which relate especially to diminished amount of oxygen in the atmosphere are bad ventilation and altitude. The main effect of bad ventilation, especially where there are a number of people in a room, is to increase the humidity. The detrimental effect of this humidity is of more importance than any diminishing of oxygen or increase in carbon dioxide.

From diminished oxygen, altitude produces fatigue. Any one who has climbed a mountain has felt this.

A matter of particular importance to those in the iron and steel industry is the fact that the oxygen-carrying power of the blood is very much diminished if there is any carbon monoxide in the air breathed by the men. The deleterious effect of this gas is due to its combination with the red material in the blood, thus injuring the oxygen-carrying function. The affinity of the red material of the blood for carbon monoxide is much greater than its affinity for oxygen, forming a compound with carbon which is a much more stable compound than that formed with oxygen.

Anything that interferes with the general circulation of the blood, such as heart disease, tight clothing, or the condition of the body, causes fatigue. Where there is diminished lung capacity, as in consumption of the lungs, (phthisis,) there is interference with the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. In heart disease the blood is not properly pumped through the body. In the case of obese persons the increase of the vessels and the distance for the blood to travel make the heart pump harder. Tight clothing directly interferes with the circulation. All these cause fatigue. Age, sex, climate, and seasons also have much to do with the circulation of the blood, and therefore with fatigue.

The third great cause of fatigue is poisoning by accumulated waste in the muscles or poisoning by toxic substances. This accumulation may be due to too rapid formation of the products of waste, or it may be due to the inability of the blood or system to carry away the waste products. If the nerve of a muscle is constantly stimulated, the muscular contractions become smaller in extent and finally cease. The muscle is thon said to be fatigued. The sugars and glycogen have been burned, producing energy and leaving as wastes carbon dioxide and lactic acid. Unless eliminated, these materials act as poisons.

Perhaps no means of lessening fatigue is of more importance than a proper supply of drinking water. The products of waste, carbon dioxide and lactic acid, are taken up by the fluids of the body and carried to the lungs and kidneys for elimination. The accumulation of waste products is often due to insufficient use of drinking water. It has been noticed in the army that the man who falls from heat stroke is the one whose canteen is empty.

SNAKES AS JAPANESE PETS.

Dallas News: To make pets of snakes is the latest hobby of Japanese society. Fashionable women are cultivating a fancy for small and live serpents. They have about them the harmless spotted keel-backs and striped snakes, which are easily tamed.

The man who has done more than anybody else to establish this hobby is Kinjiro Nakamura, who has been engaged in the snake business for more than twenty years, and who has a wonderful assortment of reptiles. The most productive districts for snakes in Japan are certain mountain sections near Tokio and Nikko. Here they are caught in large numbers. Japanese snake catchers drink sake before starting out to hunt large serpents, so that they will not be stupefied by the "poisonous breath" of the reptile. A real combat occurred recently between three men and a serpent twenty feet long. The snake poised its head about six feet above ground, knocked two men down with its tail, rendered another unconscious by its "poisonous breath" and then escaped.

But Mr. Nakamura has found other uses for snakes. He says they are popular as tonics for the digestive organs, and that some are used successfully as a remedy for pulmonary consumption. There is the food question, too. Nakamura says that the Japanese viper is splendid as a stimulant, either in powdered form or eaten with Japanese soy. In the districts around Nikko rice with snake-fricasee is considered a most royal dish. The viper is also good as a cure for stomach trouble, if taken soaked in Japenese sake.

MUSTACHES.

Saturday Evening Post: A mustache is what you choose to make it. Almost every man has the raw material at his command, and he can cut them or cuddle them as he sees fit. Some men beat their mustaches savagely back into their upper lips, refusing them growth, shave them remorselessly once or twice a day and never let a hair of them see the light of day.

Other men coax and cajole their mustaches to energy, pet them, pamper them, protect them and view the resultant hirsute effect in the light of artistic achievements.

But not all mustaches are artistic. Some are stubby and some are scraggly and some are simply unmowed hair. Now and then we encounter a work of superior excellence, an accomplishment in mustache-making, a feat in facial foliage.

NEW RATES ON NOV. 1

"Interstate" Travel Will No Longer Worry Duluth Citizens.

Two-Cent Fares Will Be in Effect to Minnesota Points.

Beginning Nov. 1, patrons of the Soo and the Great Northern who wish to travel to any Minnesota point will have to worry no longer as to whether or not the road is all interstate or otherwise. Up to this time, if one was not "wise" to conditions and desired to travel, a ticket purchased from Duluth might be labeled "interstate" and therefore would mean that the old 3-cent fare would be charged. However, if one were wise and purchased a ticket to Moose Lake, for instance, or some competitive point and then kept within the state, the rate was, according to the order of the court, only 2 cents a mile. And that was the technical point which worried Duluthians.

However, beginning Nov. 1, the roads mentioned will put into effect the 2-cent passenger rate between points within the state. The two roads and also the Northern Pacific have filed schedules with the interstate commerce commission in accordance with the returns of the famous Minnesota rate case. The Minneapolis & St. Louis has made no changes but that does not affect Duluth for the M. & St. L. does not come here. The Omaha has not yet filed the notice of change, although that will not affect Duluth materially as it will meet the Twin City rates of the other roads.

MERCHANTS ARE OPPOSED

Secretary Peterson Says Trading Stamps Bring Only Bad Results.

The Duluth Retail Merchants' association will fight the invasion of trading stamp companies, according to a statement made by George M. Peterson, secretary of the association this morning. Mr. Peterson characterizes the trading stamp companies as transient merchants who should be taxed under that ordinance.

"There are, I understand, two or three merchants in the city, who have swallowed the bait offered by the trading stamp company," said Mr. Peterson. "The smooth and gentlemanly canvassers for the company have been busy throughout the city, and in order to make an inroad among the merchants, have sold their stamps to a few at very low prices on the plea that it would bring them from 10 to 15 per cent more trade.

Bid for Cash Trade.

"The people who will fall for the stamp collection practically bind themselves, if they wish to be persistent collectors, to a few merchants. These have, in order not to lose money, got to charge more for their goods. While they may charge the same for some commodities, they will get back on others. The bid is for the cash trade. The person who buys for cash is naturally entitled to the most for his money, and by using careful judgment can certainly save money by doing otherwise than tying himself to the trading stamp store.

"There are many merchants in this city who still have relics in the shape of coupons, stamps and premiums left here by companies who operated here a few years ago. The lesson learned by these merchants was an expensive one, and it is almost a certainty that these merchants will oppose any further invasion of similar organizations."

DOUBLE TRAGEDY IN CHICAGO HOTEL ROOM

Pair Registered From Cincinnati Found With the Woman Dead.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A man and woman, the latter dead with her throat cut and the man shot three times and apparently dying were found in a room in the Sherman house here this afternoon. They were registered as Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ellis of Cincinnati, Ohio. The death of Mrs. Ellis apparently was instantaneous. Ellis is said to have been a prominent leather merchant.

Attaches of the hotel said that Ellis was a member of the wholesale leather firm of G. E. Ellis & Co. of Cincinnati. Ellis' wounds had been inflicted with a small revolver which was found in the room. He was taken to the county jail hospital where it was said his wounds were not necessarily fatal.

A small penknife with which, the police said, the woman's fatal wounds probably had been inflicted, also was found in the room.

Was Wedding Anniversary.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 16.—William E. Ellis is a member of the firm of G. E. Ellis & Son, dealers in harness and saddlery of this city. At his residence it was said that he was in Chicago on business, his wife accompanying him. They were expected home tonight. His relatives here had received no word of the tragedy.

Last night was the wedding anniversary of the couple.

GRAIN GRADES CAUSE SOME WARM DEBATE

Grain Dealers Have Rather Heated Session at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 16.—Discussion of the proposed Federal standardization and supervision of grain waxed warm on the floor of the convention of the Grain Dealers' National association here. The matter promised to develop more interest before it is disposed of.

The discussion became interesting when Dr. J. W. L. Duval, chief crop technologist of the grain standardization bureau of the department of agriculture, was explaining proposed changes in grades. He said the reason growers and dealers held the product so long was owing to the benefit secured in weight by moisture. He said investigation by his bureau had shown that corn had been changed from No. 3 grade to No. 2 grade by being transferred from one point of inspection to another.

"Dr. Duval does not know what he is talking about," exclaimed F. H. Culver, chief inspector of grain at Toledo, and president of the inhpectors' association. "Anyone who is guilty of such practice is a thief, and there are none of that type in the chief inspectors' department."

C. D. Jones rapped for order and ordered Mr. Culver's remarks stricken from the record. J. C. Merrill, secretary of the Chicago board of trade, was in favor of the amending of the proposed grades, insisting it was impossible to legislate quality into corn.

TENNYSON'S DEATH.

Indianapolis News: Dr. G. H. R. Dabbs, who has just died, was the medical attendant on Tennyson during his last illness. A few hours before the end the poet turned to the doctor and said "Death!" The doctor merely bowed his head. "That's well," said Tennyson. Dr. Dabbs has left on record a picture of the concluding scene. "Nothing," he writes "could have been more striking. * * * On the bed a figure of breathing marble, flooded and bathed in the light of the full moon streaming through the oriel window; his hand clasping the Shakespeare which he had asked for but recently, and which he had kept by him to the end; the moonlight, the majestic figure as he lay there, drawing thicker breath, irresistibly brought to our minds his own 'Passing of Arthur.'"

North Dakotan Sentenced for Embezzlement Is Given Freedom.

Washington, Oct. 16.—President Wilson today pardoned Thomas P. Bowman of Wahpeton, N. D., sentenced in June, 1912, to five years imprisonment for embezzlement from the Citizens' National Bank of Wahpeton. He was in the Anamosa, Iowa, reformatory.

BISMARCK CHINAMAN SHOT; WILL RECOVER.

Bismarck, N. D., Oct. 16.—George Nichols, who says his home is in Cincinnati, is in jail here, charged with having shot and wounded Soo Fow, night clerk in a Chinese restaurant, early today. It is claimed that Fow was shot while attempting to quiet a disturbance in a room occupied by Nichols. The Chinaman probably will recover.

SHOWING A BOY THE BEAUTY OF WORK

Youth's Companion—George had been working hard all the evening over the twentieth chapter of the first book of Caesar. At length he closed the book with a slam. "I think I won't go to college, after all," he said to his family.

"Why not?" asked his father, in surprise, for the great ambition of George's life had always been to go to college.

"Because the entrance examinations are so hard," said George. "I'd have to work and worry all this year to pass my preliminaries and then go at it again harder than ever for the finals. It's no joke!"

"That's true," said his father, gravely, "it isn't a joke. What will you do instead?"

"Oh, go to work somewhere," George answered easily, as visions of money in his pocket on Saturday nights and carefree evenings without lessons rose up before him.

"Let's see," replied his father. "That means getting up an hour earlier every day than you get up now. It means starting in as an errand boy on a par with the boy who was blacking boots last week. It means no more afternoons to play in, except, perhaps, on Saturdays in the summer. It means doing exactly as you're told all day long, or else hunting for a new job. It means staying an errand boy, or a porter, or perhaps a clerk at $10 a week, unless you work harder than you ever had to work at school. No one makes any advance in business without hard work."

George sighed dismally. "It's work, work, everywhere, and I hate work!" he said.

His father turned upon him sharply. "If you forget everything else I have ever told you," he said, "at least remember what I tell you now: The man who hates work goes through life with a ball and chain dragging after him. He has a curse upon him that blasts his life. The hoboes and the tramps are haters of work. Sneak thieves and thugs and worse are haters of work. So are most of the men at the bottom of the industrial scale. They hated work, and dodged it, and slighted what they had to do, and did just enough to hold their jobs, and they stay at the bottom, hating work still!"

Suddenly his father's tone changed. "When we saw the football game at Cambridge last year," he asked, "do you remember the inscription on the Stadium, 'Dedicated to the joy of manly contest'? Learn that 'joy of manly contest' with hard work, my boy!

"Don't run away from work, George! Don't be afraid of it! Meet it bravely, with the joy of manly contest in your heart, and day by day you will begin to find the struggle good, and out of it will come one of the supremely great and enjoyable things of life!"

George sat quiet for a time. Then his jaw closed with a snap. "I'm going to begin right now," he said, "and I'm going to know what this chapter's about!"

SHAVED UNDER DIFFICULTIES

New York Sun: "I had a queer shave last week," said a New York salesman. "Business took me for a day to a small country town way up in the state, where I had the bad luck to fall ill. I was laid up in a little one-horse hotel for four days.

"One afternoon I thought a shave would make me feel more respectable, but my hands were so unsteady that I didn't feel up to tackling the job myself, so I asked to have a barber sent to my room.

"Well, I guess that was the first time on record that anybody'd ever asked for such a thing. After a wait of over two hours a tall, solemn looking man in a frock coat and a silk hat came to my door and said he'd come to shave me. I felt too weak to ask any questions, so I just settled myself in the least uncomfortable chair in the room and told him to go ahead.

"'You'd better lie down,' he said.

"'Not a bit of it,' I answered. 'I'm feeling a lot better and can sit up all right.'

"'But I can't shave you unless you lie down,' he insisted.

"'Rather than have any talk about it, I lay down on the bed.

"'Shut your eyes,' was the next order.

"'See here,' I said, 'what's all this for, anyway? Go ahead and shave me and I'll take care of my eyes. If I lie down and shut my eyes I'll feel as if I were dead.'

"He chirked up at that.

"'Yes, make believe you're dead,' he said cheerfully. 'That's just what I want. You see, I'm the village undertaker and I'm only used to shaving corpses.'"

WHY DO CANADIANS DISLIKE US? HERE ARE SOME OF THEIR REASONS

Despite All Denials, They Do, and There Are Many Causes, Some of Them Trivial, and Some Which Should Start Us Thinking.

By a Canadian-American in the New York Times: "I never think of going home on a steamer sailing from New York because one would meet so many of those odious Americans," said a Canadian society woman at a reception at Government House, Ottawa, to the writer a few years ago.

The speaker's reference to "home" meant England, although she is a native of Guelph, Ont., and belongs to the third generation of her family born in the province.

That remark typifies a Canadian attitude both to the United States and to England, an attitude held by large numbers of citizens of the Dominion. It comes to mind in seeking an answer to the question "Why do they dislike us?" put editorially by the New York Times a few days ago in discussing the hostility to Americans shown at Coaticook and Sherbrooke. The same, or a similar, question has been asked repeatedly of late by native born Americans of Canadian-Americans resident in New York.

The query is put with surprise. Native Americans in the mass seem not to have realized until the Thaw hubbub that there is widespread hostility north of the line toward residents south of it.

Yet any Canadian-American who knows the land of his nativity well knows that animosity to Americans, to the United States and to the Star Spangled Banner is not less than an obsession among many thousands of Canadians.

It is an unreasoning animosity, an animosity which lacks common sense, an animosity which is difficult of analysis and explanation even by people who have it. The writer, on occasional visits to Canada during the many years he has lived in the United States, has asked Americaphobes whom he knows well "Why the hate?" There has not been one conclusive, logical answer.

There are elements in this animosity, nevertheless, which can be perceived on anaylsis. They are elements both grave and gay, and may be itemized thus:

Passionate adoration of England, the king, and the Union Jack, which adoration has as its concomitant a belief that the United States is everything that England is not and therefore to be despised and disliked.

A belief that the typical American man is vulgar, ungrammatical, talks through his nose, is overdressed, chews gum, and drinks too many cocktails.

A belief that American statesmen are uncouth, ignortant, crooked, and want to grab Canada by trickery.

A belief that the American nation as a whole is vulgar and crooked.

A belief that if Canada is ever called to arms it will be against Americans.

A belief that an American is not as good as an Englishman or other Britisher; this being close kin to the old feeling in England that no frog-eater from France could possibly be as good as an Englishman.

Jealousy of the wealth, population and importance of the United States.

Such are the elements susceptible of classification.

In the antipathy of many of the anti-Americans there is a quality of the supercilious, the contemptuous; the attitude is that Americans are to be both detested and disdained.

The belief in the vulgarity of Americans is a queer dominant constituent in the Americaphobia of many of the educated class.

"Vulgar Americans!" is a standard characterization.

With members of the working class who have the American aversion, the standard designation is "— Yankees!"

Anglomania, which sometimes reaches monomania among society people and circles which ape society people, means in Canada Americaphobia. Numerous Canadians are more English than the English; they have more dementia Britannica; they are more deliriously, brain-stormily British. This means anti-Americanism.

Yet these very Canadians are being constantly regarded and treated as gauche Colonials by individual Englishmen, although British officialdom grants Canadians better treatment because Canadian officialdom can give men and money in war, and preferential tariffs in peace.

Out-Englishing the English leads to frequent comments by Englishmen. The writer recalls a Canadian lad, just graduated from a Upper Canada college in Toronto and who had been brought up in the midst of raving Anglomania at his home, who was sent through odd circumstances to Yale to take a special course. One of the first men he met was an English student, to whom he attached himself. Fo ra week the Canadian talked nothing but his Toronto brand of patriotism. The Englishman remarked:

"Are all Canadians like you? In all my life in England I never heard as much British talk as I've heard from you in seven days."

Because of geographical reasons the Canadian militia feels that if it is summoned to the field the enemy will be American. This fact has widespread, constant, aggressive effect in feeding anti-Americanism. Thousands of young men are learning in their regiments to look south when they think of war.

The writer was watching five recruits for the Forty-eighth Highlanders in Toronto being given bayonet drill by a sergeant. The men were kneeling, preparing to receive cavalry.

"Hold them rifles tight! The —— Yankees are on you!" said the sergeant.

What has been denominated the "swill-pail of annexation" has aided anti-Americanism. A few years ago there was a good deal of annexation talk among a minority of Canadians who thought the provinces should be states. As the arguments were materialistic, based on the prophecy of fat days for a more prosperous Canada under Uncle Sam, annexation got the "swill-pail" prefix. The christening hasn't been forgotten, and the name has done no good to international frendship.

Taken as a whole the Canadian animosity to Americans is in nature and cause peculiar, intangible, almost impossible to classify and ticket. It often finds the most childish, silly manifestations. It is frequently sophomoric, as an example or two will show.

Three years ago a man about 38, of a very old Ontario Tory family, came to New York and the United States for the first time. He was taken to Belmont park as the guest of two Canadian-Americans to see an aeroplane meet. There the three joined a party of Philadelphians, friends of the hosts.

The Canadian became very much excited as he watched the flying, the first he had seen. Perhaps the liquid part of the luncheon aided his excitement. At any rate when J. Armstrong Drexel, of whom the Philadelphians had told him, whirred over the grandstand in his monoplane in a low, fast flight, the Canadian yelled out, oblivious of where he was:

"Pretty good for a bally Yankee!"

The man was so plainly innocent of any intention to insult, and was so obviously venting his highest praise for an American, that everybody within earshot burst into laughter. That involuntary ejaculation showed the Canadian attitude of mind.

A Canadian poet, a veteran of the Civil war, printed not long ago a volume of poems in which are a number dealing with Lincoln and the great conflict. Two women whose names are well known in Canadian newspaper society columns, both acquainted with the poet, met.

"Have you read Mr. Smith's last book of verse?" asked one.

"Yes, some of the bits are excellent, but why does Mr. Smith persist in writing so much about those Americans, Lincoln and people like that, you know?" was the reply.

An American girl was visiting friends in Halifax last summer. On the Fourth of July she donned a very small gold enamelled American flag. When she started to go out with her hostess, the Haligonian said:

"I hope you won't think me too dreadfully rude, my dear, but I really cannot go out with you if you wear that flag."

A Canadian woman of wealth, who had never been in this country, went to visit a well-known St. Louis family. A dance was given in her honor. In one of the cotillion figures each guest was given an American flag. When the Canadian discovered that she was expected to carry the Stars and Stripes she pitched the emblem at the feet of her astonished hostess and cried:

"Do you mean to insult me? Do you think I'd carry that thing?"

A carpenter in Hamilton, Ont., was asked why he had not let his wife go to Chicago to visit acquaintances from whom she had an invitation.

"Do you suppose I'd let my wife go to the Yankees?" he demanded. "If she went to the States I'd never see her again. They're a bad lot there."

A few years ago members of one of the most famous of the multi-millionaire families of New York went in their private car to Ottawa for the winter carnival. They had as guests several other prominent New Yorkers. Every member of the party was widely traveled, highly cultivated.

A young woman, daughter of a very high and very poor government official, was asked if she had met the New Yorkers.

"My dear," was the reply, "I wouldn't think of knowing such people. They belong to the most impossible type of Americans. Nothing but money, you know. Atrociously vulgar!"

A party of Canadian automobilists arrived one night at a country hotel in a part of Ontario far off the tourist routes.

After some parley, the man said: "Oh, if you're Canadians, that's all right. I've got lots of room. I thought you were—Yanks. I would never let them in."

Canadian-Americans who return to Canada to visit find plenty of evidence of this odd attitude of hostility.

"You've done well. You haven't become Americanized at all," say some old friends, as though you had sidestepped the plague.

Others, who think you have changed, wag their heads gravely, almost tragically, and say:

"You ought to be more careful, old chap. If you don't look out, you'll become horribly Americanized. You're showing effects of living there now."

When the Canadian-American remarks to other old friends that he is an American citizen and votes in November, they exclaim: "Oh, you Yankee!" in a tone which proves that he's considered rather less than human.

Despite this unfriendliness, Canadians look to the United States for necessities, luxuries, amusements. They import from us hugely. A gown, a hat, a pair of shoes, a dinner favor only needs to bear a New York label to be esteemed. Canadians, many of them militant anti-Americans, stream into New York in thousands to shop, hear music, see pictures, go to the theater.

The pouring of dollars into Uncle Sam's pockets by Canadian-Americaphobes is one of the singular features of a manifestation which is curious throughout.

MEXICO'S THANKSGIVING MONUMENT.

World Wide Magazine: In the heart of the main plaza of the little Indian village of Jamay, on the shore of Lake Chapala, in the state of Jalisco, Mex., stands a remarkable monument. The pedestal is built of brick and concrete, while the statue or Pope Pius IX, which crowns it, is made of concrete. There are two noticeable features about this monument. Firstly, the pope faces in two directions, having no back to his figure; and secondly, the monument, costing something like 15,000 pesos, was erected in fulfilment of a vow made by certain devout Indians of Jamay some fifty years ago, when a terrific pestilence, probably smallpox, carried off more than half the inhabitants of the village. The survivors prayed to the saints to avert the pestilence, but apparently without result. They then prayed to the pope at Rome, vowing to build a monument should the curse of the plague be removed. The pestilence disappeared soon after, and the monument, the result of the contribution of some article of jewelry or a day's labor of every Indian left alive in Jamay, was promptly erected.

ANIMALS MAKE POOR SAILORS.

London Answers: Probably many people have not witnessed the performance of animals when on a sea journey. It would no doubt be as interesting to watch their antics on board ship as on the stage.

Most animals make poor sailors. Horses and tigers suffer most of all; they whine pitifully, and their eyes water continually. Elephants, too, suffer greatly, but they are very amenable to medical attention.

When the elephant falls, seasick, a bucket of fresh water, containing seven ounces of quinine and three and one-half pints of whisky, is supplied.

Birds, however, delight in sea voyages. Recently a number of English songbirds, such as the lark and robin, were dispatched to British Columbia.

The polar bear, too, enjoys a sea journey. He is described as very gay while on board ship. But most other animals greatly resent sea trips.

Ordinance No. 396.

By Commissioner Voss:

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE, FORM AND SALE OF CERTIFICATES OF INDEBTEDNESS IN ANTICIPATION OF THE COLLECTION OF TAXES AGAINST THE SINKING FUND, THE PUBLIC SAFETY FUND, THE LIBRARY FUND, THE PUBLIC WORKS FUND, THE PERMANENT IMPROVEMENT FUND AND THE GENERAL FUND OF THE CITY OF DULUTH, LEVIED IN THE YEAR 1913.

The City of Duluth does ordain:

Section 1. Pursuant to the authority of section 59 of the charter of the city of Duluth, the city council of the city of Duluth does hereby direct the issuance of certificates of indebtedness in anticipation of the collection of taxes levied in the year 1913, as follows:

For the sinking fund to the amount of $40,000.00, for the public safety fund to the amount of $75,000.00, for the library fund to the amount of $5,000.00, for the public works fund to the amount of $45,000.00, for the permanent improvement fund to the amount of $80,000.00, and for the general fund to the amount of $40,000.00, said certificates to be made payable at the office of the city treasurer, city of Duluth, as follows:

One-half of the certificates against each fund on Aug. 1, 1914, and the remaining one-half of the certificates against each fund on Dec. 1, 1914.

Sec. 2. Said certificates of indebtedness are hereby directed to be signed by the mayor, sealed with the seal of the city, attested by the clerk and countersigned by the auditor thereof.

Sec. 3. Said certificates of indebtedness shall be substantially in the following form, with the blanks in this form properly filled in.

Certificate of Indebtedness of the City of Duluth.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
CITY OF DULUTH.

No. $1,000.00

This is to certify that the sum of $..... was the whole amount embraced in the tax estimate for the ..... fund of the city of Duluth, made in the year 1913, and that none of said amount has at this time been collected and credited to said fund, and that heretofore no certificates have been issued against said levy for said fund, and that this certificate of indebtedness is issued in anticipation of the collection of said tax. The city of Duluth hereby guarantees to the holder of said certificate that it will cause to be collected said tax so levied, and will pay upon surrender of this certificate to the city treasurer of the city of Duluth on the ..... day of ....., 1914, the sum of $1,000.00 with interest from the date hereof to the time mentioned herein for payment at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. This certificate is one of a series of certificates in the aggregate sum of $..... issued under the provisions of Ordinance No. ....., passed Oct. ....., 1914, in pursuance of section 59 of the charter of the city of Duluth.

Sec. 4. Said certificates of indebtedness when so issued may be taken up by investments from any of the separate funds of the city of Duluth.

Sec. 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty days after its passage and publication.

Passed Oct. 13, 1513.

CITY NOTICES.

PROPOSALS FOR THE PURCHASE OF BONDS—

Notice is hereby given that the city council of the city of Duluth, Minn., will receive sealed proposals at the council chamber in the city hall in the said city of Duluth, at 3:00 o'clock p. m. on November 3, 1913, for the purchase of gold bearing coupon bonds to the amount of $50,000, in denominations of $1,000, $500, $100 and $50 (excepting that where not inconsistent with the bids made they shall be in denominations of $1,000).

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of acquiring and improving lands for public parks and parkways in the city of Duluth, under authority of chapter 93 of the general laws of the state of Minnesota, passed at the legislature session of 1907.

Said bonds are to be dated October 1, 1913, and will become due on October 1, 1943, bearing interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, October 1 and April 1 of each year, according to interest coupons attached to each of said bonds. Both principal and interest to be made payable in gold of the United States at the American Exchange National bank of the city of New York.

Said bonds to be paid for within ten (10) days after notice that the same are ready for delivery. Said delivery and payment to be made at the First National bank of Duluth, Minnesota.

The sale of said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than par value thereof, and interest accrued to date of delivery. Such sale shall be by popular subscription and residents of the city of Duluth shall be preferred in case of bids otherwise equal, and any person including any actual resident of the city of Duluth may bid on one or more of said bonds. All bids for said bonds shall be without condition or qualifications.

Each bidder is required to file with the city clerk prior to 11 o'clock a. m. of said day, a certified check on or a certificate of deposit of a national bank, payable to the order of the city of Duluth, without condition for an amount equal to one (1) per cent of the full face value of the bonds proposed to be bid for, or a good and sufficient bond in the said sum to be approved by the city council of said city, and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the bonds and pay for them according to the terms of said bid and the ordinance; and that in the case of failure so to do, the city of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bond and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be and in said bond shall be stated as being the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof. And a condition of said bond shall be that the principal and sureties thereon expressly waive all questions of irregularity or illegality in any manner affecting the issue of said bonds, the intention of the bond being to provide for the payment of said sum of money absolutely without any condition or defense thereto.

Said bonds and checks shall immediately be submitted by the city clerk to the city attorney for his opinion as to whether said checks and bonds conform to the conditions of the ordinance, and the bid of any person whose check or bond the city attorney shall deem to not be in legal form, according to the terms of the ordinance shall not be received unless such bidder shall have such check or bond corrected to meet the requirements of the city attorney or deposit a new bond or check duly approved by said attorney before 2:00 o'clock p. m. of said day.

In all cases of bids received and not accepted, the check or certificate received therewith shall thereupon be returned. In case said bonds are awarded to any bidder and the said bidder refuses to accept and pay for said bonds, or any part thereof, within (10) days after notice, oral or written, that same are ready for delivery, said delivery to be made at the First National bank of Duluth, Minn., the said amount of the certificate of deposit or check so furnished to the city shall be retained by the city of Duluth, as its own, as and for liquidated damages for breach of the contract on the part of said bidder. In case any bidder furnishing such certificate of deposit or check shall take the said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of the payment thereof. Each bidder must give his address, street and number.

The right to reject any and all bids is reserved to the city of Duluth.

Dated, Duluth, Minn., Oct. 11, 1913.

SHARP BREAK AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Has Drop Under a Flood of Selling Orders.

Flaxseed Quiet and Fluctuations Are Within Narrow Range.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 16.—Wheat broke sharply at the close under a flood of selling. December wheat closed 1¼c off and May 1⅝c lower. December durum closed 1c off and May ¾c down.

Oats closed ½c lower at 34½c.

Puts on December wheat closed at 80½c asked and calls at 81¼c asked.

Weakness in the wheat market continued today under generally bearish influences. Liverpool cables showed a sharp decline, Eastern demand was quiet, and there were selling orders in from tired holders.

December wheat opened ⅛c off at 82⅞c and weakened ¼c further up to the final hour. May opened ⅜c off at 87⅝c and after holding steady for a time at around that figure, it broke down to 86¾c on liberal offerings.

December durum opened unchanged at 79¾c and declined ½c on moderate business. The weakness in the situation is explained by the fact that the American markets are out of line for export business, in view of the heavy offerings at Winnipeg.

Receipts of wheat at Duluth fell off to small proportions today, inspections amounting to only 179 cars. Arrivals here and at Minneapolis were 601 cars against 1,295 a year ago, a decrease of 694 cars. In spite of the light receipts wheat stocks here have increased 689,000 bu during the last four days, bringing them up to 11,331,000 bu. Minneapolis stocks have also gained 500,000 bu in the last five days.

Further buying of oats on the Winnipeg market by Duluth operators was reported. Oats shipments from here have been better during the last few days, stocks showing a decrease of 252,000 bu since the beginning of the week. Barley stocks have during the same period been reduced 142,000 bu, but 1,724,000 bu of the cereal is still in store here.

The elevator situation at Buffalo was reported to be about unchanged this morning, there being over 4,000,000 bu of grain afloat there.

Small Decline in Flax.

Trading in flaxseed was featureless and came within a narrow range. Receipts were lighter, and there was less selling pressure than had been in evidence during the last week. Crushers picked up the small lots offering. The market, however, still showed a downward tendency, but recessions were only fractional. The October, November and December offering each opened ¼c off. October at $1.35½; November at $1.36⅝, and December at $1.34. May opened unchanged at $1.39¾. October closed at $1.35½; November at $1.35⅝; December at $1.34 and May at $1.39¾.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat—Easier American cables and weakness in Winnepeg yesterday caused realizing at the opening, and values were ⅜@⅝d lower; following the opening there was a further decline of ⅛@¼d. The pressure of Manitoba offers, further rain reported in India, favorabdle prospects in Argentina, and belief in large Russian shipments this week helped the decline. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak, ⅝@1d lower.

"Corn—Opened with a steady undertone unchanged, and later advanced ¼@⅝d. The easy American cables were offset here by the closing firmness in Buenos Ayres. There was an improved demand for spot with Plata grade ½d higher and the forecast is for lighter Argentine shipments this week. Later there was some decline from the high in sympathy with heaviness in wheat. At 1:30 p. m., market unchanged to ½d higher."

"I regard the market situation in wheat as very weak," said A. D. Thomson this morning. "The European ports are choked up, and if Argentina should come along with a big crop, it will be difficult to say where prices may be carried down to. They are going to have heavy receipts at Winnipeg for some time and as long as that continues, we are shut out of export business."

• • •

F. M. Crosby of the Washburn-Crosby Milling company was a visitor on the board of trade today. He avers that there is a fair demand for flour at its present level as prices in it are regarded attractive by the trade. Heavy stocks are however being carried by all the mills, he said.

• • •

B. F. Benson of the Benson-Newhouse-Stabeck company of Minneapolis expressed the opinion on the board of trade here this morning that wheat receipts will be light for a time now, and he thinks that should exert a steadying influence on the market. "Farmers have now sold enough grain to cover their pressing obligations," he said, "and they are now disposed to hold off for higher prices. As North Dakota farmers have gone more extensively into mixed farming of late, they are in good shape in most sections."

The Winnipeg Grain exchange reported stocks of wheat in Canada at the end of last week at 11,921,00 bu, as compared with 8,204,000 bu a year ago. Of that 7,879,000 bu were held at Port Arthur and Fort William, 1,192,000 bu at Midland; 1,250,000 bu at Montreal; 1,078,000 bu at Buffalo; 302,000 bu at Duluth; 284,000 bu at Goderich; 238,000 bu at Port Colborne, an 1 389,000 bu at Victoria Harbor.

The Chicago Tribune says: "An immense export business in Manitoba wheat has been done the past two days. There were some claims that the sale reported to Lisbon was Duluth wheat."

• • •

Minneapolis wired: "Cash market barely steady. Demand fair for top grades, but millers are trying to cut down premiums. On one northern blue stem it is 1c to 2c over December, with very little doing at the top prices. Velvet chaff is December to 1c over. Flour sales are moderate. Some resting orders caught on the decline. Shipping directions are slow. Mill feed continues weak with very little demand from the East."

Barley—Receipts, 141 cars; year ago, 177; shipments, 180. Choice barley in good demand and steady. Closing range, 44@68c.

Flour unchanged. Shipments, 65,878 barrels. Bran unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Again Goes Down Under Foreign Influence.

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Notwithstanding four days of declining prices, wheat today again turned downward, influenced by weakness at Liverpool. Continued liberal world shipments were expected. India reported further rain and there were favorable crop prospects in Argentina. Profit-taking by shorts led to a rally, but the market once more fell back. The opening was ¼@⅜c to ⅝@¾c off. The ensuing recovery, which amounted to ½c, disappeared completely.

Weakness increased owing to accumulation of stocks at Minneapolis and Duluth. The close was heavy, 1¼c to 1¾@1⅞c under last night.

Unsettled weather conditions West and Southwest gave the corn market strength. Cables, too, were bullish. Opening figures varied from ⅛@¼c decline to ⅜c advance. A substantial gain all around followed.

Afterward prices reacted on account of assertions that at some Illinois points husking returns were a little better than expected. The close was weak, ¼c lower to a shade advance compared with last night.

Oats hardened with corn. Commission houses, though, were fair sellers on the upturn.

Provisions were inclined to sympathize with coarse grain rather than a setback at the yards. First sales were unchanged to 5@7½c higher, on some additional gains were scored later.

WEAKNESS IN STOCKS

Low Prices for the Movement Are Scored in All Directions.

Bear Party in Full Control and Shakes Out the Longs.

New York, Oct. 16.—Speculative sentiment veered strongly to the selling side today. Opinion was especially bearish among the more important professional traders, who were heaviest sellers of Union Pacific, Reading and the Coppers. Further cuts in Steel products, the Mexican situation and conjecture as to the effect of our currency legislation had weight in depressing sentiment.

Although trading became dull after the first hour, the market showed no ability to recover with any spirit. Weakness of minor issues indicated that weak spots were being sought out to force genuine liquidation.

Bonds were heavy.

Can common and preferred rose a point each at the opening of the market today. First prices elsewhere showed small and irregular changes. Reading, Southern Pacific and Amalgamated made small gains and Union Pacific and Steel were slightly lower. After the opening transactions the whole market shaded off. Westinghouse lost 1½ and Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Utah Copper ½.

The better feeling created by yesterday's advance was dissipated today by fresh selling of a speculative character. Substantial declines in standard railroad stocks, especially the grangers and Pacifics influenced rather broad selling of various specialties.

The buying powers went out of the market entirely after prices had recovered a little from the low levels. Announcement of a new bond issue by Illinois Central and talk of necessary financing by other lines was responsible for the early market weakness in certain stocks.

Selling orders, distributed at intervals, undermined the improving tendency. Some shares returned to their low figures and the whole market close to the bottom. Business was no larger on this decline than on the fractional rally which preceded it.

The market closed weak. A selling movement unsettled the list again in the last hour. Low prices for the movement were scored in all directions. Union Pacific broke 3 points and some high priced specialties as much as 5 points. The bear party was in full sway and experienced little difficulty in shaking out quantities of long stocks.

LATEST ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP BLOWS UP DURING TRIALS; TWENTY-SIX MEN ARE KILLED

MEMBERS OF NAVAL BOARD ARE VICTIMS

Only Survivor of German Tragedy Has Both Eyes Burned Out.

Hundreds See Catastrophe Over Streets of Johannisthal.

L-II. Is Seventh of Zeppelin Dirigibles to Meet Disaster.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—The newest and largest of the Zeppelin airships, the L-II, was destroyed in midair by an explosion at 10:15 o'clock this morning. All but one of the twenty-seven men on board, including the entire admiralty trial board, were killed.

The disaster occurred just above the main street of the city of Johannisthal while the big dirigible, 500 feet long, was making a trial trip, preliminary to its acceptance as flagship of the new German aerial navy. The shattered hulk of the airship, a mass of blazing canvas and crumpled aluminum, dropped 900 feet into the public highway.

Hundreds Saw Disaster.

Hundreds of people, who had been watching the flight from parks and housetops, rushed to the scene. There was nothing to be done, except to take out the dead from the mass of twisted wreckage.

Lieut. Baron von Bleul of the Queen Augusta Grenadier guard, who was making the trip as a guest, was the only survivor of the wreck. He was badly injured and his condition is critical.

Many of the bodies were so badly burned and mangled as to be unrecognizable.

The admiralty trial board consisted of seven officers, including Lieutenant Commander Behnisch and Senior Lieu-

RETIRED OFFICER OF NAVY IS SUICIDE

Commander Brand Kills Himself in Woods Near His Home.

Colchester, Conn., Oct. 17.—Commander Charles A. Brand, U. S. N., retired, committed suicide by shooting this morning in some woods near his home. His act was caused, it is believed, by ill-health, on account of which he retired from the navy three years ago. He was 40 years old.

U. S. SCIENTIST IS KILLED BY HUNTER

Prof. Hammer Shot By Accident By New Mexico Man.

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 17.—Prof. M. G. Hammar, entomologist of the United States department of agriculture, who for the past two years has been doing special work in this state, was accidentally shot and killed by C. J. Leland of this city yesterday, while they were hunting in the Capitain mountains sixty miles west of here.

Leland, not knowing Prof. Hammar was in the direction in which he saw two deer, fired with an automatic rifle.

Leland gave himself up to the officers after bringing the body here.

PROHIBITION BILLS PASS IN TENNESSEE

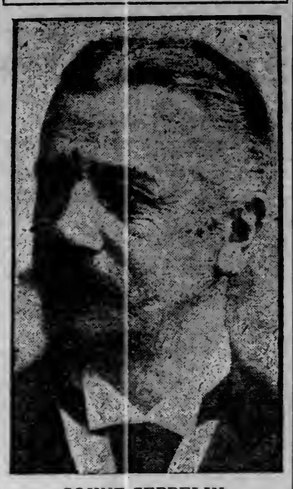

Three Measures Are Expected to Be Signed at Once.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Three of the so-called prohibition law enforcement measures which the present extra session of the Tennessee legislature was summoned to consider had passed both houses when adjournment was taken late yesterday, and require only the signature of Governor Hooper to make them part of the law of the state. None had serious opposition in either house, and it is declared that Governor Hooper will sign them at once.

The first prohibits the shipment of liquor into the state; the second prohibits intrastate shipment of liquor, and the third provides that saloons, gambling and disorderly houses are nuisances subject to abatement upon complaint of ten citizens.

Passage of these measures ends what has been a bitter fight extending over months. Opposition at a previous special session filibustered successfully while law enforcement forces made charges that gunmen were present in the hall of the house to intimidate them.

MAY CHARGE WIFE-MURDER

Chicago Police Hold W. C. Ellis of Cincinnati on Suspicion.

Man Found Wounded in Room With Wife's Body.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis, a wealthy leather manufacturer of Cincinnati who was found with three bullet wounds and his throat cut in a room at a downtown hotel, with the body of his slain wife, is recovering and, according to the police, may be booked on a charge of murder.

The inquest over Mrs. Ellis' body was to be opened today, but the police announced that it probably would be continued to permit further investigation of the tragedy.

Ellis, who is at the Bridewell hospital, was able to leave his bed today, and in reply to inquiries regarding his condition replied:

"Oh, I am all right. I will tell the whole story of this terrible affair at the inquest. I have nothing else to say at present."

Mind May Be Affected.

Dr. D. A. H. Watterman, house physician at the hotel, said today that he was of the opinion that Ellis' mind may have been affected as the result of a disease from which he had been suffering for several years.

The police have three letters which Ellis is said to have written at the hotel Wednesday evening, indicating that the killing might have been planned in advance.

They read in substance as follows:

"My dear sister: Take care of the kids. Eleonor does not love me any more. I cannot live with her, so I am going to take her with me. My suspicions are true. Make my act appear as if financial troubles were the cause.

"WILL."

"Dear Philip: Make it appear as if

WILSON FAMILY IS BACK IN WASHINGTON

President Meets Wife and Two Daughters at Train.

Washington, Oct. 17.—President Wilson arose today while the morning sun was struggling to peep through low-hanging clouds, and before 7 o'clock was on his way to the Union station to welcome Mrs. Wilson and his daughters, the Misses Margaret and Eleanor, who returned from the Wilson summer home in Cornish, N. H. The reunion was the same as would mark that of any family and there was no crowd to observe it.

Mrs. Wilson and the daughters, pictures of health, tripped off the train into the arms of the president. The party was taken quickly through the private waiting room set aside for the chief executives of the nation, to the White House automobile. None but the secret service men and the station officials seemed to be aware of the passage of the distinguished party, so quietly was it effected.

Arrived at the White House, President Wilson and his reunited family sat down to a substantial breakfast. Miss Jessie Wilson was the only one absent from the circle. It was said she had remained in the East to visit with friends for a few days.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT STARTS FOR CANADA.

London, Oct. 17.—The duke and duchess of Connaught, accompanied by Princess Patricia, their youngest daughter, left London today for Liverpool, whence they will sail to Canada on board the Empress of Britain. The duke will resume his duties as governor general on his arrival.

Walter H. Page, the United States ambassador, was among those who went to the railroad station to see the royal party off.

GERMAN ARMY FLYERS DEAD

Three Military Aviators Are Killed in Accidents.

Two Die in Fall and Captain Burns to Death.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—Not only the German navy, but the army as well, suffered from aviation accidents today. Three army officers belonging to the flying corps were killed this morning in aeroplane accidents.

Capt. Haeseler, Lieut. Koch and Sergeant Mante, all of the German army aviation corps, were the victims of the fatal aeroplane accidents, which occurred early today.

Capt. Haeseler, accompanied by Lieut. Frieberg, and Lieut. Koch, accompanied by Sergeant Mante, left Berlin last night with instructions to fly to points in Silesia and Bavaria respectively to deliver military messages.

Motor Broke Down.

The motor of Capt. Haeseler's aeroplane broke down when the aviators were in the vicinity of Breslau. Capt. Haeseler endeavored to make an emergency landing in the darkness. The aeroplane settled in a tree top and Capt. Haeseler was pinned beneath the motor with an arm and both legs broken.

His companion, Lieut. Frieberg, was not injured. He clambered down and obtained help, but after endeavoring for several hours, with assistance, to extricate his companion, the gasoline tank of the aeroplane exploded and Capt. Haeseler was burned to death.

Lieut. Koch and Sergeant Mante fell with their aeroplane near Wuerzburg. Both were killed instantly.

GASOLINE; MATCH; THREE MEN DEAD

Five Firemen Badly Hurt Fighting Flames in Garage.

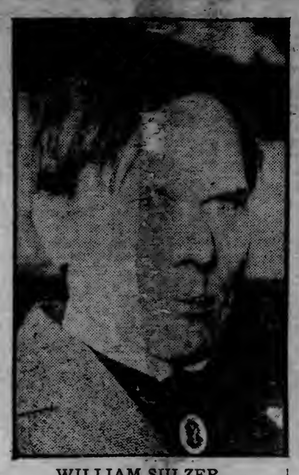

Anderson, S. C., Oct. 17.—Three men were killed and eight injured here when a garage collapsed after a gasoline explosion. Edward Layton struck a match to light the lamp of his automobile as it was being filled with gasoline. As the firemen were fighting the flames a wall fell, killing William E. Campbell and Robert Dodd, Jr., and an unidentified man. Five firemen were so badly injured that they had to be taken to a hospital.

WOMEN BURN TO DEATH IN HOME.

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct 17.—Mrs. Millie Aldrich and her sister, Vera Hutson, were burned to death here today in a fire which destroyed their home.

Guilty of False Statement, Perjury and Suppression of Evidence.

All Other Articles of Impeachment Thrown Out By the Court.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 17.—William Sulzer no longer is governor of the state of New York.

A few minutes before noon today the high court of impeachment, by a vote of 43 to 12, removed him from office. Senator Wende and Judge Cullen excused themselves from voting.

The proposal to disqualify Sulzer from ever again holding a place of honor or trust in the state was voted down unanimously with the exception that Judge Cullen again did not vote.

The governor received the news of his removal in silence at the executive mansion, where he had waited all morning to hear the result. He said he might make a statement later.

Prior to the vote on his disqualification and removal the last four articles of the impeachment charges, 5, 6, 7 and 8, unanimously were voted out.

Glynn Now Governor.

Court was in session little more than an hour. It officially adjourned a minute after 12 o'clock.

Martin H. Glynn of Albany, the acting governor, became governor. Robert F. Wagner of New York, majority leader of the senate, became lieutenant governor.

No official notice of removal was given Mr. Sulzer. A record of the decision of the court was filed with the secretary of state, thus complying with all the legal requirements to remove the governor.

Payday for the Court.

Incidentally today was payday for members of the court. The salary of each man is $37.50 per day and as they were paid for seven days' work each week, they drew $1,087.50 each for their twenty-nine days' work. This brought the salary item alone to $61,987.50. That amount does not include the pay of the various court attaches.

Aside from the actual trial, much interest was manifested in Governor Sulzer's statement, which he said last night he probably would release to-

SECRETARIES GO TO SEE BATTLESHIPS

President Changes Plans Owing to Currency Bill's Status.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Secretary Daniels, with Secretaries Garrison and Redfield and their wives, Mrs. Daniels, the Misses Burleson, daughters of the postmaster general and Mrs. William Jennings Bryan, left here today on the Mayflower to see battle practice of the Atlantic fleet off the Virginia Capes tomorrow. President Wilson cancelled his plans to see the ships in action because of the currency situation in congress.

SUN YAT SEN UNDER ARREST IN JAPAN

Will Be Sent Back to China to Face Larceny Charge.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 17.—Information to the effect that Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been arrested in Japan, came in on the steamer Empress of India. The former president is charged with misappropriating approximately $160,000, presumably from the funds of the revolutionary party.

It was only a few days ago that passengers from the Orient brought information that Sun Yat Sen had traveled on the Awa Maru, disguised as a Japanese, and landed at Kobe. Passengers on the Empress of India confirm this, saying that it has been known for some time he was hiding near Kobe, but that he had no difficulty in hiding, as he has many friends there. He spent some weeks in Formosa, and boarded the Awa Maru there.

There is an extradition treaty between Japan and China, and Dr. Sun is being held by the Japanese pending the perfecting of arrangements for taking him back to China to face the charge against him.

NEGRO FURNISHES PRACTICAL ALIBI.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Brewer Abney, the negro brought here from Kansas City as a suspect in the case of the murder of Miss Ida Leegson, today practically convinced Capt. Halpin of the detective bureau of his innocence of that crime. Abney said he was in Kansas City at the time of the murder.

PICKPOCKET WORKS IN THE U. S. CAPITOL

Washington, Oct. 17.—One thousand dollars in bills disappeared from the pockets of Charles Clements, disbursing officer of the patent department, while Mr. Clements was on his way yesterday from the treasury to the interior department.

When Mr. Clements reached the interior department he found the pocket empty. He gave chase to a strange man who had come with the elevator with him. Down stairs and into the street, the chase led, Clements finally overhauling the fugitive. The prisoner gave the name of James Billings of Boston, but his picture was found in the rogues' gallery listed as "Boston Jack," with various aliases. Police are working on the theory that he turned the loot over to a confederate.

CROWDS TURN OUT TO HEAR BRYAN.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 17.—Despite cold, raw winds and threatening clouds, large crowds began to pour into this city today to hear Secretary of State Bryan, who is to speak on behalf of the Wilson administration at the Waterloo dairy congress this afternoon.

Mr. Bryan arrived from Dubuque early today. He was met at the train by a non-partisan committee and escorted to a hotel.

TWO AMERICANS KILLED BY MEXICANS AT MINING CAMP

STAYS BY HUSBAND ON WRECKED VESSEL

Wife of Captain Refuses to Leave Before He Does.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—"If it is safe for you to remain, it is safe for me, and here I stay as long as you do," Mrs. A. F. Asplund, wife of the master of the wrecked steam schooner Merced told her husband, who urged her to enter the lifeboat which took off passengers and crew.

The Merced piled up on the rocks near Eureka, Cal., Wednesday night. When the doomed ship's decks were awash the captain and his wife left her and are now en route to this city, aboard the steamer Yosemite, summoned to the aid of the Merced by wireless.

PLUMBING COMPANY PLANT IS BURNED.

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 17.—The plant of the Sanitary Company of America, manufacturers of plumbing fixtures, at Linfield, five miles from here, the only industry of the village, was destroyed by fire today. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

Another Is Held Prisoner By the Mexican Government.

Huerta Calls Foreign Diplomats to Hear Statement.

Guadalajara, Mex., Oct. 17.—Two American citizens and one Mexican were killed on Tuesday as the result of a feud at Hostotipaquillo, a mining camp in the state of Jalisco, about eighty miles to the northwest of this city. Twenty-five foreigners there were threatened with extermination.

News of the killings reached this city early today.

Barrett was murdered with an ax by the Mexican, who was captured by Kendall and turned over to the rural guards. While the guards were escorting the murderer to Magdalena they shot him.

A story reached the mining camp that the murderer had been killed by Kendall, whereupon a number of Mexicans set upon Kendall and killed him.

The same night about 100 Mexicans attacked all the foreigners in camp. The foreigners took refuge in a mine, after telephoning to Magdalena for troops. A detachment of fifty rural guards responded and escorted the foreigners to Magdalena, where they boarded a train for this city.

American Held Prisoner.

Murfresboro, Tenn., Oct. 17.—According to information received here from William E. Alger, American consul at Mazatlan, Mex., Granville R. Huggins, member of a prominent Murfresboro family, is held prisoner in the Mexican city by the Huerta government, accused of abetting the rebels. The consul asked that money be sent for Huggins' defense, but inasmuch as the letter was dated Sept. 24, the family, fearing delay, today wired to the

COPPER STRIKERS CONTINUE PICKETING

More Arrests Are Made, One Prisoner Being a Woman.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notwithstanding arrests being made of striking copper miners on charges of violating the injunction against picketing and violence, the men continued picketing this morning, as did the women of the strikers. More arrests resulted, one being a woman arrested at Calumet.

The starting of cold weather does not seem to thin the early morning parades and pickets.

Today 300 more strikebreakers will arrive for the Calumet & Hecla mine, 100 for the Wolverine and another hundred for the Mohawk, these being the first lots brought in for the latter two properties. The Wolverine mine will reopen during the coming week.

Steel Plant Suburbs

Fond du Lac, New Duluth, Gary and Smithville

WEEKLY PAPER FOR SUBURBS

First Issue Expected to Be Out About Nov. 1.

The suburbs will have a weekly paper within a short time. The new publication will make its bow to the public in about three weeks under the name of the Steel Plant News.

G. W. Small of Johnson & Small, publishers of the Two Harbors Journal, has been in Gary and New Duluth for the past few days making arrangements for opening the printing plant. The machinery for the plant is expected to arrive early next week and will be installed in one of the buildings on Commonwealth avenue.

"We expect to publish the paper weekly," said Mr. Small yesterday. "The merchants of Gary and New Duluth have given us a gerat deal of encouragement in starting the venture and although it may not pay in the beginning, we believe that this will ultimately be a good field for the paper. We expect to have the first publication out about Nov. 1."

ASK GRADE FOR COMMONWEALTH

Property Owners Along Avenue Want Uniform Building Assured.

Property owners on Commonwealth avenue have asked the city commissioners to have a grade established for the thoroughfare. It is expected that a crew of the engineer's force will have this established before the end of this month.

A number of the owners who have erected buildings on the street have had to do so by guess work and some of them have either been constructed so that they will be above or below the street grade. It is to prevent further building of that kind that the property owners want the grade established.

They also intend asking that the city construct a sidewalk on the west side of the street this fall. Many new buildings are in the course of construction on this side of the avenue and it is claimed that the sidewalk is necessary.

MAIL CARRIER SERVICE.

Gary and New Duluth to Have Postal Convenience.

A mail carrier service will probably be given the Gary district and New Duluth. A recommendation to that effect has been made to the postal department at Washington by Inspector Smith, who has been looking over the territory.

The business men of Gary had asked for the establishment of a postoffice branch for the suburb. This would, it is said, have entailed considerable expense and the carrier service will be just as satisfactory to the people of the district.

HILDRETH HEADS INSURANCE AGENTS.

Cincinnati Ohio, Oct. 17.—The following ticket was nominated and elected at the convention of the National Association of Fire Insurance Agents, there being no opposition:

President, C. F. Hildreth, Freeport, Ill., and secretary, Henry H. Putman, Boston. James S. Leeder of Milwaukee was elected vice president of the Middle Western states division.

Resolutions were adopted favoring 1-cent letter postage, and commending the government for punishing wildcat mail order insurance companies.

Good clothes stay good

Good clothes hold their shapeliness and retain their stylish lines till the fabric is worn "down to the thread." Good clothes have touches of distinctiveness moulded into their very being—they have individuality that remains with them to the end.

Styleplus Clothes $17

TRADE MARK REGISTERED

"The same price the world over"

first of all are good clothes. They have shape and style that give them distinction.

These qualities are moulded into the skeleton of the suit. The canvas and haircloth are soaked in water so that after-shrinking is an impossibility. The collar, the coat front, shoulders and arm-holes are carefully hand tailored. The linings are hand-felled. You get workmanship, which combined with the high-grade, all-wool fabrics, gives the permanent construction that stands the knocks.

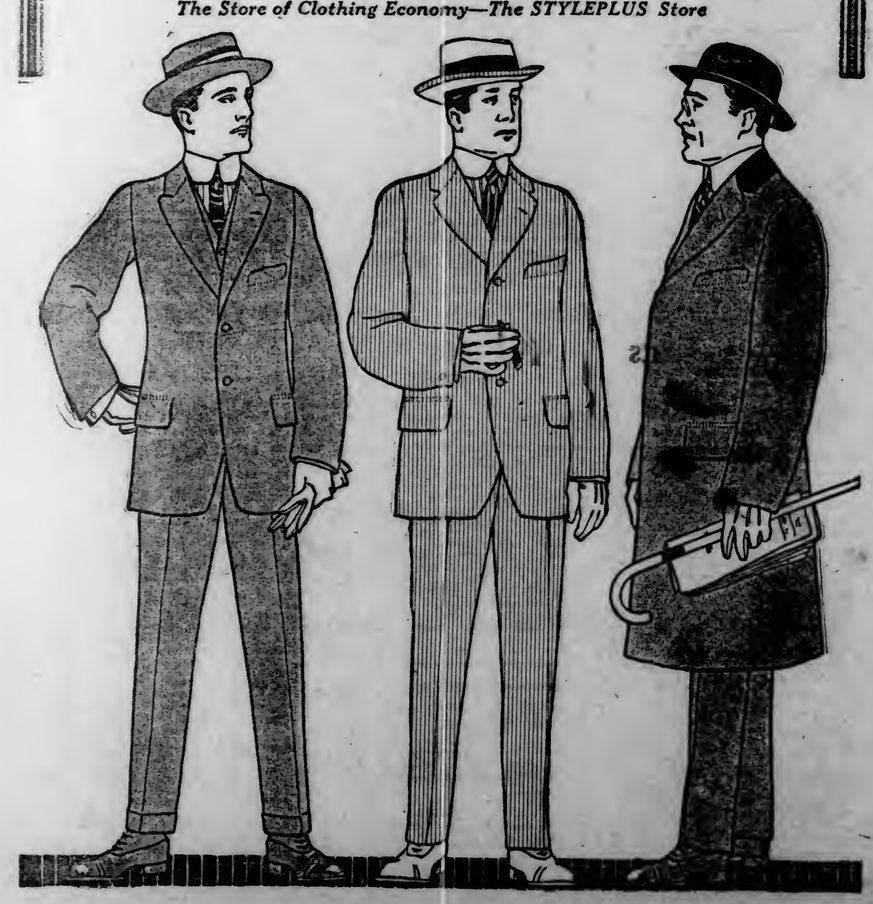

You cannot buy any other clothes that have the individuality and distinctiveness of STYLEPLUS for so little money as $17. These are special clothes made by a trained organization, in a huge, daylight, sanitary factory, by scientific methods. STYLEPLUS could not be made and sold for less than $20 to $25 under the old plan.

STYLEPLUS suits and overcoats are for sale locally only at our store. Come in now while our assortment is at its best. You will learn how to dress better and pay less.

FIREWORKS EXPECTED.

West Duluth Club Members Will Discuss Removal of Firemen.

Something akin to fireworks is expected at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club tonight. Citizens and business men of this end of the city are much worked up over the removal of the firemen from No. 3 fire hall, and last night this was augmented by the removal of the three horses used to move the fire engine.

The horses were taken from the hall yesterday afternoon and will be put in service at one of the uptown halls. The removal of the men and horses was caused by a recent order on the part of the commissioner of public safety in reducing the expenses of the department so that the funds available can be made to cover the operating costs.

Members of the city commission have been invited, it is said, to attend the meeting of the club this evening.

Robinson Funeral.

The funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Robinson, 52 years old, wife of John Robinson, 1111 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, who died Tuesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Oneota cemetery.

REVIVAL MEETINGS FOR WEST DULUTH

Rev. August Dahlquist and son, Alfred Dahlquist, of Rockford, Ill., will be at the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Ramsey street, to assist in conducting a series of revival meetings. The revival meetings will begin with a sacred concert on Tuesday evening, at which Miss Ruth Freberg of Menominee, Mich., will be soloist.

Rev. Mr. Dahlquist has been touring the country conducting evangelistic meetings for the past summer. His son Alfred has appeared as one of the principal attractions of the meetings and is considered a wonderful singer.

The revival meetings will be continued for a week or more. Invitations are being extended to the Scandinavian people of West Duluth to attend these services.

IOWA PASTOR MAY BE GIVEN CALL.

Rev. J. Frederick Catlin of Ames, Iowa, will preach at both services at the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues, Sunday. In the morning he will speak on "Reactive Effect of the Christian Life" and in the evening he will talk on "Benefits to Be Derived From Difficulties."

Rev. Mr. Catlin spoke before members of the congregation at the church last night. He is said to have made a good impression and it is probable that following his two addresses on Sunday that the members of the church will extend him a call to become permanent pastor of the church.

SECOND MEETING OF SOCIAL CENTER.

The second of a series of fall and winter open meetings of the social center will be held this evening at the Irving school, Fifty-seventh avenue and Nicollet street. A program of several numbers will be given.

Capt. Albert Swensen of the United States hydrographical office will be the principal speaker. He will talk on the work of the local office and the benefit that lake traffic derives from it.

The program will also include a dramatic reading by Mrs. Mary Nelson and a vocal solo selection by Clarence Dunning. Jackson's orchestra will furnish instrumental music. A number of reels of moving pictures will also be a part of the program. Everybody is invited to attend.

NIGHT SCHOOL IS PROVING POPULAR.

The attendance at the night school opened at the Irving building has greatly increased since the opening night. There are now thirty-five students enrolled, many of whom are taking courses in English.

If the number of students increases much more it will require the services of another teacher. At present N. A. Nonnamaker is in charge of the class, giving instructions in work in the sixth, seventh and eighth grade work as well as in English.

Halloween Party.

Plans were made last night for a Halloween party to be given on Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, at the Irving school, at a meeting of the Duluth Industrial High School Alumni association. The society also arranged to hold another meeting Tuesday evening at which it will probably take action to affiliate with the social center movement recently started in this end of the city.

Details of the Halloween party will be worked out by a committee composed of Miss Esther Donald, Miss Theresa Quinn, Miss Catherine Connolly and Miss Kate Dunleavy. It is proposed to have a "spread" at which several impromptu talks will be given by the members, following which games and music will form the entertainment.

West Duluth Briefs.

Rev. W. L. Staub, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, returned today from Stillwater, where he has been attending the annual conference of the Presbyterian Synod of Minnesota.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church will entertain at a concert in the church parlors this evening.

A. B. Y. P. U. will be organized Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at a meeting of the young people of the West Duluth Baptist church, to be held in the church.

The Citizens' State bank is open for all banking business from 6 to 8 p. m. Saturday evening. Adv.

Speaking of Tailored Suits for Everyday Wear!
When a woman wishes to express her own estimate of her value she instinctively turns to clothes. They may not be her only form of expression, but they are an uncommonly important one, and one which everybody can recognize at a glance. And the better she understands the art of dress the more she appreciates the necessity of the plain suit in her wardrobe, and the more exacting she is likely to be as to its cut and detail work.
The collection of suits between $25.00 and $37.50 in the Women's Salon of Dress is one that the woman who knows dress can look over with satisfaction.
The suits are quiet and simple; the styles, sixty or seventy of them, are chosen with a view to suitability, and are not extreme; the colors, apart from the standard black and navy, are rich and dark.
For $25—Serges, Bedford Cords, Heavy Cheviots and two-toned fabrics.
For $30—Broadcloths in rich colors—often with fur-cloth collars, serge diagonal and novelty cheviots.
For $32.50, $35 and $37.50—Broadcloths, Ottoman Cloths, Bayadere Broadcloths and Fancy Bedford Cords and two-toned materials.

All's Well in the Young Women's Salon
From the smart little Norfolk jacket suit to the very handsome three-piece models (Paris inspired), there never was a season when a young woman had so wide choice in the matter of suits. Nor is the choice a matter of style alone, for there is as great variety in the fabrics, which includes the new Duvetyn, Eponges, Velvets, Broadcloth and Sturdier Cheviots and Serges, and many colors, both somber and gay. There are many prices, too, from $15 to $82.50, and the suits are in 14, 16 and 18-year sizes. Bust measures, 32, 34. 36.

CANNERS ADMIT THEY BROKE WISCONSIN LAW

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17. — The five branches of the Wisconsin Pea-Canners' company, against whom the industrial commission lodged ninety-five counts for alleged violation of the women's hours of labor law, have filed notice with Attorney General Owen that they admit the charge and await judgment by the courts. The minimum penalty is $10 for each count. Several other companies also have written that they desire to have the suits against them settled without contest.

AUTO DISASTERS IN BIG CITIES MULTIPLY

Chicago Shows 553 Per Cent Increase in Five Years; St. Paul 400

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Deaths in this city from automobile accidents increased 553 per cent from 1907 to 1912, according to statistics supplied to the Chicago Safety commission, which was organized recently to combat such accidents. In 1907 there were 15 deaths from motor car accidents; last year there were 92, the increase being the largest in the country.

In other large cities, the increases for this period were:

New York, 310 per cent; Philadelphia, 390; Boston, 277; Cleveland, 54; Baltimore, 200; Pittsburg, 180; Detroit, 325; Buffalo, 200; San Francisco, 93; Milwaukee, 133; Cincinnati, 260; Newark, 40; Los Angeles, 280; Kansas City, 500; Seattle, 130; Indianapolis, 450; Providence, 400; St. Paul, 400; Denver, 57; and Memphis, 400.

Two men injured by automobiles last Saturday died in local hospitals yesterday.

LATEST ZEPPELIN AIRSHIP BLOWS UP DURING TRAILS

tenant Freyer of the German naval flying corps. The airship's pilot was Capt. Ghend, a veteran steersman in the employ of Count Zeppelin.

Naval Constructors Neumann and Pletzler and Naval Engineer Busch were among those on board the L-II.

Kaiser's Personal Friend.

Lieutenant Commander Benisch was a close personal friend of the emperor. He was formerly navigating officer of the imperial yacht Holenzollern and later commander of the cruiser Panther.

Lieut. Freyer was also a favorite of Emperor William. He was formerly personal adjutant of Prince Adalbert, one of the sons of the emperor. He served with the prince on board a torpedo boat after studying with him at the naval academy.

Spectators who had been watching the impressive maneuvers of the L-II from below suddenly saw the great gas bag burst into a glaring flame and then fall. A second or two later the reverberating sound of the terrific explosion reached them.

It was impossible for some time to approach the flaming dirigible, beneath which the members of the crew had been crushed and burned.

Described by Witness.

"I was working in my office about 500 yards from the scene of the accident when I was startled by an explosion of extraordinary violence. My first thought was that an aeroplane had landed on the roof of my building and that the gasoline tank had exploded.

"I rushed to a window and saw the new dirigible in flames and plunging toward the earth. The outer covering of the aircraft had been already burned off and the inner balloonets containing the gas had disappeared.

Fell Bow Foremost.

"The naked aluminum framework, with its long center pieces, its interlaced ribs and its tapering ends and the gondolas containing the motors beneath, fell rapidly, bow foremost.

"When the skeleton of the immense craft struck the earth the heavy gondolas buried themselves in the ground.

"I rushed immediately to the scene after ordering out the fire department from the aerodrome."

Coming so shortly after the destruction of the "L-I" in a hurricane in the North Sea on Sept. 9, when fifteen men were killed, today's disaster gave rise to a feeling of consternation in Berlin, whose public had within a week been saddened by the loss of many German passengers on board the burned Volturno and by accounts of the terrible mining catastrophe in Wales.

The dirigible, before she left the balloon hall at Johannisthal, took on board her regular naval crew and a number of officers. She headed for Berlin, a short distance away, in a light wind. About a dozen aviators were circling the aerodrome at the time in aeroplanes.

Apparently In Good Order.

Everything was apparently in good order on the airship. She was gradually getting up speed when suddenly an explosion was heard by those on the ground, evidently in one of the motors in the center gondola. A flash shot out and the next instant the whole ship was afire and plunging downward. Every inch of the canvas covering and the balloonets disappeared in a moment.

A second and more violent explosion was then heard, the fire having reached the gasoline tanks filled with about a ton of liquid fuel. Before the echoes of the explosion had died down the wreck of the most modern of Germany's dirigibles lay a flaming mass on the ground.

The fire department of all the neighboring suburbs, with detachments of the balloon corps, the pioneers and other troops were soon on the spot, but there was nothing left to save.

The balloon lay in a great curve like a letter S, a mass of glowing wires and tangled girders. The cylinders of the motors in the center gondola and one of the after propellers could be distinguished. Otherwise there was nothing to indicate that the debris was that of Germany's proudest airship.

Pioneers armed with axes hacked at the wreckage for two hours before they extricated the last of the bodies of the victims. The dead were borne on stretchers to the balloon hall, and a company of soldiers roped off the place to keep back the crowd.

Bodies Blown Quarter of Mile.

The six inmates of the center gondola had been blown through the sides of the car by the first explosion, and their bodies fell a quarter of a mile away from the wreck of the balloon, which was traveling forty miles an hour when the accident happened.

All the others, except two, apparently were killed by the explosion of the gasoline tank and were probably dead before the wreckage reached the earth.

The commander and members of the admiralty trial board were seated in the officers' gondola. After the fire broke out they were caged inside a network of redhot girders.

Two of the crew still were alive when rescuers reached the wreckage. One of them, however, died before he was extricated. The other, Lieut. Baron von Bleul, was injured seriously. Both his eyes were burned out. He urged the rescuers to kill him.

Besides the officers already mentioned, Lieut. Trenk, who was second in command, Chief Engineer Haussmann and three engineer secretaries from the admiralty board were killed.

Only One Civilian Aboard.

The pilot, Capt. Glund, was the only civilian on board the airship. He was the commander of the Zeppelin balloon which landed in France in April, this year. The rest of those on board were officers of the German navy.

Zeppelin's Seventh Loss.

The Zeppelin airships have been singularly unfortunate ever since their invention by the aged soldier-count. No fewer than seven of them have been destroyed by fire, explosion or wreck. Zeppelin's I., II. and VI., Deutschland I. and II., and now the L-I. and L-II., the first big airships attached to the German navy, have met with disaster in this way.

Many minor accidents have happened to other air vessels of the same type, involving a large list of killed or injured.

On the occasion of the last catastrophe on Sept. 9, the German emperor was said to have wept on hearing the news. He had been in command of the naval maneuvers during the day, and the dirigible L-I., pride of the German navy, had been engaged in reconnaissance work. In the evening she was blown away to sea by a violent gale. When she struck the water she broke in half and sank.

McPARTLIN WILL SEEK JUDGESHIP.

Bemidji, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. J. McPartlin, former county commissioner of Koochiching county and now practicing law at International Falls, will enter the primary election fight for the district bench in the Fifteenth judicial district, he stated here yesterday.

"I do not announce my candidacy at this time," said Mr. McPartlin. "All I can say is that I am going to be a candidate. I do not want to begin filing statements of my expense account every two weeks so long before the campaign begins, as one would have to do when the announcement is made."

Mr. McPartlin is the second man in this district to announce his opposition to Judge B. F. Wright of Park Rapids, whose present term expires Dec. 31, 1914. Former State Senator C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids announced his candidacy two weeks ago.

WISCONSIN ROAD FUNDS APPORTIONED.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 17.—Distribution by counties of the $1,230,000 state highway appropriation available for construction in 1914 has been made by the state highway commission. The total amount voted by county boards was $1,548,839.48, so that the funds are oversubscribed by about $320,000.

According to A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, about 1,600 miles of road should be built next year under the state aid law, and about 200 bridges. All the counties are now doing work under the law. There are 1,588 units of government which might receive state aid, and of this number 1,211 applied for it. Several counties, including Fond du Lac, Eau Claire, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Walworth, Washington and Waukesha, failed to call for state aid to the aggregate amount of $59,786.85, which amount will be apportioned according to the ratio of their pledges among certain other counties which together called for $278,626.33 more than they were entitled to. Milwaukee's apportionment is the largest, Dane is second, Rock third and Dodge fourth.

Amounts appropriated for Western Wisconsin counties are: St. Croix, $11,817.50; Barron, $10,831.86; Burnett, $2,700; Buffalo, $8,757.99; Chippewa, $13,312.84; Dunn, $9,500; Eau Claire, $6,075; Pepin, $3,063.57; Pierce, $9,731.70; Rusk, $6,261.32; Sawyer, $4,120; Trempealeau, $11,683.11; Washburn, $3,467.87.

MISSIONERS ELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 17.—The officers for the Houghton district of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has just closed a convention at Lake Linden, were elected as follows:

DOLLAR BAY WILL HAVE NEW INDUSTRY.

Dollar Bay, Mich., Oct. 17.—The big new wire mill which the Worden-Allen company is erecting for the Roebling company at Dollar Bay is nearly ready for work. The huge building is almost a block in length and has a great width. The entire construction is of the best fireproof material. The work of laying and finishing the floor is now going on. When this has been completed the mill will be ready. When it begins operations it will mean a big thing for Dollar Bay.

CLOQUET STUDENTS TO HAVE ORCHESTRA.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A city orchestra has been organized, under the direction of K. D. Van Wagnen, agricultural teacher in the high school, and for a couple of years director of the high school orchestra. The members of the new organization are: Fritz Freeman, John Moody, Wendell Davis, Will Johnson, Nels Norhouse, Loren Sheean, Vertram Knickerbocker, Miss Kate Wilson, Miss Harris, Miss Eva Swenson, Miss Beatrice Johnson, Will La Frenier and Paul Yonto. Mr. Van Wagnen is the director, and president, Miss Harris, librarian, and John Moody, secretary and treasurer.

Piano Company Fails.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 17.—Creditors of the Heller Piano company, which has stores in several of the larger Middle Western cities, filed a petition throwing the company into involuntary bankruptcy today in Federal court. The petitioning creditors are Finley P. Mount, as trustee of the Krell Auto-Piano company, with a claim of $2,630; the Milwaukee Mirror & Art company, with a claim of $118, and the Tegge Lumber company, with a $105 claim. Judge Landis directed the entry of an order appointing the First Savings & Trust company as trustee.

POULTRY FANCIERS FORM ASSOCIATION

International Falls Chicken Men Organize and Plan a Show.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a week of work in this country by N. E. Chapman, poultry expert from the state agricultural farm, and D. B. Jewell, county agricultural agent, a meeting was held at the Bethlehem church last evening at which the International Falls Poultry association was formed with the following officers: Dr. G. F. Swinnerton, president; A. F. Klein, secretary-treasurer; E. L. Heermance, John Hoey, George Shaw, C. B. Kinney and L. A. Ogaard, executive committee; George Snyder, Mrs. J. Van Pelt and G. Graham, vice presidents.

Meetings of the organization will be held in the agricultural room in the new high school building. The new organization will join the American Poultry association and expects next year to have a poultry show under the standard rules with birds on exhibit from as far away as Duluth, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Winnipeg and Port Arthur. The Falls organization will also organize the poultry raisers of all the smaller towns of the county and each town will have a vice president in the bigger organization which it is intended shall become a Koochiching county organization.

DULUTHIANS TO ATTEND SYNOD

Many Local Lutherans Will Attend Mill City Meeting.

Many Lutherans of this city are planning to attend the annual gathering of the Hauges Lutheran Synod to be held at Minneapolis, Oct. 26, 27 and 28.

Announcement of the meetings was made yesterday by Rev. Edward Johnson of the St. Paul's Lutheran church at Minneapolis, where the convention will be held. A complete program of the various sessions during the three days has been received by the local pastors and prominent laymen of the church, who are planning to attend the gathering.

The convention of the Synod will open with a prayer Sunday morning, Oct. 26, when services will be conducted by the prominent pastors present. Among the speakers will be Rev. J. N. Sanven, Prof. M. O. Wee and Prof. O. O. Stageberg.

Monday and Tuesday will be given over to business meetings and the annual election of officers and county representatives. The annual banquet will be held Monday evening.

The convention will come to a close Tuesday evening, when the principal address will be made by Rev. C. J. Eatsvold of Minneapolis on "Missionary Offerings."

The local delegates to the gathering will return on Wednesday morning, Oct. 29.

WOMAN SMASHES CHURCH WINDOWS

Minnie Vail Refuses to Explain Her Actions in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 17.—Two bricks were recently thrown through a beautiful stained glass window of the American Protestant Episcopal church, and stones also were thrown through a dining room window of the rectory of Rev. Dr. Watson, adjoining the church. Miss Minnie Vail, a woman of 45, formerly residing in New York but for a long time a resident of Paris, was arrested and admitted before the examining magistrate that she had broken the windows. She said she was a suffragette, but added that she had private motives for her conduct, which she refused to disclose.

Miss Vail declined to accept passage to America, and an examination of her mental state has been ordered. Meanwhile she is held in custody. Miss Vail was employed in charitable work under the supervision of the relief committee of the church for several years. She is now seemingly without means of support, although the late rector, Rev. Morgan, who died in 1912, bequeathed her $5,000.

STILLWATER GETS RIVER MEETING.

BIBLE STUDY CLUB ORGANIZES WORK

High School Boys Meet at Y. M. C. A. and Outline Year's Program.

The High School Bible Study club organized at the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. last evening for the eighth season. A large number of upper classmen attended the dinner. Dr. Lawrence presided and short talks were made by Leonard Young Dr. Bowden, Harold Bradley, Edwin Scriven, Douglas Walker, J. R. Batchelor and N. D. McLeod.

The club will meet every Tuesday evening at the Boys' department for dinner at 6:15. After the dinner the club will divide into groups of ten for a twenty-minute study. The club will close promptly at 7:20. Special social "stunts" will be held from time to time. Harold Bradley is the chairman and Douglas Walker, secretary.

The camp and outing committee will meet for dinner this evening to make arrangements for the first camp reunion, which will be held Friday evening, Oct. 24.

The committee will conduct an outing this Saturday. The party will meet at the Boys' building at 2 o'clock, take the car to Woodland and hike cross country for five miles, winding up at the Y. M. C. A. for swim.

The club's committee will have charge of the popular Friday night stunt this Friday at 8 o'clock. An attractive program has been arranged and the winner of the evening is to receive a loving cup. The committee promises a good time.

The Intermediate Bible Study club will organize Friday evening. This club will be open to any boy over 12 years and under 15. The club will meet for dinner at 6 o'clock, to be followed with a twenty-minute study. The Friday afternoon program is as follows: Swim at 4:15; 5 to 6, fun at the gymnasium; 6 to 6:45, supper and social time; 6:45 to 7:30, Bible study period; 7:30 to 9:15, popular Friday night "stunt."

The Sunday club Sunday afternoon meeting will be addressed by Dr. John W. Hoffman, pastor of the First M. E. church. The committee is anxious that a big crowd be on hand to greet Dr. Hoffman. There will be a musical program and luncheon.

The Knights of Sir Galahad will be addressed Sunday at 3 o'clock by Clinton Obliner. He will speak on "Baseball Stars."

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING

Commenting on the subject of advertising, Harry A. Earnshaw says, in the November issue of the Ginger magazine, published by the Stone-Ordean-Wells company:

"Advertising is all right. It brings results. Advertising will sell any article if the article has merit and the price is fair. The bulk of the world's merchandise now finds its way to the ultimate user through advertising. Advertising is a benevolent jinni that waits only the right rub of the right ring to fetch the markets of the world to the loading platform of the humblest factory.

"Pardon me, therefore, Sadie, if I find it difficult to stifle a slight sensation of languor when I hear that mildewed platitude about 'the enormous waste in advertising.' The man who, with a Podsnappian wave of the hand, thus relegates to the limbus fatuorum of the inefficient and unpractical the mightiest factor in the world of business, is swallowed up and lost in his own vaporings.

"A little knowledge is as dangerous in the possession of some people as a quart jug of nitroglycerin in the hands of a Bornean orang-outang."

INCREASE IN ROAD'S EARNINGS

South Shore Makes Better Showing in Spite of Strike.

In face of the miners' strike in the Michigan Copper country that has been on since early last summer, earnings of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway are showing increases. That result is attributed by officials to the steady development of the agricultural districts served by the road.

It is expected that the extensive program of improvements, begun in May, 1912, will be completed this year. The unfavorable showings in net earnings results have been attributable to expenditures in this work having been made a charge against current revenues.

The South Shore's gross earnings for August were reported at $354,782, as compared with $313,881 for the same month last year. Its net revenue was $97,245, or $7,000 better than a year ago.

VOLSTEAD WILL HELP INVESTIGATE JUDGE

Is Named on Sub-Committee to Study Speer's Affairs.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Chairman Clayton of the house judiciary committee announced the appointment of a subcommittee consisting of Representatives Webb, North Carolina; Floyd, Arkansas, and Volstead, Minnesota, to investigate the alleged official misconduct of Federal District Judge Emory Speer of Georgia.

It is planned to have the subcommittee begin taking testimony here about No. 1 and in Georgia about Nov. 10. But all depends upon the condition of Judge Speer, who has been seriously ill for some time.

The appointment of the subcommittee to take charge of the case was authorized by resolution of the house.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

Ramsey County.

Joseph A. Henry, appellant, vs. William G. White, et al., defendants. William G. White, respondent—

"Where, in proceedings under the Torrens act, to register title, a judgment is procured by fraud on the part of the applicant in failing to name as parties or serve claimants known to him, it is not binding upon such omitted claimants.

"If the want of jurisdiction due to the failure to serve known claimants appears from the judgment roll itself, the judgment is void as against such claimants and may be attacked collaterally. Where such want of jurisdiction does not appear from the judgment roll itself, the judgment is not subject to collateral attack, though the applicant fraudulently concealed the existence of a known claimant.

"Where the existence of such claimant does not appear from the judgment roll itself, or the proceedings, and where such proceedings are absolutely regular on their face, one who purchases from the registered owner for a valuable consideration in reliance upon the judgment and without notice or anything to put him on inquiry, takes the title free from all incumbrances and adverse claims except those noted on the certificate.

"Order affirmed. BUNN, J."

Grant County.

Jennie M. Kloppenburg, as administratrix, respondent, vs. M., St. P. & S. S. M. Railway company, appellant—

"Failure of a care-taker of a live poultry shipment to remain in the caboose, as required by the contract of carriage, held, under the terms of the contract when taken together and the circumstances of the case, not to preclude, as a matter of law, a recovery for injuries received by him while riding in the car with the shipment.

"While in the car the care-taker assumed all risks reasonably incident to that mode of carriage, but not those resulting from unnecessary and extraordinary occurrences involving dangers not incident to the proper handling of freight trains like the one in question.

"Defendant having failed to call the court's attention at the time to the fact that its instruction upon assumption of risks was incorporated in its charge upon negligence, and having requested no further direction, was not in a position to complain.

"Where it appears that a waiver of the privilege under R. L. 1905, 4660, Sub-d. 4, relating to matters learned by physicians during professional attendance upon their patients, was procured by fraud or misrepresentation, it is not error to disregard it and to allow the privilege to be claimed.

"Court's findings that such a waiver executed by a juror, whose sanity during the trial was challenged on a motion for a new trial, was procured by misrepresentation, and that the juror was not insane during the trial, sustained, there being evidence reasonably tending to support them.

"There was no abuse of discretion by the trial court in connection with remarks of counsel, nor in denying defendant's request for a continuance, nor in refusing to grant a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence.

"Plaintiff's version of the accident and his injuries, held not so improbable, nor the consequences thereof so doubtful, as to warrant the overturning of the jury's findings in his favor.

"Verdict held not excessive. Order affirmed. P. E. BROWN, J."

Ramsey County.

John J. Beaton, appellant, vs. Great Northern Railway company, respondent—

"Plaintiff was sweeping out a box car in defendant's yards. He was thrown to the floor by the impact of other cars moved without warning against the car in which he was working. Cars in which he was engaged were frequently so moved. He claimed no right to warning in such cases. He claims the impact in this case was harder than usual. There is no evidence as to the circumstances under which the impact occurred, nor as to what occasioned the unusual blow. There is no evidence that the men engaged in switching knew of plaintiff's presence in this car. There was no sufficient evidence of negligence of defendant to sustain a verdict for plaintiff, and the trial court properly directed a verdict for defendant.

"Order affirmed. HALLAM, J."

Polk County.

Adolor J. Suprenant, respondent, vs. Great Northern Railway company, appellant—

"Plaintiff was a brakeman upon a freight train. In the train was a flat car upon which two threshing machine separators were loaded. For many years it had been the custom for brakemen having occasion to pass over such cars so loaded while the train was in motion, to walk along the edge of the car at the side of the separators and to save themselves from falling by grasping such parts of the separators or of the attachments thereto as were available for 'handholds.' Defendant provided no other practicable way for passing over such cars and no other means for protection while doing so. Plaintiff while passing over this car in the usual manner grasped a pulley on the end of a shaft which was not secured in place in any manner and slipped off the shaft causing plaintiff to fall and sustain serious injuries.

"Held: That it was the duty of defendant to exercise ordinary care to see that such parts of the load as were likely to be used as 'handholds' were so secured as not to expose its employes to unnecessary danger, and that the evidence is sufficient to sustain the verdict.

"Judgment affirmed. TAYLOR, C."

Morrison County.

William C. Foster, appellant, vs. August Berg, also "all" other persons unknown claiming any right, title, estate, interest or lien in the real estate described in the complaint herein, defendants, and August Berg, respondent—

"1. Section 908, R. L. 1905, intends that the certified copy of the resolution designating the newspaper for the publication of the delinquent list in a tax proceeding shall be filed with the clerk prior to the first publication. The failure so to file is jurisdictional; and without such filing the judgment is invalid.

"2. Section 914, R. L. 1905, which provides that jurisdiction shall not be affected by certain irregularities, errors and mistakes, nor by a mistake in designating the newspaper, does not cure the jurisdictional defect arising from a failure to file the certified copy prior to the first publication.

"Order affirmed. "DIBELL, C."

Man Who Says He Helped John D. Now in Almshouse.

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 17.—The man who says he gave John D. Rockefeller a bed when he had no place to lay his head and loaned him $20 is now an inmate of the Blair County Almshouse. He is Daniel J. Clark, once a prosperous oil proprietor.

When oil was discovered and people began prospecting all over Western Pennsylvania, Clark was in charge of the sinking of wells at Oil City. Working around the place was "Johnny" Rockefeller. "Johnny" had hard luck, says Clark, and his landlady, seeing no prospect of board money, was going to oust him.

Clark, who had then, he says, "barrels of money," paid the Rockefeller bill and enabled him to begin life's battles anew.

LADIES DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant. Agent, Wirth's Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

PRISON BREAK STOPPED BY BOY

Seven-Year-Old Gives an Alarm When Father Is Overpowered.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 17.—Harry Kinsman, 7-year-old son of Clem Kinsman, turnkey at the county jail, prevented a desperate attempt at jailbreak when three negro prisoners attacked his father, took the officer's revolver and keys and locked him in a cell. Harry, who was making the rounds with his parent, ran to the outer door and gave the alarm just in time to thwart the men, who were only a few steps behind him.

When the boy ran to the street the only person in sight was H. F. Williams, who answered the cries for help by hurrying to the jail door just as the negroes reached it.

Williams, although unarmed, faced the fleeing men and with his hand on his hip pocket as if about to draw a revolver, ordered them back into the prison, telling them he would kill the first one who stepped outside.

The nervy bluff worked and the negroes, cowed by the show of resistance, ran back out of gunshot. Williams held the door until the police arrived and released the elder Kinsman and locked the would-be jail breakers in their cells.

The negroes, who are booked for various offenses, had been given the freedom of the corridor. The turnkey, as was his custom, had gone to lock them up for the night when they sprung on him from behind, quickly overpowering him.

They had not observed the boy, who was behind his father, until it was too late to prevent him from giving the alarm.

GONE TWENTY YEARS AND DID NOT WRITE.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Oct. 17.—George Patterson returned to Mount Clemens to visit relatives after an absence of twenty years. He went to Chicago and later drifted to New York, where he engaged in the restaurant business. Patterson, who is 44 years old, says his long silence was due to his carelessness in writing.

MANN PREVENTS PATRIOTIC PLAN.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Republican Leader Mann blocked efforts by Republican and Democratic members from Pennsylvania to pass a resolution authorizing a joint congressional committee to attend the dedication of the restored Congress hall, in Philadelphia, Saturday, Oct. 25. The plan was to have senators from the thirteen original states. President Wilson has promised to attend.

When urged to withdraw his objections to considering the resolution without a record vote, on the ground that it was a patriotic measure, Mr. Mann said:

"It is no more patriotic than that congress should maintain a quorum here to transact business of the government."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system.

They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, griping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.

EATON WILL IS MISSING

New Evidence Hinted at in Widow's Murder Trial.

Sixteen-Year-Old Daughter of Defendant Tells of Family Rows.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 17.—A hint at evidence not yet revealed was given by the state at the continuation of the trial for murder of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton today. This had to do with a typewritten document alleged to have disappeared from the Eaton home after the death of Rear Admiral Eaton.

Dorothy Ainsworth, the younger of Mrs. Eaton's two daughters by an earlier marriage, was on the stand. District Attorney Barker asked her what she knew of such a paper. The defense objected, whereupon the district attorney called upon Mrs. Eaton's attorneys to produce the document. The matter was not pressed, but Mr. Barker said he hoped to introduce the paper later.

Following the admiral's death, a search was made for a will alleged to have been made by the admiral after the date borne by the will filed for probate, which left his property to the widow and his stepdaughters.

Quarreled Frequently.

The continued testimony of the 16-year-old girl was a story of a house divided against itself. Her mother and stepfather quarreled frequently, she said, a particular bone of contention being the attentions paid to the witness' sister, June, by a man 70 years of age.

Then the girl told of Mrs. Eaton's attempts to have her husband committed to an insane asylum. Mrs. Eaton questioned the admiral's sanity because he dabbled in dangerous drugs. The admiral, the witness said, always treated his wife well, even when he was "somewhat intoxicated."

She told of visits to the home by Daniel Hainsworth of Chicago, from whom her mother was divorced a few months before she married the admiral, and of trips made by the defendant to Chicago and Washington.

"The Lunatic Asylum."

According to the witness, June sided with her mother in the family quarrels and had much influence over Mrs. Eaton. The defendant, she said, at times taunted the admiral with being a lunatic and he jokingly referred to their home as the "lunatic asylum." He sometimes used this address in letters addressed to his wife.

Said Mother Was Jealous.

Mrs. Eaton yesterday heard her 16-year-old daughter, Dorothy Virginia Ainsworth, support the contention of the prosecution that she was unreasonably jealous toward her husband.

Under the questioning of District Attorney Barker, Dorothy testified that her mother was easily angered and had continual hallucinations that the admiral was trying to poison the family.

Dorothy, an attractive girl, spent two hours upon the witness stand. It was the first day of testimony in the trial. An indication of the probable line of the defense was given in the cross-examination of Medical Examiner Osgood by Attorney Morse. His questions were aimed to bring out the possibility that Admiral Eaton might have partaken of the poison in connection with a drug habit.

The government claims that the poison was administered by Mrs. Eaton in tea, coffee and other beverages at meals. In questioning Dorothy, the district attorney was unable to procure any declarations that Mrs. Eaton had exclusive opportunity to place poison in the admiral's cup.

Smiled at Mother.

While her daughter was testifying, Mrs. Eaton sat quietly in her chair, but occasionally leaned forward and caught Dorothy's glance. Dorothy always smiled back at her mother, but these incidents appeared to upset her, and she seemed to find difficulty in answering the district attorney's questions.

Relations between Dorothy's older sister, Mrs. June Keyes, and the rest of the household, were given special attention. Dorothy said that both June and her mother had often expressed the belief that the baby adopted by the Eatons in 1909 was poisoned by the admiral, despite the fact that the medical experts had reported their inability to find any trace of poison. According to Dorothy, Mrs. Eaton insisted frequently that the admiral was insane, and this belief was shared by June.

Poison Stories Common.

Mrs. Eaton, Dorothy continued, frequently said that she believed the baby was not the only one in the Eaton family who had suffered from poison. According to the witness, Mrs. Eaton declared that she herself and June had been given poison by the admiral. To bear out these statements, Mrs. Eaton had shown the girl marks on her body, which she said had been made by the admiral's hypodermic needle. To Dorothy the marks looked like ordinary scratches, she testified.

Mrs. Eaton also told Dorothy, according to the testimony, that the admiral had tried to poison her when she was sick, and that she was afraid of him. The witness said her mother often wiped off the plates before eating, explaining that she was afraid the admiral sprinkled them with poison.

Accused Him of Flirting.

Dorothy said Mrs. Eaton had discharged more than half a dozen maids with whom she accused the admiral of flirting. The names of other women of whom Mrs. Eaton had apparently been jealous were mentioned by the witness. The admiral, she continued, always denied the charges of flirtation, treating them as a joke, while Mrs. Eaton, on the other hand, seemed easily provoked on the subject.

Bringing the testimony down to the night of Thursday, March 6, the day before the admiral's death, the district attorney questioned the girl about the supper. Dorothy said that she and the admiral had tea, but that Mrs. Eaton did not. She thought the admiral prepared the beverage, but she was not sure. They also had pork for supper. It was this pork which Mrs. Eaton claimed had caused her husband's illness.

The admiral seemed to be in a happy mood at the supper table, and in the library directly afterward told jokes and stories. In a little while, however, he complained of nausea and had to leave the room.

Sent Dorothy to Bed.

That night, Dorothy went on, her mother told her she must go right to bed. Dorothy complained that she had lessons to do, but her mother insisted. Admiral Eaton, however, finished the girl's algebra lesson for her and took the completed problem up to her bedroom.

When Dorothy came home from school the next day, she testified, she found the admiral in his room in a semi-conscious condition. She started to get him a hot bottle, but her mother objected, saying that she had done all that could be done, and that no one else should be bothered. After supper, Dorothy said, Mrs. Eaton told her she must be in bed by 8 o'clock. Dorothy again protested on account of her lessons, but without avail. The admiral, she said, tried to help her with her algebra, but he appeared unable to grasp the problem and asked Dorothy to give him something easier. She did so, but he still seemed unable to understand and said he would have to give it up.

Mother Locked the Door.

Mrs. Eaton slept with Dorothy that night, locking the door behind her as she entered. Later Dorothy was awakened, she said, by her grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Harrison, knocking on the door and calling:

"Come quick, Jennie! The admiral has fallen out of bed."

Mrs. Eaton and Dorothy rushed to the admiral's room and found him on the floor partly conscious.

Mrs. Eaton stayed with the admiral while Dorothy returned to bed. She was aroused later by her mother, who cried:

"Oh Dorothy, I think the admiral is dead."

Dorothy then told about telephoning for the doctor and undertaker. Her mother, she said, kept moaning: "Oh, what shall we do."

With Dorothy's story brought up to this point, she was excused for the day.

HOODOO HUNTER WILL STAY HOME

Some Chance for Sportsmen to Enjoy Fine Weather for Week-End Search After Partridge.

City hall hunters are rejoicing; other hunters may as well share the cheer radiating from the municipal buildings. For City Auditor Ben J. Campbell isn't going hunting this week-end; he isn't even planning to go.

Wherefore, say the nimrods at the city hall, it is not going to rain, and therefore the cheer.

Three different weeks, now, the custodian of the city records has figured on hunting trips. He had some vacation coming, and lest the rejoicing become too unconfined, it may be mentioned in passing that he hasn't used it all up yet. He figured how restful it would be to get out into the woods during the beautiful fall weather and that at the same time he could give the folks a treat and replenish the family larder by bringing back a bag of plump partridges.

The first week he had all preparations completed. His trusty gun was all shined up and oiled up, the eats were ready and the alarm clock wound and set for 5 a. m. During the night it began to rain and when the alarm rang it still rained. And the trip was called off.

The next week Ben again completed all his preparations, including the gun, the eats, the alarm clock, etc. When he rolled out before sun-up it wasn't raining. It looked as though it was going to be a lovely day and Ben had visions of the beautiful time he was going to have in the country the next few days. But he hadn't gotten much past Howard's mill when the machine blew a tire. The shock must have knocked the cap off J. Pluvius' sprinkling can, for the blowout hadn't been repaired when it began to rain. Old Jup's finer sensibilities must have been jarred, judging by the way he soaked the earthly garden, at least in that particular part of it. Again Ben's hunting trip was called off.

So the next week, which was last week, the auditor the third time completed all the preparations, down to the auarm clock. He figured that he would steal a march on the wily and ancient god of the heavenly water wagon and start a day or two earlier than before. Well, he started, and this time he finished. But he couldn't dodge that rain. Being only last week everybody remembers how it poured. This time J. P. must have been sore, for he didn't let up for a couple of days or more. Ben's machine didn't break down, however, so he got to the farm all right, but his dreams of fat and juicy partridges were washed away in the buckets which fell from the clouds.

This week the auditor declares that he isn't even thinking about getting outdoors. Hence the shouts of joy from the city hall hunters who want to use up a few days of their vacations drilling through the tall pines in quest of the highly-prized, brown-feathered birds of the North weeds.

EPISCOPALIAN NAME STANDS

New York, Oct. 17.—Any probability that the name of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America might be changed at this general convention was disposed of today by the house of deputies. This body adopted a report submitted by the committee on prayerbook, which found that it was without jurisdiction to act upon resolutions proposing changes in the legal title of the church.

The committee also recommended delay in considering the memorial from the Diocese of California referring specifically to a change in the title page of the prayerbook. This question should not be considered, the committee recommended, until disposition had been made of the proposal to amend the constitution so as to require a two-thirds vote to make the change. The proposed amendment has passed the house of deputies and awaits action by the house of bishops.

Pittsburg Idea Adopted.

The house of deputies voted for the introduction of "five minutes of prayerful silence" in the observance of Good Friday at 3 p. m., the hour of the death of Christ. The suggestion originated with the Diocese of Pittsburg.

The chancellors of the various dioceses organized today and elected: President, Judge Charles Andrews, Western New York; vice president, Gideon C. Wilson, Southern Ohio; secretary, George E. Henry, Iowa.

The amendment to the constitution making it impossible to change the title page of the prayerbook or otherwise revise it without a two-thirds vote of both the house of deputies and the house of bishops was overwhelmingly adopted late yesterday by the house of deputies.

Bishops Retain Old Plan.

Important action by the house of bishops, taken yesterday, negatives the proposal indorsed by the house of deputies to make the presiding bishop of the church elective. Seniority of consecration now decides the choice. The house of bishops meets in secret session, and only the announcement was made that it had voted down the plan for an elective presiding bishop after extended debate.

The debate in the house of deputies over the constitutional amendment affecting prayerbook revision was extended and spirited. The amendment was offered by Rev. Dr. William Manning, rector of Trinity church of New York, who was the high church party candidate for presiding officer of the deputies. While efforts were made to keep out of the debate any direct reference to the proposal to change the name of the church from Protestant Episcopal to American Catholic, Dr. Manning, who spoke at length on his amendment, plunged directly into that phase of the matter, and afterwards President Mann of the house of deputies declined to rule out of order deputies who undertook to answer Dr. Manning's arguments. The amendment was voted upon by dioceses and was carried as follows:

Clerical vote—For, 48; against, 15¾; divided, 8.

Truly Good Furs at Really Reasonable Prices

We are always glad when good judges of furs visit our Fur Section. You appreciate at once, how we have safeguarded our customers by admitting only furs which will give satisfaction.

That is our first consideration.

We have seen to it that here are styles of uncommon distinction, and your own good judgment will promptly see that prices are truly reasonable.

Let the Fur Section be an objective point for you tomorrow.

GIRLS' Good Clothes

Prices to please your purse.

Sizes up to 5 years on third floor; larger sizes on second floor.

Dinner Blouses and Tailored Waists

Lovable elegance characterizes the former and smartest simplicity the latter.

No matter what your need may be, we have the waist to please you.

See the new models which will be ready for tomorrow's selling.

New Dinner Blouses — $2.98 to $18.50.

New Tailored Waists—$1.50 to $5.

Our Silk Section Is Surely the Center of Attraction Now-a-Days

There's So Much That Is Different—So Much You'll Not See Anywhere else.

Egyptian Crepes

This is one of the new fabrics developed this season. They are made of very heavy Shantung yarns, which make the cloth as heavy as a silk and wool crepe.

Their extra weight, however, will not interfere with their soft, graceful draping effect. We know that you will never have cause to complain of the wear of them.

There is a disappearing brocade woven into them which makes the fabric unusual and most effective. Shown in beautiful shades of gold, terra cotta and peon blue. 42 inches wide—a splendid fabric for one-piece gowns and separate waists. They will require very little trimming. $3.50 a yard.

Silk and Wool Broche Crepes for Practical Gowns

These fabrics are especially suited for house wear. The combination of the silk and the wool make them a fabric which is non-wrinkling and splendid wearing. They are not stiff or angular and will make up most becomingly. About seven or eight of the season's new colorings are shown in them. 40 inches wide—$2.00 a yard.

Our High Hats Are Not High Priced—and Our Low Hats Are Not High-Priced Either

Tonight we illustrate a very striking "Toppy" one-side trim. We can furnish this trim in very rich materials and the price of $25.00 is moderate considering the materials used.

But striking as this hat is, we are most proud of the many becoming wearable hats which will be on sale at $6.00, $8.00, $10.00, $12.00 and $15.00.

It is in hats at popular prices that our ability is most marked. It takes real art to produce such classy, good-looking hats as you find here at moderate prices.

These New W. B. Corsets

Give the Absolutely Corsetless Effect Together With the Necessary Support

When so many corsets fail in one or the other of these necessary requirements in fashionable corseting it is truly surprising to see these qualities so splendidly combined in corsets to sell at $2 and $3.

Of course, it is necessary to select the exactly proper model for your individual figure, but our corset saleswomen understand the features of the various models and they can readily assist you in selecting the model best suited to your figure.

Because so many of you have been waiting for the belated shipment, we take great pleasure in advising you that tomorrow we will have ready complete size lines in all the most wanted models in the new W. B. corsets.

The most popular models are those selling at $2.00 and $3.00, though there are other styles ready at $1.00 to $5.00.

The Clever Hostess Will Want Some of These Halloween Novelties

The Slit Skirt Is Booming Our Shoe Business!

A COMMON SHOE SIMPLY WON'T DO.

It would be fatal to the effect even of an otherwise faultless costume.

For this reason our stocks of the smartest styles in women's boots are receiving the attention of those who do not find such carefully chosen assortments elsewhere.

WE GIVE YOU EXTRA STYLE WITHOUT EXTRA PRICE.

As proof see the various models on sale here at $4.00; complete assortments of wanted sizes and widths.

We will take time to fit them properly.

WOULDN'T IT BE A GOOD IDEA TO SEE US TOMORROW?

Whether you wear a "slit" skirt or not, you might as well have the smartest of footwear when the cost is not a penny more.

Dropped Prices on Dropped Pattern Rugs

The rugs are worth every cent of their original price in beauty and wear—but makers have dropped the patterns from next year's lines—so we'll sell them to you at decided drops in prices.

West End

WILL GIVE OUT PRIZES

Children, Winners in Garden Contest, to Be Rewarded.

Good Program and Series of Stereopticon Pictures Provided.

Children of the West end who were winners in the garden contests of the past summer will be awarded their prizes tonight at a meeting of the West End Commercial club at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. It is expected that the exercises will attract a capacity crowd.

The program which has been arranged under the direction of L. A. Simonson, president of the club, and the garden committee, includes addresses from a number of the members and representatives from other civic organizations of the city. Mayor Prince will be chairman at the meeting.

Among those who will speak will be Dr. O. A. Oredson, Charles P. Craig, S. W. Hill and Mayor Prince. A series of stereopticon views showing gardens and industries of the West end will be shown by Mr. Simonson.

Pupils of the Ensign, Lincoln, Adams and Munroe schools will furnish part of the program. Miss Mary Sheagren will give a reading, John Koneczny will sing and Louis Dworshak will also give a vocal number.

PROTEST TO SAVE HIGHWAY

Claimed Movement Is On That Will Vacate Swan Lake Road.

Members of the Fifth Ward Improvement club are much aroused over the proposal of the city commissioners to vacate certain roads on Duluth Heights. They claim that if the description of the road which the commissioners intend vacating is given correctly, the highway now known as the Swan Lake road will be put out of business.

It is proposed to vacate this road from the end of the street car line on Duluth Heights to the city limits. This road has been a legalized thoroughfare, say residents of the hillside, for over forty years.

"This is not the first time that real estate men have attempted to put this road out of business," said W. L. Peirce, secretary of the club this morning. "From the published reports of the proposed vacations the residents have been unable to locate what road was meant. We have investigated and found that it is the same road that the city council attempted to vacate a few years ago. The residents then raised a storm of protest and the matter was laid over indefinitely.

"The highway is very important to Duluth Heights as it is one of the principal roads leading to the farming districts. Vacating the highway means that farmers will have to go a long way around to bring produce to the Duluth Heights district."

Mothers' Club to Meet.

The second monthly meeting of the Mothers' club of the Munroe school district will meet in the school, Twenty-sixth avenue west and First street, Tuesday afternoon. The principal address of the afternoon will be given by Dr. J. H. Andres, who will talk on diseases commonly found among the children of the schools, and give the mothers advice on how to prevent their spread.

Appetite Ho! Ho! 'Tis a Great Joy

Appetite is very largely a series of signals from the stomach. When one has a rousing appetite at the sight or smell of food the stomach through its connection with the mind of man is asked whether the food seen or smelled would be welcome.

The stomach if healthy says yes and at once our mouths water and we are hungry from desire—keenly, ravenously hungry. If the stomach be sick then we have no appetite and are actually nauseated.

Waiter—"How's your appetite today, sir."

Guest—"Bully food. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make me eat like a horse."

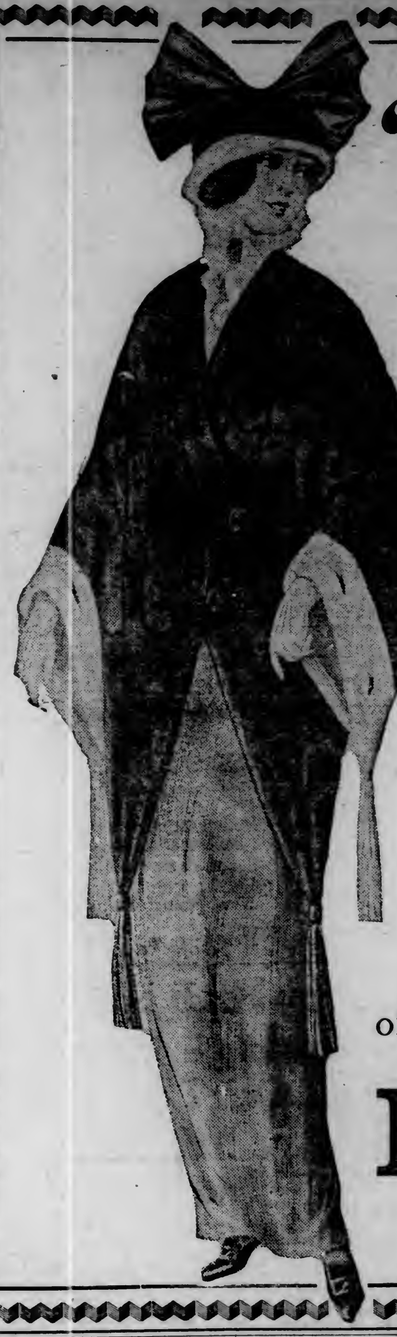

Appetite makes the glands of the mouth open and saliva flows very freely—hence the term "Mouth Water." This is the first digestive juice. It has an important office to perform as all starchy foods are partially digested by it because one of its ingredients, ptyalin is almost an instant digestive of starch. This process reduces the starch in foods to sugar.

The appetite causing a free flow of saliva aids the stomach by its ability to mix the food eaten with the mouth juices which enables it to more readily do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets go into the mouth like food, are eaten, then dissolved and fluidized by the saliva. This mass then goes into the stomach and there quickly readjusts the stomach juices so that in a short time food is not offensive and man's appetite comes speedily back to him and he is hungry in a healthy, normal way.

By all means use a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet the very moment you feel a loss of hunger. The quick return of appetite to you will convince you quickly that your stomach has been out of order and that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were the means of restoring its normally healthy condition.

Every druggist carries Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and no matter where you may be you can always obtain a box anywhere for 50 cents.

"Temperature" Will not regulate the demand of Furs this season.

"Fashion" Will dictate quite regardless of the thermometer.

We know the next three months will see a fur demand such as we've never experienced, and what's more, we've backed our belief with merchandise on an unprecedented scale.

While furs have been fashionable in past seasons they completely dominate the fashion field this fall.

Paris went wild about furs this summer. Furs were worn by the fashionables at the races during July and August, likewise at the European seashore resorts.

The famous dressmakers are drawing on the world's pelt markets to a degree never experienced before. Furs are used on nearly all the new gowns, coats and hats. Even boudoir caps and nightgowns are being shown fur-trimmed in Paris.

Furs will be the rage this winter. You will see the largest assortment of furs ever shown in the Northwest by calling at

MANY PEOPLE ATTEND.

Zion Norwegian Lutheran Bazar Attracts Wide Interest.

The opening night of the bazar at the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, attracted a crowd which filled the parlors of the church last night. The ladies of the church served supper from 6 to 8 o'clock, following which an auction of fancy articles donated by merchants of the city took place.

The women directly in charge of the bazar are the officers of the ladies' aid society. They are: Mrs. O. Kinn, president; Mrs. J. Anderson, vice president; Mrs. L. K. Helam, treasurer; and Mrs. C. Erickson, secretary.

A program of musical numbers will be given following the serving of the supper tonight.

SUCCESSFUL BAZAR.

Interesting Programs Given Nightly at Swedish Mission Church.

Rev. J. H. Stenberg, pastor of the First Norwegian Lutheran church, was the principal speaker last night at the bazar given by the ladies of the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The speaker told of the founding of the Lutheran faith and stated that now there are over 70,000,000 Lutherans in the world.

This evening Dr. Robert Yost, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will speak on the history and principles of the Presbyterian denomination. The following will be the program:

Flute solo ..... Capt. M. Frestrup.
Song—"King of Kings" ..... Mission Church Choir.
Cornet solo ..... John P. Otos.
Vocal solo—"Grasses and Roses" ... J. B. Bachelor.
Invocation ..... Rev. J. A. McGaughey.
Vocal solo—"The Lord Is My Shepherd" ..... J. B. Bachelor.
Song—"Crown Him" ..... Swedish Mission Church Choir.
Address—"History and Principles of the Presbyterian Church" ..... Rev. Robert Yost.

Pastor-Printer Visits Duluth.

Rev. M. B. Milne, pastor of the Baptist church of Waupaca, Wis., is a guest of his sister, Miss Minnie Milne, principal of the Munroe school. Rev. Mr. Milne was at one time a resident of Duluth many years ago. At that time he was employed as printer and worked in the shops of the Commonwealth and later on the News. Rev. Mr. Milne has been in the ministry for nearly twenty years.

Testimonial Concert.

The testimonial concert tendered Wilhelm Lindstrand, "the Caruso of the Coal Yards," at Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street last evening, was not as well attended as was hoped for. Those who were present, however, enjoyed a well selected and excellently rendered program.

The chorus work of the Svea Glee club and the Orpheus Singing society was fine, and the singers were rewarded by most enthusiastic encores for each number. The main attraction of the evening, Mr. Lindstrand, was badly handicapped by a cold of such severity as to cause a bad swelling of the face. Despite this, added to which was some nervousness, Mr. Lindstrand sang seven numbers well and displayed a voice that those who heard it believe will yet make its possessor famous. In his duet with A. W. Anderson, baritone, Mr. Lindstrand was especially good. Mr. Anderson was in good voice and sang well.

Nelson Funeral.

The funeral for Ole M. Nelson, 60 years old, who committed suicide by shooting himself through the head Tuesday night at a farm house near Five Corners, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Odd Fellows hall. Rev. George E. Silloway will officiate. Interment will be in Forest Hill cemetery.

Baby Dies.

Alton, the 8-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hanson, 415 North Forty-third avenue west, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence with interment in Park Hill cemetery. Rev. J. H. Nervig, pastor of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church will officiate.

West End Briefs.

Miss Lena Samuelson of the West end returned yesterday from Klondyke, Minn., where she has been spending two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Samuelson.

The Epworth League of the First Swedish M. E. church will be entertained this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Norberg, 614 North Twenty-fifth avenue west.

Miss Ida Johnson of the West end will leave Sunday for Sweden, where she will spend three months visiting relatives.

Rev. A. Lydell of North Park, Chicago, will preach in the Swedish Mission church of the West end, Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Lydell is a former missionary to Alaska and spent several years in that field.

ELECTRIC EAR REVEALS CRIME.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—Evidence obtained by means of a telephonic device caused a state warrant to be issued yesterday charging George Maras, a Croatian, with the murder of William L. Cowden, a prominent Kansas City, Kan., attorney, whose body was found in the Kaw river Sept. 28. It also caused the release of Charles Showman, who had been in a cell with Maras.

For three nights a telephone transmitter has hung concealed in Maras' cell. Maras and Showman talked in their cell about the murder, and stenographers at the other end of the wire copied the conversation.

All Clogged Up? Here's Quick Relief

A Simple Remedy to Correct Constipation Before It Becomes Chronic.

Very few people go through life without some time or other being troubled with constipation. Thousands injure themselves by the use of strong cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and similar things. They have temporary value in some cases, it is true, but the good effect is soon lost, and the more one takes of them the less effective they become.

A physic or purgative is seldom necessary, and much better and more permanent results can be obtained by using a scientific remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It does not hide behind a high sounding name, but is what it is represented to be, a mild laxative medicine. It is so mild that thousands of mothers give it to tiny infants, and yet it is so compounded, and contains such definite ingredients that it will have equally good effect when used by a person suffering from the worst chronic constipation. In fact, among the greatest indorsers of Syrup Pepsin are elderly people who have suffered for years and found nothing to benefit them until they took Syrup Pepsin.

It is a fact that millions of families have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, homes like those of Mr. H. W. Fenstermaker, Siegfried, Pa. He says he has had wonderful results from the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, that, in fact, he has never found a remedy so good, and he is glad to recommend it. The special value of this grand laxative tonic is that it is suited to the needs of every member of the family. It is pleasant-tasting, mild and non-griping. Unlike harsh physics, it works gradually and in a very brief time the stomach and bowel muscles are trained to do their work naturally again, when all medicines can be dispensed with.

MR. H. W. FENSTERMAKER.

You can obtain a bottle at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar. The latter size is usually bought by families who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Mrs. J. C. H. Engel spoke on "The Short Story as a Literary Form" at the first meeting of the Short Story class of the Twentieth Century club held this morning at the library club-room with Mrs. A. B. Liggett as leader.

Mrs. Engel spoke of the great drama, the great novels, as well as other forms of literature, the epics, classic poetry, odes and sonnets, all as forms of art. "They are all spoken of as works of art and I think we should feel perfectly justified in placing the short story side by side with these other forms of literature and certainly many of the stories of our best writers are works of art," said the speaker.

Miss Chloe Richards conducted the study hour with Hawthorne as the author under discussion. She spoke of his work and his life. She spoke of his deep understanding of human nature and the human heart and the melancholy strain which runs through much of his work. "Most of his writings," she said, "are perfect in style and workmanship and while humor was foreign to his nature, his stories are not entirely devoid of humor." She also spoke of the historical value of his works added to their literary value.

Miss Marie Hibbing outlined his story, "The Snow Image"; Mrs. Leonard Young on "Rappaccini's Daughter"; Mrs. Hugh Burgo on "Dr. Heidigger's Experience," and Mrs Liggett read a cutting from "The Great Stone Face."

WILL ASSIST AT RECITAL.

Marx E. Oberndorfer Will Be Heard With Miss Erd.

Marx E. Oberndorfer of Chicago, who was formerly of Duluth, and a pianist of ability, well known in musical circles here, will assist Miss Senta Erd in her recital which will be given Monday evening at the Pilgrim Congregational church at 8 p. m. His piano numbers will include Brahm's "Intermezzo, Op. 117, No. 2," Debussey's "Reflets Dans l'Eau," and "Playing of the Water, "by A. Oberndorfer. The latter composer is a brother of the pianist.

Miss Erd has recently returned from Germany, where she graduated with honors from the Royal Academy of Music at Munich, and this will be the first time she has sung in public in Duluth. Ever since her return her friends have been anxious to hear her, and they are eagerly awaiting the coming concert.

Miss Erd has had great success in Germany, and she expects to finish preparation for a grand opera career before long.

Costume Party.

An informal evening party is being planned to be given at the Young Women's Christian association on Friday evening of next week for all the members of the association. There will be an exhibition of living pictures and a "style show." Many of the members are planning unique costumes for the evening and all are asked to dress in costume if they care to.

SATURDAY CLUB.

Mrs. Barker Will Lead Study.

Mrs E. Frank Barker will be the leader of the study meeting of the Saturday club, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the library club room. The program will be on "Literature" and Mrs. John A. Keyes will talk on "Emerson," and Mrs. Cora N. Stevenson on "Prof. William James." Mrs. H. J. Grannis will lead the current events discussion on "The Mexican Question."

"SNOWBALL."

Amateur Play Proves a Success.

"Snowball," a pretty little comedy in three acts, was presented last evening by a number of people of Lester Park at Harmony hall under the auspices of the Lester Park Literary club. The performance last evening was for the younger people of the community and will be presented again this evening at 8 o'clock for the "grown ups."

Music was furnished during the evening by Ronald Myron and the parts in the play directed by Bernard Hanford were taken by Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Thompson, Mrs. W. G. Starkey, Miss Ella Currier, Bernard Hanford, Earl Myron, Walter Butchart.

NOYES-SKINNER.

Announcement of Eastern Wedding of Interest Here.

Announcements have been received here from Rev. and Mrs. Edward MacArthur Noyes, formerly of Duluth, of the marriage of their daughter, Margaret Elizabeth, to Rous Hunt Skinner, which took place Monday, Oct. 13 at Newton Centre, Mass., the home city of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Skinner will be at home after the first of January at Pittsburg, Penn.

Rev. Noyes was formerly pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church of Duluth and they have a wide circle of friends here interested in the wedding announcement.

BIBLE STUDY.

W. C. T. U. Members Meet and Elect Council Delegates.

Miss Bertha Rowles, general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. and Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church spoke yesterday on the "Educational Value of Bible Study" at the regular meeting of the West Duluth W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alfred Jaques, 1205 East Third street.

Miss Florence Williams sang and the following delegates to the Woman's council were elected: Mrs. T. B. Jones, Mrs. I. P. Swagle and Mrs. Jaques. The alternates are Mrs. Helen Stewart and Mrs. C. R. Keyes.

GIRLS' CLUB.

Members Elect Officers and Plan Sewing.

Mrs. Charles N. Thorp of 1121 East First street entertained the Alpha Delta girls of the Pilgrim Congregational church at a meeting at her home yesterday afternoon at which officers were elected for the year and the members decided to dress dolls for a bazar to be held at the church in December.

The officers are: Gertrude Hegardt, president; Florence Wade, vice president; Hazel Curtis, treasurer; Marjorie De Forest, secretary; Millet Davis, chairman of social committee; Rose Bartholdi, chairman of missionary committee; Nora McDonought, chairman of decorating committee, and Dorothy Patton, chairman of membership committee.

Will Give Dance.

The Catholic Athletic club will entertain at a dance Friday evening of next week at the club rooms, Second avenue west and Fourth street.

Host to Club.

Elsworth Roberts of 924 Sixtieth avenue east entertained the Sigma Nu club at his home last evening when several members were initiated. Sixteen guests were present.

W. R. C. Thimble Bee.

Mrs. J. H. O'Leary won the prize in the guessing contest provided for entertainment of the thimble bee of the Woman's Relief corps, which met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. M. J. McMillan, 430 Twelfth avenue east. Mrs. D. Burnett will be hostess at the social hour which will follow the next regular meeting of the corps next Thursday afternoon at Memorial hall.

Bridge Parties.

Mrs. W. T. Bailey and Mrs. A. R. Davidson of Winnipeg won the prizes at the bridge party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. H. Cole at her home, 2204 East First street, for Mrs. E. N. Knapp of Middletown, N. Y., who is the house guest of Mrs. Margaret Florada. The game was played at five tables and Mrs. Cole also entertained at the same number of tables on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. E. J. Bunker and Mrs. A. C. Weiss won the prizes.

Jewish Chautauqua.

The members of the Jewish Chautauqua will resume their meetings for this year on Wednesday afternoon of next week at the library club room at 3 o'clock. "The Jew in English Fiction" the general subject studied last year, will be continued and current events of the Jewish world will also form part of each program.

At the meeting next Wednesday Dr. M. Letkovits will be the principal speaker and all women interested are cordially invited to attend.

Some of the topics to be taken up during the year are: "Children of the Ghetto," (Israel Zangwill); "The Sons of the Covenant," (Samuel Gordon); "The Heirs of Yesterday," (Emma Wolfe); "Deborah," (James Ludlow), and "Idyls of the Gass," (Martha Wolfenstein.)

For Miss Teyte.

Mrs. A. W. Hartman of 2400 East Superior street was hostess at a supper party last evening at her home in compliment to Miss Maggie Teyte, soloist, after her concert at the Congregational church under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale. Today Miss Teyte was the guest of honor on the boulevard drive followed by a luncheon at the Glass Block tea rooms. In today's party were: Mrs. C. H. Munger, Mrs. E. L. Schmied, Mrs. George C. Stone, Mrs. John A. Stephenson and Miss Berta Schmied.

Personal Mention.

Amusement Notes.

Mrs. Fiske's illusion of youth in Part I of "The High Road," coming to the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday, is said to be marvelous in its every detail of voice, movement, bearing, speech and atmosphere. Artistically it is conceded to be one of the most striking things she has ever contributed to any characterization.

Arthur Byron, well known here for his fine interpretations of many important roles, continues this season with Mrs. Fiske in "The High Road," in which his polished characterization of a newspaper owner and captain of industry, won for him such extensive and enthusiastic critical commendation in New York and elsewhere last year.

Eugene Ormonde plays the dramatically high colored role of a reform governor of New York, in "The High Road."

"The Fatal Taxicab," a comedy film, was shown at the Lyceum yesterday. It is an absurd melodrama, teeming with sensations and bristling with comedy situations. The rivals, in a taxicab and automobile, have a thrilling battle for the girl they love and play some Wild West stunts with the modern vehicles, snatching the girl from each other at full speed and hurling bombs from which they escape by a miracle. Two modern automobiles are entirely destroyed during the action of the comedy. The feature for yesterday, "Life's Pathway," in which the Thanhouser twins are seen, is a delightful story of two twin sisters and will long be remembered. "The Forlorn Hope" and "Crooks and Credulous" make up what is one of the most interesting programs ever shown at the Lyceum. These pictures will continue today and tomorrow.

An aged Duluthian who had not been inside a theater for thirty-two years saw the matinee performances at the Orpheum yesterday, through the kindness of Taylor Granville and Miss Laura Pierpont, who are appearing this week in "The System," the headline sketch.

The man was Robert Parkins, who lives at Fourteenth street and Fifth avenue west. He is 69 years of age, and resides alone in a little cabin at this point. Yesterday morning Mr. Granville and Miss Pierpont, who in real life is Mrs. Granville, took the incline trip to get a view of the city from the top of the hill. At the incline station they met Mr. Parkins, and fell into conversation with him. He told the two performers about the early days of Duluth when he came here, thirty-two years ago, and during the conversation mentioned the fact that he had never been in a theater since coming to America. Mr. Granville immediately asked him to be his guest at the matinee, and the old man eagerly accepted the invitation.

"He was the best audience I ever played to," said Mr. Granville. "We got him a seat in the front row, and my wife and I played to him all afternoon. He was most enthusiastic and appreciative, and he woke the whole audience up. It was the livest audience I ever saw. The old man's evident pleasure made the other people appreciate the good lines. When he applauded they applauded. It would be almost worth our while to carry him with us to waken up audiences. People get blase and forget how much appreciative listening has to do with the success of any play. I read a book once called 'Creative Listening.' That's what the old gentleman was, a creative listener, and our act never went as well before."

"Henpecked Henry," which opened at the Empress yesterday afternoon for the remainder of the week, is the best tabloid yet presented at the local playhouse.

The principals, the chorus, the scenery, the songs and the lines are better than anything of its kind yet seen here. There is nothing in the production that is not far above the average.

But best of all is the acting of Jack Trainor, who portrays the part of Henry Smitt, the henpecked husband from Kalamazoo. He is a comedian who knows how to act. His playing of the better half reminds one of Richard Carle in "Mary's Lamb." There is a finish to Mr. Trainor's acting that enabled him to score a hit at the opening performance yesterday, especially with his parody song numbers.

"Henpecked Henry" deals with the coming to Chicago of Henry Smitt, his wife and daughter. They come to the home of Phil Mason, who in the absence of his uncle decides to rent the latter's house so as to make some money. The Smitts and later an actress and her troupe come to the house to live. It is the meeting of Henry and Fay Davenport, the actress, that causes the comedy.

Of course, Mason and Smitt's daughter, Elsie, fall in love with one another. Although Phil's uncle returns suddenly, everything is straightened out.

Howard Langford as Phil is a well appearing young man and the possessor of a pleasing voice. His monologue between the first and second acts scored a hit. Others deserving of mention are Miss Louise Willis as Maria Smitt, Henry's wife, Miss Johnnie Ray, as Elsie, and Miss Eda Raymond as Fay Davenport, the actress. The latter appears in several song numbers, with her chorus, the members all wearing stunning costumes.

Two films are shown at the opening of the show, "House Hunting" and "Artillery Practice at Montauk Point," which will continue until Saturday evening, with the regular daily matinees.

Lillie Langtry plays the title role in the masterful production, "His Neighbor's Wife," at the Rex theater today. All the world's greatest legitimate stars are now in motion pictures and can be seen at a theater of silent drama. Only a few weeks ago it was impossible to see these stars for less than from $1 to $5 for a seat in the theater in which they appeared.

The interest in this drama, "His Neighbor's Wife," is established in the very start and continues to hold the spectator until the last scene. The settings are the most artistic and selected in the best of taste. There is a scene of a great terrace, with its palatial surroundings, then a beautiful garden, with a great gate swinging between brick posts, and containing the rustic summer houses and elaborate benches. The important points are brought out very strongly, and the period of the action is contained in a very few hours, as the army captain leaves his wife and goes to visit Mrs. Norton, the wife of his next door neighbor. Mr. Norton returning home unexpectedly, discovers the two. He informs the wife of Capt. Roberts of what he has seen and compels her to come with him so that she, too, may be an eye witness of the clandestine meeting. Norton tells Mrs. Roberts that unless she consents to elope with him, he will kill the captain on sight, and from this moment comes the sorrows of an honest wife and an honest husband, who tries to avenge himself upon the man who is trying to destroy his home. The story contains a great moral lesson.

LOOKING FOR BROTHER.

Baltimore Man Is Trying to Locate Henry Ricker Here.

Chief Troyer has been asked to locate Henry Ricker, 29 years old, who was in Duluth on Aug. 15, when he was last heard from by his relatives.

In a letter to the chief, George Ricker of Baltimore, a brother of the missing man, writes that Henry left his home about six months ago to work in a logging camp in Northern Minnesota. When last heard from he had come to Duluth and was rooming at the Bethel.

His friends are of the belief that he has been taken sick and is now in some hospital. They ask the authorities to locate the missing man and arrange to have him taken back to Baltimore.

FIRST OF ARTISTS' RECITALS

Miss Maggie Teyte Pleases Audience Which Completely Fills Congregational Church.

The first artists' concert of the season, under the auspices of the Matinee Musicale, was held last evening at the Congregational church to a capacity audience, when Miss Maggie Teyte, English operatic soprano entertained club members and their guests.

From the opening number, a Mozart aria with its old-time quaint charm, to the modern splendor of Richard Strauss, Miss Teyte sang her way through a varied and demanding program embracing songs in four languages.

With a voice of fresh loveliness and rich timbre, Miss Teyte delivered her songs with faultless taste, revealing throughout the warmth of tone and quality of appeal so essential to artistic performance, and which elicited response from her audience in the nature of repeated recalls, which she graciously granted. "The Rosary," as an encore, was hardly a fitting number, however, for an audience of the musical intelligence of the one which assembled last evening.

One of the most satisfying numbers was the colorful "Ridenami la Calma," by Tosti and it was in this group of Italian songs that Miss Teyte disclosed fullest wealth of temperament.

In her English songs she made her native tongue so musical as to immediately dispel any lurking doubt as to its adaptability to operatic service, but it was in the De Bussy group that she was happiest in her interpretation. To the average listener, however, who responds more easily to the obvious in music, these elusive harmonies of the modern French school seem too obscure to be understood, or enjoyed. Their weird, unusual intervals so difficult of attack, Miss Teyte accomplished with ease, accuracy and assurance.

"Chevans de Bois," with its fine, sweeping passages, was the popular number in this group, owing somewhat to showy contrasts in shading, in which the accompanist had no small part, and also to the more tangible nature of the composition.

Miss Teyte's comely stage demeanor and attractive personality, her diminutive loveliness and pretty piquant poses, add immeasurably to the pleasure her voice gives.

More Rigid Marriage Laws Needed to Protect Home.

The growth of the social evil and the astounding increase in divorce should arouse those who have the making of our laws in their hands to the necessity of taking some drastic action toward putting some check upon these evils. It seems to be a time when social standards have been lowered in many ways, and a sudden halt is necessary or there is no telling what will be the end. Extremes in dress on the part of the women, the astonishing looseness of the modern dances and the license of the theater are in a large measure doubtless responsible for this slackening of the moral standard. Things may not be so bad as they seem, but it is a time for thoughtful men and women to look about them and see what can be done toward improving conditions.

Undoubtedly one of the most important steps that needs to be taken toward preserving the sanctity of the home is the passage of laws circumscribing marriage with greater safeguards. Some states, I believe, already have legislation designed to make it imperative for the parties intending to marry to provide a certificate from a responsible physician of their physical fitness to enter the married state.

Society owes it to the children yet unborn to protect them to that extent. If the purity of the home is not safeguarded to the highest degree possible, there is little hope for the moral regeneration of the race.

I am optimistic enough to believe that the present moral slackness will pass, and it probably will be followed by a reign of Puritanical ideas. Anything is better, however, than the present digression from sane standards. If laws can bring us back to our senses, let us by all means have the necessary legislation.

WORK IS OFTEN DONE TWICE

Considerable extra and unnecessary expense has been caused the water and light department because of putting down water and gas mains before the grades of streets and avenues have been established, according to Commissioner Leconidas Merritt, head of the utilities division.

The commissioner explains that he has found several cases where this was done and the pipes had to be relaid when the grade was established by the city engineering department. The last instance of this kind was on Seventh street, which is now being paved with crushed rock macadam. One costly change had to be made, bringing the cost of 100 feet of pipe up to nearly $700.

All grades are established by the city engineering department and not by the engineering branch of the water and light department. Commissioner Merritt says that the present engineering force may be too small or too busy, particularly during the spring and summer seasons, to attend to this work. He will lay the situation before the council, however, to ascertain whether or not some definite arrangement cannot be made whereby this can be done, as it will save the property owners as well as the city considerable expense.

DELAY IS SERIOUS

Even Guaranteed Dispatch Boats Held Up at Buffalo.

Grain From Fort William to Buffalo Bringing Two Cents.

According to the information received from Buffalo, even the guaranteed dispatch boats are not unloading rapidly at the elevators at the lower end of the lakes. It has required in some cases three and four days for boats guaranteed quick dispatch to unload, while the boats that have not been guaranteed quick dispatch are being unloaded when the other boats have cleared. While it is reported that there are more cars available, the congestion in the grain elevators of Buffalo shows little improvement and vessels are being delayed as a consequence.

Grain at the present time is being loaded at Fort William for Buffalo at the rate of 2 cents. A large cargo is being loaded here for Buffalo delivery at a fraction over 2 cents.

WOULD IMPROVE CUYAHOGA RIVER

Project Costing $3,100,000 Will Be Urged Upon United States.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17.—That the Cuyahoga river as an industrial highway should be recognized by the Federal government in a straightening and development project involving an expenditure of $3,100,000, will be urged by representatives of the city and its leading civic organizations Oct. 29, a date definitely announced yesterday for the proposed river inspection trip of the Federal board of river and harbor engineers. Word was received by Mayor Newton D. Baker yesterday from Washington that the board could be in Cleveland on that date.

Cleveland has already pledged itself to contribute half the amount needed for the straightening. The inspection of big upper river industrial projects is expected to convince the government that the river improvement merits Federal support to the extent of $1,550,000. The recommendation of the board of engineers on the question will be forwarded to the chief engineer of the war department and his report will be used by congress in making its river and harbor appropriations.

It was also announced yesterday that legislation is being prepared in which the city for the first time will make use of its power to force property owners to rebuild docks that are in bad condition.

STEAMER RUDDERLESS.

Anchor Line Ship Lackawanna Will Be Towed to Duluth.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 17.—The wrecking tug Sabin departed last night for Michipicoten, Ont., where the package freight ship Lackawanna, of the Anchor line is lying rudderless. The Sabin will tow the disabled vessel to Duluth.

Pioneer Captain Dead.

Capt. Tormey had spent most of his life in Detroit up to two years ago, since which time he had been living in retirement in St. Paul. The body is now at Detroit. He is survived by a widow, a daughter, Harriet, a son, George, and three sisters and two brothers—Mrs. John McCarthy, Mrs. John Cook and Mrs. John Hamilton of Amherstburg, Capt. James Tormey of Amherstburg, and Thomas Tormey of the Tormey apartments of Detroit.

W. H. Gilbert Sold.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Hutchinson & Co., yesterday purchased the steamer W. H. Gilbert from the Pittsburg Steamship company. The price is not made public. The Gilbert is a steel ship, 328 feet long, 42.5 feet beam and 24 feet deep. Her carrying capacity is 3,700 tons. She was built in 1892, at the Wheeler yard in Bay City.

The Pittsburg Steamship company also is reported to be negotiating the sale of three more of its smaller boats. They are vessels of the type of the Wawatam, La Salle and Griffin, carrying about 2,800 tons each.

The Steel corporation plan of late years has been to dispose of the smaller ships as the larger boats have been found more profitable in its trade. Heretofore, when it has sold small ships, it has built the largest type of modern freighters to replace them. It is reported the company is planning to build two ships this winter. That orders will be placed in the immediate future has been denied both here and in New York.

FIRE INSURANCE MEN ASK MORE LAW.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 17.—"The discrimination in fire insurance," and a debate as to various methods of strengthening the organization were the subjects before the last day's session of the National Association of Fire Insurance Agents here. Henry E. Sampson of Des Moines, Iowa, special counsel for the department of justice of that state, led the discussion on rate discrimination.

The convention decided to appeal to the legislatures of various states to further strengthen legislation to further fire insurance business.

Milwaukee finds Utah Mormon proselyters gaining many converts in that city.

HEAD OF SCHOOL DEFENDS "SLITS."

Weir, Kan., Oct. 17.—Slit skirts are barred from the public schools of Weir as the result of the appearance in high school of two girls wearing that style of dress. The school authorities told the two girls they "must wear more skirt or stay away from school."

The high school principal issued a statement defending the slit skirts in themselves, but declaring they were not the proper dress for the school room because fancy hosiery usually accompanied them.

BAN ON ROLLER TOWELS.

President Wilson Orders Individual Towels in Federal Buildings.

Roller towels are barred from public use at the Federal building in the future, according to the following order received yesterday from Washington by N. A. Linderberg, custodian o fthe building:

"It is hereby ordered in the interest of the public health, that the use of roller towels, intended for use by more than one person, be discontinued in the public buildings of the United States.

"WOODROW WILSON."

Together with the notice are instructions to Mr. Linderberg with regard to the process to be followed in securing individual towels. This includes the making of a requisition on the supervising architects of the treasury department.

SUES EX-MOTHER-IN-LAW

Teleman Cruger Smith-Cuyler Wants $500,000.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Teleman Cruger Smith-Cuyler, member of an old Southern family, who is connected with the Paris house of J. P. Morgan & Co., has filed suit here for $500,000 against Isabelle T. Barton, the mother of his former wife.

Only the praecipe of the suit was filed, and counsel would give no explanation of the nature of the action. Mrs. Cuyler obtained a divorce from her husband about two months ago on charges of desertion and non-support.

The suit was filed here, it was believed, so that service could be obtained on the defendant, who was thought to be on her way from San Francisco to New York. The deputy sheriffs were watching stations of all transcontinental lines to serve the summons.

Cuyler first met his former wife in New York city about twelve years ago. At that time his name was Cuyler-Smith. A short time before he was married he went to Georgia, his home state, and a member of the legislature introduced a bill, which was passed, permitting him to change his name to Smith-Cuyler.

The Cuylers are one of the oldest families in the South and Cuyler-Smith claimed to be a descendant of one branch.

LYMAN UNABLE TO HIRE AN ATTORNEY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—Dr. John Grant Lyman, the promoter accused of having used the mails to defraud in connection with Panama lands, told Judge Wellborn in the Federal district court that he had no money to employ counsel. Judge Wellborn appointed Paul Schenk and ordered the trial to proceed immediately. More than 100 witnesses have been summoned to testify against the promoter.

Real Hair Grower Found at Last!

The Great English Discovery "Crystolis" "Grows Hair in 30 Days."

$1000.00 Reward if We Fail; Read Our Guarantee. Try It at Our Risk. Mail Coupon Today.

Beautiful Hair and lots of it—if you use Crystolis

Here's good news at last for men and women whose hair is falling, who are growing bald and gray, whose scalps are covered with dandruff that nothing seems to keep away and whose heads itch like mad.

Good news even for those who imagine themselves hopelessly and incurably bald or who suffer from hair or scalp trouble of any kind.

We have secured the sole American rights for the great English discovery, Crystolis, the new hair remedy that in Europe has been called the most wonderful discovery of the century, having been awarded Gold Medals at the big Paris and Brussels Expositions.

Already, since securing the American rights hundreds of men and women have written us to tell of phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for years tell how they now glory in their beautiful hair. Others who have had dandruff all their lives say they have now a clean, healthy scalp and that hair stopped falling after a few applications of this wonderful new treatment.

We don't care whether you are bothered with falling hair, prematurely gray hair, matted hair or stringy hair; dandruff, itching scalp, or any or all forms of hair trouble, we want you to try "CRYSTOLIS," at our risk.

We give you a binding guarantee without any "strings" or red tape, that it won't cost you a cent if we do not prove to you that "Crystolis" will do all we claim for it, and what's important, we have plenty of money to back our guarantee. We have deposited $1,060 in our local bank as a special fund to be forfeited if we fail to comply with this contract. Cut out the coupon below and mail it today to Creslo Laboratories, 170 Y Street, Binghamton, N. Y.

MINNESOTA SHOWS WAY

Leads Other States in Co-operation Between Bankers and Farmers.

State Bankers Aim to Have Representative in Every County.

That the co-operation of the bankers and farmers of Minnesota is closer and more helpful to each other than in any other state, is the opinion of Joseph B. Chapman, vice president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis. Mr. Chapman is one of the most active and effective workers in the country in development lines, and was one of the organizers of the bankers' committee for co-operation with the agricultural interests of the state.

Mr. Chapman is a speaker of national reputation on these problems and was one of the chief speakers at the Boston meeting of American bankers. He arrived in Duluth at 7:20 o'clock last evening, was at the banquet at the Commercial club at 8, finished addressing the bankers there at five minutes to 11, and took the train for Minneapolis at 11:10. He had little time to give an interview, but his character is of a happy mixture. He has a cheerful disposition, and can talk on two different subjects to two different parties at the same time—that is, he is both a right and left-hand speaker. So while he shook hands with the departing banquet guests on one side, he gave an interview on farming on the other.

Aim of Bankers.

"The bankers of Minnesota," he said, "are more efficiently organized to extend their influence into the farming community than in any other part of the country. It is the aim of the bankers' committee to have a representative working in each of the eighty-two counties of the state. We already have twenty-five.

"The purpose of this committee is to see that funds for highways in the country districts are expended to the best advantage, to raise the standard of the schools, and develop the soil and promote good farming in every way. The success of the banker and the country depends upon the success of the farmer, and the bankers of this state have recognized that fact.

"One of the things farmers need as well as bankers is instruction. While the farmer is on his land raising crops he often does not pay as much attention to studying his problems as he should. It is to the interest of the bankers and state as a whole that the farmer raise good crops, build good roads, and develop schools and public institutions. It is our aim to have a representative in each of the counties of the state as soon as possible."

WARDEN SURPRISED BY HAWTHORNE STORY

Atlanta Warden Will Welcome Investigation of Prison.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—William H. Moyer, warden of the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., asserts he will not yet make an official reply to the charges made by Julian Hawthorne and Dr. W. J. Morton, just released from the prison, that the institution is "a hell on earth." Mr. Moyer, who has been here attending the American Prison association's meetings, departed for his home last night.

"I do not care to make an official statement at this time," Mr. Moyer said. "The attorney general of the United States has been asked by me to investigate conditions for the government's satisfaction. I do not know what prompted the charges, but the fact that Hawthorne and Dr. Morton were once denied parole may throw light on the situation. I will say that the food served is better than in the average prison. The most severe punishment men are required to undergo is discipline in the 'hell,' as it is called, on bread and water diet, as it is prescribed by the prison physician.

"As to the food, data on the portion served all prisoners is on file in the government offices at Washington, sent there each day.

"The prison is open any time for investigation. If there is to be such an inquiry I want it to be official and given the widest publicity."

Upon the motion of Warden Moyer, the American Prison association at its closing session voted to procure and publish authentic information of actual conditions existing in prisons of the United States. The government will be asked to obtain the data, but if it does not the association will appoint a committee to do the work.

ILLINOIS BANKER SENT TO PRISON.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 17.—Henry J. Fink, the former private banker of Belleville, Ill., whose disappearance a few weeks ago resulted in an investigation of his affairs, pleaded guilty to embezzlement and was sentenced to an indeterminate term of one to four years in the state prison at Chester, Ill.

Fink's affairs were found to be in a hopeless tangle after investigation into his transactions and involuntary proceedings in bankruptcy are now pending against him in the Federal court at Danville, Ill.

Fink, as private banker, had a business reaching hundreds of thousands of dollars, the savings of many women having been entrusted to him. In addition, he handled many mortgages.

BED OF OCEAN AT PANAMA CHANGING.

Panama, Oct. 17.—Reports received here from the center of the recent seismic disturbances indicate that startling changes are taking place in the bed of the ocean off the coast of Los Santos province, in the vicinity of the town of Tonosi. At one point about fifteen miles distant from the mainland a cable repair ship found that a depth of 1,000 feet on the chart of the United States war department published in 1904 now shows a depth of 5,000 feet.

THAW CASE GOES OVER TO OCT. 27.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 17.—The request of William T. Jerome for an extension of time of hearing further arguments on the extradition of Harry K. Thaw of New York was granted last night by Governor Felker. The governor changed the date to Oct. 27.

INVADES LONELY CABIN

Unwelcome Visitor Pays Midnight Call to "Bill the Trapper" in His Shack Near Vermilion Dam.

"Bill the Trapper" awoke with the sound of his dogs barking ringing in his ears and with that eerie feeling that he was not alone in his isolated cabin, located several miles above Vermilion dam, across from Tower on Vermilion lake.

He rubbed his eyes and sat up, trying to accustom himself to the darkness. A breathless interval passed, broken only by the rumbling growls of the big hounds chained outside.

"Bill the Trapper" strained his eyes. In the middle of the floor, just across the moonbeam which streaked through the glassless window, was a furry-four-footed shape. He concentrated his vision more closely, striving not to make a sound. What could it be that had invaded his little home, miles away from nowhere, with its eyes turned full upon him, bushy tail erect? Some denizen of the forest, but what? The pounding of his heart was suddenly drowned when the dogs again set up their unearthly, howling chorus.

The dim form stirred. It took a noiseless step or two forward. It stood full in the silvery glow of the moon, clearly revealing its identity to the anxious man on the bunk in the shadows on the other side of the room. A shiver ran down his back. The beast was furry and it had stripes. It is famed for its offensive tactics. Curses on those dogs. Weren't they ever going to let up on their dash-blanked barking?

The skunk moved slightly. The dogs drew his lordship's attention, for the minute at least. His skunkship silently stole further towards their side of the cabin and away from the bunk.

Take a Chance.

Would it be safe to take the chance? Would the dogs hold his honor's, the polecat's attention enough to enable Bill to slip over the foot of his bunk and crawl through that other unprotected window opposite? He'd have to take the chance. And if he could just get to those dogs he would quiet them and probably his visitor would go the way he had come, quietly and unobtrusively, harming nobody. Oh, if he could only make it and so his skunkship only would. He'd try it anyway. Everything to lose and nothing to gain.

Inch by inch Bill hunched himself towards the foot of his bunk. His skunkship didn't seem to pay any attention to him. One wool-socked foot gingerly touched the floor. The board creaked. Dead silence reigned. A beseeching prayer was unspoken by his lips. Once more those dogs turned loose their new-praised howls. Quickly the second wool-socked foot followed the first. Bill was now standing erect. His skunkship stirred uneasily but not in his direction. Now for it. With three strides he was at the open window. Still his skunkship didn't seem to notice. The next minute he was safely outside. He didn't think about the cold. The dogs were quickly unchained. Fondly he patted their heads and led them away from the cabin. Softly he spoke to them and once more the stillness of the night reigned supreme. His eyes glued on the door Bill waited. After what seemed an age his skunkship wandered slowly through the blanket which served the temporary purposes of a door. Rumbles started in the throats of the dogs but died away without being given voice at whispered commands and rapid-fire petting. Nothing happened. The polecat drifted away into the pines as he had come.

Then Bill's teeth began to chatter and he shivered as though with the ague.

That was several nights ago. By this time he has probably finished his cabin to the extent of providing it with a door and putting in the windows. Bill hasn't been in town but he related his experience to Lloyd R. Shively of Hunter's lodge at Vermilion dam, who was in the city yesterday and who narrated it to Bill's many acquaintances in Duluth.

DULUTHIAN'S BROTHER MAY BE GOVERNOR.

The Aberdeen, S. D., News says: "Present indications, supported by information from different parts of the state, point toward Judge James W. McCarter of Edmunds county as the standard bearer for the Democrats of South Dakota in the campaign next year. Judge McCarter is about 45 years of age, of Scotch-Irish descent, and has a striking personality. He is a man of exceptionally good principles and character, absolutely sound on all public questions, and is reputed to be an accomplished public speaker and debater. He is noted for absolute fairness in both his private and official life and his many friends and admirers believe that he would make an ideal executive."

Judge McCarter is a brother of W. C. McCarter of the Duluth Business university.

Passed Bogus Money.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—Wallace F. Bragg was convicted in the United States court late yesterday of passing counterfeit money. Bragg was arrested May 6 last after ten merchants on a single street had complained to the police in one day. The prisoner was identified by each of the dealers as having purchased a 5-cent cigar, tendering a silver dollar in payment.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Find Relief After Few Doses of Croxone.

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon.

It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such diseases.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

POOR SULZER!

The high court of impeachment finds that Sulzer falsified his statement of campaign expenditures, that he committed perjury in so doing, and that he improperly attempted to influence the evidence in his case.

So the high court of impeachment votes Sulzer out of office—and out of public life for good.

It is a pity. Not that Sulzer does not deserve his fate. Whether or not his opponents proved impeachable crimes, with his own ridiculous aid they proved his utter unfitness for high public office.

Sulzer is more of a fool than a crook. What has happened is not the exposure of a criminal, but the exposure of a charlatan and a demagogue.

Allan Ryan, son of the famous James F. Ryan whose generosity in politics has come to be a thing which candidates avoid as eagerly as they used to seek it, testified that Sulzer said to him, in appealing for help in his peril: "Tell your father that I am the same old Bill."

This ignominious and pathetic plea pictures the real Sulzer. Says the New York World: "That single sentence is a complete political history of William Sulzer. He undertook to be 'the same old Bill' to everybody, and eventually everybody discovered that he was counterfeit."

With ambitions unrestrained by any fixed principles, with a self-confidence and self-esteem that were almost pathological, Sulzer climbed far higher than his natural abilities would otherwise have permitted, and it is an open secret that he planned to continue his climb to the presidency. His mistake—and it was a silly one—was to think for a moment that he could attack so powerful an instrument as Tammany and hope that it would overlook his own vulnerability.

Sulzer's own attorney, in a plea in his behalf, painted a true picture of the man: "Some members of this court have known him for years; known of his lack of business habits and business methods; of his carelessness in money matters; of his overweening ambition; known of his egotism; known of his proneness to consider those things which are the creatures of his imagination as actual facts; but none of you, in the past, ever has regarded him as a dishonest man, a perjurer and a thief."

This comes painfully near describing a man whose egotism amounts to insanity.

It is a pity, as we have said. It is a pity because Tammany wins though it does not deserve to win. It is a pity because Sulzer, with his great popularity, had great possibilities of public good if he had been stable and mentally honest.

Disregarding the specific articles of impeachment, what Sulzer has been condemned for is taking political contributions wherever he could get them, reporting only a small part of them, using the rest as he saw fit, and trying by absurdly frantic means to humble himself in any possible way to escape the consequences of his misdemeanors.

One angle more of this unpleasant case remains to be considered. We could understand better the horror of the world's most venal politicians over these crimes if never before in the history of American politics had campaign contributions mysteriously stuck in the pocket of a politician.

France is sending mail by aeroplane. Which seems like a pretty reasonably sure way of increasing the number of drop letters.

"SOCIALISM."

Whenever a vested interest wishes to condemn forever a project that seems to threaten some disturbance of its melon patch, its favorite method is to call the project "socialistic." That, in its mind, seems to settle the matter.

But it doesn't settle it, by any means. And we have heretofore pointed out the danger that by using this adjective to describe projects that look good to the public, the public may be made unduly friendly to the term and to everything to which it is applied.

There has lately been an amusing example of this practice.

When the bankers were meeting in Boston recently they condemned the administration's currency bill as "socialistic" because it provides for control of the public finances by government in the public interest instead of by bankers for private interests.

The bankers forgot that they had just approved the postal savings bank—wholly because they found it had done them no harm—and that when it was the subject of popular demand they had condemned that, too, as "socialistic."

"Socialistic," clearly, means anything that the person using the term does not like and fears will infringe on what he considers his private right; especially a private right to profit at needless public expense.

In Mexico they don't bet on who will be the next president—they bet on whether there will be any election at all.

THE TRIAL AT KIEV.

Says an Associated Press cablegram from Kiev, Russia: "There probably never has been a celebrated case in which the accused played such an insignificant part as that of Mendel Beiliss, charged with the murder of the boy Yushinsky."

Indeed, it is not Beiliss who is on trial here, but civilization.

The charge is "ritual murder;" in other words, that the boy Yushinsky, a Christian, was sacrificed by Jews in accordance with their religion.

Of course there never was such a thing as ritual murder. There is no people on earth less likely to commit such a crime than the Jews, and no religion less in harmony with the atrocious brutality involved in it than the Jewish. The whole case roots in Russian bigotry, ignorance and superstition.

It is not Beiliss, not the Jews, not the Jewish faith, that is on trial here. It is Russia, and it is civilization.

The duke and duchess of Roxburghe have christened their boy "George Victor Robert John." Seems reckless to use up names that way on the first one.

TWO HANDSOME GIFTS.

Through the splendid generosity and public spirit of Mrs. W. M. Prindle and S. F. Snivelev Duluth is about to have added to its park area two and a half acres of beautifully wooded and scenic land on both sides of Lester river, according to a local story in The Herald last evening.

This will make of Lester park not only one of the finest parks in the city, but ultimately one of the finest in the country. Its natural possibilities are large; indeed, it is rare that territory can be found which needs so little help from art to make it highly attractive park property, and there are very few communities where such a thing can happen at all.

The city is deeply indebted to these two public-spirited and generous citizens. Their high consideration for the public welfare entitles them to rank high in the regard of their community.

A memorial to Gen. Braddock? What's become of that picture in the school histories labeled "Braddock's Defeat"?

THE EFFICIENCY COMMISSION AND THE LEGISLATURE.

It says that the legislature is jealous of its prerogatives, that whatever is actually accomplished the legislature must do, and that the governor's experience with the legislature ought to teach him that it will insist on doing what it pleases in its own way and not his way.

The Journal is confining itself in these comments almost entirely to the budget plan, though it says: "The governor has not been fortunate in his experiments of writing laws for the legislature to pass. It is still a bigger job to show it how to reorganize the state government. The legislature is inclined to run its own business, and have the governor to regulate his own office and appointees."

Both the Journal and the governor over-estimate the importance of the budget issue. The Journal under-estimates the importance of a reorganization of the state's system of handling its business, and overlooks altogether the manifest difficulty of an investigation and the creation of a plan of reorganization during a legislative session. It is more than a difficulty; it is an impossibility.

As for the budget, the senate committee on finance and the house committee on appropriations appoint subcommittees which, working jointly, do constitute a budget committee. To this budget committee the state board of control and the various executive officers submit their requirements. Taking these and proposals adopted by the legislature, the committee works out its appropriation bills. This is essentially budget-making; yet it leads to extravagance because the government system is wasteful and extravagant, and because the legislative system of responsibility to individual districts but none whatever to the interest of the whole state encourages waste and extravagance.

It probably is true enough that the legislature will more or less resent executive action on what is, after all, purely a legislative function. But what would you? The work of the efficiency commission, if it is as effective as the caliber of the members promises, will provide the next legislature with a tangible basis to work upon. It need not and probably will not adopt in one swallow the plan proposed by the unofficial commission. But the work of the commission will obviate the need of an investigation during the session, which the Journal well knows would be a farce, and will provide a tentative scheme of reorganization for the legislature to work upon.

In the meantime, the duty before the people of Minnesota is to elect a legislature pledged to go to work in earnest upon the reorganization of the state government and upon stopping the leaks of waste and extravagance and worse that have brought about the appalling increase in state expenditures and in the state tax rate.

Huerta should take due warning—England has a new warship that she built as an experiment and may want to try it out.

WHAT HAPPENED IN MEXICO.

The latest crisis in Mexican affairs came about with such swift abruptness that many may have missed the essence of it. What happened, in brief, is this:

Senator Dominguez, who appears to be—or to have been—a man of courageous patriotism, dared to say in discussing the troubles that afflict Mexico that the cause is the refusal of the country to resign itself to the fate of having Huerta dominate its affairs.

Suddenly thereafter, Dominguez disappeared. What has happened to him nobody knows. He may be in some dungeon. He may have been shot in the back like Madero. If his body is found Huerta may declare that he was shot trying to escape. That's what he said about the assassination of Madero and Suarez.

Next the Mexican congress, noting the disappearance of one of its members, declared by resolution that if no satisfactory explanation was furnished it would be compelled to seek safety by sitting elsewhere than in the capital.

Thereupon the unspeakable Huerta, provisional "president" of a "republic," locked up most of the members of the congress and declared himself to be not only the ruler but the lawmaker. In other words, by high-handed and lawless methods he created a dictatorship with himself as dictator, thereby destroying whatever faint hope there might have been that an honest presidential election would be held and that civilized nations could maintain relationships with his government.

Felix Diaz is a candidate for president of Mexico. Also he is in danger of assassination. Mr. Henry Lane Wilson likes so much to talk about his friend Huerta and his ways that perhaps a few words on this Diaz affair would be in his line now.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE TRADING STAMP.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Somebody in the Open Court last night told the flat, stark truth about the trading stamp—that under whatever guise it comes it is a leech upon the community, sucking hard-earned coin for which it gives utterly no return.

Moreover, in its progress and action it is like the morphine habit, which is a perfect parallel. The only safe way is to let morphine and trading stamps alone. The best time to escape either habit is to break away early. And when either habit is fastened, it's the devil's own property that it is fastened on, and there are few victims that ever escape.

I am interested in a small way in a business enterprise in another town, on which the trading stamp evil has got its clutches. Indeed, it is the enterprise I am interested in that introduced the plague into that town. And it came about this way:

The manager of this establishment, and the controlling owner, was as much opposed to the trading stamp scheme as I am now. But sleek, clever agents of a trading stamp concern worked upon his fear by making him believe that if he didn't take it up his leading competitor was going to. He learned later, when it was too late, that they had also worked upon his competitor in the same way—by making him think that the manager of the house I am interested in would take it up if he didn't.

It started with one house, after agents of trading stamp concerns had worked in vain to break into that town for years. Within two years half the business concerns in town were paying tribute to it, and thousands of dollars annually are going out of that town today, and into the pockets of the trading stamp promoters, for which the town gets not a nickel in return.

Who pays it? The consumer—and the merchant has to help him. Whether it is a cash discount or pinchbeck premiums, the trading stamp concern makes big profits, and the community pays.

I venture to say that in the town of which I am speaking there isn't a merchant who would fall for the wiles of the trading stamp promoter and introduce it today; and there isn't a merchant who is giving out trading stamps who wouldn't be glad to stamp it out, root and branch. But they can't. As usual, there is a lack of effective cooperation between them in business matters. Each house fears its rival. They can't break away all at once because contracts overlap, and not all expire at once. A few have broken away, but the expert hypnotists of the trading stamp concerns induce others to take their places. Victims of the practice joined a few years ago in passing a law prohibiting the use of trading stamps, and the courts held the law unconstitutional.

It is a pity that this thing has intruded itself in Duluth, to add one more needless drain to increase the high cost of living and the high cost of doing business. I hope it is not too late to stamp it out, and to keep it out for good.

ANOTHER MERCHANT.

BOUQUET FOR THE HERALD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your hearty co-operation in giving loyal and efficient educational publicity to the recent Duluth Industrial Exposition has been given the appreciative recognition of the general committee.

In preparing for this industrial show the committee realized fully the vital need of intelligent co-operation of all the thinking citizens of Duluth. That this co-operation was gained in a measure beyond the expectations of all, we believe is largely due to the editorial columns of The Duluth Herald.

Very truly yours,

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE OF THE DULUTH INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.

ALFRED HANCHETT.

The Well Born Child

Chicago Tribune: A woman who believes that every child has a right to be well born recently has opened what she terms a "prenatal" restaurant in New York city. Any prospective mother is welcomed to this place. She is given nutritive food at a nominal cost. She is given, in addition, friendly counsel on matters of hygiene and health—a sort of informal training as to how to bring into the world a healthy child.

The prenatal restaurant is the outgrowth of its founder's wide experience with mothers and children of the slums. The woman who founded this restaurant has been greatly impressed or, perhaps, depressed, with the large number of children that come into the world handicapped because their mothers were underfed. Thousands of new born babes, she found, are doomed to an early death because they have been suffering from malnutrition before birth.

The prenatal restaurant in New York undertaken by the private initiative of a social worker must, and undoubtedly will, be the cornerstone of a newer and more humane attitude toward the women in straitened circumstances who is a prospective mother.

In Germany a woman needs no other certificate than a nursing babe to entitle her to proper nutriment at the expense of the community. In France hospitals care for prospective mothers six weeks, and even two months, before their confinement, and a month or so after. In Scotland a private society feeds nursing mothers free.

The prenatal restaurant in New York started by private initiative should not, and probably will not, be allowed to long remain a private institution.

Jesus und das Moos.

In tiefer Schlucht, in Waides Schoos
Entsprosst das faibe, zarte Moos—
Ein Teppich sanft und weich—
Den Blicken zeigt es sich nur klein,
Doch schliesst sein Bau ein Wunder ein
Von Wipfel, Laub und Zweig.

Zu Rosenglut und Waldesgrun
Schaut hin das Moos und seufzt:
"Solch Bluhn
Gab mir der Himmel nicht;
Viel Tritte rauschen uber mir,
Und nicht ein Auge sieht mich hier,
Denn alle lockt das Licht."

Und sieh, da kommt im Abendschein
Der Heiland wandelnd durch den Hain
Mit bleichem Angesicht;
Mit wunden Fuss er weiter musst',
Und fuhlt nun solches Moos mit Lust
Zu seinen Fussen dicht.

Er kam erst durch die Wuste her,
Da brannte Sand und Sonne sehr;
Nun kuhlt das sanfte Moos.
Da spricht der Heiland: "Vatershand
Hat solche Lieb' auf mich verwandt
In Zartheit ernst und gross.

Welch Auge mag so blode sein,
Erkennt nicht in der Kleinheit dein
Des Schopfers Macht und Huld?
Du zierlich Kraut—so ausser Acht—
Dein hat der Vater auch gedacht!
Dein Los, trag's mit Geduld!"

Dies Wort bracht' Jesus kaum hervor,
Da spriesst es aus dem Moos empor,
Ein Roslein—wundermild;
Moosroslein wurd' es gald genannt,
Das bluhet nun in jedem Land,
Der Demut stilles Bild.

Des Heilands Erdenleid versusst
Hat es—die Fus' ihm sanft gekusst,
Da ward' ihm solch ein Lohn!
O Herz! sei immer rein und weich,
Bist du bedruckt, dem Moose gleich,
Dann knospt die Rose schon.

—Wilhelmine von Cheney.

(Translation.)

Jesus and the Moss.

Within a forest's deep ravine
The moss deploys its tender sheen,
A carpet soft as snow,
Its beauty all unheeded lies,
Though rarest marvels doth comprise
Each tiny leaf and bough.

'Mid roses bright and verdant grass
The moss looks up and sighs: "Alas,
I have no radiance bright.
How many a step hath o'er me passed,
Yet on me not a glance is cast,
For all allures the light."

And lo! as falls the evening shade,
The Saviour walketh through the glade,
His face is pale and sad.
While still he treads his lonely path,
The moss, so soft and yielding, hath
His wounded feet made glad.

After the dreary desert land,
The blazing sun, the blistering sand,
How cool this soft caress!
The Saviour spoke: "My Father's care
Hath made this pathway smooth and fair
In loving tenderness.

What eye could be so dull and blind
But in this puny growth can find
The great Creator's power?
Thou tender herb—though heeded not—
A Father's hand still shapes thy lot,
Endure it, hour by hour!"

Scarce had he spoke when, lo! there grows
From out the moss a little rose,
With clinging moss entwined.
The moss-rose, thus it soon was known,
In every land its bloom is shown,
Like Modesty enshrined.

Into his bitter cup some sweet
It poured—it softly kissed his feet—
And such reward had come!
O heart! be ever soft and pure!
If woes oppress, like moss endure!
And then the rose will bloom.

Story of a Blind Stenographer

From the American Magazine.

Twelve years ago, Miss Grace E. Keator of Kingston, New York, was preparing to become a teacher of literature; then came illness and with illness, blindness. To most women such a crushing calamity would have destroyed all thought of an independent career, but in Miss Keator's case it did nothing of the sort. After recovering from the illness which had taken sight for toll, she went courageously to study at the institution for the blind at Batavia, New York. Like Miss Helen Keller, she had to learn to work as well as "see" with her hands. She learned to read raised type and to operate a typewriter—she had never before used such instrument—and then she studied stenography. It was serious work. She had determined, handicapped as she was, to be self-supporting and independent. Her success was extraordinary and would have done credit to an expert. When the time came for her to look about for a position she turned at once to New York city. Her excellent work in the institution at Batavia had already attracted attention, and she soon became private secretary of the New York Association for the Blind at 118 East Fifty-ninth street.

A visitor to "The Light House," as the association is called, sees the blind happily at work weaving carpets, making baskets or brooms, caning chairs, or doing housework; but one of the most interesting spectacles of all is to see Miss Holt and her aid at work—in the background the "boss" dictating, in the foreground Miss Keator at her shorthand machine, her fingers fairly flying, while under her skillful manipulation a ribbon-shaped manuscript unfolds, the characters appearing like pinpricks in the paper. The manuscript reminds one of a stock broker's ticker tape. When dictation is finished the blind stenographer turns to her typewriter, and after passing sensitive fingers along the "ribbon" to read her notes, she rapidly transcribes them. The finished work, and indeed all that she does, is a model of neatness and accuracy.

Besides holding the secretaryship to Miss Holt, the blind stenographer is president of the Blind Women's club of New York city. In her official capacity she meets many notable persons. The brilliant example she has set in making a career for herself, and her thorough knowledge of the conditions under which the blind must work if they are to be happy, productive members of society, have made it possible for her to interest numbers of people in the work of institutions for the blind. She is the first and, I believe, the only blind woman to earn her living as a stenographer.

Miss Keator is at home in a modest apartment on East Sixty-fifth street, New York city. Here, in co-operation with a chum, she does light housekeeping. The two young women take great pride in their home. They find it fun to keep house, and they have developed a highly efficient system of domestic "team-work;" what one cannot accomplish the other can, and each stoutly maintains that she has most to be grateful for. They get along together famously.

Miss Keator is exceedingly "feminine." She takes great pains in the selection and style of her wardrobe and she delights in "seeing" things fresh from the shops. When women friends call on her she always examines their new gowns, lightly passing her delicate hands over the fabric.

Decency and Dress

London Truth: It seems to me that the girls of the present moment are dressed more tastefully their their mothers or their grandmothers were at the same age. Possibly this is because dresses show more of the woman and less of the dressmaker. It is, no doubt, less true of the hats.

About mere taste it is idle to dispute. Decency is a different matter. When people say that the present fashions are indecent it only means that they are new. In regard to the exposure of the person, what is decent or indecent is purely a matter of custom, and the custom varies from generation to generation and contemporaneously among different nations. In one of Mr. La Bouchere's paragraphs lately reprinted in Truth, he pointed out that the in the East it is indecent to expose the face, while Turkish ladies thought it no shame to pull up their trousers and expose their legs in public.

I remember my grandmother telling me that in her youth it was considered immodest for a girl to show her ears in the street; they should be covered with her hat or bonnet strings. Yet, at the same time, women dampened their garments to make them cling to the figure—precisely the sort of thing that is now considered so shocking by those who see it for the first time. At the seaside women can appear before a crowd in bathing costumes without reproach. For a woman, or a man, to walk down Bond street in a bathing dress would be considered so indecent that the police would probably interfere. Yet if it became the fashion to walk about London in bathing dresses, nobody would see any harm in it after the first week or two. In the abstract there is no such thing as decency or indecency in dress.

A point which does not seem to be noticed is that the present fashions must bring enormous profits to the dressmakers. A woman's dress today contains but a fraction of the material that it did twenty years ago, yet the price is the same or higher—probably higher. The loss on petticoats must be inconsiderable beside the increased profit on the outer garment.

Stupid Men.

Edmund Burke: There are some men formed with feelings so blunt, with tempers so cold and phlegmatic, that they can hardly be said to be awake during the whole course of their lives. Upon such persons the most striking objects make but a faint and obscure impression.

There are others so continually in the agitation of gross and merely sensual pleasures, or so occupied in the low drudgery of avarice, or so heated in the chase of honors and distinction, that their minds, which had been used continually to the storms of these violent and tempestuous passions, can hardly be put in motion by the delicate and refined play of the imagination.

These men, though, from a different cause, become as stupid and insensible as the former, but whenever either of these happen to be struck with any natural elegance or greatness, or with these qualities in any work of art, they are moved upon the same principle.

Dual Question.

Washington Star: Chautauqua managers would secure a great attraction if they could arrange a public discussion by Mr. La Follette and Mr. Roosevelt of the question, "Who Is the Progressive Party?"

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

Not Ideal But Better.

Little Falls Herald: Congressman Lindbergh's references to the currency bill are no doubt based on facts. It is far from an ideal measure, but it seems to be about all that can get through. If any change is desired from the present chaotic situation, the administration bill will have to go through.

A Reluctant Convert.

Northfield News: Senator Nelson appears to be a reluctant convert to the cause of woman suffrage. "Although I am not entirely reconciled to it in my own mind," he writes, "I have decided to give the cause the benefit of the doubt." Everything indicates that the day is not distant when women will acquire the right to vote in most of the states of the Union.

Hammond Is Consistent.

St. Peter Herald: A few stand-pat Republican papers in the Second district are threatening dire consequences for Congressman Hammond as a result of his vote in favor of the Democratic tariff bill. J. T. McCleary, Congressman Hammond's predecessor, was retired from circulation because of his lack of sympathy with the people and his failure to hear their demand for a reduction of the tariff. Mr. Hammond has voted according to the wishes of his constituents, and will be returned to the next congress. The man likely to suffer is Senator Clapp. He has talked tariff reduction for years, but lacked the necessary courage to vote for it.

Not So Very Free.

Albert Lea Standard: And still a "free education" at the state university is talked about, but the talk is quite subdued. Notwithstanding its enormous and increasing endowment it is one of the most expensive colleges of the country, and it may as well be plainly stated—

The cause is bad management.

Don't Quarrel; Build Roads.

Menagha Journal: We say it again! It is time that the friends of Hon. R. C. Dunn and Senator Elwell, "bury the hatchet," secure some more formidable weapons, and—build roads.

What's the Limit.

East Grand Forks Record: Just why the state of Minnesota should be called upon to buy serum for the hog owners of the state with which to combat cholera does not appear quite clear. Soon we will have the state buying paris green for the potato farmer, sheep dip for the sheep farmer, lice powder for the chicken farmer and disinfectant for the skunk farmer. Would there be anything unjust in expecting the wealthy hog raiser of the southern part of the state to buy the serum with which to proetct his own stock from epidemic?

At Our Firesides.

Barnesville Headlight: Minnesota is indeed fortunate. She has escaped an extra session. We can now prepare for the winter with our senators and representatives cuddled about us.

Whittier Indorsed.

Waseca Herald: Dr. Merica, who tried to manage the unruly youths at the state training school at Red Wing without resorting to corporal punishment, has given up the job in disgust and will leave the institution at the close of this year. Dr. Merica's resignation is another indorsement of the work of his predecessor. Supt. Whittier, who was driven out of office through the maneuvering of a bunch of peanut politicians.

Canonizing Bryan.

Toledo Blade: Secretary Bryan has been guilty of carelessness in the conduct of his official labors. He has been guilty of impatient statement in defending his Chautauqua contracts. But Secretary Bryan has done just what other politicians have done from time immemorial—treated his office as of less importance than his private affairs. He has made a slip in tact, betrayed a lack of shrewdness, sins of which no human being has been guiltless since Father Adam set the example in the Garden of Eden.

One trouble with the secretary of state is that he has been conventional and human and another trouble with him is that he is the Man Bryan who has spent nearly twenty years in accumulating critics and enemies. Nothing, or very little, would have been said if some other secretary had accepted the invitation to go speechmaking and had been petulant with inquisitive reporters. But since it is Bryan who is involved, the Chautauqua contracts and the reckless tongue are set forth as offenses against custom, offenses against the nation, high crimes and misdemeanors without parallel in the history of the republic! Changes are rung upon the facts to the point where they deafen. Comment runs from slap-stick humor to vitrol throwing.

These people who cannot let Bryan either follow the time-worn practices of Washington or get hot under the collar do not seem to see what they are doing with their victim. They are providing him with a deep personal grievance. They are making him into a martyr. It is the last thing these naggers could desire.

Jane Addams's Defense of the Tight Skirt.

New York World: Jane Addams's approval of women's present style of dress as "more sensible than ever" and "better for the health" will carry comfort to her own sex and win the indorsement of many of the other sex who are not so prone to agree with the feminist Progressive leader on politics. On matters of dress, at least, she will be accepted as a competent authority.

Now that the tumult and the shouting about the tight skirt have generally died out, is there any evidence to show that its vogue has imperilled public morals in any degree? Are American women less modest for wearing it? Has their self-respect been so suddenly and materially altered to fit a dressmaker's pattern?

Outside of a few heated imaginations, no one of course seriously believe that women change their character with their clothes. Only a negligible number of them have offended against good taste by wearing transparent skirts or skirts slashed so high as to excite remark.

For the most part, women have convinced all but the most censorious of their critics, to whom anything they do is wrong, that the clothes they are now wearing are as sensible and becoming as any they have worn within recent memory, while possessing added advantages as respect health, hygiene and inexpensiveness.

That Remains to Be Seen.

Topeka Capital: Such representatives of the slit skirt as have been brought to our attention invariably disclose the lady's left leg. What, we desire to ask, is the matter with her right leg?

The Utility of the Editorial Page.

From the Worcester, Mass., Post: In truth the editorial page is today of greater interest, power and usefulness than ever before. It is not so relatively, because it is not so nearly the "whole thing" as in days when there was presented with it not a hundredth or thousandth part of news matter, local, general, world-wide, in ever-multiplying and widening human activities and interests, such as make the great modern newspaper. And there are now no figures in the editorial work looming so big as in the days of Greeley, Raymond, Dana, Marble, Bowles and their like, simply because the level for exceptional man to loom above has become a very different one. Now there are hundreds of men daily turning out work of quality equal to that of the few great ones in that day, often equally vigorous, usually more instructive, because there is now wider and more accessible knowledge for material, and generally of a saner and fairer temper, more independent and more earnest in purpose to help readers to see clearly and rightly rather than to stimulate partisanship for some cause or party or sect.

Didn't Know When He Was Well Off.

The Argonaut: Robert Lowe, afterward Lord Sherbrooke, once saw a deaf member of parliament trying his best to catch with his ear trumpet the words of an extremely dull speech.

"Just look at that foolish man," said Lowe, "throwing away his natural advantages."

SPECIAL PROGRAM FOR THE WOMEN

Missionary Conference Will Bring Many Noted Speakers to City.

Sunday school missionaries from all parts of the district are laying their plans to attend the district missionary conference to be held at the Y. W. C. A. Oct. 31 to Nov. 7.

Along with the regular missionary force of speakers, the following will be present: Secretary of Missions Rev. G. P. Williams, James McConaughy, managing editor of publications, and Martin L. Finckel, president of the Missionary Sunday School union; Rev. Edwin W. Rice, D. D., editor, of Philadelphia; Rev. W. W. Johnstone of Chicago, superintendent of the lakes district, and Rev. Joseph Wells of Des Moines, Iowa, superintendent of the Western district.

Special stress is being laid upon the portion of the program devoted to the women. They are being brought to the conference and entertained by a special contribution of friends interested in the work in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth.

Many of the missionaries will address Sunday audiences in the city during their stay here.

Lawyer Kills Merchant.

Palerma, Sicily, Oct. 17.—Signor Palermostro, a well-known lawyer of Palermo, yesterday shot and killed a rich merchant, Signor Saladino. Palermostro accused the merchant of having stolen documents connected with the candidacy of Nunzio Nasi, the former minister of public inspection, who served a term of imprisonment for embezzlement, and who has been elected several times to the chamber of deputies, only to have his election annulled.

GIVES TALK TO BANKERS

Joseph B. Chapman of Minneapolis Speaks Plainly to Young Men.

Worst Failures Those Who Fear to Do More Than Necessary Work.

With a speech full of homely but wise sayings and a ready wit and comprehensive knowledge of his subject, Joseph B. Chapman, vice president of the Northwestern National bank of Minneapolis, discussed banking problems in general to an audience of about eighty bank clerks and officers, representing Duluth and Superior, at the banquet given last night at the Commercial club by the Duluth chapter of the American Institute of Banking.

"What is hampering the American banker today," said Mr. Chapman, "is ignorance, and the same thing is true of the average congressman when it comes to financial matters. If the American banking of a generation ago had had the same opportunities for study and becoming efficient, the country would not be puzzled and confronted with the currency difficulties that it is today.

"The bankers have allowed themselves to get weaned away from the people until the people as a whole have more confidence in the politician in financial matters than they have in bankers. Bankers have been too content to study the few little problems confronting them in their own banks and have learned nothing of the problems involved in drawing up a national currency measure."

But Mr. Chapman did not take so much time to discuss national issues as he did to giving advice to the young men. He said the only reason he had in coming to Duluth was, that he was interested in young men. He didn't mince words a particle, telling the young men of their faults.

"I can see," said the speaker, "in looking over this audience tonight, that not all the young men here will be successful bankers. If a boy is going to succeed in banking, he must study, and not be afraid to work overtime if necessary. And he must be an observer of men and problems; not simply seeing things, but 'sensing' them.

Afraid of Overwork.

"The boy from the farm today is far more successful when he comes to the city than the boy born and reared in the city. The farm boy knows what responsibility means, and he observes the new things that he sees. He isn't afraid to work overtime. The worst failure in the banking business is the man who is always afraid he will do something that he will not get pay for."

Mr. Chapman greatly interested and amused his hearers by telling his own experiences; how he started as an office boy, and how he struggled as a clerk trying to add long columns of figures when he didn't know the practical principles of simple addition. He said the adding machine now does away with that drudgery, but at the same time it deprives the bank clerk of the fine discipline obtained through the work.

Mayor W. I. Prince, introduced as the banker-mayor, who spoke on "The Requirements of Citizenship," emphasized some of the many things that go to make up good government. Among the most vital qualities necessary in a good citizen, he said, were civic pride, a desire to make the city beautiful, sanitary and clean, an understanding of the problems confronting a municipality, co-operation in carrying out the policies of good government.

Attorney Homer C. Fulton was introduced as the star after-dinner speaker of the Duluth bar, and his speech was no disappointment to his audience. Mr. Fulton's remarks were for the most part humorous and cannot be reproduced with justice to him without reproducing the atmosphere of the whole banquet.

W. A. Putman, president of the Duluth chapter of the American Institute of Banking, gave a short address of institute work.

J. D. Mahoney, assistant cashier of the American Exchange bank and captain of the Duluth Boat club, gave an address emphasizing the importance of chapter athletics.

H. S. McGregor, cashier of the City National bank, spoke on "My Experiences as a Member of the Institute."

A. W. Taylor, teller in the City National bank, who was a delegate of the institute to the national convention at Richmond, Va., last summer, related some of his experiences at the national gathering.

J. L. Lewis, cashier of the Merchants & Miners National bank at Hibbing, spoke briefly on banking problems.

Attorney G. W. C. Ross acted as toastmaster.

BOARD MUST SHOW CAUSE

Matter of Changing Route of Stevens Road in Court.

Members of the St. Louis county board must appear in district court tomorrow on an order to show cause why they should not be restrained from changing the original route of a certain stretch of the Stevens road.

The order to show cause, which is returnable tomorrow morning, was signed by Judge Dancer on the application of James Richardson, owner of land in section 34, 51-18, and through whose property it is now proposed to place the highway.

The original route, if followed, will necessitate the building of a part of the road on the bed of a ravine and the construction of at least two bridges. Richardson claims that if the change is made, the road will so cut through his land as to sever a greater portion of his farm from a nearby creek.

He estimates that his damage in this respect would be $1,000.

MANSLAUGHTER LAID TO LAWRENCE DUKE

Tobacco Magnate's Son Blamed for Fatal Auto Wreck.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 17.—Lawrence Duke, a son of Brodie Duke, the tobacco manufacturer, will be held in a charge of manslaughter, it was announced by prosecuting Attorney Murphy after an investigation of the killing of Henry N. Farr and the injuring of Alfred C. Hoglund and Thomas G. Simmons Wednesday night by an automobile driven by Duke.

Murphy declared that the breaking of the steering gear, which Duke says was responsible for the crash, did not occur until Duke's machine struck a telegraph pole after smashing into the Hoglund car.

Duke was released last night on $5,000 bond.

The BIG DULUTH

WILLIAMSON & MENDENHALL

FIRED FOR MAKING ANONYMOUS CHARGES.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Secretary McAdoo has ordered the summary dismissal from the government service of George L. Snyder, a bookkeeper in the lifesaving service, because of anonymous charges alleged to have been inspired by Snyder and others reflecting upon Capt. Sumner A. Kimball, general superintendent of the lifesaving service, and the administration of his office.

The action was based on an investigation by George E. Downey, comptroller of the treasury, whose conclusions were that "while there was evidence of some slackness of discipline in the general superintendent's office, the charges reflecting upon Capt. Kimball's integrity and character were false and unworthy of consideration."

"DEAD MAN" SENT TO MONTANA PRISON.

Billings, Mont., Oct. 17.—Arthur F. Hughes, the Forsythe, Mont., rancher, arrested in New York for alleged conspiracy to defraud an insurance company and for grave robbery, pleaded guilty yesterday and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Hughes confessed that he robbed the grave of John Kirnen the day after Kirnen was buried, and took the body to his ranch, where he buried it in the snow for six weeks, then took it to his home and set fire to the building. He went to South America and was arrested and brought back.

Hughes sought to shield his wife, who tried to collect his life insurance. She and Thomas Elliott, to whom she was married after Hughes disappeared, are in jail awaiting trial on a charge of bigamy.

Coward Sent to Prison.

Sofia, Oct. 17.—Col. Peteff, a brigade commander, has been sentenced by courtmartial to four years' imprisonment for deserting his post in an engagement against the Greeks.

MARCONI ONCE MORE IN MOTOR ACCIDENT

Car Hits Cart and Then Runs Into Horse—Nobody Hurt.

Bologna, Italy, Oct. 17.—William Marconi, the wireless inventor, was in another automobile accident this morning similar to the one that cost him an eye some time ago. While motoring with his wife to Pontecchia his motorcar collided with a cart while turning a corner. The chauffeur turned quickly and ran the machine into a horse. The shock broke all the glass in the automobile and scattered it over the occupants, none of whom, however, was injured.

Another note held as important evidence by the police is in a woman's handwriting and unsigned. It reads:

"Am here for a week. What shall I do? When you come address Auditorium Monday."

The police believe the last note was the first draft of a telegram sent by Mrs. Ellis, but they have been unable to learn to whom the message was sent.

A letter was also found from their 8-year-old daughter, Eleanor, at Cincinnati, wishing her mother a happy time for her visit in Chicago, and describing the activities of a little 3-year-old daughter, Violet.

A number of letters and telegrams found in the hotel room, were taken by Detective Capt. Halpin, and the contents of most of them kept secret. One telegram caused Capt. Halpin to address a message to the chief of constables of Brantford, Can., asking about a Brantford merchant, and if he had left Brantford recently. The date of his departure and destination. Capt. Halpin added in the message, was "of the utmost importance in a crime committed here today." The Canadian police replied that the man in question had not been out of Brantford for some time.

WILLIAM SULZER REMOVED AS GOVERNOR

day. That the governor has been anxious to talk there was no doubt, but whether he will or not when the trial is over is another question.

It also was intimated that Sulzer would reveal his plans for the future—both politically and otherwise. Sulzer's friends have said that he would carry the case to the United States supreme court. Attorneys differed as to whether this was probable.

Galleries Were Filled.

Both galleries of the senate chamber were filled with spectators when the senators and judges filed solemnly in at 10:30 o'clock to sit for the last time as members of the high court.

Judge D-Cady Herrick, chief counsel for the governor, was an early arrival. He said that he had arranged everything so that his connection with the case would terminate the minute the final vote was taken. He also said he had returned to the governor a statement the latter prepared several weeks ago but which Herrick suppressed.

Chester Platt, the governor's secretary, met the newspaper men in the lobby of the senate chamber and assured them that a statement would be ready, probably for use in newspapers tomorrow morning.

"The governor has prepared that in part," he said, "but he will not put the finishing touches on it until after the verdict is in. It will not be the statement which Judge Herrick has had."

Session Was Delayed.

The opening of the morning session was delayed while the members of the senate and assembly were gathering to adopt a concurrent resolution to recess until Oct. 22. It was the plan of the leaders to reconvene then, adopt any supplemental financial measures deemed necessary and take another recess until after election. This plan was adopted so that if the Democrats lose their majority in the assembly this fall some of the Democratic policies planned for next year may be carried out before the present legislative year ends.

The high court of impeachment was called to order at 10:55 o'clock. The roll call showed all of the fifty-seven members present.

Clerk Patrick E. McCabe, at the direction of Presiding Judge Cullen, then read the fifth article of impeachment and the vote was taken.

There were no long explanations by the members of the court. Instead there was a rapid fire of replies of "not guilty" as Judge Cullen put the question:

"Senator (or judge), how say you, is the respondent guilty or not guilty as charged in this article?"

Not Guilty on Fifth.

Not once was the series of negative votes broken, and at the conclusion Clerk McCabe announced that the respondent had been found not guilty by a unanimous court.

Judge Cullen then made the formal announcement that the article had not been sustained.

"The respondent, under the vote as announced by the clerk," said the presiding judge, "is acquitted of the charges in this, the fifth article."

It had taken the court less than ten minutes to dispose of the article.

The roll was then called on article 6. Governor Sulzer was found not guilty on article 6, which charged that he committed larceny in speculating with funds contributed for his campaign. The vote was unanimous.

Governor Sulzer was found not guilty on article 7, which charged that he bartered his political influence. The vote was unanimous.

Not Guilty on Eighth.

Governor Sulzer was found not guilty of the charge of using his official position to influence the price of stocks in which he was interested, as charged in article 8.

The vote on the question of disqualifying the governor from holding further office was unanimously negative, except in the case of Judge Cullen, who was excused from voting.

Judge Cullen made the formal announcement that the governor is hereby removed.

A few minutes later the court was officially adjourned.

Prior to adjournment Judge Cullen announced that the ban of secrecy on all that had transpired in secret sessions was removed.

The First Formal Voting.

Governor Sulzer was found guilty by the high court of impeachment on articles 1, 2 and 4. He was declared innocent of the charges contained in article 3.

The vote on articles 1 and 2 was 39 to 18, a bare two-thirds majority. The former article charges that the governor falsified his statement of campaign contributions, the latter that he committed perjury in so doing.

The vote on article 3, which charges the governor bribed witnesses to withhold testimony from the Frawley investigating committee, was unanimous in favor of the governor.

The vote on article 4 was 43 to 14, six members changing their votes on articles 1 and 2 from "not guilty" to "guilty," and two from "guilty" to "not guilty." This article charges that the governor suppressed evidence by means of threats to keep witnesses from testifying before the Frawley committee. Among those was Duncan W. Peck, state superintendent of public works, who testified that the governor had asked him to commit perjury.

Cullen Voted "Not Guilty."

Presiding Judge Edgar M. Cullen, who will shortly retire from the bench, voted "not guilty" on each of these four articles, and rendered a long opinion in explaining his votes. The eight other judges of the court of appeals were divided. On articles 1 and 2 Judges Willard Bartlett, Emory A. Chase and William E. Werner voted for the governor, and against him voted Judges Frederick Collin, William H. Cuddeback, John W. Hogan, Frank H. Hiscock and Nathan Miller, making a division among them of 5 to 4 against the governor.

On article 4, Judges Bartlett, Chase and Werner changed their votes from "not guilty" to "guilty," and Judges Hiscock and Miller changed from "guilty" to "not guilty," making against him a division of 6 to 3.

Presiding Judge Cullen held that the offenses charged in articles 1 and 2 were not impeachable, and that the governor neither falsified his statements, under the provision of the election law, nor committed "legal perjury."

Explained Their Votes.

Practically every member of the court explained his vote on article 1, although those who voted in favor of the governor did not enter at length into a discussion of the merits of the case or the matters of law, and precedent involved as did the others, including all the judges. The latter filed with the court lengthy opinions in support of their votes.

One of the judges, Nathan L. Miller, who was designated to the court of appeals bench by Sulzer, denounced him as "totally unfit for office."

Several of the senators also took occasion to express harsh opinions of Governor Sulzer.

Senator Elon R. Brown, Republican leader, read a lengthy opinion in which he defended his vote in connection with the fact that he had been politically opposed to the governor.

Senators Wende and Duhamel, staunch supporters of the governor ever since he was impeached, spoke briefly. Senator Duhamel announced that he might file a statement of his position "at some future day."

Frawley Voted "Guilty."

Senator Frawley, chairman of the legislative investigating committee which brought the charges against the governor, announced that he would attempt "to pass no opinion as to the rights of the court to impeach or not."

"I find that the high court of appeals is divided on the question of impeachment themselves," he said. "Therefore, upon the facts, I cast my vote 'guilty.'"

Presiding Judge Cullen's opinion on article 1 embraced his views on all the "money articles"—1, 2 and 6. He conceded that the acts of the governor, testified to in connection with the articles, "displayed such turpitude and delinquency that if they had been committed during the respondent's incumbency of office, I think they would require his removal." He contended, however, that to convict the executive of offenses committed before he entered upon the duties of his office, was contrary to law.

Not Guilty of Perjury.

Judge Cullen's opinion said the corrupt practices act did require Sulzer to state the amounts and sources of all election contributions but his oath to the truth of such statement was extra judicial, so far as it related to his receipts, and he was not guilty of legal perjury.

The serious question in the case, Judge Cullen said, was: Can a public officer be impeached for acts committed when he was not an officer of the state? He said that never before had it been attempted to impeach a public officer for acts committed when he was not an officer of the state.

"It is urged," the opinion continued, "that the offenses charged against the respondent were part of the means by which he obtained his office. A slight reference will show that this argument cannot be sustained. The respondent's dishonesty in diverting the money contributed to him could in no way help him to get the office. On the contrary, this failure to properly expend the money had, if any effect, a reverse one.

"The falsification of the statement filed by him could have no effect on his election, because that had already occurred, though doubtless the public was properly interested in knowing what had been contributed, and in what amounts.

Purpose of Statutes.

"The falsification was made by the respondent, not for any matter connected with his election, but to conceal the misappropriation of the money. The statute is directed solely to securing purity of politics, and enacted for that purpose. The suggestion that it was intended also to insure publicity of the names of those who had assisted the successful candidate so that people might judge of his subsequent conduct in office and might know whether it was dictated by subservience to persons or interests who had contributed, I think unsound. A statute enacted for that purpose would be, to say the least, of doubtful constitutionality."

WILL CRUISE MEDITERRANEAN ON UNITED STATES BATTLESHIP

LIEUT. COMMANDER GUY EATON.

Guy Eaton, lieutenant commander of the Minnesota Naval militia will leave here next Monday for New York, from which port he will leave on one of Uncle Sam's battleships on Oct. 25 for a cruise of the Mediterranean.

Some time ago it was announced that the navy department had issued invitations to the officers of the Minnesota Naval militia to take the cruise, which will last for several weeks, but recently an order came from the commander to make arrangements to take it. This was believed necessary by the navy department for the reason that Commander Eaton, as well as others in command of the naval reserves, may some day, in case of war, be called upon to take command of a cruiser or battleship or some auxiliary vessel of the fleet. Hence a practical knowledge is desired.

While the cruise will be taken for practical purposes, it will be more in the way of a diplomatic cruise than anything else, and stops will be made at Gibraltar, Naples and others of the great ports and strategic points on the great inland sea; where much in the way of social entertainment will be extended to the American visitors. Full dress uniforms will be necessary.

City Water for Allouez.

City water mains will be extended to Allouez in April next year, as the result of a conference held yesterday afternoon between the city commission and officials of the water department. It is proposed to begin laying the extension early this winter so that the water will be supplied at Allouez by April 15. Sewers to that district will not be laid until later in the year.

Teachers' Convention.

The Lake Superior Teachers' association will meet in Superior on Oct. 24 and 25 in the Superior high school. Programs have been outlined for the morning meetings of both days, as well as the evening of Oct. 24. A number of Wisconsin's best educators will appear on the program.

City's Balance Increases.

Superior is prospering under the commission form of government, according to the annual report of City Treasurer Kane, which was submitted yesterday. It shows that the city has $17,551 more cash on hand at this time than it had in the treasury a year ago. The city has $164,860.75 in the local banks.

Assessment Increased.

Superior people will pay taxes this year on a valuation of $33,077,340, an increase of over $5,000,000 over last year. This included realty valuation amounting to $25,951,610 and personal and officials of the water department. property valuation amounting to $7,125,730. Of the latter, stocks of Superior merchants amount to over $4,600,000.

GRANDFATHER CLAUSE BEFORE HIGH COURT.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Validity of the "grandfather clause" in the Oklahoma state Constitution, said to disfranchise negro voters who cannot read or write, was up for oral argument today before the supreme court. The decision will probably be controlling in contests against similar clauses in other Southern states.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Col. Thompson Is Arraigned in Cotton Corner Case.

New York, Oct. 17.—Col. Robert M. Thompson, Wall Street broker, pleaded not guilty yesterday to a superseding indictment in the Federal court, charging him with conspiracy with James A. Patten and others to corner the cotton crop of 1909. The other defendants had pleaded not guilty, with the exception of Mr. Patten, who paid a fine rather than contest the case. Col. Thompson was in Europe at the time the other defendants pleaded.

Col. Thompson was released in $2,000 bail for trial.

Four Good Reasons

Why you should wear clothes of

"Shark Craft" Quality

1 If I were located on the main street it would cost me $1,980 or more in rent per year.

2 When you come in for your order, H. A. Shark personally, will wait upon you.

3 Your order will be cut and fitted by H. A. Shark.

4 A fact not to be overlooked—my shop is under my own personal supervision—in other words, I am my own foreman.

That is why I can sell you a better suit for the same price charged by other tailors.

ARE YOU THE ONE WHO SHOULD BUY A HOME

SAVE RENT AND DOUBLE YOUR INVESTMENT? IF SO, READ CAREFULLY THE FOLLOWING.

$2750 buys a practically new, very warm, 10-room house in the western part of the city, and a large corner lot. There are hardwood floors throughout the whole house; it was papered and painted this summer, and has a complete set of storm doors and windows. The rooms are large and light, and are arranged for two families, but can be used for one family as well. You will have the benefit of the two car lines, giving at all times five-minute car service. This proposition will, in addition to giving you a very good comfortable home, make a first-class investment as property in this section is becoming very valuable. Good reasons for selling.

$3300 buys a very good, centrally located seven-room house, almost modern, and has a large lot. Just the home for some busy family wishing to live close to all depots, banks, courthouse and get away from the smoke, noise and downtown dirt. A real snap. Will sell only part of the land with house if so desired.

MAKING CHANGE ON STREET CARS

Conductors Required to Be Accommodating When Possible.

We desire to respectfully call the attention of our patrons to the necessity of providing themselves with change before boarding cars.

Conductors are required to be prepared to furnish change up to the amount of $2.

Some persons appear to have the idea that the offering of any piece of "good money" on a street car is "legal tender" and that upon making such tender they have the right to be carried whether the conductor is able to make change for it or not. This idea is erroneous, as the courts have held that the tender of a $5 bill in payment of a 5 cent fare upon a street car is unreasonable and therefore not a legal tender. It will therefore be seen that a person who gets aboard a street car with nothing less than a $5 bill is in the same position as if he had no money at all, so far as paying his fare is concerned, and that in such cases it is not as unreasonable as it may at first appear for the conductor to politely ask him to step off the car, procure change and take the next car.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS

But while conductors are not required to furnish change for any sum in excess of $2, they are instructed by the company to do so as an accommodation to passengers when possible. A conductor is required to have $10 in change when first starting out, and it can easily be seen that the changing of $5 bills from two passengers would exhaust this supply. If he accepted two such bills he would be compelled to stop the car and seek change himself while all his passengers waited.

MISTAKES IN CHANGE

When a conductor takes a piece of money from you from which you expect change, and passes on without returning change or audibly calling out the denomination of the money, you should not rely upon his having correctly read it and upon his returning your change to you later, but should call him back at once.

In order to prevent mistakes in change, misunderstandings and short change complaints, our conductors have been instructed to call out audibly the moment they receive a piece of money from a passenger, the denomination of the coin or bill, the number of fares which they understand are to be taken from it, and the change to be given in return, and to at once count out the change audibly as they hand it to the passenger. Co-operation of our patrons in insisting upon our conductors observing this rule will be greatly appreciated and will greatly assist us in preventing mistakes regarding change.

MEALS HIT BACK? DYSPEPSIA, GAS, SOUR STOMACH?---PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Try It! In Five Minutes Indigestion Goes and Stomach Feels Fine.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress gone. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach doctor in the whole world, and besides, it is harmless.

Millions of men and women now eat their favorite foods without fear—they know it is needless to have a bad stomach.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store and put your stomach right. Stop being miserable—life is too short—you're not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without fear of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home. Should one of the family eat something which doesn't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement, it is handy to give instant relief.

NARROW ESCAPE OF FRENCHMAN

Man in Small Boat Drifts Across Long Island Sound.

Greenport, L. I., Oct. 17.—Gust Costo, a Frenchman, about 45 years old, arrived in this village on foot from Orient and related to Police Chief Theodore B. Howard a thrilling tale of his narrow escape and perilous trip across Long Island sound in a 16-foot sharpie.

Costo is employed in the fish market of Jerome Mousette at Saybrook Point, Conn., and had orders from his employer to meet him at Lyme, Conn., at 4 o'clock, at which place Mousette was to arrive by train. Costo crossed the Connecticut river in a sharpie, and failing to find Mousette, started back home across the river. Due to a freshet in the river he could make little progress, and was carried out into Long Island sound by the terrific northeast gale which prevailed. Once out in the sound, the frightened man could make no progress against the wind and tide. Costo says that the seas were mountain high, and, while not a religious man, he says he prayed for hours in the darkness. Finally, exhausted, he says he lay in the bottom of the half-filled boat and wept. The sharpie struck on the beach near Orient late in the night and was dashed to pieces in the high running sea. Costo was washed ashore and slept on the beach for the remainder of the night.

Costo was given something to eat at the home of a nearby farmer, and later in the day walked to this place, where, penniless, he is being cared for by Chief Howard, who has wired his employer of his safe arrival. He will be sent by boat to New London, Conn.

Men who have followed the water most of their lives speak of the man's escape as almost miraculous. It is hard to believe that a sharpie could drift across Long Island sound on such a night without being swamped.

PIE EXPLODES AND WOMAN BADLY BURNED.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Just as Mrs. H. Vanderheude peeped into the oven of her gas stove to see how her apple pies were getting along one of them exploded. As a result Mrs. Vanderheude is now suffering from slight burns on the face and her head is as clean shaven as a convict's.

When the pie, which gave every indication of becoming a juicy and toothsome bit of pastry, exploded it set fire to the oven. Mrs. Vanderheude could not get her head away from the door in time and her hair caught fire and was burned off.

When the firemen arrived Mrs. Vanderheude had just pulled her head out of a bucket of water.

Great splotches of pie decorated the walls and ceiling of the kitchen.

WILL FARM STATE LAND

Produce to Cut Cost of Maintaining Institutions in Ohio.

Will Stop Expenditure of Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 17.—In the last year the state of Ohio paid out for butter for the use of the 10,000 inmates of the eighteen state institutions over $171,000. In the same period there was expended for eggs over $50,000 and for fruit over $20,000.

At the same time there were hundreds of acres in the farms at the state institutions not being tilled, not growing fruit, not used for pasture, not used for any income-producing purpose that would have helped furnish the greater part of the supplies for which the state was expending thousands of dollars.

The state for a quarter of a century had been loudly beseeching the farmers of the state to take advice from the scientists at the Wooster experiment farm and learn how to do intensive farming. While all this beseeching was being done the state, itself, was the most careless of all the large farmers, most conspicuous in its blundering work, because it had the acres.

Now Making Plans.

The board of administration has decided to stop the careless work of the state, and State Agriculturist Charles McIntyre is now computing the acreage suited for different crops and planning for next year the greatest farm experimental work the state has ever seen.

"You can have all the help you want, you can have the money required to make the work successful, you have direct control of 10,000 acres that can and should grow something of value, all we want you to do is to produce results," is the word that Dr. Shepherd of the board of administration gave to McIntyre when he started in on the work.

There will be a vast orchard planted at the boys' industrial farm at Lancaster, because Fairfield county, once the great orchard county of the state, still is able to grow fruit of many kinds if the soil is cared for and given a chance. The hills near Athens and Gallipolis will be used for chickens and thousands of them will be cackling all over the hills the coming summer. The state institutions need eggs and with real benefit can use 12,000 daily.

Big Yield of Corn.

The hill pasture land is to be used for the dairy cows, the better land for cultivation. Indicative of what can be done the crop at the Dayton hospital farm illustrates. Twelve months ago there was a field of 100 acres tilled and drained for use. Last spring it was planted in corn, the first time it had been cultivated since Ohio bought it.

McIntyre visited the place a few days ago when the penitentiary prisoners were cutting corn and shocking it and said the crop would be at least 100 bushels to the acre. He said he never had seen a better crop of corn in the state. The corn had grown tall and there were plenty of ears six feet from the ground. And that crop was made the first year the land was cultivated and the soil was not treated in any way!

To stop the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars for supplies that easily may be produced on the farms is the task of Farmer McIntyre. He likes the prospect. He expects to show results next year, enough to justify his going ahead on a still larger scale the following year. Within two years the state expects to have every one of its 10,000 acres in productive service, raising for use in the institutions the food products required by state wards.

HEAVY FAMILY OF FIFTEEN PRESENT

Average Weight of Members in Excess of 200 Pounds.

PALISADE, Colo., Oct. 17.—A reunion of what is probably the largest family in the United States was held here recently. Father and mother and thirteen children attended the reunion and the average weight of each was more than 200 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Charlesworth of Palisade are the parents of this "big" family, the fifteen members of which will weigh a ton and a half. Five of the children, with their parents, weigh 1,554 pounds, and their average weight is 223 pounds.

The father has so far not been surpassed in weight by any of his children, nor for that matter has Mrs. Charlesworth allowed any of the "youngsters" to overbalance her when she stepped on the scales. The father weighs just 236 pounds and Mrs. Charlesworth is a close second at 233 pounds.

The eldest boy, John, weighs 232; Opal, a daughter, tips the scales at 225, and Frances at 215. The eldest daughter, Mary, weighs but a paltry 210 pounds, and Will weighs 203. The weights of the remaining youngsters range from 140 to 180, but they are all growing into lusty men and women and promise to outweigh some of the older children before many years.

Besides the thirteen children who attended the reunion there were present thirty-nine of the forty-three grandchildren. All the grandchildren give promise of equalling the weight of their parents and grandparents.

WASHINGTON CLUB WILL HAVE DUELS

Both Revolvers and Foils Are in the House Armament.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Dueling practice with regulation 44-caliber revolvers and wax bullets will be a feature of the instruction at the Washington Fencers' club, which will open its new home in Connecticut avenue northwest in the near future. The duelists will face each other in the salle d' arms sixty feet apart. They will be protected with wire masks and body guards. The hand gripping the revolver will be guarded by a metal shield, which is adustable to any style of weapon.

M. Francois Darrieulat, maitre d' armes of the club, has sent to Paris for the dueling outfits and expects to have them ready before the opening of the season. The shells for the mock duels are loaded with sufficient powder to propel the wax projectile in a straight line for sixty feet with sufficient force to make it stick to the mask or clothing of the victim of the attack.

"The wax bullet will shoot as true as a lead bullet, yet it will not injure the participants," said M. Darrieulat. "The head will be guarded by a strong saber mask. This practice will be excellent for army officers and others who wish to learn to shoot accurately. The novelty of having another person for a target and being target at the same time ought to appeal to persons in Washington as it has appealed to revolver shots in Paris."

The salle d'arms is eighty feet long, giving plenty of space for the duels. The hall is twenty-five feet wide. At the rear is a dressing room twenty by twenty-five feet. The wall is light bronze green and the ceiling and woodwork are cream colored. Large windows at the front of the hall and several skylights afford plenty of light for the fencers and revolver shots at day practice and numerous ceiling lights will make night contests possible.

The reorganization of the club has caused considerable interest in Washington society. The first fencing club was started about seventeen years ago by Gordon Strong. Count Arthur Cassini, Russian ambassador, and a number of persons from diplomatic and society life participated in the bouts with foil and sabor.

Robert M. Thompson is president of the new club. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, is vice president. Henry Breckenridge, assistant secretary of war, is secretary-treasurer and his brother, Dr. Scott D. Breckenridge, is captain of the salle d'armes. The membership has been limited to 100.

POMPEII'S HARBOR STILL A MYSTERY

Prof. Spinazzola Ridicules Report of Traces of Ancient Port.

Rome, Oct. 17.—"No ancient port! No blocks of granite with wave worn marks! The existence of the port itself still a myth." This is the verdict of the famous Prof. Spinazzola, whom the World correspondent questioned as to the announcement made a few days ago that the question whether Pompeii was ever a port had been definitely solved by the discovery of the port itself with some of the very blocks of stone which were alleged to form part of the ancient quays.

"The whole story proceeds from the brain of the person who alleges to have made the discovery," said the professor bluntly. "I know what I am talking about, and I say unhesitatingly that we are just as much in the dark as ever on the point.

"The popular story about the flight of citizens from the burning lava as they hastened toward the sea with their valuables is rounded off with the assertion that most of them were unable to get aboard the ships and perished on the quays at the water's edge. But there is nothing in support of this story. Traces of the flight seaward are found today, but all that we can affirm from excavations up to date is that the coast line was then about a kilometer further inland than it is now.

"My predecessor, Prof. Ruggiero, has done splendid work in tracing this coast line and large tracts of the ancient ground level adjoining the seashore have been laid bare, and ruins of ancient factories and other buildings have been found. But of the existence of a harbor or quays absolutely nothing has been brought to light. The blocks of granite now quoted might equally well have been, most probably are, the foundations of buildings similar to those already laid bare. The oft-quoted references of Pliny to ships touching at Pompeii may have reference to the river Sarno, which was the natural channel of communication seaward. The existence of a port has not been actually disproved, but it is still a matter of pure hypothesis.

"My great aim is to go ahead quietly and make sure of what we are really finding before building up stories on supposition. Within the next few years the world will have an oportupnity of judging what we are doing to excavate the city itself.

"The whole main street leading seaward will be reconstructed exactly as it was on the fatal day in 79 A. D., when the city perished under the molten lava from Vesuvius. All the shops will have their fittings and implements; houses, balconies, fountains will be restored to look just as they did 2,000 years ago. When this vast program is completed we shall continue work diligently to settle the question of the port, but not before."

SHOT AUROCH IN RUSSIAN POLAND

Letter From Walter Winans Confirms the Recent Report.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 17.—Scientists of Europe are much interested in the announcement that an immense auroch, the largest surviving animal of the stone age period, was recently shot and killed in Russian Poland by Walter Winans, the champion marksman and member of the noted Baltimore family. The report was at first regarded as a canard, but a letter from Mr. Winans to friends in this city confirms the account.

Mr. Winans was shooting in the enormous primeval forest of Pilowin, on the estate of Count Potokl, whose guest he was. A great horned animal burst through the dense underbrush and attacked the nearest mounted man.

The rider was unable to avoid the charging beast, and it struck the horse, tossing the rider into the air. The horse was killed instantly and the man was badly hurt.

The cries of the injured man brought Mr. Winans and the count to the spot, and as the big beast, its horns covered with the blood of the gored horse, looked around at its new foes Mr. Winans put a bullet directly behind its shoulder, and the animal crashed down. The shot went through the animal's heart and killed it almost instantly.

WEDS SWEETHEART AFTER FIFTY YEARS

Boyhood Romance Was Shattered By the Girl's Parents.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—Unforgetful of his boyhood sweetheart though more than fifty years have passed, R. S. Hall, 70 years old, a prosperous farmer of Breckenridge, Mo., was married in Kansas City, Kan., a few nights ago to Mrs. Louella Carr of Hartsville, Ind., the girl whose love he won, but whom he was unable to wed because of parental objection. That was when he was 18 and she was "sweet 16." The boyhood romance was shattered by the girl's parents, who were prosperous and would not consider the marriage of their daughter to a poor farmer boy.

Both were reared in Hartsville, Ind., and went to the same district school. They began to "go together" when she wore "pigtails" and was in the third reader.

They secretly became engaged, but no significance was attached to their friendship until he reached the age of 18 and asked to be allowed to marry her. Then her parents remembered that his parents were poor, while they themselves were members of the local aristocracy. The engagement was broken.

Hall served four years in the Union army and then came West, determined to make his fortune. He has since grown comparatively wealthy. He settled near Breckenridge, Mo. A few years later he read in a home paper of the engagement of his former sweetheart to one of the wealthy men of his home town. Later he himself married, but he never forgot the "girl at home."

When his wife died years ago he received a letter of sympathy from Mrs. Carr. Her husband had died several years before. They began to correspond, and yesterday they met by appointment at the home of Mrs. W. D. Mowry, Mrs. Carr's sister, No. 925 Minnesota avenue, Kansas City, Kan.

Accompanied by Mr. Hall's granddaughter, Mabel, 17 years old, and Mrs. Carr's youngest daughter, Louella, 18 years old, they visited the office of Probate Judge Sims of Wyandotte county, and secured a marriage license. The ceremony was performed at the Mowry home by the Rev. C. C. Sinclair.

"That we should be brought together after all these years convinces me that there is a watchful Providence," Mr. Hall said.

Wants $50,000 for Leg.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 17.—The sum of $50,000 damages, for the loss of a leg, is sought in a suit filed in United States court by George Gasparis of Newark against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad company. Gasparis, who was employed by the Baltimore & Ohio as a section hand, was hit by a train July 24, 1913.

BUTTER PRICE IS UNCHANGED

New Tariff Does Not Influence Produce Costs at Duluth.

Sharp Advance Expected in Eggs—Apples Are Feature in Fruits.

The market in edibles at Duluth has not as yet been influenced in any direction through the going into effect of the new tariff. "Some dealers in the East had been apprehensive of a weakening in butter prices as a result of the reduction in duty, but it has since been shown that the scare was groundless," said B. M. Ruse, sales manager of the Bridgeman-Russell company today. "Prices in most Canadian cities are higher than in Duluth, as for instance, we have just received a letter from Quebec, in which is said that a poor quality of butter is selling there at 38 cents a pound, while eggs are going at 45 cents a dozen."

Butter is still 31 and 32 cents a pound here for the best creamery, with imitation creamery at 25 and 26 cents and dairy at 24 and 25 cents. The production of butter in this district is said to be well maintained for the season, but with a liberal demand coming to hand from New York and other Eastern points, surplus stocks at Duluth are being kept well cleaned up. No marked change in prices is anticipated in the near future.

A large shortage in receipts to meet the current demands is noted in eggs, and while they are still offering at 26 and 27 cents a dozen, it is predicted that their figure will be up to 30 cents by next Monday.

Apples Feature in Fruits.

Supplies of fall and winter lines of fruits and vegetables are now liberal here, and quotations are regarded as reasonable on the average. Apples are the feature in fruits, with New York state barrels, Washington, Wisconsin and Minnesota fruit offering in profusion. The market in Eastern apples is strong, but prices in supplies from this state and Wisconsin are being shaded on account of heavy receipts. Western box apples in Jonathans, Kings and wine saps are moving freely on their average low quotations.

Stocks of New York pears in barrels are being rapidly cleaned up and they will soon be off the lists.

In grapes New York state Concords are now in and are selling at 31 and 32 cents a basket. Red Californian grapes are being received and Malagas in kegs are just coming in. While grapefruit is being called for to some extent, Honduras oranges are said to be largely taking its place for breakfast use. Quinces and sweet apples are in demand for preserving. The call for cranberries is picking up. The market in them is strong on comparatively light supplies in the East.

Shipping Potatoes South.

Prices in potatoes are steady and it is thought they will continue so as a good demand from Southern points is already being received here. It is now estimated that the yield of Minnesota potatoes will be fairly large though the production per acre fell short of last year's average. The market in cabbage is firm, with no tendency to strengthen noted at present. Hothouse cucumbers and lettuce are now coming in.

Pork Sells Cheaper.

Figures in meats are unchanged from last week except that a slight shading is to be noted in pork, on account of receipts of hogs at packing points having largely increased of late. Beef is also easier. The market in lamb and mutton is firm.

In poultry, hens and chickens have declined about a cent a pound, following increased receipts from district points. A few ducks are now beginning to arrive, but turkeys and geese are not as yet being marketed.

REMARRIED TO FORMER WIFE

This Enoch Arden Story Has an Unusual Ending.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 17.—An Enoch Arden story, which did not end Enoch Ardenwise, culminated here in the remarriage of Martin McCandliss, 45 years old, to his former wife.

Twenty-five years ago, during the early days of the natural gas boom, McCandliss, a well known glassworker, married and had two small children. Twenty years ago he left his home, ostensibly to work, but in the evening did not return. His wife waited for him many days. The days gradually lengthened into years, when one day she received assurances that her husband had been killed in a railroad accident in Pennsylvania.

After a suitable period of mourning, she was married to Charles Brickley. Three months ago, as suddenly as he had disappeared McCandliss reappeared at the home of his wife's mother on Helford street. He was met at the door by his own son and daughter, now grown to maturity, but neither recognized him as their father. The grandmother, however, knew him.

The domestic life of Mr. and Mrs. Brickley did not run smoothly, it seems, and shortly after the return of her first husband Mrs. Brickley filed suit for divorce. The divorce was granted, and McCandliss and Mrs. Brickley sought the office of Justice of the Peace Post and replighted the troth given many years ago. They will live here.

WOULD LOSE FAT? THEN EAT LIME

German Professors Profit By American Army Surgeon's Hint.

Berlin, Oct. 17.—Lime eating is Germany's latest anti-fat "fad." The idea has been put in circulation by Dr. Loewe and Prof. Emmerich of Munich, who assert that they have fed on lime daily for the last five years, to the extent of a grain and a half a day, and have eliminated from their bodies all fatty tissues, besides improving their general health.

Loewe and Emmerich say their attention was first directed to a lime diet by an American army surgeon's statement to the effect that the strongest men in the brigade came from the limestone and blue grass regions of Kentucky and Virginia, where the drinking water is so "hard" that it cannot be used in its natural state for washing clothes.

The two Munich scientists made their first experiments with plants, which show well-nigh marvelous growth on a lime diet. It was tried next on young pigs, which grew wonderfully. Cows fed on lime gave unusual quantities of milk.

For fat human beings a sort of calcium bread is recommended, made by dissolving chrystallized chlorcalcium in ten times its volume of water and adding one-eighth of a litre of the solution to two pounds of flour. This makes a calcium dough, to be baked as is any ordinary dough.

PITTSBURG IN THIRD PLACE

Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign Brings in More Than 10,000.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 17.—The Pittsburg Y. M. C. A. stands third in membership in the United States as a result of the six-day campaign for new members. The goal set was a total of 10,000, and it was announced that the mark had been exceeded. The local Y. M. C. A. had previously stood fifth. Philadelphia and Brooklyn have now been jumped.

Three silver cups were presented, one to each of the teams leading in percentage of increase in the two groups into which the branches were divided and one to the team making the greatest numerical increase. The latter went to the Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania railroad department, made up of the Pitcairn and Twenty-eighth street branches combined, which added 775 new members.

The cup for percentage in Group A, made up of the Laurenceville, Central, North Boroughs, Hill Top and East Liberty branches, was awarded to Laurenceville, which gained 378 new members, an increase of 62.4 per cent. The figures for the other branches of this group are: North Boroughs, 96 new members, 38.5 per cent; Hill Top, 270 members, 33.75 per cent; Central, 463 new members, 33.1 per cent; East Liberty, 152 new members, 14.7 per cent.

The colored men's branch won the cup in Group B by adding 83 new members. The other scores of this group follow: Boys' branch, 160 new members 72.5 per cent; Monongahela division, railroad department, fourth place on account of special fee charged; Forty-third street division, railroad department, 127 new names, 28.2 per cent; Northside, railroad department, 100 additions, 11 per cent.

LOVE EACH OTHER.

But Ohio Couple Conclude That Their Marriage Is Void.

Marion, Ohio, Oct. 17.—Though legally married and loving each other, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Parker broke up their home when the husband, after being converted, became convinced their marriage was void in the eyes of God because Mrs. Parker had been divorced from her first husband. Today they filed a separation agreement, to which was appended the following:

"I, the undersigned, hereby make this statement that I have no ill part to say of my companion. She has been a faithful, virtuous companion, but owing to her being a divorced woman at the time of our marriage we have found it to be null and void in the sight of God, according to Matthew xix., 9; Romans, vii, 2-3, and also I. Corinthians vii., 39, and kindred Scriptures. E. D. PARKER."

Vanta "V-Band"
A little sleeveless shirt for summer or warm rooms, that cannot slip off the shoulders. Not a seam in these shirts and not a pin or button required. Can be slipped off over the feet without removing any other garment. 25c to 75c

Vanta Gertrude
This Knit Gertrude, like other Vanta garments, requires no buttons, but fastens with two bows of Twistless Tape. The shoulder bands cannot slip. Can be put on or taken off without turning baby over. $1.50

Pins and buttons on a baby's garments are criminal! For they are positively, absolutely unnecessary. The wounds and accidents they cause are needless. Learn today how you can get along without them. At the baby's goods departments of any of the stores named, any mother, any nurse, any big sister—any woman interested—may have without cost or obligation, a practical demonstration of the Vanta idea—a way of dressing baby without the use of a pin or button.

The invention of Vanta Twistless Tape made possible this new system of baby dressing. For this is a tape that can be washed, and soaked right with the garment without curling, kinking or twisting in the slightest degree. So every fastening can now be a quickly tied, quickly untied, bow of Twistless Tape—that is more convenient for mother or nurse, and so much safer for baby that it is a shame to impose pins or buttons upon any child.

FRUIT LAXATIVE IF CONSTIPATED, TAKE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Best Liver and Bowel Regulator for Mamma, Daddy and Children.

If you're headachy, constipated, bilious or stomach is disordered and you want to enjoy the nicest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced, take a tablespoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" to-night and in the morning all the constipation poison, bile and clogged-up waste will gently move out of the system without griping and you will feel splendid.

Every member of the family should use this fruit laxative as occasion demands. It is just as effective for grandpa as it is for baby. It simply can not injure. Even cross, sick, feverish children just love its pleasant taste and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to effect a good "inside cleansing."

For thirty years "California Syrup of Figs" has been recommended by physicians as the ideal stomach, liver and bowel cleanser. Millions of families who are well informed use nothing else, but recently there has come a flood of spurious fig syrups, so we warn the public to ask plainly at drug stores for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," and see that it is prepared by "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Hand back any "counterfeit" with contempt.

FOR CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Syracuse Thinking of Planning Improvements for Future.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 17.—The making of a comprehensive city plan for Syracuse, to be used as a guide in the development of the municipality along rational lines, is proposed in connection with the recent visit here of E. H. Bennett of Chicago.

Mr. Bennett is one of the noted city planning experts in America. He drew the general plan for the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds. Either as an associate of the late D. H. Burnham of Chicago, or alone, he prepared city plans for San Francisco, Chicago, Portland, Or., Minneapolis, Brooklyn and Detroit. Several smaller cities were built with his ideas.

It is proposed to form a volunteer committee of Syracuse citizens for the purpose of providing Syracuse with a city plan. Albert L. Brockway, who is promoting the project, has called on the purpose of obtaining support.

The idea of a citizens' committee to finance such an undertaking has proved successful in other cities and Mr. Brockway says the proposition is favorably received here. He said he expected a committee of twenty-five would be formed and necessary financial support given.

A city plan for Syracuse, which would consider the needs of the city for years to come in regard to streets, parks, transportation lines and other conditions, has been advocated for some time, particularly by the city-planning committee of the chamber of commerce.

The making of such a plan was contemplated in connection with the bill prepared last winter which, if enacted, would have given Syracuse a municipal-planning commission. The Kessler plan, made a few years ago, was for a system of parks and boulevards, while that now proposed would be general in its scope.

Philadelphia is trying to obtain a huge new drydock to be built by the navy department.

DEATHBED STATEMENT

Introduced as Evidence Against Joseph Strafaccia in Murder Case.

Rossi, Before His Death, Swore Fatal Assault Was Unprovoked.

The state in its case against Joseph Strafaccia, on trial before Judge Bert Fesler on a charge of murder in the first degree, introduced as evidence a sworn statement from Francisco Rossi, made at St. Mary's hospital, in which Rossi, knowing that he was about to die, declared Strafaccia shot him without provocation.

Rossi's statement, which was made on March 3 before Assistant County Attorney Mason B. Forbes and other witnesses, gives a full description of the murder. Rossi states that following a card game Strafaccia roundly abused Paul Dine, claiming that he had cheated during the game. Rossi says at this point he interfered, telling Strafaccia that it was wrong to abuse Dine in this manner as it only meant paying for a bottle of beer. Then Strafaccia got angry at Rossi, the latter says, and went and got a revolver and shot him three times. After shooting Rossi down, Strafaccia kicked him and struck him on the head seven or eight times with his revolver, then throwing him out doors into the snow.

Rossi says that he was unarmed at the time and that the quarrel and shooting were without provocation.

The state rested its case just before noon. Detectives Toewe and Bradley, who were sent to the scene of shooting, were on the stand. They said that when they arrived at the house, Rossi was lying in a pool of blood, and that they picked him up and sent him to the hospital.

Patrolman Andrew Wanvick, who brought Strafaccia back from Canada to Duluth, related incidents of his trip and explained how he found the fugitive. He said that he searched working crews for three days before he finally located his man.

Attorney Walter F. Dacey outlined the case of the defense to the jury after the state rested. Dacey said that he would attempt to prove that the shooting was done in self-defense and that Rossi had a knife in his hand at the time, and was making an attempt to kill Strafaccia.

It is possible that the defense will put Strafaccia on the stand this afternoon and rest its case.

WILL FEED THE UNDERFED

Lunches Will Be Sold at Cost in Duluth School Building.

Served Only to Children in Need of Proper Nourishment.

Serving lunches at cost prices to underfed pupils in the public schools will be tried out in Duluth at one of the public schools beginning next Monday. As the plan is simply to be tried out on a small scale at first, the school authorities do not wish to give the name and location of the school. If the experiment is successful, it is probable that it will be taken up at various schools in the city.

promoters today, "is to be a little diff-promoters today," is to be a little different in Duluth from what it has been in any other city. The lunches will not be sold to all pupils, but only to those whose financial and physical condition requires better food at reasonable prices. An examination of the pupils will be made and the school authorities will find out if their lack of nourishment is due to the financial straits of their parents or to poor cooking.

"The lunches contain the foods necessary for properly nourishing the body and promoting growth and health. Meat, potatoes, bread, butter and milk will be the chief foods served. The lunches will cost from 5 to 10 cents. A cooking and baking cutfit has been installed, and home cooking will add to the delights of good, clean and nourishing food."

New York Woman Will Meet English Player at Golf.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 17.—Miss Marion Hollins of New York, metropolitan champion, and Miss Gladys Ravenscroft of England, former British title holder, won their matches today in the semi-final round for the women's national golf championship at the Wilmington Country club and will meet tomorrow in the finals for the American title.

BALL PLAYERS BEGIN TOUR OF THE WORLD.

New York, Oct. 17.—A number of National league baseball players, including members of the New York Giants, left here today under the direction of John J. McGraw, for Chicago, where on Sunday, in connection with the White Sox squad they will officially start their round-the-world baseball journey. The Eastern party will meet the White Sox in Cincinnati tomorrow for the first exhibition game of the American schedule.

In McGraw's squad were a number of Giants who took part in the recent world's series, including Larry Doyle, Charles Tesreau, Christy Mathewson, Al Demarree, Chief Meyers, Arthur Fromme, George Wiltse and Fred Snodgrass. Several of the players were accompanied by their wives. Newspaper baseball writers, photographers and two trainers completed the party.

COPY METHODS OF DULUTH OARSMEN.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—A distinct innovation in the training of a Yale varsity crew has been introduced this fall in preparation for the Princeton race on Oct. 25.

For the past two weeks the men who make up the varsity eight have been going down to the harbor at 6:30 in the morning, rowing about four miles. They eat oranges and crackers on the way down and get back to the campus in time for breakfast. They will continue this morning rowing up to the time of the race. The coaches say it is putting them in fine physical condition.

C. & N. W. APPROVES IOWA SOUTHERN.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—At the annual meeting here of the stockholders of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company resolutions were adopted approving the organization of the Iowa Southern Railway company for the purpose of constructing a short extension to reach certain coal lands in Iowa. Retiring directors were re-elected, as were officials of the road.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

BIG RALPH ROSE answered the final summons yesterday. One of the greatest weight men in all the world has passed across the great horizon, for Rose was surely one of the most remarkable of shot putters since the halcyon and early days of George Gray, the old New York Athletic club star.

Ralph Rose crossed half of the continent to attend the University of Michigan. Perhaps it was the vivid personality and eloquence of Fielding Yost that induced the giant to enter the Ann Arbor institution. In the old days Yost used to drag them from their lairs.

It was the intention of the great Michigan coach to make a football player out of the California prodigy; but somehow Rose, giant that he was, failed to make good on the gridiron. It was on the track that the natural bent of the boy asserted itself, for in those days Rose was but a big, overgrown and extremely good natured kid.

Perhaps some of you recall the stories that filled every newspaper from Maine, the grim and bleak basis of our history, to the sunny coast climes of Lower California, dealing with the intention of Rose to enter the ring and fight Jim Jeffries.

Thinking back on the thing, it might be said after the retrospect of the years, that Ralph Rose, the collegian, was the original hope.

Papers dilated on the Rose rumor by the column. They printed sections on the giant. Sure it was that he possessed one of the most wonderful physiques of all time; and yet it is extremely doubtful if the big boy would have ever made a successful fighter, for he was not constructed along the general lines that a pugilist is hewed to.

And about this fighting thing—several of the students of Ann Arbor started to kid with Rose. There were several of them, say three or four, and they started after the giant. When the smoke of battle cleared away the students had disbanded, the maimed and wounded being dragged from the scene of the carnage by the ones who suffered only minor injuries. Rose could go some, and one of the morals of this tale is never to monkey with dynamite.

Ralph Rose was a member of three or four of the winning American Olympic teams. In the parades of the American athletes at the international games the great thatched head and wonderful physique of the athlete who died yesterday brought cries of admiration and wonderment from the spectators.

Keene Fitzpatrick, now the coach of the Princeton track team, but formerly the athletic sponsor for the track and field glory of Michigan, is the man mainly responsible for the rapid development of young Rose. Keene Fitzpatrick taught the raw and somewhat clumsy youth the cardinal principles of getting his gigantic bulk behind the heave of the iron ball, and Rose beat every man in the world he competed against, sometime or other. The passing of Ralph Rose removes one of the great old standard bearers of the American team, for he stood shoulder to shoulder with Martin Sheridan, Mel Sheppard, John Flanigan and others of the great teams and valiantly upheld the honor of this nation in the great trials of athletic skill and strength.

The Best Alibi of All.

DURING these days we are being compelled against our inclinations to listen to the alibis of the members of the New York team. One of the very best alibis that we can think of, is that if the series had not been played the Giants would not have lost. Tell this to Carry—he's saving 'em.

Someone should send Papke transportation; he's been trying to come back since the day Ketchel trimmed him.

Maybe Mac Is Right, Yes?

WE have always been under the impression that the reason the players on the New York team didn't think was because McGraw has threatened to fine anyone caught thinking. After some of the exhibitions of the recent series we are beginning to come to the conclusion that the little Napoleon has all along had the right hunch. The Giants can play fairly good baseball in their own league when they don't try to think. Have you ever seen a burr mixed up in the Angora cat's tail. A deuced muddle, Arthah. Imagine Merkle trying to think, and in a hurry, too. Ain't it awful?

One Strong Contrast.

IMAGINE the difference, the vast hiatus of contrast, the radical dissimilarity, the huge antithesis and the mighty gulf of variance in the homecoming of Leslie Bush and Fred Merkle.

Each Painful Year.

NOW the forces of the National league are lining up to oust Thomas Lynch out of the chair of the presidency. Every year but the one Lynch was elected some of the heated magnates of the parent organization have tried to throw him on his Adam's apple. Ban Johnson smiles and continues to draw down that $25,000 per annum. "Thanks, fellow comrades," cried Ban, showing two gold teeth, "it's awful nice of you." But poor Lynch, lugubrious that he must be, how different it is with he—with he. Ah yes, each brief season's end sees the storm signals hoisted and the hatches bolted down. Does Tom Lynch mind it? Maybe he doesn't take it seriously. Why does Ban Johnson draw so large a salary, and why, perforce, is he elected for so long? Answer: He made the league, appoints the managers and makes the rules. One more question. Shoot, if you must. Why then, does he not vote himself more? Because he's a simple soul.

Claimed He Was Fouled.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 17.—A scheduled fifteen round contest between Grant Clark of Columbus, Ohio, and Gus Christie of Milwaukee came to a sudden end in the second round last night, when Clark dropped to the floor, claiming that he had been fouled. Referee Joe Choynski said that he had seen no foul blow, and ordered the bout to proceed. This Clark refused to do, and the referee awarded the fight to Christie.

LARGE GALLERY FOLLOWS PLAYERS

Women Playing Interesting Golf for National Championship.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 17.—One of the largest galleries of the week followed the semi-finalists today in the competition for the women's national golf championship over the course of the Wilmington Country club. Patriotism drew many to follow the match between Miss Marion Hollins of New York, the 1913 metropolitan champion, and Miss Harriet Curtis of Boston, former national title holder, the only Americans left in the struggle for the national prize. Others who have had no opportunity to see two of the foremost women golfers of Great Britain play watched the contest between Miss Muriel Dodd and Miss Gladys Ravenscroft. The former this year won both the British and Canadian championships while the latter is a former English title-holder.

Among the experts many picked Miss Curtis to win over Miss Hollins because of longer experience in championship battles while those who favored the New York player pointed to her victory in the Metropolitan championship and to her consistently high-class game in the present competition. Most of the experts picked Miss Dodd to win from Miss Ravenscroft.

Yesterday Miss Dodd defeated Mrs. Clarence H. Vanderbeck in the third round five up and three to play after the Philadelphian had held her own for the first nine holes. Miss Ravenscroft was successful in her match with Miss Fanny C. Osgood of Boston, 3 up and 2 to play. Miss Hollins won from Miss E. H. Fitler of Philadelphia, 2 up in the most exciting match of the day. Miss Curtis won the first two holes in her match with the Irish champion, Miss Mabel Harrison, and retained the lead throughout the match, winning 4 up and 3 to play.

TIED FOR MINOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Milwaukee and Denver Teams Have Two Games Apiece.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 17.—Milwaukee evened the score in the series for the minor league baseball championship here yesterday by defeating Denver, 5 to 3. The Western league and American association pennant winners now have two games each to their credit. The next game is scheduled for Saturday. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Denver 10000200	0—3	9	1
Milwaukee 00000122	x—5	8	1

Batteries—Gilbert and Block; Slapnicka and Hughes.

CHAMPION IS SECOND.

Western Golf Championship Is Being Brilliantly Played For.

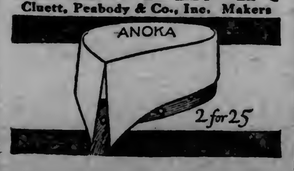

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 17.—Three Eastern men—J. J. McDermott, Atlantic City; McDonald Smith, New Rochelle, and M. J. Brady, Boston, and from the West J. B. Simpson, Milwaukee, were in the lead when play was resumed this morning in the third round of the tournament for the Western golf championship.

Mr. McDermott, whose 146 for yesterday's thirty-six holes was the low score for the day, had a two-stroke advantage over Smith, present title holder; Brady was next with 149 and Simpson fourth—150. Six other players, including one Southerner, Stewart Malden, Atlanta, started the day within ten strokes of McDermott.

If either of the first three turns in as good cards as they did yesterday a new 72-hole record for the Memphis Country club course will be established today. The present low mark is 300. None, however, equalled the 36-hole record yesterday, McDermott's 146 falling short of it by four strokes.

VIRGINIA STAR TO GO AGAINST ADAMS

FRED GREISCH.

YALE TEAM PLAYS IN HARD LUCK.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 17.—During football practice at Yale field yesterday afternoon, Marling, center on the varsity, and Thompson, a halfback, received injuries which probably will keep them out of the game with Lehigh Saturday. Caldwell, center on last year's freshmen eleven, probably will play center Saturday. These injuries bring the hospital squad up to thirteen.

The varsity scored four touchdowns on the freshmen.

CHAMPION PLAYS MORE GREAT GOLF

Frances Ouimet Performs Well Under Poor Conditions.

Brookline, Mass., Oct. 17.—Francis Ouimet, the open golf champion, with a 79, led a high class field in the annual open tournament on the links of the Country club, Brookline, yesterday. His score was two shots better than that of his nearest competitor, F. H. Hoyt, his Woodland partner. Ouimet defeated H. W. Stuckeles, Braeburn, 79-90.

The champion was the only player to break 80 and, considering the condition of the turf and the driving rain, his performance was not less thrilling than was his play for the open championship over the same course several weeks ago.

TWO STAKES CONTESTED

Close Races at Grand Circuit Meet at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 17.—Two stakes were contested for yesterday in the Grand Circuit meeting, the Cumberland, for 2:05 pacers, and the Blue Grass for 2:10 pacers.

Flower Direct won the former after losing the first heat to Walter Cohato. In the third heat Longworth B. broke and collided with Walter Cochato. The gelding was distanced, but was allowed to start in the next heat because of the accident.

Frank Bogash, Jr., won the Blue Grass stake in straight heats, from Del Rey and Herman Wanger, the latter being distanced in the final heat.

The 2:15 trot resulted in a straight heat victory for Bright Axworthy, closely pushed by Morino in the first and second heats and by Berka in the third.

The 2:20 trot, also a straight heat race, was won by Jim Todd, Fast Tramp taking second money.

CROSS COUNTRY RUN.

First Dual Contest Between Western Universities Nov. 8.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The first dual cross country run ever held here between Western universities is scheduled to take place Nov. 8 between Northwestern university and the University of Chicago. The men will run over a three and a half mile course.

Northwestern reported yesterday that twelve candidates were ready, including Traxler, captain of the cross-country team, and Reed, who will be taken off the football squad to practice for the run.

GOPHER TEAM LEAVES FOR NEBRASKA GAME.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17. — The Minnesota football team left last night for Lincoln, where they will meet Nebraska Saturday afternoon. More than 5,000 students, alumni and friends of the team were at the station to give the players a parting farewell.

Contrary to all precedents, so far as the Minnesota coach is concerned, Dr. Williams made a speech of more than ten words, shortly before the departure, in which he prophesied a victory for his team.

Drilled in Defense.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 17.—The naval academy football regulars were drilled in defensive tactics yesterday afternoon, the scrubs being instructed to use forward pass plays. The teams met this style of play in good shape. Vaill was at quarter, and appears to have shaken off competition for this position.

VIRGINIA HIGH SCHOOL AFTER CENTRAL'S SCALP

Range Team Is Coming Here With Confidence of Winning.

Coach Schilling Looks for Hardest Football Game of Year.

Central is prepared for the hardest football game of the present season when it lines up against the Virginia high school team tomorrow afternoon at Athletic park.

The rangers are coming strong; coming loaded with the confidence that comes from repeated victories. Not during the season has the team that will line up against Central tomorrow afternoon been defeated, and the victory over the Superior Central high school has caused Coach Schilling and the members of the Duluth team a wholesome respect for the rangers and a vague speculation as to the outcome of the game.

Rangers Are Formidable.

It is not surprising that the Virginia high school should have the best team in the history of the school. Bill Rademacher is the coach, and Bill went through the school that is calculated to teach a man most of the fine points of the game. In the matter of instruction the range team should be right there, working all manner of shifts and possessing the high quality of polished team play.

To put the matter frankly, Grand Forks might have defeated Central had the Flickertails possessed the rudiments of team play. It is team play that counts always, for three men can put one out of the play as a rule, no matter if the one stands immeasurably above any one of the three players opposing him. Team play always has won, and the chances are that it will always continue to win.

If Virginia is as good as the fans here have been led to believe, and the rangers possess the team play that one would expect a player of the unquestioned ability of Rademacher to impart to his players, then the game will be about the best of the season and one that should be close all the way through.

Another little thought—if Virginia is the team that its record clearly indicates, then the followers of Central will get a clear line on the ability of the eleven, and will also be able to compare somewhat definitely the relative strength of Duluth and Superior, the team that will be played for the Head of the Lakes interscholastic championship on the first day of November.

Following is the lineup of the two teams:

Virginia—		Duluth—
Byrnes, 146	le.	Laurenz
Rooney, 160	lt.	Denfeld
Klink, 161	lg.	Warner
McCabe, 151	c.	Flinn
Osterberg, 150	rg.	Hoppes
Kraker, 155	rt.	Dunn
Gustafson, 148	re.	Du Moe
Stein, 140	qb.	Stevens
Enright, 153	lhb.	O'Brien
Denyes, 152	fb.	Brown
Sullivan, 158	rhb.	Kerr

Virginia subs—Hawkinson, 166, and Olson, 142.

Duluth subs—Culkin and Walsh in back field; Smithies, Everett, Mann and Whiteside, forwards.

MACK COOK WILL PLAY AGAINST VIRGINIA TEAM

Manager John Geistman of the Adams football team announced today that Mack Cook would be in the lineup of the West end all-star combination when it meets the Virginia team at Athletic park, Sunday afternoon.

Arrayed against the crack West end independent aggregation will be Hank Boyle, the former member of the Duluth high school team and also a member for two years of the University of Michigan eleven, and Rosenwald, one of the best of the players of the University of Minnesota.

Fred Greisch, a member of the Virginia Northern league team and one of the crack all around athletes of the range, is also in the lineup of the team that has been groomed for the game of Sunday by Rademacher, the former Minnesota star.

If Cook appears in the lineup the Adams will present the strongest lineup of the season and will have one of the strongest independent teams assembled in the Northwest. Mack is one of the best ground gainers that has ever seen turned out by Central, and his football education has been enhanced by training at Dartmouth and Wisconsin.

Wagering on Virginia.

That the supporters of the city team of Virginia are extremely confident of the outcome is shown by the fact that a large amount of money has been shipped to Duluth to bet on the chances of the rangers. In various places around the city there has been money wagered that the Virginia team wins the game. If the range team is good enough to inspire this amount of confidence, it is figured here among the impartial followers of the game that the rangers are bringing some aggregation to Duluth.

Outside of the Kents the Adams have not been made to really extend themselves during the present season. If the Kents had been favored with a dry field it is figured even by the followers of the West end bunch that the score might have been closer. Against a powerful and well trained team it is a question just how the Adams will perform, and this question is just what is causing the large amount of speculation over the coming contest.

Adams Working Hard.

Certain it is that the Adams men have left no stone unturned in the path toward success. During the present week the team has been out through the hardest practice workout of the season. Coach Colton has been with the boys every evening of the week, and the result of this hard work is expected to materialize in the smoothest and most effective team play of the season, in addition to the springing of a number of formation plays that have been held in reserve during all of the season.

So far the Adams men have been content to rely on straight football. It is expected that formation plays will be worked next Sunday, and in fact it is rather safe to say, that Virginia will come fortified with some old Minnesota shifts and resourceful in some trick plays.

ULRICH SIGNS UP FIGHT CARD

Arena Club Will Stage Three 10-Round Bouts.

Curley Ulrich of the Arena Boxing club of Superior, today announced the card for his boxing show of the evening of Oct. 28.

Ulrich has just returned from Milwaukee, where he witnessed the Wolgast-Nelson go, and from the Cream City went on to Chicago, where he secured the signatures of several boxers for his show at the Panorama arena.

Buddy Logan, a Chicago welterweight whom Curley declares held Kelly to a draw, will furnish the windup with Charley Larson of Milwaukee. Larson, according to the statement of the Superior impresario, is a real slugger of the Wolgast type, who has created a sensation among the boxing fans of Milwaukee.

"This will be one of the best bouts that has been put on here, because it will be a fight from start to finish" declared Ulrich.

Anton the Greek, a Chicagoan of slugging proclivities, will go on in the semi-windup against Mike Graham of Chicago. These boys will meet at 145 pounds ringside, while in the main event of the evening the weight will be 142 pounds at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Young Sharkey of Milwaukee has been signed for one of the preliminary boys, and Ulrich will leave for the Twin Cities this evening to secure some boy to oppose the Milwaukee product in the curtain raiser.

All of the bouts will be of ten-round duration, unless one of the principals gets sloughed before the gong rings for the final round.

Ulrich believes that he has lined up a bunch of mittmen who will give three real bouts, and he believes that a capacity crowd will fill the clubhouse.

BRYANT GOING AFTER RECORD

Duluth Skater to Assault the World's Roller Skating One Mile Mark.

This evening at the big Auditorium rink Frank Bryant, the Duluth boy who is pegged by some followers of roller skating as the coming champion of the world, will make an attempt to lower the world's record for one mile on an 18-lap track.

The present record for the Auditorium track is 3:07 and is held by Bryant. Hamilton holds the world's mark for an 18-lap track, which was made on the old Hippodrome track in Milwaukee, several years ago.

In making the assault on the record held by the great Hamilton, Bryant will go against time for the first time this season. The really wonderful little Duluth skater is in good condition at the present time. It is believed that he will be in even better shape later on, but Manager Lockerman of the rink and Trainer Delaney, who have been looking after the boy for the past month, believe that at least Frankie will get the record of the local track.

Amateurs to Race.

In addition to the speed test of Bryant there will be a heat race for some of the fastest amateurs of the city. The contest will be decided in three half-mile heats and a final of one mile. Two men will qualify in each heat and this will send six starters into the one-mile final.

Among the competitors in this contest will be, first heat, Buck Smith, Clem Holland, F. Mahr, Fred Abelson and M. Spindler; second heat, Tom Mahr, B. Thompson, Al Hollands, John Martinnes and J. Popkins; third, heat, F. Haggerty, Archie Dennis, A. Berkson and Ed. Nyberg.

"Bryant is one of the fastest skaters in the world," said Manager Lockerman of the rink today. "I have seen them all during my years in Milwaukee, and I actually believe that Duluth has the coming world's champion skater. Bryant is just a kid at the present time. He lacks the experience of some of the other great skaters, but he has been coming all the time and this season he will be fully 25 per cent faster than ever before."

There will be a confetti and serpentine dance at the Auditorium tomorrow evening, in honor of Central and the Virginia football teams. In addition to the dancing there will also be skating.

FREDDY WELSH HANDS BOUQUET TO KOSSICK

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 17.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of England, is in Fargo today. Commenting on his fight Tuesday night at Billings with Leo Kossick, Welsh said: "I have had eight contests in this country since May, and the twelve-round go with Kossick this week was the hardest mill I have had. The boy is a comer if properly handled and trained."

Kossick was born in Moorhead, Minn., and has been fighting about three years.

NORTHWESTERN'S LINE STRONG.

Backfield Giving the Coaches Most Worry Just Now.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Max Gruhn, fullback of the Northwestern university football squad, was out of the scrimmage yesterday as the result of injured leg and is not expected to play Saturday against the University of Illinois. Whitting, left halfback in Schneeberger's place, wrenched his shoulder in the practice and probably will not play. As a result the backfield is giving the coaches the most apprehension at present.

The Northwestern line is the strongest it has been this year. Freshmen and second teams could make no impression against the varsity defense.

Pennsy's Poor Form.

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—A complete reversal of form was shown by the University of Pennsylvania's varsity football eleven in the final scrimmage before the Brown game yesterday. The freshmen were pitted against the regulars and outplayed them, scoring two touchdowns in a 35-minute workout. The showing of the varsity was the poorest this season.

Portland Gets Pennant.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 17.—By winning the first game of yesterday's double header here, the Portland team of the Pacific coast baseball league clinched the 1913 pennant. The season closes at the end of this month.

The Return of Blood Eruptions

No Reason Why Anyone Should Suffer Such Disheartening Experience.

No case of poisoned blood is ever cured until the last destructive germ has been eliminated from the system. And the only remedy that is assimilated in the tissues and stimulates cellular activity to overcome harmful germs is the famous S. S. S.

A few doses of this wonderful blood purifier will start such pronounced activities in the cellular tissues of the body as to soon show decided changes in the skin.

The skin is but a fine network of tiny blood vessels, and the specific action of S. S. S. is declared by eminent authorities to be a pronounced stimulation of the activity of these cells. Certain it is that in a surprisingly short time even the worst skin eruption shows a most remarkable change; it begins to dry up; the skin peels off in tiny flecks, and soon a layer of clear, healthy and firm tissue results.

The reason for this is in the peculiar stimulation of S. S. S. which enables the cells in the skin to select from the blood the nutriment it requires for regeneration.

Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.

This fact has been demonstrated in cases of severe skin eruption that had seemed to be incurable.

You can obtain S. S. S. at any well stocked drug store, if you insist upon it, but be sure you are not talked into something else claimed to be "just as good."

S. S. S. is prepared by The Swift Specific Co., 215 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

USED BEER FOR BENZINE

Hibbing Auto Party Startled By New Field for Beverage.

Stunt Originating in Joke Saves Quartet a Long Walk.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Saved from a ten-mile walk by the use of three bottles of beer was the unique experience of a Hibbing automobile party last night.

With a party of four the motorist had started on a drive into the Sturgeon lake country and was on his way back when his engine stopped. All of the adjustments known only to the expert chauffeur were attempted but it was soon discovered that no gasoline was being fed into the carburator. No house was near and no automobiles in sight.

Cached on the back seat were three bottles of beer that had been taken on the trip and in a spirit of fun one of the members suggested that the amber fluid be poured into the tank. Not to be stumped the driver did so, primed the engine, turned the crank and the engine started.

That a miracle must have happened was the firm belief of all members of the party as they sailed into the village and they were not disillusionized until the garage man pointed out that the outet vialve of the gasoline tank was over an inch above the bottom and that the beer, being heavier than gasoline, raised the power-giving fluid until it ran into the carburator.

One Hibbing automobilist at least will never fail to have some of the liquid that made Milwaukee famous stowed under the back seat when he leaves in the future.

HIBBING TEACHERS OPPOSE VACATION

Proposition to Attend State Meeting at Own Expense Voted Down.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The teachers of the Hibbing schools will not attend the Minnesota Educational association meeting in Minneapolis this month, if their decision reached through a straw vote is final with the school board.

At the request of the board and superintendent, a poll of the teachers was taken this week on the question of spending three days with full pay and the outlay of about $25 attending the meeting, or continuing the school work without the usual vacation for the association meeting.

Though the vote was close, the majority expressed themselves as unwilling to make the trip, and the youngsters of the village will report on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, while the scholars in practically every other school in the state are kicking the football around on the corner lot.

PAL BROWN TO MIX AGAIN NOV. 1.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—In a letter received by local friends "Pal" Brown, the range pugilist, who won his fight with Mehegan on Oct. 4, announces the match with Owen Moran for Nov. 1. Matt Wells is to be taken on later, but the date has not been fixed.

Brown states that he is comfortably located with his training crew at quarters at Sutherland, fifteen miles from Sydney, six miles from the ocean and within sight of the Blue mountains. A car runs into Sydney every hour.

Shortly before his fight Brown was the guest of honor at a supper given him by the promoters and the press representatives.

LAST RITES FOR TACONITE WOMAN.

Taconite, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Annie Bennett, wife of Phil Bennett, was held from the residence yesterday at 1:30 o'clock, and from the M. E. church at 2 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Shorts officiating. Interment was made in the Lake View cemetery, Coleraine.

The funeral procession was the largest ever held in this part of the county, indicating the esteem in which Mrs. Bennett was held.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were a brother of the deceased, John Bolles, Shakopee, Minn.; two sisters, Mrs. George Fischer, Marion, and Mrs. Chris Stoke of Jordan; a niece, Mrs. Stewart Grainecross, and little son Gordon of St. Paul. Other friends from away were: Mrs. Rice of Bessemer, Mich.; Mrs. Thomas and sister, Miss Alma Dennis, of Virginia.

The floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful. The pallbearers were Messrs. Law, Cameron and Barkla of Taconite, and Messrs. Ramquist, Eastabrooks and Myers of Coleraine.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble, while it is only trouble. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

VIRGINIA WOMAN ENTERTAINS AT CARDS.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. S. J. Cusson and her sister, Mrs. Grace, entertained a large party of ladies yesterday afternoon at the Cusson home on South Central avenue at auction and rum. The house was beautiful in Halloween decorations used all through the rooms on the main floor. A Dennison frieze was attractively arranged about the walls, with stringers of black and yellow over the windows and chandeliers. Each guest received a black cat stickpin favor. Auction was played at eight tables and rum at two. The prizes were won by Miss Lorna Bates, Mrs. C. W. Miller, Mrs. H. F. Kendall and Mrs. W. E. Hannaford.

The out-of-town guests were Miss Barker, New York city; Miss Cora Schlitzberg, Beaver Dam, Wis.; Mesdames W. E. Harwood, George Whitman, C. W. More and B. O. Greening of Eveleth.

WOMEN'S REST ROOM POPULAR.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The women's restroom and the men's writing room in the basement of the public library are in use every day, according to the weekly report of Miss Stella Wiley, librarian. These rooms are light and attractively furnished with rockers, couches, tables, chairs, etc. Those living at a distance have been especially invited to make use of the rooms at the noon hour or while waiting for a train and the response to the invitation has been most encouraging. Recent magazines and writting material are provided and conversation may be freely indulged in.

"The restroom in the library solves a question that is most vexatious in other cities," said one Hibbing citizen in discussing the accommodations provided. "Commercial clubs, councils and other bodies are all wrestling with the restroom problem in towns in Southern Minnesota, but here there could be no more delightful or convenient place than the basement of the library."

EVELETH-HIBBING GAME TO BE FAST.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Rademacher of Gilbert will be the referee at the football game at Hibbing tomorrow afternoon between the Eveleth and the Hibbing elevens.

Rademacher, who is the coach of the Virginia City team and a one time star at the University of Minnesota, is a recognized authority on the game and will undoubtedly give the best of satisfaction in the handling of the match here.

A strong team will face the Eveleth aggregation and one of the fastest high school games to be seen this season is expected to result. The Eveleth team has defeated Virginia and is fast and strong.

Chisholm plays Aurora tomorrow afternoon, which will prevent football rooters from the neighboring village witnessing the contest.

MAKE PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR'S GAMES.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Schedules for the basket ball and baseball games between the range teams will be prepared by the coaches and superintendents of the high school, beginning next week.

This action is to be taken to allow plenty of time to fill open dates with teams not on the range and to insure a full playing schedule for each team.

This year in the football schedule almost every team in this section of the state was upset by a failure of other schools to answer letters, give dates or mistaken contracts.

This is not to happen again if the plans that have been made by correspondence are followed out by the various schools.

SUPERIOR BOYS MAR VIRGINIA DEPOT.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The handsome new depot of the Canadian Northern in Virginia is being made the target of vandalism in that the white stone work about the place is being defaced and marred by people writing their names on it. Four Superior high school students' names are registered in one place on the white stone front of the building, while tramps and idlers are also registered plentifully. Canadian Northern officials are watching the building closely and any one found writing about the walls will be made to feel the penalty of the law.

FORMER VIRGINIA COUPLE TO MARRY.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcements of the engagement of Miss Emma Perault, formerly a stenographer in the employ of Judge R. J. Montague, and Frank DeLong, a former Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific employe, have been received here. It is understood the wedding will occur at St. Paul the latter part of this month. Miss Perrault is well known on the range, having been valedictorian of her class at Eveleth.

Virginian Goes to Texas.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—A change of managers of the local Western Union telegraph office took place today. J. H. Hopkins, who has been the local manager since the office was opened about four months ago, has been transferred to Dallas, Tex., and will leave for the Lone Star state as soon as the business can be transferred to his successor. Joseph M. Thompson, who has been manager of the Hibbing office, will succeed Mr. Hopkins here.

School Clerk Resigns.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. C. Healey, who has been acting as assistant school clerk, tendered his resignation at the meeting of the board of education last night. The resignation was accepted and G. D. Lizer, at present on the office force of the Oliver Iron Mining company, was appointed to fill the vacancy. Mr. Healey leaves for Austin, Minn., where he has secured a position with the Hormel Packing company.

ITASCA COUNTY WILL HAVE GINSENG FARM

Grand Rapids Men Putting in Extensive Plant for New Crop.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. C. Glibert and John A. Brown, both of this village, have under construction a ginseng plant, on the land adjoining the C. E. Erickson place, south of Pokegama lake.

Three acres of ground have been planted to ginseng, and from time to time this acreage will be extended. The plant will require 75,000 feet of lumber, and the shade slats are being manufactured at the Spang & Hoolihan mill in this village. The first section of the shelter sheds have been begun, and at the present time are well along toward completion. This first section is 110 by 150 feet.

In addition to the shade sheds a house for the caretaker, a garage, and other outbuildings will be built, and in connection with the ginseng plant, the owners propose to run a fine farm, which will produce vegetables and produce for the market next season.

WEDDING ENDS OLD ROMANCE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The marriage of Mrs. Martha A. Edwards and Rev. O. A. Briggs of Manistee, Mich., was quietly celebrated Wednesday evening at the home of the bride, here, Rev. A. A. Myers, pastor of the Methodist church officiating. The bride has made Grand Rapids her home for some years. The groom is a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, making Manistee his home for many years. He is a member of Old Glory Post, G. A. R., in that city. The wedding is the culmination of a romance begun many years ago, when both the bride and groom lived in the East.

COLERAINE DANCE TO BE AN EVENT.

Coleraine, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The biggest event of the local season will take place at the Coleraine city hall on Friday evening, Oct. 24, when the Coleraine orchestra will give its second annual ball.

The committee in charge has announced that over 100 tickets have been sold within the last two weeks. The auditorium will be appropriately decorated and the Coleraine City orchestra of ten pieces will furnish the necessary inspiration.

CHURCH WOMEN GOOD BOOSTERS.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Methodist church is holding its first annual meeting this afternoon, at which time the year's work will be reviewed and plans for next year's work outlined.

The auxiliary has been commended for the financial success attained the past year, having made several hundred dollars' worth of permanent improvements at the church, applied $10 monthly on the pastor's salary, put in the winter's supply of coal in the church and still has a balance in the bank.

Following the meeting this afternoon arrangements have been made to hold a reception for the teachers of the public schools.

SCHEDULE LIST OF CHISHOLM PAYROLLS.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The changing of the payrolls to an earlier date by some of the mining companies, has caused more or less confusion among the business men, and to familiarize them with the particular dates at which the men are to be paid off, the following schedule has been prepared:

Village employes, fifth of each month; other village bills, ten days after the second Wednesday; Swan River Logging company, irregular for steady employes, but upon demand by men that are discharged; school board, once every four weeks, regardless of date of month; Leonard mine, thirteenth of each month; Clark and Meyers, fourteenth of each month; Shenango and Dunwoody, twentieth of each month.

School Athletes Busy.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The gymnasium classes at the Technical high school, under the direction of Physical Director Soutar, have begun work. The regular winter schedule for the basket ball teams is being worked out and will include games with most of the range schools. Basket ball will also be popular as an inter-class game, and there will be a number of teams among the students of the high school.

Virginia to Meet Adams.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Virginia City football team will go to Duluth next Sunday for the big football game of the year with the Adams team. The crack Duluth team has not been defeated this year and is considered the strongest in Northern Minnesota. The locals are working especially hard this week and hope to hold the Adams eleven on even terms at least.

Keewatin Child Dies.

Grand Rapids, Minn., October 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marguerite, the 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCusick of Keewatin, died at St. Benedict's hospital in this village, this morning, after a brief illness. The funeral was held this afternoon from the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Fred Thornton, in this village, and the burial will be in the Itasca cemetery.

Brewing Company Loses Suit.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The petit jury in the case of the Virginia Ice company against the Minneapolis Brewing company evidently believed Andrew Musonen was the agent for the concern here and after considering the case for three hours returned a verdict for $40.47 in favor of the local firm. The defendant attempted to prove that Musonen was not an agent for the company and had contracted the ice bill in his own name. R. Fisher of Duluth, a representative of the Minneapolis concern, admitted that Musonen had been furnished with a horse and wagon and the jury based its verdict largely upon that fact.

Iowan Buys Itasca Land.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Al Phillips, one of the most prosperous of the farmers in the Splithand country, has sold his home farm to George W. Gibbs of Mason City, Iowa, and the price is said to have been $5,000. Mr. Gibbs will occupy the farm at once, and Mr. Phillips will move to another farm which he owns, near Rabey, the new town on the Hill City railroad.

REVIVED

Old-Time Health, Eating Grape-Nuts.

"I had been sick for 10 years with dyspepsia and a lot of complications," wrote an Ark, woman.

"An operation was advised, change of climate was suggested, but no one seemed to know just what was the matter. I was in bed three days in the week and got so thin I weighed only 89 lbs. No food seemed to agree with me.

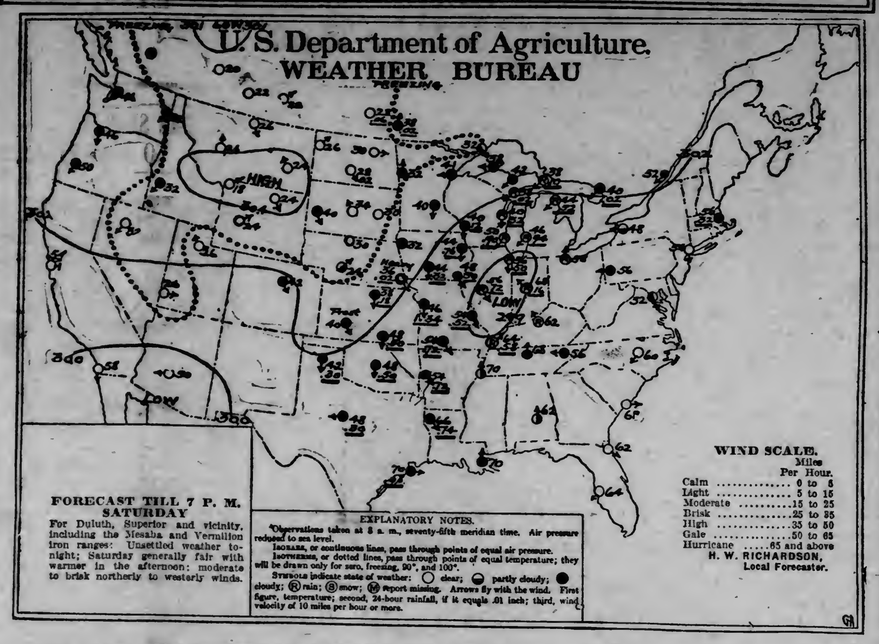

"I told my husband I was going to try some kind of predigested food to see if I could keep from this feeling of continued hunger.

"Grape-Nuts and cream was the food I got and nothing has seemed to satisfy me like it. I never feel hungry, but have a natural appetite. Have had no nervous spells since I began this food, and have taken no medicine.

"I have gained so much strength that I now do all my housework and feel well and strong. My weight has increased 8 lbs in 3 weeks and I shall always eat Grape-Nuts as it is far pleasanter than taking medicines." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

FAIR

The promises of fair weather in this section of the country, made by the weather department, have been carried out, and for the rest of today and all of tomorrow a similar brand of ozone, but maybe unsettled, and lack of clouds is promised.

The weather headquarters also say that tomorrow may develop warmer weather, but with rather brisk winds.

A year ago today was fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:28 and will set this evening at 5:20 o'clock, giving ten hours and fifty-two minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson has the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of moderate intensity centered over Illinois caused light to heavy rains in the Lake region, Lower Ohio, Lower Missouri and Upper Mississippi valleys and Southwestern states. Light rain or snow also fell over Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Colder weather prevails over Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Alberta, Missouri, Arkansas and Central and Eastern Texas. Freezing temperatures are the rule in Northwestern districts."

General Forecasts.

COUDERAY MILL CLOSES FOR YEAR.

Couderay, Wis., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bekkedal Lumber company's Eddy Creek sawmill closed down today, having finished up this season's cut. The mill will undergo thorough overhauling and will resume sawing again about Jan. 15. The Bekkedal Lumber company sawed the timber on the Couderay Indian reservation here, having the contract for the timber from the government. They have about an eight years' run left.

SAYS DEAD ARE VERY MUCH ALIVE

Lecturer Holds That They Are Unchanged in Morality and Intelligence.

The dead are very much alive according to L. W. Rogers of New York, who lectured last night at the Unitarian church on "Delusions About Death."

"Not only is the dead man still alive after he disappears from the ken of the living," said Mr. Rogers, "but he is the same kind of man in morality and intelligence that we have known here." The messages received at seances were cited as evidence that the dead possess no ability to rise above the average of human wisdom. One of the popular delusions, Mr. Rogers said, was that the dead are far away in a place of either eternal bliss or endless pain, while all the investigations of both physical science and psychic research by subtler methods indicated that those who have lost the physical body are living in the immediate vicinity of the visible world.

Tonight Mr. Rogers speaks on "Visible and Invisible Evolution."

A Medicine That Gives Strength

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a strengthening medicine. Surely and effectively they build up the blood, invigorate the appetite, tone up the digestion, give brightness to the eye, color to cheeks and lips and quickness to the step. As their direct action is on the blood, making it a health-bearing stream, no part of the body can escape their beneficial influence.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription, now used the world over because of their recognized value as a household medicine. They are sold everywhere in a standard, trademarked package which is a guarantee of uniform purity and strength and which contains the doctor's own directions and special instructions.

Start now to tone up your system by getting a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from your druggist. Follow directions closely and improvement is as certain as almost anything in medical science.

PIONEER BORDER FAMILIES UNITED.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 17.—William Andrew Stillar and Miss Lauro Peggar, both of Loman, who are to be wedded very soon, were in the city yesterday, and the marriage license was obtained at the office of J. H. Drummond, clerk of the district court.

The marriage of Mr. Stillar and Miss Peggar will unite two of the oldest families in the county, the late Louis Stillar, the groom's father, and Mitchell Peggar, father of the bride, being settlers in what is now Koochiching county a quarter of a century ago, and each of these men has been honored by having a school named for him.

Louis Stillar for many years was the only justice of the peace in this part of the country, and he was familiarly known to all of the early residents of the city.

CLAIM ASSETS WILL COVER LIABILITIES.

Dubuque, Iowa, Oct. 17.—Former Mayor C. S. Berg, who was named receiver for the firm of Peter Kiene & Son in Federal court here, has taken charge of the affairs of the company. A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against the concern, and liabilities are estimated at from $250,000 to $500,000. The assets are said to be sufficient to pay the creditors.

It is claimed that the suit is the outcome of alleged discrepancies amounting to more than $100,000, which came to light several months after the death of Peter Kiene a year ago.

BRAINERD PHONE FIGHT IN COURTS

City Officials to Explain Why New Concern's Plans Are Not Approved.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—The entire city force of officials, from mayor to city clerk and each of the aldermen, has been served with a notice to appear in the district court on Nov. 4 and answer to the alternative writ of mandamus sued out by the Minnesota Telephone company, such order having been granted by Judge W. S. McClenahan.

This adds another phase to the telephone war now being waged by the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company and the Minnesota Telephone company, the latter having the backing of the Tri-State. The Minnesota Telephone company desires the city to approve its plans for the construction of its telephone exchange within the city of Brainerd, or designate such other streets and alleys for the use of the exchange or to show cause before the court why this has not been done.

NORTH DAKOTA CLUB WOMEN END MEETING

Several Addresses in Morning and Afternoon Devoted to Pleasure.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today is closing day for the State Federation of Women's clubs in session here. It was marked somewhat by the fact that the forenoon was largely devoted to the general federation and the afternoon to play. A feature of the forenoon was the address by the general federation president.

Only a comparatively small number of the delegates left for home this afternoon. Some of those living on branch lines of railway will return to their homes in the morning, but a majority will remain for the Votes for Women league sessions tonight and tomorrow.

This morning at the opening Mrs. Malgren of Fargo sang for the visitors. The first address was by Mrs. W. S. Lauder of Wahpeton, one of the general federation secretaries. She made a report on the last general federation meeting, summarizing matters of interest to the North Dakota ladies.

The "Relation of the General Federation to Us" was the subject discussed by Mrs. Frank White, wife of the former governor. She is one of the directors of the general association.

Mrs. Percy Pennybacker, the national president, then delivered her address which was an inspiration to the members of the state organization.

A report of the peace congress by Mrs. F. L. McVey of Grand Forks, wife of the president of the state university, followed this address.

After the reading of the report of the committee on resolutions by Mrs. J. M. Gillette of Grand Forks, chairman, the convention adjourned.

This afternoon was devoted to an auto ride to various points of interest around Fargo, followed by a tea at the Fargo college. The board of directors of the state association met and closed the business end of the 1913 session.

CROOKSTON GIVEN SITE FOR NEW PARK

Old Resident Tenders Interest in Desirable Tract Adjoining City.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 17. — (Special to The Herald.)—Within a few weeks Crookston expects to have a very substantial addition to the present park system through the donation of approximately a 40-acre tract in Jeromes addition, lying along the river bank. The new acquisition will come through the initiative of Capt. M. R. Brown of Minneapolis, who was a pioneer resident of the city and still owns many residences, expecting to return here shortly. The tract has been used only for pasturage, and Capt. Brown is the owner of an undivided one-half of the property, Mrs. J. B. Streeter a one-fourth interest, and P. J. McGuire and the Mat Cornelius estate each an undivided one-eighth interest, acquired through tax title.

Capt. Brown made his tender only on the condition that the others would also donate their share, or that the city would acquire it, and that the entire tract would be used for park purposes.

"Crookston does not today need all the property for park purposes, and there would be no need of improving it at once. Initial steps at improvement could be made, however, and in time it would mean a city park system unequalled by any other city of its size in the country. The property is not valuable as residence property, but is ideal for a park, wooded and sheltered and I am willing to donate what I have put in it for the benefits the city would enjoy."

The land is located across the river from Central park and could be connected by rustic bridges, etc. John Sundet owns a timbered point to the north and his brother owns what is known as "Aunt Polly's Slough" to the south, which, by connecting it with the river would make a beautiful lake of considerable area with almost unlimited possibilities for park purposes.

PRINCETON ARMORY FORMALLY OPENED

Company G's New Home Is Scene of Impressive Program and Dance.

Princeton, Minn., Oct. 17.—Company G's new armory, one of the best structures of its kind in the Northwest, was formally opened to the public with befitting ceremonies last night. The Third regiment orchestra of Duluth, one of the finest organizations in the country, rendered selections during the opening ceremonies and also furnished music for the grand ball which followed. The program for the evening's entertainment:

Address of welcome, Robert C. Dunn; march, Militaire, orchestra; address, Chaplain Will Emery; selection, orchestra; remarks, Maj. Albert F. Pratt; cornet solo, Charles Helmer; remarks, Hon. Henry Rines; selection, orchestra; "Future of the National Guard," Gen. Fred B. Wood.

NORTH DAKOTA FARMER MAKES NEAT PROFIT

Clears $7,000 on 280 Acres Near Larimore—Modern Methods Used.

Larimore, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Over $7,000 net profits is the result of George Crozier's operations on a 280-acre farm near Niagara, ten miles west of Larimore, and he believes that he has established the North Dakota record for successful farming operations.

Mr. Crozier raised, among other things, 10,000 bushels of potatoes which he has sold at an average of 40 cents a bushel, the cost to him being estimated at 7 cents a bushel. He does not, however, figure anything for working the land, contending that the soil is now in fine condition for next year's grain crop, and that the tilling operations cannot therefore be charged to the potato crop.

Only fifty-five acres of the farm were devoted to potatoes, wheat, oats, tame grasses and corn being raised on the remainder of the 280-acre tract. The potato shipments have totaled twenty-five cars for the season.

"I spent a great deal of time getting my land properly cultivated," explains Mr. Crozier. "I employed modern farming methods throughout, and I certainly am gratified with the success attained.

"Basing the productiveness of the soil upon the results I have obtained this year, one can readily appreciate the fact that every quarter section of similar land would be sufficient for any farm, and that it would give him a good living and also provide for the proverbial rainy day."

MINING ACCIDENTS CAUSE INJURY TO 1766

Michigan Commission Gives Interesting Report; Mines Employ 37,366 Men.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 17.—The state industrial commission has finished a statement showing that to date, since the first of the year, the Upper Peninsula iron mines have paid out on account of industrial accidents, not including those that resulted fatally, $30,061.82. The statistics show that 15,939 men are employed in the mines of Marquette county, Mine Inspector Quine's report for the year just closed having placed the number at 5,709.

Since the first of the year 817 accidents, exclusive of fatalities, have been reported from the iron mines, and the average amount of the settlements has been $36.79. The cost per employe was $1.88. In practically all cases the mining companies carry their own risks, and the compensation they have to pay is carried as a charge against production.

The copper mine accidents were slightly more numerous than those for the iron industry. With 18,456 men employed—before the strike—895 accidents were reported. The total outlay in settlements was $37,208.98, a cost for the average case of $42.80 and for each man employed of $2.01.

For the 2,973 men employed in coal mining $2,168.45 was paid to 54 beneficiaries, an average of $40.15 a case and 73 cents a man. The cost of hospital and medical attendance for the coal mines was $1,191.04. This item is not reported for the iron and copper mines, the figures given covering only payments of money to workers. If hospital and medical attendance was included, the cost of the accidents in these industries would be increased by many thousand dollars.

A summary shows that 37,366 men are employed in the mining industry in Michigan. Since Jan. 1 the industrial commission has a record of 1,766 nonfatal accidents among them, for which $69,439.25 was paid in compensation.

FIX RANK OF BEST TEN TENNIS PLAYERS.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 17.—The rating committee of the North Dakota Tennis association has completed and filed with the association its rating of the first ten positions occupied by members for the past year's play, based upon the results achieved in the tournament held at Grand Forks last August.

Dr. W. E. Blatherwick of Drake, the winner of the state championship cup heads the list followed by the others in the order named: F. M. Wilson, Grand Forks; T. B. Elton, Grand Forks; George Sunberg, Willow City; Ralph Baird, Fargo; G. H. Russ, Bismarck; R. Jackson, Grand Forks; N. P. Pollard, Grand Forks; R. N. Clark, Belcourt, and C. McIntyre, Donnybrook.

The 1914 meeting of the association will be held in Fargo upon the newly constructed courts of the local club in Island park. The Fargo tennis men are already busily engaged in getting the preliminary arrangements completed and it is anticipated that the meet next year will be one of the best ever held by the association.

WOMAN PAID $21 FINE FOR GOSSIPING.

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 17.—A woman was the first person to be fined in Outagamie county under the anti-gossip act. Mrs. Rose Lehn yesterday paid a fine amounting to $21.80, after having pleaded guilty to the gossip charge preferred by a Mrs. McDonald and Emma McDonald.

FOOTBALL STAR CRITICALLY ILL.

St. James, Minn., Oct. 17.—The condition of Lyle Johnston, former star backfield on the Minnesota University football team, is so critical that physicians at the local hospital entertain very little hope for his recovery. Johnston, who lives at Madelia, Minn., was stricken with typhoid fever while visiting at the home of his sister here, six weeks ago. He has been at the hospital ever since.

German Lutherans in Session.

Dresden, N. D., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.) — German Lutheran ministers of North Dakota opened their annual conference in Dresden this morning, the gathering continuing a week. Their organization is known as the Red Viver Valley Ministerial association, and it also includes several congregations in Northwestern Minnesota.

Sunday the dedication of the new German Lutheran church in Dresden will take place, with Rev. H. Buegel of Grand Forks as the principal speaker.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Laurium—Members of the Laurium Methodist Episcopal church will tender a reception in honor of the new pastor, Rev. A. B. Sutcliffe, in the parlors of the church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A splendid program has been arranged.

Calumet — Justice Little officiated last night in a very pretty wedding ceremony which united Bernard G. Cregnola of Houghton and Miss Candace Richard of Calumet. Miss Richard had as her bridesmaid Miss Bertha Bray of Calumet, while Aloysius F. Weiss of Calumet acted as best man. Following the wedding ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cregnola left for Milwaukee for an extended stay.

Hancock—An important meeting of the American French Canadian Knights Lodge of Hancock will be held Friday evening to elect officers for the coming year. The work to be taken up during the coming year also will be discussed. It is probable that a membership campaign will be opened.

Lake Linden—The marriage of Miss Florida Dupuis, daughter of Mrs. Napoleon Dupuis of Lake Linden, and Charles McLaughlin of Hubbell was solemnized at St. Joseph's church. Rev. N. J. Raymond officiated. The ceremony was very quiet and none but immediate relatives were present.

Houghton—The semi-annual meeting of the Alumni association of the Michigan College of Mines, the central organization around which have been built up the various M. C. M. clubs throughout the mining world, will take place at the Houghton club Saturday afternoon and evening.

Hubbell—John Hosking of Hubbell will celebrate the eighty-seventh anniversary of his birth on Oct. 25 and friends are planning an interesting entertainment for their host. Mr. Hosking is undoubtedly the oldest pioneer in Hubbell and despite his advanced age, he retains all his faculties. He has been a resident of the Copper country for fifty-six years and during that time he has not been without the bounds of Houghton or Keweenaw counties.

Lake Linden—The Lake Linden village council has accepted the bid of Contractor Ernest Meyers to make alterations in the town hall, work upon which will begin immediately. The floor in the fire station will be lowered to conform with the street grade so as to permit the removal of fire apparatus from the engine room with less difficulty.

Hancock — Wednesday marked the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mother Aloysia of the St. Patrick's school in the sisterhood and the occasion was marked with a special program at the convent. Previous to becoming head of St. Patrick's convent in this city, Mother Aloysia was at the head of St. Vincent's school, St. Louis, for eleven years. She came to this city as successor to Mother Ursula. She is one of a family of five sisters to enter the nunnery and one of the four to be elevated to the station of superioress.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

New Rockford, N. D.—A quiet home wedding took place at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening in this city when Rev. James K. Kirker of the Congregational church joined Miss Jean Elizabeth Hersey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hersey and Benjamin B. Bennett, a popular young druggist of Drake, this state.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A quiet wedding will take place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock when Douglas Gibb and Miss Winnifred Scott will exchange vows. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. P. W. Erickson, pastor of the Presbyterian church at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Truax, in the presence of a few of the closest friends of the contracting parties.

Bismarck, N. D.—Since Bismarck has developed into one of the most important distributing centers of the state the capital city has become one of the leading headquarters for traveling salesmen. Over 250 salesmen have made Bismarck their home, and have moved their families here, and more are coming. While house building has been in progress here winter and summer for the last eight years there never was a bigger demand for houses in Bismarck than there is this fall.

Ipswich, S. D.—J. W. Parmley of this place, who has been urged by many newspapers to enter the Republican race for congress, and by others to run for governor, may enter the lists as a candidate for United States senator.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A wedding of interest to scores of friends throughout the state occurred Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman B. Black, when their daughter, Miss Charlotte Black, became the bride of Clifford Mourer Lontz of South Bend, Ind. Rev. William H. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiated in the presence of seventy guests. The wedding music was rendered by Miss Margaret Sargent, pianist, and Miss Clara Wolff, violinist. The only attendant was little Miss Mary Douglas, who carried the ring in the heart of an American beauty rose. The bridal couple stood beneath a bower made of ferns, with a white canopy and baskets of American beauty roses were artistically arranged.

Madison, S. D.—Jack Kelso, a local ballplayer, is charged with holding up and robbing Charles Yager of $25. Kelso was arraigned before Judge Sponholz, who fixed the bond at $100, which was furnished by friends of the defendant. The hearing was set for Monday. The complaining witness was on hand for the trial but the defendant was missing. His bond was declared forfeited and the case continued until Oct. 20. The complaint charges grand larceny.

Devils Lake, N. D.—In deference to the memory of Col. A. B. Kerlin, the program for the dedication of the new Soo passenger station was modified. The afternoon and evening receptions were held but there was no dancing in the evening. The dedication took place Tuesday.

Fargo, N. D.—Prof. John H. Worst of the North Dakota Agricultural college was re-elected president of the Ohio society for a third consecutive term last night at the annual business meeting of the buckeye organization in the parlors of the Fargo Commercial club. All the officers of the society were re-elected by unanimous vote for another year. The other officers are: Vice president, W. S. Stambaugh; secretary-treasurer, Robert G. Paterson; board of governors, the three officers and Col. George W. Wilkinson and Dr. Arthur E. Schalk.

Grand Forks, N. D.—At Sacred Heart Catholic church the wedding of Miss Alice Carney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Carney, and Bert White, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White, took place. Rev. Father Klinkhammer officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Laura Carney, and James Cullinton officiated as best man.

Dickinson, N. D.—This city cast a vote of six to one against the commission form of government. Three years ago, when the vote was first asked for, the result was two to one against the proposition. Dickinson has a good council and the city is believed to be well governed.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Bowlus — Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock occurred the marriage of Peter Bursey and Lucy Kupka. The bride wore a white messaline gown with an overskirt of net worked with beads. The bridesmaids were Frances Matchko and Bridget Kupka. They wore white China silk dresses. Frank Bursey and Peter Kupka stood with the bridesmaids. After the ceremony they all went to the home of the bride to celebrate the event by feasting and dancing.

Red Wing—The Knights of Columbus at a meeting which was largely attended, elected the following officers: Grand knight, Frank M. Schenach, deputy grand knight, J. M. Hummell; financial secretary, L. W. Black; recording secretary, Albert Haines; treasurer, Harry W. Wilson; chancellor, J. J. Bovy; warden, Albert Metzler; advocate, B. Gerlach; inner guard, Herman Metzler; outer guard, William Risse; trustee for three years, P. E. King; trustee to fill unexpired term of Clem Phillips (resigned), George Richinger; trustee for two years, G. A. Jansen.

Spring Valley—A flag purchased by the Civic league was raised in the park by the Boy Scouts in charge of the scout commissioner, Rev. John Hayes Barnett, yesterday afternoon. Members of the Civic league, G. A. R. and W. R. C. were present.

St. Cloud — Miss Elizabeth Winkel and Edward Daniel were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the Immaculate Conception church. Father Alfred performed the ceremony.

East Grand Forks — Charging failure to send their children to school, warrants were issued yesterday for the arrest of twelve East Grand Forks residents. Six already have been arrested, two being convicted, while the cases of others are pending. Supt. H. E. Wolf swore out warrants for the arrest.

Fergus Falls — Several cases of scarlet fever are reported from different parts of this county, and the school near Richville and one near Deer Creek have been closed on account of the disease.

Detroit — Great interest is being taken in debate work in the high school. Over twenty-five students have volunteered and the tryouts for the team, under the direction of the faculty coach, will begin at once.

St. Cloud — Hundreds of friends and relatives attended the funeral of Rudolph Ladner, the young man who met an untimely and unfortunate death in the automobile accident of last Saturday. The funeral cortege was led by a delegation of about forty students representing the sodality of St. John's university of Collegeville, and at each side of the hearse three classmates marched, with white ribbons in their lapels.

Little Falls — N. N. Bergheim, attorney for the charter commission, has received an opinion in which the attorney general passes on the legality of the charter which is to be submitted to the voters Oct. 28. A copy of the charter was sent to the attorney general's office and the opinion is that the charter is constitutional. A former ruling was that administrative but not legislative powers could be delegated to a city manager and the charter prepared by the Little Falls commission is held to be constitutional.

Taylors Falls — Mrs. Ed H. Folsom is dead of a paralytic stroke. She was one of the earliest residents of Taylors Falls and the wife of one of the best known country newspaper men in the state. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Carrie Folsom Cole of St. Paul, and Miss Kate Folsom of Lake Crystal, and two sons, Charles W., editor of the Wayzata Reporter, and Francis of Vancouver.

Chatfield — Miss Bessie Grace Allen, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Allen, was married to Charles L. Gile of White, S. D.

Luverne — Leslie Enger and Miss Florence Kennedy, both of this city, were married.

Clouqet — Mrs. Frances Burns, great commander of the Modern Maccabees in this country, was a guest of the local hive Wednesday and in the evening spoke to a large audience at the Sons of Norway hall. Mrs. Burns spoke of the Modern Maccabees as the only fraternal order managed entirely by women. The local hive has grown in a year from twenty members to sixty-five members. Miss Edmunds, state deputy, was with Mrs. Burns.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—For the purpose of getting a suitable approach for the new ore dock which the Soo railroad contemplates building at Ashland this winter the company has asked the city to vacate Stuntz avenue from Front street to the bay including the water frontage. An ordinance was introduced in the city council yesterday to this effect and will be acted upon in a couple of weeks.

Milwaukee—Dr. Pearl Shell declines to give a course of lectures to Milwaukee high school girls on sex hygiene, declaring that the topic, as now considered and taught, is too suggestive. "It would be playing with fire to talk to your young daughters upon the subject chosen by the recent sex hygiene teachers," said Dr. Shell.

Madison—The forestry committee will meet in Minocqua in a week to start a three weeks' tour of the forest reserves. At the conclusion of this tour the committee may go to Washington to attend the annual meeting of the national conservation congress.

Cumberland—Mrs. Johanna Zimmerman, 57 years old, mother of E. M. Zimmerman, a prominent jeweler here, commited suicide by jumping in Beaver Dam lake. Her body was found by her son.

Sheboygan—Jocularly asking a bartender to buy his little daughter a hygrometer, such as stood on the bar, and after drinking a whisky, Henry Schultz, aged 43, went into the back room of a Sheboygan Falls saloon yesterday and swallowed two ounces of carbolic acid. He was later found unconscious on the floor and died soon after. "I am tired of pounding nails all my life," Schultz said. He leaves a wife and six children.

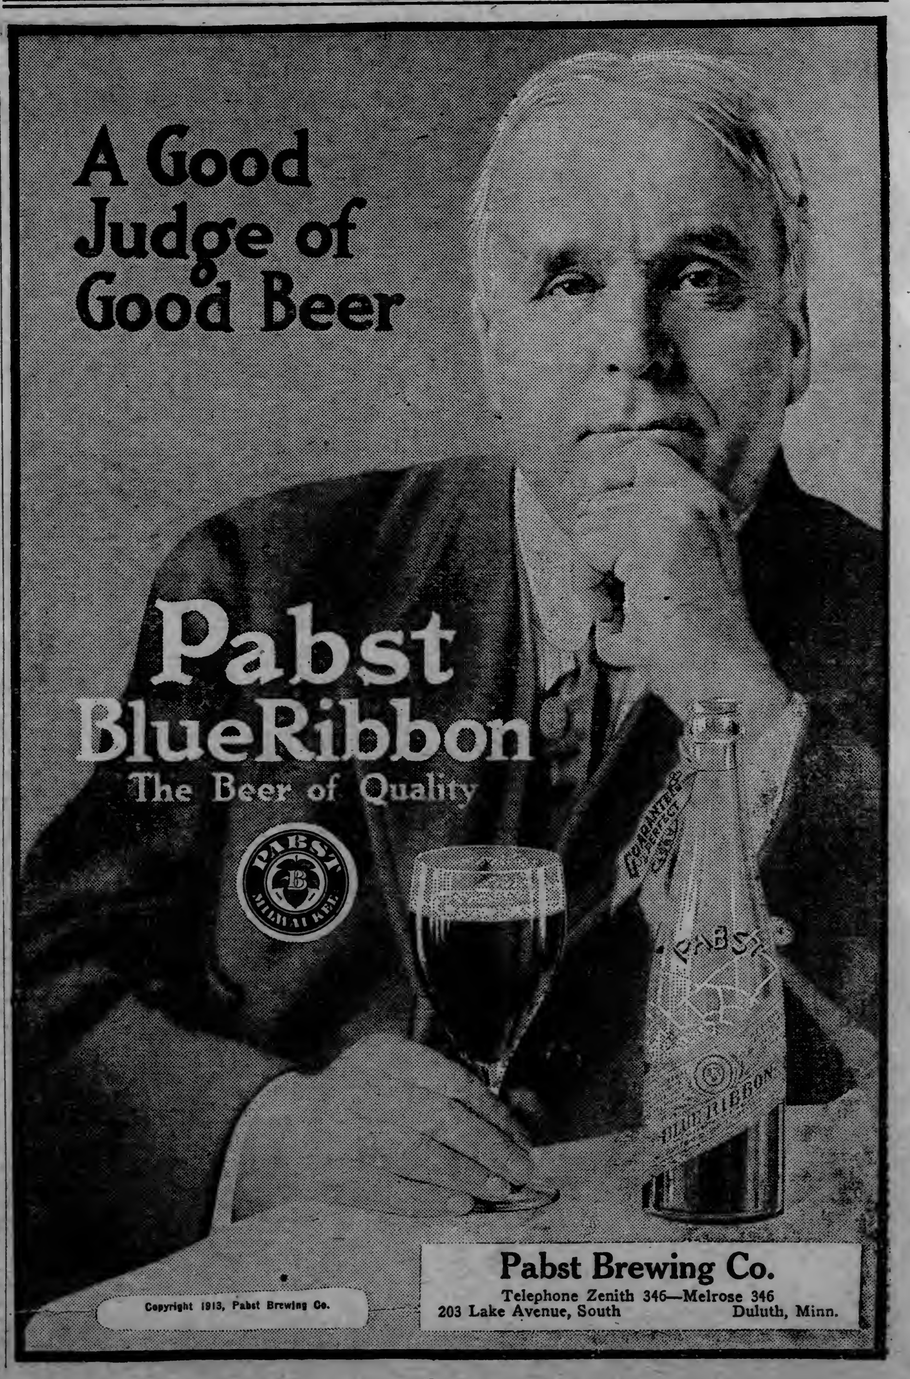

Madison—The three highest men on the civil service list as insurance examiners were on Tuesday appointed by Insurance Commissioner Ekern. They are L. L. Johnson, Sawyer, Door county; John Bessey, Milwaukee, and Thomas Nelson, Madison.

Malden Rock—Weary from doing laundry work, washing windows, house cleaning and other jobs during spare time, the girl students of River Falls normal school have saved enough money to enable them to attend the La Crosse-River Falls football game.

Marinette—Gustav V. Tutas, blacksmith of the town of Pound, claims to have discovered a process for tempering copper, the lost art, and has applied for letters patent. He claims to have a piece of copper which he tempered as hard as steel.

Sheboygan—A convention of ministers, Sunday schools and Young People's societies of the Milwaukee district of the German Evangelical church will open at Zion church at Batavia, Oct. 19.

Plainfield—The Plainfield postoffice was broken open Monday night by two men who carried away stamps and money aggregating $400. The robbers were captured Tuesday night by Sheriff Emerich and his posse who traced the men to Bancroft, the next town north. They were taken to the Waushara county jail at Wautoma.

NEW LINE TO COAST NEARLY READY, SAYS SIR DONALD MANN

One of Canadian Northern Builders Pleased With Duluth Line.

Thinks Canadian Parliament Will Remove Duty on Wheat.

Sir Donald Mann, who with Sir William Mackenzie, built the Canadian Northern railroad, and is considered one of the great railroad men of the Dominion, is a Duluth visitor today. Sir Donald came in this morning, his private car being attached to the regular Canadian Northern train from Winnipeg. The Canadian railroad magnate left this afternoon for Toronto.

"We are sending the greatest amount of grain to Duluth in the history of the Canadian Northern," said Sir Donald. "We are sending sufficient cars loaded with wheat to balance the traffic going back to Canada, and I might add that the traffic of general freight is very heavy. We are more than satisfied with the traffic that has been done on the line between Duluth and Winnipeg.

Line Nearly Finished.

Shortly after the first of the year the last steps in the construction of the Canadian Northern line through to the Pacific coast will be taken, according to the statement of Sir Donald.

"All but approximately sixty miles of the road will have been completed by that time," he stated. "We have constructed about 1,200 miles of railroad during the present season. We have need of a large rail mileage on the other side of the line. We have the biggest wheat crop in the history of the Dominion. But with the immensity of the crop the year has not been a very good one.

"No, there has been no decrease in the general price of farm lands. There has been considerable wild-catting going on, and this practice has come to a stop because there has not been the money available to float some of these ventures."

Sir Donald was asked regarding the probable action of the Canadian parliament on the removal of Canadian duty on wheat, which would give the Canadian wheat raisers free entry to the American market.

"Of course, I cannot say," he replied, "but that the Canadian parliament will concur in the action taken by the United States government by the removal of duty on wheat is the natural assumption."

The Canadian railroad man, who with Sir William Mackenzie has built a road that has proven the first big competitor in Western territory to the Canadian Pacific system, declared that the completion of the Pacific coast line of the Canadian Northern would have a big effect on the Duluth traffic situation, in as much as it would furnish another opening to the coast.

Sir Donald has been in Winnipeg on business and is returning to the Toronto office of the road.

HEARING IS POSTPONED

The preliminary hearing of Abraham Haddad, otherwise known as Deb Ferris, who is charged with murdering George Gazarie in a street duel on Garfield avenue last Sunday evening, and his brother, Joseph, who is accused of having shot Capt. Fiskett while the latter was trying to make an arrest, has been postponed until 10 o'clock next Friday morning.

The examination was scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning, but a postponement was necessary owing to the fact that County Attorney Warren E. Greene is now engaged with the Stracciocco murder trial in district court.

John H. Norton, former county attorney, will conduct the defense for both brothers, it was announced this morning.

The funeral of Gazarie will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from the residence of A. B. Haddad, a countryman of the murdered man, 922 East Fourth street. Interment will be at Calvary. It was learned this morning that Habib Gazarie of Dutchess Junction, N. Y., a brother of the dead man, is not coming here to take charge of the body.

"Dead Man" Only Resting.
Yesterday afternoon a call was received at headquarters to the effect that a man was dead on the courthouse grounds. Officers Kreager and Brouillette were rushed to the scene, where they found a workman resting. He was allowed to go to his home.

Socialist Meetings.
A series of educational and social public meetings will be held this fall and during the coming winter by the English branch of the Socialist party at their hall, 104 West Second street, and the first of the series will be held tonight. It will begin at 8:15 o'clock and Sigmond M. Slonim will lead a discussion, twenty minutes for the presentation of his argument having been allowed him. A general discussion will follow after which Mr. Slonim will have ten minutes to close. The meetings will be held on the first and third Fridays of each month.

File Workman's Lien.
Suit was started in district court court yesterday by Charles F. Nordstrom against Emil Loft and Mary Loft to enforce a lien of $332.50 claimed to be due him for labor furnished in the construction of several buildings and boats for the defendants at Vermilion lake. The property on which the lien is sought to be enforced is located in section 20, 63-18. Andrew Grande, who holds a mortgage on the property, is joined as a defendant to the action.

St. Luke's Day Observance.
Tomorrow, St. Luke's day, will be observed at St. Paul's Episcopal church by the administration of holy communion at 10:30 in the morning. At this meeting Rev. Dr. Glanville of Sycamore, Ill., will preach.

Donation Day for St. Luke's.
Tomorrow will be the annual donation day for St. Luke's hospital. Each year on St. Luke's day thousands of citizens give donations of money and other things to the hospital and it is expected that tomorrow will show a repetition of former years. Friends of the hospital are urged to remember the occasion.

Breaks Arm Cranking Car.
John Mahan, chauffeur for the Clyde Iron works, broke his right arm this morning while attempting to crank his automobile at Second avenue west and Superior street. He was taken to the office of Dr. J. A. McCuen, who dressed the injury and later removed Mahan to his home at 14 West Lemon street, Duluth Heights.

Auto Route Motorcyclists.
Edward J. McKeever and Charles Jones, members of the fire department, were forced into the brush by a speeding automobile on the Vermilion road near Eagle lake yesterday afternoon, while riding tandem on a motorcycle. McKeever sustained an injury to his right foot, but was able to go to his home at 215½ Seventh avenue east. Beyond a few bruises, Jones escaped injury. The automobile, the cyclists say, did not stop.

Undesirable Citizens.
Martin Bis, 20, and Peter Kuplanen, 22, who came here this morning on the steamer Amercia, were declared to be undestrable citizens by the local immigration authorities, because they lack the necessary credentials to enter this country. They were taken to the police headquarters, where they will be held until the Amerian makes her return trip to Port Arthur.

Wanted in Superior.
George Shanefski, 32 years old, was arrested by Lieut. Terry and Officer Kreager yesterday afternoon for the Superior police. Shanefski is wanted by authorities across the bay on a charge of petit larceny. He was taken to Superior last evening.

Guilty of Brutality.
George Bracher, a teamster, pleaded guilty in police court yesterday afternoon to the charge of having beaten his horse while driving out at Lakeside. He was fined $10 and costs or ten days. A stay of twenty days was granted.

Jail for Gun Toter.
Edward C. Johnson, 24 years old, must serve ten days in the county jail because he was carying a revolver in his pocket. Johnson pleaded guilty in police court this morning to the charge and was fined $10 and costs or ten days. He is unable to pay his fine and must therefore languish in jail.

Draws Free Board.
For the third time in as many weeks Charles McDonald was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of drunkenness. He was given a straight sentence of sixty days in the county jail.

Can't Stand Prosperity.
The closing of the harvest season throughout the West is given as the cause of so many arrests the past few days. Yesterday morning there were twenty-four men in the grist charged with drunkenness, while this morning there were twenty. Most of the men have just returned from the wheat fields and are spending their wages.

Now is the time to see that your larder is full of the good things to eat. Come to the Barthe-Martin Co.'s Wholesale Grocery House and place your order. Wholesale prices on everything, not one or two items. Others cannot regularly and consistently sell at our prices.

Remember we save you 10% to 15% on the cost of doing business, as we do such an enormous volume. Our business has averaged better than $250,000 per year for the last five years. The average retailer says that it costs him 20% to 25% to do business, whereas it costs us but 9%. Then again, we buy direct from manufacturers and grocers and save you the middleman's profit, which amounts to 10%.

RAILROAD SUES CAR MAKERS

A lawsuit growing out of a dispute over the purchase by the Soo Railroad company from the Summers Steel Car company of 200 steel ore cars in 1909 was started in district court this morning.

The Soo railroad is suing the car builders for $509.53, claiming that one of the conditions of the acceptance of the purchase was not lived up to by the defendants.

The Soo railroad bought the cars on the condition that certain specifications be complied with. After the cars had been delivered, it was found that this condition had not been complied with and that it was necessary to make certain alterations.

With the understanding that the company would reimburse the railroad for the cost of making the alterations the latter ordered the changes made and paid for them. The bill which was subsequently turned in to the car builders was not allowed. The action is one to recover the money.

ONE LOST REPORTER NEEDED TO CLOSE FRANCHISE CASE

Manager Says Present Litigation Affects Property Worth $2,077,893.

With the right to introduce in evidence certain newspaper accounts touching upon the reconstruction of the first line of street railway in Duluth in the spring of 1883 reserved to both sides, the quo warranto proceedings, in which the state, as a moving power at the instance of the city, is attacking the validity of the downtown franchise of the Duluth Street Railway company, came to a close in Judge Cant's division of the district court shortly before noon today.

Owing to the fact that the files of the Duluth Daily Tribune for the spring of 1883, containing articles, which, Attorney Mitchell for the street railway contends, will throw considerable light on some of the disputed issues of the case, must be properly identified as being accurate reports of what actually transpired during that period, some difficulty may be experienced in getting the facts before the court.

When Attorney Mitchell attempted to introduce the articles in evidence this morning he was met with an objection from the attorneys for the city, who contended that in view of the fact that they had been required to prove the authenticity of the paragraphs at the time they introduced certain ones in evidence, it was only fair that the attorney for the street railway should follow the same procedure. The court sustained this contention.

Must Find Reporter.

In order to get the newspaper accounts in evidence, it will now be necessary for the attorneys for the street railway to find the reporter who wrote the items and to put him on the stand to identify them. The city's attorneys had a witness for this purpose in D. A. Stanchfield, first city editor of the Duluth Daily Tribune, who took the stand and swore that he had written the articles which the city introduced in evidence and vouched for their accuracy. The court ruled this morning that qualifying evidence was necessary as to other news items which might be offered in evidence by the company. Judge Cant also held that the state might also introduce further evdence of this character if the street railway company were allowed.

Attorney Mitchell offered to stipulate that the newspaper accounts which appeared in the files of the Duluth Daily Tribune during the fall and spring of 1882 relating to street railway matters were authentic accounts, but Attorney Sullivan of the city's counsel refused to consider the proposal. "In view of the position which counsel for respondent took earlier in the case, I don't believe that I would care to open the doors that wide," was his answer.

Another legal skirmish occurred at the morning session today when, after the state had rested its case, Attorney Mitchell called T. W. Hoopes to the stand for rebuttal testimony. Attorney Olds of the city's counsel strenuously objected to the witness testifying, stating that he had reason to believe that the testimony which he would give would be such as should properly have been given as a part of the case in chief and not in rebuttal. Attorney Olds stated that he believed Mr. Hoopes to be a "bitter partisan" and objected to the procedure of counsel for the street railway in holding him back until the state has closed its case.

After discussion and arguments lasting for nearly an hour, Judge Cant finally disposed of the matter by ruling that the evidence to be given by Mr. Hoopes would be admitted, although the facts which he might be expected to testify to would proably not be properly rebuttal evidence, except under a very generous construction of the term. Judge Cant stated that he did not intend in any way to imperil the merits of the case by any strict adherence to rules of procedure, but that in fairness to the other side, if the evidence adduced was not properly rebuttal, an opportunity would necessarily have to be given the state to answer it.

No Turntable.

The examination of Mr. Hoopes was very brief. He was asked by Attorney Mitchell if there was any turntable in the street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west during the fall of 1882 as had been testified to by some of the city's witnesses. He stated that there was not. A wooden turntable, he said, had been installed at a point near Eighth avenue west, which was abandoned in the summer of 1883 when the car line was extended on to Eleventh avenue west and Garfield avenue.

The state rested its case with a cross-examination of Herbert Warren, general manager of the Duluth Street railway, who produced a rough estimate of the reproduction cost or replacement value of the various portions of the company's Duluth properties. The figures were based, the witness said, on the valuation placed on the physical property of the company by engineers hired by the taxing officials in 1910, to which has been added the cost of improvements since. The present total replacement cost of the entire system, he said, is $2,700,000, divided approximately as follows:

Downtown section of the line, including car barns and equipment, affected by this litigation; mileage 33, $2,077,893.88.

West Duluth section, covered by separate franchise, and lying west of easterly limits of the old village of West Duluth; mileage 11.9, $208,942.94.

Lakeside line, covered by separate franchise, lying east of westerly limits of the former village of Lakeside; mileage 5.7, $95,559.06.

Woodland line, covered by separate franchise, north and east of Twenty-seventh avenue east and Fourth street; mileage 5.6, $93,763.32.

Incline railway, covered by separate franchise; mileage 1.1, $194,210.03.

The figures for the central or downtown portions of the line include the Duluth Heights line, the mileage of which is 1.9.

Engineers Differ.

It was stipulated, before the case was closed, that an engineer employed by the city had measured the distance from the east line of Third avenue east to the east line of Eighth avenue west and had found it to be 5,133.18 feet, and that an engineer for the company had measured the distance, following the center of the present street railway tracks, and had found it to be 5,148.50. In view of the discrepancy of 15.32 feet in the two figures, it was agreed that should the court, when it reached that stage of the case, so desire, it might secure further data with reference to the exact measurements.

FORMING CLASS IN ENGINEERING.

O. C. Edwards, who is in charge of the instruction of engineering in the university extension course being promulgated by the University of Minnesota, is in the city today, and announces that he hopes to have a class organized by Nov. 1 at latest, and that the class will meet in the Central high school.

Mr. Edwards, who is a practical shop man, formerly lived in Superior; but that was a long time ago, at which time his father was superintendent of the steel plant in that part of the city which is now called Billings Park. Later, after he had received his baptism of fire in the mechanical department and had become proficient as an engineer, following his collegiate course, he took up the work of instruction. In the East he instructed for a corporation, fitting their shop men for advanced work, and later than that was engaged in university extension work for the University of Wisconsin. Concerning the work that the University of Minnesota is putting out, Mr. Edwards said this morning:

O. C. EDWARDS,

"We aim to give men—shopmen—a chance to advance in their trades. We can also take a high school man, who cannot for some reason or other go to the university, and give him a university course in engineering, and in case he later wants to go to the university, his time in the extension course will count in his favor. The course is a preparatory one for such a man. We teach shop mathematics, some subjects in electrical engineering, mining engineering and civil engineering. In the latter, Fred H. Waldrom of Duluth has arranged instruction in concrete and the elements of structures. We do not lead a man into a maze of mathematics, but gradually lead him in so that he has acquired the mathematical knowledge necessary in his work without actually realizing it.

"The cost will be about $7.50 a semester, and the course will take twelve to fifteen weeks. The course is not given with the idea of making a profit out of it, for it is put forth by the state university, which is supported by the money of the taxpayers. The idea is to afford a chance to those who are unable to attend the university to get a university at their homes."

NEW HEALTH ORDINANCES

Roller Towel Under Ban Together With Public Drinking Cup.

The day of the much-used, much-abused roller towel is to be short-lived in Duluth, if present plans of Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, are fulfilled.

In framing an ordinance to embody the provisions of the state law abolishing the common drinking cup, the health director is incorporating a paragraph prohibiting the use of the roller towel.

The ordinance will make it unlawful to use either of the disease-spreading mediums in public and semi-public buildings, including department stores, office buildings, hotels, boarding houses and others of that kind. In many of them the sanitary drinking fountain and the individual towel have been adopted by the managements and the ordinance is designed to reach those who have neglected to take such precautionary health measures.

Dr. Webster states that the dangers of both the common drinking cup and the roller towel are too well known to require detailed comment.

Other ordinances in course of preparation regulate and define nuisances and the handling and disposal of ashes, manure, garbage and other refuse. They are intended to replace the old ordinances and state laws, simplifying and at the same time making them more serviceable to the department in improving sanitary and health conditions in the city. These, with the ordinances regulating barber shops and abolishing the drinking cup and the roller towel, will be submitted to City Attorney Clapp to be put in final shape and then introduced at an early meeting of the city council.

BIG TRADE FOR U. S. IN SOUTH AMERICA

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17.—"If American exporters only will give the Latin-American trade question half the study due its importance, exports from the United States will be quadrupled in volume within ten years after the Panma canal is thrown open to commerce."

This prediction was made by Senor G. E. Lefevre, first secretary of the Panama legation in Washington, in an address made here today under the auspices of the Kansas City Commerce club. Panama City, Senor Lefevre said, is destined to be the advance station of a great American trade with the Latin republics.

"The weakest point shown by American exporters in their efforts to build up their South American trade," the speaker said, "is their method of packing goods for shipment. In this their European competitors have the advantage on them."

RECOVERY AT CLOSE

Rush of Covering Orders Brings Market Back.

Flax Has Strong Session, But Closes Off a Fraction.

A rush of buying orders appeared for execution near the close and early losses were largely recovered. The market was regarded by operators as having been oversold. December wheat closed unchanged and May ⅛c off. December durum closed ½c down and May ⅞c lower.

Puts on December wheat closed at 80¾c asked, and calls at 81¼@81⅝c asked.

Wheat continues on the toboggan today. Cables were lower and with small Eastern demand, and liquidation of weak accounts, the market factors were all bearish.

December wheat opened ¼c off at 81½c and up to the final hour its quotation sagged ½c further. During the same time, the May option broke ⅞c, the opening being ⅛c off at 86c. December durum opened ¼c off at 78½c and declined ⅝c further during the first three hours' business After opening ½c down at 33½c the May option broke to 82⅞c.

Receipts here and at Minneapolis were light, showing a decrease of 465 cars, as compared with last year. A gratifying feature noted by operators was that stocks here showed a reduction for the first time in weeks, receipts of all grains aggregating 505,955 bu, while shipments came to 545,822 bu. Oats stocks decreased 218,000 bu and barley 76,000 bu. Shipments to lower lake ports promise to show an improvement from now on, in the opinion of operators. Ten boats are under the elevator spouts for loads today, with the outgo mainly wheat. Some improvement in the handling situation was reported at Buffalo. The elevators there unloaded 1,100,000 bu yesterday, and the quantity of grain afloat there was decreased.

Flaxseed Strong at Close.

Flaxseed opened weak with liberal selling orders from the country in hand for execution. The market then braced up under the impetus of buying by crushers, and the close was strong. Business was, however, in comparatively small volume, with both holders and buyers content to await developments in the market situation. A weakening factor came in the heavy receipts and piling up of stocks at Winnipeg. October flax there sold off to $1.14½.

October flaxseed opened ⅛c down and closed with a net loss for the day of ⅛c at $1.35; November opened ⅜c off at $1.35¼ and closed with a loss of ⅝c at $1.35¼; December opened ¼c off at $1.33⅜ and closed ⅛c higher on the session's final result at $1.34⅛. May opened unchanged at $1.39¾ and closed at the same price.

Clearances reported: Wheat, 527,000 bu; flour, 28,000 bbls; together they equal 653,000 bu; corn, 6,000 bu; oats, 8,000 bu.

Wheat—Receipts, 1,087,000 bu, last year, 1,965,00 bu; shipments, 793,000 bu, last year, 531,000 bu.

Corn—Receipts, 549,000 bu, last year, 339,000 bu; shipments, 399,000 bu, last year, 292,000 bu.

Oats—Receipts, 716,000 bu, last year, 943,000 bu; shipments, 618,000 bu, last year, 699,000 bu.

Said a local elevator man this morning: "We have advices from correspondents to the effect that interior elevators are plugged up at many points. Country marketings are beginning to increase again in quite a number of North Dakota districts as a result of growers being forced to sell to clean up their accounts with merchants. They say that plowing is getting well along now and that a considerably larger acreage than last year has already been turned over."

Receipts at Minneapolis showed an increase of 950,000 bu for the week. There is also reported to be a large accumulation of flour down there.

Charles Mellen of Wahpeton, N. D., and Walter Wilson of Denver, Colo., were visitors on the board of trade today.

Boston wired: "Demand for oats in the East is almost nil. Canadian oats are pressing on the market and have declined as fast or faster than ours. They are still offered 2 cents under Chicago prices for equal grades."

World's shipments exclusive of North America are estimated at 6,800,000 bu, against 9,032,000 last week. Of this Europe will take about 6,400,000 bu more. Arrivals into United Kingdom are about 3,200,000 bu. Total shipments last week 15,344,000 bu, and last year they were 14,144,000 bu. India wheat shipments this week are placed at 400,000 bu, and Australian shipments at 280,000 bu.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat opened with heavy realizing, ⅝d to ¾d lower, and following the opening it further declined ½d with offerings heavy on the weakness in American cables. The decline in Winnipeg, together with heavy Winnipeg receipts and pressure of new Manitoba offers, caused the decline. Spot markets were easy, with special pressure in No. 1 Manitoba, which was 2½d lower. Cargoes were freely offered at 1½d to 3d decline. Large firms here liquidated. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak, 1¼d to 1¾d lower, with the principal pressure in December.

"Corn—Opened ½d to ⅝d lower and further declined ½d to ¾d with heavy general realizing. The unexpected heavy Argentine shipments and the pressure of corn at the docks, owing to lack of storage room, and the decline in Plata spot here, led to renewed liquidation."

Minneapolis wired: "Cash market firm with millers good buyers of top grades. No. 1 northern blue stem 1c to 2c over December velvet chaff. December price to 1c premium. Duluth has started to outbid this market for wheat which will shift the movement unless the premium widen. Flour sales are moderate, but some business is being caught on resting orders. Mill feed continues weak with the demand even at the decline limited. No. 1 northern cash wheat sold at 80⅝c to 82⅝c and No. 2 northern at from 77⅝c to 80⅝c.

A wire from Chicago said: "Wheat liquidation abroad is reflected in cables. There seems to be little hope of any reaction as long as Canadian and Russian wheat pours in on the European markets. The market is heavily oversold, the short interest is the largest in recent years and under ordinary conditions, a substantial reaction should be experienced."

A Chicago grain operator who has returned from a trip to Winnipeg, estimates that fully 5,000,000 bu of Canadian oats have been sold for export. He was informed that Winnipeg alone has sold 3,500,000 bu to go out by lake, and that figure does not include all-rail shipments to be made from there to Duluth and Minneapolis.

"Duluth exporters," he says, "have also worked quite a quantity of Canadian oats to the various markets. There is every prospect of congestion at Winnipeg before long, because of the continued heavy movement of wheat from the interior. All of the conditions have been favorable to hurrying the grain along. Money has been tight, cars plentiful and weather favorable. Besides producers had their unpleasant experiences of last year in mind. Much of the last year's crop was lost because of poor-quality and poor handling. This year the wheat is well under cover. Country elevators have large stocks, so that railroads can continue to haul without trouble, even if the weather should turn bad."

That Russia will figure largely in wheat exports for the balance of the year is generally the impression. A crop of nearly 700,000,000 bu compares with one of 624,000,000 last year, 447,000,000 in 1911 and 699,000,000 in 1910. Prior to that the record of recent years was 711,000,000 bu in 1909, so that Russia has had only one short crop in five years. The estimate now is that winter wheat alone is 14.4 per cent larger than the average of the five preceding years.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Reacts Sharply After Selling Under 80 Cents.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—After selling down to 79⅞@80c, about noon, December wheat reacted sharply and closed only ⅛c lower than yesterday. The low was a new record on this crop. Trading was stimulated and fluctuations were wide and sharp. May also closed ⅛c lower than yesterday. Local elevator stocks increased 950,000 bu for the week.

December opened 80¼c; high, 80⅞c; low, 79⅝@80c; closed 80⅞c.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Suffers Fresh Decline Under News Pressure.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Wheat today suffered a fresh decline on account of Liverpool weakness and depression in Wall street. Continued heavy receipts at Winnipeg operated also as a weight on the market. The break in prices, however, led to some short covering and to moderate purchases by commission concerns. Opening figures were ¼@⅜ to ⅜c lower with the market later showing a slight reaction.

In spite of a big drop in cable quotations corn developed strength. Rainy weather over the entire shipping belt was what chiefly aided the bulls. Prices at the outset ranged from ¼c lower to ¼c advance and there was a subsequent material gain.

Oats which at first turned downward with wheat, rallied when corn began to bulge. Most of the buyers were shorts.

In provisions leading packers gave support, and upheld the market in the face of a decline at the yards. First sales varied from ½c off to a rise of 10c.

Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange weak at $4.81.15 for 60-day bills, $4.85.45 for demand.

Commercial bills, $4.80¾.

Bar silver, 61⅛c; Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds strong; railroad bonds easy.

MINING STOCKS ARE STRONGER

The tone in mining stocks was bullish in the Eastern markets today, and good investment demand was reported in the standard issues. Substantial price advances were general though the list.

Butte & Superior was a feature, attracting a large proportion of the day's business. It recovered $1, after its break of yesterday, closing at $30.50. North Butte was also strong on good reports from the property. The statement for the last quarter showed that 4,306 feet of development work had been carried through, and that ore reserves in the mine are well maintained. The stock closed $1.25 up at $24.25.

Butte & Ballaklava found good support and closed slightly up at $3.62. Calumet and Arizona closed 75c up at $63.50; Alaska Gold, 25c off at $22.25; Granby, $1.50 up at $71.50; Shattuck, unchanged at $27; and Amalgamated Copper, $1 up at $71.62.

Utah copper output for September was reported at 11,817,428 pounds.

Gay & Sturgis received the following wire from Prentice at New York: "Wall Street has been during the past few days growing more or less hysterical about the currency bill and one hears on every side that there is not hope of a good bill being passed and that a panic is going to ensue.

"People with good Washington connections said this morning that there is no possibility of the present currency bill passing the senate and if any bill is passed by the senate, it will be a bill which will be workable and under which the national banks will stay in.

"The stock market today has shown the first definite signs of any substantial rallying power, and while another drive may be made on prices during the course of a day, I am strongly of the opinion that for a few days or a week, we have seen the low prices."

TWIN CITIES CRY "UNFAIR!"

Ask Commerce Commission to Reopen Duluth Rate Case.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—An attempt is being made by Twin City shipping interests to have the famous "Duluth rate case" reopened by the interstate commerce commission, and a petition was today sent to that body.

The petition, which is signed by the St. Paul Association of Commerce, will be presented to the interstate commerce commission in Washington next Monday. The move is the result of a secret meeting of Minneapolis and St. Paul business men held last night.

Several weeks ago Duluth succeeded, after two years of deliberation by the commission, in securing a reduction of freight rates on commodities shipped from Eastern points, much lower than that accorded to Minneapolis and St. Paul, according to local merchants. The latter consider this unfair, hence the move just started.

The present rates have been in force since 1897.

ELLIS CONFESSES HE MURDERED WIFE

Chicago, Oct. 17.—William C. Ellis confessed at the inquest this afternoon to the murder of his wife here late Wednesday night. He said his wife was "the most virtuous woman" in the world and that he must have been crazy over his health and business troubles.

EVERYBODY SAFE BUT THE "MONEY TRUST"

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 17.—Secretary of State Bryan declared today that only the "money trust" has anything to fear from the currency legislation pending before congress. The legitimate banker, he added, had nothing to fear.

Mr. Bryan was the principal speaker before the Iowa State Dairy association convention and congress of cattlemen.

In an interview Mr. Bryan predicted that the new tariff law will lower the cost of living, bring substantial benefits to consumers and "remove for a generation that fear that has been excited before each election by the advocates of protection."

TORRENS TITLE HELD TO PROTECT BUYERS

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Security to purchasers of real estate registered under the Torrens land title act was given in an opinion rendered by the supreme court today.

Justice Bunn wrote the opinion in the case of Joseph A. Henry vs. William White, et al. The principals in the suit are of St. Paul.

The court upheld title on a lot registered under the Torrens act, where an unrecorded mortgage had been written with the lot as security. The purchaser of the lot had no knowledge of the mortgage and the court insisted that the purchaser must be protected.

WANTS CONGRESS TO PROTEST TO RUSSIA

Washington, Oct. 17.—Representative Sabath of Illinois today asked congress to pass a resolution of protest against the prosecution of Mendel Beiliss, a Russian Jew, on trial at Kiev for "ritual murder." The matter was referred to the foreign affairs committee.

Antagonisms Are Shown.

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 17.—There probably never has been a celebrated case in which the accused played such an insignificant part as that of Mendel Beiliss, charged with the murder of the boy, Yushinsky.

The name of Beiliss was hardly mentioned in the court proceedings yesterday. Violent scenes between the opposing counsel, reflecting the religious or party antagonisms existing in Russia, occupied a large part of the time, and are becoming daily more frequent. On several occasions the president of the court has been obliged to intervene.

Present indications are that the case will not be finished for another fortnight. The testimony proved of no great interest, except that the tailors who supplied the clothes worn by Yushinsky denied that the fragments found in a bundle and alleged to be a part of the boy's clothing were the same as had been used by them.

LOAN SOCIETY IS TO BE LIQUIDATED

Appleton, Wis., Oct. 17.—The state commissioner of banking today took possession of the Mutual Loan & Building Association of Appleton under authority granted by the state law, in order to liquidate the affairs of the association. Mismanagement on the part of a previous secretary was given as the cause of financial difficulties. It is said the stockholders will realize full value of their stock.

MAN'S LEG COOKED BY SULPHURIC ACID.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 17.—While carrying a demijohn of sulphuric acid, William Flood, assistant janitor at the Fond du Lac high school, fell, breaking the container. The flesh of one leg was literally cooked to the bone.

FRAUDS LAID TO INSURANCE AGENT.

Manitowoc, Wis., Oct. 17.—George Messman, prominent insurance agent in this city, arrested on a charge of embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses, was today released under bonds for appearance Oct. 30. It is alleged that Messman collected premiums on insurance policies for six years after the policies had been permitted to lapse, the money not having been paid to his company. Messman's arrest yesterday created a sensation.

Big Reno Store Burns.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 17.—Fire of a mysterious origin destroyed the Nevada Hardware & Supply company's store in this city this morning. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

MRS. PANKHURST IS ORDERED DEPORTED AT ONCE FROM NEW YORK

Special Board of Inquiry Acts Within Three Hours of Arrival.

Suffragette Leader Cannot Even Enter America Under Bond.

She Declares She Did Not Come to Teach Militant Methods.

New York, Oct. 18.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader, who arrived here today for a lecture tour, was ordered deported by the immigration authorities within a little less than three hours after the vessel upon which she came had docked.

The special board of inquiry which decided her case voted not to admit her to the country under bond but to send her back to France forthwith.

Lawyer Will Appeal.

Mrs. Pankhurst's lawyer, Herbert Reeves, announced his intention of appealing the case immediately to Commissioner General Caminetti. Pending decision by Mr. Caminetti, Mr. Reeves said, he would seek to have his client admitted to this country under bond so that she could fulfill her engagement to speak at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the New York suffrage leader, who was to have been Mrs. Pankhurst's host, was prepared to give bond up to $100,000 for Mrs. Pankhurst's good behavior while in America. Under the ruling of the special board she will not be permitted to do so and Mrs. Pankhurst must remain at Ellis Island until deported, unless the board's findings are reversed by the authorities at Washington.

Found Moral Turpitude.

Mrs. Pankhurst's deportation was ordered under section 2 of the immigration law. This section provides for the exclusion of persons convicted abroad of a crime or crimes involving moral turpitude. The board held that

DECLARED UNFIT EVEN TO ENTER AMERICA

MRS. EMMELINE PANKHURST.

JIM HILL IN WRECK ON THE BURLINGTON

Express Train Smashes Into Local Head-on at Nelson, Wis.

Winona, Minn., Oct. 18.—A bad wreck occurred at 9 o'clock this morning on the Burlington road at Nelson, Wis., when northbound express train No. 57, with James J. Hill in his private car at the rear, ran into local southbound passenger train No. 51. Fireman Elliott of Lesota on the local, was instantly killed, being badly mangled. Several others were slightly injured.

The express train was late and running about 50 miles an hour and the engineer failed to note the block signal in the fog. The local train was about to take the siding when the engineer observed the express train rapidly approaching. He reversed his engine and jumped.

The conductor on the local train was standing on the car platform and was thrown some distance, his shoulder being dislocated. The express messengers on the express train and a few of the passengers on the local were injured, but none seriously. The engineer and fireman on the express also escaped serious injury.

Chairman Hill was shaken up. The express engine telescoped the front end of the first express car on the express train. Both engines were badly wrecked. Travel on the main line was blocked for some hours after the collision, but trains were operated past that point on a siding.

SAY YOUNG DUKE WAS NEGLIGENT

Coroner's Jurors Blame Him for Deaths of Two Men.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 18.—A verdict that Henry G. Farr and Thomas G. Simmons "came to their death through being struck by an automobile driven by Lawrence Duke in a grossly negligent manner," and that Duke "had been drinking," was returned by the coroner's jury which investigated the accident on the county highway south of Seattle on Wednesday night, when Duke's car crashed into another standing at the side of the road. Farr was killed instantly, and Simmons received injuries from which he died yesterday. Alfred C. Hoglund, also injured, is in a critical condition.

After the coroner's jury had returned the verdict, Prosecuting Attorney John F. Murphy announced that he would file a complaint charging Duke with manslaughter. Duke is at liberty under $5,000 bond.

PAPAL DELEGATE ARRIVES AT BOSTON.

Boston, Oct. 18.—The famous chapel car "St. Peter," attached to a regular train from Washington, brought to Boston today Archbishop Bonzano, papal delegate to the United States and special pontifical delegate to the Catholic missionary congress which opens tomorrow.

Many of the clerical delegates and 1,500 lay delegates arrived during the day from all parts of the country. The object of the congress is to study missionary conditions in this country and elsewhere.

CONFESSES MURDER LONG AFTER ACQUITTAL

Robert Hodgins Says He Killed Man in Eau Claire.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Robert Hodgins, 34 years old, arrested here last night for disorderly conduct, confessed to the police today that he killed a man five years ago at Altoona, Wis. Hodgins said that he was tried for the crime at Eau Claire, Wis., and acquitted, but that his conscience urged him to confess the truth.

The murder was committed in a railroad yard, where Hodgins crushed the man's skull with a brick and robbed him of a roll of bills, according to his story.

CHILE WILL HAVE NO FAIR EXHIBIT.

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 18.—The Chilean government definitely decided today not to take part officially in the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, owing to the financial situation of the republic.

WASHINGTON EXPECTS EARLY CHANGE IN THE MEXICAN SITUATION

MONEY BILL LOOKING UP

Senate Committee May Agree to Report It on Nov. 10.

President Wilson Has Talk With Senator Nelson.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Exchanges between President Wilson and senate Republicans have placed the currency situation in a position where definite agreement for a report from the banking committee and possibly a final vote on passage is in sight. Nov. 10 is the date tentatively set for a report from the committee.

Among Democratic leaders the idea is gaining that the president might consent to a recess of congress if the senate agreed to vote on the bill on a certain day. Pressure is being brought from all quarters to release a tired congress for a few weeks before the regular session begins.

Early today the president conferred with Senator Nelson. It was his first conference with a Republican on the currency situation. It is understood that the president was encouraged to believe that the Republicans of the committee would work with the Democrats.

McAdoo Not to Resign.

Secretary McAdoo today reaffirmed that he had no intention of resigning. His statement was made in two letters to newspapers which had referred to his intention to resign.

OVER 31,000 SEEK TO GET NEBRASKA LAND

Heavy Registration for 511 Sections Made By Homesteaders.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 18.—The registration yesterday for 511 sections of homestead land in the North Platte reserve and Fort Niobrara military reservation, was the largest since the office was opened last Monday. Those registering here and at Broken Bow and Valentine numbered more than 6,000 and the total to date exceeds 31,000.

Retirement of Huerta Is Said to Be Prepared For.

England's Attitude Causing Concern to Administration.

Felix Diaz Arrives at Havana—Will Go to Mexico.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Possibilities of Huerta's immediate retirement commanded foremost attention in the Mexican situation here today, and administration officials were awaiting advices to supplement those of late yesterday which suggested very strongly that Mexico's provisional president had been deterred only for lack of agreement on a man to succeed him.

Blanquet, minister of war, one of the group who acted with Huerta in the downfall of Madero, was mentioned as a successor, but not approved here. Diplomatists also were of opinion that Blanquet was ineligible because he was born in Spain and the Mexican Constitution demands a native-born. Whether Blanquet could remove the situation with the United States also was discussed.

Situation More Complex.

Reports of Huerta's impending retirement, rumors of death plots against Felix Diaz, a rival presidential candidate, and the attitude of foreign governments which already have recognized Huerta and some of which are regarded as sympathizing with the position of the United States, all served to make the present situation more complex.

ALLEGED LEPERS NOT "GIVEN SQUARE DEAL"

St. Louis Doctors Protest Against Action of City Authorities.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—In the face of protests of several physicians and a local fraternal organization that the men were not being given a "square deal," George Hartman and E. R. Grable were lodged in a cottage at the leprosy isolation camp, ten miles from the city limits. Their only neighbor will be Mon Wing, a Chinese leper.

Hartman, who twice escaped from the local quarantine, returned to the city and surrendered in the belief that he had been cured. Grable, who escaped from a quarantine in Utah a few days ago, applied to local health authorities for food and confessed he was a leper.

Two physicians, asserting the city has failed to provide proper medical attention for the men, volunteered to treat the lepers gratis in the hope of curing them within three years.

COPPER STRIKERS BLOW UP RAILROAD TRACK AND ATTACK TRAINLOAD OF DETECTIVES

FINDS THOSE SHE MOURNED

Woman Refugee From Volturno Reunited to Her Children.

Family Meets at New York When Steamer Docks.

New York, Oct. 18.—The arrival today of eleven women saved from the burning Volturno by the freighter Rappahannock was the signal for the wildest scene of joy and thanksgiving witnessed here since the rescuing fleet began to bring in the survivors. The women were transferred at Halifax from the Rappahannock to the liner Florisol, which docked in Brooklyn.

Ten of them were young girls. The eleventh was Mrs. Pela Polack and the scene at the dock as she met her three children, whom she had given up for lost, brought tears to the eyes of the immigrant officers.

Last Woman to Leave.

Mrs. Polack was the last woman to leave the Volturno. She was lowered into one of the Rappahannock's boats, believing that her children already were there. When the boat put off from the blazing ship and she found that the little ones were left behind, she became hysterical and the boat's crew had all they could do to keep her from jumping overboard. She remained in a hysterical condition during all the journey to New York.

Here, for the first time, she learned that the children had been saved by one of the boats from the Kroonland. They met here at the dock with their father, an East Side merchant.

The ten girls were taken care of by the Jewish Immigrant society.

Volturno Sighted.

New York, Oct. 18.—The ill-starred Volturno still was afloat and on fire on Oct. 14, five days after flames broke out in her forward compartment, according to officers of the steamer St. Louis, which reached here today. The St. Louis passed five miles north of what was left of the Volturno late Tuesday afternoon. The vessel had drifted about forty miles from the spot where she caught fire.

VAN RAPHARD IS TO BE DUTCH MINISTER.

The Hague, Netherlands, Oct. 18.—The Dutch government today selected Chevalier W. F. L. C. Van Raphard, formerly Dutch minister to Morocco, to succeed Jonkeheer J. Loudon, as Dutch minister to Washington.

SON OF FAMOUS ZULU CHIEF DIES.

Cape Town, Oct. 18.—Dinizulu, the last of the warrior kings of the former Zulu nation of South Africa, died today. He was a son of Cetywayo, the king who led the Zulu nation against the British troops in the war of 1879.

NEW PRESIDENT OF EPISCOPAL DEPUTIES

REV. DR. ALEXANDER MANN.

New York, Oct. 18.—Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity church, Boston, is the new president of the house of deputies of the Protestant Episcopal church. He was chosen recently at the convention now in progress at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine here. The only other candidate for the position was Dr. Manning, who was defeated by sixteen votes. Dr. Mann is the successor of the late Phillips Brooks in Boston. He is a low churchman.

SHOWS EATON WAS POISONED

State Introduces Medical Testimony at Woman's Trial.

Defendant's Mother Testifies to Admiral's Character.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 18.—Medical testimony intended to establish that Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton was murdered by poisoning and evidence of his wife's jealousy were introduced by the state in the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton today. At 12:30 o'clock an adjournment until Monday was taken.

Dr. Joseph G. Frame, the family physician, told of attending the admiral the day before he died.

Miss Grace Byram Howard and Miss Bessie R. Collamore testified that Mrs. Eaton had asked them to accuse the admiral of having tried to flirt with them. Neither had been annoyed by attentions from the admiral, they said.

Mrs. Eaton appeared much amused at the testimony of the young women, and at times laughed aloud.

Testified Against Daughter.

Mrs. Virginia Harrison of Alexandria, Va., member of a prominent family of that state, was called by the prosecution to tell about conditions in the home of her daughter, Jennie May Eaton. Mrs. Harrison said that her daughter manifested "hysterical tendencies" toward the admiral at times. During the last four years, the witness has spent much time at her daughter's home in Assinippi, and she testified that she considered her son-in-law "always very much of a gentleman."

Her daughter, she said, seemed actuually to believe that the admiral dabbled in drugs, and was insane. Mrs. Harrison could see no signs of these things. She had seen the admiral intoxicated, she testified, but she never detected any signs of the drug habit. She first noticed the admiral's final illness on March 6, before he had touched the roast pork which Mrs. Eaton claimed was the cause of that attack.

Never Gave Way.

It was the first time she had seen her daughter since Mrs. Eaton left home on March 20, to attend the inquest at Hingham, where she was arrested on the charge of murder. Often, as she answered the questions of District Attorney Barker, tears rolled down her cheeks, but she never gave way entirely to her emotions. Whenever she semed on the verge of breaking down, Mrs. Eaton would lean forward and smile reassuringly.

Mrs. Harrison took the stand after her 16-year-old granddaughter, Dorothy, had finished six hours of testimony. She corroborated much of what Dorothy had said about friction in the household.

WINCHELL TO GO TO MINING CONGRESS

Minneapolis Man Is Named Delegate By the President.

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Wilson, on recommendation of Secretary Lane, appointed today ten delegates to represent the government at the American Mining congress in Philadelphia, beginning on Oct. 20. Among them were H. V. Winchell of Minneapolis, and Lieutenant Governor W. W. McDowell of Montana.

LOCOMOTIVE ALMOST RUNS ON EXPLOSIVE

Militia Get Control But Situation Is Very Ominous.

Gen. Abbey Returns From Talk With Governor Ferris.

Martial Law Is Hinted at for Keweenaw County.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—At 10:30 this morning strikers blew up the tracks of the Keweenaw Central railroad at Copper City, Houghton county, north of Calumet, ahead of a train of three cars carrying Ascher detectives, who were being taken to Mohawk to guard that property during its reopening. The explosion took place but a few feet ahead of the locomotive, effectually blocking the way to Mohawk for the time being.

Immediately 300 to 400 strikers surrounded the train and stoned and attacked the cars. Fifty mounted artillerymen and signal corps men were rushed to the protection of the train and now have control, but the situation looks decidedly ugly.

Engineer Saw Explosion.

Gen. Abbey, who returned to Calumet this morning, has gone to Copper City to take personal charge of the situation there. Engineer Stephen Cocking of the train reported to the management of the road following the incident that he saw the quantity of explosive ahead of the train on the track, and running at a low rate of speed, was enabled to stop the train a few feet short of the spot where it was planned to wreck the special.

The troops at Calumet have been ordered to go north at once to Copper City, Kearsarge district, and probably will establish their permanent camp there.

There are threats of further activities against the importing of mine guards and men to work the mines, and it may be necessary to ask the governor for more troops for the Keweenaw district.

Abbey Met Governor.

Gen. Abbey, commanding the state troops, returned this morning from Lower Michigan, where he conferred with Governor Ferris on the strike.

Gen. Abbey says it is planned to place the militia in complete charge in Keweenaw county unless Sheriff Hepting can enforce order, meaning virtual martial law for that county. Bringing in 200 more non union miners this morning, the authorities ran the special train over the side tracks into Laurium village to foil several hundred strikers gathered at Calumet station to meet the imported men.

YAQUI INDIANS BEAR VICTIM'S HEAD ON POLE

Mexican Commander Killed By Pursuers at Puerto.

Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 18.—The ancient custom of heralding victory by making public demonstrations with the heads of the conquered was revived by the rebels two weeks ago, according to stories today by travelers who reached here.

Following the invasion of Puerto, the story runs, Yaqui Indians pursued the retreating Federal army and captured among others, Prefecto Torres, a Federal commander. The Indians put him to death and returned with his head, parading it about the streets on a pole.

Torres, it is reported, had threatened to execute any Constitutionalists who fell into his hands.

AUSTRIAN ULTIMATUM IS SENT TO SERVIA

Immediate and Complete Evacuation of Albania Demanded.

Vienna, Oct. 18.—Austria today sent an ultimatum to Servia demanding the immediate and complete evacuation of the points in Albania occupied by Servian troops after the recent conflicts between them and the Albanians.

AUSTRIA CLOSES CANADIAN OFFICES.

Vienna, Oct. 18.—The police today closed the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway company throughout Austria, after impounding all the books and correspondence.

This action was taken as a sequel to the arrest on Thursday of Samuel Altmann, the company's agent here, in connection with a charge that he had assisted Austrians to evade military service by emigrating to Canada without passports.

UNVEIL MONUMENT AT SCENE OF THE DEFEAT OF NAPOLEON

Germany, Austria, Russia and Sweden Take Part in Event.

"Battle of the Nations" Marked By Biggest Structure in Europe.

Leipsic, Saxony, Oct. 18.—Thousands of people from all parts of Germany, Austria, Russia and Sweden gathered here today for the dedication of the memorial of the "Battle of the Nations"—which ended just 100 years ago in a victory for the allies over the French and resulted in the emancipation of Germany.

One of the features of the day's exercises was the arrival of the last runners in a series of relays bearing banners and greetings from every quarter of the German empire, and also from Washington and from Rio Janeiro. The banner from the United States passed through the hands of many thousand athletes before it reached the king of Saxony. In all the relays a total of 43,000 runners were engaged.

Dedicated by King of Saxony.

The monument was dedicated by the king of Saxony. The chief address was delivered by Wilhelm Clemens Thieme, chamberlain at the royal court of Saxony, to whose efforts the completion of the monument was due. Standing near him were a number of foreign princes, representing the rulers of the countries whose troops had formed part of the victorious allied army. They included the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, Grand Duke Cyril of Russia and Prince William of Sweden.

The long program included services at the Austrian memorial to the commander of the allied army, Field Marshall Prince Karl Philipp von Schwarzenberg; a te deum at the Russian memorial church; luncheon at the council house; a state dinner at the royal palace, and an oratorio, "From Germany's Great Days," at the opera house.

The sovereigns of Austria, Russia and Sweden, the nations that fought with Prussia to break the power of Napoleon in Germanic Europe, sent their personal representatives, and all the federated princes and mayors of the German empire were present. Their host is King Frederick August III of Saxony, sixth in line of direct descent from that King Frederick August I, who fought with Napoleon

MUST OWN TOOLS TO GET FAIR PAY

"The only method by which the worker today can obtain the full value of his toil is through collective ownership of the tools of production, and the tendencies of the time indicate that this is the next step in civilization."

This was the declaration of Sigmund N. Slonim, Socialist lecturer, in an address to an audience of about 100 people at Socialist hall, 104 West Second street, last evening. The meeting was the first of a series of social and educational meetings to be given by the English branch of the Socialist party.

"Today" declared the speaker, "the man who does the work of the world receives less than a living wage, while the man who owns the machinery gets the greater part of the wealth produced."

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 7. On Thursday evening, the women's branch of the English local will be addressed by John A. Keyes on "The Materialistic Interpretation of History."

CHILDREN GET PRIZES

C. P. Craig and Dr. Oredson Give Addresses; 700 Entered the Contest.

A crowd of happy youngsters, winners of prizes in garden contests, accompanied by their parents, and hundreds of other residents of the West end, packed the large auditorium of the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street last night, to attend the program given by the West End Commercial club in connection with the awarding of cash prizes for the efforts of the children in gardening during the past summer. Mayor Prince, who was introduced by L. A. Simonson, president of the club, presided and announced the names of the winners while Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the garden committee, gave out the prizes.

Following the awarding of prizes addresses were given on gardening by Charles P. Craig and Dr. Oredson. Mr. Craig congratulated the club and the children of the West end on the success that the contests held in this end of the city have attained. He said that it was the promotion of work of this kind that made useful men and women of the children as well as proved a big factor in reducing the high cost of living.

Work of the Club.

Dr. Oredson gave a brief talk on the work accomplished by the club in promoting the contests. He said that last year there were about 200 children entered in the contests while this year over 700 had taken the first start. Next year, he predicted, every child in the West end would want to enter in the field.

John J. Moe spoke principally on the West end as a part of the city. He advocated co-operation of the residents and business men and the working hand in hand with other clubs and organizations of the city in making Duluth a great city.

A feature of the program was a series of stereopticon views of business interests of the West end as well as of the attractive spots of the city. L. A. Simonson, president of the club gave a short lecture on each subject.

Views of Parks.

The views included pictures of Duluth's parks and also a few taken from scenes of the Yellowstone National park. The object of showing the latter was, said Mr. Simonson, to show the children that it was not necessary to leave the boundary lines of Duluth to get pretty scenery, but that the city had spots of beauty that rivaled those of any place in the country. Twenty views of the shops and lines of the Duluth Street Railway company were also given with an explanatory talk given by Henry H. Brown.

The program also included selections given by children from the various schools of the district. Children from the Adams, Ensign, Lincoln and Monroe took part.

It was estimated that nearly 500 children were present at the meeting. At the close, as they filed from the hall an apple was given to each, the committee in charge having provided two barrels of the fruit for this purpose.

MISSIONARY SOCIETIES MEET

Officers Elected for Duluth District; Work Reviewed By Speakers.

The annual meeting of the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Duluth district was held yesterday at the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. The session of the afternoon was taken up with the discussions of missions and of plans for making auxiliary meetings more attractive.

During the forenoon the reports from the auxiliary organizations showed that all were in a flourishing condition and that a large amount of money had been raised during the past year for the support of both home and foreign work.

Officers of the district organization of the past year were re-elected. They are Mrs. W. C. Ives, president; Mrs. C. W. Winton, recording secretary; Mrs. E. S. Ganser, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. M. W. Turner, treasurer.

Addresses were given and papers read by Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of the Grace M. E. church; Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church; Mrs. R. H. Wellington, and Mrs. Harriet Carey. Others who took part in the program were Mrs. Joseph Cochran, Rev. W. H. Farrell, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church; Rev. W. Grant Fritz, pastor of the Merritt Memorial M. E. church; Mrs. David Adams, and Miss Perle Reynolds.

FUNERAL OF GEORGE EK WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

The body of George Ek, 24 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Ek, 2620 West Fourth street, who was accidentally killed Monday night at Boise City, Idaho, arrived in the city this morning. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from Olson & Crawford's undertaking rooms at 1:30 o'clock and at 2 o'clock from the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. Interment will be in the Hermantown cemetery.

The young man was killed while installing a meter. While kneeling down to attach the wires his knee came in contact with the ends of a live wire. Death was almost instantaneous. He had been employed as chief of the meter department of the Idaho & Oregon Light & Power company for nearly two years and was considered an expert in meter service.

The young man was raised in the West end and attended the schools of this end of the city. He had a host of friends here who were shocked at the news of his death.

WILL GIVE ANNUAL MINSTREL SHOW

Adams Glee Club Will Be Heard at Star Theater.

The Adams Glee club, which has been rehearsing for the last three months, will give its annual minstrel show next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at the Star theater. The club consists of forty entertainers and they will give a 1913 minstrel show with the latest jokes and songs.

The club has given a show every fall for several years, and an effort has always been made to make each entertainment better than any formerly given. The receipts will go to the club fund.

FALL RALLY.

Duluth Baptist Union Will Meet Monday, Oct. 27.

The annual fall rally of the Duluth Baptist union, which was scheduled to be held next Monday at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, has been postponed until Monday afternoon and evening, Oct. 27.

Dr. E. R. Pope, superintendent for Baptist missions in Minnesota, will be the principal speaker and give the principal sermon of the evening. The following is the program for the meetings:

3 p. m., at Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue and First street, devotional exercises, conducted by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor Central church, followed by a season of conference and prayer.

7:30 p. m., at Swedish Baptist temple, song service and devotional; leader, C. E. Dahlquist; address, "Duluth's Challenge to Duluth Baptists," W. A. Patton; address, "Baptist Fellowship in Our City," Rev. R. E. Sayles of the First Baptist church; address, "Baptist City Union Work," Dr. E. R. Pope of Minneapolis.

Band Concert.

The Zenith City band will entertain tomorrow evening at the Woodmen hall at the first of a series of monthly concerts. The program will be given under the direction of Charles Fremling. The program will include a number of band and orchestra numbers given by the entire membership as well as vocal selections given by the members of the Svea Glee club and other local talent.

HOTEL CLERKS WILL ORGANIZE; MAKE IT HARDER FOR "DEAD BEATS"

C. A. Hine, chief clerk at the Spalding, is organizing a Duluth Association of Hotel Clerks, which will be a subsidiary organization of the Tri-State association, of which Minnesota is a member. It is planned to invite the 1914 convention of the Tri-State association to Duluth, according to Mr. Hine.

An informal meeting of all the hotel clerks in the city was held last evening at the Spalding hotel. The gathering was arranged by Mr. Hine, who also presided following the dinner. Mr. Hine explained his plans, which readily met with the approval of the other clerks and another meeting will be held next week to complete the arrangements and formally organize a Duluth association.

The new organization will have a two-fold purpose, according to Mr. Hine. It will tend to bring together all the clerks of the city, thus acting as a social agent, while the association will prove of great benefit to the local hotels; in that a close watch may be kept on all the dead beats through this union. One hotel can notify another of a dead beat. At present it is easy for a man to beat the proprietor of his hotel out of a bill, go to another hotel, do the same thing and continue doing it until all the hotels have been visited.

Most of the local clerks are members of the Tri-State association, in which are included the states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota. As soon as the local association is organized, an action will be extended for the holding of the next convention in Duluth. The managers of the local hotels are all willing to help the clerks entertain the association and it is the belief of those at the meeting last evening that the project will go through.

TELLS PRINCIPLES OF PRESBYTERIAN FAITH.

Rev. Robert Yost, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the principal speaker last night at the bazar held at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The pastor told of the early history of the Presbyterians and of the principles of the faith followed by that flock.

Another large crowd attended. The program included also several musical selections, among those taking part being Capt. M. Fristrup of the Scandinavian Salvation Army, John P. Otis and J. R. Bachelor.

The bazar will come to a close tonight. The program will include an address on the history and principles of the Methodist Episcopal church, given by Rev. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion Methodist church. The program follows:

Larson-Johnson.

Miss Emma Larson and Adolph Johnson were married yesterday afternoon at the parsonage of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, 2305 West Third street. Rev. Carl G. Olson read the service. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in this end of the city.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. John Palm, 1917 West Third street, was pleasantly surprised yesterday afternoon by members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Swedish Baptist church. Mrs. Palm, who has been an invalid for some years, was presented with handsome remembrances of the occasion.

George Albertson of Waseca is spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

Miss Theresa Wahlbeck of Morris, Minn., left yesterday for her home after spending two weeks visiting friends in the West end.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Kling of Walla Walla, Wash., who have been guests of relatives in this end of the city for the past week, left last night for the Twin Cities, where they will visit relatives before returning home.

Rev. M. B. Milne of Waupaca, Wis., who is visiting in the city, will occupy the pulpit of the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, tomorrow evening.

The Daughters of Norway lodge of the West end have planned to hold their annual bazar in the Woodmen hall Tuesday evening.

MANUFACTURERS ARE ASKED ABOUT STEEL

Testify in Suit to Dissolve the Alleged Trust.

New York, Oct. 18.—The last of the ore experts left the stand and manufacturers were called in behalf of the United States Steel corporation yesterday in the government's suit to dissolve the "trust" under the Sherman law. Through several witnesses the defense sought to show that no monopoly in the steel and iron trade exists.

Maximilian Lewinson, a consulting engineer, testified that in purchasing materials for buildings erected in New York, no coercion had ever been exerted as to where he should buy.

F. W. Wurster, former mayor of Brooklyn, head of a rolling mill and manufacturing company, denied he had knowledge of the existence of any arrangement among manufacturers to regulate prices.

"During an active market, I have found that the independent manufacturers advance their prices," Mr. Wurster said, "and when the market is sluggish and orders scarce, their general custom is to quote prices several points below those of the Carnegie Steel company, which maintains a more uniform rate at all times."

The hearings will be resumed on Monday.

BLIND SPIRITUALIST GUILTY OF MURDER.

Murfreesboro, Ark., Oct. 18.—F. G. Farrell, a blind spiritualist, charged with first degree murder in connection with a suicide pact that resulted in the death of Mrs. T. J. Turner and Miss Rhoda Carter, at Glenwood, Ark., Sept. 16, was convicted of murder in the second degree.

During the trial T. J. Turner, the husband, admitted giving poison to the women after he had agreed with them to die. He also took some of the drug, but recovered.

Turner said Farrell had encouraged the suicide pact through medium seances at which his adopted son, who died seven years ago, would return and appeal to them to commit suicide and join him in the life beyond the grave.

It was the contention of the state that the motive of Farrell in bringing about the suicide pact was to secure possession of Turner's property. This, it was charged, had been deeded to Farrell by Turner.

CITY HALL CAT HAS A RIVAL

Blue Blooded Angora Invades Territory of Milk Inspector's Alley Cat and Is Chased Away---Cat War Is Begun.

"You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink," runs a saying which hearkens back to the tales of younger days.

Neither can you drive a cat away from milk and keep it from drinking.

Which is incidental to heralding that there is war in the basement of the city hall, a cat war, a war which threatens to afford many a laugh for the city employes on that floor of the municipal building.

For let it be known that the sacred feeding grounds of the cat which has adopted Milk Inspector Gust Hedman have been profaned by an invader. Yesterday Charlie Carlson, night janitor and watchman of the city hall, brought a new cat, one which he prizes highly as a pet, to enjoy the bounties of the milk inspector.

Now the cat which adopted the milk inspector is a common, black and white, ordinary, mongrel sort of cat. The cat of the night janitor is a fuzzy, furry, proudly aristocratic Angora cat, a classy sort of cat. Just ask Charlie if she isn't.

Angora Got Her Goat.

The common cat was recently dubbed "fraid cat" because she nearly jumped out of her plebeian hide the other day to get out of the way of a little, beady-eyed mouse. But she redeemed herself yesterday, at least in the eyes of the milk inspector. When the common cat caught sight of the Angora putting on lordly airs in the milk inspector's laboratory it "got her goat." Her gorge rose and so did her hair. Hissing and spitting the common cat advanced upon the enemy which had made bold to trespass upon its preserves. Right up to the proud Angora marched the mongrel, venting its spleen. But the blooded feline would not fight.

Just when it seemed that the mongrel was going to force a battle by leaping upon its hated rival Charlie Carlson appeared on the scene. He took in the situation at a glance. Becoming a partizan at once he proceeded to throw the ferocious mongrel which deigned to even look upon his pet through the window. Then he locked his pet up in the engine room.

But the mongrel cat came back. She climbed or leaped to the sill of the open window of the laboratory and went stalking the Angora, blood in her eye. Twice afterwards, when he ran across the common cat which dared to make faces at his pet, did Charlie dump the common cat through the window. And twice more did the common cat return through the window of the milk laboratory. Finally giving up its search as a hopeless task the common cat returned to the workroom of the master which she had adopted. Apparently having dismissed the former unpleasant occurrence from her mind she adopted her former tactics of pleading for her bowl of milk until it was forthcoming.

The honors of the first day's engagement are conceded to the common cat. The milk inspector declares that he will back her against the janitor's cat any day.

How Any Woman Can Remove Fuzzy Growths

(The Modern Beauty)

Many beauty shops use a delatone paste for removing hair from the face, neck or arms, as it is more satisfactory in every way than the electric needle. Enough of the powdered delatone and water is mixed into a paste, and spread on the hairy surface for 2 minutes, then removed and with it comes every bit of hair. After the skin is washed it will be firm and free from blemish. To insure best results, buy the delatone from your druggist in an original package. Adv.

WORK PROGRESSING ON ELECTRIC PLANT.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 18.—Fully twenty carloads of machinery for the hydro-electrical plant of the Oliver Iron Mining company have arrived in the city from the factories over the St. Paul road during the past few weeks. The machinery is hauled by teams from the railroad yards to the plant at the Quinnesec Falls. Considerable electrical machinery is also being delivered at the mine.

The work of installation is moving forward rapidly, a large force of men being employed. The standards for the wire line from the falls to the mine are nearly all erected.

Terrible Suffering

Eczema All Over Baby's Body.

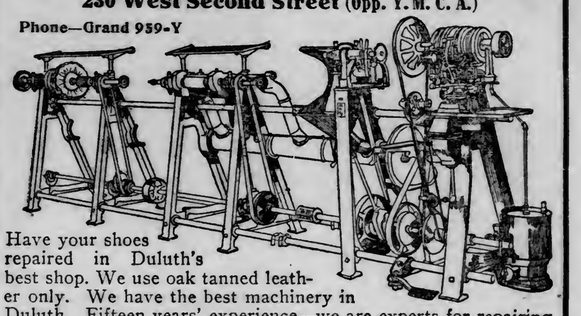

"When my baby was four months old his face broke out with eczema, and at sixteen months of age, his face, hands and arms were in a dreadful state. The eczema spread all over his body. We had to put a mask or cloth over his face and tie up his hands. Finally we gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few months he was entirely cured. Today he is a healthy boy." Mrs. Inez Lewis, Baring, Maine.

ARGENTINA GETTING READY TO SEND BEEF

New Tariff Law Will Bring Food to United States.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Active preparations by Argentina to take immediate advantage of the free beef clause of the new tariff law and send to the United States large shipments of beef are reported by Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, who has just arrived from South America. He made the trip for the department of agriculture to study meat packing and inspecting conditions in Argentina, Uruguay and Brazil.

Dr. Melvin was not ready to say whether the Argentine beef could compete with the American product and bring prices which would make it profitable for the Argentine shippers to send it here instead of to Europe. He said it was a significant fact, however, that a big steamship line operating between the United States and the east coast of South America had installed large refrigerating spaces for beef.

Argentina and Uruguay, Dr. Melvin said, have good meat inspection laws. He is preparing a report for Secretary Houston covering his investigations, which will embrace any recommendations he has to make as to dealing with meat from South America.

Figures issued by the bureau of domestic and foreign commerce show that whereas the United States exported $44,000,000 worth of beef and beef cattle in the first eight months of 1904, during the corresponding period this year only $1,000,000 worth has been shipped abroad.

TENNESSEE SOLONS ADJOURN ONCE MORE.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 18.—After having been in session five days, during which time the prohibition law enforcement bills were enacted into law, the second extraordinary session of the Fifty-eighth general assembly of Tennessee adjourned sine die. For the third time within the last ten months the general assembly has gone through the formality of adjournment. The second extra session was not marked by any of the stormy scenes which characterized the preceding extra session.

Some Advance Work Being Done for Next State Political Contest---The Governorship Situation --L. C. Spooner on Economy.

It may be a trifle early, but the state is beginning to sharpen tools for the next state political contest. Already forces are being marshaled for the candidates who are expected to get into the field for the various offices and for the only announced governorship candidate, Samuel G. Iverson present state auditor and avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. Of course, the fight goes on for the present governor, for while he has not tossed his hat into the ring, so to say, it is looked upon as there anyway.

• • •

There is a lot of opposition to the governor but he also has a lot of support. His decision at the eleventh hour to not call a special session of the legislature to take up the matter of a utilities commission was received throughout the state by a division of opinion, which only goes to prove that political contests, like horse races, are made by a difference of opinion. His recent announcement that he has adopted the slogan suggested by The Herald, "Economy and Efficiency," seems to be well received and perhaps has gained him some strength, even this early.

• • •

Recently one of the Twin City newspapers wired L. C. Spooner of Morris Minn., a candidate for the Republican nomination for the governorship at the last contest, for his opinion regarding the situation for the governorship and also asking him whether or not he will be a candidate. Mr. Spooner replied in a letter in which he deals with conditions as he sees them and incidentally does not use language that can be construed as complimentary to the present administration. Says Mr. Spooner in his letter:

"My answer to your telegram is that there is nothing I care now to say relative to what you call the 'gubernatorial situation,' or in answer to your single question, personal to myself—unless I say that during last year, in over 100 public addresses, and otherwise, I definitely disclosed that the cost of our state administration, or, I should say, mal-administration, a little more than trebled between 1902 and 1912, unnecessarily, as I believed, though I did not then believe or expect that the next legislature would add the crown of infamy thereto, as it did, by adding to the enormous increase in the cost of administration during the ten-year period mentioned, much the greatest increase ever made for any two-year period of administration in the whole hostory of Minnesota—much of which unwarranted increase, culpable in the highest degree, was resorted to by what was termed the house organization, as a necessary means of securing the defeat of the enactment of the so-called Sawyer bill intended to secure an honest and effective inquiry into the enormous increase in the cost of state administration referred to, the causes thereof, and the legitimate remedy therefor.

"Though I found it impossible last year to get help from any leading newspaper of the state to exploit the necessity of retrenchment and reform in the administrative affairs of this state, it is exceedingly gratifying to me to notice that of late The Duluth Herald is publishing editorials on the subject calculated to challenge consideration.

"It will, perhaps, be permissable to add that it is not my belief that any man should receive favorable consideration who has been either directly or indirectly related, during past years, to the plundering of our public domain or of late has been openly or secretly active to prevent legislation looking towards a better administration thereof."

• • •

In the Democratic ranks there is more of a feeling of assurance than usual for the reason that it is felt that during the past couple of years the party has materially strengthened, and that the popularity of the Wilson administration has done much for the party in each state.

Among the Democrats suggested and being quietly groomed for the party's nomination for governor is Maj. Albert Pfaender of New Ulm. Maj. Pfaender is a member of the state house of representatives and for three terms has been Democratic floor leader. He is considered one of the strong men of the party and is well known and popular throughout the state.

• • •

Congressman Sidney Anderson is being quite generally "slammed" for his recent action in resigning from the ways and means committee of the house of representatives, doing it with something of a flourish. Careful study of the state press will develop very little indorsement of Mr. Anderson's action.

• • •

La Porte News: It is understood that a Mr. McCarthy, an attorney in Grand Rapids, is going to be a candidate for district judge in opposition to Judge Wright of Park Rapids at the next election. If he stays in the ring believing he can beat Judge Wright, he will find he has judged wrong.

For the information of the La Porte News, it may be said that "a Mr. McCarthy, an attorney in Grand Rapids," is C. C. McCarthy, a former state senator, who left a first-class record as a state legislator, made another good record as county attorney in Itasca county, and is regarded as one of the leading attorneys of Northern Minnesota.

• • •

Breckenridge Telegram: Sam Gordon in the Browns Valley Tribune, predicts that the Smith-Eberhart machine will be put to rout in the next primary campaign. It's no boy's job and the worst of it is that there is no incentive to able leadership and hence no leader. None of the really desirable men feel very anxious to make the money sacrifice that is necessary.

According to the Telegram, the Republican party seems to be up against it, with no leader, no incentive to leadership, and the need of money sacrifice. Maybe the governor really does carry a rabbit's foot.

• • •

Mankato Free Press: The Heron Lake News says: "The Sauk Center Herald has fired Senator Clapp from the Republican party. The Herald has designated itself the official bouncer." The senator appears to have bounced himself out of the Republican party.

Senator Clapp is coming in for a great deal of this sort of thing these days. The Republican press of the state is rapidly reading him out of the party, all on account of his failure to vote with the Democrats. Times seem to have changed. A few years ago if he had voted with the Democrats it would have been carried right home to him.

• • •

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Menagha Journal wants some real Republican to get in the field as candidate for congress in this district. What's the matter with Old Man Kelley? There is none better.

This retort complimentary seems to be a Rolland for Mr. Kelley's Oliver.

• • •

Virginia Enterprise: Friends of Senator James P. Boyle of Eveleth are urging him to declare himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress from the Eighth district, in opposition to Congressman Miller, now in the Philippines on a diplomatic errand. Senator Boyle has served several terms in the Minnesota legislature. He is a brilliant public speaker and a young man of broad ideas and progressive standards. He refuses to commit himself as to his congressional candidacy, but those who are near to him believe he will shortly authorize an announcement declaring he will be a candidate for the nomination at the primaries next year.

The entrance of Senator Boyle into the congressional field will likely prove most interesting for he is popular, well known and has a good legislative record.

THE BROWN BOTTLE ABSURDITY

The brown bottle "bubble" has foundered on the rocks of public opinion and the reason is so simple that it hardly needs explanation. Consumers of beer have listened patiently to the "skunky" whines of the brown bottle soloist, which is in discord with the actual experience of regular beer users. People have enjoyed their beer from light bottles for more than a score of years—they have relished it and pronounced it O. K. The statement that beer in light bottles is not palatable or wholesome is absurd and not founded on fact. This is conclusively proven by the daily experience of beer users.

The reaction has caused consumers to study the question with the result that it is now quite generally understood that common beer, which lacks the stability of higher grade beer, is necessarily put up in brown bottles. The greatest authority on brewing in America has opened the eyes of beer consumers on this question. Their letter follows—read every line of it:

Chicago, November 12, 1912.

To our Clients:—

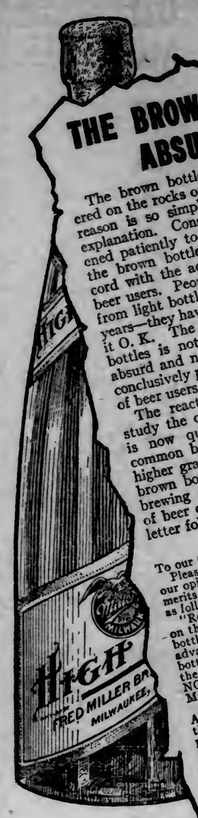

Please take note that we have recently given our opinion to one of our clients as to the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, as follows:

"Referring to your recent request for our opinion on the relative merits of the white and the brown bottle for beer, we wish to say that the ONLY advantage of the brown bottle over the light bottle consists in the protection it affords against the influence of light WHERE BEERS ARE NOT OF SUCH QUALITY AS TO BE IMMUNE.

"Where, however, bottle beers have attained A HIGH DEGREE OF STABILITY, so that they are practically immune to such influences as prolonged chilling and prolonged storage at summer temperature, they also that under the influence of light, so that with the usual precautions no bad effect need be feared.

"FOR SUCH BEERS THE LIGHT BOTTLE IS PREFERABLY EMPLOYED because it can more readily be inspected before filling to insure thorough cleanliness, and because the finished package reveals at a glance whether the contents meet the requirements of the consumer as to color, clarity and freedom from sedimentation."

"Yours very truly,
"WAHL-HENIUS INSTITUTE OF FERMENTOLOGY."

CANADIAN CATTLE BEING SHIPPED IN

Influx Follows the Passage of the New Tariff Law.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 18.—The influx of cattle into the United States under the new tariff law continues, and large shipments from Western Canada are reported daily. A special stock train carrying 400 head of steers passed over the boundary Thursday night destined for Chicago. Another stock train of twenty cars crossed the boundary last night.

YOUNG ASTOR GETS $1,500 FROM ESTATE.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—Vincent Astor, regarded as the richest young man in the world, received a legacy of $1,500 by the will of his uncle, J. R. Willing, better known as Barton Willing. The estate is valued at $100,000 and upwards. The will, written on a scrap of paper with a lead pencil, was found among Mr. Willing's papers after his death, a few weeks ago.

The scrap of paper on which the will was written bore no date and many of the words were hard to decipher. Mr. Willing specified that three-fourths of his estate should be given to his sister, Mrs. Susan R. W. Lawrence, and the remaining one-fourth to his other sister, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, Vincent Astor's mother. The testament concluded:

"I wipe out all indebtedness of money loaned to friends."

BRYAN LAUDS MONEY BILL

Says It Should Appeal to Every Legitimate Banking House.

Secretary of State Makes Address at Waterloo, Iowa.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 18.—"For generations the national banks have held the government's money in return for contributions to campaigns and support of the Republican party."

Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan so declared last night at the state dairy show in an address devoted to President Wilson's administrative measures. He was speaking of the currency bill.

"The bill is the most remarkable currency measure that we have ever had," he said. "It gives to the bankers enough to make them happy and not enough to make the people miserable.

Should Attract Bankers.

"There is one feature about this bill that should win the support of every banker doing a legitimate banking business. Heretofore it has been necessary to put up bonds to secure government money, but by the provisions of the new bill, the government loans money without requiring bonds. It allows the regional banks to take collateral from the banks within the zones, and the zone banks put their guarantee on the collateral. This enables the government to put into a community more money than it takes out.

"The government asks in return something that every banker should be willing to concede; namely, that the government should issue the money itself. Why let the banks issue the money in times of peace when the government must issue it in time of trouble? The president has taken the position that the government should issue the money and I think he is right. I also believe the banks can very well concede this point when they consider the benefits they receive through not having to purchase bonds as security."

On the Income Tax.

On the income tax law, he said:

"I have been called an anarchist for advocating the income tax more than for any one thing I have ever advocated. Because I favored an exemption of $4,000 and no graduation, they called me a disturber of the peace.

"When this bill passed the house it provided for an income tax running from 1 per cent to 4, and when it got to the senate the senate said that it was not enough. We have an income tax ranging from 1 per cent to 7 per cent on an income of $500,000 and more. When that bill came to be passed there were men in this country who had advocated an income tax who were willing to keep 89 per cent on woolen goods and the old Payne-Aldrich bill, rather than to join with the Democrats to give a lower tax and income tax. I realized that, while western Republicans voted for the extortionate rates of higher tariff, an eastern Democrat, Woodrow Wilson, right by Wall street and the manufacturers, cast his lot with the plain people and gave them a low rate on the necessities of life.

On the People's Side.

"Why did he do it? Because his policy is on the people's side. They could not come down and scare him. The man in his own state who had great factories and wanted a high tariff could not persuade him to take his stand with them and let them collect tribute from the rest of the people."

Mr. Bryan stated that he believed the present tariff law will settle agitation on that subject for a generation at least.

HUMPHREIS ENDS ANTI-SPEECH ORDER

Seattle Judge Also Rescinds Some of Contempt Sentences.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 18.—The court's order forbidding street speaking in Westlake square has been withdrawn by Superior Judge John E. Humphreis, who also rescinded the jail sentence and fine he had imposed on Dr. Herman M. Titus for contempt of court in having violated the injunction.

There now remain on the court's calendar only three of the great number of contempt cases growing out of the injunction. Judge Humphreis has been cited to appear before the supreme court at Olympia, Oct. 31, to show cause why he should not be permanently restrained from hearing these three cases because the defendants were refused change of venue from his court, although they had filed affidavits alleging prejudice.

HEAD AND NOSTRILS STUFFED FROM COLD

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends a Cold or Grippe In a Few Hours.

Your cold will break and all grippe misery end after taking a dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until three doses are taken.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

TIDE TURNS TO STATES

Colonizer Says Settlers Prefer Climate and Soil Here.

That 230,000 Canadians have come to the United States to settle during the last year, while only one-fifth that number have left the United States for that country, is the statement of Walter E. Grove of Minneapolis, colonizing manager of the Danaher-Holt company. Mr. Grove, while in Duluth today, said that he had obtained his figures from a well-known immigration official.

The Danaher-Holton company is one of the prominent colonizing corporations of the Northwest, and is settling up territory along the shores of Lake Superior. Wesley J. Irwin, president of the New St. Louis Hotel company, is one of the members.

"We have been settling and developing the town of Herbster, Wis., during the last year," said Mr. Grove, "and we have had wonderful success. To this town we have brought Dutch settlers from Canada, Holland and various parts of the United States. By next spring we will have 1,500 Dutch settlers there. They are turning their attention to dairying and fruit raising. They make excellent farmers, and they are building good, substantial homes for themselves and families."

Mr. Grove brought with him today six Hollanders from Canada, and these will settle in Herbster, which is only thirty-five miles from Duluth on the south shore of Lake Superior.

Mr. Grove discussed conditions for settlers in Canada and the United States. "The tide of emigration is turning now," he said. "The crowds of settlers who left the United States for the Dominion are now anxious to get back. Many of them would come at once if they had the price, as conditons there are unfavorable in many ways.

"In the first place there is a lack of roads and market. The population is small and scattered and railroad rates are 50 per cent higher than in the United States, while the cost of living is a third higher with prices no better than here for what they sell. Many Canadian settlers are thirty miles from market and the weather is cold and the snows are deep during the long winters. As for soil and climate this country is away ahead as the summer season is longer and a greater variety of produce can be raised."

Mrs. Pankhurst's conviction in England of conspiracy to commit arson brought her within this class.

The militant leader's case moved with unexcelled celerity. She was interrogated by immigration inspectors on board the liner Provence, upon which she had made the trip from Havre; was detained only a few minutes aboard the vessel when it docked; was rushed in a special tug to the detention station at Ellis ilsand, and was taken immediately before the special board of inquiry there. Her examination by this board lasted little over an hour and she was not represented by counsel.

Mrs. Pankhurst told the immigration officials that her purpose in coming to America was not to advocate the militant method for obtaining suffrage, but to lecture upon the history and the progress of the cause in England.

Mr. Reeves filed his appeal by long distance telephone with Commissioner General Caminetti and announced that the commissioner general would hear the case tomorrow. Mr. Reeves said he would leave for Washington tonight, taking with him a copy of the minutes of the special board.

Detained on Liner.

Mrs. Pankhurst was detained aboard the liner Provence when it docked. A special tug was commissioned to take her to Ellis Island. She was placed aboard and taken to the immigration station there. A special board of inquiry, it was announced, would convene speedily and render a verdict sometime today, if possible.

This board set itself to determine if Mrs. Pankhurst's conviction in England was for a crime involving moral turpitude. If so she would come within the class excluded by the immigration act. If not, the act does not apply.

Says Offense Was Political.

To inspectors who questioned her aboard the Provence Mrs. Pankhurst asserted that her conviction was for a political offense, and that it was generally understood that her sentence had expired when she left England for France, although she had not been so notified formally.

For a quarter of an hour the militant leader was questioned by immigration inspectors in the white and gold music room of the liner. A curious crowd of passengers, eager to learn the disposition of her case, trooped in through the doors and pressed the two-score newspaper reporters forward until they surrounded the little group.

Rheta Child Dorr, Mrs. Pankhurst's traveling companion, sought to sit beside the militant leader during the hearing, but this the inspectors would not permit, examining Mrs. Pankhurst alone.

Americans Doing Well.

"I am not coming to America to tell American women how to get the vote," Mrs. Pankhurst announced when the inspectors left her. "They appear to be abundantly able to manage their own campaign. Their progress it has been remarkable and they need no foreign leadership."

There was no touch of militancy about Mrs. Pankhurst's face or figure as she chatted with the newspaper men. She was dressed in a grey suit, cut V shaped at the throat, a blue hat that bore but a single ostrich plume of black and was half hidden by a blue veil, and wore a sealskin coat that touched the floor when she walked. Her fast greying hair belied the youth that seemed stamped on her features.

She had almost recovered, she said, from the illness caused by forcible feeding in Holloway jail. But she was willing to live her harrowing experiences all over again a dozen times if need be, "for the cause."

"Would I see it through?" she repeated in indignant answer to a question asked by a reporter. "Why, of course, I would! I would die if I had to for the cause! And there are dozens, yes, hundreds of women in England who would do the same thing. I don't set myself up as different from any other woman, or better than any other women.

"We are having a revolution in England, just as you people of America had a revolution when you wanted your freedom, when you were taxed without representation. We English women are fighting for our freedom. Just as you won yours, so will we win ours. You fought against George III; we are fighting against George V —no, perhaps I should not say that; we are not fighting against King George. We are against King Asquith, for he is the obstinate man who blocks the way.

Expected to Enter America.

"I do not think I should be denied admittance to your country. I don't think it will be. I am willing to trust to the sense of justice of the American people."

Mrs. Pankhurst was questioned closely about her departure from England. She told the immigration inspectors that she thought she would not be arrested if she returned there.

"I was at liberty under license," she explained. "My license had expired and I was, of course subject to arrest."

"I was, of course, subject to arrest at any time. Notwithstanding, I addressed the International Medical congress after the expiration of my license and was not molested. Inasmuch as I had been arrested for addressing public meetings previously, I should think that if I had been wanted I would have been arrested while addressing the meeting.

"Further, I announced publicly that I expected to leave England. No attempt was made to prevent my departure."

In Room Where Castro Waited.

Acting orders from Washington, the special board of inquiry speeded the hearing. At the detention station Mrs. Pankhurst was lodged for a few minutes in the room which Cipriano Castro occupied while at Ellis Island. Then she was taken before the board.

Four women who accompanied Mrs. Pankhurst to Ellis Island were allotted to converse with her and her counsel in her rooms. They were not permitted to accompany her before the board, however, nor was her lawyer.

WASHINGTON EXPECTS EARLY CHANGE IN THE MEXICAN SITUATION

links early, as is his week-end custom, and Secretary Bryan was out of the city.

Despite the lack of advices here, there was a feeling of confidence in administration circles that Huerta was being pressed by his friends to retire, and officials here admitted that a change in administration in Mexico City was expected.

Anxious About England.

The attitude of Great Britain, according to those who know the views of the Washington administration, is cause for concern. American officials showed some disappointment to learn that Sir Lionel Garden presented his credentials to Huerta, the day after he had proclaimed himself as dictator. It had been confidently expected here that in line with earlier advices, Great Britain had extended recognition to Huerta as provisional president pending an election, that he would not now be regarded as a constitutional ruler in view of his nullification of constitutional restrictions.

It is possible that diplomatic inquiries may be made through Ambassador Page as to the intentions of the British foreign office.

Felix Diaz in Cuba.

Havana, Oct. 18.—Gen. Felix Diaz arrived here today from Europe on board the steamer Corcovado. He was greeted on the deck of the vessel by Senor de la Garza, who was recently appointed Mexican consul-general at Paris, and who endeavored to persuade him to discontinue his journey to Mexico, to which advice Gen. Diaz refused to listen.

Gen. Diaz told the Associated Press that he would proceed immediately to Mexico and had no intention of abandoning his presidential aspirations. He said he was fully convinced that the election would be held Oct. 26.

Ambassador at Berlin.

Berlin, Oct. 18.—Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, summoned by the German foreign minister, Gottlief von Jagow, to a special conference at the foreign office, arrived here today from his villa in Southern Germany, where he has been spending his vacation during his stay here. The ambassador is also to be received in audience by Emperor William.

Count Bernstorff said today he did not know the reason for the dispatch of the summons to him. A belief is current, however, that the situation in Mexico will be the chief subject of conversation. The new American tariff may also be discussed.

"U. S. Must Act."

Mexico City, Oct. 18.—"The United States must act to put an end to the impossible conditions constituting a daily menace to the lives of their nationals."

This was the opinion expressed by several of the diplomatic representatives who assembled for an informal conference in the German legation here on Wednesday.

No definite plan of action was agreed upon, but the situation was discussed at length.

WARMER

The delightful autumn weather that Duluth is accustomed to, still continues, and the tang in the air is delighting not only Duluthians but visitors. Light overcoats and jackets are not amiss these mornings and evenings, but the prediction is for warmer weather in the eastern portion of the state tonight.

A year ago today it was fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:30 o'clock and will set this afternoon at 5:16 o'clock, giving ten hours and forty-six minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to copious rains fell in all districts from the Mississippi valley eastward except along the Atlantic coast. Cooler weather prevails in the Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys and greater portions of the lake region, but in the extreme Northwest the temperature is rising. This change to warmer should reach the Head of the Lakes tonight. Freezing weather prevailed this morning throughout the greater portion of the Northwest and southward to including Western Kansas."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Minnesota—Cloudy tonight and Sunday; warmer in east portion tonight.

Lower Michigan—Fair tonight and Sunday; frost tonight.

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Sunday; colder in extreme east portion tonight with freezing temperature.

Wisconsin—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; slightly warmer tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; slightly warmer in east and central portions tonight; frost probable tonight.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Sunday; cooler in north and west portions tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Sunday; cooler tonight.

against the allies; whose troops deserted to the allies on the decisive day, and who himself, vainly appealing for terms, was taken to Berlin and kept a virtual prisoner for three years.

Biggest Structure in Europe.

The structure dedicated is today by far the largest and highest in Europe. It stands just south of Leipsic, near Drobsmeida, the village out of which the allies drove Napoleon on Oct. 18, 1813, the decisive day of the "Battle of Nations." The fight had then raged for six days between the Austrians, Prussians, Russians and Swedes on the one side, and the French, aided by the Saxons and Wurttembergers on the other, when the deciding day came. On the following day Napoleon abandoned the contest, leaving behind 75,000 of his army of 180,000 men, 15,000 of them dead. The allies, at a loss of 51,000 from a total strength of about 300,000, had made Germany free from foreign domination to the banks of the Rhine.

The idea of a monument on the battlefield was broached in the following year by Ernst Moritz Arndt, and found support from a number of prominent Germans and from a Russian diplomat. An organization was formed at Leipsic to keep alive the memory of the battle, but a king in captivity furnished grounds for abandoning the movement. The monument idea came up from time to time in the succeeding years, and in 1863, on the fiftieth anniversary of the battle, the foundation stone of a monument was laid.

Sod Turned in 1898.

Then came the wars of 1864, 1866 and 1870-71, and it remained for the German Patriots' association, formed in Leipsic in 1894, to take the matter up and carry it to a successful conclusion. Four years later the necessary money had been raised, a design by Prof. Bruno Schmitz had been accepted, and the first sod was turned for the work on Oct. 18, 1898.

The monument stands on a hill about 100 feet above the level of the surrounding country. It is approached by a flight of 111 steps hewn in granite. On the base of the monument at the head of the stairs is an imposing relief, 180 feet long and 60 feet wide, the work of Christian Behrens. In the center of this relief is a heroic figure of Saint Michael. On each side of him Furies with torches hover over a battlefield strewn with dead. Above, in letters six feet high, is the motto of the anti-Napoleon warriors: "Gott Mit Uns" (God with us).

The monument rises to a height of nearly 300 feet. It is of reinforced concrete, faced with porphyry. On the ground level is a crypt, surrounded by eight gigantic stone masks, representing fate. In front of each mask stands two warriors, twice life size, holding the death watch. Above this crypt is a rotunda, enclosing the hall of fame. About the walls sit four figures, two male and two female, seven times life size. They represent courage, sacrifice, exaltation and belief. The figures are the work of Prof. Franz Metzner.

No Prince Represented.

Around the outside of the domed cupola which surmounts the monument stand twelve gigantic warrior figures. The interiors of three of them are occupied by winding stairs and an elevator, giving access to a balcony near the top of the monument.

One striking thing is noted in connection with all the statues: not one represents any prince or sovereign. The uprising against Napoleon in 1813 was an uprising of the people, not of their rulers, and the new monument is a monument of the people. There is not a personal note about it.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES

Mr. Scott, principal of the Toronto normal school, and Mr. Castleman principal of the normal school at North Bay, Can., visited the school buildings this week. They are taking a ten days' tour inspecting the normal schools of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

• • •

C. J. Albert of the Albert Teachers' Agency of Chicago visited some of the classes on Wednesday.

• • •

The geography classes have made several very interesting and instructive excursions to the Patrick Woolen mills during the past week.

• • •

Julia Costin is spending the week-end with her sister, Mrs. F. Bowman, at Gilbert.

• • •

Miss Maude Amberg, who attended this school last year and is now teaching at Trout lake near Grand Rapids, was a visitor here on Friday.

• • •

Miss Gladys Roskilly of Virginia and Miss Louise Binney of Elba have been spending a few days here as guests of Millicent Roskilly and Agnes Peck.

• • •

Miss Violet Tupper and Miss Annette Johnson visited Lulu Fraleigh this week.

• • •

Agnes Kinsman and Myrtle Gay gave a spread in their room at Washburn hall Monday evening. Their guests were: Blanche Fredrickson, Madge Dumphy, Lulu Fraleigh, Margaret Corbett, Albina Veger, and Hazel Tobin.

• • •

Friday evening Millicent Roskilly and Petra Helland gave a spread in honor of Miss Gladys Roskilly and Miss Louise Binney.

The following were present: Delia Skagerberg, Hattie Lipke, Mable Paulson, Ruth McKenzie, Ragna Dahle and Agnes Peck.

• • •

Miss Emma Kinsman, who has been visiting her sister, Agnes, at Washburn hall, entertained the following girls at a theater party: Madge Dumphy, Mercedes James, Esther Sletten, Blanche Fredrickson, Agnes Kinsman and Lulu Fraleigh.

• • •

• • •

The second and third year classes entertained the freshmen at a very delightful autumn party Friday afternoon in the art room. Cornstalks and mountain ash berries were used for decorations. A basket carved from a pumpkin and filled with harvest fruits made a very attractive centerpiece. The mysteries of a freshmen initiation formed an interesting part of the afternoon's entertainment.

The members of the refreshment committee were: Elvira Wllander, Adelphine Wentzlaff, Olive Scott and Elsie Bellamy.

Those on the entertainment committee were: Cecelia Wollin, Esther Anderson and Gertrude Miller.

Oyster Supper.

Members of the Duluth council, No. 3, Modern Samaritans, will hold their regular business meeting Monday evening at 8 p. m., at the K. of P. hall, 118 West Superior street, and an oyster supper will be served following the meeting and there will also be dancing.

At Pro-Cathedral.

Haydn, is the composer chosen for the feature of the special musical service which will be held Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, at Trinity pro-cathedral. Miss Isabel Pearson will play a half hour organ recital at 4:30 o'clock and the service will be held at 5, with Dr. Thomas MacLean, vicar of the church, giving a short talk on "Haydn." Two choruses from his "Creation" will be sung by the full choir and they will also sing, "Let All That Seek Ye," which was composed by A. C. Pearson of Colorado Springs, who was a visitor in Duluth last summer, and who is an uncle of Miss Pearson.

ARGUMENTS NEXT MONTH

Attorneys Are Expected to Close Street Railway Case in November.

Although no definite date has been set for the closing arguments in the street railway franchise suit it is thought likely that the issues will be submitted to the court sometime during the month of November.

At the conclusion of the case yesterday, so far as the taking of evidence was concerned, it was agreed among the court and attorneys that counsel for either side should within the next two weeks exchange their points and authorities in preparation for the final argument.

Judge Cant, who presided at the quo warranto proceedings at which the validity of the street railway franchise was attacked, will be occupied the remainder of the month with a term of court at Carlton. During the first week in November he will be the judge in charge of the November term calendar.

As soon as possible, however, arrangements will be made for submitting the case. It is expected that extended oral arguments on both the issues of fact and law in the case will be made by the attorneys for either side.

Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Thomas S. Wood and Henry F. Greene are attorneys for the Duluth Street railway, respondent, and the state, the moving power of the action at the instance of the city, is represented by Davis, Kellogg & Severance, Francis W. Sullivan and City Attorney Harvey Clapp.

Y. M. C. A. AUTO CLASS GROWS RAPIDLY

The Y. M. C. A. auto school has again started for the fall and winter term. The success of past years, it is claimed by V. L. Turner, educational director of the association, bids fair to be surpassed, to judge from the way the school starts out.

It began business on Oct. 8 with only a few pupils and now the class consists of about fifteen. It is noticeable that the class consists largely of men who own automobiles and others who expect to buy this winter or next spring. The idea is growing that an auto owner, even though intending to use a chauffeur, should know his own machine to protect his expense account for oils, repairs and gasoline; and many auto owners are figuring on taking the course. The school is conducted at the same place as last year, the garage of W. H. Healy, 309 Michigan street.

The mechanical drawing class at the Y. M. C. A. night school has grown to such an extent that it has become necessary to form a second class, and this one will be started on Tuesday of next week.

FAUST SUPERMEN BASED UPON TRUTH

"Is there a natural truth back of the stories of Faust and Parsifal and Zanoni and other tales of supermen?" The question was answered in the affirmative last night by L. W. Rogers, national lecturer of the Theosophical society, who spoke at the Unitarian church on "Invisible Evolution."

He argued that if evolution is a fact at all then there must be somewhere within the universe the higher, and even the finished, products of evolution. To assume that man is the ultimate result of evolution, he said, was to say that evolution failed in its purpose of producing the highest possible type. Evolution, he argued, is an orderly process in which there are no gaps or breaks and just as men can look below and see an orderly gradation of life and intelligence extending downward through the animals, the reptiles, the insects, and disappearing in microbes, they must postulate that there exists above them an ascending order of intelligent life of which they cannot be conscious with the physical senses. These supermen, he said, were described in all the scriptures of the world, and were called devas in some of them and angels and archangels in others.

Reincarnation will be Mr. Rogers' theme tonight and tomorrow. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he will close the course in Duluth with the subject "Self Development and the Way to Power."

PLAN EARLY START ON NEW ELECTRIC LINE

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 18.—The work of acquiring the right-of-way for the first section of the Minnesota Northwestern Electric Railway company's railroad line was commenced this week. The line will pass through the townships of North, Silverton, Cloverleaf and Goodridge, located so as to accommodate the greatest number of prospective shippers.

If satisfactory arrangements can be made with the property owners over whose land the new road will pass, it is probable that the work of construction on the first twenty or twenty-five-mile section will start this fall.

The main line will run in a general easterly direction, the territory north and south to be accommodated with branch lines.

Wilson Nominates.

Washington, Oct. 18.—President Wilson today nominated governor of Porto Rico, Arthur Yager of Kentucky.

Solicitor of internal revenue bureau, Ellis C. Johnson of Washington.

DENOUNCES THE CHARGE

Rabbi Lefkovits Says Jews Never Took Blood for Ritual Purpose.

Says Russia in Beiliss Case Would Wipe Out Jews and Liberty.

"Ritual murder is an unqualified falsehood, an unmitigated lie. It is one of the blackest lies that history knows of. There is nothing whatever in Biblical, rabbinical or talmudical laws that shows Jews either approve or even know of a practice among Jews relating to the use of human blood for any purpose at all. The Russian government is taking this opportunity to show the world that the Jew takes human blood for ritual purposes, so that it will crush forever the thought of freedom among the Russian people. The trial of Mendel Beiliss at Kiev is not a trial of one man, it is the placing of all the Jews of the world before the public court and once more jeapordizing the ever hoped for liberty and freedom of 140,000,000 Russians."

Rabbi Attacks Russia.

In such terms Rabbi Maurice Lefkovits of the Temple Emanuel last evening attacked the Russian government, its policies with regard to the present trial of Mendel Beiliss in his sermon on "The Myth of Ritual Murder." The rabbi gave a history of the ritual charge, which has been placed against the Jew for hundreds of years. He said it was started by ignorant people and nourished by them merely because they were prejudiced. The present case is but an example, he said, of Russia's effort to crush the Jew and his continued attempt to teach freedom and liberty to the Russian masses.

Dr. Lefkovits said in part:

"The term ritual murder denotes the accusation that the Jews, if not all of them, at least certain Jewish sects, require and employ Christian blood for purposes which stand in close relation to the ritual, and that, in order to obtain such blood, they commit assault, and even murder. This is the definition as we understand it today; it is a modern definition of ritual murder. Precedent and fundamental thereto are two older variations of the same charge, the charge of using Christian blood. Originally the Jew was charged with using Christian blood for remedial purposes, to cure physical diseases.

Prohibit Use of Blood.

"But these ignorant people did not know that the Jewish law prohibits him from tasting or drinking blood in anay shape or manner. Blood is life, says the Bible, which prohibits the drinking of it even from animals. The orthodox rite demands that the flesh of meats be salted so that every drop of blood may be drawn out before the meat is cooked and eaten.

"The world never raised the accusation until the middle of the twelfth century. Then some conscientious church father declared that since the Jews clamored so for the blood of Jesus, they were taking literally the meaning of the prophet, who told the people that the only relief would come through the use of Christian blood. This church father then started the report that the Jews were killing Christians for the blood that it might cure them of any disease. In reality, the words of the prophet were to the effect that only the blood of Jesus would cure; which, of course, the Christians misunderstood and believed to mean all the Christians of the world.

"In Fulda, in 1235, five children of a miller were found murdered. The theory was immediately advanced that they were killed by the Jews for the blood. The Jews of the town were all thrown into prison, tortured until they confessed that they killed the children for curative purposes. It was then that thirty-four Jews were burned at the stake. Frederick the Second, emperor of Germany, was not satisfied at the outcome of the affair and he called together all the Christian scholars of Europe and he submitted the question to them as to whether the Jews use Christian blood for any purpose at all. The scholars returned a statement that there is nothing in the Old or New Testament that shows the Jews have any lust for human blood. 'Those to whom animal blood is prohibited, surely will not use human blood,' the commission decided. Frederick then exonerated the Jews of the crime and declared that all the Jews of Germany were forever free from this suspicion.

Old Charge Dropped.

"It was then that the theory was advanced that the Jew kills a Christian for ritual purposes. It was dropped, however, after a century. The claim was that the Jews hold communion during the Easter services of the Christians, but after many years, this was changed to the one that the blood of Christians is used by the Jews during Passover, particularly in the making of matzos, the unleavened bread. As the Old and New Testiment both believe there is no atonement without blood, this cry arose. But the people, knowing that the Jew always sacrificed some animal, now set up the cry that as there was no temple any more and it was impossible to sacrifice an animal, the Jew was killing Christians.

"From this time there were frequent charges of ritual murder, the belief continuing for over 700 years. At Fortzheim, a couple of centuries ago, an 8-year-old girl was found floating in the Rhine river. The cry was raised that the murder was committed for ritual purposes, as the body had been floating against the current of the stream. And when another child was found murdered, the same charge was made, because a few people claimed the wounds began bleeding again after the body had been dead for many hours. On just such charges many Jews lost their lives.

"And now in Russia we have the Mendel Beiliss case. You ask how such a falsehood takes hold of the people in the twentieth century. There are thousands who still believe it. Ritual murder is an unqualified falsehood; it is an unmitigated lie, one of the blackest lies history knows of. There is nothing whatever in the Biblical, rabbinical or talmudical laws that Jews either approve or know of a practice among Jews that relates to the use of human blood whatever.

How Prejudice Grows.

"The Christian child has always been taught that we are the killers of Christ. Put yourself in the place of that child and you will feel a great hatred toward the Jew. Her Savior was killed by Jews and this idea once planted, is hardly ever removed. This same person, remembering the story that the Jews killed Christ, wonders why they would not kill Christians.

"Sometime in April, 1911, Andrew Yuschinsky, a 12-year-old boy was found murdered behind the home for aged Jews in Kiev. Suspicion at first rested on the boy's stepfather, who was a member of a gang of thieves. It was claimed that the boy was killed by his stepfather, because the child knew too much about the gang. Suspicion grew to a certainty and the father was later arrested. But the Russian government would not have it so. It saw a chance to attach the Jew and it took that chance. Because the murder was committed shortly before Passover and directly in the rear of the home for the infirm and aged Jews, the agitation was started that the child was killed by the Jews for ritual purposes. Soon a woman, lewd, dissolute and a member of this gang, came to the front and swore that her child told her that while the latter was playing with young Yuschinsky, Mendel Beiliss came along and chased the children. Beiliss was then arrested and the cry was raised that Andrew was killed for ritual purposes, that the blood of the Christian child was used in making matzos for the Passover holidays.

"A congress of physicians from all over the world was meeting at St. Petersburg at this time and after the body of young Yuschinsky was examined, the medical men pronounced the committing of ritual murder in this especial case an absolute impossibility. The government became frightened after this decision was made and the indictment against Beiliss was dropped. But Yuschinsky, the boy's stepfather was released altogether.

Russia Discredits Jew.

"Just at this time the United States abrogated its treaty with Russia, because the latter government refused to admit American Jews. This angered Russia very much and so the government decided to discredit the Jew in the world at large. The charge was renewed and Beiliss, who had been in prison all this time, was again brought before the court. Again there were protests. The congress of physicians meeting a year ago August in London gave out the following decision regarding the Beiliss case, so interesting had the affair become at this time.

"'We hold the strongest opinion that there was nothing in the details of the murder to suggest the race or nationality of the murderer. And we are entirely and emphatically opposed to the opinion that this is a case of ritual murder. In our opinion the charge is one created through racial antipathy, amounting to a criminal conspiracy, which siezed upon an independent criminal act and distorted and perverted it for its own purposes.'

"Nevertheless, the government continued its persecution. Beiliss was held without bail, and last March a trial was decided upon. You have read dispatches of the trial, which is now going on, but you must remember that these reports are all censored before leaving Russia for the outer world. And yet we can see what a fabrication the whole affair really is. The Episcopal church, now in convention in New York, has protested against the charge; it being but one of the new institutions throughout the world that are objecting.

Expects a Conviction.

"But despite all, I fear Beiliss will be convicted. It is in the interest of the Russian government to do so. There are 140,000,000 poor Russians clamoring for liberty, the idea having been inculcated in them by the freedom and liberty-loving Jews. The Jew is a revolutionist, who is spreading the seed of discontent, not unlawfully. The Jew was the first to strike the blow for liberty, when he fought against Pharaoh in Egypt. And he is the same Jew today. The Russian government knows this and wants to crush the Jew forever. So it is now telling the world that the Jew is a murderer.

"This is not a Jewish question. It is up to Christianity to give freedom and to crush brutality in Russia. That's why the world is protesting when 140,000,000 God-created creatures are crying for liberty. The Jew will probably suffer after this case is over, but he can stand it. But how about the 140,000,000 Russians, whose freedom is now at stake? It is for them and the 6,000,000 Jews for whom I plead."

Today Is Surely Busy Here

You'll see lots of new clothes from Gray's at church tomorrow.

We wish you could see how busy every floor is today!

Particular people—those who want style—quality — value — and who know where to find it are here in force.

You've been planning to come—now don't wait longer—but try to get here Monday.

Our Fabric Section Has the Greens

Have you thought of one of the new green shades for that gown or suit?

It is some seven or eight years since we have had what we might term "A Green Season."

We believe this color offers a most acceptable change to you people who are tired of blue and the other standard shades. You will find it shown here in the desirable fabrics in the newest shades. Exceptionally effective when used in combination with dull bronze or gold. Shades run from the pale Nile on up to the beautiful foliage green.

COMPLAINTS OF BAZARS

Mayor Prince Receives Letters Telling of Alleged Gambling Devices.

Mayor W. I. Prince does not approve of the methods which have been used by some church societies and church organizations to raise money.

Several complaints have come to him from various parts of the city that gambling devices have been employed, and he agrees that there is ground for objection.

One letter, which he characterizes as typical, addressed to the mayor and the city commissioners, and which will be read at the meeting Monday, states in substance:

"After all that has been said and done in regard to the reform movement in Duluth, such as abolishing the red light district, gambling houses and putting restrictions on saloons and places of shady reputation, I am somewhat astonished that our honorable mayor was one of the speakers at a bazar at which there was in operation many gambling devices that would have been sufficient to call out the whole police force if the same were operated by laymen or any organization except a church society.

"The mayor and the commissioners are neglecting their duty when they allow gambling in the city, regardless of who the guilty parties may be."

GIRL ASCENDS AERIAL BRIDGE

Bessemer, Mich., Visitor Is First Woman to Climb Duluth's Tall Gateway.

The first woman who has ever ascended the aerial bridge across the canal, and viewed the scenery from the top, made the trip this morning. She is Miss Lillian Green of Bessemer, Mich., and is visiting in Duluth with the family of L. P. Green, superintendent of the bridge.

Miss Green has been teasing the superintendent to let her take the climb ever since she came to the city, but he has demurred. This morning, however, as Miss Green was more insistent than ever and because the day was bright and calm, the superintendent finally gave in and at 10 o'clock the young woman made the ascent, going up the outside of the bridge on the north end, and coming down the inside to the car. She made the trip without much delay. She did not display any nervousness and never faltered during the trip. She says she enjoyed it and would like to do it again.

Miss Green is not accustomed to aerial climbing, but has been 1,700 feet under ground in some of the mines at her home town.

DREADNOUGHTS IN BATTLE PRACTICE.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 18.—The first division of the Atlantic fleet steamed out to heavy battle practice today with Secretaries, Daniels, Garrison, Redfield and a distinguished company from official Washington circles. In a southwest wind and a light sea the big dreadnoughts steamed out through a haze and before noon the big guns were booming.

SENTA ERD TO APPEAR HERE IN RECITAL NEXT WEEK

MISS SENTA ERD.

ONE of the treats in store for Duluthians next week is the concert recital, which will be given on Monday evening by Miss Senta Erd, soprano, who has recently returned from a three years' study of music in Germany. This is her first appearance in Duluth.

Assisting on the program will be Marx Oberndorfer, pianist of Chicago, formerly of Duluth, who will play her accompaniments and will also play three solo numbers.

Miss Erd has been studying for grand opera and has already learned the scores of eight operas and is now studying the part of Sieglinde in Wagner's "Walkure." "There is so much inner feeling and wonderful passion in the part," she says, "that I am intensely interested in it."

Critics Praise Her Work.

Following is a criticism from the Munchner Zeitung concerning her singing: "Miss Erd's voice is of rich subtle beauty. Her dramatic interpretation of the Wagner songs was masterful, the pianissimo parts being given in a lyrical, enhancing manner."

The complete program follows:

"Dich Teure Halle," from Tannhauser ..... Wagner
Fruhling—"Das Verlassene Magdlein" ..... Hugo Wolf
Bird Cycle ..... Liza Lehmann
(a) "The Woodpigeon" .....
(b) "The Starling" .....

BOYS' DEPARTMENT HAS ANOTHER "POP"

The popular Friday night social at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. was in charge of the club's committee. The program consisted of a fishing party, guessing prominent advertisements and a pie-eating contest. Points were given for each event and loving cups were given the winners. Norman Sweeney won the first place, W. Smithles, second, and William Sullivan, the "booby" prize. Ice cream was served at the close. The committee in charge consisted of Louis Wade, Willard Thorp, Clinton Brooke, Nell Upham.

The program for next Friday will be a camp reunion.

The Sunday club tomorrow afternoon will be addressed by Dr. Hoffman. A social lunch will follow the meeting. The Knights of Sir Galahad will meet at 3 o'clock.

TWO VISITORS FROM MISSOURI

Rival Political Leaders of St. Louis Bury Hatchet and Visit Duluth.

Arthur J. Fitzsimmons of St. Louis, the Warwick of the Democratic politics in Missouri, and the chairman of the Democratic central committee of Missouri, is in Duluth today accompanied by Charles Espenschied, who does a little Warwicking on his own account when it is the Republicans' turn in Missouri.

Both of the Missourians are capitalists and real estate dealers, Mr. Espenschied owning a large amount of Duluth property. They were both members of the reform city council in St. Louis, and their business association began when they were trying to purge the Missouri metropolis.

Mr. Espenschied states that he brought his dearest political enemy to Duluth to show him what a live city this is.

Mr. Fitzsimmons avers that he is here merely on a vacation and has no intention of investing in Duluth real estate at present, but he is being shown the city by Renwick B. Knox, president of the Commercial club, with Mr. Espenschied in the role of assistant guide, and he is learning something of Duluth's future prospects and present greatness.

"There is nothing new in politics down our way," said Mr. Fitzsimmons. "We are mighty proud of President Wilson and the record he is making."

Mr. Fitzsimmons was one of the delegates to the Baltimore convention which nominated President Wilson.

The two Missourians will remain in Duluth several days. They are registered at the Spalding.

NEW PIPE ORGAN AT IRON MOUNTAIN.

Iron Mountain, Mich., Oct. 18.—Holy Trinity parish celebrated the completion of the Selgemaker organ with an organ recital last evening. Paul Allen Beymer of Trinity church Houghton, give a splendid program of ten numbers and Miss Ethel James sang two solos. Sunday there will be special music at the 10:30 and the 7:30 p. m. services. In the evening the choir of Bethany church, Vulcan, will join with the local choir in the musical program and the Rev. James E. Crosbie will preach.

The new instrument is one of nine stops and seven couplers and accessories. The air pressure is furnished by an electric blower. The organ casing is cherry, light finish, which harmonize perfectly with the interior finish of the church. The organ, which is a large one, will not be too powerful for the size of the building and its size makes possible a variety of tone not found in small organs.

CHANGE IN TIME ON CANADIAN NORTHERN.

Changes in the running schedule of the Canadian Northern were announced today.

In addition to the changes in the running time, the numbers of several of the trains have been changed.

The train formerly known as No. 21 has been changed to No. 3 and will after Nov. 2 run only between Duluth and Fort Frances. This train formerly left Duluth at 7:40 a. m., but now will leave here at 10 a. m. and will reach Virginia at 1:20 p. m. and Fort Frances at 5:25.

Train No. 22 has been changed to train No. 4 and will arrive in Duluth at 2:35 p. m. instead of 10:40 p. m., the former arriving time.

This train will leave Fort Frances at 7:20 a. m., instead of 2:50 p. m., as formerly and will leave Virginia at 11:30 a. m., instead of 7:25 p. m.

The evening train for Winnipeg will leave here at 7:15 p. m., instead of 8 o'clock, the former leaving time. The train from Winnipeg will reach Duluth at 9:15 a. m., instead of at the former time of 8:25 a. m.

WEST END STORE IS ENTERED BY THIEVES.

The confectionery store of Alfred Gustafson at 1919½ West Superior street was entered by thieves some time last night. Mr. Gustafson reported the theft to the police this morning.

According to Mr. Peterson, nineteen boxes of cigars were stolen, four cartons of candy and salted peanuts, $2 in pennies and $3 in pay checks. The case has been placed in the hands of the West end police.

SWIMMING HOLES TO GO

No More Bathing Will Be Allowed in the City Parks.

The old swimmin' holes in the parks will be no more.

Their obituary has been "writ" by official decree, and henceforth they will exist only in the memories of days gone by. The summer just past saw the last of them, as far as Duluth is concerned.

From all parts of the city where the park swimming pools have been conducted have come complaints of improper conduct on the part of some of the bigger boys, or "half-baked men," using them.

As a result, all the boys will have to suffer for the wrongdoings of the would-be "smart alecs." Where dams have been built to give sufficient depth to the water, a stick of dynamite will be used to blow them out, and where this can't be done, the pools will be filled sufficiently to make them useless as bathing places.

This course of action was recommended to Mayor Prince by Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department, and his views were indorsed by the mayor when the facts were placed before him.

New Haven Trouble Over.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 18.—A temporary settlement of the dispute between the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company and its engineers, has been practically reached.

CLUB MEMBERS SEE FARRELL PLAN

Proposed Trunk Road System Examined By Business Men.

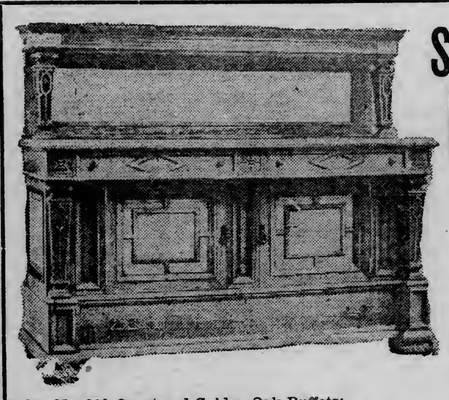

A party representing the Commercial club took an auto trip this morning over the proposed Farrell system of county roads. They were shown the points of vantage by Bert Farrell, who laid out the system. He has been unable to get county officials interested in it, so seeks to get the Commercial club interested. After the return trip it was announced that Mr. Farrell will on Tuesday next meet the good roads committee of the club and the other members who took the trip, show them his blue prints and explain the matter fully.

The members of the party taking the trip were: L. B. Arnold, W. C. Sargent, H. J. Mullin, chairman of the good roads committee; Bert Farrell; C. S. Mitchell, Maj. H. V. Hva, secretary of the club, and George D. McCarthy, assistant secretary.

Mr. Farrell claims for his proposed system that by building a trunk line which he has planned, the following roads will be connected and made worth something to the autoists and the farmers who use the roads leading out of Duluth: The Howard-Gnesen, the Swan Lake, the Maple Grove, Highland avenue at Duluth Heights, the Pike Lake, Kenwood road and Hartley road. He also claims that the maximum grade will be 5 per cent.

WABASH RAILROAD SHOPS ARE MOVED.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 18.—With the opening of the Wabash railroad's $2,000,000 locomotive shops here the shops at Springfield were moved bodily to Decatur today. Fully 200 employes of the Springfield shops have moved or will move to Decatur within the next few days to take positions in the new plant.

SULZER SAYS HE WAS CONVICTED BY MURPHY'S 'HIGH COURT OF INFAMY'

Declares Impeachment Trial Was Farce---Denounces His Enemies.

Defends His Record as Governor and Hopes People Will Be Aroused.

Is Asked to Run for Legislature on the Bull Moose Ticket.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18.—William Sulzer, no longer governor of New York, last night issued a statement bitterly deunciatory of the methods by which he was removed from office; branded the tribunal which removed him as "Murphy's high court of infamy;" declared himself willing to be victimized if it would only bring about needed reforms in state affairs, and explained that he did not testify at the trial because he saw that he would not be allowed to give what he regarded as important evidence.

Meanwhile, from New York came announcement of an offer to designate Sulzer as the Progressive candidate for the assembly from the Sixth district. It was announced by Max Steinler, Progressive nominee for alderman from that district, who said he had communicated with Mr. Sulzer and that the former governor said he would run if it was shown that the people of the district wanted him.

A telegram was sent to Sulzer asking him to accept the nomination of the Progressive party for congress in the Twentieth district to take the place of Oscar S. Straus, who recently declined the nomination. This was announced by Max B. Hurlestein, a member of the Progressive party committee on vacancies in the district. The committee will meet tonight to fill the vacancy.

Will Give Him Cup.

"To William Sulzer, a victim of corrupt bosses, Oct. 17, 1913," is the inscription on a silver loving cup which a committee of local citizens plan to present to Governor Sulzer. It is understood that Sulzer's admirers will congregate tonight and, preceded by a band, parade to the "people's house" to make the presentation.

According to Chester Platt, who acted as his secretary while he was governor, the impeached executive will leave Albany either on Sunday or Monday. He said that it is certain that for a time Mr. Sulzer will devote his energies to delivering speeches in this state wherever campaigns are being waged for direct primaries, and against political bosses.

Sulzer's Statement.

The Sulzer statement in full follows:

In response to requests from friends throughout the state for some expression from me, I can only say at this time that I am glad that my trial is over.

By virtue of a power beyond the present control of our electorate, I now hand back to the people the commission they gave me, and I hand it back to them untarnished and unsullied.

My lips have been sealed for weeks, during which time I have patiently submitted in silence to abuse and vilification.

However, after stating my case to my counsel, and by their advice on Aug. 1, I made the following statement:

"I deny that I used campaign contributions for personal use.

"I deny that I speculated in Wall Street, or used money contributed for campaign purposes to buy stocks either in my own name or otherwise.

Not in Speculation.

"I never had an account with Fuller & Gray or Boyer & Griswold. I never heard of these firms; do not know the members; and knew nothing about the transactions with these firms, testified to before the Frawley commission, until recently threatened with exposure, and the alleged transactions were brought to my attention by the Frawley committee. The stock matter with Harris & Fuller was not a speculative account, but a loan account made upon stocks as collateral, which stocks had been acquired and paid for years before my nomination for the office of governor and from other sources than Harris & Fuller.

"Certain checks given to me during the campaign were deposited to my personal account and thereafter I paid the amount of such checks to the campaign committees.

"In filing my statement of receipts and disbursements with the secretary of state, I relied upon information furnished me by the persons in immediate charge of my campaign and in whom I had and still have the most implicit confidence, and I believed the statement furnished by them to me at the time to be accurate and true."

"Statement Not Disproved."

No legal evidence was adduced at the trial, which disproved that statement.

Subsequently, on Sept. 14, I gave out another statement, as follows:

"The stories that I am going to resign are false and malicious. The purpose in circulating them must be evident to anyone. I am not going to resign. I am going to stand trial.

"Have said some hard things about some of the senators, and they have said some hard things about me; but this is a trial, not a political fight.

"They are both judges and jurors, and I believe most of them are large enough and honest enough to rise above any personal feeling they may entertain toward me because of what I have said about them, and do me justice."

Those are the only statements or interviews I have made or given out since the assembly, by the orders of "the boss" passed the resolution of impeachment.

Surprised at Court.

Of course when I issued the last statement Sept. 14, I did not think Senator Wagner, Senator Frawley, Senator Ransperger, Senator Sanner, Senator Brown, Senator Blauvelt and Senator Thompson would act as my jurors and judges, as they were either interested personally in the outcome of my trial or had acted as my prosecutors and condemned me before the trial, or because of personal grievances had expressed an opinion as to my guilt. The impropriety of the senators voting for my conviction must be apparent, and vitiates the judgment, because, had they refused to vote—as a sense of decency should have induced them to do—I would not have been convicted on any one of the articles of impeachment.

Trial a Farce.

My trial, from beginning to end, so far as the Tammanized part of the court was concerned, was a farce—a political lynching—the consummation of a deep-laid political conspiracy to oust me from office. I am glad it is all over. I am tired of being calumniated, tired of being hunted and hounded; tired of trying to do my duty and being traduced.

The court ruled against me in everything, and ruled out everything in my favor. The well-settled rules of evidence were thrown to the winds. A horsethief in frontier days would have received a squarer deal.

Mr. Murphy controlled the assembly and "ordered" the impeachment.

He controlled most members of the court and dictated its procedure and wrote the judgment. He was judge and jury, prosecutor and bailiff.

The meetings of the court were in secret and behind closed doors. It was a star chamber proceeding, where the enemies of the state could work for my conviction undiscovered.

"High Court of Infamy."

They call it the high court of impeachment, but history will call it "Murphy's high court of infamy." The trial was a human sham, a libel on law, an abuse of constitutional rights; a farce, and the verdict overturned the safeguards of liberty and the precedents of three centuries. The judgment will not stand the test of time. The future historian will do me justice, and posterity will reverse the findings of the court.

There is a higher court than Murphy's—the court of public opinion. I appeal from Murphy's court of political passion, to the calmer judgment of the future and the sober reflection of public opinion.

When Murphy Threatened.

When I declined to obey the "orders" of the "boss" about patronage; when I refused to call off Hennessy and prevent further investigation of graft; and finally, when I set in motion the wheels of the machinery of the courts to bring the criminals to pustice and to stop the looting of the state, then, and not until then, did Mr. Murphy threaten me with degradation, and with removal from office. From that day to this all that money, all that power, all that influence could do to disgrace me and destroy me has been done. It is a long story, but it will all come out sooner or later.

Mr. Murphy and the special interest which I antagonized have won a temporary victory; but the fight for reform and for honest government will go on.

Will Have Good Effect.

The farce of my trial will have a good effect in the end. It has opened the eyes of the people to the graft of millions of dollars annually, and it will hasten the adoption of the initiative and referendum; bring about the recall of public officials, including judges and judicial decisions, and write upon the statute books other reforms, especially a direct primary law, so that the voters, instead of the bosses, will nominate as well as elect all public officials.

The people now know that the power to nominate public officials is the power to control those offices, and that we cannot have honesty in the state of New York until the voters dominate and control all public officials.

Honest and Faithful.

As the governor, I have been honest and faithful to my trust. No influence could control me in the performance of my duty but the dictates of my conscience. I have lost my office, but I have kept my self-respect. I would rather lose the governorship than to lose my soul; and no governor can serve God and mammon; the state and the special interests; the people and the boss; the visible and the invisible government.

Let us indulge in the hope that my loss of the governorship will be the people's gain. Misfortunes are often blessings in disguise. If my undoing by an arrogant and corrupt and desperate "boss" shall be the humble means of forever destroying "bossism" in the state of New York, I shall be content, and feel that I have not struggled in vain for better things.

Why He Did Not Testify.

When the court determined to exclude the evidence of Mr. Hennessy, and thus prevented my establishing facts which would discredit the testimony of Mr. Peck and show his motive for telling an untruth, which would also disclose what had been discovered in the way of crime and corruption in the various departments of the state government, and which were largely the inducing cause in bringing about my impeachment, in order to prevent further disclosures and prosecutions, I became satisfied that it was useless to present myself as a witness, because the defense that I could make, which I considered my best and most efficient means of clearing my name, would not be permitted to be told by me in court.

Let me say here that I wanted to take the witness stand in my own behalf—especially to tell the story of my troubles with the "boss" and to deny the Peck fabrication, the absurd story of Allan Ryan, and to explain the Morgenthau testimony. But I was finally persuaded not to do so by those who have in view the real welfare of the state; and because, under the rulings of the court, refusing to accept the testimony of Mr. Hennessy, and other witnesses in my behalf, it was apparent that my story of the reasons Murphy "ordered" my impeachment would also be ruled out as incompetent and inadmissable; and I was further advised that as no evidence against me had been adduced of "wilful and corrupt misconduct in office," that therefore I had committed no impeachable offense as the governor of the state; and hence could not, on the evidence before the court, be legally or justly removed from office.

Says Peck Lied.

Those familiar with the facts can testify that Peck lied about me to save his job; that Morgenthau was fooled by the clever ruse of an unscrupulous enemy; and that Allan Ryan was in Albany several days under the tutelage of astute counsel to aid the prosecution at the psychological moment in any way desired.

Suffice it to say that Allan Ryan came to see me; I did not go to see him, and I never asked him or any other man to request Senator Root or Delancey Nicoll to see Mr. Barnes or Mr. Murphy or anyone else for that matter, to do aught for me regarding the trial. These matters were afterthoughts of the prosecution to injure my cause with the public and prejudice my case with the court.

Another thing: Every dollar given me which I deposited to my personal account, was subsequently turned over by me to the committee, in my office, or to an agent of Mr. Murphy, or to the state committee. The truth about this is known. I will go into details later on.

Stories Grossly Exaggerated.

It is now apparent that the stories put in circulation regarding moneys given me when I was a candidate for governor were grossly exaggerated, industriously circulated, and prominently printed for the purpose of prejudicing my case before the people. But never mind about that now. As Kipling said, "that's another story."

Much has been said about my financial affairs. I want to tell the public the truth about my financial condition so that there will be no more falsehoods about it.

Before I was a candidate for the governship, I was in debt about $70,000 and had more assets than I have at present.

The truth is I owe now as follows: L. M. Josephthal, $27,000; Hugh J. Reilly, $26,500; E. P. Meany, $10,000; A. E. Spriggs, $8,500; Ogilvie & Co., $3,000; smaller creditors, about $1,600. This makes a total of $76,600, besides the cost of my trial.

Owns No Real Estate.

I own no real estate; no mortgages; no stocks or bonds, and no other assets save an equity insurance on stock in two small mining camps. This mining stock has no market value. I have been unfortunate in mining matters, and in so far as I could, got out of them last year.

I had on deposit in the Farmers' Loan & Trust company, before my nomination, over $11,000; I have on deposit there now not much more; and that is all the money I posses. Take it all in all, I am poorer today than I was before the fight for the governorship began last fall.

I want to thank Judge Cullen and the members of the court who voted for my vindication; the able lawyer who stood by me and gave me wise counsel, and the friends of good government throughout the state whose belief in my honesty and whose faith in the restitude of my intentions never wavered.

"Had I But Served the Boss."

Just a few words in conclusion. I have fought a good fight against tremendous odds, for honest government; I have kept the faith; I have been true to my official oath; I have stood by the people, I have defied Boss Murphy, and I did it in the face of threats of exposure and personal destruction.

Had I but served the "boss" with half the zeal I did the state, I, William Sulzer, would have never been impeached.

Looking back over it all, I am frank to say that I now realize I should have been more careful in some matters last fall, but I was so busy in the campaign that I gave no heed to details, and trusted others, some of whom have proved treacherous; but so far as my administration of the governorship is concerned, I have no regrets, as my conscience is clear and tells me truly, that I have done no wrong, but my whole duty fearlessly and honestly, day in and day out, to all the people of the state, as God gave me the light to see the right.

At some future and more opportune time, I promise to make a further public statement, and I think I would rather express my views from the platform, where I can look into the eyes of the people, and they can look into mine and judge for themselves whether I am telling the truth.

GLYNN PROMISES EFFICIENCY PROGRAM

New Governor Sees No Cause for Exultation in His Rise.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 18.—Martin Glynn, who yesterday became governor of New York as the result of the removal of Governor Sulzer, issued a statement in which he declared that he would insist upon "economical, clean, orderly and efficient transaction of the state's business."

He asserted that he would not "devote the time which I owe to the state to partisan politics."

"This is not an occasion for exultation," he said, "and I have no such feeling. To me it is an occasion of solemnity mixed with sadness. I am charged with the duties of governor, not through an act or desire of mine, but because the law imposed the obligation upon me under the distressing circumstances that have arisen.

Not a Factionist.

"My earnest endeavor shall be to give to the people of the state an honest, peaceful, progressive and wise conduct of their public affairs. I will insist upon a business administration, which means an economical, clear, orderly and efficient transaction of the state's business.

"I will not be a factionist. I will not devote the time which I owe to the state to partisan politics, within or outside of my own party. I keenly appreciate the high responsibilities that it is my duty to meet and to discharge.

"To the accomplishment of this purpose, I promise my best efforts. With God's help I will faithfully execute and see to the execution of the laws of this great state, with an eye single to the welfare of the sovereign people whom I serve. To achieve this purpose, I seek the advice and ask the support of all my fellow citizens."

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE.

Ladies! Men! Here's the Quickest, Surest Dandruff Cure Known.

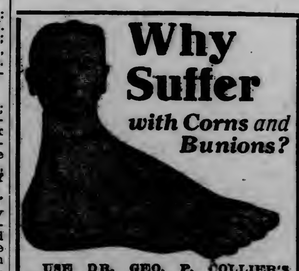

Thin, brittle colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now — anytime — will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

ASK FOR AN EXPLANATION

West Duluth Commercial Club Would Hear From Hicken.

Asks Why No. 8 Firehall Force Was Cut Down.

Commissioner Hicken and Fire Chief Randal will be asked to explain why they removed the two firemen and team of three horses from the West Duluth fire hall this week, at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club next Friday evening. Secretary M. J. Murray of the club was authorized to ask the two officials to attend that meeting at the session of the club held last night.

That the action was unwarranted was the opinion expressed by the members of the club last night. It was claimed that the removal of the fire engine will result in higher rates of insurance which would mean that the burden of this method of cutting the city's expenses would fall on the entire community.

P. G. Phillips started the fireworks after a lull in the meeting which promised to bring forth little demonstration. He said that the commissioners owed West Duluth the duty of giving a full explanation of its action in removing the two firemen, the three horses and later selling two of the horses, which he said had been done Friday morning.

"Why this haste?" he asked. "Are we of less consequence than people on the hillside in the West end? The commission listened to their recent request and granted them what they wanted. I spent considerable time uptown yesterday and noticed that the department has three red buzz wagons flying about the city doing useless work. These cost enormous sums of money and the tires of each wheel cost the city over $50 each. It seems to me that the commissioners are working hand in hand with the Standard Oil company, burning up its gasoline, and the Goodyear Rubber company, wearing out its rubber production."

"I have often been accused of having caused the needless expense of the purchase of this fire engine," said W. B. Getchell, former alderman of the Eighth ward. "I have never considered that the fire department in this end of the city was any too well equipped. The engine purchased for No. 8 firehall was the largest and best in the city. It can be hauled over the streets of this end of Duluth better than it can over any other streets of the city. That it is needed here goes without saying, but I do not believe that it is necessary to haul it out every time there is a chimney fire any more than I believe that it is necessary for the fire chief to answer every call in this end of the city.

"We have and always have had men in charge of the West Duluth fire hall who, in my estimation, had as good judgment in fighting a fire as any of the chiefs that have responded to the alarms from uptown. I don't consider it good judgment on the part of the chief to try to burn up the atmosphere with a buzz wagon getting to West Duluth in response to either a false alarm or a chimney fire."

Thomas Olafson insisted that the removal of the engine from service would cause higher rates of insurance. Pressure along the water front and along the hillside, he said was not sufficient to throw a stream of water with force enough to quench a strong fire.

Louis Blechl, superintendent of the Union Match company; Judge Lanners, C. J. Petruscke and a number of other residents of West Duluth spoke on the subject, each advocating that the engine should again be installed in the service of the department at West Duluth.

CONTRACT LET FOR RESERVOIR.

The Duluth Crushed Stone company has let a contract for the construction of a large reservoir tank to be constructed just west of the crusher plant. The tank will have a capacity of 1,000 barrels of water. It will cost about $1,000.

The company will use it for water used for the cooling of its air compressing apparatus. At present the plant is using city water, but this is said to have become so expensive a proposition that the building of the tank was advisable. The water will be used several times. After flowing over the machinery requiring the cooling process, it will be received in a tank and from there repumped into the reservoir.

NEW MUNICIPAL BUILDING PLANNED.

A movement for the construction of a municipal building, which will contain all offices pertaining to the city government, was started at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last night. Representatives from the Duluth Commercial club, comprising its visiting committee and headed by Bentley P. Neff, were asked to take the matter up with this organization.

It was averred that one building in which the police headquarters, city offices, water and light office and the court rooms could be contained would mean a great deal of saving for the city. Plans for such a building were made some time ago when it was proposed to erect the building on Fourth avenue west and First street.

The uptown representatives were asked to urge action on the part of the government to construct its new building on the west side of Fifth avenue in order that the present site of the postoffice could be utilized. Mr. Neff stated that this matter would be taken up at a luncheon on Monday noon.

Find Thieves' Rendezvous.

West Duluth police believe that they have located the rendezvous of a gang of thieves who have been operating in a small way among the residents of the outskirts of the city. They claim to have found a number of articles which have been reported lost, in a shack.

This morning Lieut. Wilcox and Officer Lading went to the place and found the articles. These are being held at the police station. Ewald Krueger is also being held as a suspect knowing something about a number of the robberies. Ewald is a boy about 16 years old. He is said to have lived at the place with an older brother who recently was taken to St. Luke's hospital owing to an accident caused by the explosion of a gun.

Dies at Age of 84.

Mrs. Clara Bachard, 84 years old, died this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Emely Edwards, 3614 West Third street. The body was taken to Bayfield, Wis., where funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Infant Boy Dies.

Moses J. Brenconier, the 3-months'-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brenconier, 126 Gilbert street, died this morning. The funeral will be held Monday from the family residence with interment in Calvary cemetery.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Francis Kern, 4809 West Sixth street, is spending six weeks visiting relatives in Freeport, Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Bellephonte, Pa.

The meeting of the Oneota Improvement club scheduled for last night was postponed until Nov. 7.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the West Duluth Baptist church entertained last night at a pleasing musical program. Several selections were given by some of Duluth's best talent.

Services at the Westminster Presbyterian church will be held at the regular hours tomorrow. Rev. W. L. Staub will preach on "The Church" in the morning and "A New Heart" at the evening service.

Miss Ethel Palkins of Wabasha, Minn., is spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

The Sunday school of the Asbury Methodist church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, will hold rally day exercises tomorrow. The service will begin at 11:45 a. m. Special musical program has been planned.

Mrs. Thomas Frain, 618 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, entertained yesterday afternoon in honor of the birthday of her little son, Alan. The guests were: Mrs. Arnold Johnson, Mrs. G. L. Hise, Mrs. Louis Bennett, Mrs. T. F. Olsen, Mrs. S. S. McDonald and Misses Reberta Johnson, Dorothy Hise, Eunice Bennett, Bernise Olsen, Nedra Olsen, Jessie McDonald, Audria McDonald, Anna Cairns, Eiline Warnock, Agatha Parchem and Stewart and Harold McDonald.

WILL BEGIN VALUATION

W. B. Rittenhouse Will Start Monday on the Light Plant Contract.

The valuation of the physical properties of the Duluth-Edison Electric company will begin Monday.

W. B. Rittenhouse, the electrical engineer and revaluation expert, who has been retained by the city to do the work, returned to Duluth this morning. He informed Commissioner Leonidas Merritt, head of the utilities division, that he is prepared to begin immediately and the commissioner assured him that he couldn't commence any too soon to please the city council.

The officials are confident that the revaluation will be completed within three months.

Charles L. Pillsbury of Minneapolis will act as the consulting expert of the city in the making of the revaluation. Efforts were being made today to reach him over the long-distance telephone and if he is not detained by another engagement it is believed that he will be in Duluth Monday to assist in outlining the work.

Mr. Rittenhouse and his assistants will probably be provided with an office in the Providence building.

When the preliminary preparations have been outlined Commissioner Merritt states that he will ask the officers of the Edison company to meet the men who are to make the revaluation. He is confident that the company will assist in the work and will not put any obstacles in the way of those making the revaluation.

When the figures have been completed and approved by the consulting expert they will be used as a basis for negotiations with the company with a view to the city purchasing the lighting plant.

Mr. Rittenhouse states that he has been impressed with the frank and open attitude of the commissioners and the officials whom he has met. He says that all of them have assured him that it is strictly a business proposition and that what the city wants is a correct estimate of the actual value of the holdings of the Duluth-Edison company.

Wants Estate Closed.

Edgar Prochnik, Austro-Hungarian counsul, yesterday petitioned the district court for an order approving the final settlement of the estate of Frank Campl, as administered by Moritz Helm. The administrator accepted a settlement of $900 from the Adriatic Mining company for the alleged wrongful death of Campl on Nov. 23, 1912. His only known heirs are in Austria.

Wants Brother Deposed.

The removal of Mike Sereno as administrator for the estate of his brother, Dominick Sereno, is asked for in a petition filed yesterday with the probate court by Celesta Grippa, widow, who alleges that Mike, as administrator, has threatened to dispose of certain property belonging to the estate at a price much below its value. She also claims that he has unreasonably delayed the settling of the estate. She asks the court to appoint another administrator in his place at once.

As Witness at Minneapolis.

O. C. Cox, clerk at the Spalding hotel, will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis, where he will be a witness in the suit of the estate of Dr. Albert F. Meschger against an accident insurance company. Mr. Cox was clerk at the Radisson hotel when Dr. Meschger committed suicide there in August of last year. The insurance company has refused to pay $50,000 on the policy and the suit has been brought in the Minneapolis district court by the estate.

Charged With Assault.

Mike Krznarich, 26 years old, pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to the charge of having assaulted Milan Suzaich last Monday afternoon. Suzaich declares that Krznarich drew a revolver during the fight. The trial was set for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and Krznarich was allowed to go on payment of $150 bail.

Clock Stops Running.

The high school clock went out of commission at midnight last night and had not been fixed up to noon today. The clock, it appears, is going this morning, but it fails to keep the right time. It is expected that it will be repaired this afternoon.

Arrested For Theft.

Bergloit Solum, 23 years old, was arrested by Officer Youngberg yesterday afternoon on a charge of petit larceny. Solum will be arraigned this afternoon.

Pleads Not Guilty.

M. Goldfarb pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to having obstructed the street in front of his home at Fifteenth avenue east. Workmen are building for Goldfarb and a large pile of dirt is reported to have obstructed the thoroughfare. Goldfarb's trial was set for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Fiskett Back on Job.

Capt. A. G. Fiskett, who was shot while chasing two fugitives last Sunday evening, is back at police headquarters. Capt. Fiskett has rested during the week at his home and reported for duty this morning. The wound in the left wrist is much improved, according to the captain.

Qualifies for Navy.

Arthur Hyke, 20 years old, yesterday successfully passed the examination at the local navy recruiting office, and he left this morning for Minneapolis, where he will be assigned to one of the battleships. Hyke is entering the service as a yeoman.

Two Fined for Fighting.

Otto Aho and Matt Kettula pleaded guilty in police court this morning to fighting in a house on South First avenue east late last evening, while John Rojale, who was arrested in the hall by Officers Boland and Link, pleaded not guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct. Aho and Kettula were each fined $5 and costs or five days, while Rojale's trial was set for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

City Gets Big Refund.

Two years ago the city overpaid $503.01 to the Maryland Casualty company, through the local agent, Lane McGregor & Co., for liability insurance for the water and light department. In the preparations which are being made to put the department upon a more efficient business basis, the overpayment was discovered by George L. Gross, secretary of the department. It was called to the attention of the insurance company some time ago and yesterday the money was refunded.

Delay In Paving.

The laying of asphalt on East Fourth street suffered another delay today when the mixing plant in the East end broke down. The plant is said to be out of date and not in the best shape and the same thing has happened several times before. The delay at this time of the year and with ideal weather, is particularly disappointing to the contractors. It was stated at the city hall that the plant would be out of commission for a day at least.

Police Have Quiet Day.

Not a single arrest was made at police headquarters up to noon today. This is considered exceptional by the police as there are hundreds of laborers from the wheat fields now in the city, who are trying hard to spend their money. During the past two days fifty men were arrested on a charge of drunkenness.

Football Dance.

There will be a skating party and dance at the Auditorium rink this evening in honor of the members of the Duluth Central high school and Virginia high school football teams. The dance will follow the skating. A large number of the high school students are expected to attend, while the members of the two teams will be the guests of honor.

Department Had Run.

The department had a run to 328 East Superior street shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. The fire was put out before the department got to the scene.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at noon.
Debate on the seaman's bill postponed until next week.
Passed resolution for joint congressional committee to attend the dedication of restored congress hall in Philadelphia.
Passed Senator Clapp's campaign fund bill.
Adjourned at 1:20 p. m. until noon monday.

HOUSE.
Not in session; meets Monday.

SOME BISHOPS ARE GIVEN NEW PLACES

Episcopal Church Receives Resignation of Bishop Osborne.

New York, Oct. 18.—Appointments, resignations and transfers of prelates were considered by the house of bishops, the higher governing body of the Protestant Episcopal church, at the triennial general convention. Bishop Edward William Osborne of the diocese of Springfield, Ill., resigned because of age and infirmity. Bishop Joseph M. Francis of the diocese of Indianapolis asked to be transferred to a climate more favorable to his family, and probably will be assigned either to the vacancy in Cuba or the missionary district of Porto Rico.

Bishop Mann Transferred.

Bishop Cameron was transferred from the missionary districts of Florida. Vacancies in one diocese and five missionary districts, caused by deaths or resignations, are to be filled at an election on Monday.

The house of deputies deliberated regarding a proposed canon creating courts of review as intermediary tribunals in proceedings in trials for heresy.

Discussion of this matter was not finished.

Superior

Object to Route.

Engineers in the employ of the Wisconsin railroad commission will investigate the proposed route of the Superior Steel Plant Traction company. Objection has been made by railroads entering the city against grade crossings, and the railroads ask that in case the road is built, the new line be compelled to construct underground viaducts, and that it be also compelled to pay all the cost of building them. Following the report of the engineers, a public hearing will be held on Nov. 6.

Start War on Vice.

A war on vice is expected to begin with the return of Rev. H. W. Knowles next week. The pastor has been in Milwaukee for some time conferring with Rev. F. Lee, who was active in the campaign here last winter. Details of the campaign will be worked out at a meeting of the Superior vigilance committee next week.

Ironworker Killed.

James Stewart, 45 years old, a structural iron worker, employed by the American Bridge company in the construction of a bridge on the Belt Line railroad, was almost instantly killed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Stewart was working on the bridge when he stumbled in trying to get out of the way of approaching dump cars. His neck was broken and he died before the arrival of a physician. The body was taken to Down's undertaking rooms. Nothing is known of the man's relatives.

Schools for Social Center.

Six of Superior's school buildings will be opened for the use of social centers Nov. 1. Plans are being made to have the buildings open three nights each week at which programs, prepared under the direction of the social center director will be arranged. The playground in connection with each of the schools will be thrown open to the public on these nights.

THINK DULUTH IS A FERTILE FIELD

Trading Stamp Companies Expect to Find Rich Pickings Here.

Representatives of the Sperry-Hutchins company, the largest trading stamp firm in the United States, are in Duluth today, and are making strenuous efforts to again put Duluth in the class of cities where trading stamps are tolerated.

The company is reported to be willing to spend thousands of dollars to break into the local territory. Duluth has been free of the trading stamp evil for years, but one firm succeeded in breaking the ice here last week, and the other companies are now rushing in.

IN PROBATE COURT.

Looking for Heirs to $350 Estate of John Gauthier.

Whether John Gauthier, hermit farmer, who died on June 21, 1912 at his shack on a small farm northeast of the city, left any heirs is a question with which the probate court is now concerned. An effort is being made to ascertain whether or not he had any relatives living to whom the proceeds of his estate might be paid over. So far as is known he had none.

Gauthier owned the ten-acre tract on which he lived, worth $350, subject to a contract held by C. Francis Colman on which there is an unpaid balance of $73. Mr. Colman today petitioned the probate court for letters of administration in the estate in order that his claim might be disposed of.

Little is known of Gauthier.

* * *

Ole M. Nelson, who died, Oct. 15 last at his home in this city left an estate of about $1,000 all of which will go to his father in the old country, N. G. Nelson, a brother, petitioned the probate court today for the appointment of J. W. Nelson of 5 East Superior street, as administrator of the estate.

* * *

Marietta Karjalainen, who died, aged 67, in Finland left an estate in this country worth $1,500, Charles Pajunen of Eveleth has petitioned for letters of administration. The heirs are two daughters and two sons all residing in Finland.

NEW CAFETERIA ON SUPERIOR STREET.

R. T. Bennett this morning opened a new cafeteria at 14 East Superior street.

The new lunch room will be operated on the plan of the old one at Lake avenue and First street, which has proven very popular since its opening, several months ago. The new cafeteria is much larger than the old one and most completely furnished.

A feature of the lunch room will be the low cost of all the dishes sold, most of them being 10 cents or under. George E. Lindberg is in charge of the new cafeteria.

CASE IS SETTLED.

Suit for Damages Not Allowed to Go to Jury.

The damage suit brought by J. Hanify against T. McCollum and S. G. McTaggert, in which the plaintiff asked for $1,000 because he had been forcibly ejected from his house at Proctor last July by McCollum, landlord, and McTaggart, town constable, has been settled out of court.

On the eve of the case going to the jury, the defendants made a proposition of settlement which was accepted by Hanify. B. M. Goldberg, plaintiff's attorney, has filed a dismissal of the action.

Jones Heads Grain Dealers.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 18.—A resolution adopted by the Grain Dealers' National association in convention here asks the Federal government to enact a law providing for proposed new grain grades, but objects to Federal supervision. C. D. Jones of Nashville was re-elected president. No selection of the 1914 meeting place was made.

FARMER TAKES FATAL DOSE IN THE DARK

Caledonia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph McKenna, aged 50, well-to-do farmer, arose during the night with cramps and going into the pantry without troubling to turn on the light, reached for the brandy bottle. He took one swallow then realized that he had taken a deadly poison by mistake, and cried for help. Physicians were quickly called, but the man died before they arrived.

The bottle of poison had been bought only yesterday by a son and placed on the shelf unknown to the rest of the family.

$22,491 VERDICT IN REAL ESTATE CASE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—George C. Lawrence, a lawyer of Anamosa, Iowa, was awarded a verdict of $22,491 against James B. Streetor and the O. W. Kerr Real Estate company in district court here today. The suit was for the purpose of cancelling a contract and to return the money Lawrence claimed to have paid on the purchase of 6,000 acres of land in Aitkin county, Minn.

The land, according to the evidence, had been purchased by Lawrence under an agreement whereby a St. Louis colonization company was to bring settlers from Europe to take over the property. Lawrence testified that when he investigated the St. Louis concern he found it to have no standing whatever and that two of its members were serving time in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth for alleged fraudulent transactions.

GERMANY PROTESTS FIVE PER CENT PLAN.

Washington, Oct. 18.—Germany today added her protest to those of the other powers against any discrimination adverse to her commerce under the 5 per cent differential section of the tariff act. Although Solicitor Folk of the state department has expressed the opinion that the differential could not be claimed by any of the German states outside of Prussia, Mecklenburgh-Scherwin and the Hanseatic states, the German government will resist any such limitation.

MINNEAPOLIS BOY HAS MADE AN AEROPLANE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. T. Hein, a Minneapolis boy who has completed with his own hands an aeroplane of the Curtis type, made several successful flights here today, just to show his friends what he could do. Hein expects to start on a flight to Winnipeg Monday.

ALFONSO'S POPULARITY.

Le Cri de Paris: Alfonso XIII, king of Spain, delights in long improvised excursions. "If my ministers," he says to his intimates, "should not keep me under their wing, as the hen covers her chickens, I soon would be as well known to my subjects as was my ancestor, Charles V."

Recently the young king, accompanied by two agents specially charged with guarding his person, paid a visit in his automobile to a friend in the suburbs of Madrid. The day was so beautiful that he resolved after dinner, to push on a little farther into the country. The travelers arrived in the province of Segovia at the little village of Riaza, where the population is strongly republican.

None of the inhabitants recognized the sovereign. They took him to be the deputy of that region, an uncompromising Socialist, and he was received with enthusiasm. With much grace Alfonso XIII rose, acknowledged the welcome, and in a little speech full of Castilian humor combated the Socialistic opinions they supposed he represented. He was witty and eloquent until unveiling his incognito at the end of a quarter of an hour there were cries on all sides of "Viva el Rey!" "Down with the deputy!"

"You see that I am right," said the king to those who attended him. "If I could go among the people as the heads of the state do in France, there would be more shouts of viva el Rey and the throne would have more supporters."

PORTUGUESE ARE ILLITERATE

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 18.—Just about three-fourths of the Portuguese people can neither read nor write, according to the latest official census, which shows that in Portugal, Madeira and the Azores there was a total population of 5,960,056, of whom 4,478,098 were totally illiterate. There are 2,828,691 men and 3,131,365 women.

The Americans living in Portugal, 1,646, outnumber the Italians, of whom there are 547, and the Germans, who have 969, and are nearly as numerous as the French colony with 1,532.

The population of Lisbon is 435,359 and of Oporto 194,009.

Liberia is to have a wireless station, with 2,500 miles radius, provided by a French company.

ELECTRO MEDICAL DOCTORS

Employ Natural Methods With Greatest Success.

That natural methods produce the most satisfactory results in the cure of chronic and obstinate diseases, leaves no more a shadow of doubt. Patients come and go afflicted with all manner of wasting diseases such as deep seated catarrh of the stomach, which was contracted in the first place from catarrh in the head. This disease grows by stages and leads to irritation of the entire nervous system and finally causes severe palpitation of the heart, weakness, shortness of breath, pain in the back of the head and down in the back, are the symptoms of a general breakdown. This condition is carried by the deadly poison which has been produced from time to time, and while constipation is the rule in such cases, these poisons instead of being carried off through the natural channel, are retained and reabsorbed in the blood circulation, where they slowly but surely perform their deadly work which results in the breakdown of tissues and organs. They settle in the walls of the blood vessels gradually weakening them, producing varicose veins. These poisons carry concretions through the circulation which settle around the valves of the heart, which produce organic heart disease. As the blood circulates round and round through the entire system these poisons reach every part of the anatomy and cause every known disease such as the dangerous aneurism so often resulting in sudden deaths, hardening of the arteries, apoplexy, a condition where the blood vessel breaks, because the poisons have so weakened the vessel walls. In the lungs we get the disease known as pneumonia, pleurisy, consumption, bronchitis, etc. Ulcers of the stomach, leading to cancer, congestion of the liver, producing tumors, gall bladder infections causing gall stones. General inflammation of the bowels known as peritonitis and appendicitis, growing tumors, inflammation of the kidneys, Bright's disease, inflammation of the bladder and all urinary troubles. One and all are carried by the poison which has been left to circulate in the blood for years. Finally the patient feels the harrassing pain known as rheumatism when the joints ache and the back gets stiff and painful. This is the stage where the whole system is saturated with poison of many years' standing.

There are hundreds of women and girls who are afflicted with unsightly goiters. They all know that an operation means to risk their lives on the operating table, why then not investigate a harmless method of cure for this condition, which will cause neither pain, injury, nor risk to life in any way. Electro-Tox-Absorbs has cured a number of cases in a remarkably short time. A month ago a lady came in with a large goiter which is now reduced to one-half its size. Rheumatism with stiff joints, swellings, glandular tuberculosis, skin diseases of most chronic character, severe nervousness, typhoid weakness, kidney troubles, blood poison, both specific and non-specific, ear abscess causing splitting headache, congestion of the liver, inflammation of the gall bladder, urinary infections, cystitis prostatitis. In fact every known pelvic congestion has been cured by the new Tox-Absorb Method, without subjecting the patient to pain, or resort to the knife. If you are ailing, no matter of how long standing your troubles are, consult the Electro Medical Doctors free of charge and learn what natural methods will do for you, especially for cases where operations have been advised.

ALFALFA.

You Can Raise It—You Should Raise It.

BL WILLIAM O. WING

There is not a farm that does not need alfalfa. There is not a farm that cannot grow alfalfa. Alfalfa is growing on the sands of Florida, on the red clays of Georgia, on nearly all the soils of Virginia, splendidly on different soil types of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

There remain no mysteries, no secrets, about alfalfa growing. All it asks is that the land be well drained, that it be fertile and with enough lime in it, that it have inoculation from another alfalfa field and have the seed. Given these things and alfalfa is as vigorous as a weed anywhere in America. True, it will not grow in wet land nor in cold, poor land nor in sour, unlimed soil; but, now, no one with sense sows it in such situations.

What alfalfa will do for the small farmer it this: It makes a feed as rich as oats for feeding his dairy cows or his working horses. It makes hens lay. It pushes the pigs forward cheaply. One can get five tons of alfalfa from one acre of good land. Five tons of good alfalfa hay are about equal in feeding value to 300 bushels of oats.

It would take five acres of your best land to make 300 bushels of oats, and they would need to be sown every year, whereas alfalfa once sown will come again and again for a term of years. Then oats or corn will drain the land of its fertility; alfalfa will fill it with nitrogen. If care is taken to keep the land stored with the mineral elements of fertility, its phosphorus, lime and potash, alfalfa will do the rest, for it gets its nitrogen from the air.

The large farm should have alfalfa, but the small farm must have it because of the need to make every acre do its best. Five tons of alfalfa hay may be worth to the farmer $125 or even more money, for alfalfa hay is a little richer than wheat bran in feeding value and it will make a great saving when the farmer ceases to buy bran and grows his own supplies of protein.

From the farm itself should spring up the feed for the animals of the farm. Alfalfa and corn will make milk and beef and pork without reliance on any other supplies than those which the farm affords. It is a surer crop than any other except the wild, native grasses upon the farm.

The villager should have his plot of alfalfa for his fowls; not to let them run upon it steadily, for that might be injurious to the alfalfa, but to cut for them and for winter feeding.

Alfalfa makes cheap and abundant eggs and fowls of the finest flavor.

TO CONSUMER DIRECT.

Keeping What the Middleman Generally Gets—The Lion's Share.

By E. K. PARKINSON,
Farm Management Expert.

Growers of produce who are up and doing are never satisfied with indirect sales.

On Long Island, thirty miles from New York, is a farm of twenty-five acres. Ten years ago it could have been purchased for a few thousand dollars. Within its bounds were an old-fashioned house, a barn and, best of all, a supply of fine water. To this neglected spot came a woman looking for a bargain. Possession soon awoke in the newcomer, at the time in business in New York, a desire to turn her investment to some practical account.

After thinking the matter over she decided to develop the garden, devoting it to vegetables and small fruits and also to raise chickens for broilers and roasters. The first year the garden supplied an abundance for the household and for guests.

Encouraged by the first year's success—and it should be added that, as the owner's business required her to be in Florida three months every winter, day old chicks were purchased instead of fowls for breeding—a market gardener was engaged. Under his management the garden produced prodigously, and the marketing problem became pressing. The distance to New York was too great for a market wagon.

While these things were being considered a friend expressed a desire to have vegetables, berries and a pair of broilers boxed and sent to her town house twice a week. This suggestion proved the turning point. Hampers were procured large enough to hold a daily supply of vegetables, fruits and poultry, and little by little a splendid business was built up, so that now between fifteen and twenty hampers are packed and sent to New York every week day from May to November.

The price of these hampers is $1, poultry being extra, and the consumer pays all transportation charges. Recently this woman has found it expedient to drop her business in Florida and has begun starting her seeds in hotbeds and cold frames, thus extending her season. This success is due to the owner's initiative in striking out along new lines and selling directly to the consumer.

Not everybody can find such an opportunity or embrace it when found, but all may be on the lookout for the opportunity to establish the direct to you method of selling, which eliminates the middleman and his charges.

BUSINESS DAIRY HERD.

If the Herd Is to Keep You, Cut Out the Cows You Have to Keep.

By F. B. MUNFORD,
Dean and Director, University of Missouri.

The farmer is a manufacturer; he also produces his own raw material. As in the case of the manufacturer, he invests capital, employs skilled labor and makes the largest possible use of machines by which the raw products of the soil are made into more valuable products required for the food and pleasure of mankind.

The profits of the manufacturer very largely depend upon the kind of machine used in the manufacturing processes.

In the manufacturing processes conducted on the farm the animal is the machine and, like the manufacturer, the profits to the farmer depend largely upon the efficiency of the animal machine. There are some horses that will eat a bushel of oats and trot a mile in two minutes. There are other horses that when fed the same kind and amount of oats, hitched to the same sulky, driven by the same driver over the same track, will do well if they trot a mile in four minutes. There is no difference in the oats nor in the driver or the track. It is altogether due to the difference in the efficiency of the two animal machines.

There are dairy cows which when fed a certain amount of food under certain conditions will produce 125 pounds of butter in a year. There are other cows fed the same food for the same length of time that will as easily produce 250 pounds of butter in a year. The profits from the efficient cow are often ten times greater than the profits from the inferior animal—in fact, the inferior animal is generally fed at a loss.

If it is true that one cow can be so much more profitable than another cow, the question is: how can we secure the profitable cow? There is only one sure way, and that is by actual test. In any herd of cows the milk of each cow should be weighed separately and a record kept. It will be found that on the same food some cows produce double the milk that is secured from others. But the investigation should be more thorough.

There is a very great difference in the richness of the milk from different cows. The per cent of fat in milk can easily be determined, thanks to the invention of the milk tester. No dairyman can successfully prosecute his business without a pair of scales and a milk tester. With these two appliances and with a good system of records it is possible to make over an unprofitable, money-losing herd of cows into a money-making herd.

HOUSING POULTRY RIGHT

Good Feed and Care Are Wasted Unless Your Hens Have a Good House.

By D. J. LAMBERT,
Poultry Instructor, R. I. State College.

Poultry Keepers of today know that it pays to give laying hens a clean, dry, bright sunny house in which to live, especially during cold weather.

Hen houses for winter layers should be built as snug as possible on the three sides, north, east and west, and with an absolutely tight room. The south side should be almost entirely open to the sun and air. Muslin curtains may be provided so as to partly close the front on very cold nights or during stormy weather. There is no danger from exposure in an open front house during the day or at night, provided that all openings are on one side and below a horizontal plane of the roosts. This open front must always face the south or southwest.

All poultry houses should be located where they will get the morning sun and should be elevated so that the rain and surface water will drain away from them.

An old style hen house can easily be remodeled by tearing out the south front and leaving it open for sun and air. If the roof leaks cover with roofing paper. Both ends and the back of the house should also be wind proof. If the house is more than eight feet high it should be sealed up about seven feet from the floor. Allow from three to four square feet of floor space for each hen.

September is the best month in all the year for the annual housecleaning. Remove all fixtures such as roosts, dropping boards and nests. Brush the cobwebs and dust from the walls and ceiling and remove the litter and dirt from the floors. Where floors are of earth remove as much as appears to be mixed with dirt or excrement.

Then with a spray pump or a brush apply lime wash to every part of the building. This lime wash is made by slaking rock lime with hot water and thinning to the consistency of skimmilk. If 2 per cent of carbolic acid is added the wash will be more effectual as a disinfectant.

The roosts should be painted with kerosene, nests thoroughly cleansed and tobacco dust or stems added to the straw or sawdust nesting material. Cover the floor again with clean sand or fine gravel to the depth of four or six inches. If not too coarse this will provide a dust bath for the fowls. Where dropping boards are used under the roosts they help to keep the floor clean and facilitate the work of removing the manure.

We show on this page three pieces of upholstered Furniture that any house would be proud of, in either tapestry or brown leather. Hundreds of other styles to choose from. You can buy them of us 35 per cent less than retail and—

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

German Students Reorganize---Football Team Cheered ---Athletes Raise Funds---Plan for Annual Sale---College Credits Discussed ---Football Rooters Rally.

The Schillerbund, an organization of German students of the high school, met in Miss Augusta Ziegler's room at the close of school Monday and reorganized for another year's work. The object of the society is to promote interest in German literature, regular programs will be given each month, as arranged by the program committee consisting of Ilowna Hansen, Anna Sionum and Fred Stoltz. The officers for the new year were elected as follows: President, Miss Augusta Ziegler; vice president, Fanny Weinberg; secretary, Lucile Elder; treasurer, Percy Keown.

• • •

Miss Myra Patterson was suddenly called to Rochester, Minn., on account of the illness of her mother. Her work in the commercial department is being looked after by F. B. Carey, head of the department.

• • •

The junior class held a special meeting Monday at the close of school and elected Miss Margaret E. Taylor class adviser. Miss Taylor will serve in this capacity for the next two years.

• • •

On Monday morning during the chapel period a rousing celebration was given by the students in honor of the football team, which won such a hard-fought game from Grand Forks on Saturday. Principal Young commended the team for its excellent showing throughout the second half, when the scoreless tie was broken by a lonely touchdown after an exhibition of real football playing. Mr. Custance and the choir responded with several spirited songs, and Yellmaster Jack Shields led the best rooting yet displayed at Central.

• • •

Owing to the crowded condition in the assembly hall during chapel, a number of folding chairs have been added to the seating capacity of the main auditorium.

• • •

The regular weekly program of the "Stump" was given on Wednesday at the close of school. The program consisted of orations and impromptu speeches, and from the class of work presented the officers feel assured of enthusiastic meetings. Albert Armstrong gave Henry W. Grady's great oration on "The Opportunities of the Scholar." Julian Hagberg gave an impromptu speech on the "Educational System of Today," while Fred Stoltz gave an impromptu speech on "Electricity."

• • •

Miss Teresa Diehl, who has charge of the girls' gymnasium classes, reports so much interest in this line of work that additional classes have been organized meeting each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the close of school, Monday's class will take up folk dancing, Wednesday's class will do regular gymnasium work, while on Friday the entire time will be devoted to basket ball and other games.

"Ttnletic funds" were the chief topic discussed at a recent meeting of all boys of the high school, during the rather unsatisfactory attendance throughout the football season due largely to the interference of the weather man, the faculty treasurer reports a shortage of funds necessary to carry through the athletic policy of the high school. Student Treasurer Harold Bradley has devised a plan, however, of enlisting the co-operation of all the boys in the high school. Simply by having each boy join the Athletic association and paying his quarter which is the semester dues, enough funds will be secured to raise the deficit. Tuesday morning during the chapel period the above plan was presented by Mr. Phillips and Mr. Schilling of the faculty and by Student Treasurer Bradley. Following the presentation of the plan, slips of paper were passed around which all boys signed, giving their session room number. This data will be systematized, a collector appointed for each session room and the funds collected during the coming week.

• • •

A special meeting of the Zenith board was called on Monday at which a decision was reached regarding the selling price of the Zenith. Slips will be printed at once and put on sale whereby students can secure copies at 50 cents. However, 75 cents will be charged those who have not availed themselves of the opportunity of securing the slips. The reduction in price of the publication is in compliance with a recommendation of the board of education.

• • •

Plans for the annual auction, which is always called on the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving day, are taking more definite form. Chairman William Craig of the senior class is anxious to get a line on the various donations in the way of pillows, pennants, and other needlework. Students having in mind such a donation are requested to report to the senior committee or Miss Wells. The proceeds of this popular event are always given to charity.

• • •

During the chapel period on Wednesday morning Principal Young gave an exposition of the requirements now maintained at various colleges and universities throughout the country. Many high school students who are planning on a college course are evidently not aware of the various kinds of requirements now demanded of students. For instance, students planning the liberal arts course must present credits in certain subjects, while students wishing to enter various other courses would find certain of the liberal arts credits of no value, but emphasis would be placed on subjects of an entirely different type. Moreover, different universities often require a different range of subjects for the same course. Eastern schools differing quite materially from Western schools in this respect. On this basis, Mr. Young emphasized the importance of students making their decisions as early as possible relative to courses desired and college or university to be attended, before consulting him. The importance of high scholarship was also touched upon, and Mr. Young pointed out the hardships to students of mediocre ability. At the University of Minnesota the passing grade is 80 per cent. Students entering this institution with a grade between 75 per cent, which is the high school passing grade, and 80 per cent, are conditioned and must take an examination on each subject in which the grade is not up to standard. Furthermore, before this make-up examination is given the student must be present for thirty hours of sixty minutes each in such a subject in which he is delinquent. It has now become the policy of many of the higher institutions of learning to weed out the less desirable students by the difficulties of the work required.

• • •

Tuesday evening at the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A., Bible classes were organized. These will extend throughout the school year. A popular priced supper was served at 6:15, after which a number of prominent local speakers were introduced, and the regular Bible study classes were formally organized at 7:30. These classes are very popular with high school boys.

• • •

The first A and B lists were read before the assembly on Monday morning and the student body was given the first opportunity of learning the names of the honor students. In order to be on the A list a student must be doing at least 90 per cent in four or more subjects. To be on the B list it is necessary for a student to be doing 90 per cent in at least three subjects.

Because of the great popularity of the music courses now given, it has been found necessary to add another class. This meets each Tuesday at the close of school. The class is intended for those students, who are unable to get into the regular seventh period class. On last Tuesday the following music was rehearsed: "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," Knight; "Invitation to the Waltz," Von Weber; "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel; "Bridal Chorus; "Carven; "The Long Day Closes," Nevin; "Nursery Rhyme Suite," Custance; "Selection from Travista," Verdi.

A special meeting of the senior class was held on Friday afternoon at the close of school to take final action on the size of the senior class emblem which is to appear on the folders of the class pictures.

A final rally was held during the Friday morning chapel exercises preparatory to the Duluth Central-Virginia high game which is being played this afternoon at Athletic park. This game is the last on the home grounds and is attracting considerable attention among the student body. Virginia is reputed to have the fastest team in her history. The second team made the trip over to Two Harbors this morning and will clash with the high school boys of that city. Those making the trip are as follows: Melander, McCormack, Kelly, Casey, Solheim, Craig, Everett, Olson, McManus, Olson, Mank, Taylor, Neff and Collins. T. W. Blair of the faculty went with the boys and will act as an official.

DENY MRS. BLAKE WILL DROP ACTION.

New York, Oct. 17.—The hearing on the application of Mrs. Katherine K. Blake for $1,500 a month alimony and $5,000 counsel fees, pending settlement of her suit for separation from her husband, Dr. Joseph A. Blake, the eminent New York surgeon, was postponed today until Tuesday, Oct. 21. Counsel for Mrs. Blake denied that the matter would be settled out of court, and insisted Mrs. Blake would press her $1,000,000 suit against Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay for alleged alienation of Dr. Blake's affections.

DR. ELIOT PRAISES INCOMING ALIENS

Says They Have Vitality and Power That Americans Lack.

Boston, Oct. 18.—"There is a lack of vitality and power in the American people which the immigrants possess," Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard university, said at a dinner of the executive committee of the Young Men's Christian association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island last night. "It is wrong to look upon the immigrant with contempt. Those now coming to us are highly intelligent, but not highly educated, and they have some faculties which the Americans here lack. One of these faculties is the power of reproducing their own kind."

President Eliot said that figures showed that en classes of Harvard graduates failed to reproduce themselves.

AUTOMOBILES

INDICATES PROSPERITY

Enormous Volume of Auto Sales Taken as Criterion.

Demand for Motor Trucks Grows—Becoming a Necessity.

The present prosperity of the automobile business throughout the country is a sign of good business and the key to favorable conditions.

Prominent automobile men in the East say that the sales of machines are enormous at the present time, thus reflecting the undoubted prosperity of the nation at large.

The popularity of six cylinder machines and the demand for motor trucks are among the more recent developments in the automobile, according to one of the prominent manufacturers of the East. Regarding trucks he said:

"As for commercial trucks, there is no question in my mind that this year will show the greatest strides in the history of that industry. The truck sales campaign is just passing out of the educational stage. Trucks have proved themselves in actual service tests covering a period of years and business men who were formerly skeptical seem now to be thoroughly convinced that to keep up with competitors they must adopt motor delivery. In addition to this, experienced and reliable truck drivers are constantly multiplying. Gradually also loading and unloading methods are being devised to keep trucks moving and up to their maximum efficiency. Trucks handled rightly are such an obvious economy over horses in both time and money that there is no question regarding their ultimate domination in local and interurban delivery."

AMERICAN FARMERS ARE SHREWD BUYERS.

The Yankee farmer, known almost since time out of mind as the shrewdest buyer in the world, has been forced to share his laurels, according to automobile manufacturers. The David Harums of New England are now no more famous as drivers of profitable bargains than are the corn-raising ranchers of Kansas, the apple growers of Idaho nor the prune cultivating citizens of California. The automobile has taught the great American public the value of the currency of his country as nothing else has ever done. The proof? Look at the big, powerful, beautifully finished, extravagantly equipped automobiles which are selling at what, a few years ago, would have been considered a ruinously low price.

"The man whose financial resources allow him a $1,000 automobile is the one who is responsible for the bargains in the motor car market today," says G. W. Bennett, vice president of the Willys-Overland company of Toledo, Ohio. "To the thrift and shrewdness of the man of average means is due the marvelous development of the automobile, from a crude and expensive toy to a big, powerful and moderately-priced business and pleasure vehicle.

"The shrewd buyer is responsible for every one of the refinements and improvement of the modern motor car. Year by year he has demanded more and more in the way of mechanical and equipment features. The self starter, the electric lighting system, the deeper and more comfortable upholstery and every other improvement to be found on the automobile have all come because the consumer required them and refused to buy the car in which they were lacking. And the successful motor car manufacturer today is the one who not only met these demands when they were made but who anticipated them and presented his customer the completed car before the latter had time to ask for some of the improvements incorporated in it."

SUDDEN FROSTS ARE INJURIOUS

Dealer Says Freezing Water in Radiator May Crack Cylinder.

A timely warning at the present time to automobile owners is to prepare against sudden frosts.

During the fall, with the likelihood of sudden changes of weather at any moment, it would be wise for owners to be prepared against the freezing of the water in the radiators. One of the local dealers in speaking of this situation said, yesterday:

"A storm with a drop in temperature of 20 deg. may come up any night, freeze the water in the radiator, crack the cylinders and cause a great deal of needless expense and trouble. The easiest way to avoid this danger is to introduce into the water an anti-freezing compound.

"There is a stock preparation of this sort sold by supply houses, or if that cannot be procured, denatured alcohol will also serve the purpose. One quart of alcohol in the average car will be sufficient to prevent freezing down to the temperature of zero. Sometimes owners drain the water out of the radiator to safeguard against freezing. This is certainly an effective method, but the inconveniences that attend the refilling, make the use of an anti-freezing mixture desirable."

FORDS GO FAST ON EASY TERMS

May Arrange So Man of Moderate Salary Can Have Car.

The Ford cars are going fast, on the easy payment plan. The Mutual Auto company states that the number of cars sold on the $50 a month basis more than surpasses their expectations and although they expected many to be interested, they had no idea that such a large number of people would prefer buying a car on this plan rather than paying cash. They state that it is purely an experiment on their part and if it continues to work out successfully they would perhaps make a similar proposition to the public on all the cars handled by them.

This progressive firm has introduced the one means of purchasing a strictly sturdy roadster or touring car of the Ford type open to the salaried man who is earning $75 or $100 a month. Undoubtedly this wide awake suggestion will be adopted universally by other Ford dealers throughout the country who are operating on such a large scale as the Mutual Auto company.

CHALMERS MANAGER IS OPTIMISTIC

E. W. Nicholson, district manager of the Chalmers Motor company, was a visitor in he city during the past week, arriving from Prescott, Ariz., where he said it is now 105 in the shade. The Panama hat, light suit and summer togs were shed immediately by Mr. Nicholson upon his arrival in Duluth.

Speaking of the automobile situation in general, Mr. Nicholson says that the bountiful crops which the farmers are having this year, the desired weather in the growing of cotton in the South, with the great activity in the steel market, are among the reasons why the country in general is so prosperous. He inspected the city and states that Duluth is the "City of Opportunity" of the United States.

In speaking of the automobile as produced by the Chalmers Motor company, he says that the new 1914 Chalmers are all equipped with non-stallable motors, which is an innovation and distinctly a 1914 feature on only a few of the new cars. As explained by him, in driving the new Chalmers should the motor be stalled by simply disengaging the clutch pedal, which is the most natural thing to do, it immediately starts the motor again and it is impossible to detect if the motor has stopped or not. This is one of the great boons to the purchaser of an automobile who is just learning to drive. There is positively no cranking or trouble from this source.

The radiators on the new cars as produced for 1914 by the Chalmers Motor company are made with two separate and distinct parts as it may be termed, one the radiator itself and the other a complete shell which does not come in contact with the radiator and which is removable in a few minutes. The reason for this innovation is because it is impossible now to mar the enameled surface on the radiator by overheating as there is sufficient air space between the radiator and the shell. The result is that it retains the beautiful appearance of the new car, particularly the radiator for the life of the car. Another great advantage of the two-part radiator is that the removable shell permits the repairing of the radiator itself by soldering or otherwise or the installing of a new section of the honey-comb principal, without in any way detecting where such repairs have been made. By replacing the shell on the repaired radiator again the beautiful appearance is restored and the repairs remain constant and substantial.

BUYS TRUCK TO MARKET POTATOES.

To bring his large potato crop to market, Louis Brude of Bear River, thirty miles north of Hibbing, has purchased an Avery truck of M. W. Turner. This automobile will also carry merchandise for Mr. Brude's store on its return trips. It is the same machine as in now used by the Jean Duluth stock farm and B. E. Baker of Spooner, Wis.

HOW TO CARE FOR AN AUTOMOBILE

Never use soap on the body of the automobile.

Never use a sponge or chamois on the body until all the dirt and grease have been washed off.

Keep the sponges and chamois clean. This means cleaning them half a dozen times while cleaning the car.

Use different sponges on the body and on the running gear.

Rinse the car thoroughly and carefully after washing the car.

Do not use a strong force of water on a newly painted car.

Do not wash the car too much, as each time the car is washed it takes just so much of the luster off.

All mud should be taken off with a hose, as any other way scratches the car.

While these rules of course do not cover everything in connection with washing the car, they are ample enough if followed closely to always keep the car in condition and never do it any harm. Too many men when washing a car think they can do the same as they used to do when washing a wagon, but it is an entirely different process, as more care must be taken in every detail of washing an automobile.

As far as the temperature of the water is concerned, it depends upon the season of the year and the condition of the car. If the car is covered with grease, fairly warm water should be used to take it off, and oftentimes in winter when the car is covered with ice warm water has to be used. Ordinarily it is best to use water that has had the chill taken off, so that it makes it more comfortable to work with.

Washing the car consists of first going at the body thoroughly with a hose until all the dirt is off and then going over the body with a sponge. Next tackle the running gear and use for this a regular automobile soap, which does not hurt the varnish if used right. After the running gear has been gone over thoroughly with soap suds, go over it with a sponge, and then the whole car is rinsed, both body and running gear. Then go over the whole car carefully with a sponge and then with a chamois.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE AUTOMOBILE WORLD

How long will a high grade motor car, properly driven and properly cared for last?

This is a question that no one can answer yet, for there are instances of the earliest models of all known makes that are still running, and have been running constantly since they left the factory a dozen years ago.

One of the first cars turned out by the Peerless Motor car company is a runabout owned by Dr. F. B. Cooley of Chicago. The car was built in 1902. It was bought by a man whose name is not known to the company and driven during the winter of 1903 and 1904 in California. It was turned in in 1904 to Frank P. Illsley, Chicago dealer for the company and sold by him almost immediately to its present owner, Dr. F. B. Cooley, who says of it:

"There were evidence that before I got the car it had received very bad usage, and in my judgment from the condition of the steering gear it had been driven fully 15,000 miles in the first two years of its life. I drove it approximately 9,000 miles during the summer and winter of 1904 and 1905. From 1905 to 1906 it was the only car in the only garage in South Chicago and did all the towing for the garage during that time. Its average mileage was from 9,000 to 10,000 miles a year.

"On July 5, 1913 it turned a complete somersault into a ditch, but in spite of its eleven years of use it was repaired and placed in perfect condition at an expense of $75. It has been necessary to take up the engine bearings three times but it has never had a new piston ring and the cylinders have never been rebored. It carries the original gears and bearings throughout in the rear axle. Its approximate mileage to date is about 150,000 miles."

Still Making "Fours."

"Yes, we have been saying a good deal about 'Sixes' but that doesn't mean that we are unprepared to serve those who still pin their preference to 'Fours,'" says Joseph T. Peacha of the Interstate Auto company, local agent of the Kissel-Kar.

"Anyone who knows the Kissel four-cylinder engine knows how foolish it would be to give up building it, for owners are legion in their belief that there is no power plant quite as sweet. The motor market has stamped an indelible O. K. on the Kissel-Kar 'Forty' that will keep us turning them out regardless of the popularity of our Sixes.

"Our 'Forty' this year is a better car than ever, although it sells for less. It has a longer wheel base and bigger wheels and springs. It has all the refinements of the Kissel-Kar 'Sixes,' including the same original lighting effects. It has the identical lines—low hanging body and that yacht-like contour which has revolutionized car design for the better. The gasoline tank is in the rear and fuel is fed by pressure, instead of gravity, as formerly. Extra tires are carried in the rear, just where they ought to be. Electric starting, lighting and ignition are in three separate units, giving the car a correct balance and not putting all three systems out of business when an accident befalls one, as in the case of single or dual systems."

Women Drivers.

"There is no reason at all why women should not drive automobiles as well as men," says Harry R. Radford, vice president and general manager of the Cartercar company, Pontiac, Mich., "and during the next few years we are going to see a great many more women drivers than at the present time.

"Just consider how easily and simply the modern car is controlled," continued Mr. Radford, "There is nothing to confuse, and any woman with just a few minutes study is the master of almost any motor car. While a few years ago, without the electric starters, and other efficient accessories and improvements it required an expert engineer to get good service from most cars. Of course, some cars because of different construction have always been a favorite with ladies because of the gearless transmission."

"There are more women driving cars now than ever before and all over the country the popularity of the motor car with the fair sex is growing by leaps and bounds. I visited a medium sized Western city recently and I actually believe that I saw more women than men driving cars there. The streets were very smooth and wide which made them more delightful than in most cities, but the big thing is that the modern car is safe as well as easy for ladies to drive. Today motor car builders are realizing this condition and are designing their cars to appeal to women as well as men."

Fuel Economy.

New York welcomed a new transcontinental motorist last week when Dr. Lee C. Denning of Pasadena, Cal., drove his model 69 Overland down Broadway and finished a tour of 10,238 miles. Dr. Denning, in his trip, set a new record for long distance fuel economy, having averaged 15.38 miles, over every variety of road that the United States offers, to a gallon of gasoline. He left his home in Pasadena, Cal., on May 31, taking the Midland trail to Salt Lake City, and then the Overland trail through Cheyenne and Omaha and reaching Cleveland, a distance of 3,000 miles from his starting place, in twenty-two days. He visited at his former home in Oil City, Pa., for a month, then toured through the Adirondacks into Canada and through all the New England states to New York.

Good Roads in Canada.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Ontario Motor league, Toronto, Ont., is was announced that the Ontario government had appointed a good roads commission to look after the highways in Ontario and that $10,000,000 would be granted for the purpose. In consequence of the many fines which have been imposed on motorists for driving at a rate over fifteen miles an hour in certain municipalities where there are no boundary limit signs, it was stated that the road signs committee had erected 1,000 road signs and were engaged on a road signs scheme which would embrace the entire province. At the meeting seventy-five new members were admitted, bringing the membership of the league up to 3,600 motorists.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Norwegian Society Planning to Erect Museum on the Campus.

Fourth Annual Inter-Fraternity Banquet to Be Held Oct. 25.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—A beautiful museum building will be erected on the university campus, if plans materialize which are now in the hands of the Norwegian Patriotic Society of America. The museum, which will be a depository for the archives of the society, the Tylkeslag, will be built in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the independence of Norway, which is to be celebrated in Norway and in this country next May. It is planned to make the university the center of Scandinavian culture in the United States and at present it seems merely a queston of time until the desired end is brought about.

The proposed street car line from the main university campus to the State Agricultutral college has been abandoned, temporarily at least. A few property owners along the route selected are holding out for prohibitive prices for the right-of-way, it is said.

The first effort to get the 1914 Minnesota Gopher, the annual of the junior class, out of hiding was made Tuesday when the Gopher staff had an organization meeting to plan and apportion the work.

Inter-Fraternity Banquet.

The fourth annual inter-fraternity banquet will be held next Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at Donaldson's tea rooms. Dr. Swift, president of the inter-fraternity council, will act as toastmaster. There will be speeches by John F. McGovern, who will represent the alumni, and Fred B. Snyder, who will represent the board of regents. President Vincent will speak especially to those who are just beginning fraternity life. There will also be stunts, burlesques, and every day occurrences on the campus, given by the various organizations. Each fraternity will add an act to the program, which is expected to be of a humorous type.

Standings of Fraternities.

Figures given out Wednesday from the office of Prof. E. E. Nickolson, chairman of the students' work committee, show that Zeta Psi led in scholarship among the academic fraternities for the year 1912-13. The unverified figures show that Zeta Psi was first in rank, Delta Upsilon was second, Alpha Delta Phi, third, and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fourth. Among the sororities, Delta Gamma took first place, Alpha Omicron Pie second and Alpha Gamma Delta third. The figures brought out the interesting fact that the standings of the sororities are about 25 per cent higher than those of the fraternities.

Japanese to Lecture.

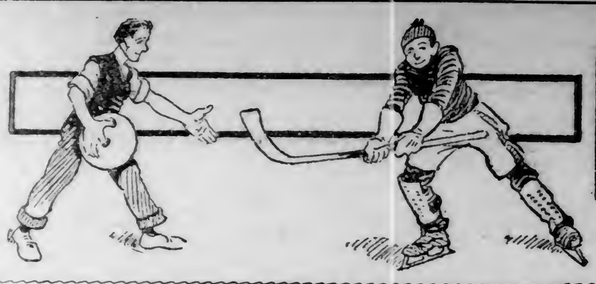

Word has been received by President Vincent from the Carnegie endowment that Dr. Shosuke Sato, dean of the College of Agriculture of the Tohoku Imperial University [illegible] has been chosen exchange professor to lecture for three weeks at Minnesota and six other American universities, in the place of Dr. Okakura, who suddenly died early in September. Dr. Sato's lectures at Minnesota will take up the progress of Japan during the past fifty years, covering a large variety of subjects.

The junior adviser plan is working out in a manner satisfactory to both seniors and freshmen, and promises to be entirely successful. The freshmen seem not the only ones that have benefited from the plan, for the seniors have been drawn closer together by their common interest.

Alma Strand and Barbara Pecor of Duluth have been chosen members of Sigma Pau, the honorary senior girl's society. Membership in this society is considered a great honor, as only twenty of those taking an active particl pation in college affairs are admitted.

SOME CASUAL COMMENT ON THE FEATURES OF THE SPORTING PARADE

Brainerd Will Give a Great and Fitting Welcome to "Bullet" Joe Bush.

Ira Thomas a Great Coin Getter---Tesreau's Story ---Yokel or Jordon Won't Scare Beell.

BY BRUCE.

MONDAY Brainerd gives free reign to joy and exuberance. Let the bells peal forth and the golden voiced orator do a couple of rhetorical flops. Let the whistles of the railroad shops join the fanfare of welcome, adding to the diapason of the civic pride of the town—lo, brother citizens, "Bullet Joe" Bush will make the prodigal son look like a bashful for endeavoring to wig wag the maid from the obscurity of the back fence, for his welcome will be the ebullience of some 15,000 throats ready to spring high vocal explosives. There are times when the pessimist who pans fame as an empty object, is made to look like the green-eyed monster of excessive indigestive infirmities.

Brother Hoffbauer is taking a general supervision of the jamboree. Since the time that Leslie Bush was no larger than Heck's pie-eyed pup, John has been prophesying in regard to Leslie. Most prophets are not without glory and the radiant raiment of distinction, save in their own country. Scoffers dearly love to sit on the corner and whittle and talk, while waiting for supper time to cross their parasitic path. But the time is near at hand when ye faithful scribe is to be rewarded, and believe us, the man who has consistently sung the praise of the product of the home lots is making the most of it.

Leslie Bush has earned the right to all of this fulsome flattery. Brainerd has full right to be proud of the youth. When a kid only 19 years of age can go into a world's series and make one of the greatest teams in the country bow in meek defeat, he has accomplished something to earn the enthusiastic encomiums as profuse and lavish as lavender perfume on the village barber durin' sparkin' time; Les has earned it all, and we all hope that the panegyric is one that will be worthy of the cause.

• • •

He's Not Lucky—Oh No!

LET us examine into the case of Ira Thomas. Some of the fans have been expressing compassion for the expert coach, just because he didn't get into the world's series as one of the active players. Don't worry; cease instanter the flow of tears; nix on the sordid sorrow—he doesn't need sympathy.

Get your pencil out. In 1907 Ira Thomas declared himself in on the world's series cut that Detroit got in the games with the Cubs. That season Owner Navin gave the players $15,000 extra. Ira's share was $1,943. The next year, still with the Tigers, Ira copped out $910. The next season Ira was out of it, poor fellow, and he probably mourned excessively and counted it a very gloomy year. In 1910 he came back strong and collected $2,062 as his share of the Athletics' prize money. Again in 1911 this chap that some are expressing sorrow for collected a nice sum, $3,654 being his little share. This season $3,300 helped keep the ravenous wolf from the door. This makes around $11,869 bucks in addition to the salary he has been receiving. Oh no, not so bad.

Porter Work Is Healthful.

NOT having been in France and not being acquainted with porter's work on that side of the bay, it will be hard to judge of the end John Artha Johnson is coming to. He's on the way back to the beginning, for before he found lucrative means of accumulating the kale by gently altering the countenances of his fellow men, the discredited champion of the world was glad to accept general work in any second class thirst bazar.

Of course it will be harder now, cause Arthah is getting fat and he doesn't like the taste of flat beer. But after all the better class of philosophists tell us that one can get used to anything. Johnson is nearly broke at the time of going to press. His ring services are no longer bid for. Life teaches us that it is one of the easiest things in the world to forget. Three rousing cheers for oblivion. Harry Bulger used to sing of the bird that never flew so high that it didn't have to light. In the case of Lil' Artha it will probably be some saloon or a dock where they need stevedores.

The Eloquent Interview.

A NEW YORK newspaper man was telling of the story Jeff Tesreau gave to the press. The giant of the Ozarks was supposed to write the stuff. Get away. Anyway his name was at the head of the story. Guess he can write his name—just. But anyway the poor hard working scribe came to the pitcher—he does at times—and asked for some dope. "I hurt me thumb, or I would beat dose slobs," came forth the story of the game. That's not the way you read it. Get the idea? No? Neither did the newspaper man; he was obliged to manufacture some of his own. It's a great life.

Where Is the Shade?

BETWEEN Yokel and Beell it is hard to say. Yokel has the body of a Grecian statue. His arms are like those of a gorilla. His chest is broad, deep and hairy like that of a cave man. When Willoughby stood in his corner and gazed across the ring at this abnormal type of man, with his 19-inch neck, he lost his heart—the match was as good as won—for Yokel.

Turning to Beell. He is like a model hewed out of an oaken log. From heels to head his short, compact body suggests huge power. The courage of the little farmer has been tested a hundred times and never found wanting. His shoulders are broad and thick; his legs are like marble columns; his arms are wonderfully thick. His eyes are quiet, yet surprisingly alert. Beell won't be scared when he looks across the ring at either Jordon or Yokel. If it is Jordon, great enough to beat Yokel, the fact won't phase Freddy. He gazed at Tom Jenkins, weighing 218 pounds, then turned to one of his seconds and asked what they were waiting for. Beell wanted to wrestle Hackenschmidt when the Marshfield wonder weighed less than 160 pounds. Frank Gotch broke two of Beell's ribs and Fred tried to get into the champion's dressing room to continue the match or start another one. If it is Yokel that Beell is to meet, Yokel with that bulging chest, those long and hairy arms and that bull neck, the spectacle will not in the least perturb this odd little fellow, for no man in the history of the wrestling game has been able to make Fred say "Uncle."

The Passing Packey.

NOW we have it that Packey McFarland is to forsake the ring. February is the month named by the Harp as the farewell from the endeavors with the gloves. McFarland is one of the few of the great boxers left. They don't make them nowadays as they did in the days of old. Of the true scientific gents left in the game, this curly headed Irishman is about the last. Clabby and Gibbons may class, but McFarland is the class of the bunch. Like other great men, Russell Sage and John D. Rockefeller, Packey invested the seeming insignificant penny and has watched it blossom forth into the dear dollar. Now he can afford to clip the cute coupons. Joyful work, that. Who said so? A fortune teller. Packey has been so good that they could almost talk about him in any Sunday school class. An example, youths.

ATHLETICS AT THE "U"

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The official lineup for the Nebraska-Minnesota game, which was given out Wednesday, is as follows: Right end, Capt. Aldsworth; right tackle, Barron; right guard, Rosenthal; center, Robertson; left guard, Ostrom; left tackle, Sawyer; left end, Solon; quarterback, Tollefson; right halfback, Mattern; fullback, Shaughnessy; left halfback, McAlmon.

The game Saturday will be started with precisely the same men as were in the Ames contest. Thirty-two men were taken to Lincoln, however, to supply in case any of the regular players should be injured.

Following a light workout Thursday the team left for Lincoln. About 1,000 students, led by the band, accompanied the team to the depot, where it was given a noisy and enthusiastic demonstration, led by Rooter King Ralph Johnson. The large turnout for the parade was largely due to a large mass meeting held in chapel Thursday noon, where several live speakers managed to uncover some buried college spirit. The team arrived in Lincoln Friday noon and were put through a brisk but easy signal practice, so that the work of the team in general will not be impaired by the tiresome idleness of traveling.

Wednesday afternoon saw the end of two weeks of vigorous scrimmage. Dr. Williams set a lively pace for his understudies at the beginning of the fortnight of gruelling practice, but gradually, these last few days, the gait has slackened.

Barring the Bierman brothers, every man of the squad is in prime condition for today's contest. Seldom has a season passed with so few injuries. Nebraska will meet a team that is physically capable of standing all the hard knocks.

Urged on by the yells and shouts of a large crowd, the conquering sophomores fought their way to a bloodless, but none the less complete, victory over the freshmen last Saturday afternoon, winning every event but the talking match and scoring 40 points to the 5 of their younger adversaries. Lacking the old-time cane rush and boxing bouts, the annual scrap proved to be a perfectly gentle and ladylike affair, barring, perhaps, only the straining tug-of-war and a few wrestling matches. Many missed the cane rush and boxing matches of former years. The most spectacular event was the tug-of-war, with thirty-six men on each end of the rope. The upper classmen had little trouble in winning this as well as the wrestling matches, of which there were three.

Coach Dick Grant has announced the schedule for this season's cross country runs as follows:

Today and on Thursday, Oct. 23, the hare and hound races will take place. Shortly afterwards the team will contest for the Grant and Corling cups.

On Saturday, Oct. 18, and on Thursday, Oct. 23, the hare and hound races will take place. Shortly afterwards the team will contest for the Grant and Corling cups.

The season will wind up with the annual championship meet, which takes place at Columbus. This schedule will put the track team in trim for the big meet at Columbus on Nov. 22, where the best teams from the Central and Western colleges will be entered.

MURPHY NO JOB FOR CHICAGO MAN

Packey McFarland Gives New Yorker No Chance in Bout.

New York, Oct. 18.—In a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night Packey McFarland of Chicago outboxed and outfought Tommy Murphy of this city from start to finish, never giving Murphy a chance in any round. McFarland weighed 140 and Murphy 138 pounds.

Murphy appeared to tire in the sixth after receiving a hard right uppercut to the jaw. The crowd kept calling to McFarland to put him out. During the seventh and eighth McFarland frequently slapped Murphy in the face with the back of his right glove.

It appeared as though the Chicago fighter could have brought the bout to a quicker termination had he desired.

PLAYERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Fraternity Holds Its Annual Meeting in New York.

New York, Oct. 18. — The annual meeting of the Baseball Players' fraternity, held in this city, elected officers, and a number of subjects relating to the welfare of the big league players were discussed in an informal way, but action on the questions considered was tabled until future meetings. The officers of the fraternity as elected are:

David L. Fultz, president; Raymond W. Collins, Brooklyn Nationals, vice president; John P. Henry, Washington Americans, vice president; John M. Miller, Pittsburg Nationals, vice president; Edward M. Reulbach, Brooklyn Nationals, secretary.

The advisory board consists of Raymond W. Collins, Jacob E. Daubert, David L. Fultz, John P. Henry and John B. Miller.

The board of directors for the coming year includes W. J. Barbeau, Eros B. Barger, Fred T. Beck, William J. Bradley, Tyrus R. Cobb, John Collins, Raymond W. Collins, Samuel Crawford, Otto Deinger, Michael J. Dolan, Richard J. Egan, Fred T. Falkenberg, David L. Fultz, Robert Harmon, John P. Henry, Fred Jacklitsch, David J. Jones, Thomas Jones, Christopher Mathewson, John B. Miller, Ralph E. Myers, Derrill B. Pratt, Edward M. Reulbach, Victor Saier, Wilburt Chardt, A. Kemper Shelton, Edward Sweeney, Ira Thomas and James T. Williams.

WINS CHAMPIONSHIP BY CONSISTENT PLAY.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 18.—J. J. McDermott of Atlantic City, twice national champion, added the open championship of the West to his list of honors yesterday in the fifteenth tournament of the Western Golf association. His score from the seventy-two holes, 295, is seven strokes better than that of his closest competitor, M. J. Brady of Boston, and five under the course record of the Memphis Country club. McDonald Smith of New Rochelle, winner of the title in 1912, was third today, with 302 for the two days' play.

McDermott's victory was the result of consistent rather than brilliant playing.

VIRGINIA TEAM PICKED TO DEFEAT ADAMS BUNCH

Range Independents Are Coming Here With All Star Eleven.

Former College Players in the Lineup of Rademacher's Pets.

According to the special wire received from Virginia today, the eleven that will line up against the Adams tomorrow at Athletic park will be one of the strongest independent teams ever organized in the history of the state.

Manager Ralph Wilk is confident that the Virginia delegation will decisively defeat the crack team of the West end that has gone through the season thus far without hardly being extended.

According to the personnel of the Virginia team, as given in the press dispatch, the rangers will be even stronger than first supposed. All of the crack players of the range have been recuited for the game, and under the coaching of Rademacher this aggregation of players may be safely expected to give the Adams the game of the season—or walk off with the winning end of the score.

It won't be the repeated case of the Adams going up against a green and untried aggregation of players. College veterans for the most part make up the team that is to answer the whistle tomorrow. After reading over the lineup one must come to the opinion that the Adams men are going to face the severest test of the present season, and, further, that the independent championship may rest on the outcome of tomorrow's contest.

Adams Look Strong.

While the Adams should place the strongest team of the season in the game with Virginia, the truth remains that followers of the iron ore eleven have been generously tipped to get down on a good thing. When followers of the independent game in this city are willing to bet some of their hard-earned portion of the coin of the realm on the Virginia chances, it does look as if the strength of the range team has been underestimated at some stretch of the road.

Followers of football, it is quite needless to state, hope that the range team will prove as strong and as finished an aggregation as advance reports have led to expect, for in that event the game should be by far the best of the present season.

Following is the dispatch to The Herald from Virginia:

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—Led by Coach Rademacher, eighteen members of the city football team tomorrow morning will board a Duluth-bound train, accompanied by Manager Ralph Wilk, Hank Boyle, who will be one of the officials at the City-Adams game, and a hundred range fans.

The locals are in the pink of condition for their battle with the Adams and are confident of holding their opponents on even terms. Many bets have been made here on the city team and it is expected about $1,000 will change hands on the contest.

"The Virginia moleskin wearers have been drilled nightly under arc lights on Roosevelt field for the game and will uncover many Minnesota shifts, formations and other open style plays. The locals do not hold the Adams lightly and have prepared a defense for their opponents' widely heralded forward passes and shift plays.

"Members of the city team watched the Adams in action against the Kents of St. Paul and the defense arranged by the locals is expected to stop the Duluth team's attack.

Rangers Are Heavy.

"The team which will take the field against the strong Adams aggregation averages about 180 pounds and includes many speedy men. Two sets of backs have been developed under Coach Rademacher's guidance and the locals are expected to register a few touchdowns.

"At center, Berry, a veteran local high school star, will be seen in action. Reed, the former Minneapolis Beaver and East Side high lineman; Floyd, an Eveleth forward, and Matchefts, a 200-pound guard, will be Berry's running mates. Arnold, who gained fame as a tackle with the Carroll and Beloit college elevens and who was wanted at the University of Wisconsin, and "Doc" Lindsay, who has played independent football for several years, will fill the tackle positions.

"The locals are well fortified with ends. Williams and Shroeder, St. Cloud normal veterans; Funger of the old Blaine Alumni eleven; Cummings, a Wisconsin player; Hayes and E. Lindsay, local men, will fill the wing positions.

"In the backfield Costello, who was with the Minneapolis Marines last year, will direct the locals attack from the quarterback position. Carter, who is an all around athlete and who can do the 100-yard dash in ten seconds, will be seen as one of the halves, with Greisch, Elson and Sullivan as his running mates at the other half. Heider, a former Laurel player of St. Paul, is also working in the backfield. Donovan, who gained fame with the Duluth Centrals, is filling the fullback position."

STALWART LEADER OF ADAMS TEAM

ART BUCHANAN.

BUSH WILL BE HONORED

Civic Demonstration to Be Given Pitcher on Monday.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 18.—A special committee of Brainerd citizens, headed by the father and brother of Leslie Bush, will leave today for St. Paul, where the star pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics will be met and entertained over Sunday.

Bush and the committee will arrive here at shortly after noon tomorrow and the kid pitcher will be given the largest reception in the history of the city.

It is expected that every citizen of the town will take an active part in doing honor to the boy who by his wonderful feat has caused the name of Brainerd to be spoken of all over the country. The demonstration is expected to crowd the main street of Brainerd with several thousand people. Bush will be met at the train and publicly escorted through the streets of Brainerd. Later he will be the guest of honor at a banquet given by the city.

BILLY WALTERS TO WORK HERE

Former Sailor Will Condition at Catholic Athletic Club.

Billy Walters, who will be the opponent of "Spike" Kelly at the Twin Ports Athletic club's show next Thursday evening, will work out on this side of the bay during the day. Permission was secured for the use of the gymnasium of the Catholic Athletic club, and with his sparring partner, the Chicago sailor will go through his preparatory stunts on this side of the bay.

Kelly is expected to reach the Head of the Lakes some time today. Walters' opponent will train at the gymnasium in Superior and expects to be in the very best of condition for the bout with the ex-member of Uncle Sam's marines.

Both Boys Right.

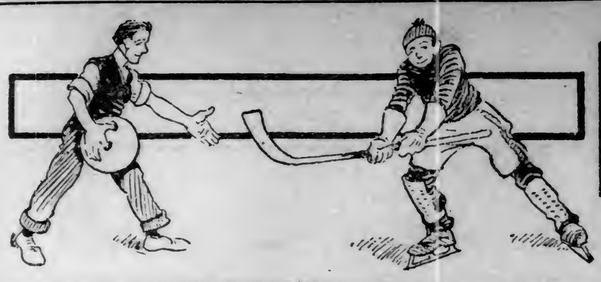

According to the officials of the Twin Ports club and also some of those who watched Walters work, the sailor man is in very good condition. Kelly is also reported to be in the best of shape and the boys are expected to go through a very fast 10-round bout.

Umpire Chill Moves Up.

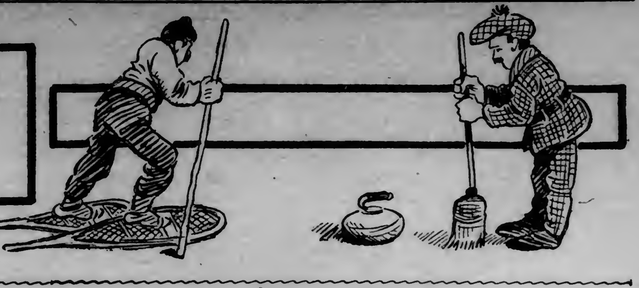

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Ollie Chill, who umpired in the American association last year, was signed yesterday to work in the American league next season, according to an announcement by President Ban Johnson. Chill is said to have given satisfaction in the smaller league and is considered a valuable asset to the major league.

Minnesota and Nebraska Meet on Gridiron at Lincoln.

Nebraska Claims Weakness —Low Score Is Not Expected.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 18.—The Nebraska and Minnesota university football teams met here today in their thirteenth annual game, the first on the local field between these two schools in eleven years. Neither of the coaches would make a prediction as to the outcome. Both are prepared for a hard battle. Minnesota enters the game with every man in good condition, while Nebraska is weakened by injuries to Quarterback Towle and Tackle Cameron, but both men will start the game.

A shift in the lineup of the Nebraska team in order to provide the local eleven with a substitute quarterback was tried the last two nights of practice, and Coach Stiehm stated that this change would probably be made shortly after the game started, End Beck going to the side lines in reserve and Fullback Howard going to the end position. The inexperience of Nebraska against the veteran Minnesota forwards leaves local supporters dubious as to the possibility of a close score. The lineup:

Nebraska—		Minnesota—
Beck	le	Solon
Halligan	lt	Sawyer
Ross	lg	Ostrum
Thompson	c	Robertson
Abbott	rg	Rosenthal
Cameron	rt	Barrow
Mastin	re	Alsworth
Towle	qb	Tollefson
Rutherford	lhb	McAlmon
Purdy	rhb	Bierman
Howard	fb	Shaughnessy

BADGERS WILL MEET STRONG PURDUE TEAM.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 18.—Purdue meets Wisconsin at football here this afternoon, and with an even break of luck, Coach Smith declares the local eleven will win. Purdue will use the same lineup that defeated Northwestern university here last Saturday.

Purdue expects to use open plays and forward passes in today's game in a way to dazzle the Wisconsin players. Wisconsin also has been working hard for the contest and the squad arrived here confident of victory. This is the last big game on Purdue's home scedule and a large crowd is expected. The probable lineup:

Purdue—		Wisconsin—
Stinchfield	le	Lange
Blocker	lt	Buck
Bishop	lg	Gelein
Glossop, capt.	c	Powell
Routh	rg	Keeler
Usner	rt	Butler
Turner	re	Ofstie
Flinn	qb	Bellows
O'Brien	lhb	Tormey
Oliphant	rhb	Cummings
East	fb	Tanberg, capt.

Officials: Referee—Holderness, Lehigh. Umpire—Haines, Yale. Head linesman—White, Illinois.

Would Purge Record.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—The University of Pennsylvania football team determined to wipe out the defeat which they sustained the last two years at the hands of Brown university when the two elevens faced each other on Franklin field today. Last year the score was 30 to 9 in favor of the visitors and in 1911 Brown won by the score of 6 to 0. The Brown team was not regarded as being as strong as the teams which have represented the Providence institution in recent years.

Both Feel Confident.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 18.—Capt. Rockne of the Ncire Dame football team will not be able to get into the game here today with South Dakota and Coach Harper has picked Gus Hurst, a backfield candidate, to play the end. The South Dakota eleven arrived yesterday and in the afternoon had a secret signal practice. Both teams are confident of winning.

Yost Not Optimistic.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 18.—What was heralded as the strongest football team that ever represented the Michigan Agricultural college, lined up against the University of Michigan on Ferry field this afternoon. Coach Yost of the Wolverines, after having made numerous shifts in his backfield during the last fortnight hoped he had struck upon a strong combination, but was not particularly optimistic as to the outcome of the game.

Tigers Are Confident.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 18.—Princeton's football squad was confident of victory when the Tiger eleven met Syracuse here today, although a harder struggle was looked for than the contest last year when Syracuse was defeated, 62 to 0. While the New Yorkers were by no means sure of winning, they expected to put up a good battle and hoped to at least score on their opponents.

Expect Hard Clash.

Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 18.—With both teams expecting a hard battle, Kansas and Drake were ready for their annual clash on McCook field this afternoon. Both coaches declared their teams would win. A heavy field may curtail the use by Kansas of the Minnesota shift, upon which the local eleven has depended.

Ames Looks Heavy.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—The Ames Agricultural college eleven, for years one of the strongest in the Missouri valley conference, took the field against Washington university here this afternoon. The raw-boned visitors overshadowed the local eleven in both size and weight.

Meet in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 18.—The eleven from the Rollo school of mines and the St. Louis university football team met on the gridiron at Sportsmen's Park here today.

GAMES TAME IN THE EAST

Football Situation Promises No Excitement in Today's Contests.

Big Colleges Seem to Have Mere Practice Games.

New York, Oct. 18.—The football horizon viewed from the standpoint of the big university teams of the East, is unmarked by a single threatening cloud on the eve of the week-end games. Almost without exception the elevens of the leading institutions face teams the football ability of which is such that the contests scarcely rise above the place of a practice match. In one or two cases minor college teams which a year ago caused gridiron upsets meet the same opponents, but during the past twelve months have dropped to a mediocre standard and cannot hope to repeat the victories of 1912.

West Point appears to have drawn the hardest opponent of the day in Colgate. The up-state collegians have been playing a fast game since the season opened with the no-score tie against Cornell. Against Amherst and Hobart the Colgate eleven ran up a combined score of 6 to 0 and the army in facing Stevens and Rutgers has not met a team capable of trying the soldiers out as Colgate may be expected to do.

Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell and Pennsylvania are all called upon to face much weaker teams than the West Pointers. The Crimson will line up against Holy Cross which was defeated by Yale 10 to 0 in the Elli's second game of the season. Princeton has Syracuse as an opponent and the Salt City university eleven has shown nothing startling in its three games to date. Pennsylvania will entertain the Brown university team but the Providence combination is but a shadow of the eleven which defeated the Quakers 30 to 7 in 1912. Colby defeated Brown 10 to 0 on Sept. 27 and last Saturday Ursinus held the same team to a one touchdown victory.

Lehigh will play Yale at New Haven and judging from the way the team held Carlisle to a 21 to 7 victory, should give the Blue a good battle, although the Elis have apparently gone back to Yale's first football principles and are succeeding reasonably well under original methods. At Ithaca, Cornell will play Bucknell, which scored on Princeton a week ago. The Lewisburg team is one of the strongest of the minor Pennsylvania college elevens and will undoubtedly prove an excellent test as to the progress of Cornell under the coaching of Sharpe.

In the second flight of Eastern elevens the two most promising games are Lafayette vs. Swathmore and Dartmouth vs. Williams. Both Lafayette and Swarthmore played Pennsylvania on succeeding Saturdays, being defeated 10 and 20 to 0, respectively. Allowing for the week's improvement gained by Swarthmore before being called up to face the Quakers, it would appear as though the two teams were about evenly matched. Both Dartmouth and Williams have defeated Vermont this season, and using this game as a basis of comparison there appears to be a slight advantage in favor of the Green Mountain clan. Williams, however, has the advantage of having played the strong Harvard team last Saturday and holding the Crimson in check until the final quarter of the game. The Carlisle - Pittsburg and Navy-Dickinson games promise nothing out of the ordinary.

EXPECT STRAIGHT FOOTBALL.

Chicago and Iowa Both Rely on Their Strong Backfields.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—With promises that the game will develop into a struggle between their backfields, Chicago and Iowa will clash today on the athletic field of the university of Chicago. The Hawkeyes' strength lies in their backfield. To overcome this Coach Stagg has prepared his backfield and believes that the maroons will not be scored upon. Both teams are comparatively weak in their lines, which leads to the belief that straight football will be resorted to by both elevens. Chicago's team outweighs that of Iowa nine pounds to the man. The lineup for today's game will be:

Chicago—		Iowa—
Huntington	re	Tarberry
Goettler	rt	Kirk
Sparks	rg	Breichner
Des Jardien	c	Houghton
Harris	lg	Wilson
Shull	lt	Barron
Vruwink	le	Gunderson
Russell	qb	Parsons
Norgren	rh	Rennyworth
Pierce	fb	McGinnis
Gray	lh	Dick

Williams Gains Confidence.

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 18.—Hundreds of Williams' men came here today to watch the football contest between the old rivals, Dartmouth and Williams. The Dartmouth team is the lightest in years, but very aggressive. Williams' strong showing against Harvard last Saturday raised high hopes among her supporters.

Illini Confident.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 18.—Illinois will play its first inter-conference game of the season when it meets Northwestern here this afternoon. Although Northwestern won from the Orange and Blue eleven at Evanston last year, the Illinois team is confident of victory. Illinois' lineup will be the same as in the game with Missouri last week. Fullerton had been slated to displace Siebens at right guard, but Coach Zuppke announced today the change would not be made. Following is the lineup for today's game:

Illinois—
Wilson	re	Kraft
Chapman	rt	Schneberger
Siebens	rg	Wilson
Watson	c	Stromberg
Sanche	lg	Price, Peifer
Pruett	lt	Cruse
Armstrong	le	Snyder, Mortenson
Pogue	qb	Hightower
Schobinger	rhb	Sharp
Rowe	fb	Gruhn, Springer
Rue	lhb	Whiting

Old Foes Meet.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 18.—With a changed lineup Cornell faced her old foe, Bucknell, today. Coach Sharpe sent "Shorty" Taber in to run the team in place of Barrett, as the latter was slightly injured in the Carlisle game.

Takes No Chances.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 18.—There was no disposition on Yale's part to take chances with Lehigh this afternoon. The Blue eleven was practically the same as was used against Lafayette last week. The 'varsity game was preceded by the annual contest between the Yale freshmen and Phillips Exeter.

Harvard Uses Subs.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 18.—Minor injuries sustained by some of the regulars necessitated the placing of substitutes in the Harvard lineup for today's game with Holy Cross. Brickley, fullback, has not quite recovered from an injury to his hip. Hitchcock, tackle, and Bradlee, quarterback, have sprained ankles.

Veterans Meet Missouri.

Columbia, Mo., Oct. 18.—A team of Oklahoma football veterans, lined up against the University of Missouri team here today. Oklahoma's entire backfield has worked together for three years, while only one man on the team is a first-year player.

BRYANT SETS NEW RECORD

Duluth Speed Wonder Clips Mile Mark at Auditorium.

Frank Bryant, the undisputed holder of the Northwestern roller skating championship and the aspirant to the world's title, last evening on the 18-lap track of the Auditorium, lowered the mile record of the rink by skating the distance in 3:06 and four-fifths seconds. The former record, also held by Bryant was 3:07 and two-fifths seconds.

By the remarkable performance of last evening, more remarkable from the fact that it was made so early in the season before the little skater had really reached his stride, shows that the little speed marvel is faster than ever before. Skating so fast so early in the season has encouraged Manager Lockerman of the Auditorium in the belief that Bryant will break the present record for the mile before the close of the present season.

Bryant showed that he has improved wonderfully in taking the corners of the rink. Always a wonder on the straightaway, the little fellow under the coaching of Manager Lockerman and Trainer Delaney has mastered the art of taking the corners at lightning speed, and this should add many seconds to the future record assaults of the youngster.

Fast Amateur Race.

The amateur race proved one of the really exciting events of the evening. Buck Smith won the opening heat and the second went to John McInnis. Guy Haggerty won the third heat. This brought all of the winners into the final heat, a half mile event, which was won by Haggerty in the fast time of 1:42. Archie Dennis finished second and Tom Mahr third.

There was a good crowd on hand, and some of the best sport of the season was furnished.

Benefit Game Postponed.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The exhibition game to have been played here yesterday between the Cubs and White Sox for the benefit of the widow of the late Cub third baseman, James Doyle, was postponed because of rain and cannot be played until next spring.

HARVARD HAS AN OVERRATED TEAM ACCORDING TO SOME OF THE CRITICS

Boston, Mass., Oct. 18.—There has been much optimism among Harvard men about this year's eleven, and the result of last Saturday's game between Maine and Yale will tend still further to increase that feeling.

But thoughtful analysis of the eal situation will show there is no reasonable cause for any undue confidence on Harvard's part.

One might suppose that the bitter lessons of 1897, 1899 and 1910 would not so easily have been forgotten, but there is unfortunately every indication that even those experiences did not teach wisdom. Yet in those years a high estimate of Harvard's prospects was much more fully justified than it is now. In each of those seasons the original material was better, early performance showed more instrinsic strength and Yale was apparently weaker both on paper and in performance. Yet in no one of these years was there a Harvard victory, and in each it was lost, seemingly, perhaps, by mistakes and misfortunes, but really because Harvard's opponent entered the final game with a feeling of desperation which enabled it to hold off a stronger eleven, which overconfidence had robbed it of the ability to extend itself to the utmost. Moreover, in those years, as now, it was too easily forgotten that a team which is developed slowly may not make so good an appearance in early games, but is sure toward the end of the season to advance with greater rapidity than a veteran team, unconsciously let down by past successes.

Is Serious Menace.

The optimism as to Harvard's chances, then is of itself a serious menace to her success. But aside from this it is difficult to see on what this optimism can be logically based. There is much talk of this or that star, but the stars of one season are never equally effective the next, and, moreover, the football stars are of little value except as a part of a team which by its perfect support gives them opportunity. And when the groundwork of Harvard's eleven is considered it will be found that there are great difficulties in the way of developing a really strong team.

The most crucial position is that of quarterback. Without a man for this position who cannot only drive the team, but also direct it with good judgment and handle the ball smoothly and accurately, no team can be effective. Last year Gardiner fulfilled these requisites perfectly, but this year there is no candidate who shows anything like his promise. Bradlee, Logan and Freedley all have serious weaknesses.

The backfield is generally supposed to be Harvard's strongest point. Yet it can be said with absolute certainty that no combination of players now eligible can be made as effective as last year's trio. Mahan's playing has been striking, but it is the kind of playing that shines against weaker teams. Its effectiveness against a strong line is doubtful and certainly is not of comparable value with the plunges of Wendell, which always threatened the opposing line unless it closed up so that more open plays would gain. Wendell's part was not always showy, but as defensive back he was invaluable and far superior to any present candidate. Thus Harvard has lost the man who was really the keystone of her backfield work, and there is no one in sight who can fill his place.

Parmenter Will Be Missed.

The weakness of Harvard's line last year was never fully disclosed. The man who prevented this disclosure was Parmenter, who, besides playing his own position well, had an almost uncanny ability in diagnosing an opponent's play, and by his generalship in disposing the line to meet it, and by strengthening the threatened point himself, did more than all other players combined. Now he is gone, and the linemen this year will have to rely on themselves. But Storer and Hitchcock at the tackles and Pennock, Trumbull, Mills and the other men trying for the center trio are not of such caliber that they can alone meet a heavy, well-organized and concentrated attack. These men, as compared, for instance, with the Harvard line of 1910, with Mackay and Withington at tackle and Fisher, Minot and Perkins in the center, would be outclassed. They are all average, and very average at that, and there is every prospect that as the season advances it will appear that the slender margin of superiority in line work established last year by Parmenter's generalship has vanished.

At the beginning of the season the end material looked promising, but now the story is different. O'Brien is fast down the field, but against heavy interference or as an offensive lineman he is ineffective. Coolidge is much the same. Gardiner has had to stop playing, and the other candidates not only do not now show, but have little promise of later developing varsity caliber.

It will be seen, then, that there are many vital respects in which Harvard is dangerously weak—even now when the possible mishaps of the season are still afar off.

Studying Weaknesses.

Meanwhile Yale, Princeton and now Penn State are studying those weaknesses and bending every effort to take advantage of them. At Yale particularly the call has gone forth to rally every effort for this year's team. Ketcham has gathered together the best of the Yale coaches, has eliminated the sources of friction that made trouble in other years and has magnetized his men into carrying out winter, spring and midseason work. Now with a squad that has done all the ground work that counts for so much as the season advances, Yale, under the direction of her best football minds, is working with one end in view, to defeat Harvard on Nov. 22. She does not care much about her early games, she has learned that the best teams are those developed slowly. There is no need to rush matters, and Camp, Jones, Hinkey and Sanford, all of whom have worked eleventh-hour wonders with a team, are this year building from the ground up. Last year Yale had the best material in the country. She failed to utilize it and she failed to make it into a team. But this year Yale had the best material in the country. She failed to utilize it and she failed to make it into a team. But this year Yale has equally good material, and the men who know most about making it into a team are working carefully and harmoniously to do so. No one who stops to reflect on these facts will be carried away with any delusion that Harvard's chances this year are any better than usual.

ULRICH AFTER WOLGAST BOUT

According to the announcement of Curley Ulrich, it is possible that Ad Wolgast may be brought to the Arena later in the season. The Superior promoter states that he held a long talk with the former lightweight champion while in Milwaukee, and that Ad half promised to give Ulrich first chance on his services in this part of the country.

Ulrich left for the Twin Cities yesterday to sign a good preliminary attraction for his show of Oct. 28. Young Whalen may be coupled up with Young Sharkey in the curtain raiser, and this would give the Arena club one of the best preliminaries that has been staged across the bay since boxing has been taken up.

With a part interest in a club at Hudson and with plans being prepared for opening a club at La Crosse, those associated in the venture with Ulrich declare that they will get some of the best talent in the country.

Shades Mahoney.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 18.—Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburg worked ten rounds to a shade over Kid Mahoney before the Racine Athletic club last night. The Pittsburg man's effective punches to the wind kept Mahoney a short distance to the rear throughout the bout.

WALTER JOHNSON WAS A SUCCESS FROM THE START

The Great Washington Pitcher Has Puzzled the Batters of American League Since Debut in 1907.

Walter Johnson, who gets a Chalmers car because a commission of newspaper men have declared his services to his team of greater value than those of any other player in the American league, was not of voting age when he pitched his first game in fast company. He was born in Humboldt, Kan., on Nev. 6, 1887, and he made his debut in the American league on Aug. 2, 1907, Detroit being the first team to get a chance to bat against the Idaho phenom. Johnson did not twist the Tiger's tail and neither did the Tigers claw him so that he had to seek medical aid. Johnson pitched eight innings against them, limiting the Jenningsites to two runs and six hits. His discoverer, Cliff Blankenship, batted for him in the eighth and Tom Hughes finished up the game, which was a Detroit victory, 3 to 2. Of the men who took part in the game in which Johnson made his debut, only Johnson himself, Tom Hughes, Sam Crawford and Ty Cobb remain in fast company.

Though he lost his first game, Johnson had the satisfaction of knowing that his work had pleased Manager Joe Cantillon, and Walter was immediately considered one of the regular Washington pitchers and took his turn in the box along with Tom Hughes, Charley Smith and "Hank" Gehring, since dead. Johnson, in the fall of 1907, was never once hammered hard by any of his opponents and most of the games he dropped were by low scores. Going up against the St. Louis Browns for the first time, he was returned a loser, 1 to 0, Barney Pelty pitching against him. The first time Johnson twirled against the Athletics he dropped his battle, 3 to 2, Eddie Plank opposing him.

Blanking New York.

Johnson's New York debut was accomplished on Sept. 12, 1907. Then he blanked the Highlanders, which ever since has been one of his favorite occupations, 2 to 0. He was particularly active in using the brush on them in September, 1908, blanking them on Friday, Sept. 4; Saturday, Sept. 5, and Monday, Sept. 7. In those three games the New York team acquired a dozen hits, making six in the first game, four in the second and two in the third. The way that Johnson came to pitch three games in a row for Washington that year was that of the four pitchers Manager Cantillon took with him to New York all save Johnson were stricken with ailments. Tom Hughes and Jesse Tannehill both found they had sore arms and Bert Keeley was felled by tonsilitis. Johnson undoubtedly would have pitched all four games of that series had he not been hit on the groin with a pitched ball while he was whitewashing the New Yorks for the third successive time.

As a kalsominer Johnson is in a class by himself. No major league pitcher ever has kept his adversaries away from the plate forty-four times in his first seven seasons. This is Johnson's achievement from 1907 to 1913, inclusive, and in 1907 it must be taken into consideration that he was with the Senators only one-third of the campaign. The Chalmers trophy winner has pitched eleven shutout games this year, previously having thirty-three such events to his credit. Johnson has whitewashed New York eleven times; Cleveland six times; Philadelphia six times; St. Louis six times; Boston five times; Chicago five times and Detroit five times.

Johnson has specialized in strikeouts as well as in shutouts. His greatest year for whiffing men was in 1910, when he claimed 313 victims in about 42 full games. Last year, in 368 innings he struck out 303 men; this year, in 324 innings, he has fanned 227 athletes. Johnson's best achievement in strikeouts in a nine-inning game took place on Aug. 31, 1910, when he fanned fourteen of the St. Louis Browns. This year he retired sixteen of the Planters on strikes in eleven and two-thirds innings, the date he turned the trick being July 25. On July 12, 1910, Johnson made thirteen of the Browns hit nothing but the air in a game that was only eight innings long.

Johnson never has been able to pitch a no-hit game in fast company, but he thrice has almost turned the trick. In the opening game of the campaign in 1910 he limited the Athletics to one safety, made by J. Franklin Baker, and that same season he confined the Browns to a single hit, poled by Arthur Truesdale. On June 10, this year, Detroit only was able to obtain one hit off the man whom the Chalmers trophy commissioners have named as the player who did more for his team than any one else.

Johnson has lost only seven games this year, the men who have vanquished him being: Ray Collins of Boston, twice, each time by the score of 1 to 0; Bill Steen and Vean Gregg of Cleveland, and Joe Bush (twice) and Carroll Brown of the Athletics.

The average number of runs obtained off Johnson this year per game is 1.4; average number of hits, 5.86.

DOWN TO FINALS.

American and English Women Playing for American Championship.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 18.—Miss Marion Hollins of New York, the youthful metropolitan champion, will represent America in the final match of the women's national golf tournament on the links of the Wilmington country club today, when Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, a former British champion, will endeavor to secure possession of the Robert Cox trophy emblematic of the American championship.

Miss Ravenscroft, in the semi-final round yesterday, easily defeated the present English and Canadian champion, Miss Muriel Dodd, 8 up and 7 to play. Miss Hollins, on the other hand, secured the right to enter the finals only after the hardest kind of a match with Miss Harriet Curtis of Boston. Two extra holes had to be played before the match was decided in her favor.

Will Fight in Pittsburg.

Racine, Wis., Oct. 18.—George C. Hip of Pittsburg, who defeated Frank Klaus yesterday, was matched to fight George (Knockout) Brown of Chicago. The match probably will take place in Pittsburg. The men have met in two draws.

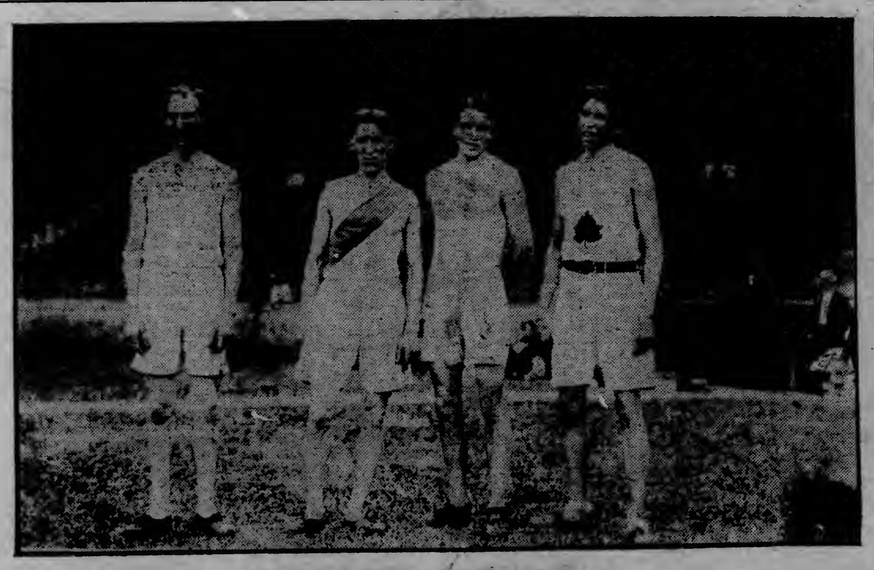

Kilbane Matched Again.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 18.—It was announced here yesterday that Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, and Knockout Mars of this city have been matched for a ten-round bout here on Oct. 30.

WOODRUFF ESTATE UNDER ONE MILLION.

New York, Oct. 18.—Timothy L. Woodruff, former lieutenant governor of New York, who died last Sunday, left his entire estate, valued at $500,000 to $1,000,000, to his widow, Isabelle, and his son, John, to be divided equally between them. The will was filed for probate in the surrogate's office in Brooklyn.

Lyceum

Silent plays will be shown all this week at the Lyceum excepting on Monday and Tuesday when Mrs. Fiske will be seen in "The High Road."

A particularly timely feature will be shown tomorrow, "The Targets of Fate." The big scenes in this play show the sinking of an ocean liner in mid-ocean. The call of "The women and children first" separates a bridal couple on their honeymoon, the wife goes to safety and the husband remains on the liner to face what they think is certain death. How they are reunited only to be separated forever is a very interesting and pathetic story. The Mutual weekly, showing events of the past week, will also be shown tomorrow in addition to two comedy pictures.

The management of the Lyceum has been very fortunate in securing on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday the greatest sensation in filmdom, namely Florence Roberts in a magnificent production of "Sapho". "Sapho," denounced at the time of its writing, in an age of prudery, as sensational, is now everywhere recognized as a great moral lesson. It is bold in its treatment of the facts of life, but the boldness is for the best. Alphone Daudet, the author, dedicated "Sapho" to his sons, so that they might remember and be guided by its lesson. This film is to the picture world what "Damaged Goods" is to the stage. The photoplay is in six parts and was produced by the famous Majestic company with Miss Roberts in the title role. This is Miss Roberts' first appearance in pictures. There will be two performances each afternoon and two in the evening.

Silent plays will be shown all next week at the Lyceum exception on Monday and Tuesday when Mrs. Fiske will be seen in "The High Road."

A timely feature will be shown tomorrow in "The Targets of Fate." The big scenes in this play shown the sinking of an ocean liner in mid-ocean. The call of "The Women and Children First" separates a bridal couple on their honeymoon. The wife goes to safety and the husband remains on the liner to face what they think is certain death. Through a series of circumstances the husband is rescued but loses his memory. Seven years pass and meantime the wife is again married, this time to a very successful physician. The first husband becomes very rich and consults a brain specialists, who is his wife's present husband. Imagine the physician's feelings when after performing an operation he finds that his patient is his wife's husband. How he finally straightens out the tangle, makes a thrilling story. The services of an ocean liner with its full crew and list of passengers were required in taking this picture.

On Wednesday "Exoneration," a two-reel feature by the Domino company of Puritan days will be shown. The scenes are laid in England, on the Atlantic ocean and in America. Stirring situations, including a mutiny at sea and battles with the Indians are included in the play. It is a massive production accurately costumed in the garb of the period with acting of exceptional merit.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday "The Forgotten Melody," by the Broncho company will headline the program. It is a delightful story of an old musician and his difficulties in having his opera produced. How his daughter finally succeeds in making him famous is a very interesting and pathetic story.

Mrs. Fiske and the Manhattan company under the direction of Harrison Grey Fiske, will come to the Lyceum on the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 20 and 21, the performance to begin at 8 o'clock sharp, owing to the rather unusual length of the play, which is Edward Sheldon's "The High Road," now in the second season of the success it has brought to both author and actress.

The association of Mrs. Fiske and Mr. Sheldon was particularly happy in "Salvation Nell," his first play, and its success last year, in New York and throughout the East, the remarkable amount of discussion it has aroused and the wonderful tributes that have been paid to Mrs. Fiske, would seem to be conclusive evidence that it is doubly so in "The High Road."

To have appealed to Mrs. Fiske sufficiently to have brought about its production, is in itself a recommendation, for she seldom elects to appear in a play which does not permit of close analysis and carry something beyond mere entertainment.

In "The High Road" it seems that she has, beyond question, a play that is in every way worthy of her attention. It tells a modern story of modern people, not quite the people one meets every day, since Mary Page, around whom the story is woven, is in many ways extraordinary, and yet she might be the product of almost any similar locality and circumstances.

The play mirrors the life of a woman whose reflection it takes up at the age of 17,—and Mrs. Fiske's illusion of youth has been declared to be one of the most marvelous bits of artistry in her career,—when she is found drudging her motherless life away on her father's barren farm. Though ignorant in practical education she is possessed of great natural beauty of soul, the fairies sing in her heart, and she is beating her wings against the bars of a cage, which to her untutored mind, will ever remain closed against her. Just when the cruelties of her unnatural father have made the future dark beyond her piercing, the orbits of two other lives cross her own. One is that of a young lawyer, the other of a wealthy artist and collector. Through the latter a wonderful era of romance and beauty is opened to her, and for three years her soul is dazzled, as are the eyes by a brilliant light. Then comes a great awakening and with it a realization of life's meaning and responsibilities. The world's material beauties lose all charm for her; she bids farewell to luxury and goes forth, friendless and alone, to earn her own living and to find peace and regeneration in a life for others. Her transformation has been complete, and despite disasters that overtake her at almost every turn, she goes gallantly on year after year until she becomes a figure of national importance, her ability and her self-sacrificing goodness leading her to the fullest heights of achievement. The young lawyer has also gone rapidly forward until he has become governor of the Empire state, and in connection with a movement for the amelioration of working conditions for women, in which both he and Mary Page are deeply interested, their paths again cross, twenty years after the night they parted in youth, each with longings for a place in the great wide world.

How a great love comes to them, how she continues in spiritual growth; how storms beat around and almost engulf them; how she keeps him true to himself and to their mutual ideals, and how, in the end, they come safely into the haven of victory—Mr. Sheldon is said to have told with an interest that does not flag, with a wealth of sympathy and a keen character insight.

The incidents of the play, which are concerned with matters of immediate moment, including campaign contributions, "big business" in politics, moral and social uplift, and the importance of woman as an economic factor, are said to be as varied as they are photographic and the principal roles of remarkable acting strength. That of Mary Page has psychological depths pre-eminently adapted to the sounding of Mrs. Fiske, and treated with her wonderful introspection, it easily takes rank with those other great creations she has given to the latter day stage. A most gratifying feature of the character is that it calls for an exposition of phases of Mrs. Fiske's personality which many of her former ones have kept hidden. These are womanly, appealing and sympathy-compelling attributes which have not been associated with several of the roles in which she has recently been seen.

The Manhattan company which has been the standard organization of its kind ever since it was first formed by Mr. and Mrs. Fiske, numbers among its principal members this season Arthur Byron, Eugene Ormonde and Kenneth Hunter. The production is in the usual Harrison Grey Fiske manner as to atmosphere, beauty and good taste.

The early hour at which the performances are announced to begin is one which it is hoped that the public will arrange to respect since much that is important in the development and in the beauty of the play transpires almost immediately upon the rise of the curtain.

There seems to be just as much character in the "picture films" presented by Lyman H. Howe as in personality.

This exhibitor, above all others, invests his scenes with the life of actuality, so that they seem like living, breathing entities. An indefinable charm seems to pervade every foot of film presented. This elusive "something" dignifies Mr. Howe's exhibition and distinguishes it from all others to such an extent that there is no comparison, and yet it is exactly this quality of superiority that explains the great prestige and popularity of Mr. Howe's Travel Festival, which comes to the Lyceum on Nov. 7, 8 and 9. It was with particular reference to this pleasing characteristic of the new program to be presented here that the Portland Oregonian dramatic critic said: "So fine are the reproductions and so realistic was their presentation that the audience was compelled to feel itself a part of all it witnessed."

"The Typhoon," a theatrical sensation of the first water, comes to the Lyceum Nov. 13, 14 and 15. Walker Whiteside brings the company and production intact from the fashionable Hudson theater in New York.

"The Governor's Lady" is the attractive title of the play which William Elliott and David Belasco will present at the Lyceum in November.

Anna Pavlowa, who will be at the Lyceum in December, is interesting, viewed apart from her pre-eminence in her art. If she were not a great dancer she would have become famous in some other direction. Here is a nature bound to stand out. Her mind is as nimble as her feet, and as tireless. She must have done something, and she would have excelled in whatever she undertook. She could never have been mediocre. By reason of her intellect and activity she is accomplished in other departments than dancing. In and out of season, Pavlowa practices dancing two hours a day. Add to this her public appearances, which are mentally and physically fatiguing, and include personal attention to costumes, scenery and the necessary general supervision of details of her performances, and it would seem as if her energy were taxed to the limit of woman's endurance, yet with these occupations, Pavlowa's hours are by no means filled. She gives attention to the piano, and is a really brilliant pianist, though only her closest friends have ever heard her play. Pavlowa is also a gifted painter, and spends much time in the studio with which her English home, "Ivy House," is equipped.

JOHN F. CONROY
And His Diving Girls at the Orpheum Next Week.

Orpheum

What is claimed to be the most expensive and pretentious posing and aquatic spectacle in stageland, is coming to the Duluth Orpheum next week to headline the new vaudeville bill.

The act is presented by John F. Conroy, assisted by his models and diving girls.

A massive tank containing 5,500 gallons of water is built upon the stage so as to represent a pool in a wooded dell, and a large mirror is placed at such an angle as to enable the audience to see each movement of the swimmers while in the water. The tank for this act is a rather immense affair, requiring the services of from eight to twelve carpenters ten hours to make the necessary setting. A special baggage car is required to transport the paraphernalia from one city to another.

John F. Conroy, the owner and producer of the act, has been called the greatest life saver in the United States, there being to his credit 137 lives saved from drowning. Mr. Conroy is also the principal of the act, but is assisted by two most comely young women. They are expert swimmers and divers and the act in its entirety has proved an altogether unusual and interesting one.

A nautical travesty, "Before the Mast," will be an attractive number of the week's bill. "Before the Mast" is presented by Ed Gallagher and Bob Carlin, who are widely known among vaudeville lovers for their old act, "The Battle of Bay Rum." These performers have a delightfully humorous act, a burlesque on the plays and stories of sea life. Their former act became a classic in vaudeville circles and "Before the Mast" is said to be even a bigger hit.

Bert Levy will return to the Orpheum next week with his interesting act. Mr. Levy is the cartoonist who will be remembered for his work here last year. He is billed as "The Famous Artistic Entertainer" and in his drawings of men and events of the day he has opportunity to display his clever drawing ability, originality and a sense of humor that adds not a little to the pleasure his act affords. By a mechanical invention of Mr. Levy's own, his drawings, magnified many times, are thrown on a screen, each line being shown as he adds it. Mr. Levy is a writer as well as an artist and he has written many essays on features of Judaism, of which he has made a life-long study.

Lloyd and Whitehouse, who will appear on the week's bill, are a vaudeville musical team appearing in bits of travesty. Evans Lloyd is a song writer and pianist and he is most ably assisted by Miss Whitehouse, who interprets his songs in a manner that has given much pleasure to vaudeville audiences. Mr. Evans has written the songs and dialogue for his act. The travesty of popular operas, songs, etc., which are given makes the act a most amusing one. Among the songs Mr. Lloyd has written are "Night and Day," "Somebody Lied" and "Let the World Go By" and "Twilight."

Muriel and Frances who will be remembered for their act presented last season at the Orpheum will again appear at the local theater and their act of songs and comedy is said to be improved and livelier than ever. Girls with a sense of humor are rare, so it is claimed, but the Misses Muriel and Frances have had no difficulty in proving their claim. Music and humor makes a combination dear to the vaudeville goer's heart and this it is that Muriel and Frances offer.

Ward Baker, who is billed as America's most soulful violinist, will appear on the week's bill. He has been compared to Ole Bull by no less an experienced critic than R. L. Johnson, Madame Nordica's manager. Mr. Baker has studied in America and in Europe and is said to play his chosen instrument in a manner highly satisfying to his many admirers in the country.

The Cromwells, lightning aerialists, will present astonishing tricks on the flying trapeze at each performance during the week. The first performance will be given Sunday afternoon as usual and repeated every afternoon and evening of the week. The always interesting motion pictures and the Orpheum concert orchestra will complete the week's bill.

MRS. FISKE IN "THE HIGH ROAD"
At the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday.

Empress

The coming of Charles Klein's strange and powerful drama, "The Third Degree," to the Empress theater tomorrow, gives rise to a question: "What is 'The Third Degree'?" The author says: "Plainly speaking, my play, 'The Third Degree,' is a metaphysical plunge."

Old law reports in England, France and Germany are filled with gruesome details of the way in which persons were tortured in order to extract confessions from them. Officials were frank about it then. It was legal and permissible. Nowadays it is only occasionally that torture is hinted at by the newspapers, but that no mediaeval procedure is not wholly extinct is proven by reference in and out of court to "The Third Degree." A typical instance of "The Third Degree" was the treatment of a suspect in a recent sensational case. The man, it was said, was subjected to thirty hours' continuous questioning by relays of police.

"The Third Degree" is a tense theatrical play, although based upon many distortions of the actual. The girl, Annie Jeffries, is not a type. She never existed. But she is necessary for the dramatics. A necessary factor is the clash of emotions, the element of relationship in discord, so we are given the aristocratic parent, bloodless and inhuman. So far from being typical, this parental iceberg is for the most part a creature of the playwright. What the critics of the police are pleased to term "the third degree," is administered in a room next to that in which Underwood shot himself. The police captain, a bullying, storming, blustering brute, swears and harangues the prisoner for seven weary hours until he collapses. None of the occupants of the house advance a theory in defense. The young man is treated as a felon and the captain practically dictates the confession by hypnotic power. The youth when at school was subject to such influences and when his eyes are attracted by the light of the lamp overhead shining on the revolver which the captain shoves under his nose, he promptly becomes hypnotized.

Mr. Klein did not need to add the idea of hypnotism to strengthen an already powerful situation. The "hypnotism" is about the kind which a master may have over his dog after he has kicked him down a flight of steps.

The cast consists of Miss Dorothy Lavern, F. Adams as Howard Jeffries, Sr., S. A. Arnold as Richard Brewster, Fred Monley as Capt. Clinton, Peggy Watt as Mrs. Howard Jeffries, and others.

"The Third Degree" will be at the Empress theater on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Probably the greatest singing ensemble ever gotten together in one tabloid musical show will be heard when "The Tenderfoot," Richard Carle's greatest success, will play at the Empress theater Oct. 23 for three days. Miss Anna Weiss, the prima donna, is a wee mite of a girl who takes E flat above high C. She is known as the "Small Girl With the Large Voice." She is a student of several of the large conservatories and has spent most of her time in grand operas, but was induced to enter vaudeville this season by Mr. Woolfolk, after long persuasion.

Harry Keesler, the tenor, is also possessed with a wonderful voice. The other members of the cast are all singers, including the "Frisco Quartet," and a great singing chorus.

"The Wolf," Eugene Walter's great play of life in the wilderness around Hudson bay, is to be presented at the Empress theater, Oct. 30 and 31 and Nov. 1.

Mr. Walter's play, "The Easiest Way," was the sensation of the past season in New York. He first startled New York theater-goers and critics by producing two inarked successes in quick succession—declared to be the two great dramatic achievements of the year. While they are both generally mentioned in the same breath, his second success, "The Wolf," is the direct antithesis of his first one, "Paid in Full." As one critic expressed it, the first one takes you into the stuffy confines of a Harlem flat, while "The Wolf" breathes the freedom of the Canadian frontier, redolent of pine woods and border simplicity. Its characters are rough, hardy and primitive, and Mr. Walter has painted them in the bold strokes of the impressionist. The wolf, from which the play takes its name, is a human wolf—a man who looks upon attractive womankind as prey for his amusement. This man, MacDonald, is a wealthy railroad promoter and engineer. He deserts one victim and her unborn child, and she dies a suicide. His next fancy is Hilda, the young and unsophisticated daughter of an old Scotch backwoodsman, Andrew MacTavish. His rival for her affections is Jules Beaubien, a stalwart and handsome young French-Canadian, heartily

Rex

Florence Lawrence, the highest salaried actress in the moving picture field, will make her feappearance in the Universal films, on Monday, Oct. 20, in the two-part production, "The Closed Door," at the Rex theater.

This drama with the beautiful Florence Lawrence in the title role, is expected to be a treat. Her inimitable flashes from comedy to drama, from laughter to tears; her extreme vivacity and indescribable charm, are all shown at their best in this wonderful two-part production.

Florence Lawrence has not only come back to the picture field, but she is better than when she deserted the screen. Her year's rest from work shows in the opening scenes. There is the old-time enthusiasm, the snap and the go which have in the past placed Miss Lawrence in a class by herself.

The long-time screen favorite is fortunate indeed in the story in the interpretation of which she makes her re-entrance to the picture field. Capt. Leslie T. Peacocke of the Universal staff is the author of "The Closed Door." He has written it with a knowledge of the capacity of Miss Lawrence for depicting varied emotions. It is a story for man and women. Children will not understand it, youth will not appreciate its depth. Throughout the two reels the picture holds. The first one interests and at times amuses, but the second gripe, it is claimed.

In the opening scenes the Florence Lawrence of the early days is seen romping about the lawn with a bulldog; the one as light of foot and as agile in movement as the other. When she wants to get the effect of a certain dress material she commandeers one of the men servants and compels him to stand while she drapes it over his shoulders. When her sister's sweetheart is forced to remain at his desk on the night of a ball she goes to Neill, his employer, whom she finds knitted and cigared. Before demanding the release of the young man she imperiously insists on the removal of the hat from the head and the cigar from the mouth. She gains her point quickly, and roguishly invites Neill to call on her. She also has gained his love. When Neill comes to Florence's father, who is in financial difficulties, and proposes marriage, the family furthers his suit. Florence believes he is moved by social ambition, that he is offering his money for her position in the community. She tells him that only for the sake of her father she will marry him, but she will be a wife in name only. The incidents that follow are of the most dramatic type, and the author is said to have brought his story to a most interesting climax.

Miss Lawrence has for her choice of the leading man, Alexander Frank. In temperament, if one may judge by his excellent work in this picture, he is the antitheris of Miss Lawrence. The supporting company is strong and much care was given to all the details of this production.

Echo

The Echo theater will begin the coming week's program Sunday with several bright and interesting new picture films. The films are new and have never been seen in Duluth before.

Two-reel subjects are growing in popularity, and the "The Lost Millionaire," a Vitagraph film in two reels, will be one of Sunday's offerings. This is a cleverly drawn picture of a young man of wealth, who loves a poor girl. The plot underlying reveals the many difficulties that he overcomes before the two are brought together.

"The End of the Run" is a railroad story film. The hero is an old engineer who fights in vain against Father Time. Finally both he and his old engine are cast aside.

The program ends with a comedy entitled "The Dream of Dan McGuire."

HUMIDITY INDOORS PRESERVES HEALTH; REDUCES COAL BILL

Forecaster Richardson Writes Treatise on "Deficient Humidity Indoors;" Says Moisture Is Good for Plants, Books and Clothes; Makes Heating Easy.

H. W. RICHARDSON.

By increasing the humidity indoors, Duluthians may not only improve their health and better preserve their plants, books, woodwork and fabrics, but they will be able to heat their homes with less coal, according to H. W. Richardson, local forecaster for the United States weather bureau.

In a treatise on "Deficient Humidity Indoors," Mr. Richardson explains how a low humidity in a house, especially during the winter months, when the windows and doors are all kept closed, tends to reduce the health of the occupants. The dry air also requires more heat to keep the rooms comfortable for the occupants. Should the humidity of the room be increased by allowing fresh air to come in, or by other means, it will not take so much coal to warm the rooms.

Reduces Coal Bills.

Thus, by increasing the humidity indoors, Duluthians will not only preserve their health, but they will succeed in reducing their coal bills to a considerable extent.

Mr. Richardson's views were set forth several months ago in an address before one of Duluth's improvement clubs, and now, at the request of The Herald, he has put them in writing at a time when heating the home is a problem every householder has to solve. His paper follows:

"The purpose of this article is to discuss the question of the low relative humidity that ordinarily prevails in public buildings, offices, and residences during the winter months, in comparison with the higher humidity which is the rule at the same time outdoors, except in arid districts. There is no question but that such low humidities often very materially affect the health of persons compelled to spend most of their time indoors, besides there are many other undesirable results of such a condition, which is mainly due to artificial heating, lack of proper ventilation, etc.

"In order to bring about a better understanding of the subject, a definition of what humidity is should be given. Humidity is that condition of the air with regard to the amount of invisible water vapor it contains, the terms of expression employed being 'absolute' and 'relative.' The absolute humidity is the weight of vapor in the air expressed in grains per cubic foot, and the relative humidity is the percentage or moisture in the air at any degree of temperature. The latter form is most commonly used and is the one employed in this article. The amount of humidity in this case is the per cent, on a scale of 0 to 100, and it is considered high when the air is damp and the range is from 75 to 100, moderate from 40 to 74, and low when less than 40. Warm air has a greater capacity for holding moisture in suspension than has cold air, and an amount of vapor sufficient to cause a high relative humidity at a low temperature would cause only a low humidity at a high temperature. To illustrate: With a given absolute humidity, the relative humidity falls as the temperature rises, and, conversely, as the air cools the relative humidity rises.

Outdoor Humidity.

"The average percentage of outdoor humidity in this section ranges generally from about 60 to 80. If the air has less than 60 per cent it 'draws' water, if it has 70 to 80 per cent or more, it seems to get rid of its moisture by condensation. Other components of the air, such as nitrogen and oxygen, are always the same as to their proportionate amounts in a given mass of air, but in winter, on account of greater average pressure, there is more of both by weight than at other seasons. This latter condition tends to promote the processes of combustion of fuel, and so far as man is concerned an energizing effect results. Still another and extremely important feature is carbonic acid gas (carbon dioxid). There is always even a minute quantity of this present in outside air, but indoors it is produced in large quantities by reason of the respiration of all animal life. This is what we commonly term 'foul' air. It is very detrimental to human life and is mentioned because of its frequent occurrence in connection with low humidity conditions that obtain indoors during cold weather, and lack of ventilation and air circulation.

"In the warmer months there is no trouble usually experienced indoors as to low humidity. At such times, on account of open windows and doors, there is ample free air circulation and ventilation. But during winter months doors and windows are kept closed, generally, and the air inlets, where provided, are usually insufficient to provide the proper volume of requisite fresh air. And in this climate, where storm doors and storm windows are used, the condition just mentioned is more often encountered than in places where such additional protection from cold is not necessary.

Little Written on Subject.

"While this matter of low indoor humidity has long been recognized, yet comparatively little has been written regarding the subject, and reliable data is scarce. On the other hand the problem affords a great field for investigation and the display of inventive genius on account of its relation to our health and comfort, the matters of balanced heating, consumption of fuel, the effects of abnormal dryness upon plants, woodwork, books and fabrics of various kinds, questions relating to air circulation and ventilation, etc.

"In the Monthly Review (published by the United States Weather Bureau, Washington, D. C.) for September and December, 1908, there are two extremely interesting articles dealing with this question of low indoor humidity. No very extensive observations were available but the data furnished in these two articles fairly illustrates the situation, so we will be compelled to draw upon them for much of our information on that subject.

Observations Made.

"The following observations, by Dr. H. J. Barnes, made at Boston, Mass., will be of interest, the situation being typical:

Place.	Relative Humidity Mean Indoors.	Outdoors.
City hospital, heated by indirect steam	29	71
Dr. Barnes' office, heated by hot-air furnace....	27	73
Dr. Ayer's office, heated by indirect steam....	36	70
Women's hospital, heated by indirect steam.....	24	71
City hospital, heated by by indirect steam.....	38	74
Averages	31	74

"The above observations were made in mid-winter, the periods covered embracing anywhere from seven days to nearly two weeks' records.

"In some investigations conducted by Prof. R. DeC. Ward of Harvard college, the average indoor humidity was 30 per cent and the outdoor 71 per cent in cold weather, the former ranging from 40 per cent down to as low as 21 per cent. In experiments referred to in a paper by Prof. F. H. Day, demonstrator of physics, McGill university, Montreal, relative humidities indoors as low as 3 per cent, 4 per cent and 5 per cent were observed in some of the university buildings during cold weather. At the weather bureau offices in Duluth relative humidities of 10 per cent and 16 per cent have quite often been observed during the winter season. That these very low humidities are common in all artificially heated structures hereabouts in cold weather seems quite likely.

Causes Headaches.

"The want of attention to this condition, combined with the increase in carbon dioxid content due to respiration processes, and lack of proper ventilation, is largely, if not almost entirely responsible for much headache, lassitude and general lowering of the vitality of students and others compelled to spend most of the winter time indoors. As a further danger to the health caused by this excessive dryness, Prof. Ward mentions the strain put upon the body when going out from a high temperature and very dry atmosphere into an air low in temperature and comparatively high in humidity.

"Various remedial measures to increase the indoor moisture all the way from 40 to 75 per cent have been suggested in the search for what may be considered the ideal balance between the indoor temperature and humidity, or at least more favorable than the conditions usually encountered. Referring to this, Prof. Day says in his article: 'Prof. Ward suggests the placing of water pans over the furnaces for hot air heating, or over the steam coils in steam heated houses.' Commenting upon this Prof. Day quotes Drs. Barnes and Starkey's conclusions resulting from some of their experiments at McGill university:

"'Methods have been devised for supplying moisture to the air of houses, but a few figures to show the amount of moisture required to bring the air up to a normal healthy condition will be found to be somewhat discouraging (so far as the efficacy of pans go). Thus in an ordinary sized dwelling house, when due allowance is made for the amount of air required by each person per day, something like thirty-three gallons of water must be evaporated to keep the air at a relative humidity of 75 per cent. Other difficulties arise when this is accomplished. Condensation takes place on the windows when the air temperature outside is very low. Experience has shown that this commences at a humidity of about 40 per cent. We are inclined to think that much could be accomplished by maintaining the humidity, even at this latter figure, and that the question should be earnestly considered in order to improve the general conditions in artificially heated buildings.

Temperature and Humidity.

"However, other tests prove that the case is not hopeless and that the foregoing conclusions are not final. Dr. Barnes of Boston devised an apparatus which he placed over the delivery register and which device evaporated on the average about four and one-half quarts of water daily. By this means he claimed he was able to maintain a relative humidity of 53 per cent in his own office, and the resulting increased humidity kept the place comfortable at a temperature of 65 degrees while under the usual drier conditions the room had a temperature of 70 degrees to 71 degrees. As a matter of fact where pans of water can be placed in the furnace hot air chamber the evaporation is very rapid, and the moisture content of the heated air circulating through the house is materially increased. Especially would this be true if hot air furnaces were equipped with an arrangement of some sort of water reservoir, which could be continuously repleted, and whose superficial area provided evaporation in proportions so regulated as to secure any desired moisture condition. This latter, it is believed, could be secured through more or less extensive experimentation on the part of the manufacturers of furnaces. As already intimated, very little, comparatively speaking, has been done along this line. Steam humidifiers are now available for steam and hot water systems, which have heretofore offered the most difficulty to obtain sufficient moisture. Wherever installed it is claimed these humidifiers have proved quite efficacious.

Relation to Ventilation.

"Ventilation and circulation of air in rooms, and the location of radiators and hot air registers also have an important bearing on this subject. Too often the radiators and hot air registers are placed in the most undesirable locations either on account of a lack of knowledge pertaining to heating in its relation to efficiency, comfort and health, or in an order to secure cheap, first-cost construction. The problems of ventillation and circulation are given little or no attention, generally, by the average builder. Comparatively few houses are provided with inlets for fresh air or outlets for foul air except the door and window openings usual to such structures. Some of the systems in vogue are far from being scientific or practical. In some instances the natural laws pertaining to air circulation seem to have been entirely overlooked or disregarded, the fact being apparently ignored that heat ascends and cold descends. It seems to the writer of this article that much of the trouble can at the outset be traced to poor circulation and lack of fresh air from the outside, adequately heated as it enters the building. Where anything approaching the ideal indoor humidity can be obtained it has been satisfactorily demonstrated that an actual saving of fuel also results from the lower temperature necessary in order to maintain comfortable living conditions.

"The instrument used for determining the humidity is the hygrometer. There are several kinds in use, but the best is the so-called 'sling' type of whirling psychrometer. Such an apparatus, with full instructions for practical use, can be obtained at moderate cost from any first-class dealer in meterological instruments."

RAILROAD ATTACKS ACCOUNTING SYSTEM

Kansas City Southern Appeals From Commerce Commission.

Washington, Oct. 17.—The Kansas City Southern railway filed a brief with the supreme court today intending to show that the interstate commerce commission through proscribing a new form system of railroad accounting was in reality seeking to control the internal management of the railroads. The case is the first attack upon the accounting system to reach the high court.

AMERICAN OUT ON BAIL IN MEXICO.

Murfresboro, Tenn., Oct. 17. — After being arrested by Hureta officials in Mazatlan, Mex., accused of abetting the rebels, Granville Huggins, member of a prominent Tennessee family, was released on small bail and now he is aboard the transport Buford, en route to San Francisco, according to advices received by the Huggins family from the American state department today.

SAYS WOMEN WORKED IN JUDICIAL CAMPAIGN

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 17.—Admission by Mrs. Medill McCormick that she and other Chicago suffrage leaders interested themselves as individuals in the judicial campaign in the Fifth district because they feared for the equal suffrage law caused a wave of excitement in political circles here today.

Mrs. McCormick's statement was made in speeches at Chillicothe and Lacon, where she said:

"The women's suffrage law is not entirely safe yet. The opposition is working night and day. At the next election we will probably have a contest on our hands. We have taken the law to half a dozen lawyers and we know that there is a technical point in the verbiage that may be misconstrued if the judge desires to do so.

"There is no use pretending that such things are not done; they are done, and we women felt that we could not sit still when a judge was to be chosen who will have as much power over Chicago as over the rest of the state."

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

"Peg o' My Heart" and "Within the Law" are evidently after the record for consecutive performances in New York. The former has just finished its forty-second week, while the latter has no less than fifty-seven to its credit. Laurette Taylor, the star of the first-mentioned of the above two plays, has quite a record of her own. She has not missed a single performance up to date, but neither has any of the original cast, which is still on the job.

Forbes-Robertson made his first New York revival of "The Light That Failed," George Fleming's adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's novel, at the new Shubert theater on Thursday night. This drama had its first production at the Lyric theater, London, February, 1902, and was first seen in New York the following year.

"Mice and Men," Madeline Lucetta Ryley's charming eighteenth century comedy, which was given its first New York production by the same artist last Friday evening, has proved to be a most delightful entertainment.

A new crook play will be produced by David Belasco. One of the scenes is laid in an opium den in New York's Chinatown. Mr. Belasco will show an entirely new star in the same. Her name is Helen Freeman and she takes the part of a Chinatown white girl. The name of the play is "The Man Inside," and it will open at Columbus, the latter part of this month.

THE COLD FACTS.

There has been considerable criticism—by Republicans—of the fact that in bringing about the tariff and currency legislation that has occupied the time of congress, the Democrats have succeeded by the use of the caucus system and by using their party power in committees to the exclusion of the minority.

Such criticism, coming from men familiar with legislative processes, is hypocritical, purely. They know better.

They know that this is precisely the manner in which the Republican party conducted itself when it was in power in congress; and they know that the chief difference is that where the party power is now being used for the public benefit, when the Republican Old Guard was in the saddle its power was used for special privilege.

And they know, furthermore, that under the party system this is the ONLY way business can be conducted.

The specific complaint is that though there are Republicans on the ways and means committee, for instance, they have no part in its deliberations, everything being decided by the majority pursuant to the caucus dictum.

That's true. That's precisely the situation. And it was precisely the situation when the Payne-Aldrich bill was incubating. And it always will be the situation so long as party government endures, or else nothing will be done.

What a congressional committee ought to be, of course, is a certain number of patriotic citizens, elected to represent the best interests of the nation, gathering gravely to decide upon what is best for the public welfare.

What a congressional committee is, however, is a vastly different affair. It is a certain number of partisan congressmen, gathered to do what they can to glorify their own party and to annihilate the other party.

If the Republican minority on the ways and means committee were to sit with the Democratic majority and, forgetting its partisanship, were to counsel in good faith for the welfare of the nation, putting it for a moment above party, it would be possible to do what the Republicans now ask, and what they never did when they were in power.

But they would not do that, so what they ask is not possible. If they were admitted to the actual deliberations of this or any other committee, their purpose there would be to embarrass the Democratic majority and defeat its purpose. So nothing would be gained by their being there, and much might be lost.

Until congressmen get so they can sink partisanship in zeal for the public welfare, the caucus system and the committee system of rule by the majority must prevail.

Speaker Clark fairly answered these hypocritical complaints the other day when he said:

> I used to twit the gentleman from New York (Mr. Payne) with the fact that if he had let me and the rest of the Democratic conferees on the Payne-Aldrich bill sit in conference and help fix that bill it would have been a great deal better bill than it was, and I believe so now. But I was playing politics then. An open confession is good for the soul. YOU ARE PLAYING POLITICS NOW.

And so it is, and that is all there is to it.

"Gasoline; Match; Three Men Dead"—there's material for a short story, a novel, a moving picture film, a sermon and a scare head all in nice, compact form.

THE RIGHTEOUS JUDGE.

Where many critics of the judiciary fail, as well as many who uphold the judiciary right or wrong, is in neglecting to consider the human factor.

Judges are only folks.

Being folks, they are human; and being human they have human frailties. Also, they have human nobilities as well; for as there is nothing more frail than humanity, so also is there nothing more noble.

And the judge with the understanding heart, who places humanity above quibbles of logic, who views the law as made for humanity and not humanity as made for the law, has a high opportunity for public service and may strike the roots of affection deep into the hearts of the people without yielding one iota of his self-respect or compromising with his conscience in the slightest degree.

Chief Justice John B. Winslow of the supreme court of Wisconsin, writing in the Survey magazine, thus pictures the problems of the judge with the understanding heart:

> King Solomon's prayer, "Give thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people," is the prayer, sometimes uttered and sometimes not, of the judges who must pass upon the constitutionality of laws for human betterment. The judge of an understanding heart sees the reason behind the law, realizes the slow change in written constitutions as well as the rapid change in social conditions, and tries to judge fairly of an eighteenth century Constitution which forms the charter of liberty for a twentieth century government. It is not easy for a man who tries not to falter with either his conscience or his reason.

And Judge Winslow shows, by citations, that great progress has been made in spite of the difficulties in the way.

Though the judges who would cramp human progress by the shackles of eighteenth century ideas that gave an exaggerated value to property rights attract more attention than the judges who go as far as they may in adapting eighteenth century "charters of liberty" to twentieth century needs, we like to believe that there are more of the latter than the former; and that as not even judges are proof against progress, there will be still more judges of the understanding heart in the future than there have been in the past.

That relative who willed Vincent Astor fifteen hundred dollars took a sure way of achieving post mortem fame.

THE LOOMING QUESTION.

Says the Kansas City Star: "Whether the principle of co-operation or the principle of competition shall dominate the economic order is now the overshadowing question before the American people—perhaps before all civilization."

This has been the overshadowing question for several years, though its shadow has not been so dark as it will be soon, and though other not unrelated questions like the tariff and the currency have absorbed public attention.

But at the regular session of congress beginning in December congress will attack the trust problem, and then the country must face and decide, rightly or wrongly, for weal or for woe, the great question of whether it shall be co-operation or competition that is to dominate the economic structure.

Those who would break up the great combinations of capital and restore competition by law obviously take a stand in favor of competition.

Those who believe it to be impossible to compel competition by law because a statute cannot abrogate a law of nature, and who believe that even if the attempt to revive competition were successful it would inevitably, in the natural order of things, again produce monopoly, take their stand in favor of co-operation under regulation.

Competition in trade is war. Where it is not war the competition is not real. War of that kind is as grim and deadly as that of the battlefield. In it the fittest—in the wrong sense of most cunning, most remorseless and least scrupulous—survive. The weaker crowded to the wall, the stronger inevitably see the folly in war and in some manner or other agree to put an end to war. And so comes again the evil of monopoly, open or secret.

Competition, in fact, is dead. The choice lies between regulating in the public interest that which has taken its place, and attempting to revive competition and keep it alive. Whether or not this attempt will succeed should puzzle nobody in view of the history of the oil trust and the tobacco trust. Both achieved monopoly, both were legally executed and in both cases competition was restored by law and judicial decree. But it is a semblance only, with nothing of reality about it, and the consumer has not profited a penny by it.

Shall the attempt to revive and retain competition be continued?

Or shall the economic advantages and economies of industrial combination be accepted and their benefits shared by the people through the operation of regulatory laws?

This is the looming alternative in which every citizen soon will be required to make his choice.

Shall Harry Thaw be paged? No? Oh, very well.

THE STRAIN OF CITY LIFE.

"There is a melancholy page in the latest report made public by the census bureau," says the Chicago Tribune. "In cold figures is verified the oft repeated charge that the present day industry with its terrific pressure is slicing off years from the life of the average worker. It is the strain of the city's life and industry that breaks man down."

According to this report the age of forty, instead of being the age when the worker is just in the beginning of his prime, is the age of oslerization in the cities. Throw him out of a job at that age, and he will seldom land on his feet.

"The striking manner in which industrial cities cut down men's lives is shown by a study of the comparative number of deaths at various ages in industrial cities and in rural communities," continues the Tribune. "In Chicago, for instance, the number of those who die between the ages of thirty-five and fifty-four is sixty-one per thousand persons. It is higher in New York and Boston. In the state of Indiana, on the other hand, the number of deaths per thousand people of the same ages is but thirty-nine. The figures are approximately the same for all big cities and for all rural communities."

City life, therefore, is a "short life and a merry one." Nor is it so merry, either. The average of happiness certainly is no greater in the cities, for all their pleasures, than it is in the country. It is much to be doubted if it is anywhere near so great. Though there may be city folk who will say that they'd rather live a short life in the city than a long life in the country, that is arrant folly. The reverse, if the truth were known, would more likely be the truer choice.

And yet the country insists on pouring its youth into the cities. That is well for the cities. Without the constant influx of new and healthy blood from the country, the cities would all but extinguish themselves in a few generations. But is it well for the country? Is it well for the nation as a whole?

Some must live in cities, of course. But some will always choose the city, and it can confidently be stated that the country would be at least as well off economically if the urban population were cut in two and the rural population correspondingly increased.

There is scarcely a city, for instance, that could not easily spare half to two-thirds its grocers, butchers and other tradesmen; for there is always a surplus of these business enterprises. There is hardly a line of business that is not overdone in the cities, in that respect at least, and the expense of maintaining an overabundance of business houses is a heavy charge on the cost of living.

Such speculation is largely idle, however. Men and women will still live in cities if they please, no matter how great the sacrifice to them and to society as a whole. It ceases to be idle only when it develops plans for making rural life more attractive than it has been. When some of the more wholesome and substantial attractions of city life are added to the manifest advantages of rural life, as they can easily be, then perhaps the trend from country to city, from long life and content to short life and a heart-breaking strain, will cease.

CRANKS!

What is a "crank"?

Is he merely an ordinary individual with a pathological condition in his liver?

Or is he an extraordinary individual who sees clearer than most?

Or does he differ from many others mainly because he does not fear to tell what he sees?

Every reformer is a crank, to somebody. He is in luck if that's the worst epithet that is applied to him. Every reform that has come about was advocated only, in the beginning, by cranks, so-called.

The real crank is not merely a grouchy person. The man with a sick liver sees wrong in everything. He is a sick man, not a true crank. Careful diet, physical exercise and personal conquest of wrong mental habits will cure him. Nothing will cure the true crank. He is worse than a chronic case. He is a perennial, and not even death stops his works, which live after him. Nor will even the cure of the evils he attacks cure him. One thing settled, he turns to another.

The crank doesn't live a comfortable life, and he isn't fond of letting others live comfortable lives. It is much more comfortable to shut your eyes to wrong conditions, to reflect that "it will be all the same a hundred years from now," and to live in a placid, vegetable-like condition of avoidance. People living such an existence are likely to be greatly incensed by the activities of the crank. He makes them wake up and look whether they wish to or not.

The crank, therefore, is a good deal of a nuisance. He disturbs people. He disturbs conditions. He constantly irritates good people who believe in letting well enough alone. He is hated, often despised, sometimes persecuted. But neither hatred nor persecution stops him. Indeed, they spur him on.

But what would the world do without cranks? It is the cranks who see the wrong things in life first, and it is the cranks who begin pestering people about these things, and keep on pestering until in self-defense and to get a little quiet the people see that these wrong things are made right.

The crank doesn't do much fixing himself. That is not his work. His function is nagging. Very often he is utterly incapable of fixing. While he can see where wrong is, his ideas of what right is may be askew. Sometimes his remedy—he usually has a remedy—is as queer as the wrong he wants to cure. He is at his best, and is achieving his best results, when he is nagging people about things that are wrong and getting them so stirred up that they realize that to have any peace they must do something with the wrong things. So, rather indolently and resentfully, they finally get about it and fix things up, and the crank subsides until something else gets him going.

Somebody has said in defense of the crank that it is by a crank that we turn useful machinery.

The crank is the chemical agent that keeps the social waters from becoming stagnant.

The Twin Cities have asked the interstate commerce commission to reopen the Duluth rate case, on the ground that the new rates are "unfair." And this was the decision which the Minneapolis Journal hailed as "a great Minneapolis victory."

THE FASHION IN HOMES.

What is your ideal of a home? It is to be hoped that it is precisely what you are living in now, if you are a home-owner. But probably it is not, for probably you are not a home-owner.

But you hope to be, and we hope you will be. What, then, is the picture that is created in your mind when you think of the home you are going to have?

It should be according to your means, of course; and an embarrassing feature is that the ideal home that your fancy paints is likely to be a bit beyond them. And there is where there may be trouble, especially if your architect isn't a candid man who will promptly tell you when you are stepping beyond the bounds of caution; and many architects, unfortunately, are forgetful in this respect.

But whether it is to cost three thousand dollars or thirty thousand, don't forget that the surroundings are as much a part of the home as the living room. Let your fancy paint not only the house, but the lot and the grounds around the house. A stretch of smooth lawn in front, with shrubs and flower borders at the sides; vines over the porches and shrubs or old-fashioned hardy perennials to cover the foundations at the sides; a garden of vegetables and flowers and fruits behind, and with a row of hollyhocks and clumps of golden-glow and tiger lilies against the back fence—if there is a fence: these are as important as the style of architecture you adopt or the furniture you put in the rooms.

It's all a part of the home, and a home without these adornments to minister to pleasure and pride lacks that much of perfection.

There is a wholesome return to the comfortable home fashions of a generation or two ago, to the style of home which is thus described in the Gazette of Haverhill, Massachusetts:

> The comfortable American home of the nineteenth century sat on an acre of ground "somewhat back from the village street." In front of it the street, or road, was shaded by great trees. In the rear, and protected by a board fence which children loved, was the garden. This wonderful bit of intensively farmed ground carried cherries, pears, plums, apples, currants, gooseberries and there was a grape arbor with Concords, Delawares or Sweetwaters in great profusion.
>
> The garden held a full supply of sweet corn (and such corn!), tomatoes, potatoes, peas, beans and even the old favorite Hubbard squash. There were cucumbers and radishes and asparagus and cauliflower and a few cabbages. And there were the good old homely flowers in profusion here and there about the place.
>
> The old white house with the green blinds, the cases of books and the furniture from the days of the old colonial cabinet makers, and the warm atmosphere must not be passed by.

Here is a fair model on which to base your mind-pictured ideal home. You can't have the grapes in Duluth, or the pears; but you can have pretty much everything else in the list of vegetables, flowers and fruits. You will have to do without the colonial furniture, but there is plenty of good modern furniture to take its place; and if not so picturesque and valuable, (whisper) it's much more comfortable and quite as sightly.

But whatever your ideal of a home, don't forget the shrubs, the vines, the old-fashioned flowers and the vegetables. And have room in the back for the little ones—of course there are to be little ones—to play in.

And now Julian Hawthorne says he didn't like it in prison. There must be something radically wrong with our penitentiaries.

WHY THE REORGANIZATION COMMISSION IS NECESSARY.

It is to be hoped that none of the thirty citizens appointed to the commission to plan a reorganization of the state government will refuse to avail himself of the large opportunity it offers to be of vast service to the state.

It is true that the task is great, that there is no provision for pay, that the commission will lack funds even for necessary expenses, that it will be unable to employ the expert assistance it ought to have, and that the work will be done at considerable personal sacrifice.

Yet it is work for the common good, and a sacrifice that every patriotic citizen who can possibly afford it ought to be glad to make.

And, morever, the work of the commission is an absolutely indispensable preliminary to action by the next state legislature.

An investigation must be made of the present system before it will be possible to create a new one. And it is an utter impossibility for the legislature to make such an investigation during a session, with the legislative program crowded with important work along many lines and with political and personal interests thrusting themselves in as they invariably do in such cases. No better evidence of this can be wished than the fate of the attempt made at the last session by the house committee on public accounts and expenditures to conduct such an examination. Though the attempt was earnest and well meant, it resulted in a complete fiasco.

Such a commission as that appointed by Governor Eberhart is needed to lay the foundation for legislative action, and its members can do a high and lasting service to the state and its people by accepting their appointments and attacking the work earnestly and in good faith.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

APPROVAL FROM ONE WHO KNOWS

To the Editor of The Herald:

I am glad to approve in the most emphatic way possible your course in bringing to the attention of the voters of Minnesota the need of reorganizing the state government in the interest of efficiency and economy. Several of your recent editorials have come to my notice, and they are sharply to the point and are attracting wide attention.

I most earnestly hope that The Herald will continue to do everything in its power to drive home to the hilt, in the next legislative election, the issue it has suggested, namely: that no man be elected a member of the legislature, from any district, not definitely, not specifically, not certainly, not dependably pledged to legislation certain to insure to Minnesota reform and economy in its fiscal administration and a very, very much bettered administration of its public domain and everything relative thereto. I should like to see our next legislature, which will be elected on a non-partisan basis, a body of able, non-partisan, patriotic men of good judgment, disposed to exercise the same independently for the public good. Yours very truly,

LEWIS C. SPOONER.

Morris, Minn., Oct. 15.

Mr. Spooner was the house member at the last session more responsible than anybody for the fact that two-thirds of the house signed a pledge to support a bill for a reorganization and efficiency commission; a pledge which many members were led to break by the house organization.—The Editor.

LOCATING LIVERPOOL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In reading your Open Court column Oct. 15, in regard to the location of Liverpool, I wish to correct your statement. Liverpool is in the county of Lancashire, of which Lancaster is the capital, or county seat. I lived in Lancashire a third of my life. Hoping this will meet with your approval, Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM BLARNEY, SR.

West Duluth, Oct. 16.

It is true that Liverpool is in the geographical county of Lancashire; but it is in the "administrative county" of Lancaster, of which the city of Lancaster is the county seat.—The Editor.

DEFINITION OF A CONGRESSMAN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the proper title of a congressman? PUZZLED.

Duluth, Oct. 17.

"Senator" or "representative," depending on which branch of the congress of the United States he belongs to. Congress is composed of the senate and house of representatives, and technically speaking the term "congressman" as fairly applies to one as to the other. However, custom has disregarded technicalities and has limited that term to members of the house of representatives so habitually that nobody mistakes its meaning and its use is not incorrect.—The Editor.

Fishin'.

S'pose the fish don't bite at fust,
What be yew goin' tur dew?
Chuck down yewr pole, throw out yewr bait
An' say yewr fishin's threw?
Uf course yew hain't; yew're goin' tew fish,
An' fish, an' fish, an' wait
Until yew've ketched yewr baskit full,
An' used up all yewr bait.

S'pose success don't come at fust,
What be yew goin' tur dew?
Throw up the sponge an' kick yewrself,
An' go tur feelin' blew?
Uv course yew hain't; yewr goin' tur fish,
An' bait, an' bait agin;
Bimeby success will bite yewr hook,
An' yew will pull him in."

There is always a way to rise, my lad,
Always a way to advance;
But the road that leads to Mount Success
Does not pass by the way of Chance;
It goes through the stations of Work and Strive,
Through the Valley of Persevere.
And the man that succeeds while others fail
Must be willing to pay most dear.

For there's always a way to fall, my lad,
Always a way to slide,
And the men you find at the foot of the hill
All sought for an easy ride.
So, on and up, though the road be rough,
And the storms come thick and fast;
There is room at the top for the fellow who tries,
And Victory comes at last.

That First Trip Abroad

From the Kansas City Star.

"Yes," sighs the enthusiastic traveler to her friends for the fifteenth time, "I never came so near being seasick in my life as I did last Wednesday night. The boat didn't exactly pitch, you know, but it made that funny motion, up and down and back and forth. And every once in a while we could hear a queer whir, and that, the officers said, was the screw going around out of the water when the boat pitched forward. And the deck steward brought me the nicest bit of grilled chicken and I just couldn't touch it. I didn't eat a thing for two whole days, but an orange and some beef tea."

And the friends look politely interested. But they are not. Who would be? They are simply bored. If they have traveled they want to discuss hotels and towns and routes and people; if they have not traveled they want you to tell them something that will give them a real idea about what Europe is like—not about what you were like in Europe and on that pitching trip homeward.

Few persons care to hear about the time you beat the Assyrian on the Rue de Rivoli down a franc on the price of the pink gauze scarf you are bringing to Helen or Jane. Few care to know what you had to eat in that wonderful garden of the hotel on the Lake of Geneva. Few care whether the ship's doctor going over had gray eyes or blue. And nobody wants to know how near you came to being seasick.

Remember these things when you reach home again. Of course, if you are normal, you are interested in every event of your trip to Europe. The little shopping episode on the lively Parisian thoroughfare can never be equaled, to your thinking, for interest. The luncheon on the Genevan terrace was a feast for the goddesses of Olympus, in your mind—Juno and Venus and all the rest of them.

And the ship's doctor—well, who wouldn't have been interested in anyone as kind and clever and charming as he, especially when his eyes were such a wonderful shade of blue—or was it gray, after all? And as for that Wednesday night—no one who has not lived through it can ever realize, of course, what an awful night it was.

Granted, all these things. But keep your precious knowledge of them to yourself, or else talk them over with someone who traveled with you.

All this advice does not mean that it is good policy not to talk about your trip to Europe. Every one will be interested in it—in some phases of it.

Remember the jokes on yourself, and tell them. Things like that always interest your friends. The time that the Berlin cabby drove you around and around the same square for half an hour, because you did not know the city and so did not know where you were going, will interest some of your friends.

So will the story of the innkeeper in England who charged you a pound too much, and the story of the time you ordered cabbage for dessert in a French restaurant because your French vocabulary failed you at a crucial moment and you thought "choux" must be something light and fluffy; else, why were the cabbage-like rosettes of tulle ever called choux?

There is one way of boring your friends with your trip beside the telling of insignificant details concerning it. That is in the giving of gifts.

The habit that has grown up of giving a little memento to nearly all one's friends, and even to some of one's enemies, is a bad one. There is no reason under the sun, of course, why we should burden ourselves with the buying and carrying of gifts for everyone we know, just because we are fortunate enough to go to Europe while they stay at home. But the habit has grown up, in spite of the arguments against it, and we are all bound to some extent by habit.

But remember, before it is too late, that it is better not to give any gifts to your friends than to give unacceptable ones. Don't give away the odds and ends that you would not like yourself—the little nicknacks that you would never buy for any purpose, but the filling of an unwelcome obligation.

There is no necessity for expensive gifts, of course. But a framed postcard of some beautiful bit of scenery or interesting building makes a much more acceptable gift than a little memento made of shells or bark glued together and labeled with the name of the place from which they come.

So if you have any of these dust collecting, perfectly useless and hideous mementoes, throw them away or else give them to a child who has a 'museum," or is making a collection of anything under the sun from anywhere. And instead, give to your friends a cheerful greeting and an interesting description of your trip.

They may feel slighted because they receive no gift. They will not feel so badly as they would feel if you brought them an impossible keepsake that, for courtesy's sake, they would have to keep in sight for a few weeks, at least.

What Is Love?

The following scene is from Edward Sheldon's play, "Romance." In the study of St. Giles's rectory are Tom Armstrong, the rector (Leslie Faber) and Mme. Cavallini (Miss Doris Keane). They are seated at the piano. Cavallini, according to the author's introduction, "is playing softly and dreamily 'Annie Laurie,' her mother's favorite tune."

Cavallini (softly, not looking up at him)—It is a song of lo-ove!

Tom—Yes, but I never knew it until now. Do you know why?

Cavallini—No; tell me.

Tom—Because I never knew—what love was—until now.

Cavallini (sadly)—An' what is lo-ove—to you? (She plays a little idly as she watches him.)

Tom (leaning on piano)—It's finding the woman who'll show you the right way and follow it with you side by side, making all the good things seem a little better, and all the sad things—well, not quite so sad; knowing she'll be with you at your journey's end, when you're old—and she's old—you can smile and look into each other's eyes and say: "We've done our work together, dear—and I think we've done it well."

Cavallini (after a little pause, her eyes full of tears)—O, my fren', dat lo-ove—it is for-r some, ye'es—but it is not for-r me.

Tom—Why, I don't understand.

Cavallini (wistfully and tenderly)—For-r me lo-ove is jos' a leetle light in all dis dar-rk-ness—a leetle varmth in all dis col'; a star dat come an' is so bee-eau-tiful it breeng tears, an' when 've dry de eyes an' look again—de star is gone. I t'ink it is to be a leetle 'appier togeder ven ve are par-r-rt—von meenute and to lie steel in de beloved's ar-r-um—von leetle meenute to forget, my frien', and dat is all!

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

Windows Toward Jerusalem.

The man Daniel of Scripture story, who, through a strange romance, had been elevated to a rank next the king, occupied his own palace. In the palace was an upper room dedicated not to revelry but to religion. Its windows opened toward Jerusalem, the Holy city; and here, three times a day, the prime minister retired to kneel and pray.

Daniel's piety could stand the acid test of a lax environment. Not all the pomp and circumstance of his lofty position could dissolve the fixed habits of a lifetime. One cannot but honor the patriot who, amid exalted material advantages, thrice daily kneeled to give thanks to the God of his fathers, "as he did aforetime."

Men have always prayed and they always will. The instinct is deep rooted in humanity. Through all the darkest ages of ignorance, of cruelty, of doubt, the stream of prayer from human hearts and lips has been unceasing, a phenomenon with which skeptics must reckon when they try to oppose to the universal practice their cunning arguments. The age-long instincts of man since first he appeared as a thinking being on this planet are more than a match for the doubts and objections of agnostic philosophers.

Prayer assumes the existence of God, the Almighty One who inhabiteth eternity. He is the Power behind all created things in the universe, the far and the near, the infinitely great and the infinitesimally small. His might is revealed in the tiny flower at our feet and in the last star that adds its glow to the remotest fringe of the milky way. Dr. Holmes put the fact in familiar lines:

> Lord of all being, thronged afar
> Thy glory flames from sun and star;
> Center and soul of every sphere,
> Yet to each loving heart how near.

To come into real communion with this power is the highest privilege of the human spirit. It means courage, strength and healing. Through prayer the man perplexed, depressed, borne down under temptation, finds himself fortified and blessed. He rises from his knees a stronger and better man.

We have not yet begun to appreciate the value of prayer as a genuine topic to mind and body. A brilliant specialist in mental diseases, Dr. Hyslop, says: "As an alienist and one whose whole life has been concerned with the sufferings of the mind, I would state that of all hygienic measures to counteract disturbed sleep, depressed spirits, and all miserable consequences of a distressed mind I would undoubtedly give the first place to the simple habit of prayer."

The same great truth Tennyson puts into the mouth of dying King Arthur:

> More things are wrought by prayer
> Than this world dreams of. Wherefore let thy voice
> Rise like a fountain for me night and day.
> For what are men better than sheep or goats
> That nourish a blind life within the brain,
> If, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
> Both for themselves and those who call them friend?
> For so the whole round world is every way
> Bound by gold chains about the feet of God.

SCOOP THE CUB REPORTER — The Boss May Be Crazy, But He's Got Good Common Sense — By "HOP"

OSCAR UNDERWOOD---No. 1.

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is pertinaciously, if not authoritatively, stated that Oscar Underwood is a candidate for the United States senate. Well, the late John T. Morgan left a mighty big pair of shoes over there. When the Ohio legislature chose the successor of Allen G. Thurman as a senator in congress, that delicious chap, Tom Young, then a member of congress from one of the Hamilton county districts, one day took by the arm James A. Garfield, also a member of the house and chosen to succeed Thurman in the senate, and led him to the north end of the capitol edifice. Entering the senate chamber, Young guided his personal and political friend to the seat of the "Old Roman" and asked, "Can you fill that pair of shoes?" To which Garfield answered, "It is a big undertaking, Tom, and all I can do is to try."

But he never took his seat in the senate. The following November Garfield, a representative in congress and a senator-elect, was chosen president of the United States. The other day I mentioned the good fellowship that existed between Garfield and John Randolph Tucker, who was mentioned as the executor of Garfield's will and the guardian of his children. Garfield said to Tucker: "My place is a freelance in the United States senate," and if he had been endowed with the Roman virtue of John C. Calhoun and possessed of the lofty patriotism of Robert M. La Follette, a twenty years' service in the United States senate would have writ the name Garfield close up to the top among Anglo-Saxon speculative political philosophers. What a giant mind it was—greater than Blaine's or Conkling's.

• • •

But that is a digression. What the devil does Oscar Underwood want to go to the senate for? He now occupies the first place in contemporary American parliamentary life. If I could "speak to the people," like Aaron, or even like John Rhea of Russellville, Ky., or, better yet, like Joe Bailey of Gainsville, Tex., I'd give, if I had them, the cedar palace, the ivory throne, the jewel crown of Solomon, the son of David—I'd give all the gold of Ophir, all the jewels of Golconda, if they were mine, for the place Oscar Underwood now has. Perhaps I should apologize for repeating again the episode of Tom Young leading Garfield over to the senate, but it is one of my favorites and Shakespeare tells us that the prosperity of an anecdote is more in the ear of the hearer than upon the tongue—or the pen—of the narrator.

And here let me make amend, however lame, to the Hon. Oscar W. Underwood. In the spring of 1912 when the campaign for the Democratic nomination for president was rife, I one day picked up a daily publication that was insensate in its advocacy of Champ Clark, and manifestly Underwood was its second choice. It went on to say that they would buy the nomination, for one or other, by means of a very vicious pension bill, or meaning of that import.

• • •

I sat down and wrote my opinion of the thing. Now my stuff—ex necessitate rei—is writ from ten days to two weeks before it appears in print. Underwood voted against the bill; Clark, unnecessarily and theatrically, was ostentatious in his vote for it, though speaker, who rarely votes, and that was what gave him Illinois and Iowa in the primary and some other states, too.

I had forgot all about it, when one day I got a letter from Underwood's chief newspaper organ that in rather cavalier style—more or less insulting—invited me to apologize. It was dictatorial, and as I thought, insolent. And when I read it, I made the mental ejaculation, "I'll be damned if I eat that dish hot!" It is a problem in ethics. I am not sure that I was not wrong, but I was not fool enough to think that I could influence a single delegate to the national convention. I needed the money that newspapar paid me more than it needed my stuff. We parted—and not in very good humor on my part.

I now make apology to Mr. Underwood—not to the newspaper. He knows I will never ask a favor at his hand or under his gift.

• • •

The chiefest attribute of a statesman is instinct. That is what put Jefferson and Lincoln in the niches they hold, and in their class are Andrew Jackson and Woodrow Wilson. Stephen A. Douglas in his earlier career had a deal of it. It was wanting in Clay and Webster, else both had been president. Blaine had much of it, and it made him long to get a lodgment for the G. O. P. at the South, and had he, instead of Hayes, been inaugurated president March 4, 1877, it is likely he would have made the Republican party what it never was—national. He knew the South and loved it.

And there is the weakness in the armor of Oscar Underwood. He is wanting in political instinct. In the spring of 1912 the road to the White House was wide open to him. Had he been fit for the job, from the Democratic standpoint, not Woodrow Wilson nor anybody else could have headed him. All he had to do was to take a copy of the old Mills tariff bill of 1888 and lop off a heap of the protection in it, jam it through ways and means, thence jam it through the house of representatives. Then the Democratic party would have jammed it through the Baltimore convention, and Oscar Underwood, and not Woodrow Wilson, today would be president.

But nay, he must needs go plowing with the protection heifer—bring in a bill with a tax on wool, the keystone and the citadel of privilege in government. And Champ Clark fell in with him.

I shall pursue this subject further. I'm not done with the Hon. Oscar. I want to show him that his present place is the top of the parliamentary pot in this glorious Union of ours.

NEWBURGH SURVEYED

The Significance of a Small City's Taking Its Own Social Inventory.

By SHELBY M. HARRISON,
Director, Department of Surveys and Exhibits, Russell Sage Foundation.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Newburgh has been taking its own social measurements. The survey of the city, just completed, was initiated by Newburgh citizens, financed largely through local contributions, had broad local backing—and some local opposition.

The undertaking was constructive in character and covered such subjects as the following: Public schools, public health, housing, public library, charities and municipal administration.

The surveyors found much to commend in the city. The credits were summed up as follows: An unusually attractive site, few tenements, a clean jail and lock-up and the beginning of a probation system, much provision for charitable assistance, diversified industries, good, natural and generally wholesome commercial amusements, a splendid new Y. M. C. A., one unusually fine school building and a city stirring with new civic enthusiasm.

Needless to say the surveyors also pointed out opportunities for improvement. The city needs were summarized as follows: Reorganization of financial methods, a housing code, better financed and better organized health work, more emphasis upon reformation, less upon humiliation of prisoners, the employment of a paid probation officer, more investigation and further co-operation in charity work with emphasis upon prevention of dependency and family rehabilitation rather than upon the giving of alms, permanent public playgrounds and recreational use of school buildings, better enforcement of child labor laws and a better understanding of the wage problem, better physical conditions in older school buildings, better provision for securing teaching efficiency, provision for abnormal children and more attention to physical training.

Some opposition came, strange to say, from the board of education. They refused at first to go over their school report with the surveyors, and it appears to have been through their influence that exhibits of the survey's findings placed in department store windows were removed earlier than planned. However, this only whetted public curiosity and the mass meeting held to hear the surveyor's reports was very well attended.

The survey of Newburgh has accomplished two definite things. It has provided an educational force and has helped to arouse new public interest in civic affairs. It has supplied the city with a comprehensive unified and carefully worked out program for civic advance. But ultimate results come only from publicity and from co-operation by the city itself.

The surveyors did not themselves make changes; they only showed needs and pointed out means for meeting them. The power to make changes lies with local citizens and it is follow-up work that makes a survey effective. Newburgh is responding well in this direction. Individuals and organizations are taking up different survey suggestions as their tasks. Mayor Corwin and the water board have made improvement of the water supply their duty.

No survey finding aroused more opposition than that which showed Newburgh's typhoid death rate to be more than twice that of the whole state, and which suggested the water supply as the cause. It even kindled the ire of Mayor John B. Corwin, who had not been unfavorable to the survey, and he set out to defend the city water. With Dr. Talcott O. Vanamee, health officer, he inspected the watershed himself. He came back convinced that need for improvement was pressing and through his initiative, extensive plans have been put on foot which, if carried to fruition, will guarantee Newburgh an uncontaminated water supply, will save lives and will protect the city from like criticism in the future.

The Associated Charities and Dr. Vanamee have taken up the establishing of a milk station. Leaders in the ministerial association have shown interest in securing for the city a paid probation officer. Clearly, a social survey, if it does not itself make changes in a city's life, is a stimulus to progressive civic endeavor.

During this survey, the two city dailies each published a cartoon. One represented Father Newburgh watching the departure of the surveyor. The old colonial gentleman was bespattered with mud and held in his hand a paper labeled "character," with a black daub upon its surface. With an expression of bewilderment he was represented as saying, "And to think I paid for it!"

The second cartoon represented a citizen looking at the exhibit of survey findings across the front of which is shown a large arrow pointing to civic progress. It was labeled, "That doesn't look like a hammer to me."

The two pictures represent the contending views of two groups of Newburgh's citizens which came to the clashing point when two prominent merchants summarily removed the survey exhibit from their store windows. This incident and the Newburgh survey are particularly interesting because in every city are to be found these same two groups—the element which would suppress knowledge of the city's weaknesses for fear of injuring her reputation, and the element which is willing to face the facts as a means to secure sound civic advance.

Is it worth while for a city to face the facts? Newburgh has answered the question affirmatively. Many other cities are following suit. In every city, as in Newburgh, there are those who fear the facts, and prefer tranquillity to progress. But in many cities a larger group is asking that facts regarding community life be accurately gathered, intelligently interpreted, and that a comprehensive and unified program for civic progress be formulated. It is encouraging to note that in this latter group are to be found men and women of large means and abilities—successful manufacturers, merchants, labor leaders, professional men and prominent church and social workers.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

The Story of a Near-Blackguard.

THE BUSINESS OF LIFE. By Robert W. Chambers. Many pictures by Charles Dana Gibson. New York: D. Appleton & Co. $1.40 net.

We hadn't been quite sure that Mr. Chambers knew there was any real "business of life" aside from the useless round of the "idle rich," and writing tales about it. This book leaves no doubt that he does know there is a real business of life, and that he also realizes the folly and uselessness of much of the life he has pictured in recent years and that he pictures again here. Also, that he has the will and the power to paint not only its uselessness, but its menace.

Moreover, he has written an exceedingly entertaining novel which is a surprisingly substantial dish from one who had come near casting himself for the roll of fancy cook of American literature.

John Philip Desboro, through with "the sex" for good because of one fool woman and pressed for money partly because of other women more or less foolish, visits a famous dealer in antiques to have his rich collection catalogued and sold. The dealer is dead, and to his surprise he is received by the daughter, Jacqueline Nevers; and so enters his life and this story a quite remarkable and very engaging women, one of the most humanly appealing women Chambers has written about. Beautiful, strong, capable, yet with "more of Aphrodite in her face than of any saint he remembered," and with "lips just a trifle too sensuous," she is vastly a better man than Desboro, and vastly more of a gentleman than he was before—but that would be telling.

She goes out to his country house to catalogue and appraise the collection—armor, mainly, and very interesting and valuable—and Desboro strangely abandons a Southern hunting trip to be there. While they are getting acquainted we learn a great deal about armor. But it doesn't take long. Each always going to quit, yet each always submitting to the attraction they have for each other, they drift into the whirlpool together—the business woman and "a Desboro whose left hand only would be offered to support both slim white hands of hers."

• • •

Desboro's conscience smote him, and he wrote her that they would not meet again, and went on a very gentlemanly drunk. Then she called him back, reckless of her peril but not blind to it. Next he had her at a house party under paid chaperonage, and she played the star part in the riotous merry-making that attended it. He was showing himself a good deal of a blackguard, a very great deal of a blackguard indeed when he let her tell him that she would be better for him as a wife than as—what he wanted her to be, and what she was willing to be if it had to be that way. Though he wasn't a blackguard quite, for there was Mrs. Clydesdale—the "fool woman" above referred to—with whom he was very much of a man. And then—

But the story will tell. Events did him injustice enough—though they might have damned him as thoroughly without injustice—to make quite a stir in the story.

Jacqueline Nevers will appeal strongly. Besides being all that she was in the way of strength and beauty, she was good for something, and that's more than could be said for most of the people in this and other recent Chambers stories. It is good to see in this tale, Mr. Chamber's awareness of that very important fact, and his willingness to paint it in colors most convincing.

There is a strong appeal, too, in the character of "Aunt Hannah" Hammerton, one of Chamber's grim, ironical swearing ladies with warm hearts deep inside somewhere.

SATURDAY—Regular meeting of Saturday club at library clubroom at 2:30 o'clock.

Events of widely varied nature have filled the past week and social affairs, both large and small, have supplied the social side. The Maggie Teyte concert Thursday evening, the first of the artists' recitals of the Matinee Musicale, proved a delightful musical treat. Ladies' night at the Commercial club Tuesday was well attended as was also the reception at the First M. E. church for the new pastor and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoffman, when about 500 people called to greet them. Missionary club meetings, rummage sales and weddings also had their place on the week's calendar.

The reading of a cutting from "The Dawn of a Tomorrow" by Mrs. Mary A. Nelson given at the vesper service of the Young Women's Christian association last Sunday afternoon proved a treat of unusual quality, which was enjoyed by about 100 guests. This was Mrs. Nelson's first reading in public since her return from a year's study of dramatic art at Chicago and those who heard her were delighted with her power.

The coming week holds much of interest with a concert by a Duluth girl who is studying for grand opera, Miss Senta Erd; D. A. R. banquet at the Spalding on Monday; the opening lecture by Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour of St. Paul; a lecture on the drama by Prof. Dickinson of the University of Wisconsin Wednesday; the old ladies' party at the First M. E. church Tuesday afternoon; a costume party at the Y. W. C. A., besides routine club meetings and social affairs.

Weddings

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Noama Cole of Los Angeles, Cal., to Sherman A. Paddock of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of Duluth, which took place about the first of October at Los Angeles. Mr. Paddock was formerly a member of The Herald staff and a resident of Superior and has many friends here. He is now on the Pasadena Star and they will make their home in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown have issued invitations for the wedding reception of their daughter, Ruth and Alexander Nelson McLennan, which will take place at their home, 230 Mesaba avenue, Wednesday evening, Oct. 29 from 8 to 10 o'clock following the ceremony.

Mr. McLennan and his bride will be at home at 211 East Sixth street after Nov. 15.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McFarlane of 629 East Fifth street, entertained at a prettily appointed dinner Wednesday evening at which time they announced the engagement of their daughter, Charlotte Mabel to Ralph E. Tomlinson of New Haven, Conn. Covers were laid for fourteen guests. The wedding will take place in December.

Events Planned

Plans for the annual charity ball which will be given on Tuesday, Nov. 25 at the Spalding hotel for the benefit of the Children's Home are now being made. Committees have been appointed and details are being worked out to make the affair equally as brilliant as the former charity balls have been. The proceeds from this ball supply the largest part of the funds with which the home is run during the year. The committees consist of the following board members and interested women: Committee on hotel, Mrs. H. B. Paull and Mrs. Thomas F. Cole.

Committee on printing, Mrs. F. D. Day and Mrs. D. C. Rood.

Committee on music and floor, Mrs. James Wanless and Mrs. G. G. Hartley.

Committee on decorations, Mrs. C. G. Traphagen, Mrs. W. C. Winton, Mrs. D. C. Rood, Mrs. Stephen R. Kirby and Mrs. Watson Moore.

Committee on advertising, Mrs. R. M. Hunter and Mrs. G. Herbert Jones.

Mrs. J. I. Thomas of McCulloch street, Lakeside, will entertain the members of the M. and L. club at luncheon at her home next Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The annual party for the oldest members of the First M. E. church has been planned for next Tuesday afternoon. A luncheon will be served in the church parlors, Third avenue west and Third street, and all the women of the church who are 70 years of age or older will be guests at the affair. The women who have reached their 80th year will be the special guests and will be seated at the central table. This affair has come to be an annual event, which is looked forward to with pleasure by a large number of the church members and they always meet then for the best kind of a time.

The women who will be on the reception committee are Mrs. C. A. Congdon, J. G. Annand, Mrs. E. Robinson, Mrs. A. C. Taylor, Mrs. T. H. Martin, Mrs. J. H. Darling, Mrs. John Carson, Mrs. James Kelly, Mrs. H. A. Dancer, Mrs. Henry Fee, Mrs. Ellingson, Mrs. J. Schuman and Mrs. Danzer. Presiding at the tables in the dining room will be Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, who has general charge and Mrs. Underhill, Mrs. Rowe, Mrs. Jacobs, Mrs. Haslam, Mrs. Isaac Moore, Mrs. Bratton, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. William Moore and Mrs. Brindage.

The harvest dinner for the men of the Country club will be served at the clubhouse this evening at 6:30 o'clock. There will be a golf match this afternoon followed by the dinner.

ONE YEAR'S STUDY ABROAD FOR $1,000

Many American Students Do It, Says Duluth Girl Who Spent Year in Paris---Many Duluth Students Now Preparing for Opera or Concert Work With European Teachers.

THAT an American student can go to Europe and study music for a year and keep the expense account within $1,000 is a possibility and is not a rare occurrence but an ordinary thing, declares Miss Isabel eParson, who is one of the many Duluth musicians who has studied in the old world. "Many of the students stay there for a year," she says "and manage to keep all of the expenses within that sum. That includes passage, board and room, clothes, lessons and incidentals. Of course those who do that do not buy the most expensive seats at the operas and they usually travel second or third-class but they can gain so much in musical education that they find it really worth while.

GEORGE SUFFEL.

ALICE SJOSELIUS.

ISABEL PEARSON.

WINNIFRED HICKS.

"Living there, especially in Paris, is so much cheaper than here that one can have room and board for half of the price here. One can get a good room for $10 a month and many of the meals cost only 4 cents or a little more. Clothes are cheaper and street car fare is usually 2 cents or if you are going a long ways it is 4 cents. One has to pay much less for a carriage than here. For instance here it costs $5 for a carriage to Lakeside while a carriage for the same distance there would be about 80 cents.

"There are boats that they call 'one class boats' that most of the students on moderate means go over on and the fares on these are as low as $45.

"The lessons are the highest item of expense and of course their prices vary with the different teachers. They are usually from $6 to $12 for a lesson but one can go to operas and concerts for ridiculously low prices.

"I heard Maggie Teyte, the vocalist who sang in Duluth Thursday evening, several times while I was in Paris and paid just 20 cents for the concert. Of course we sat in the top gallery but all of the students do that and I heard the opera 'La Boheme,' for 10 cents once. I stood waiting to get in for two hours but it was worth it. And the good concerts were always a franc and a half—that is about 20 or 30 cents for the student gallery."

Conditions in Germany.

Miss Senta Erd, too, who has just returned from a three years' study of music in Munich, where she graduated from the Royal Academy of Music, and has been studying with Bianca Bianchi, comments on the cheapness of the concert prices there.

"As a rule," she says, "most students take seats in the gallery, which place, by the way, is famous for its patronage at the Royal opera house in Munich. Seats can be had there for 60 cents for all the best operas, but, of course, a good view of the stage is almost impossible. For real enjoyment in hearing the music at its best, I always go to the students' gallery. Concerts vary in prices and as a rule are well attended."

Miss Erd lived in Munich. She says: "The cost of living in Europe is not much less, especially when one partakes in social functions that are of value to the striving artist.

"There are two big opera houses in Munich," she writes, "of which the Prince-Regent theater is an exact copy of the one in Bayreuth. On account of being in the operatic class at the Royal academy I was lucky enough to receive complimentary tickets twice a week and I seldom missed an evening there during the year."

Miss Erd expects to return to Europe for further study for grand opera work and will make her debut there.

Among other Duluthians who are now studying music in Europe are George Suffel, baritone, who is studying in France; Miss Alice Sjoselius, soprano, who is studying with Mme. Schone Rene; Miss Winnifred Hicks, who is studying piano in London; Miss Millie Baker, who is studying for the operatic stage at Paris, and who will make her debut soon; Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker, who is studying vocal music, and Miss Clara Stocker, pianiste, who are studying in France; Mrs. Wilson G. Crosby, who is studying at Hamburg.

Other Duluthians who have studied abroad are Miss Rena Vivienne, known here as Rena Smith, who made a successful Mme. Butterfly, and who is now singing in light opera; John Koneczny, who has recently returned from successful work there and who is now in Duluth; Miss Emily Shupp, who is an accomplished dancer, having studied dancing and music in several European countries; Miss Josephine Carey, Mrs. Grace Senior Brearley, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lachmund, Miss Carlotta Simonds, Miss Ruth Alta Rogers, Miss Faith Helen Rogers, Mrs. A. B. Siewert, Mrs. Alexander M. Gow, Miss Mildred Washburn, Miss Wilhelmina Fitger, Miss Mary Syre Bradshaw, Miss Caroline Munger, Miss Marie Merrill, Miss Jessie Gibson, Miss Iva Evered and Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Flaaten.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Don't Impress Dress Vanities on Child's Mind.

Experts on the matter recently decided that a year's supply of clothing for a girl of 10 or 12 need cost only $18.50. There is a vast difference between these figures and those that the mothers of several half-orphaned heiresses have recently sought to have allowed for their maintenance for a year.

As I read from the list of necessities as decided by the experts in this $18.50 schedule, I selected at random: One summer hat, 50 cents; one winter hat, 50 cents; one coat to be worn two years, $3; one wool dress with bloomers, $2.50; and two sets of winter-weight underwear, $1. In all, the list numbers eighteen articles of apparel, all the cheapest that could be secured, too cheap to do service for an entire year unless exceeding care is taken, and this is not the child's strong tendency.

Yet there are children who would be transported to a seventh heaven by the gift of an $18.50 wardrobe, and yet the fortune necessary to the yearly support of some children will continue to soar upwards.

I am rather opposed to the great hue and cry that goes up when some woman with more money than brains and more vanity than heart comes out with the statement that she spends $100,000 a year for clothing and that any woman in the front rank of society must do so to maintain her position.

I say by all means let such women spend their money their way. It is better to have them spend that sum than to have them horde it annually. They give employment to others, at least, and the money that they spend is circulated where it does some good, let us hope.

And one might argue on this strain that the spending of such a large sum annually was a good thing in the interest of those whom the money will benefit in various ways. Only the idea of impressing a young child's mind with the importance of the vanities of life is what jars upon the sensibilities. If these children in the schoolroom are reared to believe that an actual fortune is necessary to their support each year, what will be the limit of their expectations when they are launched into the life for which all these preparations have been made?

Formerly the children of the best families were reared in a simplicity that was surprising to ambitious mothers lately come into means to gratify all their desires for their children. But that time is rapidly passing. The power of money is being instilled into the minds of children from their cradles to such an extent that it is not strange that we seem to have fewer and fewer real children and young girls and boys.

A social meeting of the Magbiah club has been planned for tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Talmud Torah club rooms, on Third avenue east and Third street. There will be games and refreshments with Miss Rae Abelson chairman of the committee in charge.

WILL MAKE FIRST APPEARANCE BEFORE DULUTH AUDIENCE, MONDAY

MISS CORDELIA AYER PAINE
Of Carlton.

MATINEE MUSICALE members are anticipating with more than ordinary interest the program to be given Monday at the Masonic Temple auditorium at 3 o'clock, when Miss Cordelia Ayer Paine, pianist, will make her initial appearance before a Duluth audience.

Local interest in Miss Paine was awakened a year or two ago when, after a sojourn in Boston and abroad in the cultivation of her talent, she returned to Carlton, Minn., the former home of her parents. Not until the present time, however, owing to affairs beyond her control, has this pianist been able to respond to the repeated and urgent efforts of Duluthians to secure her services for public performance. Miss Paine's musical advantages have been extensive. She has followed the Leschetizski method in her training as a pianist, working successively with teachers in Boston, Berlin and Paris for a period extending over a dozen years, and not only is a finished pianist but is thoroughly proficient in her knowledge of harmony, counterpoint and composition. Although she has had many opportunities for professional concert work, having appeared in such capacity with success in both Europe and America as an amateur, she has devoted herself mainly to club and charitable work for which she has given her services. The Matinee Musicale is justly proud to add a professional musician of Miss Paine's stamp to its regular membership.

Those who have recently listened to Miss Mary Gladys Reynolds pronounce her in excellent voice, and the following program indicates a happy selection of songs which with Miss Simonds as accompanist will complete an afternoon of enjoyment planned for the society by Miss Mary Syer Bradshaw and Miss Carlotta Simonds:
Organ-Piano Prelude and Fugue in A Minor.....Bach-Liszt
Sonata Opus 22—G Minor....Schumann
Vivacissimo—Andantino ....Schumann
Scherzo—Rondo .....Schumann
Cordelia Ayer Paine.
"Der Nussbaum".....Schumann
"Wiegenlied" .....Humperdinck
"Still Unexpressed".Carrie Jacobs Bond
"Ashes of Roses".Huntington Woodman
"Come Down, Laughing Streamlet".
.....Spross
Mary Gladys Reynolds.
(a) Nocturne, Opus 62, B Major.Chopin
(b) Mazourka, Opus 33, B Minor.Chopin
"Isolde Love-death" from closing scene of "Tristan and Isolde".....
.....Wagner-Liszt
Miss Paine.

The doors will be closed during numbers to insure freedom from disturbance to the performers.

Candidates for active membership may take examinations at 2 o'clock at the Masonic temple at which time and place the board of directors will convene for this purpose.

Shimonek, Miss Bertha Randell, Miss Stedgie, Mrs. Fischer, Miss Grace Caulkins, Miss Wahlbank, Miss Bolton. "The Grandfather," read by the modern drama class last winter, will be taken up at the completion of the study of "King Lear."

Tuesday, 10 a. m.—Parliamentary law class will meet at the library club room with Mrs. M. S. Hirschfield leader and Mrs. Neil B. Morrison, presiding. The subject will be "Motions." This is the first of a course of four meetings to be held at this place and time on consecutive Tuesdays.

3 p. m.—Mrs. W. H. Schilling, chairman of the art department will meet with the members of the committee appointed at the last meeting to formulate a course of study for this class and any others interested in the work who care to attend the meeting.

Friday—The regular meeting of the Modern Drama class will be held at 10 o'clock at the guild hall of Trinity pro-cathedral. Mrs. Henry Taylor will read her paper on "Granville Barker" and his play "The Voysey Inheritance" will be concluded.

There will be no meeting of the Travel division of the club until after the course of parliamentary law class meetings has closed when the meetings of this division will be continued without interruption.

DRAMATIC STRUCTURE.

Mrs. Seymour Will Conduct Class in Duluth This Year.

MRS. ROBERT MORRIS SEYMOUR of Minneapolis, formerly of Duluth, will arrive in Duluth Tuesday and will give the first lecture in her class in "Dramatic Structure, the Art of Reading a Play," which she will conduct here this fall and winter. The class was arranged for by a committee of the Drama league appointed by the president, Mrs. S. R. Holden at its last general meeting with Mrs. William M. Prindle, chairman, assisted by Mrs. H. F. Williamson, Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr., Mrs. H. A. Dancer, Mrs. F. A. Patrick, Mrs. J. B. Cotton, Mrs. Thomas Ring and Mrs. Charles Andrews.

A class of ninety women has already been formed and others interested who wish to join will be welcome to do so and can attend this first meeting which will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the sun-parlor of the Spalding hotel. The class while arranged by the Drama league is not included under the membership fee of the league.

Mrs. Seymour has been giving lecture courses in Duluth for many years and this large class which has been formed for her course this year is a strong proof of her popularity as a speaker.

Mrs. Seymour has chosen as her first subject, "The New Technique of the Drama" and she will take up "The Highroad," the play in which Mrs. Fisk will appear at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday evenings. She will give a critical analysis of the play and many have planned to go the second night to the play to have the benefit of the analysis of the play before going.

The other lectures in the course will be given on consecutive Tuesday afternoons and it will be decided at this first meeting where the class will be held.

Mrs. Seymour has 150 members in her St. Paul class organized this week. She has recently returned from the East, where she has been working in connection with the state leaders of the Drama league in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago.

An especial feature of the course will be the comparison of old and new plays, and the technique of Ibsen, Strindberg, Lady Gregory and others of the modern school will be given careful analysis. Some of the representative modern lays will be read.

SECOND LECTURE.

Defense of Realism Will Be Prof. Dickinson's Topic.

PROF. THOMAS DICKINSON of the University of Wisconsin will give his second lecture in the course on the Drama before the members of the Duluth branch of the Drama league next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the sun parlor of the Spalding hotel. "A Defense of Realism" will be his subject for the evening, and the lecture is free to all members of the league.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

Mrs. E. L. Schmied Will Speak on "American Interests in Music."

MRS. E. L. SCHMIED, who spent the summer in the East and visited the Peterborough colony at Peterborough, Mass., the former home of Edward MacDowell, the composer whose unfinished plans have grown into the MacDowell Memorial association, has planned a series of five lectures on "American Interests in Music," which she will give at her home, 2218 East First street. The first one on "The MacDowell Festival of 1913 at Peterborough" will be given on Wednesday morning, Oct. 29, and the speaker will outline the plan and scope of the festival, the aims of the MacDowell association, and she will tell some of her intimate impressions of the colony.

American composers and musicians gather at Peterborough each summer at this festival to honor the master writer, and creative art is encouraged and given scope and opportunity.

Mrs. Schmied has received some lantern slides from Mrs. MacDowell for use in the lecture, which show pictures of the home and other points of interest.

A resume of the work of the more notable composers and artists taking part in the festical will form a feature of Mrs. Schmied's talk. Miss Marguerite Dunlap of New York, contralto soloist; Reinald Warrenrath of New York, baritone, and Harold Henry, pianist, are among the interpreters whose artistic charm will be discussed. Henry F. Gilbert, composer of the remarkable "Negre Rhapsody," given at the festival; Stillman-Kelley, whose "Alladin From Chinese Suite" was sung by Mr. Werrenrath, and Mabel W. Daniels will be among the composers whose work Mrs. Schmeid will comment on in her talk.

An especially beautiful feature of the festival that will be taken up in the lecture will be the "Landing of the Pilgrims." This was sung by the MacDowell Choral club. The compositions were written by MacDowell for the piano, and arranged for the club for presentation at the 1913 festival by Mrs. MacDowell.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

NEW ROCKFORD TO BE CENTER

Minot-Fargo Cutoff of G. N. Makes Important Changes.

Postal Division Moved From Devils Lake—Duluth Service Affected.

Devils Lake, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Under the changes in mail, express and passenger service on the Great Northern, effective Nov. 2, on which date the company will place the Minot-Fargo cutoff into actual service, the railway postal division will be removed from Devils Lake to New Rockford. The change affects about forty clerks who are now running on the coast passenger and mail trains.

Under the new service the fast mail train will run over the cutoff, with New Rockford as the division quarters.

Train No. 2, which now runs by way of this city, also will run over the cutoff, while No. 3, which runs by way of the Larimore, Casselton and Devils Lake route, also will be sent over the cutoff, getting onto that line at Bedford, near Casselton.

Train No. 1, the westbound Oriental Limited, will continue over its present route, by Grand Forks and Devils Lake, train No. 4, which has been running over the Larimore and Casselton line, will be sent over the Grand Forks line by the changed schedule.

Another feature of the changed service, which has been announced to the railway postal officials but of which local railroad officials deny knowledge, is the disruption of the through service from the Pacific coast to Duluth. Heretofore the eastbound Oriental Limited has connected at Grand Forks with the Duluth bound train, there being a delay of only 25 minutes. Under the new schedule, however, that service is abandoned.

Train No. 6, Minot to St. Paul, will be operated on a later schedule than it is at the present time, leaving Minot at 1 p. m. instead of at 7:45 a. m. It reaches Grand Forks at 8:45 p. m. and connects with the Red River Valley Limited fast train for St. Paul, No. 6, running by way of Crookston to the Twin Cities.

The establishment of the service over the Minot-Fargo cutoff marks the completion of the preliminary trials of that road, which have been carried on for some time. Rail officials pronounced the roadbed satisfactory and in good condition for the fast traffic.

By this cutoff the Great Northern cuts off several hours in its time between St. Paul and the Pacific coast.

BORDER ROAD HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Incendiarism Suspected in Burning of International Falls Structure.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire of undoubtedly incendiary origin, yesterday destroyed a new twelve-room house which would have been completed and occupied within a few days. The building was in an obscure place in South International Falls, said to be owned by Rose Norton, who has been connected with rumors in this region. It was generally stated that the house was to be used for illegitimate purposes and the authorities had notified the various persons interested that it would not be allowed to open. Before the place was finished and before there was any fire in or near the building, it was completely destroyed. The property was worth $7,000. Several carpenters lost all their tools valued at several hundred dollars.

All the roadhouses in this county were closed some time ago. Several reopened within the last week but have again been closed and the property condemned and closed for all purposes for a year.

BLIND WOMAN LOSES HER LIFE IN RIVER

Todd County Resident Wanders From Home and Drowns.

Staples, Minn., Oct. 18.—Mrs. Silas P. Werner of Moran was accidentally drowned in the Long Prairie river east of her home Wednesday. Just how it happened may never be known, as no one so far as reported saw her after she left the house. Mr. Werner and his daughter, Mrs. Joe Woell, had left in the morning to go to another daughter, Mrs. Fred Pfleuger, to assist her with some work during the day. The only one left at home with Mrs. Werner was a young girl who makes her home there. Mrs. Werner has been blind for some time. She evidently walked down the lane leading from the house to the main road, over a half mile to the east, but crossed the road and walked to the bank of the river a short distance away and fell in. One of the Baird boys hunting ducks along the river discovered the body in the water and notified the neighbors. She was lying face downward in the water and close to shore.

Mrs. Werner was a pioneer in Moran township and well known throughout this part of Todd county. She was the mother of seven daughters. The oldest daughter is dead and the others are all married. Mrs. Ed H. Thiel, for a number of years a resident of Staples but now of Minneapolis, is one of her daughters.

FARMING THRIVES IN UPPER PENINSULA

Over 132,000 Acres Sold for Development in Year —Interesting Figures.

Ishpeming, Mich., Oct. 18.—Col. C. W. Mott, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau, has just published an interesting statistical survey covering the period from May 1, 1912, to May 1, 1913, and shows the number of acres of land sold for actual farming purposes during that time to be 132,360.

A recapaitulation of the fifteen counties shows the number of families locating farm lands to be 1,770; the increase in population of 7,080; the number of acres sold for farming purposes is 132,360; the number of acres of timber land sold is 337,248; apple trees set out, 88,859; cherry trees set out, 16,412; plum trees set out, 8,103; number of new creameries, 22; number of schools, 761; number of new schools established in 1912, 45; attendance at schools, 52,013; schools including instruction in agriculture and their regular studies, 382; number of churches, 382.

There has also been a number of social organizations established among the agricultural people; amount of money spent on good roads, $587,816; miles of macadamized and gravel roads, 1,599¾; bonds outstanding, $714,750; miles of state road built, 5,972¼; number of grade cattle, 13,603, including many of the best breeds, with the Jerseys and Holsteins predominating.

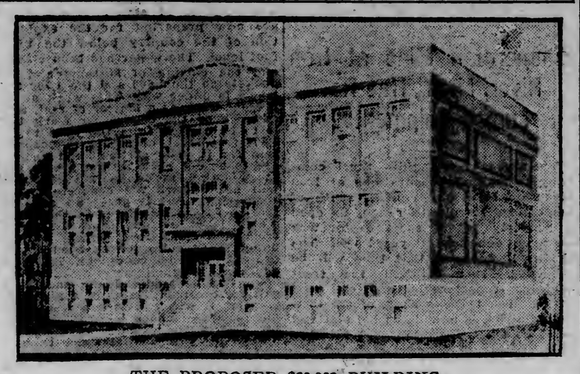

THIEF RIVER FALLS MAYOR VETOES LEVY

Thief River Falls, Minn., Oct. 18.—Mayor Lars Backe yesterday returned to the council without his approval a resolution that it had passed on Oct. 9, calling for a tax levy of $30,500 for the city of Thief River Falls for the ensuing year.

In an interview Mayor Backe said: "My principal objection is that the levy is too large and unwise at this time to impose such a burden on our taxpayers. Hundreds of our people have recently built homes which, together with special improvements, will tax the average taxpayer to the limit. I believe that at least $9,000 of this tax levy could be taken off. I believe that our public utilities should be run and operated in such a manner that a profit can be made and a certain per cent of such profits should be charged off and credited to other departments which need it, and by so doing reduce direct taxation. What is the use of owning and operating a public utility unless the people receive a substantial profit? I find that the electric light plant can furnish all the street lighting and the power for the waterworks and a $12,000 surplus besides. In the estimate for the proposed levy $6,000 is street lighting and $3,000 is hydrant rent, which item can easily be taken care of by revenues from the electric light plant.

"Waterworks extension is to a large extent localized and should be taken care of by bond issues that ultimately should be paid out of the revenues and not by taxing all the people."

WORK TO BE RUSHED ON CROMWELL'S NEW SCHOOL

THE PROPOSED $20,000 BUILDING.

Cromwell, Minn., Oct. 17.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work is to be pushed on the proposed new grade school building here, and it is expected it will be ready for occupancy early in the new year.

The structure will be of pressed brick, two stories and a basement. It will contain eight classrooms and domestic science, manual training and agricultural departmens. Through the use of folding doors a large assembly room is provided for on the first floor. The structure will be modern in its appointments, with steam heating and mechanical ventilation.

The general contract for its erection has been awarded to Jacobson Bros. of Duluth at $15,600, and the plumbing to the American Heating company of Duluth at $4,500. Kelly & Williams of Duluth are the architects.

MOOSE LAKE MAN HURT IN RUNAWAY.

Moose Lake, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. F. Mahnke, real estate man and publisher of the Moose Lake Star-Gazette, sustained in a runaway here, a fractured and sprained ankle. Mr. and Mrs. Kings and Mrs. Reese of Mitchell, S. D., who were with him, also had a narrow escape. Mrs. Kings being quite badly bruised and shaken up, while Mrs. Reese is suffering with a badly swollen and blackened eye. Mr. Mahnke had taken Mr. and Mrs. Kings and Mrs. Reese out west of town to look at a tract of land and they were on their way back. While going down a hill near the Tom Worum farm about two and one-half miles from town and the horses going at a pretty good clip, the bolt which fastens the tongue of the buggy to the axle came out and the tongue dropped low and struck the horses in the heels. Mr. Mahnke, who was driving, attempted to stop the horses, but when he did the buggy struck them, as they could not hold it back with one side of the tongue loose. Seeing that it was impossible to hold the buggy back, Mr. Mahnke swung them to the side to avoid the wheel on the one side which was still intact, from getting caught and upsetting the buggy. However, the horses swung right back into the road again, and so, not realizing just how fast they were going, he leaned over to grab the front wheel and so try to stop the buggy. Just as he did so, the wheel swung forward once more and struck the horse in the heels, which frightened it more than ever and both of them started off with a jump, throwing Mr. Mahnke out and throwing the lines out of reach. About a half mile further on the buggy tipped and the other occupants were thrown out and escaped with the injuries mentioned above. The team continued to town and stopped at the livery barn, minus the buggy.

Tom Worum heard Mr. Mahnke's calls for help and went to his aid. Charles Boltman also helped him, and Louis Worum, who had been to town with a load of potatoes, happened along just at this time and they placed Mr. Mahnke in his wagon and brought him to his home. Dr. Walters was summoned at once and after administering anesthetic, set the bones. The break is a bad one, being at the ankle joint and he will probably be laid up for some time.

PIONEER GONE.

Mrs. D. Lacoursierre Passes Away at Red Lake Falls.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. D. Lacoursierre, a pioneer resident of this city, died Wednesday morning, Oct. 15, at the advanced age of 81 years, 7 months.

W. H. Fisher, who has been associated with the V. M. Higginbotham Land company of this city, will move to Olivia, Minn., the first of next week.

F. Hovald and family leave the first of the week for their new home at Waseca, Minn.

Ed. Keffenheim, the local pitcher of the baseball team, has signed to play the next season with the Virginia team of the Northern league.

At noon Thursday, Oct. 16, Miss Edna Gray and Edward Keffenheim, both of this city, were united in marriage at the St. Joseph's parsonage.

The high school football team was beaten by the Fosston team last Saturday by the score of 20 to 0.

The high school football team goes to Crookston today to play the Crookston high.

The water works plant has been accepted, and the city is now busy connecting the residences and business places with the mains.

The work on the new high school is being pushed, so as to get the building enclosed before cold weather. Up to the present time the contractors have had very favorable weather, especially for the concrete work, which is now finished, thus completing the basement.

Candidates for the offices of mayor, aldermen, etc., to be voted on at the city election, Nov. 4, have filed by petition for the several offices.

Real estate in Red Lake county is increasing in value very fast, several sales of farms having been made lately at prices from $60 to $65 per acre.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUE DISCUSSES UTILITIES.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—After a day devoted to spirited discussions of public utilities laws, the first annual convention of the Minnesota League of Municipalities closed last night. Mankato was selected as the meeting place next year.

The report of the resolutions committee was unanimously adopted placing the convention on record as favoring a law which would leave with the cities the right to grant charters and control public utilities corporations.

J. C. Mathews, statistician in the public utilities division of the Wisconsin railway commission, was the principal speaker taking as his subject, "State vs. Local Control of Public Utilities."

CAVALIER COUNTY JAIL IS CONDEMNED.

Langdon, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charging that the Cavalier county jail is insanitary and an unsafe place in which to keep prisoners, the board of health of the county yesterday condemned the institution, and they recommended that a new jail be established.

The jail is a basement affair, and for some time there has been a movement under way having the construction of a new one as its object.

The board of commissioners received the notice of condemnation from the health authorities, but have taken no action yet.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Cloquet—Petitions have been filed by W. S. Olson for alderman of the Second ward, A. R. Peterson of the Third ward, Joseph Bodway, alderman-at-large, and H. M. Dixon, alderman-at-large. W. L. Peters is also in the field for alderman of the First ward. Fred D. Vibert's petition for mayor has been the only one filed for that office, and it looks as though Mr. Vibert would be the only candidate.

Cloquet—Several places were broken into last night and small sums of money taken. At John Cochrane's saloon on the island $15 was taken, the thieves breaking in through a window between the Cochrane building and the adjoining building; $10 was taken from Frank Tennis' saloon, a panel being broken out of the door. Bryant's saloon and Andrew Parpala's saloon were also broken into, and Sam Doucette's store on Cloquet avenue.

Brainerd—J. C. Barber, a rich manufacturer of Chicago, who has a country estate at Nokay lake near Brainerd, has given the Sisters hospital of Brainerd, a new rear porch and cement foundation and steps and the sisters are very grateful for his thoughful kindness. Mr. Barber frequently visited the hospital when his sister, Mrs. Marion Smades of Minneapolis was sick there.

Crookston—After having served as town clerk and postmaster of Gentilly for the past twenty-five years, H. T. Gendron, the merchant there, was this week forced to resign one job or the other by a postoffice inspector, who ruled that under the new regulations a postmaster could hold no other office. Mr. Gendron therefore resigned as town clerk and David Laurent, a business competitor, was appointed by the town board. Mr. Gendron was a candidate for the long service township clerk belt in Polk county, now worn by Orrin Simmons, who has been clerk of Russia township for over twenty-six years.

Brainerd—Fred H. Bock of Nokay lake was married to Miss Emma M. Dykeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Dykeman at Dykeman. The couple will be at home at Twin Oaks farm, Nokay lake.

Bemidji—Edmund P. Gould, former clerk of the Bemidji postoffice, who was arrested last July on a charge of rifling registered letters and with strong circumstantial evidence against him, probably would have gone to a Federal prison but for the confession of Clayton Collard, a 16-year-old boy who carried the mail, yesterday received orders from Washington reinstating him and formally exonerating him from the charges against him. Gould will return to the postoffice.

Rew Wing—Steps were taken at a meeting of the staff and board of directors of St. John's hospital this week which will eventually lead to the erection of a new addition to the present hospital structure, the improvement to cost anywhere from $25,000 to $40,000.

Moorhead,—A study school institute for Clay county will be held here Nov. 2 and 3.

Moorhead—Rev. W. M. Purce of Three Rivers, Wis., has been chosen rector of St. John's Episcopal church.

Little Falls—T. H. Hyson and Mrs. Rose Sumner of this city were married Monday evening by Rev. Frank Atkinson at his residence. They left for the cities Tuesday night.

Red Wing—Miss A. E. Willard, who has been employed at the Minnesota state training school for nearly twenty years, Monday tendered her resignation to the state board of control, to take effect Dec. 1. Miss Willard has held the position of steward at the state institution since the board of control was organized and before that time was secretary to the board of managers.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Ishpeming—Miss Gertrude Servatius, a former Ishpeming girl, whose parents left here for Menominee some ten or twelve years ago, was married in that city on the 3rd inst. to W. A. Russell, a Chicago man. The bride is a daughter of P. C. Servatius, who is a well-known meat man of Menominee.

Laurium—A very pretty wedding took place in St. Joseph's Austrian church when Miss Mary Plautz, daughter of Mrs. Mary Plautz, became the bride of Mike Lucas, son of Mrs. Theresa Lucas and brother of Prosecuting Attorney Anthony Lucas. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Klopcic in the presence of a great many friends of the coluple. Miss Mary Bohte of Calumet was bridesmaid and B. A. Lucas, a brother of the groom from Gary, Ind., was best man.

Hancock—At a recent meeting of the school board of District No. 1, plans were approved for the reorganization of the night school which was successfully tried out last year. The night school will be free and practically all branches of the high school work will be taken up.

Hancock—Three hundred children of the St. Patrick's convent received communion at the church Wednesday morning at the celebration of the silver jubilee of Mother Alaysia. At this meeting Rev. Father Holland said mass and Miss Nancy Conway and Russell Conway sang, with Miss Dwyer accompanying them on the organ.

Lake Linden—Miss Flora Dupuis and Charles McLaughlin of Lake Linden were married at St. Joseph's church, Rev. Father Raymond officiating. The ceremony was witnessed by Owen McLaughlin, father of the groom, and Oliver Barril.

Atlantic—Plans have now been completed by the Methodist Episcopal church for the annual harvest festival services to be held Saturday evening and all day Sunday. The soliciting committee reports splendid success and an assortment of vegetables, fruits needlework and other things has been promised, which will resemble the Houghton county fair in miniature.

Houghton—Mortimer O'Sullivan, village clerk and justice of the peace, died suddenly Wednesday night of heart disease at his home in East Houghton. Death came at 10:30 o'clock, just as Mr. O'Sullivan was retiring for the night. Mrs. O'Sullivan was present and the attack proved fatal before a physician could come to give the sufferer relief.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Oshkosh—Miss Kate Kinney, teacher of health and hygiene in the public schools, has inaugurated in three of the schools the plan of furnishing younger pupils with a glass of milk at 10 o'clock in the morning. The children pay a penny for the milk so that there will be nothing in the way of charity connected with the idea.

La Crosse—President B. S. Steadwell of the World's Purity federation, has received a telegram announcing the passage by the United States senate of a resolution authorizing President Wilson to appoint delegates representing the Federal government, to attend the international purity congress in Minneapolis, Nov. 5 to 12. The measure had previously passed the house.

Chippewa Falls — The Chippewa sugar factory began the season's run Wednesday with over 100 carloads of beets on hand. The crop is a good one and the weather has been ideal for hauling them. The farmers will most of them begin their hauling next week.

Eau Claire—At the Methodist parsonage occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Charles to Claude Austin, both of Winona, Minn. Rev. F. W. Harris performed the ceremony. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bennett. Mrs. Bennett is a sister of the bride. A wedding supper was served at the Bennett home at 5 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Austin leave on the evening train for Chicago.

Racine—The Racine County Woman Suffrage association held its annual convention at Union Grove. The Rev. Olympia Brown Willis is president.

Sheboygan—Archbishop Messmer and about twenty visiting priests assisted at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of St. Peter Claver church here.

Eau Claire—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harrigan of Kansas City, formerly of Eau Claire, leave Sunday night for New York to attend the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Dr. Ralph Harris, Tuesday, Oct. 21. They will spend their honeymoon in South America, sailing Oct. 22.

Ashland — Malcolm McKinnon was bound over to the district court Thursday on the charge of slander preferred by Officer Dennis McGeehan of the local police force. His bonds were fixed at $50, which he furnished. McKinnon is alleged to have said certain slanderous things about McGeehan to the effect that he released a prisoner on payment of $10.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Hettinger, N. D.—Cards are out announcing the marriage of Miss Valborg Hjort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hjort of Reeder, to Arthur J. Nelson, also of Reeder. The marriage took place in Minneapolis and the happy young couple will be at home after Dec. 1 at Reeder.

Carson, N. D.—Mrs. Robert Williams, who lives a few miles north of Carson, killed a wolf with a club.

Dunhoff, N. D.—While hunting, Henry Block was accidentally shot in the knee and may be permanently crippled.

Fargo, N. D.—A. O. Dahlberg, in charge of the department of dairying at the North Dakota Agricultural college, succeeds Prof. Martin, who resigned.

Mobridge, S. D.—An association has been organized for the purpose of supplying the town with a public library.

Webster, S. D.—Mark Philips has invented a road drag which is attracting much attention.

Hettinger, N. D.—The Hettinger mill, which was recently destroyed by fire, is to be rebuilt.

Hettinger, N. D.—A dairy meeting and farmers' institute will be held at Hettinger Oct. 24 to 25.

Glen Ullin, N. D.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Curlew Elevator company it was voted to increase the capital stock from $50,000 to $75,000.

Wentworth, S. D.—Thomas Bontoft is willing to wager any sum from $50 to $200 that he can pick more potatoes in eight hours than any other man in South Dakota.

Brookings, S. D.—Brookings will have a $10,000 library building. Andrew Carnegie having agreed to contribute this sum.

McCluskey, N. D.—There was an unusually large attendance here when the German Evangelical church was dedicated. Special services were held and many ministers came here from a distance.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Alumni of the North Dakota university will hold a reunion in Fargo Nov. 6 in connection with the annual meeting of the North Dakota Educational association. Plans for the reunion are being handled by a committee.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Ten thousand tons of flax straw will be sold by farmers within a radius of forty miles of Grand Forks this fall, at prices varying from $1 to $2.50 a ton, the creation of a market in this city by the establishment of a flax fiber pulp factory netting between $15,000 and $20,000 additional profit for the land owners.

Park River, N. D.—Falling over the side of a dangerous precipice while attempting to scale Mount Baldy, Clarence Thompson of this city was very seriously injured, although he probably will recover.

Jamestown, N. D.—At the meeting of the library board at the city hall held for the purpose of receiving proposals for a library site, upon which to build the Alfred Dickey public library, twelve sites for the new structure were received. That offered by the M. E. church, namely approximately 10,000 square feet, corner of Fifth avenue south and Pacific street, was practically the unanimous choice of the board and citizens present.

Sydney, N. D.—A 33,000-bushel capacity elevator was opened for business at Sydney Thursday, and the new one at Clementsville is expected to be ready for business and receive grain next week. Both these elevators are in the string of the Winter-Truesdell-Ames company of Minneapolis.

BEST LAXATIVE FOR BOWELS---'CASCARETS'

When Constipated, Headachy, Bilious, Breath Bad, Stomach Sour.

Get a 10-cent box.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver, and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with Salts, Cathartic Pills, Castor Oil or Purgative Waters?

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, Coated Tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA SUIT IS LIKELY TO GO TO TRIAL SOON

William Scallon, Former President of Anaconda, Attorney for Defendant.

Washoe Smelter Again Active and Being Operated to Capacity.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The case of the Anaconda Copper Mining company against the Butte-Ballaklava company is undoubtedly going to trial in the near future, although no application has yet been made for the setting of the date. Attorney William Scallon, who was at one time president of the Anaconda Copper Mining company and in charge of all the business of the corporation in this state, is likely to play an important part in the trial of the case in behalf of the Butte-Ballaklava company. After leaving the Anaconda company Mr. Scallon went to New York, where he resided for a couple of years, and several months ago he returned and entered into a law partnership with United States Senator Walsh, who has charge of the Butte-Ballaklava company affairs and who appeared in a couple of preliminary hearings of the case already. It is generally conceded that Mr. Scallon is a very able mining lawyer, and that there are few men either in or outside of the employ of the Anaconda company who are more familiar with the underground workings on Anaconda hill than he. For the past ten days he has been in the city quietly moving around, collecting evidence and devoting the greater part of the time to a very thorough examination of the Butte-Ballaklava underground workings. There is now no doubt that when the case comes up for trial Mr. Scallon will be found arrayed against the company of which he was formerly the head.

Since the Butte-Ballaklava disputed ground was closed by injunction little work has been done in the property, although there has been some development. Now nothing is being done except to keep the property in shape and the shaft clear of water by keeping the pumps going. It is upwards of two years since the Butte-Ballaklava declared its first and only dividend.

Heinze and the Stewart.

There still seems to be a considerable difference of opinion as to whether F. Augustus Heinze has been eliminated from the active control of the Stewart Mining company affairs. Those who are in a position to settle the question do not seem disposed to speak authoritatively on the subject, and some days the report goes out that Heinze is still at the helm, while this is followed later by an intimation that the once Montana millionaire is no longer the controlling spirit. According to latest advices John M. McKinnon of New York is at the head of the syndicate which is to conduct the affairs of the company, and he is said to have at his disposal 550,000 shares of stock, while Heinze has but 370,000 shares, giving the former control. The latest report issued shows that for six months the company earned $208,010 net as compared with $222,623 for the last six months of 1912. Mining litigation in the first six months of the year cost the company $38,791, or 43 cents a ton. The total value of the Stewart visible assets, including 249,267 shares of the Coeur d'Alene Metal Mining & Smelting company, 21,750 shares of Vabob Mining company, and 333,3335 shares of the Coeur d'Alene Development company, is placed at $2,030,013. The outstanding capital stock on June 30, 1913, was valued at $1,238,362 par.

Berkeley Soon to Resume.

The Berkeley mine of the Anaconda company, which has been closed down for several months undergoing extensive repairs and improvements and for the installation of the compressed air system in substitution for steam, will be ready to resume operations about the first of next month. The new ore bins will have a capacity of 2,000 tons of ore. The depth of the Berkeley shaft is 1,660 feet, and it is one of the group of mines consisting of the J. I. C., Belmont, Silver Bow and Berkeley. After the Berkeley shaft is equipped with the compressed air system, the next shaft to be equipped will be the West Steward. The Belmont improvements are also nearing completion and early next month the big ore bins will be finished and connection made with the company's railway system so as to facilitate the shipment of the ore. Every mine on Anaconda hill is now connected with the Belmont, so that if the occasion requires it the entire output of all the mines can be hoisted through the Belmont shaft.

Washoe Smelter Active.

The work of cleaning the flue system and making the repairs to the Washoe smelter have been completed and everything is running along as usual. The smelter is being operated to its capacity and over 10,000 tons of ore a day are being treated. During the ten days shut down not only were all the men employed but extra men were put to work with the result all the work contemplated was completed within the time originally announced. The concentrates which accumulated during the close-down are now being treated, and by the close of the present month it is estimated that nearly one-half of the concentrates will have been cared for.

King Solomon.

Eastern capital has come to the aid of the King Solomon mine located in the Clancy district and according to I. S. Moreland, the man in charge of operations, development work is to be pushed along with all possible speed. The shaft is to be sunk to a depth of 700 feet and from explorations made it is confidently believed some rich ore bodies will be encountered. The shaft is now down 400 feet. New machinery was recently installed.

Corbin.

The Corbin Copper company is prosecuting shaft sinking on the Gambrinus claim with all possible speed. A few days ago word was received from R. M. Edwards, president of the company, that a prominent banking institution of Boston had purchased all the stock on which stockholders had failed to pay their last assessment, and this being the case the company is now in a good financial condition. According to the message of Mr. Edwards, the stock was purchased at the rate of $1 a share net to the company, which will give the company all the money required to carry on work during the entire winter. The shaft is down to a depth of a little over 200 feet, and a crosscut is being run from a depth of 200 feet for the purpose of exploring the ground. Old mining men have no hesitation in declaring that the company is bound to open up several rich bodies of ore, and it is only a question of going deep enough.

Butte-Duluth.

Some of the new machinery for the Butte-Duluth company has arrived and is being installed, Capt. Wolvin says that before the first of the year he will be treating 500 tons of ore a day, and that the cost of turning out the pure copper will not exceed 7 cents a pound.

The Alice Suit.

Until the Alice suit is settled no attempt will be made to open up the Lexington mine. The Alice case is now in the Utah courts on the question of the right of the directors to sell the property to the Anaconda company. The contention of the minority holders of stock of the Alice is that the mine was sold at a sacrifice to the Anaconda company by a majority vote, whereas under the territorial laws of Utah unanimous consent must be had. The Alice was incorporated during the territorial days, and the existence of the company has several years to run. The Alice and Lexington are adjoining properties, and the latter for several years was owned by F. Augustus Heinze. Nearly a year ago it was sold at sheriff's sale and was purchased by a New York man who said that he represented a syndicate who proposed to operate it. Several months ago the New York people sold out to either the Amalgamated or interests directly connected with the company. When the Alice litigation is settled, it is proposed to work the two properties through the one shaft.

Davis-Daly.

The Davis-Daly company is shipping from the Colorado mine in the vicinity of fifty tons of ore a day, the ore coming principally from the 1,900-foot level. A few months ago some rich ore was encountered, and it was expected that it was of considerable extent and would admit of the shipments being increased, but there was disappointment. Development work is being vigorously prosecuted, and Consulting Engineer Creden is still quite satisfied that in the not very distant future rich ore will be opened. For several months the Davis-Daly has been more than making operating expenses from the returns from the ore shipped.

BLOCKING OUT ORE AT BULLWHACKER

For Treatment When the Enlarged Plant Begins Operations.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—Two shifts of about twenty men have been placed at work at the property of the Bullwhacker Mining company, east of the city, blocking out ore for extraction when the leaching plant of the company begins operations to its full capacity. Crosscutting operations from the old shaft of the Bullwhacker on the 100-foot level have begun, the shaft having been refitted with skids, a new cage installed and the workings piped for air. Ore chutes will be put in place and preparations made for an uninterrupted ore supply.

Sufficient stripping has been accomplished to afford a large tonnage of ore for months, the ground bordering the "glory hole" having been bared sufficiently to permit of its being "quarried."

Operations at the leaching plant are being delayed by tardy shipment of a large electrical generator, sufficient to afford electrical energy to care for the leaching capacity of the plant—250 tons. With this generator installed, the first unit of the 500-ton mill will have been completed.

This generator is being shipped from Fort Wayne, Ind., and has been manufactured especially for the Bullwhacker company.

CLARK MILL IS NEARLY READY

Soon to Join the Ranks of Butte Zinc Producers.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—The W. A. Clark zinc concentrator will be in operation in about four months, if no unforeseen delays occur. The frame is practically up, the machinery has been ordered and plans for securing a sufficient supply of water have been perfected. In order to ensure an ample supply of water, Senator Clark had to lay a 12-inch pipe line for a distance of a mile and a half after having had sunk ten wells from which the water will be pumped to the mill. For a long time Mr. Clark was undecided as to the method of treatment, and it was only after many tests had been made with the ore from the Elm Orlu mine that he decided on the flotation process, and he has entered into a contract with the Minerals Separation company for the use of the process. The mill will have a capacity of 250 tons a day to start with, and it is intended in the course of time, when it is found that everything is working satisfactorily, to increase the capacity to 500 tons a day.

INSPIRATION IS BUSY AT MIAMI

Rushing Steel Construction for Mill—Pushing Mine Development.

Miami, Ariz., Oct. 18.—With only about 50 per cent of the structural steel on the ground, the American Bridge company is making great preparations for rapid erection. With the huge locomotive crane, which is claimed to have a lifting capacity of fifty tons, busy at the Inspiration camp a runway is being placed on top of the concrete foundation of the ore storage bins at the main shafts and all is ready for actual erection of steel. All form work has been peeled from the exterior of this foundation and the cribbing will soon be removed.

Form work is practically completed for the coarse crushing plant and concrete work is well under way. Good progress is being made with the installation of the crusher near the Scorpion shaft for the purpose of crushing ore for the new test mill and this should be in operation shortly. All belts are now in position and the large conveyor belt, which is three feet wide, will soon be in place and electric motors installed for the operation of the crusher and belt.

During the past month several new headings have been started underground and great progress is being made. A haulage drift is being driven between the Scorpion and Incline shafts. Connection will soon be made in the haulage drift on the fourth level between the Scorpion and Main shafts. However, great trouble is being experienced in the drift to the Main shafts on the sixth level, due to the fact that the ground is exceedingly difficult to hold after being opened and progress in this drift has been very slow. Sub-levels are now being started from the fourth level of the Colorado ore body in preparation for mining this body by the caving system.

WILL OPEN PROPERTY

Jones & Laughlin to Start Operations at Iron Mountain Lake.

Zimmerman Mine at Iron River, Mich., Has Resumed Shipments.

The Jones & Laughlin Steel company is making preparations at Iron Mountain lake, a few miles south of Ishpeming, Marquette range, to open a property where some exploratory work was done several years ago. The shaft put down at that time will be deepened. It is believed the tract contains considerable ore of good grade. The Isabella shaft of the Cascade district, is now down 400 feet and must be sunk 500 additional feet before drifting is started. The sinking has been in progress in a diorite dike for nearly a year. It is expected that ore will be shipped in the spring. The shaft the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company is sinking at the Athens property at Negaunee will be the largest and deepest on the Marquette range and will be the outlet for a large production. All of the equipment will be electrical. The erection of the engine house is in progress.

With a large amount of charcoal iron in storage in the yards, the Gladstone, Mich., furnace of the Cleveland Cliffs company has been put out of blast. Approximately 200 men have been made idle. The plant had been a scene of uninterrupted activity for the last five years. During the shutdown, the stack will be relined. This is a tedious task and will require several months' time. Because the Algoma Steel company's receiving dock at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., collapsed, precipitating thousands of tons of ore into the water, the contract made last spring between the Algoma interests and the Newport Mining company of Ironwood, Gogebic range, has been cancelled. As a result, the Newport's shipments for the season now drawing to a close will be reduced by 75,000 tons. For this reason, stoping has been discontinued in some parts of the mine and about 50 men laid off. Shaft sinking will be put in place and preparations made for an uninterrupted ore supply.

Has Resumed Shipments.

The Spring Valley Iron company's Zimmerman mine at Iron River, Menominee range, which has been shut down for the last month and more, has resumed shipments, loading being done from the stockpile with steam shovel. Because of this and because additional men have been put to work at timbering, there is a belief that mining operations will be resumed shortly. The Purcell mine, an Iron River property operated by McGreevy Steel company of Duluth, continues to be a steady shipper. Another engine house probably will be constructed before winter sets in. An air compressor and two 150-horse power boilers are on the ground, ready for installation. Operations preparatory to reopening the Sheridan mine will likely be started by this company within the next few weeks. A 2,000-gallon triple expansion pump has been received at the Kimberly Mining company's Rogers property. A machine shop of large dimensions has been built at the Rogers and the equipment from a similar shop at the Hiawatha mine is being installed at the Hiawatha, replacing one of the old units. At its James No. 2 mine, the Mineral Mining company is erecting an addition to the compressor house. The compressor and dynamo to be installed therein have been delivered. At the Wickwire Steel company's Homer mine, the transformer house and boiler house are completed and some of the machinery has been put in position. The engine house is nearing completion. A miners' dry also is under construction.

Many Improvements.

Corrigan, McKinney & Co. have started the erection of a modern dry house at the Tully mine at Iron River. Of 152 by 26 feet in dimensions, the building will be one of the largest of its kind in the district. It will be of stone and two stories in height. Excavation for a 100 by 50 foot addition to the coal dock is in progress. The boiler house is practically ready for duty. At the Caspian mine, Pickands, Mather & Co. are completing the erection of a club building for the use of the office force. The structure is of three stories and contains twenty rooms. Ogilebay, Norton & Co. have built a modern dry at the Berkshire mine. It is a brick building, up-to-date in every respect, and will accommodate 216 men. At the Chatham mine, Ogilebay, Morton & Co. are erecting an office building. The Jones & Laughlin Steel company is building six cottages at its Forbes mine, as well as a residence for Supt. W. J. Walters. At the new Balkan property at Alpha, in the Crystal Falls district, Pickands, Mather & Co. are erecting seven two-story dwelling houses for the use of employes.

D. C. McKinnon, a well known mining man of the Menominee range, is dead at Iron River. Mr. McKinnon settled at Iron River in 1878. He purchased from the government the land on which he subsequently platted the original townsite, and from time to time he acquired other tracts. He located six valuable mines on his holdings, much of which remains to be explored. One of the mines discovered by Mr. McKinnon was the Zimmerman, opened in 1907. Among other mines from which he received royalties were the Bates and Youngs. In several instances his titles to lands were disputed and he was obliged to defend several expensive lawsuits, but he was uniformly successful in establishing his rights. In recent years Mr. McKinnon spent the winters at San Diego, Cal., where he also had property interests. He was one of the best known men in Upper Michigan.

CLIFTON SMELTER IS NOW WORKING

Dr. Ricketts Says Correction of Furnace Troubles Is Effected.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 18.—"Furnaces of the Arizona Copper company at Clifton are working excellently now and the new smelter giving satisfaction," was the statement made here by Dr. L. D. Ricketts upon arrival from Clifton. He spent the day conferring with officials of the Copper Queen company, and left in the evening for Douglas where he will spend several days as the guest of J. S. Douglas, manager of the Greene Copper company.

Dr. Ricketts said that he cancelled his European trip not only on account of the condition into which the furnaces of the Arizona Copper company fell soon after being started up, because of foundations cracking, but also on account of other pressing business which he had not contemplated as likely to come up at this time. The trip abroad, however, has not been abandoned by him, as he now expects to make it late this year or early next year.

PREPARING FOR DEEP DEVELOPMENT

Calumet & Arizona to Mine Down to the 1,800-Foot Level.

Bisbee, Ariz., Oct. 18.—In the Junction shaft of Calumet & Arizona they are now preparing for the exploitation of the country below the 1,500-foot level. The water has been cleared and the cutting of stations and ore pockets on the 1,600 and the 1,700-foot levels is under way. This work at the present time, as a matter of fact, is in advance of the concreting work that is to be carried from the 1,500 to the 1,800-foot level, or rather in preparation for it. The stations and pockets are to be cut back far enough so that the blasting necessary at later date will not disturb the concrete or the concreting. But it gives an accurate line on future intentions in this shaft, which it is evident is to be mined from the 1,800-foot level, without unnecessary delay, or as soon as the present improvements to its total depth are completed.

On the 1,800-foot level the plans call for the installation of a big pump station. It will clear the water of the mine's area. There will be readiness for this pump station work by the first of the year, before which time, no bad luck intervening, the concreting will be finished. With pumps on the 1,800-foot level, Junction will have three more levels in readiness for development work, and they will be much the deepest in the district. To begin with Junction shaft is on lower grounds than any other operating shaft in the district. The Queen's 1,600-foot level for instance, is around 530 feet above the 1,800-foot level of the Junction.

It is known that in putting the Junction shaft down from the 1,500-foot level there was encountered some very promising showings in ore. All the way there was mineralization to more or less extent. Between the 1,700-foot and the 1,800-foot levels, the findings were particularly pleasing. In this zone there were found veins of ore continuously. At the bottom the station was cut in excellent sulphides. All of this may indicate nothing of great value, but it is highly encouraging to the belief that on the deeper levels they are going to find continuation of the fine ore bodies they have opened above. It is true of the district that showings such as indicated from the Junction 1,500-foot level down cannot be approximated as to value until they have actually been gone into and followed to conclusion—and there are some of them in the mines of the district that have been followed for many years to the end of reaching conclusion but have not terminated.

LARGER TONNAGE AT BARNES-KING

Final Payment for North Moccasin Can Be Made Nov. 1.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—Based upon the returns for the month of September, the Barnes-King Development company will be able to make the final payment for the North Moccasin property on Nov. 1. The amount still due out of a total of $150,000, the purchase price at which the property was secured, is $14,929.37 or $859 more than the payment of Oct. 1.

That the recoveries for October will easily make this difference up is probable from the statement of the situation issued by the officials of the company.

Supt. McGee has submitted data of the September operations at both of the North Moccasin and Plegan-Gloster properties to President Goodale.

The tonnage mined and milled for the month of September was the largest since the beginning of operations in the North Moccasin ground—5,354 tons, with a net bullion return of $7 per ton.

Both the 500 and 600 drift faces were in low-grade ore the latter part of the month, thus lowering the value of the ore milled for the entire month, but at the present writing the 500 face, now 900 feet west of the incline, shows about ten feet of ore at $10 grade.

The Santiago shaft is timbered for ninety-five feet above the 500 level. Connection will be made with the old timbers above, about the middle of the month, and then there will remain one compartment to carry up 350 feet to the surface.

A new 5,000-pound double-drum electric hoist has been received and put in place at the Santiago shaft. An electric-driven compressor, 540 cubic feet capacity, was moved and set at the same shaft.

The remainder of the new tanks were put in commission the last of the month, but three new zinc boxes are to be installed. Leaching is very slow, due to an excess of soft, muddy ore, and the new tanks are proving valuable in allowing longer time for treatment. A great deal of miscellaneous repair work has been crowded along in preparation for winter.

The company is now the owner of the Plegan-Gloster property, covering nearly 200 acres of ground, and about 9,000 feet along the strike of the Plegan-Gloster vein. Final payment for the property was made on Sept. 27, the total purchase price of the same being $100,000.

Shallow explorations in the east end of the Gloster claim were continued during the past month, and ore of satisfactory grade and width has been opened up.

Active mining operations on a large scale cannot be commenced until electric power has been installed, negotiations for which are now being carried on.

MACHINERY FOR BUTTE & LONDON

It Has Been Shipped and Will Soon Be Installed.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 18.—The latest word from the manufacturers is that the new electrical machinery for the Butte & London Development company was shipped Wednesday. The machinery is being furnished by the General Electric and Nordberg companies. Workmen are employed at the Butte & London preparing a foundation for the machinery and everything will be in readiness for it when it arrives. A railroad spur has also been extended to the mine. It will not take long to install the equipment and as soon as that is done the water will be taken out of the shaft, which is expected to require a week. Then the development work, which T. F. Cole has contracted to do, will be started. The shaft, which is now 1,130 feet deep will be sunk to the 1,600 and 2,400 feet in cross-cuts run at that depth. The intention is to explore the ground thoroughly at that depth by running a cross-cut to the north 1,200 feet and another to the south of equal length.

The shaft below the wash is in solid granite and is today in as good condition as it was when work was suspended four years ago.

ORE BEING DISCLOSED

Old Colony and Mayflower Extending Proven Limits of Ore Zone.

Superior Again Shipping at the Rate of 500 Tons Daily.

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Old Colony and Mayflower companies continue to extend the proven limits of the ore zone in the Mayflower lode. On the Old Colony tract, drill hole No. 25 recently disclosed 57 feet of copper ground at a depth of nearly 2,000 feet, measured on the incline of the lode, and drill hole No. 26, 350 feet south and east, should soon reach this formation at a point much nearer its outcrop. The drill on the Mayflower tract, at hole No. 33, is seeking a favorable spot for the first shaft which is to be sunk on this lode, and has attained a depth of about 1,000 feet. This work, which is preliminary to shaft work, is being done thoroughly and with care so that no mistakes may be made in the matter of shaft sinking.

Superior.

The Superior is again shipping regularly at the rate of 500 tons of rock daily, and though the mine is still short handed and the rock output somewhat under normal there is every likelihood that a normal production of fine copper will be reached and maintained. Development work alone will suffer. The management is centering its attention in the development of the richer portions of the twin lodes, cutting out stopes, and mining ground that runs high in copper, and, in consequence should round out the year with a respectable copper production despite labor shortage and interference from the striking mine workers.

Wyandot.

The Wyandot is working full handed. The company has been engaged for some time in the development of the so-called No. 8 lode, an amygdaloidal bed lying about 2,300 feet east of the Winona lode, and with results that are generally satisfactory—and the lode shows a width of about 35 feet with a copper shoot of about 8 feet in width along the footwall side. Fully one-half of the ground opened in the winze below the 700-foot level and in the drifts north and south from its bottom, expose copper rock of commercial grade, rock that will probably yield above 15 pounds fine copper per ton. The drifts are in about 200 feet each way. The winze will probably be deepened in the near future as present showings, if maintained, warrant development at greater depth. It is also the intention of the management to keep the drifts going as long as copper ground of commercial grade comes in, and no other work will be permitted to interfere with these plans. The company is understood to have sufficient funds in the treasury to continue present plans of development for at least nine months.

Drilling Operations.

Although the present labor war in the Lake Superior copper district has at no time interfered with the operation of diamond drills, it is noted that there are at the moment only ten drill outfits in service as against twenty-five three years ago. The census shows two drills operating on the Keweenaw property, two on the Old Colony, two on Mayflower, two on Cliff, one at Phoenix and one on the Onondaga. The drills on the Cliff tract, both of which recently disclosed fine showings of copper, are working in the presumed horizon of the Mayflower lode. They will shortly be moved from this horizon to the horizon of the Bohemian range, a series of beds lying well to the east and below the No. 8 conglomerate bed which latter is generally assumed to lie just under the Arcadian, Isle Royale or Winona lode as it is variously termed. The Keweenaw drills are operating in the Ashbed horizon, in which are found the Pewabic, Atlantic and Hancock series of lodes. The Phoenix drill is in the same horizon. The Onondaga drill is in the approximate horizon of the Isle-Arcadian lode and working towards the horizon of the Ashbed, and the Old Colony and Mayflower drills are in the horizon below all, well up toward the Great Eastern or Jacobsville sandstone and possibly in the horizon of the Baltic bed.

AT THE CHIEF CONSOLIDATED

Shipping 5,000 Tons of Ore Monthly, Netting $6 a Ton.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 18.—The changes in Chief Consolidated's system of underground mining, which reduced its output temporarily, have been completed and the company is again shipping at the rate of 5,000 tons of ore monthly, on which the net return is about $6 per ton. It is more than earning its current dividend of 20 cents per share annually.

If it were desired Chief Consolidated could considerably increase its present output, its ore reserves being large, but a great deal of the attention of the management is given to new development work.

Geologists claim that the ore deposits in the Tintic district occur at the intersection of fissures, of which there are north and south and east and west systems. It has been estimated that at least six of these fissures cross the Chief Consolidated property in each direction, making thirty-six points at which ore may be expected to be found.

So far two of these intersections have been located and it has been estimated that the ore found at each of these points will yield approximately $2,000,000 in net smelter returns.

Of course one would be unwarranted in assuming that the other thirty-four intersections are equally good or that Chief Consolidated will make a $36,000,000 mine. These figures are mentioned simply to show its extreme possibilities.

This company owns by far the largest single area held by any company operating in the Tintic district. It is by no means impossible that it eventually will equal or exceed the shipment and dividend records of the best mines in the camp.

WEAKENS AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Opens Higher But Has Reaction Later in Session.

Flaxseed Strong on Heavy Buying By the Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 18.—After a strong opening today, induced by higher cables, light receipts and good general buying, the wheat market weakened and closing prices were the lowest of the session. As a net result fractional declines were recorded from yesterday.

December wheat opened unchanged at 81¾c advanced to 82¼c and closed at 81⅝c, showing a loss of ⅛c. May opened ⅛c up at 86⅛c and closed at 85⅞c or ⅛c off from Friday. December durum opened ⅛c up at 78½c and closed unchanged from the day before at 78½c. The May option closed ⅛c up at 83c.

Oats closed unchanged at 33⅞c and barley unchanged at 60@69c.

Puts on December wheat closed at 80⅛c asked and calls at 81⅛c.

Good buying orders were in the market for execution at the opening and trading was active during the first hour. That call satisfied, the market became dull, and with the appearance of some liquidation at the close, there was a moderate decline from the high points of the day.

The day's receipts were in small proportions, there being only 200 cars of all grains on the tracks here, while wheat inspections came to 202 cars compared with 659 cars last year. A decrease of 443 cars for the day was shown in arrivals here and at Minneapolis. Stocks in the local elevators accumulated to the extent of 1,052,000 bu during the week and they now aggregate 16,840,000 bu.

Flaxseed Bulges Sharply.

Flaxseed bulged sharply on heavy buying by crushers and short covering. The market in the seed was regarded as largely oversold. It was felt that it had sustained a severe decline, and to help the bullish sentiment along, receipts showed a substantial falling off from last year.

Advances during the session ranged at from 1¼c to 1⅝c.

October flax opened unchanged at $1.35 and closed at $1.36⅜. November opened at $1.35¼ and closed at $1.36½. December opened ⅛c up at $1.34¼ and closed at $1.35½, and May opened unchanged at $1.39¾ and closed at $1.41.

Discussing the general grain situation, President Mercy of the Armour Grain company is quoted as follows in the course of an interview: "The Eastern oat trade is in bad shape. Canadian oats already sold and being offered are filling up a large proportion of the demand. Argentina is selling and offering good-sized amounts of corn at Atlantic and Gulf ports at 1c to 2c over Chicago May. This removes from the Chicago market some big buying especially from the Corn Products company, which buys 1,000,000 bu monthly in Chicago. There is a steady export business in wheat."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Turns Strong With Shorts Covering Freely.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—After a long-continued decline, which has amounted to 11c a bushel, wheat today turned strong with shorts covering freely. Firmer cables created a better investment demand that was increased as a result of Wall Street advices favorable to the bull side. There were signs also that millers were beginning to take wheat on a larger scale. The market opened ¼c to ½@⅝c higher and later made some additional gain.

Afterward the gain was nearly all lost. Apparent exhaustion of buying power was responsible for the reaction. The close was weak, a shade lower to a shade higher than last night.

Corn rose on account of the pit being bare of offerings. Cables were higher and commission houses all attempting to buy. Prices started ⅛@⅜c to ⅜@⅞c up and scored some further advance.

A rapid descent took place subsequently because of slackening of demand. The close was weak at ⅛c to ¼@⅜c net decline.

Strength developed in oats owing to the bulge by other grain. Leading houses, though, sold freely on the upturn.

Provisions were steadied in consequence of the rally in cereals. First sales varied from last night's level to an advance of 2½@5c.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Practically All the Leading Shares Move Upward Swiftly.

Shorts, Unable to Provoke Further Liquidation, Forced to Cover.

New York, Oct. 18.—There was a good demand for stocks at the opening today. Bear traders were desirous of evening up their commitments over the week-end and bidding from this source was mainly responsible for substantial gains, among most of the leading stocks. Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Amalgamated and Can rose a point each. Colorado Southern lost 1.

After a variety of shares had been lifted 1 to 1½, the advance was arrested by a rapid fall in the Can issues. The common ran off from 31⅝@29¾, and the preferred from 91⅝@89½. Beet Sugar also went down 1½, but recessions otherwise were small.

The market closed strong. Practically all the leading stocks moved upward swiftly today. The shorts were alarmed at their inability to provoke further liquidation by raiding tactics and were forced to take to cover. The shorts, in their efforts to cover, were thus forced into competition with buyers for the long account which soon pushed up the representative issues 1 to 2 points. Although there was no decided improvement in sentiment, the growing ease in money was referred to as favorable to an improvement in values. Bonds were irregular.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HUBBY SEEKS WIFE AND COIN

John Bugni of Hibbing Says Spouse Decamped With $175.

Deserted Husband Complains to the Grand Rapids Police.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Bugni, a prepossessing young chap from Hibbing, reported to Sheriff Riley yesterday that his wife was missing from their home in Hibbing, taking with her $175 and leaving behind her a note stating that she had decided to leave him and that she was going to Duluth in company with the wife of their next door neighbor.

Young Bugni told the sheriff that the Hibbing woman with whom his wife was supposed to have gone was in the Rapids, and that Mrs. Bugni had gone to Duluth Thursday morning. The sheriff went to the European hotel with Bugni, and found that the woman had registered under her maiden name of Angela La Forest. Evidently the woman saw them as she came down from her room, for she failed to put in an appearance. As Bugni had not sworn out a warrant in Hibbing, which is in St. Louis county, there was nothing for him to do but to bide his time.

The sheriff notified the Duluth police to watch for Mrs. Bugni and later the deserted husband trailed the other of the pair to the early train and on to Duluth.

TOWER LUMBER FIRM SHIPPING HEAVILY

Tower, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The firm of Cook & Ketchum during the past few weeks has been shipping large quantities of lumber, the amount reaching about 200 carloads. Some four or five cargoes were shipped down the lakes. The mill has been running day and night all this season and the cut has been large.

Extensive preparations are being made by the Trout Lake Lumber company and the logging branch, to get in a big cut this coming winter and five camps will be operated. The various freight boats on the lake are busy transporting supplies and equipment.

ORGANIZE TO CARE FOR DERELICTS

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Associated Charities has organized for the winter and expects to be better equipped than ever before to efficiently look after the city's unfortunate. A campaign for funds is now on. The following board of directors has been elected: Rev. P. A. Schwarz, Dr. N. C. Bulkley, Thomas Finnegan, A. E. Pfremmer, Mrs. C. W. More, B. O. Greening, Mrs. J. C. Poole, Mrs. J. A. Robb, Mrs. A. G. Kingston, Mrs. R. M. Cornwell, W. R. Van Slyke, R. M. Dungan, Miss Esther Rabinowitz, Judge

REV. P. A. SCHWARTZ, The President.

Moylan and Rev. E. B. Peterson. The officers are: President, Rev. P. A. Schwarz; vice president, Mrs. R. M. Cornwell; secretary, Dr. N. C. Bulkley; treasurer, W. R. Van Slyke.

Secretary Bulkley reports that during the year the organization assisted thirty-three families. Some of these are still on the books as receiving aid at the present time, while the most of them have been assisted to a self-supporting basis. During the holidays, Christmas and Thanksgiving, thirty-three dinners were distributed, together with a few Christmas toys. These toys were purchased with money donated for that particular purpose and no money was diverted from the general relief fund for that purpose.

POULTRY SHOW TO BE THE BEST EVER

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lake County Poultry association will hold its eighth annual exhibit Dec. 4th, 5th and 6th.

Through the efforts of Representative N. S. Hillman of Two Harbors, and Senator H. W. Cheadle of Duluth, the state aid for the association has been resumed and will receive this year $400 which will enable the association to give more prizes than has been possible during the last few years. The prizes will be open to competition to exhibitors from all over the state and it is very probable that there will be a large number of out of town poultry men who will be on hand or send their birds. The premium list is now being prepared.

Henry Hess, poultry expert of Winona, Minn., has been engaged as judge.

HIBBING BOWLERS HAVE MATCH GAME.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first scheduled bowling match to be played in the village is slated for Tuesday night when the engineers employed by the Meridan Iron company are to play the men working in the office. Both teams have been holding secret practices and it is impossible to get a line on the work that is being done. According to the captains of the two quintets some remarkable scores are likely to be made.

The winners are to be challenged, according to reports, by a team organized by the "Webster bunch" and another fast match can be expected.

AURORA MAY HAVE NEW DEPOT.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is a rumor current that the Iron Range will build a new depot at Aurora.

There has been talk of the depot being moved to a more suitable location for years, but nothing has been done. However, at this time, it is stated on good authority that plans are under way for a new and modern depot to be built somewhere near the new Finnish hall.

Any change from the present location will be agreeable to the citizens of the village. The siding between the main line and the depot and the great amount of switching being done here makes the present location dangerous and undesirable.

HIBBING CLUB IS HOST TO LADIES.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening was "ladies' night" at the Oliver club. This is one of the most popular of the club's entertainments and was attended by a large number of members and their friends. After the formal program the evening was spent in dancing. HIBBING SPLIT OVER "MOVIE" CENSORSHIP

Probation Officer's Complaint Against Pictures Arouses Discussion,

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The censorship of moving pictures in Hibbing, a move proposed by C. E. Everett, range probation officer, and apparently under favorable consideration by the members of the council, is causing no little discussion among residents of the village, who are divided in their opinions.

Following the open letter from J. A. Miller, proprietor of two of the show houses here, in which Mr. Everett was criticized for his suggestion and attention called to the censorship given all pictures in those two houses by the national board, several communications have been received on the subject.

One parent at Alice claims that her son was tied to a telephone post for nearly an hour while a band of neighborhood youngsters executed a war dance about their shrieking victim, resulting in a fit of hysterics. The boys claimed to have gained their idea from a wild west film they had witnessed at a local theater.

Another letter points to examples in other parts of the state where youngsters have been shot in cowboy imitations by a gun "they didn't know was loaded" or injuries received from attempting riding feats they had seen.

On the other hand the attitude of Mr. Miller that youthful imagination will receive its impetus from stories if not from pictures and that accidents might happen in any case is upheld by several of the people who have written or been interviewed on the subject.

THREE LOSE LIVES IN NASHWAUK MINE

Ely Maranazich, a young Montenegren, 21 years old, another of the victims, and Marelan Rukich, a single man, aged 35, and Servian, will be buried tomorrow in the Servian division of the Chisholm cemetery. Maranazich is a member of the Montenegren society here and Rukich a member of the Servian society. Both men will be buried with honors by their respective orders.

HIBBING WOMAN HAD MANY WOES.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that her husband, Thomas Evans, had given her but $20 in nine months; that he had been guilty of a statutory offense; that he had treated her in a cruel manner; that he had been drunk and abusive, and that he had been guilty practically every offense upon which a suit for divorce may be based, Mrs. Susie Anna Evans of this village asks that she be given an absolute divorce. Mrs. Evans alleges that she lived at the home of her father-in-law and kept house for the two men.

The King Lumber company of Chisholm asks that Ernest Drew and N. A. Pierce of the same village be compelled to pay $122.80 claimed as balance due on a lumber bill.

Carl Notvidt of Chisholm is suing the Winston Dear company for $5,121 for injuries alleged to have been received at the Dunwiddie mine March 21, 1913.

GRAND RAPIDS TO GO AFTER BEMIDJI.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local football team will go to Bemidji on the midnight train Saturday night, to play the "Big Bemidji" team, Sunday afternoon. The game with Bemidji, played here a month ago, resulted in a 0 to 0 game, and the Rapids boys are confident that they can play to victory Sunday.

GILBERT HAS A $22,000 FIRE.

Gilbert, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire in Colvin & Robb's lath and shingle warehouse yesterday caused a loss in property and merchandise valued at $22,000. Practically all is covered by insurance.

The blaze was the largest that Gilbert has experienced in three years.

Fanned by a wind that at times attained the velocity of a gale, the fire spread rapidly from the lumber warehouse to the Hamm Brewing company's barn and warehouse.

A string of empty cars of the Duluth Iron Range road was theatened, but a special engine rushed to the scene was able to remove them beforr they could be attacked by the flames.

HIBBING CLUB RESUMES WORK.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first social meeting of the Saturday club for the year is to be held this afternoon at the library club rooms. There is to be a program of music and readings, following which an informal social afternoon will be enjoyed. Light refreshments will complete the afternoon. The program is as follows:

Piano solo, Miss Dorothy Cohen; violin solo, Mrs. J. F. Knowlton; vocal solo, Mrs. D. D. McEachin; piano solo, Miss Ethel Harwood; readings, Mrs. E. M. Smith; violin solo, Miss Pauline McElroy.

HIBBING TIGERS TO PLAY BIWABIK.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing Tigers, a local football eleven, will meet the Biwabik city team in a game to be played a week from tomorrow. An effort was made to match the two teams for tomorrow but the Tigers were unable to get their men together for the trip. Biwabik is said to have an excellent aggregation and an interesting game is expected.

SULLIVAN LICENSE CASE NOT SETTLED.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The matter of the granting of a saloon license to Ansel J. Sullivan is far from being settled. A new application has been made and Alderman Conrad Mattson, who together with Alderman A. D. Heritage, has been opposed to granting the license, has addressed a letter to Attorney General Smith for his opinion. Alderman Mattson expects to receive the attorney general's opinion within a few days as he advised the state official of the local situation several days ago, and it is not anticipated that any further action will be taken by the council in the matter until it is received.

ON TRAIL OF MEN WHO ROBBED HIBBINGITE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18.—One United States detective, combined with the Minneapolis police force, are searching the city for three confidence men who Paul Maras of Hibbing, Minn., claims swindled him out of $19,225 by a fake horse race scheme at French Lick Springs, Ind., early last spring. The detective claims he had traced the swindler to Minneapolis.

Maras, who it is said, owns stores and saloons at Hibbing and other iron range towns in Northern Minnesota, says that he went to French Lick Springs in the latter part of last winter for a rest. While there, he says, he made friends with three men who induced him to bet his money on a horse race. His friends and money disappeared at the same time.

Maras Says a Holdup.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The report that the men who robbed Paul Maras at French Lick last spring, had been traced to Minneapolis, was heard with interest here. Maras is a wealthy Austrian saloon keeper and the loss of his money occasioned a good deal of gossip at the time.

While at the famous Indiana resort Maras became friendly with three poolroom men who gave him an inside tip on a horse race. He put up a check on a Hibbing bank for close to $20,000, and the horse he bet on won. The men then declined to pay over the money until he had proved to them that the check was good. In order to do this Maras took a special trip to Hibbing and procured the cash. He then returned to French Lick and meeting the confidence men privately, showed them the money, demanding his winnings. Instead they pulled revolvers and made Maras turn over the thousands he had with him to them. All managed to escape and he has had detectives on their trail ever since.

"Movies" For Farmers.

Grand Rapids, Min., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The "moving picture night" of the short course at the Experiment farm will be Tuesday, Oct. 28, and the pictures are to be shown at the Gem theater in town. The lecture accompanying the pictures will be given by A. J. McGuire, superintendent of the farm. If such a thing is possible the pictures, which will be of land clearing operations, will be those taken at the farm this summer, by the moving picture company sent out by the state university. The original date on the short course program was Monday, but this has been changed to Tuesday that it may not conflict with the first number of the series of entertainments to be given under the auspices of the Booster club, which is to be given Monday evening in the village hall.

Change D., W. & P. Schedule.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new schedules on the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway will go into effect Nov. 2. They have been prepared by Trainmaster Clayton and have already been printed, but will not be ready for publication for a few days, as confirmation is awaited from the road's head office at Winnipeg. The new time tables will do away with the evening train bound for Duluth. The change in time will prove a great convenience to north country settlers and is expected to increase the travel to this city considerably.

Will Lay Wires Underground.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Six hundred patrons can be accommodated by the telephone company when the underground cables on Third avenue are laid. Additional feeds will run into the alleys between Third and Fourth avenues for half the distance where they will then be connected with the air line.

Supt. Owens at Tower.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas Owens, general superintendent of the D. & I. R. R. R., accompanied by Mrs. Owens, arrived at Tower in their special car at 11:40 a. m. Friday. The Benson auto was in waiting. As guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Benson they visited the Little Fork country to the west of Lake Vermilion, returning to Tower in the evening.

FARMER IS CHARGED WITH BRUTAL MURDER

Langdon, N. D., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the plea that Matt Holum cannot get a fair trial in Cavalier county, his attorney will seek to remove the trial of the accused man, charged with wife murder, to Grand Forks. The motion comes before Judge W. J. Kneeshaw within the coming two weeks.

If Holum is guilty of the crime charged to him, he is one of the most cold-blooded murderers the state has known.

Prosecuting officials charge that Holum beat his wife on the head till she was dead, and that he cast her body on the floor of a tumbled-down, foul-smelling barn. On the walls of the barn they declare they have found spots and splashes of human blood, while at a point fully ten feet from the place where the body was picked up, they declare there is a pool of blood. A bloody shirt, supposed to have been worn by Holum, is in possession of the authorities. Also, they claim to have a hatchet with which the supposed murder was committed. The hatchet was freshly washed, the state claims, to remove the traces of blood.

Holum says his wife was kicked to death by a horse; the prosecution claims the medical examination indicates that the woman was hit on the head repeatedly by a dull instrument, other than a horse's hoof. The prosecuting officers contend there are a half dozen or more such wounds on the skull.

The accused man, an ignorant farmer residing near Milton, claims he found the body of his wife lying on the floor of the barn when he reached the farm home after an absence of several hours. He says he removed the body from one point to another, thinking that she might still be alive. When he discovered that she was dead, he summoned help.

The defense raises the claim that Holum was seen a mile from his home, on his way there, within a half hour or so of the time that he reported her death, and that sufficient time in which to kill the woman and do such other things, as the state charges, had not elapsed.

Alleged previous threats by Holum against his wife, and her supposed fear of her life, are other features of the sensational case.

LEADING HEBREW TO VISIT HERE

Samuel Dorf, grand master of the Order Brith Abraham of the United States, will be a guest of the Duluth lodges, Nov. 13.

Mr. Dorf is recognized as one of the most gifted and eloquent men in the country and is one of the foremost leaders of the Jewish people in the United States. At the time the question of abrogating the treaty with Russia on the demand by this country of Russia's recognizing the American citizenship of Jews traveling in the land of the czar was a mooted question, he was delegated to appear before congress to represent the Hebrews of the country. He has been grand master of the national order for eighteen consecutive years.

This will be the first time since the organization of the first O. B. A. lodge in Duluth twenty-two years ago that the grand master has visited here. Elaborate preparations are being made to give him a royal reception. The auditorium has been rented for the occasion and arrangements are now being made to have several other able and representative speakers on the platform with Mr. Dorf. The Duluth lodges of the order have a membership of 349.

RECEIVERS NAMED.

Earnline Steamship Company Will Pay All Its Debts.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.—The Earnline Steamship company, an American corporation engaged in the coal and iron carrying business between this port and Cuba, was placed in the hands of receivers yesterday by Judge Thompson in the United States district court.

Stockholders petitioned for the receivership and asserted that the company is being conducted at a loss of $15,000 a month and has lost $220,000 between January, 1912, and September, 1913. The president of the company, in his answer, admitted these statements.

It was stated that the company owes $50,000 and has $40,000 cash on hand and assets sufficient to pay all indebtedness. Charles A. Porter, Jr., and Henry Sharp, respectively secretary and treasurer of the company, were named as receivers. Their bond was fixed at $40,000.

L. J. SELIG'S MOTHER DEAD.

Word was received here last evening that Mrs. Joseph Selig, mother of Leon J. Selig of this city, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home in Ligonier, Ind. The members of the family were all at the bedside when she passed away.

Mrs. Selig was operated upon three months ago and her death yesterday is the result of an illness contracted immediately after the operation. She is survived by her husband, one son and two daughters. The three latter are L. J. Selig of Duluth, Mrs. Simon Burnett of Seattle, Wash., and Miss Helen Selig of Ligonier. Mrs. M. Loeb of Ligonier, Mrs. Selig's mother and two brothers and a sister, L. S. Loeb of Duluth, Samuel Loeb of Seattle and Mrs. A. Weinberg of Seattle also survive her.

Mrs. Selig was well known in Duluth, having visited here on several occasions. She was 53 years old.

MOOSE LAKE MAN TRIES HIGH FINANCE.

Moose Lake, Minn., Oct. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Oscar Anderson, more familiarly known as "King Oscar," who has been in these parts for several years, seemed to have been taken with a fit of "wanderlust" a week ago shortly after returning from the harvest fields of Dakota. Being short of funds, he went to Mahtowa and appropriated about $30 in cash and two certificates of deposit of $100, one on the bank of Barnum and the other on the bank here, from G. A. Brown, a resident of that place. Then he went to Barnum, paid Mr. Gonser $5 to drive him to Carlton, forged Mr. Brown's name to the certificates and cashed them. Then he bought Mr. Gonser's rig for $175 and drove to Cloquet and Scanlon, then across the country to Denham, where he traded that rig for another and drove to McGrath, where he was apprehended on Tuesday. When caught he had also sold the last appropriated rig for $35. He was brought here Tuesday evening and taken to Carlton Wednesday and placed in the county jail. He will face a charge of burglary and forgery.

RAILWAY MEN TALK OF MAIL CARRYING

Washington, Oct. 18. — Postmaster General Burleson had a conference late yesterday with a delegation of American railway presidents seeking better pay for transporting mail.

President Ripley of the Santa Fe acted as spokesman for his associates, being seconded by President Rea of the Pennsylvania. They declared the railways were now being underpaid an aggregate of $15,000,000 a year for carrying the mails, entirely aside from the extraordinary burden placed upon the roads by the parcel post matter, for which it was maintained they practically were receiving nothing.

President Ripley conceded that the roads were obliged to carry the mails, but expressed the hope and expectation that the postmaster general would give them such pay as would enable them to perform their service satisfactorily.

Mr. Burleson assured the railway men that he would try to see to it that they received all they were entitled to. He said, however, that it would be impossible for him to do anything in the way of readjusting railway pay until the commission created by congress for the purpose of collection and tabulation of data bearing upon the subject had made its report.

The postmaster general told his callers, incidentally, that it was his intention further to extend the facilities of the parcel post system, both by increasing the present maximum weight limit and by reducing the rates.

DIAMOND THIEF STILL AT LARGE.

Breckenridge, Minn., Oct. 18.—The robber of Frank Miksche's residence Wednesday night is still at large. Mr. Miksche now offers a reward of $100 for the recovery of the rings that were taken. These included one ring set with two large diamonds, one set with three small diamonds, a gold wedding ring, two baby rings and two other rings, seven in all. The rings, which belonged to Mrs. Miksche, were placed on the sideboard, and their absence was not discovered until the next morning. Some one well acquainted with the house is believed to have taken the rings, which are valued by Mr. Miksche at more than $700.

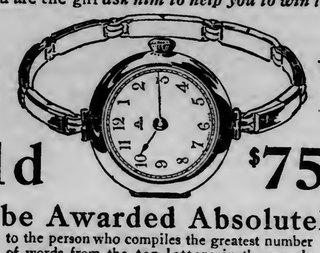

Several suspects who had been employed about the Miksche residence were examined, but so far nothing has been learned as to the real identity of the thief.

Young Boy Drowns.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 18.—A human chain, formed by children attending a school picnic and extending far out into Lake Phalen, last night failed to save the life of Clarence Lundquist, 14, who drifted from shore in a rowboat. The chain was ordered formed by the teacher, Miss Lillian Reeves, who, as a last resort, attempted to swim to the boat. She was unconscious when rescued. Lundquist, becoming frightened, leaped from the boat and was drowned before aid reached him. Two other lads narrowly escaped drowning.

Mother's Advice To Her Daughter

A Real Live Doll to Fondle is Woman's Greatest Happiness.

She is wisdom itself who knows of or learns of that famous remedy, Mother's Friend. It is an external application for the abdominal muscles and breasts. It has a wonderful influence, allays all fear, banishes all pain, is a grateful encouragement to the expectant mother, and permits her to go through the period happy in mind, destined to anticipate woman's greatest happiness as nature intended she should.

The action of Mother's Friend makes the muscles pliant and responsive to expansion. Thus all strain and tension upon the nerves and ligaments is avoided, and, in place of a period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and joyful expectancy.

There is no nausea, no morning sickness, no nervous twitching, none of that constant strain known to so many women.

This splendid remedy can be had of any druggist at $1.00 a bottle. Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 232 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their book to expectant mothers.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

INVESTMENT BUYING IS BECOMING PROMINENT

Another Second Street Frontage Is Sold at a Good Figure.

Agreements Closed Involving Transfers of Two Central Business Lots.

Improved inquiry, largely of an investment nature, for all classes of properties, was noted by local realty operators during the present week. As a result some interesting deals in centrally located business frontages are reported to be nearing the closing up stage. Agreements were, in fact, signed and earnest money passed in two large transactions.

The real estate feature of the week came in the sale by Henry H. Welles, Jr., of Wilkesbarre, Pa., to Roy M. Wolvin of Winnipeg of a fifty-foot frontage at 110 West Second street. The lot has a depth of 140 feet and has upon it a small building. The consideration is at present under cover, but it is understood to have been a substantial figure, the purchaser foreseeing good investment possibilities in First and Second street properties. Stryker, Manley & Buck represented the seller and A. W. Taussig & Co. the purchaser in the transaction.

Stryker, Manley & Buck also sold for N. M. Pomeroy of Troy, N. Y., to the Kriedler-Doyle company, six houses on Warden street, West Duluth. The consideration was not reported.

Situation Thought Bright.

The situation in Duluth realties is regarded as exceptionally strong by prominent operators, and on the basis of the present outlook a heavy movement at increased values is predicted during the next few months.

The call for farming lands in this district is also said to be broadening out in a surprising way. As an example, a dealer reported the receipt of twenty inquiries in one day in response to an advertisement offering a large acreage tract in St. Louis county.

* * *

That outsiders are becoming deeply impressed with the opportunities offering in Duluth real estate is apparent in expressions of opinion coming to hand from over a wide territory.

An instance of that is furnished in a letter just received by a friend here from Hon. William H. Crafts of Manitou, Pa., who recently visited this city. It says:

"I was very much pleased with the outlook and prospects of real estate in Duluth. If the business men of your city continue to talk and act as they are doing now, there is no question but that you will have an active demand for real estate in the near future, as prices are much lower at Duluth at present than in any other place in the country. While your figures are lower, your advantages are much greater than those in any other city I know of."

Pulford, How & Co. sold for Frank A. Johnson to Frank C. D. Carey, a house and lot at Seventeenth avenue east and Fifth street at a consideration of $6,400.

* * *

The Field-Frey company sold for A. F. Hopkins to Alfred Jaques, two lots on Central avenue, West Duluth, at $1,500. That office also received earnest money on a forty-acre tract in the steel plant district. The purchaser proposes to plat and place the property on the market next spring.

* * *

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. sold to Martin Koske, house and lot No. 1304 East Third street at $2,500.

* * *

* * *

W. M. Prindle & Co. advised sales of building lots during the week in both Kenilworth and Crossley parks. Houses are now under erection in the former addition for Edward Johnson and H. Nilssen.

* * *

The sale of the Dr. C. A. Stewart house at Fifth avenue east and Second street was effected by the Getty-Smith company. The property has a frontage of sixty-two and one-half feet on Second street and of 140 feet on the avenue, making it very desirable for business purposes ultimately. The consideration was approximately $11,000.

* * *

Another deal in West Second street property was put through during the week in the sale by David Weinberg to Winfield H. Sellers of his house and lot. The consideration is reported to have been nearly $10,000.

* * *

A. W. Kuehnow, manager of the Gary Land company, reported a continued investment inquiry from outside points for building lots and business frontages in that townsite. Ten sales were closed up this week, three of the buyers being Twin City investors.

* * *

The Alliance Real Estate company disposed of six additional Exeter Farms tracts during the week. A number of the recent purchasers are said to be arranging to build houses out there next spring.

* * *

Vernon J. Price & Co. had a busy week. They have plans out for figures for a residence for M. J. Widdes to be built at Tenth avenue east and Fifth street. Its cost is estimated at $5,000. They have plans ready for figures for a jail and sheriff's residence to be built at Carlton at an estimated cost of $20,000, and they have also plans prepared for one two-room and two one-room schools to be built for St. Louis county at points on the Mesaba range.

BUILDERS ARE BUSY COMPLETING CONTRACTS

Few Large Jobs Being Let Owing to Approach of Winter.

Good Demand for Moderate Priced Homes in Western Suburbs.

Though owing to the lateness of the season, there are comparatively few new large building propositions going out for figures at present, members of the various trades are uniformly well employed in finishing up the work in hand.

As the building inspector's records show, permits are still being issued freely for moderate priced dwellings. Anticipating that largely increased housing accommodation will be necessary in the West end, West Duluth and in the steel plant districts in view of the industrial activity that now appears to be assured in Duluth next year, arrangements have been made in several quarters to carry on building on an extensive scale through the winter months.

Architects are already discussing proposed building enterprises for next season with clients and it is understood that some extensive plans are assuming definite shape.

* * *

As had been anticipated, the contract for the Western Rug company's factory in West Duluth was awarded this week, D. H. Clough & Co. being the successful bidders. The building will be of reinforced concrete construction and strictly fireproof throughout. It will 144 by 146 feet on the ground floor plan, one-half to be three stories in height with a basement, and the remainder one story. To provide for subsequent extensions in the company's operations, the plans are designed with a view to the building being carried up an additional five stories in height, and provisions are made for additions. It is estimated that the present structure will involve an outlay of $60,000. The excavating for the foundation is nearly completed and work on the concrete foundation will be started next week. It is aimed to have the factory ready for operation by Jan. 15. Anthony Puck was the architect.

* * *

Among the twenty-eight buildings under course of erection at Gary are a 40-room hotel for Mrs. Alma Ness of this city, a clothing store for St. Paul men, and a butcher shop for a Virginia man. Six houses of concrete block construction are also going up. It is intimated that the required guarantee in connection with the proposed water works system for the town has been secured, and that the work is likely to be proceeded with at once. Lots 7 and 8 in block 39 are advised to have been selected as a site for the water tower. The supply will be secured by pumping from artesian wells at New Duluth.

The general contract for the Pine City, Minn., armory has been awarded to O. F. Larson of Pine City at $14,000, and the heating and plumbing to the D. P. Black company at $2,800. Kelly & Williams were the architects.

* * *

It is now assured that the new Kitchi Gammi club building will be ready to open by the end of the year. The contractors, McLeod & Smith, are employing a large force in pushing the interior finish work to completion.

* * *

As a result of the fine weather this week, the Lounsberry-MacLeod company, contractors for the first batch of houses in the Minnesota Steel company's model town at Spirit Lake, made a good showing on their job. The concrete block walls on a number of the buildings have been run up to the second stories.

ADVERTISE IN THE HERALD

CLUB COMES TO RESCUE

Hillsiders Will Help Boys Solve Skating Rink Problem.

Mayor Wants Other Community Organizations to Follow Example.

The members of the Fifth Ward Hillside Improvement club are going to co-operate with the "kids" this winter to maintain the free skating rink in their vicinity.

The men will not scrape and clean the ice; that will be the boys' part of the job. But they propose to take turns acting as voluntary supervisors to see that order is maintained and that the younger children have the same opportunity to enjoy themselves as the older people. They will also make it a point to eliminate roughness which might cause accidents.

The sentiment of the improvement club is that the rink is too valuable to lose and that rinks cannot be successfully conducted unless they are supervised. P. J. Dransfield, secretary of the park committee, states in a letter to Henry Cleveland, manager of the park department, that several members of the club have already volunteered to act as supervisors. He is confident that at least seven can be secured to pledge their services one night each week from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock. The man thus delegated will have no difficulty in securing special police authority from the city.

Because of the shortage of funds the city will be unable to maintain the rinks this year, further than flooding them and renewing the surface at regular intervals. In a letter to the principals of the various schools the mayor called attention to this fact, suggesting that the boys might form organizations to care for the rinks. One response has been received from the Lester park school. That from the improvement club comes as a welcome surprise. The mayor suggests that other improvement clubs throughout the city might so well do to well to take up the matter.

The city will not provide stoves or fuel for the warming houses. The experience of past years has shown that half-grown men of the rowdy type have been using them nights for congregating places.

CONCRETE ROADS SHOWN IN FILMS

Good Roads Workers Will Go to Detroit to Study Concrete.

For the purpose of instructing the people of Duluth as to the nature and quality of concrete roads, films showing the Wayne county, Mich., roads will be presented at the Rex theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The films were given a tryout today at the Odeum theater and pronounced good. There is considerable agitation for building concrete roads in St. Louis county, and it is probable that a party of county officials will go to Detroit next week and look over the Wayne county roads.

The films show various kinds of roads, macadam, brick and concrete. The cost of concrete road building is said to be about $10,000 a mile.

The Wayne county authorities are said to have built eighty miles of concrete roads since 1909 and petitions are out for sixty miles more. The estimated cost of repairs on the eighty miles in three years is said to be but $300.

WILL BUILD A 9,000-TON SHIP.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 18.—The American Shipbuilding company yesterday closed a contract to build a 9,000-ton ship for delivery May 1, 1914. The vessel will be constructed at Lorain and will cost the purchaser about $325,000.

The ship will be 524 keel length, 54 feet beam and 30 feet deep. She will be equipped with triple expansion engines with cylinders 23, 38 and 63 inches in diameter and a stroke of 63 inches. Two Scotch boilers 14 feet 6 inches by 11 feet 6 inches with a pressure of 170 pounds will be installed. The Isherwood system will be employed.

According to the announcement made yesterday by President J. C. Wallace of the shipbuilding company the order was given by Pittsburg interests.

The same company yesterday closed a contract with Hutchinson & Co., managers of the Pioneer Steamship company, to reconstruct the steamers J. T. Hutchinson and Harold B. Nye. The vessels will be refitted with nine-foot hatches spaced to twelve-foot centers. The boilers will be lowered from the main deck to the tank tops and the coal bunkers built in forward of the boiler house. At the same time the steamer J. P. Walsh will be fitted with steel hatch covers. The reconstruction of these vessels will make the Pioneer fleet as up to date as any of the independent fleets.

Warning to Mariners.

The following notice has been sent to mariners by William Livingstone, president of the Lake Carriers' association: "Vessels entering Marquette should pass outside of red light, marking end of breakwater extension now under construction. Extension is partially built and it is dangerous for vessels to attempt to pass between red light and original structure."

STRAFACCIA ON THE STAND

Says He Fired Fatal Shot to Save His Own Life.

Fear that he would be stabbed unless he shot his assailant is the reason which Joseph Strafaccia gives for firing three bullets into the body of Frank Rossi at the Strafaccia home on the night of March 2.

Strafaccia took the stand yesterday afternoon in his own defense at his trial for the Rossi murder. He frankly admitted the shooting but declared that he was acting in self-defense. He claims that the killing was justifiable.

Mrs. Anna Strafaccia, wife of the defendant, told the same story. It was her claim that Rossi had a knife and that prior to the shooting he made an attempt to assault her husband with the weapon.

The defendant also claims that Rossi, after having been wounded, assumed all the blame for the affair and told him that he would forgive him if he lived, and forgive him if he died.

Strafaccia strenuously denied the deathbed statement of Rossi which the state introduced in evidence in which Rossi declared that the shooting was without provocation.

With one or two more witnesses, the defense is expected to close Monday morning. The case will go to the jury at that time.

NOT DEAF AND DUMB.

F. Wayne Sentenced for Begging; Woman Companion Also Arrested.

Frank Wayne, who about a week ago appeared in the West Duluth police court on a charge of vagrancy, and was allowed his departure on the promise to leave the city, was picked up yesterday afternoon at New Duluth. Wayne was accompanied by a woman, who claimed to be his wife and gave her name as Ena Wayne, and was begging money on the streets.

Wayne is said to have asked for money, claiming to be deaf and dumb. He is said to have collected a considerable sum when picked up by Officers Mooney and Root. This morning before Judge Lanners he pleaded guilty and was fined $60 and costs or fifty days in the county jail. Lack of the cash caused him to choose the latter. The woman will have a hearing this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION —OF— WEST DULUTH REALTY COMPANY.

We, the undersigned, for the purpose of forming a corporation under and pursuant to the provisions of Chapter fifty-eight (58), Revised Laws of Minnesota for 1905, and any amendment thereof, do hereby associate ourselves as a body corporate, and do hereby adopt the following Certificate of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

(a) The name of this corporation shall be WEST DULUTH REALTY COMPANY. (b) The general nature of its business shall be to buy, sell, mortgage, lease, let, plat, improve or deal in real estate, tenements, and hereditaments; to buy, construct, improve, lease, mortgage, and sell houses and buildings; to loan and borrow money, including the right to own, sell, assign, hypothecate and deal in mortgages, stocks, bonds, notes, and other personal property; to maintain a general insurance agency and brokerage business; to act as agent for steamship companies; to engage in a general real estate, insurance, and brokerage business, including the right to act as agent or attorney in fact for any person or corporation; and to do and perform any and all such lawful acts and business as may be necessary, useful, expedient or incident to the proper and efficient carrying on and success of the business aforesaid.

(c) The principal place of transacting the business of this corporation shall be the city of Duluth, county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The time of the commencement of this corporation shall be October 20, 1913, and the period of its duration shall be thirty (30) years.

ARRTICLE III.

The name and place of residence of the persons forming this corporation are William Holm, John A. Forsman, Emil Norlund and Gust Mattson all of Duluth, Minnesota.

ARTICLE IV.

The management of this corporation shall be vested in a Board of Directors, composed of not less than three nor more than seven members. The names and addresses of the first Board of Directors are William Holm, John A. Forsman, Emil Norlund and Gust Mattson all of Duluth, Minnesota, and J. E. Nyquist of Cloquet, Minnesota. All the above named directors shall hold office until the first meeting of the corporation to be held the second Tuesday of January, 1914, at which time and annually thereafter a Board of Directors shall be elected from and by the stockholders of this corporation for a term of one year. The annual meeting of this corporation shall be held in Duluth, Minnesota, on the second Tuesday of January each year. The officers shall be: President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer and Manager. The directors shall elect from their number a president and a vice president, and from their number or from the stockholders a secretary, a treasurer and a manager. Any two offices except president, vice president and secretary may be held by any one person. The directors and officers of this corporation shall hold their respective offices until their successors have been duly elected and qualified.

ARTICLE V.

The amount of the Capital Stock of this corporation shall be Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000.00), divided into five hundred shares of the par value of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) each, which shall be subscribed and paid in, in such amounts and at such times and in such manner as shall be determined and prescribed by the Board of Directors.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be the sum of Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000.00).

Whose Roof Do You Live Under?

Why not live under your own? Almost any one can own their home. It requires very little capital for the first payment, and thereafter the monthly payments are about the same as the ordinary rental paid. At the end of a few years the home will be yours, whereas the renter will have a stack of worthless receipts and a lot of broken and scratched furniture, damaged in moving. Then, too, on your own place you plant a lawn, trees and shrubbery, and, if you choose, put in a garden. On a rented place you wouldn't care to expend money, time and energy only to find that when you had gotten things nicely fixed you'd have to move. The best real estate values are offered on these "want" pages today. You have to live under some one's roof,

TWENTY-SIX CORPSES TAKEN FROM THE WRECK OF MILITARY TRAIN NEAR STATE LINE, MISS.

MORE MAY BE FOUND LATER; 95 ARE HURT

Arms, Legs and Heads Are Scattered About in Debris.

Coast Artillery Men Are Victims of Railway Disaster.

Some of the Bodies Found Have Not Been Identified.

Meridian, Miss., Oct. 20.—At 10 o'clock this morning twenty-six bodies had been taken from the Mobile & Ohio troop train wreckage near State Line, Miss., according to a telephone report reaching this city. This report said all bodies then had not been taken out.

The same report gave the number of injured at ninety-five. Some of these are at Puckatunna and some at State Line.

Most of those killed were badly mangled. Arms and legs and even heads are scattered about the wreckage.

Victims at Mobile.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 20.—Victims of yesterday's troop train wreck on the Mobile & Ohio railroad at Buckatunna, Miss., were brought to Mobile early today on relief trains. The list of known dead at 8 o'clock was twenty-two, most of whom were members of the 170th Coast artillery. There were seventy-four seriously injured soldiers in Mobile hospitals, while a number of the less seriously hurt were taken to the government hospital at Fort Morgan.

Physicians who arrived on the relief train said they feared at least fifteen among the seriously injured could not survive.

Investigation of the cause of the wreck continued today. It was believed to have resulted from the derailing of the locomotive tender, which dragged the baggage car and three coaches off

MADE ENGINE BEAR SHOCK OF COLLISION

C. B. & Q. Engineer Probably Saved Many Lives By His Act.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 20.—Investigation by the division officers of the Burlington wreck at Nelson, Wis., Saturday, in which one man was killed and eighteen were injured, shows that Engineer M. H. Dorsey of train No. 54 undoubtedly saved the lives of many of his passengers by prompt action in the face of the impending collision.

No. 54 was partly on a siding when the express train No. 57 appeared close by. There was not time to pull into the siding clear, and to remain where he was would have meant that No. 57 would have crashed into the passenger coaches of No. 54. Dorsey quickly reversed his engine, backed on to the main track with the engine and baggage car, which had been clear, and took upon his locomotive the shock of the collision with the express train running sixty miles an hour.

All of the injured are improved today. Conductor Widrick of the passenger train, who was reported in a serious condition Saturday night, will recover.

GROUND WHITE WITH SNOW AT LA CROSSE

Missouri and Kansas Get Their First Fall This Season.

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 20.—The first snow of the season fell today. It was enough to cover the ground with a white blanket, which disappeared only after the sun got high. The snow was accompanied by a severe drop in temperature, which took thermometers down to 25 deg. above zero.

Snow in Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—Snow, the first of the season, fell for half an hour late Sunday over Western Missouri and Eastern Kansas. Thermometers last night stood at 4 to 8 deg. above freezing point.

More in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Snow that melted as fast as it touched the earth fell here for several hours today. The temperature was 34 deg.

Snow in Alabama.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—Winter appeared in many sections of the Middle South today, snow falling in points as far north as Hopkinsville, Ky., and south as far as Birmingham, Ala., and Atlanta. This was the earliest snowfall on record in Nashville.

Frost in Texas.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—Freezing temperatures, the first of the season, prevailed over Missouri, Kansas and Northern Oklahoma early today and a light frost extended into Northern Texas. Ice formed all over Western Missouri. Snow fell in Eastern Missouri.

IS ASKED TO EXTEND WORK TO SOUTH AFRICA

COL. W. C. GORGAS.

New York, Oct. 20.—Col. W. C. Gorgas, chief sanitary officer of the Panama canal zone, arrived today on the steamship Ancon from Cristobal. He will sail shortly for South Africa, where he will investigate sanitary conditions among the 200,000 employes of the Consolidated mines at Witwaterzrand, at the request of the chamber of mines at Johannesburg.

CATHOLICS ADDRESSED BY PAPAL DELEGATE

Archbishop Quigley Also Speaks at Missionary Meeting.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20. — Cardinal O'Connell presided at the opening business session of the Catholic Missionary congress today. The speakers included Archbishop Bonzano, the papal delegate; Bishop Schrembs of Toledo, whose topic was "The Spirit of the Congress," and Archbishop Quigley of Chicago.

In his address Archbishop Quigley, who is chancellor of the Catholic Church Extension society, said that the object of this congress was "to take measures to enlighten as effectively as possible each other upon the mission work of the church at home and abroad."

He urged that Catholic churches of all grades, as well as the schools and the homes, "be made more and more the theaters for the dissemination of missionary information." He recommended the preparation of a mission textbook for this purpose, "to be issued in the various languages of our Catholic people," the formation of a supreme bureau, to have charge of the general work of spreading knowledge of Catholic missions was advocated by Archbishop Quigley.

FLEEING BRIDAL PAIR RELIEVE DYING MAN

Wisconsin Couple Avoid Friends and Discover Wounded Hunter.

La Crescent, Minn., Oct. 20.—Fleeing from the too boisterous attentions of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Ruud of Westby, Wis., the latter until an hour before Miss Cora Mitly, discovered a wounded man in the road near this village. He was picked up and taken into the car and died a few minutes later with his head on the lap of the bride. The victim, who was Arthur Umberger of La Crescent, aged 18, had made his way from the river to the road, fifty yards away, with a wound as large as an egg through his lungs. The police believe that Umberger accidentally shot himself in his hunting skiff.

SUFFRAGETTES IN ILLINOIS CAMPAIGN

Bull Moose Candidate for Bench Has Their Support.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 20.—A heavy vote is anticipated in only three counties in the Fifth judicial district in the special election today to fill the vacancy on the supreme court bench caused by the resignation of Judge John P. Hand of Cambridge, who resigned because of ill health. The keenest of interest is being manifested in Peoria and La Salle counties because of the recent invasion of the Cook county suffragists in the interest of Arthur H. Shay of Streator, the Progressive candidate for the position.

The woman suffrage act will come before the court at an early date on constitutional grounds, and the women are opposing the election of both Leslie D. Puterbaugh of Peoria, Republican, and Charles C. Craig of Galesburg, Democrat.

Progressives have been especially active and their vote is being watched closely for the effect it will have on succeeding elections in Illinois.

A circuit judge is also being elected in the district.

No Big Cases Decided.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Decisions in the supreme court today did not include the intermountain rate, or other important cases pending.

POLICEMAN'S SISTER SLAIN

Mrs. Amelia Will Murdered By Stranger in Milwaukee.

Chicago Police Believe Slayer May Be Leegson Murderer.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—The identity of a woman who was strangled late last night with her own silk scarf, and her face and head beaten to a jelly by blows from a piece of gaspipe supposed to have been wielded by a man giving his name as George Schultz, has been established as that of Mrs. Amelia Will, aged 52, a widow who lived in the rear of Thirty-fifth and Vliet streets. Mrs. Will was a sister of Police Lieut. William Maas.

The police, by Bertillon records, have identified Schultz, who confessed to having killed Mrs. Will, as Harry Dorrow of Milwaukee. Dorrow was a former prisoner at the Green Bay reformatory, where he served eighteen months for forgery.

Confessed the Crime.

The confessed murderer said he met the woman, whom he did not know, on Thirty-fourth street, a block from where her body was found, and when she refused to speak to him as he accosted her, he tore the scarf from her head, wrapped it twice around her neck, drew it tight and she was quiet before she could call for help. To make certain he beat her head with a club. He dragged the body into an alley to assault it, but was frightened away when the headlights of an automobile on its way to a garage flashed up the alley. He fled, and while the police were searching for a bareheaded man, made his way to the West side police station and surrendered.

Chicago Police Interested.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—When Capt. Halpin today learned of the strangling of a woman at Milwaukee last night by a man giving the name of George Schultz, he telegraphed for a description of the prisoner.

The similarity of the methods of the Milwaukee murder to those of the missing slayer of Miss Ida Leegson was what aroused the interest of the local chief of detectives. Miss Leegson, an art student, was strangled with a piece of fishline. Her watch was pawned the day after the murder by a copper-colored negro and the search thus fa. has been for a man of that description.

DOCTOR DIES DAY AFTER HIS WEDDING.

New York, Oct. 20.—Dr. Solomon Fishel, who introduced baby incubators in this country and has exhibited them extensively, died Sunday from the effects of acute indigestion. He had been married only Saturday to Miss Anna Winter of Brooklyn. He was born forty-two years ago.

ORGANS WERE "PERMEATED" WITH POISON

Toxicologist So Describes Condition of Admiral Eaton's Body.

More Than One Dose Was Given, Says Prof. Whitney.

Expert Testifies at Trial of Widow for Murder.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 20.—Prof. William F. Whitney of the Harvard medical school was called to the stand today in the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, to recount the result of his analysis of the organs removed from the body of Admiral Eaton.

District Attorney Katzmann had asserted that Prof. Whitney found fifteen grains of white arsenic in the admiral's stomach.

Prof. Whitney testified that the vital organs of the admiral's body were "permeated" with arsenic. He found a total of 16.67 grains of the poison.

Replying to a hypothetical question asked by District Attorney Barker at the suggestion of Judge Aiken, the witness said that his discoveries would indicate that the poison had been taken in more than one dose. The first dose was probably taken within a few hours of the time that suffering began.

Poisoned While Sick.

The hypothetical question supposed that the patient became ill on Thursday and died Saturday. The opinion of the witness was that the sick man had received poison six hours before he died.

The witness said that a large quantity of the poison received by the admiral had been thrown off. The body probably had rid itself of several times the amount that had been retained. The poison must have been taken through the mouth, either pure or in some fluid in order to have reached the stomach in the form found.

LIONS CAUSE PANIC IN LEIPSIC STREETS

Escape From Cage and One Wanders Through Hotel.

Leipsic, Germany, Oct. 20.—Five lions belonging to an American circus obtained their freedom in the streets of Leipsic today owing to a collision between a street car and their cage while it was on the way to the railroad station after a performance. The cage was torn open by the shock, and the appearance of the wild animals in the center of the city created a panic among the thousands here to attend the celebration of the centennial of the "Battle of Nations."

One of the lions entered a hotel, rushed upstairs and proceeded along the corridors, driving the visitors before it into their rooms. It was some time before policemen arrived and shot the animal.

The other four also were shot and killed in various parts of the city. Nobody was attacked by the lions.

WILSON IS CONFIDENT

Predicts Passage of Currency Bill at Present Session.

President Writes Letter to Representative Underwood.

Washington, Oct. 20.—President Wilson wrote Representative Underwood today, expressing the opinion that the currency bill would be reported to the senate not later than the first week in November, and passed after two or three weeks' debate.

"I have had conferences with members of the senate committee on banking and currency, both Democrats and Republicans," wrote the president. "As a result of those conferences I feel confident that a report on the bill may be expected not later than the first week in November.

"Most of the members of the committee with whom I have conferred have shown themselves keenly aware of the disadvantage to the country of any unnecessary delay. I believe that the action of the senate upon the bill will follow within two or at the most three weeks after the report is made.

Does Not Expect Delay.

"I do not believe that there will be any attempt to delay its passage by dilatory tactics. Senators on both sides realize that the business of the country awaits this legislation, impatient of being kept in suspense, and display a most public-spirited desire to dispose of it promptly.

"The passage of the bill is assured.

"In these circumstances, I should like to confer with you, as you so kindly suggested, as to the action the house should take while awaiting the results."

The president does not believe an adjournment is possible, but thinks some agreement might be reached with the minority in the house for a brief recess. The president is fully confident of considerable non-partisan support for the bill, and told callers today he did not expect any change affecting any fundamental part of the bill, but rather had found an unexpected agreement on the fundamentals.

"Too Optimistic."

The president's letter was freely circulated in congress and renewed active discussion of recess prospects. Senator Weeks, Republican, of the banking committee, observed that the letter disclosed more optimism than the facts warranted."

WILSONS RECEIVE WOMEN AND PRINCE.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The president and Mrs. Wilson today held their first public reception since last spring. They received 500 delegates of the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church. Immediately afterward, at the request of the state department, the prince of Monaco was received.

SULZER SLOW TO MAKE RACE

Hesitates About Accepting Nomination to the Legislature.

Governor Glynn Takes Possession of Executive Offices.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 20.—While truckmen wheeled boxes and packages out of the executive mansion today, William Sulzer and several of his political advisers sat around on linen-covered furniture and discussed the advisability of his running for assemblyman from the Sixth New York district.

Many assured him that there was no doubt of his election, but for some reason the former governor refused to agree positively to make the race. He pleaded for time to think the matter over, and finally agreed to remain here until tomorrow morning. He may make a decision tonight.

Several trucks lined up in front of the executive mansion this morning and received the Sulzer personal belongings. In the executive chamber the last of the personal letter files, books and papers of the former governor were boxed up this morning and sent to New York.

Glynn in Charge.

Governor Glynn arrived in Albany this morning from his home in Cedar Hill, to make his first appearance in the executive chamber as the governor of the state. No important appointments were expected from Governor Glynn before Wednesday.

The legislature will reconvene Wednesday night. Governor Glynn is preparing his first message, as governor, to that body. His recommendations are not expected to reflect a radical change in policy, but will be in the nature of preparation for the winding up of a prolonged and disturbed legislative session.

OTTUMWA FIRE LOSS IS NEARLY $500,000

Third Disastrous Blaze in Three Years Occurs There.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Oct. 20.—The third disastrous fire in three years swept the business district here last evening, causing a loss of $415,000. A half a city block, containing two hardware stores, two furniture stores, the Ottumwa Gas company's building and a flour and feed store was destroyed by the flames.

The fire started in the Ottumwa hardware store building and soon spread to the stock of powder and ammunition, which scattered the blaze in every direction.

Ellis Island Board's Order of Deportation Is Reversed.

Secretary Wilson Makes Announcement After Seeing President.

Hearing Is First Held By Immigration Commissioner.

New York, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst left Ellis Island and came to New York shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon. A motor of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, suffrage leader, met her at the pier and she was driven to Mrs. Belmont's home.

The management of Madison Square garden announced that in deference to Mrs. Pankhurst's desire to get a good rest, the mass meeting she was to have addressed tonight had been postponed till Wednesday night.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant British suffragist, is free to enter the United States.

The Ellis Island board's order of deportation was reversed today after President Wilson had conferred on the case with Secretary Wilson and a hearing had been concluded before Immagration Commissioner Caminetti.

Secretary Wilson announced at the conclusion of his conference with the president that Mrs. Pankhurst would be admitted upon her own recognizance, with the understanding that she would depart at the end of her lecture engagements. No bond was exacted.

Secretary Wilson declared that he and the president had discussed the question briefly.

Up to Her Own Recognizance.

"We agreed," he said, "that Mrs. Pankhurst should be admitted on her own recognizance. My own reason is, and the president feels likewise, that there is naturally an element of doubt as to whether her acts constituted moral turpitude or were political in character.

"Being admitted on her own recognizance, of course, if she violates any of our laws, we have two remedies. Our courts may pass on her acts or we may deport her. There being the element of doubt as to whether moral turpitude or political offense was involved, we decided that we have sufficient

FLEMING NAMED AS POSTMASTER

Appointed By President to Virginia Office—Atkinson at Crosby.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The fight over the postmastership at Virginia, Minn., was settled today, when President Wilson sent to the senate the appointment of James H. Fleming. It has been expected for some time past that Mr. Fleming would be named, but strong efforts were made by friends of John W. Murphy, Democratic candidate for sheriff, to land the office for him. A petition was also forwarded to Washington, asking for the retention of Mrs. James, who has been postmistress since the death of her husband, the former postmaster, several years ago.

The president also sent to the senate today the nomination of Marc Atkinson to be postmaster at Crosby, Minn., and of A. H. Adams to be postmaster at Jasper, Minn. Atkinson is editor of the Crosby Crucible.

COPPER STRIKERS PARADE IN BLIZZARD

Trouble Feared at Mohawk Keeps Guards Out in Storm.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mounted troops at the Mohawk mine in the copper mine district, made up of Lansing artillerymen, patrolled that vicinity all last night because of the presence of prowlers about the property. A blizzard prevailed and the soldiers suffered considerably from the cold.

Trouble was anticipated because of the resumption of pumping at two shafts of that mine and the bringing in of more Ascher mine guards, but it did not materialize. Late last night the town filled up with strikers, and to prevent trouble fifty artillerymen rode patrol all night.

Although a bitter snow storm and high wind raged this morning and the ground was snow-covered, the strikers paraded and there were the usual picket activities at the Wolverine, Allouez and Centennial today. The storm has attained the dimensions of a blizzard.

CARRY OVER INSURANCE

City May Adopt Plan of Putting Premiuns in Special Fund.

Now Paying About $2,300 Annually to Fire Insurance Companies.

Duluth may be carrying its own insurance risks within a comparatively short time.

The officials are delving into the insurance situation with a view to adopting such a plan. They state that it seems entire feasible and practicable.

Mayor Prince and City Attorney Harvey S. Clapp have gone over the subject several times and the others to whom they have mentioned it have received the proposal favorably.

The insurance question arose when the new state liability law became effective. Mayor Prince states that the city has elected to come within the provisions of the statute. The insurance rates have not been furnished as yet but it is not believed that the cost will be materially different from what it has has been heretofore. Should the city determine to carry its own insurance or desire to continue as it has done in the past, the attorney states that it can be done without difficulty.

The city carries approximately $250,000 of insurance upon its various buildings, costing about $2,300 per year in premiums. In addition to this there is the liability insurance, estimated to cost $2,000 a year and a number of other risks which increase the expense. Most of them are considered good risks. They include the fire stations, the city hall, police headquarters, the library buildings, the pumping stations and buildings of the water and light department, the city hospital, the armory and the contents of some of these buildings.

The plan proposed is to establish a fund from the money now paid in premiums. Should no losses be sustained this would amount to $40,000 to $50,000 in ten years, and would steadily increase. The fire and liability losses of the city have been comparatively small and assuming an even break in luck the city officials believe that such a move would be a good business move for the municipality. Eventually it would sustain itself as its interest earnings would equal the amount paid in premiums. Or as it grew larger the premium payments could be cut down proportionately.

JOSEPH STRAFACCIA'S FATE RESTS WITH JURY

Prisoner on Trial for Murder Says He Feared Rossi.

Claims Victim Once Secured $5 From Him on Black Hand Threats.

The fate of Joseph Strafaccia, who, on the night of March 2, shot and mortally wounded Frank Rossi after a quarrel over a card game at the Strafaccia home, Eleventh avenue west, now rests with a district court jury. The murder case was given to the jury at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by Judge Bert Fesler.

Strafaccia's plea for freedom has been self-defense. On the witness stand he swore that he believed that unless he had shot Rossi down, he himself would have had a knife plunged through him. He declares that Rossi was a quarrelsome and bad man. In closing his defense this morning, Strafaccia took the stand and related how he had on one occasion been frightened into giving Rossi $5 when the latter told him that he was a member of the Black Hand.

Warren E. Greene, county attorney, who has been directing the prosecution of Strafaccia, saved one of his cards for his address to the jury when he showed the jurymen the knife Rossi is said by Strafaccia and his wife to have had when he attempted to commit a murderous assault upon the defendant.

Blood on Knife.

The knife, according to the county attorney, bore traces of blood on the dull edge of the open blade and a finger print which also appeared in a corresponding position on the handle if the knife had been closed. The county attorney deducted from this that the knife had not been opened until after Rossi had been shot down. He contended that someone with blood on his fingers had opened the knife.

Prosecutor Greene also commented upon the fact that the evidence in the case showed that although Strafaccia had told two other members of the Italian colony that he had killed Rossi in both instances he had never mentioned "self defense" until after he had been arrested at Fort William where he was working under the name of the man whom he had killed.

In two other murder cases in St. Louis county, the fugitives wanted for the crime have at some time used the names of the murdered men as their own. One was William Schreiber, who was convicted for the murder of Frank Massopust on Feb. 1, 1909 and the other was Frank McLusky, a fugitive since the murder of Asa Shepard on Feb. 22, 1912, who used Shepard's name to secure money on a forged mortgage note. Schreiber also used the name of his victim for a similar purpose. What the purpose of Strafaccia was in taking the name of the man he killed has never been disclosed.

SLEIGH ON STREET; SIGN OF WINTER

Winter is coming.

Of all the signs, one of the most significant was a big sleigh being hauled down Superior street this morning. It was the property of the Gowanning-Brown company. The team was hitched directly to the sleigh, and but for the absence of the fleecy white, the sight was typical of midwinter. Although the sledding was poor, the big team had no trouble in walking right ahead with the load.

ARRAIGN PAROLED BOY.

Walter Wagner, Who Tampered With Auto, Faces Larceny Charge.

Walter F. Wagner, 18 years old, will be arraigned in municipal court this afternoon on a charge of having stolen three boxes of cigars from a delivery wagon of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company on Saturday afternoon.

Young Wagner was arrested Saturday evening by Officer Noren, and a charge of larceny was placed against the boy. He was placed on parole but a month ago, after he was convicted of tamperink with an automobile on West Fourth street.

Forfeits Bail.
Thomas Jorgenson forfeited $15 bail in police court this morning when he failed to appear in answer to a charge of disorderly conduct. Jorgenson was arrested by Special Officer Walling late Saturday evening.

Mrs. C. F. Sheldon Dead.
Word has been received of the death in Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday of Mrs. C. F. Sheldon, a former resident of Duluth. The body will arrive here tomorrow in charge of Mr. Sheldon for interment. While it is not known definitely when the funeral will take place it is expected that it will be tomorrow. She leaves, besides her husband, two children. Mr. Sheldon is a brother of A. M. Sheldon of Minneapolis. He was formerly in the timber business and he and his late wife were well known here. She was prominent as a musician up to the time that the family left here two or three years ago.

She will be assisted by Prof. Marx E. Obendorfer of Chicago. The recital has been looked forward to by many of Duluth's music lovers and already a large attendance is assured.

D. J. Bryan Transfers Allegiance.
Daniel J. Bryan has transferred his services from the United States & Dominion Advertising agency to the Alliance Real Estate company. He will have charge of the advertising of the latter company and will soon start the first of a series of extensive advertising campaigns. Mr. Bryan has had years of experience in the advertising business and is considered exceptionally well fitted for the work he has undertaken.

Starts Important Campaign.
The public affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club has started a somewhat remarkable campaign. It has had a number of electrotypes with the words "Duluth, Great Port of the Northwest" neatly arranged, and is offering to lend them to everybody who will agree to have them used on envelopes or letterheads or both. The idea is to impress upon everybody to whom anybody in Duluth writes that this is the gateway of the Northwest, on the principle that once their attenion is attracted, Duluth has enough to hold it. Every business house in the city is being asked to help.

SURPRISE SPRUNG IN BEILISS' TRIAL

Prosecution Seeks to Counteract Evidence for the Defense.

Kiev, Oct. 20. — A surprise was sprung by the prosecution today during the trial of Mendel Beiliss for the murder of the Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March, 1911.

Documents were produced from the police department to counteract the evidence for the defense that the men Landau and Ettinger, who had been said to be implicated in the crime, were merely harmless visitors to Kiev and quite unconnected with the murder.

The books of the department show that Landau and Ettinger were common names, and that on several occasions Austrian and Russian subjects with these names crossed the frontier in 1910 and 1911. These persons, it was shown, included Israel Landau, who crossed the frontier in October, 1910, and recrossed on March 23, 1911, a few days after the recovery of the murder.

According to the police, Israel Landau was in Kiev on March 24.

Admitted Documents.

The witness, Landau, testified that his father, Israel Landau, died in 1903 at Kiev and was buried in the Jewish cemetery. He also swore that he did not know of any Israel Landau or any other Landaus outside his family.

The court admitted the documents, but on the demand of the defense ordered the prosecution to produce details regarding Israel Landau by Wednesday.

Counsel for the defense remarked satirically that the appearance of Israel Landau was "desirable, as it was interesting to see at least one member of the sect which utilize Christian blood."

NEW SCHOOL FOR SUBURBS

Board Likely to Take Matter Up at the Next Meeting.

The school board will hold a regular meeting a week from Friday evening, and while nothing of more than routine importance is on the list so far, there is a possibility that the matter of a school for the Gary district will be taken up and settled.

The committee on schools, it is understood, has about decided on where the school is to be located, for, it is admitted, there must be provision made for the housing of school children in that district before very long.

While nothing is said as to the actual property in mind, it has been about decided on. It is also about decided that a building of about ten to twelve rooms will have to be erected; but it is believed also that such a building will do for only about a year or a little over, for with the influx of population to that end of the city, that another school building will be necessary is looked upon as a foregone conclusion.

BAPTISTS WILL CALL IOWA MAN

Rev. J. Frederick Catlin of Ames Finds Favor With Congregation.

At a meeting of the congregation of the West Duluth Baptist church, Fifty-ninth and Grand avenues to be held Thursday evening, it is probable that a call will be extended to Rev. J. Frederick Catlin of Ames, Iowa. Such was the intimation given out last night, following the sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Catlin, by members of the flock.

When asked if he would accept a call to the church, Rev. Mr. Catlin intimated that he would be pleased to come to the Head of the Lakes. He preached at both services yesterday and also spoke at the young people's meeting in the afternoon.

Rev. Mr. Catlin is a graduate of the Central Baptist college of Pella, Iowa, and of the Baptist divinity school of Chicago. He is married and has two young children. He left last night for Waterloo, Iowa, where he will attend the annual Baptist state convention.

THIEF QUEST IS FINISHED

Two Youths Arrested and Their Shack Raided—Loot Recovered.

With the arrest of Ewald Krager, 17 years old, and his brother, Delos Krager, 22 years old, and the raiding of their shack on Bay View Heights by the police, the mystery surrounding numerous thefts that have taken place during the past two months has apparently been cleared up, according to a statement made this morning by Lieut. Charles Wilcox. The police station at West Duluth has assumed the appearance of a junk shop after receiving all the stuff recovered from the shack.

Among the stuff found were ten horse blankets, two ordinary blankets, a kit of carpenter's tools, a kodak, four dinner buckets, seven coats, among which are included two or three mackinaws, and numerous other articles. A note book telling of the selling of some of the stuff was also found.

Ewald Krager is said to have told the police that his brother had been the one that stole nine dinner pails from workmen employed at the stone crusher plant recently and that he had also taken the three coats missed by the men. A charge of petit larceny was entered against Ewald.

Delos Krager has been in St. Luke's hospital for a short time, suffering from a gunshot wound which took off three of his fingers. He was formally placed under arrest at the hospital yesterday.

The boys came here about two months ago from Toledo and have been living in the shack on the hillside. They formerly resided in West Duluth but moved about five years ago to the East. When arraigned in police court this morning they were bound over to the grand jury and charges of burglary in the third degree as well as larceny were placed against them.

LIKES PARCEL POST RESULTS

"The parcel post cannot expand in its business too rapidly to suit us," said Frank H. Wade this morning. "Here is the result of the parcel post as compared with the express companies," he said, as he pointed to two iron castings for a stove, one of which had been received from Fargo through the postoffice department and the other from Chicago via express.

The former package was still intact with the wrapper on it, while the latter was barely hanging together. "It took just two days to get this package from Fargo. The other package has been on the way for a week," said Mr. Wade.

"Some time ago I ordered these same parts from Chicago to be shipped by freight. They arrived three weeks after I ordered them, but were a pulverized mass of junk. The government cannot own both express and railroad service too soon to suit me. It is what this country will have to come to in order to give the people the service they want."

SACRED CONCERT TO OPEN REVIVALS

A sacred concert to be given tomorrow evening at the Third Swedish Baptist church, Fifty-ninth avenue west and Ramsey street, will open a week's series of revival meetings to be conducted in the church. Miss Ruth Freberg, of Menominee, Mich., a well-known Swedish soloist, will sing a number of selections tomorrow evening.

Rev. August Dahlquist and his son, Alfred Dahlquist, of Rockford, Ill., who have become well known throughout the country as "The Singing Evangelists," will have charge of the services. They will sing tomorrow night and will also have charge of the services for the other evenings of the week.

Reception.

The elders and trustees and their wives of the Westminster Presbyterian church will entertain Tuesday evening at a reception for the members of the congregation and their friends. An informal program will be given, consisting of music, singing and speaking. Refreshments will also be served.

McLeod-Ross.

Miss Viola McLeod and James William Ross were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Cleve, 612 North Fifty-seventh avenue west. Rev. W. L. Staub, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, read the service. Following the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served by Mrs. Cleve and Saturday evening a reception and supper was served for the couple in the Odd Fellows hall at Proctor. Mr. and Mrs. Ross will reside at Proctor, where Mr. Ross is employed by the D., M. & N.

Miss Velie Entertains.

Miss Glenace Velie, 313 South Fifty-eighth avenue west, entertained Saturday evening for a number of her friends. Games and music formed the entertainment.

The guests were: Misses May Jackson, Gladys Nickelson, Lillian Seymore, Pauline Campbell, Edith Jackson, Helen Sugars, Mayme O'Brien, Gertrude Matts, Ragna Halsted, Kathgrine Anderson, Olga Glent, Eunice Dahl, E. ESTATE WAS SMALL ONE

Final accounting was allowed in probate court this morning in the estate of Asa Shepard, the aged veteran of the Civil war who was brutally murdered on Feb. 22, 1912, at his home near Kelsey. Frank McLusky, wanted for the crime, is still at large despite the efforts of the sheriff to capture him.

Shepard left but a small estate. McLusky, it is claimed, after killing the old soldier with an ax, took his pension papers and other effects and assuming the name of the man he had killed, secured $300 on a mortgage on a small farm near Kelsey from W. S. Webb, a Superior real estate dealer.

Mr. Webb, after learning of the murder and deception, stood the loss himself and delivered to the representatives of the estate a satisfaction of the mortgage. After all expenses had been paid, the estate comprises about $800.

The aged veteran's heirs consist of four sons and one daughter. The latter is the only one who is a resident of this state. She is Mrs. Cora L. Yoakum, a resident of Kelsey. Shepard was 76 years old.

* * *

The will of Kathryn O. Wright, wife of Thomas H. C. Wright, whose death occurred a few weeks ago in this city, was admitted to probate court this morning and A. O. Anderson, a brother-in-law of the deceased, was appointed as executor. Mrs. Wright left personal property to the value of about $700 and a farm in Wisconsin. She bequeaths a life interest in the Wisconsin farm to her mother, Mrs. Soren Olesen, with the provision that after her death it shall revert to her five sisters.

* * *

The estate of Anna M. Kemp of this city was closed this morning when Judge Gilpin allowed the final account. The court appointed Frank Crassweller trustee of the funds of the estate amounting to about $8,000. The heirs are two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Storch of Grand Rapids and Olive J. Gilbert of Duluth.

* * *

Final account was also allowed by Judge Gilpin in the estate of Mrs. Edna B. Getchell, mother of W. B. Getchell of West Duluth, who died a few months ago leaving an estate of about $6,000 to be divided between three sons, one daughter and two grandchildren.

* * *

Administrators were appointed in two estates by the court. John Dahl was named to manage the affairs of the estate of his wife, Caroline Dahl of West Duluth, who died leaving property worth $1,500 and the widow of John J. Joyce was selected as administratrix of his estate. Joyce was a resident of Cook, who died leaving but a small amount of property.

TWO EXPERTS BEGIN WORK

Dr. B. M. Rastall, former head of the industrial bureau of the Commercial club, who is to make a brief efficiency survey of the city departments, and W. B. Rittenhouse, who is to make a valuation of the physical properties of the Duluth-Edison Electric company, started their preliminary preparations this morning.

Dr. Rastall was at the city hall this morning, conferring with the various commissioners. Mr. Rittenhouse was at the office of the water and light department, going over the blue prints and data relative to the lighting plant now in the hands of the officials. Dr. Rastall will be provided office room in the attorney's office in the municipal building and Mr. Rittenhouse and his assistants will be quartered in rooms Nos. 318 and 319, Providence building.

Dr. Rastall said this morning that the survey, which can be made in a month, must necessarily be more or less of a general nature, as in that time it would be impossible to delve into the intimate details of the various departments. When his report is completed it is likely that it will contain a series of recommendations which will increase the efficiency of the various branches of the local administration. He will probably point out how economies can be effected by dovetailing the work, eliminating useless employes and preventing waste. In this connection he will investigate the accounting systems and run through the numerous city ordinances, as well as observe the methods of the different departments.

Mr. Rittenhouse will make an appraisal of the Duluth-Edison plant to determine its physical value. Charles L. Pillsbury will act as consulting expert and it is expected that he will be here tomorrow to assist in outlining the procedure which will be followed. When the figures have been completed he will be asked to check them. They will then be used as the basis of negotiations looking towards the acquisition of the plant by the city.

STAR WITNESS LEAVES CITY

Arrested and Brought Back on Charge of Taking Bribe.

John Fauhl, 17 years old, the state's main witness in the case against Daniel Buchanan, manager of the Buchanan & Hogan saloon at 119 East Superior street, who is to be placed on trial next Friday morning on a charge of selling liquor to a minor, was arrested in Milwaukee this morning, after having suddenly disappeared from Duluth last Wednesday evening. The boy is accused of having accepted a bribe to get out of the city and thus destroy the state's case against Buchanan.

Young Fauhl, Chief Troyer declares, was frightened into leaving the city. The boy was told that he would be placed under arrest, that he would be sent to jail, unless he left town, the head of the police department declares. Chief Troyer also stated this morning that he has information to the effect that young Fauhl was given $50 to leave the city, so that he would not appear as the main witness in the trial.

In a telegram received by Chief Troyer this morning from Chief of Police John T. Janssen of Milwaukee, the latter states that Fauhl is in custody and is being held for further instructions. Chief Troyer wired that an officer will be sent to Milwaukee this evening to bring Fauhl back to Duluth.

The arrest of Fauhl was brought about by the active work of Chief Troyer and Claude Greeman, who has been caring for the young man and who roomed with Fauhl on West Third street ever since the latter came here about two years ago. Chief Troyer learned through Greeman that Fauhl left for Milwaukee and the head of the police department immediately wired a description of the boy to the authorities of the Wisconsin city and asked for his immediate apprehension. Young Fauhl will be arraigned in police court Wednesday morning, it is believed.

Buchanan was arrested Tuesday morning by Sergt. Roberg on a charge of having sold liquor to young Fauhl, who is but 17 years old, a week ago Saturday afternoon. Buchanan pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned immediately after the arrest and his trial was set for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. He was allowed to leave on payment of $100 bail.

On the following evening young Fauhl suddenly disappeared.

When Buchanan's case came to trial Friday afternoon, Chief Troyer had it postponed until next Friday morning, hoping that he would have the boy in custody by that time.

Young Fauhl had been employed as an usher at the Orpheum theater up to last week and was working at the Lyric theater until his disappearance last Wednesday. His guardian, Greeman, was with the boy last Saturday afternoon when the latter said he was going into the Buchanan saloon to get a cigar. When the boy failed to come out after a few minutes, Greeman went into the saloon and saw the boy drinking. He then went over to police headquarters and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Buchanan.

Fauhl's mother lives at Ironwood, Mich., where the boy lived before coming to Duluth.

BURGLARS SCARED AWAY

Burglars were frustrated in their attempt to enter the residence of A. Fitger, 629 East First street, late Saturday evening.

Mr. Fitger and members of the family left Saturday afternoon to spend the week-end in the country and had left the house in the care of a watchman. About midnight the watchman heard a noise at the side of the house, but when he went out, failed to see any one.

Yesterday morning the watchman discovered that some one had attempted to pry open the large bay window at the side of the house. One of the small panes had been cut, apparently by a diamond and an attempt had been made to take it out. It is believed that the burglars were frightened away when the watchman started to investigate.

Mr. Fitger said this morning that a watchman always takes care of the house when the family is away.

VAN BAALEN DIES OF WOUNDS IN HOSPITAL

Woman, Who Fired Fatal Shot, Held for Murder in in San Francisco.

Duluth Elks Will Conduct Funeral Here; Mother Unconscious.

Joseph D. Van Baalen, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Van Baalen, 524 Third street east, died yesterday afternoon at the Central Emergency hospital, San Francisco, from bullet wounds inflicted by Mrs. Leah Alexander, who is now being held by the authorities of that city on a charge of murder.

Mrs. Van Baalen, mother of the deceased, became unconscious when she heard the news of the shooting Saturday night. An effort was made to keep the news from her, but she answered the telephone and a telegram regarding the shooting was read to her. She has been ill for some time and the news that her son was fatally shot was a terrible shock to her. She immediately became hysterical and then lost consciousness. It was reported today that she had not yet regained consciousness. Mr. Van Baalen, the father, also was reported ill, and he has given up all business activities for a few days.

Relatives Arrive.

Mrs. Edward Yorkey and Miss Van Baalen of Chicago, sisters of D. J. Van Baalen, arrived in the city last night and will remain here until after the funeral.

The body of Van Baalen has been taken in charge by the Elks lodge of San Francisco and is to be sent to Duluth for interment. The local lodge of Elks yesterday arranged with the San Francisco lodge for the sending of the body and for the funeral here upon its arrival. The body is expected to arrive here Thursday. None of the murdered man's relatives here will go to the coast.

Wife Is Ill.

Mrs. Van Baalen, wife of the murdered man, who is visiting her husband's parents here, was yesterday informed of the tragedy. She is in a very weak condition, according to Charles Freimuth, brother-in-law of Van Baalen. D. J. Van Baalen had been at International Falls last week and was informed there of the shooting of his son. He arrived in Duluth yesterday morning upon receipt of the news.

A dispatch received by The Herald this morning from San Francisco states that Van Baalen had been followed to the California city by the Alexander woman from Cuba and after an argument she shot him in front of his office in the Chronicle building, where Van Baalen was employed as a special advertising manager. He was just about to issue a special $30,000 edition, the dispatch states.

In an interview with the Alexander woman, the dispatch states, she admits having shot Van Baalen because he told her he was "through with her."

Revenge Cause of Tragedy.

The dispatch follows:

"Followed from Cuba to San Francisco by a woman determined upon vengeance, J. D. Van Baalen, son of a Duluthian, whose wife is now visiting in Duluth, was shot down and fatally wounded at the door of his office in the Chronicle building shortly after noon Saturday. He died of his wounds yesterday at the Emergency hospital.

"The woman, who gives the name of Mrs. Leah Alexander, issued a statement in which she says Van Baalen deceived her. Van Baalen was a special advertising manager for the San Francisco Chronicle and was about to issue a $30,000 edition.

"The shooting caused a sensation. Hundreds of stenographers and clerks leaving their offices witnessed the shooting.

"Mrs. Alexander's statement follows: 'Three years ago I met Mr. Van Baalen in Golden Gate park. He was taking a pleasure ride with his wife in an automobile. I was taking a little stroll in the park. For the last year he has visited me almost daily in my rooms at the Landseer apartments at Bush and Mason streets. About six months ago I made a trip to Cuba with him. On that occasion he promised to marry me after he secured a divorce from his wife. On our return from Cuba his affections toward me grew lax.

Affections Grew Lax.

"'This caused me great mental anguish. He ceased his frequent visits and came only at intervals very far apart.

"'Saturday I meant to have an understanding with him. I purchased the revolver in a little store in Market street below the Palace hotel. I called at his office and asked him what he meant by taking a woman home at night after I had requested him to take me home and he had refused my request. He said that he didn't have to explain anything like that to me and remarked finally: "I am through with you." I was nearly beside myself with anger but asked him in as smooth terms as I could command to get me a drink of water. He made some slighting remark and started to pass out of the room. I then pulled out the revolver and aimed blindly. I shot; I don't know how many times I shot.'" safeguards and that there can be no harm in admitting her."

MRS. PANKHURST WILL BE ALLOWED TO MAKE TOUR OF THE COUNTRY

The decision by the president and Secretary Wilson was communicated to Commissioner General Caminetti, who issued the formal order of release.

Question of Policy.

President Wilson felt that the law had a flexible interpretation, so that it was largely a question of policy. Commissioner Caminetti's decision was in strict accordance with the views of President Wilson and the secretary of labor. Mr. Caminetti filed a brief memorandum, allowing Mrs. Pankhurst's admission on her own recognizance and announced that he would later file his reasons in writing.

There was no demonstration at the immigration bureau when the decision was announced. The audience of women which had sat through the hearing had departed. Mrs. Pankhurst's lawyers received the verdict with broad smiles and announced they would leave at once for New York.

At headquarters of the National Woman's Suffrage association the news was received joyously, but all the officers said they had expected nothing else.

Pinned Hope on Wilson.

President Wilson's interest in the case was viewed with the greatest satisfaction at headquarters of the National Woman Suffrage association, and by the suffrage supporters in congress.

A White House conference with Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, and Commissioner Caminetti was on the program as part of the day's proceedings. While the president of the United States has no specific authority to decide immigration cases by law, it was pointed out that in such a case as Mrs. Pankhurst's, involving to an extent a question of national policy, immigration officials would not take the responsibility of making a final decision without consulting the president.

Attorneys for Mrs. Pankhurst resumed their argument before Commissioner Caminetti where they left off yesterday.

Today's hearing was more colorful than yesterday's, which was informal. Acting Secretary Post and Chief Parker of the law division, sat with Commissioner Caminetti, and the array of attorneys was drawn up in a battery at a line of tables. There was a crush for admission to the small chamber and it was quickly filled with women who did not reveal their sympathies.

Denied Moral Turpitude.

Herbert Reeves, attorney for the British leader, first presented a long brief, reviewing first the facts, and then contended that the acts of which Mrs. Pankhurst had been convicted in England were purely political offenses and did not involve moral turpitude, the real question at issue. His argument was long and technical and cited portions of decisions in many immigration cases, and some of the works of John Bassett Moore, now acting secretary of state and an authority on international law.

He quoted Mrs. Pankhurst's testimony before the immigration inspectors at Ellis Island, and concluded:

"From that testimony, it is respectfully submitted that at the time of the commission of the acts complained of there was an uprising or revolt on the part of the women in England, that this uprising or revolt was of a political nature, and that any crimes committed by Mrs. Pankhurst, if any were committed by her, were crimes purely of a political nature and not such as to involve moral turpitude.

"The mere delivery of lectures or speeches urging women to strive for what she believed to be their legal and political rights is certainly an act intended to forward and help a political cause, and such act, therefore, must be deemed, if an offense at all, a political offense. Nor can it be claimed or successfully maintained that the mere urging of her hearers to destroy property, if necessary to bring about the desired result, is an act involving moral turpitude."

Would Have Asked Bond.

At the end of his argument, Mr. Reeves announced that in the event of a decision against Mrs. Pankhurst, which, he said parenthetically, he did not expect, he would ask Commissioner Caminetti to admit her under bond to fill her lecture engagements. He declared Mrs. Pankhurst had engaged passage back to England on the steamer Majestic, sailing from New York Nov. 27, and cited that as an evidence that Mrs. Pankhurst did not intend to remain in the United States. He declared if admitted under bond she would commit no act here obnoxious to the laws of the United States.

Frank S. O'Neil, another attorney, then took up the argument for the suffragist's admission.

Will Be Good.

Attorney O'Neil referred to Mrs. Pankhurst's pledge that she would conduct herself in a lawful manner while in this country. "She has made that pledge to the American people and she will keep it," declared the lawyer with eloquence. "In every shop and factory in this land today women's heads are bowed in mute appeal to this department for the liberty of this distinguished woman."

Commissioner Caminetti asked if Mrs. Pankhurst intended to preach militancy here. "Emphatically no," responded O'Neil. "We have her assurances on that point, and we state them to you as strongly as possible."

Commissioner Caminetti announced that he would not take into consideration the suffragist's lecture contracts, nor would he consider argument pertaining to the recent case of Marie Lloyd, the English musical hall singer.

London Clippings Excluded.

Copies of clippings from London newspapers on the activities and arrests of Mrs. Pankhurst were excluded from the record, and the hearing was closed with Commissioner Caminetti's announcement that he would give an opinion later today.

While the hearing was in progress, President Wilson referred to the case in talking with the White House correspondents. He indicated that the question was more one of public policy than academic law, but gave no indication of what the outcome might be.

Secretary Wilson of the department of labor went into conference with President Wilson immediately after the close of the hearing in Commissioner Caminetti's office.

Had Ellis Island Record.

Before the hearing began, the commissioner received by special delivery the official record of the proceedings before the board of special inquiry at New York. The contents of the record had been unknown, as under the law the proceedings at Ellis island were secret.

To what she termed "this star chamber proceeding," Mrs. Pankhurst had objected. She also protested because she was not allowed to be presented at the hearing by counsel, and to the consideration given by the special board of "a certain document" to which she was not given access.

In response to inquiries, the record showed Mrs. Pankhurst detailed in brief the history of her life, particularly with reference to her activities in the cause of woman suffrage. She admitted having been imprisoned five times for offenses against the laws, three for attempting to present petitions for woman suffrage to the king or authorities to the home office of Great Britain. The technical reasons for her arrest at these times, she explained, were interferences with the police.

Purpose of Her Visit.

"What is your purpose in coming to the United States?" Mrs. Pankhurst was asked, according to the records.

"To tell the true story of the women's right in England," she replied. "I come exactly as Parnell and Redmond and other revolutionary leaders have come—to get sympathy."

"Is it your purpose in this country to advocate the tactics that you have in England—violence and the destruction of property in order to accomplish your purposes?"

"I do not come to interfere with the business of American women, for it is their business to get the vote for themselves."

"Is it your purpose to advise them to accomplish their purpose, if necessary, by the destruction of property or life?"

"I have never advised the destruction of life. I do not intend to advise American women at all. I consider conditions totally different here from what they are in England."

At this point the record showed Mrs. Pankhurst was informed that the board felt it necessary to issue an order of deportation in her case.

"Exceedingly Sorry."

"I am exceedingly sorry," she exclaimed. "If you deny this to me, you would deny it to any of the great persons who have struggled for freedom. I have always looked to America as the home of freedom, and I regret exceedingly the destruction of that idea. I have been here on previous occasions and I have never abused the hospitality shown me, and I did not intend to abuse it this time."

Would Let Her Starve.

New York, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette held at Ellis Island pending decision at Washington in the matter of her deportation, ate a hearty breakfast this morning, according to attendants, and bided her time as best she could until she should learn whether she was to be allowed to make her lecture tour in this country. An official of the French line, owners of the steamship La Provence, on which Mrs. Pankhurst will be deported in case her appeal is denied, was quoted today as saying, anent Mrs. Pankhurst's threat to go on a hunger strike if she were sent back:

"If Mrs. Pankhurst will not partake of the food provided for her and the other passengers she may do as she pleases. If the English lady prefers to die, it is her affair."

Suffragists Called.

Yesterday a party of American suffragists called upon Mrs. Pankhurst. They were Mrs. Harriet Blatch, Mrs. John Rodgers, Jr., and Miss Alice Perkins. The militant leader was reclining upon her bed, propped up with pillows. Each of the visitors she kissed upon the cheek.

"I am a prisoner, don't forget that," she said by way of introduction.

"I have never submitted to unjust imprisonment in England," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "and I will not submit to it here. If the steamer La Provence carries me from New York next Thursday, as the result of an order issued by the immigration authorities in Washington, the steamer will carry me to my death. I feel that I cannot last long after six hunger strikes—not much more than twenty-four hours—if I enter upon a seventh. As a result of those hunger strikes, my stomach is in a weakened condition.

"I do not fully understand my detention. This moral turpitude clause is vague and difficult to understand, I suppose, however, that the meaning of it all will be made plain before long."

Had Cheering Telegrams.

The English woman read to her callers several telegrams she had received since her detention.

"They have cheered me some," she said, "because when I read them and re-read them, I realize that there are people in America who are looking at my case from the standpoint of a sympathizer."

One of the telegrams embraced a resolution by a women's organization in Chicago and was signed by Jane Addams and others. The resolution protested against the "flagrant violation of our law and established policy" in detaining Mrs. Pankhurst and asked that the decision of the immigration authorities be reconsidered and "this distinguished English woman be admitted."

Interrupted Church Service.

London, Oct. 20.—Suffragettes again interrupted the service Sunday at St. Paul's and also at St. Luke's, Kensington, where the bishop of London was preaching, by reciting a prayer for Mary Richardson and Annie Kenney, who are being forcibly fed.

After the women were ejected from St. Paul's, they attempted to hold a meeting on the steps of the cathedral, but police interfered. A scuffle ensued and two women were arrested, charged with resisting the police.

According to the official report of the militant organization, "fifteen American women also went to the cathedral in order to demonstrate their sympathy with their English sisters and to protest against the action of the authorities at New York in preventing Mrs. Pankhurst from landing." The report also says that the women were ejected with great violence.

Similar scenes occurred at the morning services at the Birmingham and Norwich cathedrals.

METHODIST WOMEN HOLD CELEBRATION.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here, dedicated with elaborate ceremonies Robinson hall, a $150,000 structure given by the society to be used as an adjunct to Sibley hospital. Bishops William A. Quayle of St. Paul, William Burt of Buffalo and Cranston of this city made addresses.

Speaking directly to the physicians present on the "Christian-like Touch," Bishop Qauyle said:

"Christ never wore gloves. He was too poor and too busy. You't cant heal with the gloved hand."

Claims Gigantic Fortune.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Bernice Jones of this city has received word that the British government has offered her mother, Mrs. Harriet Spencer of Portsmouth, Eng., $200,000,000 in compromise of the Spencer family claim of $400,000,000 for an estate of Admiral Spencer, held in chancery for over 100 years. Mrs. Spencer has ten children living in the United States and Canada.

East Has Discounted Tariff Bill, Says J. B. Cotton.

Currency Bill Big Question ---Northwest in Strong Position.

J. B. Cotton, who has just returned from a business trip to the East, says that the country is far from going to the dogs; in fact, that it is in a very sound financial condition. Mr. Cotton, during his stay in the East for the past few weeks, has had an opportunity to find out how the financial men of the money centers really feel about the new tariff bill and the proposed currency bill.

"As to the tariff bill," said Mr. Cotton to The Herald this morning, "it has been discounted for some time and there is no feeling of unrest in business circles over it."

Mr. Cotton says that the currency bill is the thing which must be settled amicably to keep an effect from being felt in financial circles.

"There are things in the proposed bill," said he, "which take in the best parts of the Aldrich bill; and again there are other things which find many objectors. I believe the bill as a whole tends to dissolve centralization, but whether that is good or bad is more than I would care to venture to say. Eastern financiers are much agitated, but most of them believe that the bill will be amended enough to take away any sting it may contain in its present form.

"There is some contraction in a few lines but I look upon this as a matter of readjustment.

"So far as the East looks upon this part of the country, it can safely be said that Duluth, in common with the Northwest in general, stands well in the East. The financial strength of this part of the country is unquestioned and is recognized. The bond market is easing up, which is a good thing for the development of the West and the Northwest, and I think finances in general are much improved."

THEATERS HAVE NO LICENSES

Seven Owners Will Be Ordered to Pay $50 Apiece.

Seven theaters are now operating in Duluth without licenses.

One has been running in violation of the ordinance nearly a year and the others for varying periods. Commissioner Hicken furnished the list to the police department this morning and each of the delinquents will be notified to renew their licenses immediately.

The license fee is $50 per year. As it is unlikely that any of them will fail to heed the request to pay up, the general fund will shortly be swelled $350.

WATSON ON TRIAL FOR MISUSING MAILS

Freedom of the Press Will Be Publisher's Defense.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 20.—Thomas E. Watson, lawyer, publicist and one-time presidential candidate of the "People's party," today was placed on trial in the United States district court here on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails. The specific charge against Watson is that he published in July, 1911, and April and May of 1912, certain alleged questions which he claimed were asked by Roman Catholic priests of persons in confessional, which questions, the indictment alleges, were obscene.

These questions appeared in a series of articles attacking the Roman Catholic church and especially the priesthood. It is the plan of the defense to conduct its fight upon the ground that the articles published in Watson's magazine were written by Watson as editor, and that his conviction on the charges as set out in the indictment would be in violation of the provisions for fredom of the press as guaranteed in the Constitution of the United States.

United States Attorney Akerman asserted that no church officials had been summoned to testify for the state, and it was said no witnesses would be introduced by the defense.

DAIRY FARMERS DISSATISFIED

Get 15 Cents a Gallon for Milk Sold at 14 Cents a Quart.

Hermantown dairy farms are complaining that they do not receive prices for their milk proportionate to the amount being charged dealers by consumers. It is contended that while milk is now being sold in Duluth at from 9 to fourteen cents a quart, farmers are being paid only 15 cents a gallon for their milk.

As the result of the present unfairness in the trade as they view it, the Farmers Produce Club of Hermantown will meet tonight at the Washington school to discuss the situation. It is expected that an organized effort will be made to secure higher prices from dealers.

It is contended by members of the club that the cost of producing milk has increased of late and that dairymen are now barely making a living at the prices now being paid them. It is said that farmers a few stations above Hermantown are receiving 2 cents a gallon more than is paid in Duluth, from milk dealers in the range towns.

Kaiser Regrets Death of Busch.

Berlin, Oct. 20.—Emperor William today instructed the German foreign office to convey through the German embassy at Washington his majesty's regrets at the death of the late Adolphus Busch of St. Louis, at whose funeral he will be represented.

Soda crackers are more nutritive than any other flour food. Uneeda Biscuit are the perfect soda crackers.

Though the cost is but five cents, Uneeda Biscuit are too good, too nourishing, too crisp, to be bought merely as an economy.

Buy them because of their freshness—because of their crispness—because of their goodness—because of their nourishment.

Always 5 cents. Always fresh, crisp and clean.

BLIZZARD ON LAKE SUPERIOR

Lake Has Heavy Snow and Wind---Ships Take Refuge.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A heavy snow and wind storm struck the Central Lake Superior region at 3 o'clock this morning, gathering velocity gradually until now a small blizzard is blowing, with the wind still increasing in force.

Marine reports are that but a few boats are out in the storm, most of the shipping on Superior being held in harbors of refuge.

Several of the larger freighters are taking the inner passage through the Keweenaw peninsula, by way of Portage lake and the United Ship canals here rather than make the dangerous circuit of Keweenaw point.

COAL-LADEN SHIP GOES ON ROCKS

Alpena, Mich., Oct. 20.—The steamer Norwalk, coal-laden from Erie to Duluth, grounded on the rocky shore of Presque Isle late last night during a fog and heavy northwest blow. Lifesavers from Middle Island went to the rescue and took off the crew.

Wrecking tugs are making an effort today to save the vessel, but it is believed she will go to pieces. She is 209 feet in length, has gross tonnage of 1,057 tons, and is owned by the Shoal Water Transportation company, Mount Clemens, Mich.

RUDDERLESS SHIP HAS HARD TRIP

The Lackawanna left Two Harbors early today and is due here some time this afternoon. The rudderless vessel is in tow of the tug Sabin of the Soo. The steamer Boland arrived today with a new rudder for the Lackawanna, and the repairs to the damaged boat will be made at the Superior ship yards, according to the instructions that have been forwarded for the repair of the boat.

While there is no information obtainable until the arrival of the Lackawanna, the mere fact that it has taken the vessel days over the usual length of a voyage up the lakes, indicates plainly that the trip without the rudder has been fraught with many difficulties.

It is believed at the tug office that the Lackawanna will be in dock late this afternoon.

The tug Sabin has had the damaged boat in tow since the Soo was passed. According to the meager information that has been received here, the Lackawanna made a good part of the up-lake passage without aid and with improvised contrivances to steer the vessel.

COUNTY BOARD WILL OPEN BIDS

At a special meeting of the board of county commissioners which will be held at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, bids will be opened for the construction of a bridge over the Burntside river near Ely in the fourth commissioner district.

Bids will also be opened by the board for the erection of a garage to house the automobiles owned by the county. The garages will be built on the jail site. The commissioners are also expected to let the contract for certain alternations in the plumbing at the county jail. A number of the institution's sanitary conditions are to be corrected.

DISCLAIMS ANY CREDIT

S. F. Snively Says Mr. and Mrs. Prindle Donated Park Land.

Gift Will Be Appreciated More and More in Years to Come.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On my return to the city my attention has been called to an item appearing in your issue of Thursday relative to a donation of certain land to the city by Mrs. William M. Prindle for park and boulevard purposes, and to an editorial in your issue of Friday wherein you referred to this gift and in your commendation thereof very kindly, though erroneously, coupled my name therewith.

With your indulgence I would like to present to you and the public the facts, in so far as I know them, relative to this donation and to avail myself of the opportunity to disclaim any part whatever in the giving of this land, or any desert whatever in the praise your editorial so generously bestowed.

The land referred to extends easterly from the Jean Duluth and Lester river road (commonly called the Jean-Duluth road) for five-eighths of a mile, having as its northern boundary the corporate limits of the city and extending south therefrom a distance of about a thousand feet; or in other words the property has a length of about thirty-five hundred feet and an average width of about one thousand feet and comprises about seventy acres.

The northerly branch of Amity creek enters this tract of land where it is crossed by the large concrete bridge just this side of the state experiment farm, on the Jean Duluth road, and in a very winding course extends through the property, and then flows southeasterly until it joins the southerly branch of Amity creek, and, from thence under the name of the west branch of Lester river flows to the lake.

The creek as it flows through this tract of land donated by Mrs. Prindle, embraces in its many curves as many beautiful plots of wood natural parkland, alternating on the north and south side of the creek, and having as a background, the higher banks and hills which determine the outer limits of the property.

I am very familiar with the land, the creek and the scenery and it is one of the best, most interesting and most beautiful specimens of nature's handiwork.

Mr. and Mrs. Prindle previously owned part of this tract, and it is along this stream, and on one of those beautiful plots, half encircled by its waters, that they have their delightful summer home.

I owned the other portion of the tract donated, and when Mrs. Prindle expressed a desire to command all such parts owned by me and which were by nature suitable for park, and expressed a purpose to give the same to the city, I was very glad to assist her in every possible way, and sold her such portions as she deemed requisite to amply command the valley and the higher banks surrounding it.

The foregoing explains the only part I have had in this transaction. The gift is that of Mrs. Prindle, entirely so, inspired by a desire to give expression in a tangible, substantial and useable manner to her love for and interest in the city in which she has lived, and to her concern that these peculiar natural physical features in the surrounding hills and creeks, should be conserved, in the form of public parks, for the health and happiness and elevation of the present and future generations.

And those who know and love the hills and streams of our city as I do, can as I, appreciate the spirit that actuated Mrs. Prindle in making this generous gift. And as the years come and go and our city expands to its destined greatness, there will be an ever increasing appreciation of the wisdom and the beneficence which dictated this gift and secured for all time to the people of this municipality this beautiful tract of land.

Yours very truly,
S. F. SNIVELY.

EX-AMBASSADOR GIVES OUT CAUSTIC LETTER TO BRYAN

Henry Lane Wilson Criticizes Policy in Mexican Affairs.

President and Secretary of State Decline to Comment.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 20.—The letter to Secretary of State Bryan, in which Henry Lane Wilson tendered his resignation as American ambassador to Mexico, was made public here by Mr. Wilson. The letter was written in Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 28. In part, Mr. Wilson wrote:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of Aug. 14, transmitting a copy of a telegraphic instruction of the department of state to the American ambassador in London, directing him to disclaim all responsibility on the part of this government for an interview attributed to me.

"The closing paragraph of the instruction referred to, states that 'the president regrets exceedingly that a diplomatic official of this government should have been guilty of such an impropriety.' The last paragraph of your note to me states that 'the president does not go farther at this time because he takes it for granted that the action which he has been obliged to take in this matter would be to you a sufficient reminder of your official obligations.'"

Action Not "Just."

Mr. Wilson calls attention to a memorandum of his dated Aug. 18, agreeing to refrain from public comment on the instruction to the ambassador in London or the note to himself, but adds that he "must respectfully decline to accept as definitive or just the action of the president or the department over which you preside" in this matter.

"There is," he writes, "a just limit to patient silence, and I shall not submit myself to be made the victim of a hasty and unmerited rebuke without placing on record with you my earnest and solemn protest."

Mr. Wilson then reviews the circumstances leading up to the instruction to the ambassador in London. A London dispatch was published in this country, Aug. 11, stating that one of the factors determining British recognition of the Mexican provisional government was the "congratulatory speech of the American ambassador on the occasion of Huerta's reception to the diplomatic corps." Mr. Wilson says he did not believe this came from an official British source, and had decided to maintain an attitude of reserve until, on the next two days, he read in the press articles "evidently inspired by administration sources, containing expression of gratification over the support of the British government.

Why He Talked.

"It seemed apparent to me that this was the first evidence of your intention to publicly question my official acts," he continues, "and I accordingly gave to the press the interview referred to."

The interview, he declared, could not possibly be construed as an expression of the views of this government, as Mr. Bryan already had announced Mr. Wilson's voluntary resignation. He continues:

"Thereupon, with tempestuous haste, and apparently prompted by partisan zeal, you dispatched an instruction to the American ambassador in London directing him to apologize for language uttered by me which was not in the least degree offensive, and which was based entirely upon the assumption that the supposed expression of the British government was a fabrication. You thus hastily proceed without ascertaining whether either the supposed expressions by the British government, or my comment thereon, were veritable; and it has since been developed, your action caused the greatest possible surprise to the government of Great Britain, which did not know it had been offended, and had no official knowledge of the views attributed to it.

"Through Pique."

"Thus, through pique, you have spontaneously and unjustly discredited a diplomatic officer of this government, and at the same time have exposed to the British foreign office the spirit of hazardous adventure which presides over the department of state, and the possibility of errors at any moment in future diplomatic exchanges.

"That the president of the United States, whom I know to possess high ideals, and whose lofty purposes ought to never be questioned by any American citizen, should lend himself to the hasty criticism of an old and tried official of the government, upon totally unwarranted and since discredited sources of information, convinced me that he was badly advised; and that you, Mr. Secretary, who have been identified with the movement for higher and better things in this country, should, except as the result of investigation and calm consideration, find reason for the censure of a plain and truthful statement of facts which had to do solely with matters that are of record in the department of state and probably on the records of all foreign offices with representatives accredited to Mexico, by assuming an attitude which involves the correctness of the official procedure of a diplomatic officer under your control, inspires me with serious doubts as to your future success in dealing with delicate international affairs."

Reviews His Service.

Mr. Wilson next reviews his seventeen years of diplomatic service.

"I gave my whole time and my health," he adds, "and denied myself the privilege, which all men consider sacred, of performing the last offices at the bedside of my beloved mother and my only brother."

He maintained a policy of friendly co-operation with the Madero administration, he says, until, "finding that no intention existed of righting American wrongs, I ceased to make representations to it except in urgent cases involving the loss of life or property. Yet I never gave expression to my lack of faith in the government, except to the state department, and never abandoned in the least my friendly relation with the government."

"My relations with the provisional president were brought about by the stress of circumstances," he says, adding that his dealings with Huerta and Felix Diaz were "solely to save life and abate intolerable conditions in Mexico City."

Not in Mexican Politics.

The assumption that he was at that time intruding into the politics of Mexico, writes Mr. Wilson, "are at variance with the belief and testimony of all living eye witnesses and against the record on file at the department of state."

He says the attitude of the Mexican government toward recognition became such that he wired for information regarding this country's policy.

"After a long delay," he comments, "you telegraphed me in the president's name, announcing a policy so startling in character and so at variance with the established traditions and policy of this government for 130 years, that I abandoned all further hope of bringing about a restoration of amicable relations."

In conclusion, Mr. Wilson observes that he feels his removal "might at least been kindlier in spirit, more generous and more considerate."

Bryan Will Not Discuss It.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Secretary Bryan, an early caller at the White House, when asked whether he would comment on the letter of resignation of Henry Lane Wilson, former ambassador to Mexico, said:

"I do not care to discuss it and do not intend to."

President Wilson had no comment to make on the letter beyond saying that he had read it when it was presented last August.

WEST END

HERALD BRANCH:
Herman Olson, Manager, 1823 West Superior Street.

WILL GIVE FIRST OF CONCERTS

Adams Glee Club to Give Two Minstrel Performances Nightly.

The Adams Glee club will give its first of a series of six minstrel performances this evening at the Star theater, 2107 West Superior street. The advance sale of tickets indicates that the club will have packed houses at each of the shows.

Two performances will be given each of the three evenings. These will start at 7:30 and at 9 o'clock. The rehearsals have made the amateur actors proficient in their parts and the members believe that the club will meet with the best success in its history this week. Albert Olson, manager of the show, and Erhart Falin, director-in-chief, have expressed satisfaction at the way in which the members of the club have taken hold of their parts of the play.

Cast of Performers.

The soloists, quartets, and chorus will be as follows: Soloists, George Frink, Frank McGinnis, James Wade, William Cahill, Frank Carlson and James Cahill; quartets, Elmer Peterson, Gust Youngwall, William Eckholm and William Turnbull; James Cahill, Ray Olson, William Cahill and Gilbert O'Brien, and John Wallin, Frank Carlson, Elmer Nelson and Gust Westman.

The chorus follows: First tenor, Albert Olsen, A. Erickson, Frank McGinnis, William Cahill, Elmer Peterson, Ed. Olsen, Frank Carlson, Arnie Olsen; Second tenor, Ernest Robinson, William Turnbull, James Wade, Sigurd Jensen, Allen Peterson, William Weston; first bass, Raymond Olsen, William Ekholm, Carl Anderson, Albert Norain, Elmer Nelson, James Cahill; second bass, George Frink, Andrew Otterson, John Wallin, Gust Youngwall, Richard Wallin.

William Weston will be interlocutor assisted by Frank McGinnis. The end men will be James Wade, William Cahill, Arnie Olsen and James Cahill. Many new jokes, say the members, will be sprung on the public at the performances.

Will Entertain Guild.

The St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church, will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. E. Halford of Thirty-first avenue east and Superior street. Plans will be made for the annual church supper and bazar to be held by the society on Oct. 30 in the church.

Annual Bazar.

The annual bazar held by the ladies of the St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, will open for a week this evening. Special programs have been arranged for each evening of the week.

The proceeds from the affair will be used in paying off some of the debt caused by the building of the new church. The committee in charge of the affair consists of: Mrs. George Walters, Mrs. A. N. Wilson, Mrs. R. J. McNarey, Mrs. R. R. Haley Miss Dorethea Kennedy and Miss Alice Nolan. The ladies will be assisted by Rev. Raymond Basil, George Walters and J. H. Hughes.

ST. CLEMENT CHURCH BAZAAR

Monday, Oct. 20 to Saturday, Oct. 25. Corner Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street, third floor. Everyone welcome. Bring your friends.

OPPOSE CLOSING OF HILL ROADWAY

Fifth Ward Residents Will Fight Proposed Action Before Council.

Residents of the Fifth ward will oppose the vacation of a piece of roadway between the end of the Highland street car line between Palmetto street and its intersection with Highland street. The road is said to be the most common in use for the farmers coming into the city and is known as the end of the Swan Lake road.

Some years ago this same piece of road was asked to be vacated by the city council. At that time W. E. McEwen was in the city council from the Fifth ward and he bitterly fought the vacation, and won out. Several attempts are said to have been made by the owners of the property abutting this road to fence it in but in each case the fences have been torn down by the residents of Duluth Heights.

W. L. Pierce, secretary of the Fifth Ward Improvement club, says that the land company controlling the property has sold some of these lots and then expects the city fathers to assist it in taking a legal highway from the public, said he:

"These petitioners for condemnation expect to be able to convince the city commissioners that by giving the public two acres of swamp land for road purposes about a quarter of a mile from where the proposed changes are to be made they are doing the city a favor, whereas it will be doing us an irreparable injury. Planners of the city are often referred to as 'fools' but perhaps they were more honest in planning them than some who wish them changed now. We are fortunate that we have some of their 'fool' work left with us, such as Piedmont avenue, and Mesaba avenue. Some men who had a selfish motive closed two other such avenues, Washington and Summit avenue, excepting one block in each case. The loss of those easy grades can only be known to those who have to haul up the steep grades to get to the top of the hill."

Zion Notes.

The choir of the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow evening.

The Young Girls' society will meet in the church parlors Wednesday evening.

Rev. J. H. Nervig will conduct midweek services Thursday evening.

The Young People's society will hold a social session in the parlors of the church Friday evening.

Rev. Mr. Nervig will meet the confirmation class on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Miss Evelyn Collet, 2012 West Sixth street, will entertain the Small Girls' society at her home Saturday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dennis Johnson.

Anderson-Nelson.

Miss Atley E. Anderson and Barney Nelson were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 2013 West Sixth street. Rev. Carl G. Olson of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church read the service. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Anna Anderson, and the groomsman was Connell Hialverson. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson were presented with a number of handsome presents. They will reside in Superior.

Swedish M. E. Notes.

The Sunday school board of the Swedish Methodist church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church parlors tomorrow evening.

The choir of the church will meet for rehearsal Wednesday evening.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Swedish M. E. church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. Wratman, 2303 West Seventh street.

Rev. C. W. R. Wermine will conduct midweek services in the church Thursday evening.

The confirmation class will meet with the pastor on Saturday morning.

The Sunday school will meet in the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to rehearse a cantata to be given in the near future.

West End Briefs.

Rev. and Mrs. C. W. R. Wermine, 314 North Twentieth avenue west, are the parents of a son born Friday.

The congregation of the Grace Methodist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, has planned to tender its pastor, Rev. George E. Silloway, and Mrs. Silloway a reception Friday evening in the parlors of the church. The reception will be in honor of their return to the local church.

The church council of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church this evening.

The Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church will hold a business meeting in the church Wednesday evening.

The postponed meeting of the Luther League of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will be held tomorrow evening.

The choir of the St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, will hold special rehearsal Thursday evening in the church for the purpose of preparing for the "Harvest Home" festival Sunday evening. Special music will be prepared. The sermon for the occasion will be preached by Rev. M. M. Ross of Superior.

REDUCING SUGAR IN DIABETES

To prove that sugar can be reduced in many cases of Diabetes in people past fifty we will mail on request formula for quantitative test for sugar that will show the percentage from day to day.

Diabetics are largely on Codein, admitted to be hopeless. Under Fulton's Diabetic Compound the thirst often begins to abate and the strength to increase before the sugar shows much decline, thus patients often know the case is responding before the tests show it.

If you are of middle age or over and have Diabetes, do you not owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Diabetic Compound before giving up? Druggists supplied by Leithhead Drug Co.

DONATIONS LIBERAL, BUT MORE IS NEEDED

St. Luke's Hospital Did Not Raise the Amount They Expected.

As a result of Donation day, held Saturday, for the purpose of receiving money and other gifts for St. Luke's hospital, many serviceable articles and considerable money was received. Henry Taylor, chairman of the donation day committee, says that the receipts have not yet been gone over sufficiently to enable him to make a report. He says, however, that the amount of money received was not as large as was expected.

For some time St. Luke's has been striving to pay off the mortgage that has been hanging over the institution, and Donation day was arranged for as a special time for the receiving of serviceable articles and money. Mr. Taylor says, however, that any who wish to make a donation to the hospital may still do so.

MRS. RATHBUN IS FOUND IN DULUTH

Missing Bemidji Woman Located—Husband Sues Her Relatives.

Perry W. Rathbun, a traveling salesman for the Duluth Plumbing Supplies company, has found his wife, whom he claims was hidden from him, and over the alienation of whose affections he has brought suit in Crow Wing county for $25,000 against his wife's relatives and Mae Shook, a nurse. Detectives, it is claimed, in a message from Brainerd, have found Mrs. Rathbun in a private maternity hospital in Duluth, where she has been for almost a month.

It was also claimed in the Brainerd item that the birth records of Duluth fail to show an entry regarding the child's birth. According to the Duluth health department a record of the birth of this child was filed on Oct. 10, the birth having taken place at St. Luke's hospital on Sept. 22. The child is a girl.

Mr. Rathbun charges in his complaint, filed in Crow Wing county, that his wife was induced by her parents to leave their home in Brainerd on May 1, and that since then he has been unable to locate her.

CHICAGO UNIONS WITH MRS. PANKHURST

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Organized labor in Chicago yesterday denounced the order of deportation of Mrs. Pankhurst. The Chicago Federation of Labor, representing an organization of 250,000 workers, adopted resolutions requesting the department of labor to reverse the decision of the board of inquiry.

SIMPLE REMEDY IS FAVORITE HERE

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine etc., known as Adler-i-ka, the remedy which became famous by curing appenticitis, is a great favorite with Duluth people. "Minnesota Yesterday and Today" was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. George Squires of St. Paul, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the annual banquet of the Greysolon du Lhut Chapter of the D. A. R. which was held this afternoon at the Spalding hotel. She traced the history of Minnesota from the Louisiana purchase in 1803 and the granting of the Northwest territory to the United States in 1784 and the final formation of the Minnesota territory and then the state to the present day, and spoke of the work of the Daughters of the American Revolution of Minnesota in preserving the Sibley house, the home of Gen. John Sibley, first governor of the state of Minnesota, as a monument to his life and work and as a muscum in which will be shown all of the interesting things which can be collected of historical value.

"The history of John Sibley is the history of Minnesota and the history of Minnesota is the history of John Sibley," she said. "He was so closely connected with the making of history in this state and in establishing civilization here that one could not be spoken of without the other. I think too, that it is especially fitting that the women of Minnesota should honor his memory and preserve the home at

MRS. GEORGE SQUIRES.

Mendota as a monument to his honor and bravery, as he was always the champion of right and honor. If for nothing else his act of rescuing 250 women and children from the hostile Indians following the terrible massacre in 1862 would entitle him to everlasting honor and it is most fitting that he should have this memorial.

"At the time Minnesota was first made a territory," said the speaker, "Gen. Sibley was instrumental in the choice of the name, 'Minnesota,' which means 'Cloudy Water,' the name the Indians had given this land. He was always a great friend of the Indians and was himself a fur trader always honest and fair in his dealings and the Indians went to him as a mediator in their troubles and affairs of moment.

"The history of the actions of the government in its dealings with the Indians has not been to the credit of the white man but the fur traders who first settled in Minnesota were fair and honorable."

Mrs. Squires traced the history of the state and told of the building of the Sibley stone house in 1834, where Gen. Sibley lived until 1862. She spoke of his election as the first governor of Minnesota after it was made a state and of his activities in the wars with the Indians saying that in 1863 he scoured the state and that since that time there has been no serious trouble with the Indians."

The banquet was an annual affair with which the members of the Greysolon du Lhut chapter always open their year's work.

PLAN GIFTS.

Moving Pictures for Patients—Stove for Poor Family.

A moving picture machine will be a Thanksgiving gift of the Red, White and Blue society to the patients at the children's pavilion of the Nopeming sanitarium as a result of a decision reached at the quarterly meeting of that society held Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Nina Asbjornsen at Woodland. Until recently the electric power at the sanitarium has been insufficient for the manipulation of such a machine but with the installing of lights at the steel plant the power has been increased and they can now run the machine. A good set of films will be rented for use in the machine and they will be changed from time to time.

The members of the Red, White and Blue society, all little girls organized for the purpose of giving pleasure and comforts to the children at the sanitarium, also decided to sew dolls' clothing for Christmas gifts to the patients and they have arranged to take baskets of delicacies to poor children on Thanksgiving day.

The society has also purchased a good heating and cooking stove for a family found by the Associated Charities to be in desperate need of a stove and it has been installed in the home where it is giving comfort.

The Red, White and Blue girls raise their funds for their gifts in various ways. They have dues, hold cooking sales and on Flag day they sold small American flag, raising quite a large sum of money.

At the meeting Saturday the members were entertained with a violin solo by Miss Alice Gow, a recitation by Miss Viola Palmquista and a piano solo by Miss Asbjornsen, after which dainty refreshments were served.

MRS. ROBT. MORRIS SEYMOUR

Lecture Course

"DRAMATIC STRUCTURE"

First lecture Tuesday at 4 p. m., Spalding Sun parlor, on "The High Road." Course, $10; first lecture, $1.

FIRST LECTURE.

Mrs Seymour Will Speak on Dramatic Structure

Mrs. Robert Morris Seymour's first lecture in her course on "Dramatic Structure" will be given tomorrow afternoon at the sun-parlor of the Spalding hotel at 4 o'clock. A class of ninety women has been organized for her work and lectures will be given once a week. Mrs. Seymour will speak tomorrow on "The New Technique of the Drama" and will discuss Mrs. Fisk's play "The High Road." This first lecture will also be open to those interested only in this one subject and it has been decided to sell single tickets for this meeting.

LUNCHEON.

Collegiate Alumnae Will Have Annual Function.

The annual luncheon for the active and associate members of the Duluth Branch of Association of Collegiate alumnae will be held at the Glass Block tea rooms on Saturday, Oct. 25, at 1:30. All women who are not members but who are eligible who wish to attend are asked to file their application for a place at the luncheon with the secretary, Mrs. A. L. Lathers or the assistant secretary, Miss Bessie Mars, not later that Friday of this week.

MAKES BATH ROBES.

Auxiliary of Medical Association Will Meet.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the St. Louis County Medical association will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. E. L. Tuohy, 193 East Third street and will work on bathrobes for patients at the Nopeming sanitarium. A bolt of cloth donated for the robes by the founders of the children's pavilion at the sanitarium has been cut out for the robes by Mrs. Olin W. Rowe, Mrs. O. A. Oredson, Mrs. N. A. McCuen and Mrs. A. E. Walker at a meeting at the latter's home last Wednesday afternoon.

Five kimonos and nine pair of eiderdown sleeping stockings have already been made for the patients by members of the auxiliary.

The second annual donation day for the sanitarium will be held this fall by this organization when jellies, fruits, jams and other delicacies for the patients will be received, in time for a Thanksgiving gift to the sanitarium. Plans for this will be decided upon at the meeting tomorrow.

Coutant-Nagel.

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Martha Coutant and Edward S. Nagel, both of Geneva, N. Y., which took place there recently, the ceremony taking place at the home of the groom's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Grove of Main street, Rev. John Preis, pastor of the church of the Evangelical association officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Nagle went to Washington, D. C., on their wedding trip and will make their home at Geneva.

Mrs. Nagel spent a summer here as a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Hugo, 2407 East Third street, and has many friends here.

Garfield Circle.

Members of Garfield circle, No. 4, Ladies of the G. A. R., will meet at Memorial hall, courthouse, tomorrow, for an all day sewing session.

For Bride-to-Be.

Miss Pearl Tresise, whose marriage to Harry G. Wheaton will take place Nov. 1, will be the guest of honor at an informal afternoon party which Mrs. G. W. Hood of Thirty-fourth street, Park Point, will give tomorrow afternoon. The guests will tie a quilt and a picnic dinner will follow, to which a number of men have been invited. There will be eighteen guests.

Mrs. F. G. Tresise, Jr., of 728 East Fifth street, will entertain at a bundle shower for Miss Tresise on Wednesday evening, to which eighteen guests have been invited and Mrs. Alex Fraser and Mrs. T. O. Plett will entertain next Monday afternoon for Miss Tresise at the home of Mrs. Fraser.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Mrs. Fiske in "The High Road."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—"The Third Degree."
Rex—Photoplay.

AT THE LYCEUM.

Mrs. Fiske Will Be Seen in Her New Play "The High Road."

The appearance of Mrs. Fiske and her Manhattan company at the Lyceum tonight in Edward Sheldon's play "The High Road" should prove one of the dramatic treats of the season.

Mrs. Fiske is quite generally recognized as one of the leading actresses of the American stage, if not the leader, and "The High Road" has never been seen in Duluth. It is a bulletined play of the Drama league.

When produced in New York last year, a number of critics declared that Mr. Sheldon had taken a long step forward, while others went so far as to say that in "The High Road" he had written the most virile, interesting and significant American play that the last ten years had disclosed.

During her long and illustrious career Mrs. Fiske has appeared in so many types of play that it would seem there could be no new worlds for her to conquer, but "The High Road" is said to be quite unlike any former play in her widely versatile list. It is described as the story of the soul progression of a woman who was born to an outlook all drab, but into whose life there afterward came, first romance, then luxury and the material beauties of the world, their renunciation following a great awakening, and then a career of self-sacrificing devotion to that great mass of humanity that is ever under the heel of the world. In the end comes a great redemption and the secure refuge of a great and good man's love.

The play is said to be one of strong and present moment interest, and besides to provide Mrs. Fiske with an original, striking and most sympathetic role.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

Elaborate Diving and Posing Act Headlines New Bill.

Annette Kellerman it was who discovered the value of a black silk bathing suit as a vaudeville asset.

After Miss Kellerman had capitalized the black silk tights and collected fat dividends from them, there were many imitators. The Uncle Tommers argued that if one Topsy was a hit in a performance of the old favorite, two would be better. Arguing on the same lines, John F. Conroy probably considered that if one pair of black silk tights was a money maker, two pairs or three pairs would be better. The result is the best diving act since Miss Kellerman thrilled with her Australian "splosh." It is headlining the Orpheum bill this week. Mr. Conroy himself is a type of the perfect athlete, and his two models and bathing girls are beautiful in face and figure. The setting for the act is a most elaborate one, a huge tank being placed in a woodland scene. The surface of the water is shown the audience by means of a mirror and the dives are all made in plain view. The three performers have a pleasing personality, and seem to radiate health and vitality.

The rest of the bill this week is a good average Orpheum offering.

Edward Gallagher and Robert Carlin are the comedy hit of the bill with their travesty on life aboard a battleship, and the battle of Manila bay. It is broad comedy of an amusing type and drew a good measure of laughs yesterday.

Bert Levy is back with his artistic sketching act. By an ingenious contrivance the pictures are thrown on a large screen and every stroke of the brush is visible, magnified many times. The pictures are both amusing and artistic.

Lloyd and Whitehouse have a nondescript little turn of an amusing nature ,including a travesty on grand opera, some comedy at the piano, one or two good songs of a comedy nature, and some ludicrous stage byplay. The act was well received.

Ward Baker is a violinist and a good one. He plays some ragtime, some old familiar airs, and one selection of a more ambitious nature. He has a good tone and the old familiar airs played with much feeling were probably the most popular number he gave.

Muriel and Francis, two young women with youth, beauty, vivaciousness, an extensive and striking wardrobe, and fair voices to recommend them, proved a popular team with yesterday's audience. They were seen here last year, but their act has been entirely changed since their former appearance.

The Cromwells, a man and a woman, open the bill with a very lively and sensational aerial turn. The motion pictures and the overture by the orchestra complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee.

AT THE EMPRESS.

"The Third Degree" Is Presented In Tabloid Form.

Empress patrons this week have the opportunity of witnessing a production of "The Third Degree," the successful play of Charles Klein, which caused a tremendous sensation when produced for the first time several years ago. The acting by the principals is far above the average seen in tabloid, special mention being due Miss Dorothy Lavern, who portrays the part of Mrs. Howard Jeffries, Jr., wife of the man on trial for murder.

Nearly every theatergoer in the country is familiar with the plot of "The Third Degree." It deals with the arrest of Howard Jeffries, Jr., on a charge of having murdered Robert Underwood in the latter's apartments. Jeffries is caught trying to get out of the building and after seven hours' questioning by Capt. Clinton, the young man in a dazed condition, confesses to the murder.

Jeffries had merely come to Underwood's apartments in his effort to compel the latter to pay a debt and had gone to sleep on a couch, while in a drunken stupor. Underwood commits suicide, but circumstantial evidence all points to Jeffries and he is charged with the crime. At this point Mrs. Jeffries, the young man's heroic wife, comes to his aid and after working for weeks and weeks, finally succeeds in securing the services of Richard Brewster, one of the ablest attorneys in the country. Brewster finally proves that Jeffries was hypnotized in making his confession and frees the young man.

The acting of Fred Monley as Capt. Clinton, F. Adams as Howard Jeffries, Sr., S. A. Arnold as Richard Brewster and Miss Peggy Watts as Mrs. Jeffries, Sr., is deserving of special mention.

Opening the show is the comedy film, "Luna Play Cupid." "The Third Degree" will continue until Wednesday evening with the regular daily matinees.

At the Rex.

Florence Lawrence has returned to the screen, and is appearing today at the Rex theater in her initial production in two parts, entitled "The Closed Door." When the news was received that the pretty Miss Lawrence had returned to the Universal company, again to appear in their productions, it was a welcome surprise to thousands of her admirers. Her admirers all over the United States expressed a desire to see their old favorite once more. She has won in this city, as well as in all others, the favor of moving picture lovers who will remember Miss Lawrence when she appeared in the Biograph years ago, playing with Miss Marion Lenord and Arthur Johnson, before a Universal company was ever thought of and when the moving picture industry was yet in its infancy. From then on she worked hard, until she became the star of photoplay. Just a year ago she left the profession for her rose garden, and during that year has listened to the fond persuasions of the Universal directors. Once again she obeyed the call of the camera.

"I found the most exquisite joy in reading the many letters received from friends all over the country, and I want to assure them that I am going to try again so hard to please them in the new pictures that I am going to appear in," she said when interviewed on her return. This production now playing at the Rex entitled "The Closed Door" shows her versatility as one of the most clever of the young women who have appeared and acted before a picture camera.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Some Things Not to Talk About If One Would Be Popular.

The art of good conversation is one of the rarest of accomplishments. Few persons have this sense developed to a high degree. I presume it is, to a certain extent, natural with some, although it is a grace that can be acquired, with moderate patience and good sense.

The first step toward acquiring the reputation of being a good conversationalist, I should say, is to cut out of one's talk, by the process of elimination, those things which seldom fail to bore even the most interested listener. First and foremost, of course, is the subject of one's own personal woes and tribulations. A little of this, among intimate friends, when one is in real distress and needs help or sympathy, is, of course, quite apart from what I mean. It is the habit of boring people eternally with personal afflictions that are, perhaps, for the most part rather imaginary than real, and, in any event, not serious enough to warrant their being made the subject of conversation on all occasions.

Another subject to bar, of course, is "shop talk." I confess that it tires me to be in the company of a number of persons, men or women, who persist in talking among themselves about business affairs, especially if two or more of them happen to follow the same line. It is exceedingly bad taste, and cannot but bore others who are forced to listen to it.

Women, as a rule, overdo the dress and servant questions, as topics of conversation. These are all right up to a certain point, but beyond that they pall, at least upon intelligent women. There are better and more serious things in life than fashion and the servant problem.

To be popular, one must converse well, and intelligently, upon things worth while, and be able to sense the subject that lies nearest the heart of his or her hearers. And of course the last word in graceful conversation is the art of being a "good listener."

CONGREGATIONALISTS DISCUSS MODERATOR

Three Prominently Suggested to Succeed Rev. Boynton.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 20.—Three candidates for moderator were mentioned prominently by delegates to the national council of the Congregational church who arrived here today. The council, together with the various various missionary societies of the church, will open its triennial convention here Wednesday.

While most of the delegates were reticent about their personal choices, Rev. Warren F. Day of Los Angeles, Rev. Charles S. Mills of Montclair, N. J., and Charles R. Brown, D. D., dean of Yale divinity school of New Haven, Conn., were said to have large followings, and it was predicted one of them would succeed Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., the present moderator, who is not a candidate for re-election.

Exhibits from the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, the Sunday school and the book departments will be shown during the convention. There are 600 official delegates to the national council.

There are 4,386,000 mules and 20,567,000 horses in the United States.

IT IS TIME TO PUT A STOP TO STATE EXTRAVAGANCE.

At the last session of the Minnesota legislature political opposition was strong enough to prevent an investigation of the state's expenditures with a view to proposing a re-organization in the interest of economy and efficiency.

Therefore, soon after the session was ended, The Herald suggested that this be made the leading issue in the legislative campaign of next year. Since that suggestion was made the announcement has come of a state tax rate of 5.03 mills, the largest but one in the history of the state, the largest in more than forty years, and a rate three and a half times as great as that of 1910. This announcement has lent new force to the demand for a checking up of state finances by legislative action.

For many years every proposal to raise state revenues from new sources, and every proposal to increase state revenues from old sources, has been accompanied by the promise that the state tax would soon be obliterated, and the general taxpayer relieved of the whole burden of the cost of state government.

Yet the more money the state got from indirect sources the more money it spent, and the more taxes the general taxpayer was called upon to pay.

The promise of abolishing the state tax probably fools nobody any longer; and there are encouraging signs that the people of the state will insist that instead of spending so much time and energy in devising new ways of raising state funds, the state government shall devote itself to the more beneficial task of studying how to reduce its expenses and so to reduce taxation.

* * *

Twenty years ago the state tax rate was 2.2 mills. Next year it will be 5.03 mills.

That year the railroads paid a gross earnings tax of a little more than a million—they have paid less since—and next year they will pay nearly five millions.

That year the iron mines paid the state less than twelve thousand dollars in taxes; next year they will pay the state more than a million and a quarter.

That year insurance companies paid in less than a hundred and fifty thousand dollars; next year they will pay in around half a million.

That year the telegraph companies paid the state a little more than twelve thousand dollars; next year they will pay three times that much.

That year the telephone companies paid the state a little more than six thousand dollars; next year they will pay the state a hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars.

That year the express companies paid the state nothing; next year they will pay it about sixty-five thousand dollars.

That year the sleeping car companies and the freight line companies paid the state nothing; next year they will pay it more than seventy-five thousand dollars.

That year there was only a negligible tax on vessels; next year the state's share of the vessel tax will be about fifteen thousand dollars.

That year the state got no inheritance taxes; next year, if this year's rate is preserved, inheritance taxes will net the state seven hundred thousand dollars.

That year there was no state tax on liquor license fees; next year the receipts from this source will be close to fifty thousand dollars.

In these items alone there is an increase in the state's indirect revenue from $1,200,000 to more than $7,000,000—ENOUGH TO HAVE WIPED OUT THE STATE TAX AND PAID A DIVIDEND TO THE TAXPAYERS IF THE STATE'S EXPENDITURES HAD INCREASED ONLY IN PROPORTION TO THE INCREASE IN ASSESSED VALUATION.

Yet instead of wiping out the state tax, or even reducing it, it has been more than doubled! In the same time, too, the state's assessed valuation also has been more than doubled.

* * *

There must be an end some time. The state tax, direct and indirect—for every dollar of indirect taxes is paid by the people—is approaching the limit of the people's capacity to pay.

And yet no step has been taken to reduce expenses or even to hold them down. So long as they are willing, the people will continue to be called upon for a higher tax year after year.

In but one way can a halt be called to this appalling increase in state expenses, and that is to make the issue of economy and efficiency the first issue in the legislative campaign of 1914, and so bring about the election of a legislature that will DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT.

What needs to be done is not only to put a more careful check upon expenditures, but to overhaul and reorganize the state government in the interest of EFFICIENCY AND ECONOMY.

Also it would be somewhat more comfortable at times if the frost would stay "on the punkin."

POSTOFFICE AND CITY HALL.

Besides the urgent need of a prompt and vigorous campaign for a new Federal building, to which The Herald called attention several months ago, there is also the need that the city begin shaping its plan toward a new city hall.

Sites for both are provided; except that the city has not yet bought its site from the county, which is kindly holding it until the city is ready. Its value is increasing constantly, and the sooner the city buys it the smaller the cost will be.

This issue has a direct bearing, too, on the question whether the city should tie itself up by a long-term lease on a new building for the water and light department. If there is to be no new city hall, this probably is the proper thing to do. If the city is to have a modern and adequate city hall on the site provided for it, within a reasonable time, it should of course think twice before locating one of its departments more or less permanently in another place.

Neither postoffice nor city hall can materialize in a few months.

The point is that neither will ever materialize until the fight for them is begun; and the sooner it is begun the sooner it will succeed.

There can be no question of the need of either. The Federal building is overcrowded, and the postoffice in particular has need of twice as much room as it is allowed now. It is understood that the internal revenue department is now looking for quarters outside the Federal building.

The government moves slowly in these matters. It takes just about so long to get an appropriation through even when the fight for it is the hardest and most effective possible. It takes just about so long to construct the building after the appropriation is available. The important thing is to make a beginning, and that beginning Duluth itself must make.

In the meantime, as The Herald has said repeatedly, the city must begin arranging its plans for a new city hall. It can't be built at once, for there is no money. But unless plans are made for providing the money it never will be built. And if the important water and light department is tied up somewhere by a long-term lease, this will cause still more delay. While the county is making no complaint about holding the city hall site—nor should it because its value is increasing every year—there is a limit to the length of time it will be willing to hold it. Nor should the city forget that every year's delay will make the site cost it so much more.

Both of these highly important matters have been brought again to public attention by the action of the West Duluth Commercial club, and discussion of both is timely.

Duluth should begin at once its campaign for a Federal building appropriation, and the city commission should at once begin to shape its plans toward a new city hall.

If a tiger's ears are capable of burning, think how Tammany's must have felt in the last few weeks.

HE IS KNOWN NOW.

It was said of the late Benjamin Altman, by all odds New York's foremost retail merchant, that fewer than a hundred persons in New York knew him even by sight. No newspaper had ever been able to get and publish a picture of him. There were none available even to print with the news of his death.

The man is better known now by the terms of his will than he ever was in his lifetime.

Out of the forty millions that constituted his fortune, relatives were bequeathed only eight hundred thousand dollars. Those who contest it are to get nothing. Most of it was left to his employes. His art collection, said to be worth fifteen millions, was left to the public.

His reasons for this peculiar bestowal of his wealth are stated in his will when he speaks of "the co-operation and long continued service" of his employes. It was their faithful service, he says, that enabled him to build up a prosperous and successful business, so he wished to show his appreciation of these services "in a substantial way." And certainly he has done that.

Says the Chicago Tribune: "It may well be that prosperity will take cognizance of Benjamin Altman not as one of a group of philanthropists, for which the passing generation has been noted, but as one of the first social justice pioneers this country has produced. The fratricidal wars between labor and capital that have stirred this and other nations in recent years stand rebuked by the life no less than by the death of this great merchant, in whom success served but to intensify his sympathy and friendship for the man in the ranks."

Japan is to send a cruiser to Mexico. Anything to say, Mr. Hobson?

SULZER AND TAMMANY.

His tongue loosed by the ending of the impeachment trial, Sulzer says some very pointed things about Tammany.

And nobody will have much difficulty in believing all he says—about Tammany. Even if some of it is not true, we can know that worse things unuttered are the truth. But setting forth every crime of Tammany in a sweeping indictment doesn't clear Sulzer; has, indeed, no bearing on his case.

Yet it is well worth while remembering that if Sulzer had not challenged Tammany's greed, he would himself have gone unchallenged with all his silly peccadillos.

About the only satisfaction Minnesota can find in the football results is that Michigan was beaten by the farmers and Colgate came within an ace of trimming the Army.

MRS. PANKHURST.

Whether Mrs. Pankhurst is admitted or excluded, her case is bound to attract more attention than it deserves. We think her a very silly though earnest woman, and the leader in a very silly cause. Equal suffrage is right or it is wrong—we think it unquestionably right—and if it is right it will come even in spite of the absurd tactics of the suffragettes, whom Mrs. Pankhurst leads.

It can't make very much difference anywhere or to anybody whether Mrs. Pankhurst is let in or kept out. If she is let in, she will make some money lecturing for her cause, but she will not introduce her methods here. She couldn't if she tried. If she is kept out, it will look a little as though we were afraid of her. And of course we are not.

We don't care much what the immigration authorities do about it, but on the whole, as we have said before, this country's position would be a little more dignified if we just let her in and let her talk. Shutting her out seems too much like giving her the undue homage of fear.

So the president's decision to let her in is—like him—wise and sensible.

Of course the exclusion of Mrs. Pankhurst may be according to the letter of the law, but who hasn't heard of misplaced letters?

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"THE MOST UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL."

To the Editor of The Herald:

Why do you not tell your readers that the last legislature would have appointed a reorganization of state departments committee, but that Governor Eberhart did not want one?

The committee that the governor now has appointed can not become anything else than a personal campaign committee for the governor.

The house majority, which passed H. F. 1094, was even willing to forego the muckraking part of the necessary probe, although we know there is much to rake, if a committee or commission could have been appointed to work out a concrete plan of reorganization. But the house majority was not willing to turn its function as a legislative body over to the executive one, the governor did not want a reorganization committee, if he could not appoint it. The way he now goes after reorganization is like a man that goes hunting and takes his gun along but without anything to load it with. The next legislature will have to be an entirely different set of men, than the last one was, if it will be expected to eat out of the hand of the governor.

It becomes the governor ill to pose in the role of preaching economy, who was willing to squander the whole of the state's resources if it could only add to his personal glory, if he and his satellites could flit around like butterflies in the glitter of gold lace and tinsel. Any man that raised his voice in the house of representatives against extravagance was always called a crank by the faction that was in the confidence of the governor.

The Herald used to be considered a progressive newspaper, but its record as such can not be reconciled with its boasting of Eberhart and his so-called policies. Does The Herald intend to help foist Eberhart onto the Republican party again as its next standard bearer in the state simply that when this is accomplished, it will be so much easier to elect a Democrat governor?

Let us get down from the clouds and get our feet on the ground, give us a candidate for governor, in all parties, who will promise only to stay on the job and enforce the law. The governor's veto is our constitutional weapon against extravagance, why did you not use your influence with him to veto every item that you considered needless waste of money? Let the lines between the three distinct branches of the government of the state be more clearly drawn. The judicial branch keeps well within its sphere, the legislative is jealous of the incroachment of the executive upon its functions, let the executive be executive and nothing else. A farmer that spends his time in town is a poor farmer, but he usually finds fault with the methods of farming of those who work. The woman who leaves her household and lets her family shift for itself, that she may attend all clubs and society affairs, is a poor mother and housekeeper, but she can write essays on the bringing up of children. A governor who is anywhere but on the job, and who spends most of his time outside of the state, must necessarily make a poor governor, but when that governor also undertakes to draft the laws for the legislature to pass, it seems absurd that newspapers which make the pretentions of being progressive, like The Herald does, should champion the cause of such a man. What is the reason?

I, for one, care not much about the high sounding phrases or economy and retrenchment. Those that cry for it the loudest will practice it the least. The public utilities question has spent itself. Mr. Eberhart punctured that balloon when he did not dare to call that extra session. Let us get a little more common honesty and morality into our politics, then we will get a legislature that will pass good laws and an executive that will enforce them. Minnesota is suffering from too much politics. "Constitutional government for Minnesota," would not be a bad battle cry. Yours truly,

KNUD WEFALD.

Hawley, Minn., Oct. 17.

We should have judged Representative Wefald to be too sage and just a man to condemn wholly on appearances and to accuse The Herald of supporting Governor Eberhart politically because that official has fallen in with its campaign for economy and efficiency in state affairs. And surely nothing more amazing ever has happened to The Herald than this charge that it is a political backer of Mr. Eberhart. It thought itself immune from that charge, at least, whatever else might be alleged against it.

The Herald urged a reorganization commission during the last session, and it has urged it ever since. It would have been glad to see almost any practical measure go through, whether it was Mr. Wefald's or some other man's. It has some hope in the work of the commission appointed by Governor Eberhart because of the character of its membership, and not because of its source. It is not a perfect commission. We believe we could have improved upon it. But we believe the majority of its members are earnest and capable men not biased by personal or party politics.

There is little profit now in debating over whose fault it is that the legislature did not act; though members of the legislature would be in a better position if somehow they had been able to put a reorganization measure up to the governor to let him sign it or veto it as he saw fit. The thing now is to elect a legislature pledged to do something about a reorganization of the state government in the interest of efficiency and economy, and a governor who will do his part faithfully; though the legislative issue is vastly more important because there is utterly no probability that a governor will be elected who will dare veto a progressive and practical scheme of reorganization if it is put up to him by the legislature. And we hope Mr. Wefald, whose record on this issue is clear, will be there to help in the work.

Though amazed that he should have accused The Herald, of all the papers in the state, of being an "Eberhart organ," we are not going to hold it up against him. Nobody is perfect, and nobody is infallible.—The Editor.

Discretion.

Swift: There is no talent so useful towards rising in the world, or which puts men more out of the reach of fortune, than that quality generally possessed by the dullest sort of men, and in common speech called discretion; a species of lower prudence, by the assistance of which people of the meanest intellects, without any other qualification, pass through the world in great tranquillity, and with universal good treatment, neither giving nor taking offense.

An Egotist.

Lippincott's: Hokus: "Flubdub seems to have a wonderful opinion of his knowledge."

Pokus: "I should say he has. Why, I have actually heard him attempt to argue with his son, who is in his freshman year at college."

Noah Brown.

Big deeds blossom on humble stems,
Rough shells foster the rarest gems;
What of Perry's deserved renown
Minus the skill of Noah Brown?

"Brown," you echo. "And who is Brown?"
Son of a sere New England town,
Master of ax and sledge and saw,
Skilled to fashion and plan and draw;
Like the Noah of flood renown,
Builder of boats was Noah Brown.

Times were troubled, they all agree,
Foes were scourging the inland sea.
Rumors, panics and daily scares
Steeped the patriot soul in cares.
Fear was rampant and hope was down—
Then they rallied and sent for Brown.

This the message the rider bore:
"Boats are needed on Erie's shore!"
What did the builder do or say?
Saddled his nag and rode away;
Loping, fording to Erie town—
"How many boats?" quoth Noah Brown.

Oak and cedar and ash and pine,
Warped and fashioned to scale and line,
Lift each carcass on bolted keel;
Oak for sheathing and deck of deal.
All was ready, and like a flash
Into the lake they slipped kersplash!
There they huddled with lines to shore,
Cleared for cannon and sail and store;
Lawrence, Niagara, Porcupine, too;
Scorpion, Ariel, stout and true.
Brown hailed Perry in merry jest;
"Here's the squadron—you do the rest!"
Squared with duty, without delay,
Over the trail he rode away;
Back to his home in the Nutmeg Town
Passed the builder whose name was brown.

Famed is Perry in prose and rhyme;
High he poses o'er waves of time.
Take one laurel from out his crown,
Hand it gently to Noah Brown.

Love Scenes From Modern Fiction

1.—From Harvey J. O'Higgin's "Don-a-Dreams." Copyright, The Century company.

He saw her come downstairs, as if from the isolation of her bedroom. He held out his hand to her from the threshold. He said, in a rush: "I've come to say good-bye. I'm starting, in the morning, for New York—with Conroy. We're leaving college. If you write to us at the general postoffice, New York—or if you're there—to send me your address. We leave tomorrow morning."

He smiled at her reassuringly, feeling the startled grip of her fingers but unable to see her face because she had her back to the dim light. "Our baggage is at the station."

She backed him out on the porch and shut the door behind her. "You're not! You mustn't! It's—Why! What are you doing?"

He laughed. "I was only wasting time here. I told you I'd make things come out right."

"Right!"

"I couldn't wait three years to begin. I want to be at work. I want to be nearer the—together—you."

She dropped his hand as if it had stung her. "Don't!" It was all she could say, but the tone was eloquent of emotions which he had not expected. He waited, stiff. She went on, with a shudder in her voice: "Oh, you mustn't. I'm not—I'm not sure * * * of myself. I didn't mean to. I thought—Oh!" And she began to sob.

He put on his hat. He opened his mouth to get his breath. He found himself hoping insanely that he would not have to speak, because his throat was trembling and his lips were sticking to his teeth. He heard her, at a distance from him, weeping in a vast hush that had settled down on him like the peace that broods over ruins in a desert, among sands, at night.

She was saying: "You promised—you said you'd wait. I told you—I told you I'd try. I didn't know—how could I? I didn't mean—I—I thought we'd be good friends * * * and write. I—I'm not ready yet. I don't want to think of—of marrying any one yet. I want to be free.

He was conscious only of the need of getting away somewhere, alone. He stumbled to the edge of the porch. At a cry from her, he stopped there. She came to him in the darkness and pleaded: "Don't! Don't! Don't do it. Don't leave college."

"It's too late," he said hoarsely, and gathering her into his arms, with a sort of despairing longing for what might have been, he found her wet cheek with his lips, and kissed her. "Good-bye," he whispered. "Don't cry. It's all right. I can stand it. I'm used to it. I can wait."

She released herself with a sudden effort and disappeared into the house.

Mars, Comedian

Life: War, an international dementia alleged to insure the survival of the fittest, should be assiduously encouraged by all unfit members of society. The man with narrow chest and withered hand struggles under a decided handicap in the piping times of peace. He commonly sees the rich, witty and pulchritudinous female of the species carried off into "happiness ever after" by strapping fellows against whom he has no chance whatever in the sex arena. All this is changed, however, with the declaration of war and the arrival of the recruiting officer. Apollo Belvedere is the favorite fodder of the machine gun. Shrapnel screams with joy as it increases an athlete's chest expansion from seven inches to thirty feet. What matters it if 10,000 mothers weep and wail and gnash their teeth over the details of victory? Who taught their handsome sons to love war? These are but the tears of shameless recantation. Let them turn for comfort to little Oscar whose dry cough kept him out of the army; to Minnie and Hal at the state home for the feeble-minded. Let the unfit dead bury themselves. These that survive are the fittest.

Something in the Letter Line.

Chicago Record-Herald: There are people who complain that the art of letter writing has become obsolete. Perhaps they are right in a general way, but a Chicago man who has a 17-year-old son comes forward with an exhibit that appears to upset the claim. Recently the boy, after much argument, was permitted to go to a summer resort at which he and his mother had enjoyed themselves two or three years ago. The young man's father was afraid Harold would be disappointed when he went back alone and told him so, but the boy was determined and he went. Three days after his arrival he wrote the following letter:

"Dear Dad: I knew all the time you were off your kanoodle. Take a tip from me and get the cobwebs out of your birdhouse. I've busted your prophecy and you may proceed at once to haul down your signal of distress. I'm just about as unhappy here as a fly on a lump of sugar. This destination for little Willie again next summer, and, believe me, it won't be for two weeks only. No smoking before I'm 18 and 50 iron men from mother. It's me for the unstained fingers. You couldn't keep me back with a derrick. Take it from me, Oswald, this is some place. T. B. and M. W. are both here. Are they cold and distant? Not so that it would attract your attention. You may rely on me, Lemuel, when I inform you that they are some considerable in the peachette line. I'm having such a fiesta here that I hate to think I'll ever have to kick out and break away. When you prognosticated fog for this district you lamped the wrong area of depression. Somebody threw a switch on you and you're stalled on a siding fifty-nine miles from the nearest government kiosk. Oh, I should worry. Nay, nay, Percival, far be it from me for such. But why attempt to deceive you? I've horned in here for fair and I expect to go the limit without applying for a reprieve. Come on, pal, loosen. Remember that you were an offspring once yourself. Affectionately yours,

"LITTLE SONBEAM."

Broke Up the Game.

Illinois Central Employes' Magazine: Willie finally persuaded his aunt to play train with him. The chairs were arranged in line, and then he said:

"Now you be the engineer and I'll be the conductor. Lend me your watch and get up into your cab." He then hurried down the platform, timepiece in hand.

"Pull out, there, you red-headed, pie-faced jay!" he shouted, to the astonishment of the young woman.

"Why, Willie!" she exclaimed in amazement.

"That's right; chew the rag," he retorted. "Pull out. We're five minutes late already."

They have had to forbid his playing down by the tracks.

Minnesota Opinions

Comments of the State Press.

May as Well Be Unanimous.

Greenbush Tribune: Eberhart has practically declared his candidacy for the office he now holds. He will succeed, too, unless the opposition gets together on one man. The Smith-Eberhart forces will attempt to divide the opposition forces, and if they succeed we might as well make it unanimous for Eberhart.

Missing: One Panic.

Waseca Herald: The new Democratic tariff bill is now in force and there isn't even the faintest trace of the panic which our Republican friends predicted would follow its passage. On the contrary, business is brisk in all lines and every man who wants to work can find employment. Here in Southern Minneotsa, comon laborers are paid $2.25 per day and employers cannot get enough men even at that figure. All the people are getting a square deal under the present administration.

Just Leave It To Ed.

Albert Lea Tribune: A newspaper up the state remarks that Governor Eberhart can be beaten. Sure, but he will not be if Ed Smith knows his job, and Ed Smith is certainly about as smooth a political mixer of dope as they turn out. Smith will see it it that every Progressive Republican in the state, who feels that he is being called by the people to serve the state, will get a loud call. If these progressives really want to serve the state rather than their own vaulting ambition, and will be willing to make the sacrifice to remain quietly in the shadow, while some one man makes the race, then there is a chance that Eberhart may be beaten.

Queer Partnerships.

Albert Lea Standard: We have heard the charge that because the prohibitionists insisted on supporting their own ticket in campaigns that the effect was co-operation with the saloons, which in a way at times was true. A parallel case is that of the charter election in Minneapolis.

Big business, the special interests and much of the so-called respectable element co-operated with the Socialists whom they despise, with the spoilmen and ward gangsters to defeat the proposed commission form of government which would have given the city an honest and efficient administration and put the latter out of business.

Sufferers Are Few.

St. Peter Herald: President Wilson has signed the new tariff bill. The only sufferers will be a few tariff-fostered trusts.

Feels Pretty Large.

Red Wing Free Press: The Minneapolis Journal says "a wave of crime is sweeping the nation," and a glance through the news column of the Journal shows that it is mistaking the city of Minneapolis for the nation, as usual.

Can't Be Done.

Sauk Center Herald: Gunnar Bjornson, member of the legislature and editor of the Minneota Mascot, in the last issue of his paper declares unequivocally for the organization of "A Strong Non-Partisan" party in this state.

If can't be did. One might as well try to propagate an odorless onion, or a scentless skunk. It takes the odor to make the onion, the scent the skunk and the partisanship the party. Take the odor from the onion and you have a turnip, the scent from the skunk and you have a kitten and take the partisanship from a party and you have an old ladies' sewing circle that does nothing but talk.

A Way They Have.

Lippincott's: Mrs. Flint came for a visit to her sister's home, and her little niece, Charlotte, was delighted to see her.

"What became of the black kitten that you had when I was here before, dear?" asked Mr. Flint.

"Why, don't you know?" asked Charlotte, much surprised.

"I haven't heard a word," replied the aunt. "Was he poisoned?"

"No, ma'am," said Charlotte.

"Drowned?"

"Oh, no."

"Stolen?"

"No, indeed."

"Hurt in any way?"

"No, ma'am."

"Well," said Mrs. Flint, "I can't guess, dear. What became of him?"

"He growed into a cat," said Charlotte.

Expecting Too Much.

Boston Globe: The beef trust is buying cattle at 1½ cents a pound cheaper than a year ago, but the prices to the consumer have not been shaded. And Lent is nearly six months away still!

A Little Red Stamp.

I have the right of way;
And the mail train thunders from under the stars
And rattles into the day,
Now clear the rail for your Uncle Sam's mail;
Ye freight trains, stand aside!
Spur your iron-lunged horse to his fullest speed,
For the little red stamp would ride;
So vomit your flame on the startled night
And your smoke in the face of the day,
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture
Must have the right of way.

The engine plows when I start on my ride,
Through the drifted banks of snow;
But we hasten to climes where the rivers melt,
And the climes where the roses blow,
For the hills of Maine, then the Kansas plain,
Then shifts from the Western bay,
Till I drop in the hands that reached for me
A thousand leagues away.
Pull open the throttle and loose every brake,
And dash through the night and day,
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture,
Must have the right of way.

I'm the little red stamp with George Washington's picture,
And I go wherever I may,
To any spot in George Washington's land,
And I go by the shortest way.
And the guns of wrath would clear my path,
A thousand guns at need,
Of the hands that should dare to block my course
Or slacken my onward speed.
Stand back! Hands off of Uncle Sam's mail!
Stand back there! Back, I say!
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture
Must have the right of way.

Defining Love and Life.

Popular Magazine: Philosophy in popular phraseology is one of the greatest products of the cloakrooms in the capitol in Washington. Senators and representatives, keen observers of human nature and full of ideas, pull stuff that makes the old German wizards sound foolish and insane.

In the Democratic cloakroom of the house not long ago, a statesman, having discussed at length the tariff, currency reform, and the Central American situation, announced, kindly:

"Now, I'll give you fellows the difference between life and love."

Everybody immediately expressed eagerness to know the difference.

"Life," he said, "is just one fool thing after another. Love is just two fool things after each other."

Correct.

Toledo Blade: The Toledo Blade man remarks that "one of the unpleasant features of reading fiction at night is to have to go to bed at 11:30 and leave the hero in danger until daylight." "Have to go to bed" is good, when taking into consideration his admission that he is married. "Will-yum! Do you know what time it is?"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

BLAZING OF MANY ROADS

Crew of American Auto Blazers' Association Arrives.

Road Marked From Mason City—On to Grand Rapids.

The trail blazers reached here from St. Paul by auto on Saturday and started out today for Grand Rapids, Minn., blazing a trail from Duluth to that city so that drivers of vehicles of all kinds, but particularly autos, may easily find their way and not have to stop and ask questions.

The work is being done under auspices of the American Automobile Trail Blazers' association, which has already blazed hundreds of miles of routes throughout the continent, and hopes before very long to have practically the whole country marked so that auto travelers may know where to go. A. L. Meigs, formerly of Duluth, is head of the crew that passed through here.

The trail blazers arrived Saturday from St. Paul, completing the blazing of a trail from Mason City, Iowa, to Duluth. This is marked white on black, the blaze marks being made on telegraph poles, lamp posts or other convenient and prominent spots. The blaze marks to Grand Rapids will be yellow on black, and from Bemidji to Cass Lake there will be similar marks, but for the present, because of a lack of fit roads, there will be a break between Cass Lake and Grand Rapids. From Bemidji, blaze marks of blue on black will be used to Winnipeg, via Crookston and Grand Forks.

Next week a trail will be blazed from Minneapolis, via Cambridge and Anoka to Duluth. It has already been blazed as far as Anoka.

The signs used on the blaze marks are the letters R. L. and X. The first indicates a turn to the right, the second to the left and the third gives warning of danger. The trail marks are protected by national and state laws, and some farmers who have already begun to cover up the marks have been warned of prosecution if the offense is repeated.

MRS. PANKHURST'S VISIT UNTIMELY

Mrs. de Voist, State Suffrage Leader, Regrets English Militant's Actions.

That the attempted visit of Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette, to the United States is untimely, and that militancy is unnecessary in this country, is the opinion of Mrs. P. L. De Voist, 10 North Twelfth avenue east, president of the Minnesota State Suffrage association.

"The state association will meet in St. Paul Oct. 30 and 31," said Mrs. De Voist, "but I cannot say whether any action in the Pankhurst matter will be taken or not. Official notice of the action may be taken, but without conferring with other members, I cannot say what will be done."

Mrs. De Voist regretted that Mrs. Pankhurst had attempted to come to the United States at this time. She said that conditions in America and England were widely different.

"There are more men in the United States who favor women's suffrage than there are women, and it is through the thinking men of the country that we expect ultimate success. When Mrs. Pankhurst visited this country two years ago, she did the cause much good, but now she represents the militant branch and has been convicted of a charge involving moral turpitude."

THIS WEEK'S WEATHER

Washington, Oct. 20.—Wintry weather is predicted, for the next few days in the greater part of the country east of the Rocky mountains.

"It is probable," says the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau, "that frosts will occur the first half of the week in the Central valleys, the Eastern states and the interior of the South. Normal temperatures will prevail during the week on the Pacific slope. There will be rains Monday in the Eastern states, the upper Ohio valley and the region of the Great Lakes; otherwise the weather during the next several days will be generally fair east of the Rockies.

"The next disturbance to cross the South will appear in the Northwest Tuesday or Wednesday, move eastward through the Central valleys Thursday or Friday and the Eastern states near the end if the week. This disturbance will be preceded by a general change to high temperatures, but be attended by rains in the North Pacific states and the Southern and Middle states east of the Rocky mountains, and rains and snow along the Northern border; it will be followed by colder weather, which will appear in the Northwest about Thursday."

BANK FAILS TO AMEND.

Non-Repairment of Capital Leads to Its Being Closed.

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 20.—The Traders' National bank of this city was closed today by order of the comptroller of the currency.

Had Been Warned.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The Traders' National Bank of Lowell was closed on a report from National Bank Examiner Norwin S. Bean that the institution is insolvent. Harold G. Murray has been appointed receiver.

A close relationship existed between the traders and the Atlantic National Bank of Providence, R. I., which was closed April 14. Three months ago the capital of the Traders' was shown to be badly impaired and a formal notice of impairment was served on its directors. This directed them to make good the impairment by an assessment on the stockholders, or to place the bank in voluntary liquidation. Under the law, the bank had three months in which to do either of these things. The three months expired Oct. 17 and the bank examiner reports that the capital had not been restored and that the bank was insolvent.

TO DEVELOP EXPRESSION

Supt. Denfeld May Establish New System in Duluth School.

Test readings may be given from time to time in the public schools if Supt. Denfeld finally decides to establish such a system. In such case the readings will be called for without warning and whole classes will be required to display their accomplishments or lack of them in the reading line to visitors, consisting of parents, educators and members of the board of education.

Mr. Denfeld is a firm believer in the development of expression and looks upon this as a part of a good system for such work. The reading system used in the primary and elementary grades of the Duluth schools is said to be the best the country affords at the present time.

A. M. Singer Weds Nurse.

London, Oct. 20.—A. M. Singer, a former well-known American who now resides in London, and Miss Pillavoane, the nurse who attended him during his convalescence after his aeroplane accident at Cairo, in 1910, were married Saturday in Hove parish church.

Plague in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.—The plague has broken out at Novopstrovsk, a suburb of Novotcherkask, capital of the territory of the Don Cossacks. Eleven deaths have occurred and the suburb is cordoned.

Two in Motor Killed.

Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Walter Kreitzer and his wife were killed and their son, aged 4, was perhaps fatally injured, when their automobile was struck last night by a fast passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad at a crossing near their home in Trotwood, Ohio.

Crosby School Growing.

Crosby, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Crosby's school enrollment continues to show an increase, evidenced by the fact that it has been necessary for the board of education to rent an additional store building and hire an extra teacher for the first grade work. The new room will be located in the Hill building on First street north.

LEARNING TO SAVE MONEY

8,000 Duluth School Children Now Have Bank Accounts.

Deposits Range From $1 to $60—Give Pupils Habits of Thrift.

An institution that through its educational feature is accomplishing results by virtue of inculcating a spirit of thrift in children is the Duluth School Savings bank.

The system was inaugurated at the various schools here in February, 1912, by the First National bank, and that success has attended its promotion is to be judged from the fact that the number of children's deposit accounts carried by the bank in that branch now reaches over 8,000 and the list is steadily growing. The individual deposits range from $1 to $40.

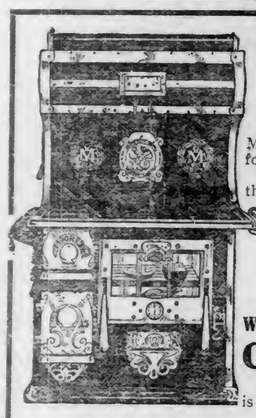

A year ago the American Exchange National bank opened a juveline savings bank branch at the Bryant school. It has scored a proportionate meed of success.

"We are pleased with the rapid growth of our school children's savings accounts," said J. H. Dight, cashier of the First National bank, this morning. "The principals and teachers of the schools have accorded the plan their warmest support from the outset, and both children and parents have become deeply interested. We consider ourselves well rewarded in the realization that pupils at the schools are becoming imbued with the first principles of thrift. They are being taught in a practical way the foundation upon which to build their future fortunes. A spirit of self-reliance is being implanted in the minds of the children through the realization that they have a little money at their credit at the bank. Numbers of them, too, are being led to look about them for ways to earn something on their own accounts."

According to the plan adopted, a collector of the bank calls upon each of the schools once a week and receives deposits from the pupils. Amounts from 1 cent up are received, and when the aggregate reaches $1 the child is given a savings bank account book. Interest at the rate of 3 per cent is allowed on deposits. It is to be noted that money may be withdrawn at any visit of a collector to a school on the presentation of the deposit card and withdrawal receipt signed by the pupil and parent.

"We have found the operation of our children's savings bank branch at the Bryant school very satisfactory," said Isaac Moore of the American Exchange National bank. "In observing the interest that has been taken in the plan by the children and feeling that they are being started in the right way, we consider that we are being well repaid for any trouble we have gone to. Furthermore, we feel that the parents are being helped through the children. The advantages offered in banking is being brought directly home to heads of families, and there are already many instances where savings accounts have been opened at the bank directly through that influence. We have to thank Miss King, the principal, for her kindly interest in promoting the system among the pupils at her school."

Glancing through the list of accounts in the children's savings bank ledger, Mr. Moore found that they ran in amounts from 11 cents all the way up to $60.

MAKING CHANGE ON STREET CARS

Conductors Required to Be Accommodating When Possible.

We desire to respectfully call the attention of our patrons to the necessity of providing themselves with change before boarding cars.

Conductors are required to be prepared to furnish change up to the amount of $2.

Some persons appear to have the idea that the offering of any piece of "good money" on a street car is "legal tender" and that upon making such tender they have the right to be carried whether the conductor is able to make change for it or not. This idea is erroneous, as the courts have held that the tender of a $5 bill in payment of a 5 cent fare upon a street car is unreasonable and therefore not a legal tender. It will therefore be seen that a person who gets aboard a street car with nothing less than a $5 bill is in the same position as if he had no money at all, so far as paying his fare is concerned, and that in such cases it is not as unreasonable as it may at first appear for the conductor to politely ask him to step off the car, procure change and take the next car.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONDUCTORS

But while conductors are not required to furnish change for any sum in excess of $2, they are instructed by the company to do so as an accommodation to passengers when possible. A conductor is required to have $10 in change when first starting out, and it can easily be seen that the changing of $5 bills from two passengers would exhaust this supply. If he accepted two such bills he would be compelled to stop the car and seek change himself while all his passengers waited.

MISTAKES IN CHANGE

When a conductor takes a piece of money from you from which you expect change, and passes on without returning change or audibly calling out the denomination of the money, you should not rely upon his having correctly read it and upon his returning your change to you later, but should call him back at once.

In order to prevent mistakes in change, misunderstandings and short change complaints, our conductors have been instructed to call out audibly the moment they receive a piece of money from a passenger, the denomination of the coin or bill, the number of fares which they understand are to be taken from it, and the change to be given in return, and to at once count out the change audibly as they hand it to the passenger. Co-operation of our patrons in insisting upon our conductors observing this rule will be greatly appreciated and will greatly assist us in preventing mistakes regarding change.

SWINDLER TELLS OF PAYING THE POLICE

"Schedule of Rates" in Chicago Included in Confession.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Confession of William R. Russell, an aged clairvoyant who admits he has swindled clients out of half a million dollars, has been made public by State's Attorney Hoyne. In it Russell reveals the regulations and rates for operating with police protection, and names many detectives and a "go between," to whom he said he paid thousands of dollars.

Russell asserted that he understood this money was to go to the state's attorney's office and to high police officials.

Russell, who was arrested Friday at Columbus, Ohio, where he was known as Prof. Barr, said he has been a clairvoyant for fifteen of his sixty-five years, and in that time extracted $500,000 from his victims in many cities. Advising them to invest in fraudulent stocks was his favorite method, he said. He has been indicted here on charges of operating a confidence game.

Protection Rates.

The prices paid by clairvoyants for operating in Chicago are as follows, according to Russell:

First month, $300 and 10 per cent of profits.

Second month, $350 and 10 per cent of profits.

Third month and each month thereafter, $400 and 10 per cent of profits.

"If a town was not right, we fellows never used to bother about it," Russell said. "Where we could not get police protection, we would not work. Sometimes I dealt indirectly with the mayor of a town, the state's attorney, chief of police and that way down. I never went directly to any man in an official position, and made arrangements with him. I did it through a go-between."

Russell stated that C. P. (Barney) Bertsche, politician and former saloon keeper, who is under several indictments, was the go-between in Chicago.

FINAL ACT TAKEN IN THE EDDY WILL CASE

Trustees Are Appointed to Administer $3,000,000 Fund.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 20.—The final act in the prolonged litigation over the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was the appointment by Judge Charles R. Corning in the Merrimack county court of probate of trustees to administer the $3,000,000 fund which Mrs. Eddy left for the promotion and extension of the doctrines of Christian Science as taught by her.

The trustees appointed are Archibald McLellan, Allison V. Stewart, John V. Dittemore, Adam H. Dickey and James A. Neal, who constitute the board of directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, and Josiah E. Fernald of this city, a banker.

These appointments by Judge Corning were made under a recent decision of the supreme court of New Hampshire, which held that Mrs. Eddy's will established not a local, but a world-wide general charitable trust, to be administered under the general supervision of the courts of New Hampshire.

SOUTHERN BISHOPS DISCUSS NEGROES.

New York, Oct. 20.—Two of the Southern bishops attending the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, discussed the negro problem last night at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the American Institute for the America Negro. Bishop Nelson of Atlanta made "a plea for a nation's ward." Bishop Gailor of Tennessee had for his subject, "Work of the Church Among Negroes of the South."

Bishop Nelson believed the negro capable of great development.

The bishop of Tennessee agreed with his brother prelate that the sudden enfranchisement of the negro was a great mistake.

"But after all our troubles," he said, "we are beginning to see daylight, for in thirty-five years the percentage of illiteracy has decreased from 70 to 27.5 per cent. It is estimated that today the total wealth of the negroes of the United States approximates $700,000,000."

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona; fill a two-ounce bottle with water and drop in one Optona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

SAYS THE SERVIANS BUTCHERED PEOPLE

Cablegram Tells of Putting Down of Albanian Rebellion.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—The Albanian insurrection of three weeks ago was put down with great atrocity by Servian troops, according to a cablegram received by the board of missionaries. The message states that in the outbreak in Dibra, Struga, Chrida and Kossovo, "men, women and children ran before the fire and sword of the Serb. The unfortunates who could not flee were slaughtered like cattle. In Elbasan and Tirana alone are 150,000 homeless."

The board of missionaries, while disclaiming responsibility for the message, states that the sender is a person worthy of full confidence.

SAYS NEW LAW WILL HELP ALL BUSINESS

McAdoo Answers Inquiries About Pending Currency Bill.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Bankers in all parts of the country are writing to the treasury department for information as to what will be the effect of the pending currency reform bill upon the government 2 per cent bonds.

Secretary McAdoo has made public a letter he addressed to R. D. Duncan of Little Rock, Ark., as typical of the replies he is making to all such inquiries.

"I have your letter of the 13th inst., in which you inclosed a copy of a circular issued by bankers of St. Louis in reference to the 2 per cent bonds," the secretary wrote, "and I am surprised that a reputable banking house would sponsor a circular disclosing such a lack of information upon such an important matter. If you have read the pending measure, you will see that the government is dealing more than fairly with the holders of these securities."

The secretary then detailed the provisions of the bill and concluding said: "I can see no ground for apprehension by the banks about the currency bill, or its effects. I am confident that the measure when passed will be acceptable to the country, and that it will prove of enduring benefit to the banks and to the general business interest and to all of the people."

FIFTEEN HURT IN WRECK.

Steel Cable Prevents Many Fatalities on Alton Train.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—Fifteen persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, when a "midnight special" of the Chicago & Alton railroad, bound from Chicago to St. Louis, was wrecked at Alton, Ill., thirteen miles east of here, Sunday.

The lives of thirty-three other passengers in all probability were saved by a steel cable bracing a telegraph pole, which caught the chair car and prevented it from overturning. The car was left standing on end, and all of its occupants were hurled in a mass to the bottom.

The most seriously injured are:

Mrs. Nora Clark, Springfield, Mo.

Miss Joseph Lowe, Jr., New York city.

Dr. August G. Saerpher and his son-in-law, Dr. Calvin E. Brown of Chicago, were the heroes of the occasion. Unmindful of their own cuts and bruises, they walked up and down the wreckage, rendering aid to the injured.

The wreck is believed to have been caused by spreading rails.

The injured were brought to this city.

BRYAN TALKS AT MISSION MEETING.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Brushing elbows with human derelicts, Secretary Bryan last night was an interested attendant at the Central Union mission. After a number of men had given testimony of their conversion to Christianity, the secretary, who had been recognized, was asked to speak.

"It is wise economy to save men," he said, in applauding the work of the mission. "It is cheaper to save them than to recompense society for what bad men may do."

Secretary Bryan visited the mission unheralded and walked from his home to the meeting through a drizzling rain.

BISHOP IS SHOT DURING MASS.

Harbor de Grace, Nfld., Oct. 20.—While conducting mass yesterday, Bishop March, a Roman Catholic prelate, was fired upon by James Hare, believed to be insane. One shot wounded the bishop slightly and another bullet buried itself in the altar. Hare fired twice before he was overpowered. In spite of his injury, Bishop March continued the services after a physician had cared for his wounds.

WRECK ON BIG FOUR.

Three Persons Probably Fatally Hurt In Disaster.

Tiffin, Ohio, Oct. 20.—Three persons were probably fatally injured, four were seriously hurt and scores were cut and bruised when a southbound Big Four passenger train was wrecked Sunday three miles south of this city. The engine, baggage car and two coaches left the track and rolled down the embankment. Those fatally injured are:

Harry Day, of Bellefontaine, Ohio, fireman, scalded and injured internally.

A. W. Shraggins, Tiffin, Ohio, badly cut about head; spine injured.

Spreading rails are said to have been the cause of the wreck.

FRED WARD IS CHOSEN

Work Farm Commission Names Him as Superintendent.

Not Much Work Expected on Farm Before Spring.

Fred Ward, county agricultural agent, will resign his position within the next few weeks to become superintendent of the joint city and county work farm which has been established on a 970-acre tract six miles west of the city on the Pike Lake road.

Mr. Ward is the choice of the work farm commissioners who were appointed by the mayor and chairman of the county board to manage the affairs of the new institution. The position was offered to Mr. Ward a few days ago. Saturday afternoon he filed his acceptance with A. H. Crassweller, president of the commission.

Before accepting the appointment, Mr. Ward conferred with Dean Woods of the state agricultural school and obtained his release as county agricultural agent to become effective as soon as his successor may be selected. Mr. Ward will continue in his present capacity until that time.

President Crassweller and other members of the joint city and county work farm commission feel that they are fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Ward as superintendent of the new institution. He comes to them with the best of qualifications as a farm manager. He has also had experience as head of a boys' correctional school in Illinois.

It is expected that little will be done in the way of actually developing the farm until next spring. Mr. Ward, as superintendent, will become secretary of the work farm board, succeeding J. O. Walker, deputy county auditor, who is secretary protem.

EACH CIRCLE OF LIFE HAS ITS CONDITIONS

Spirit Should Harmonize With Surroundings, to Insure Enjoyment, Says Pastor.

That every circle of life has its own conditions, its own ways and customs, its own idols and ideals was the theme of a sermon by Rev. Geo. R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church yesterday. "It is presided over by a certain spirit, and we can only enjoy the good of such a circle when we are dressed in the garment of that spirit." Continuing, he said:

"If we cannot accept the social habit or dress of a certain circle we had better stay away; if not that spirit will sooner or later whisper into our ear: Friend how camest thou hither, not having a wedding garment?' And we shall depart with shame. The social striver often has such experience. It is all very well as long as he moves among his own set, but ne is apt to got into trouble, when he tries to push himself into a circle for which he has neither the mental nor moral capacity. Money may help a man into the best society, but it cannot make him at home there. Where brains and culture count, a $500 diamond stud will count for little. For such a man or woman the most cultivated circle simply fetters his soul, and even if he be not told politely that he is in the wrong pew, he will gladly get out. We must have the spirit of the thing we would enjoy, and only so far as we have this spirit may we enjoy.

"All through life we find circles, which open their doors to us, but except we have the proper garment, the proper spirit, we shall not find any joy there. And this is true in a still wider sense. Nothing can be given to us from without merely. Happiness cannot be bought or be thrust upon us. We must have the spirit of music, if we would enjoy a symphony. The most magnificent picture gallery becomes to us a sort of artistic prison if we cannot appreciate the spirit of painting. The church is to many people an utterly stale place, because they lack the spirit of religion, which makes the most insignificent chapel a temple of the soul. Thus the law of life is, that we can only enjoy that for which we have the inner capacity. The really unhappy miserable man is the outcast, the fellow who is not at home anywhere, who does not live in the spirit of his work, his play, his society, his surroundings.

"See how this applies to the spiritual life in man. The wedding feast of love is spread for all, but only those can partake of it, who sit down to it in the spirit of the host, the great eternal spirit of love and truth. We need not learning and genius to enjoy the highest life but we must have the garment of character. Only when we are dressed in the robes of love and good will shall we have the highest joy in life. Yes, not only in this life, but in any life that may be ours. By that great love in us we are lifted up and in that great love is all there is to salvation."

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the elliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. Agent, Wirth's Red Cross Drug Store, 13 West Superior street.

MACKINAWS GO TO SWITZERLAND

F. A. Patrick & Co.'s Goods to Be Worn in Snows of Europe.

Alfred Hanchett of the F. A. Patrick & Co. received an order this morning for three mackinaws, which will be worn in Switzerland during the coming winter. Bert Elsning, who represents a lace factory in Switzerland, and who travels through this part of the United States every fall, called at the Patrick wholesale house today and said that he has seen so many Patrick mackinaws on visitors from America and England in Switzerland that he has come to the conclusion that they are just the thing for winter sports. He will take three back with him, one for himself and one each for two friends.

WORLD FLEET TO VISIT THE CANAL.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Anchored in Hampton Roads early in 1915, will be the greatest international fleet ever gathered in American waters, assembled in answer to the invitation of the United States government to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway.

The number of vessels which will lie in the famous roadstead is not yet known to the officials of the navy department, as so far there have been no formal responses received to the invitations dispatched by the state department to all nations of the world.

Some of the nations with great navies may be represented by squadrons of four or more warships; others by only one or two, and some of the countries practically without navies will be represented only in the personnel of their legations and commissions to the Panama Pacific exposition.

Traces of Radium Found.

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 20.—Prof. J. H. Shrader of the department of physics at Williams college, announces that he has found traces of radium in a spring near this town. According to the experiments, the presence of the rare element seems to be manifested in the form of gas, and so far all efforts on the part of Prof. Shrader to reduce it to salts of radium have proved unsuccessful.

RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

It's Me For Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative. No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PLAN TO AID FARM WOMEN

North Dakota First State to Make Practical Effort.

Pleasanter Life and Easier Conditions Are Objects Sought.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota is the first state in the union to make a practical effort for the betterment of the conditions of the wives of the farmers. Director Cooper, the new head of the experiment station here and the director of the station work and the better farming movement combined, is the originator of the idea.

Miss Mildred M. Vietch, a North Dakota girl, is the pioneer in this work and the first in all the United States to become a salaried employe of any movement of this nature.

"We hope," said Director Cooper, "to have co-operation with the farm women of the state along the same lines as our better farming movement with the men. We have demonstrated that the most effective way of developing an interest in agriculture is to carry the work directly to the man on the farm. It is this same method we intend to pursue with the women."

Continuing, Mr. Cooper said: "The women of the farms are very much more overworked than their sisters in the cities. They not only have more to do but far less conveniences with which to accomplish their tasks. Through our plan we hope to introduce new conveniences, to teach the wives of the farmers how to install them and to be able to make suggestions about any particular case and under any peculiar conditions that may arise.

"Miss Veitch has already assumed her duties and will soon be in the field. It is probable her work will be started in the southern counties of the state. It is the initial movement of its kind in the country and its success is assured if we have the co-operation of the wives of the farmers. It represents great possibilities and should result in better homes and better living conditions on the farms in this state."

Snow at Cooderay.

Cooderay, Wis., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first snow through this section for this season started to fall yesterday afternoon, following a six-hour rain. About two inches fell during the afternoon and night, but most of it melted before morning on account of the wet grounds. The rain and snow will delay potato digging for several days. Much of the potato digging is still to be done here.

BEAVERS CAUSE WORK FOR WISCONSIN TOWN

Dam Near Winter Twice Blown Up Because of the Animals.

Couderay, Wis., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A colony of beavers is causing the town officials in the town of Winter, near here, considerable trouble. The thrifty little animals decided to locate on Barker Lake creek and started to build their dams, backing up the water and making the roads past their dams impassible. Last week the game wardens blew out the dams with dynamite, but the beavers soon had them rebuilt again and this week the town officials had to dynamite the dams again.

The game wardens and the town officials are now awaiting the next move of the beavers. The little animals are protected so they cannot be killed, although their hides are very valuable.

LIVE BORDER TOWN FORGING TO FRONT

Big Paper Mill Opening at Fort Frances and Railroad Yards Coming.

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fort Frances, the neighboring town of this city on the Canadian side, has commenced to count the activities of the year and finds that figures can be quoted which show considerable activity and growth.

In the way of communication with this city over the international bridge, it is shown that the average per month through the year has been 1,500 vehicles and 30,000 foot passengers. The Canadian Northern road has recently announced that shops and yards will be maintained at Fort Frances that will make the city the most important on the western lines of the road except Winnipeg.

The Minnesota & Ontario Power company has ready to open within a few weeks a paper mill as large as the mill at International Falls, and building permits in the town for the year will exceed the $200,000 mark and there are authentic estimates that more than 200 men with families who have been employed in the city were forced to take their families elsewhere because places to live could not be obtained. The town, which was a Hudson bay trading post for over 200 years before the railroad was built through it, now expects to become a railroad and manufacturing city of importance and to keep pace with this city.

IDAHO DAMSEL PINES FOR "SOME CUTE KID"

Upper Peninsula Grocer Finds Sentimental Note in Plum Basket.

Ewen, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. S. Cole, a merchant at Ewen, found the following sentimental note tucked away in a basket of plums at his store the other day: "Just a little note: If some cute 'kid' should get this note, I hope he will answer my letter. I am a girl of 17 years and am considered pretty by every one. If you will correspond with me in your true self I will answer. I packed this box of prunes and get 4 cents for packing a crate. I can pack fifty crates a day. Well, 'kiddo,' I must 'chop off.' If any one married or past 25 should get this, please don't write, excepting to let me know who got this crate. Address Miss ——, Fayette, Idaho."

As Mr. Cole is a married man and is, besides, over twenty-five years of age, he is doubtly barred from corresponding with the Western girl.

WILL PLAY FOOTBALL BY ELECTRIC LIGHT

Crookston Plans Unique and Elaborate Celebration of Halloween.

Crookston, Minn., Oct. 20.—With a football game to be played at night between the first and second high school team, a big parade in which each school in the city will parade separately carrying out their own idea of a Halloween celebration, foot races and other contests, Crookston will celebrate the ancient holiday as it was never before celebrated in the Northwest, and in a manner which it is believed will meet with such general approval that it will be an annual event in future.

Judge Gossman, who was named by Commercial club as chairman of the committee to have charge of the affair is receiving the hearty co-operation of Supt. Hess of the city schools, Chief Eck, the school board and other citizens. Monday, Judge Gossman, Supt. Hess and members of the school board will visit each school in the city and outline the plans, after which each school will select a committee to have charge of that particular school.

Cash prizes will be hung up, and the parade, football game, races and other events will all take place in the white way district.

A big squad of special police in charge of Chief Eck will patrol the balance of the city, and any children found outside of their own yards will be promptly arrested and taken to the city lock-up.

The idea is to provide first-class entertainment in the down-town district, and thus eliminate all rowdyism.

The plan is arousing much enthusiasm.

MINNEAPOLIS LEPER DIES AFTER 10 YEARS

Bror Engberg Dead and His Wife's Long Martyrdom Ends.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—The heroic service of Mrs. Anna Engberg, who for ten years has been the constant attendant of her leper husband, ended Sunday in the death of Bror Engberg at their home, 1626 Chicago avenue, where she has hoped against hope for his recovery, which physicians told her would never come.

Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, said he had known the case for several years. He said leprosy is only mildly contagious, and that Mrs. Engberg had used every precaution and has protected herself and others. There is no quarantine regulations for leprosy in Minnesota. Dr. Bracken said, and he knows of several cases that are being cared for in private homes by relatives.

"We get a few cases from Norway, Italy and the Philippines," said Dr. Bracken. "During the summer we discovered two new cases, one a Filipino, the other an Italian. There are three cared for as pauper cases in the state, but others are cared for in private homes."

SAWMILL HELPS BOOM PARK FALLS.

Park Falls, Wis., Oct. 20.—Since the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago began operations in Price county last summer, Park Falls has been enjoying a real boom.

Many new business blocks have been erected and a large number of dwellings are now under course of construction. It is said that several Iron River merchants have picked out locations in Park Falls and will, in the near future, transfer their business interests to the latter place.

The Edward Hines saw mill is operating days and employing a large crew. Before long it will start a night shift. This is one of the largest sawmill plants in the Northwest, it being equipped with two band saws, a gang and a re-saw. In the immediate vicinity of that village the Edward Hines people are operating three logging camps which employ about 300 men.

FOSSTON WALLOPS THIEF RIVER FALLS.

Fosston, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fosston high school football team defeated the Thief River Falls high school team at Fosston, Saturady, Oct. 18, by the score of 72 to 3. By virtue of this victory Fosston is claiming the championship of the northwestern part of the state.

Fosston has already defeated Remidji and Red Lake Falls by a large margin.

LABOR SHORTAGE HAMPERS RAILROAD.

Manistique, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Scarcity of labor is hampering the work of reconstructing the roadbed and laying new steel on the line of the Manistique & Lake Superior railway. There is apprehension the extensive improvements mapped out will not be completed before the advent of severe winter weather. Several large crews are at work and, could men be procured, the forces would be doubled in size. New ties and new rails are being laid and the roadbed reballasted. The Manistique & Lake Superior extends from the Soo Line at Manistique to connections with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic at Shingleton and the Marquette, Munising & Southeastern at Evelyn, and is an important link in the Upper Michigan transportation system.

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad—or an uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness; its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, gassy stomachs. Its millions of cures in indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them; if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas; causes headache, dizziness and nausea; eructations of acid and undigested food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Negaunee—A notice was received a few days ago by J. M. Perkins, owner of the Perkins block, that the north half of his building on Iron street will be occupied by the postoffice after the first of the new year.

Ishpeming—There is considerable uneasy feeling owing to the closing down of the Baron mine at Humboldt, which has thrown out of employment more than 100 men, and partially paralyzed that village. This also makes considerable difference in business at Ishpeming, as a number of people of that region made it a practice to come here to trade, and the merchants say they will feel it appreciably.

Lake Linden—The funeral of the late John Pluge, who died Thursday night at Lake Linden, was held Sunday noon from Holy Rosary church, with interment taking place at the Mount Calvary cemetery.

Calumet—The marriage of Miss Mabel Thorpe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thorpe of Calumet, to W. J. Roberts, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. C. L. Adams of the First Methodist church officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Bessie Roberts and the groom by Walter Roberts, sister and brother, respectively, of the groom.

Hancock—The funeral of Mortimer O'Sullivan, late village clerk and justice of the peace, took place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Ignatius church. The deceased was escorted to Forest Hill cemetery by the Knights of Pythias, the Owls and the Elks, three orders of which Mr. O'Sullivan had been a member, the pall bearers being chosen from these orders.

Calumet—Members of the Calumet Y. M. C. A. have launched an energetic ten-day campaign for new members. All of the members of the association have been divided into two sides, the "Reds" and the "Blues." J. Garnet Odgers has been named as captain of the "Blues," and R. E. Odgers will lead the "Red" forces. Cyrus Craig, "Blues," will direct the work of the intermediates and Bert Friskey will be second lieutenant of the "Blues," leading the younger boy section.

Marquette—A large part of the money that will be required to build the proposed diocesan orphanage of the Catholic church at Marquette, which will cost from $75,000 to $100,000, is already available, and there is now no possible obstacle in the way of beginning work on the structure next spring. Already there has been placed on the proposed site of the building a large quantity of sandstone, procured from the South Marquette quarry, that will be used in the walls.

Houghton—A reception to the new teachers of the Houghton public schools and the new students of the Michigan College of Mines, was given in Grace M. E. church parlors Friday evening by the young people of that church.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Hankinson, N. D.—Martin Smith, aged 20, a transient laborer, died of heart failure in the Windsor hotel here.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Carper Hatz, capitalist, was run into by an automobile and painfully injured.

Fargo, N. D.—Friends in the city have received cards announcing the marriage of Miss Mildred Agatha Raymond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Raymond of Wheatland, N. D., to Martin Henningsgard. The wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Henningsgard will be at home in Wheatland after Dec. 15.

Devils Lake, N. D.—One of the largest land transfers recorded of late at Devils Lake went on the books of the register of deeds when Joseph M. Kelly sold 512 acres of land to Peder Bottelfs. The consideration is said to be $17,920, or $35 an acre.

Bismarck, N. D.—A Methodist college for Bismarck is an assured fact, the conference having conceived a project whereby the Bismarck college will be launched and the whole strength of the Methodist church will be behind it. The location has been definitely decided on near the capital. At the conference it was voted to raise $500,000 for educational work, and of that amount $300,000 will be used in the erection of the college at Bismarck.

Bismarck, N. D.—The annual Ananias banquet will be held at Bismarck this year on the evening of Nov. 15, and it promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever held in the state. The Ananias club is for fifty-one weeks in the year a fictitious organization whose proceedings are reported every week in the state, and has won much fame for the writer of the minutes, Editor Col. Ben G. Whitehead.

Sheldon, N. D.—That the Soo Line is thinking seriously of running a spur line out into the Silver Prairie country south of Leonard is now apparent, as Frank L. Thompson, general freight agent of the line, was in that territory last week looking over the lay of the country and is said to be favorably impressed with the amount of business from that locality that would be secured in event that the road be built.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Commercial club announces its next bi-weekly dinner for Monday evening, Oct. 27. The speaker will be Secretary Eva of the Duluth club.

Mott, N. D.—What is declared to be the best teachers' institute ever held in the slope country took place here. Nearly all of the teachers in the county, excepting the high school teachers, were in attendance.

Devils Lake, N. D.—George Talmadge, the local Great Northern store keeper for the past four years, has received a promotion and left for St. Cloud, to assume the management of the second largest store in the system.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Jesse Josksina, an Indian, was hurt at the Fort Totten fair. The horse he was driving fell and pulled the driver out of the rig, breaking two of his ribs. He is at a local hospital under the doctor's care.

Ryder, N. D. — H. E. Johnson and Aleck Haraldson shipped several carloads, nearly fifty head of cattle, from St. Paul. The cattle were taken out to Rice Lake ranch, where they will be fattened for market during the fall and winter.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Staples — The home of Mrs. Minnie Nason, on North Sixth street, was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday evening, when her daughter, Miss Grace Elizabeth, was given in wedlock to J. R. Nims. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. J. E. Wilson, and Mrs. J. D Marlin played the wedding march. James C. Hazlett of Minneapolis acted as best man, and Mrs. Orn Norris, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Little Marion Tyndall was flower girl. Master "Jack" Boardway, a nepsew of the birde, was ring bearer.

Fergus Falls—The Hooven & Allison company, the Scheffer & Rossum company, and Dodson, Fischer, Brockman company, filed a petition in the United States court here asking that the Morris Implement company of Morris, be adjudged bankrupt. No estimate of assets and liabilities is given, but the petition alleges that the firm owes in excess of the statutory $1,000, the petitioners' claims amounting to about $1,400.

Winona — Rev. M. S. Stone, pastor of the United Brethren church in this city, has been transferred to Waterville.

Mankota — Dr. Henry Westerman died yesterday. He was a retired physician, 86 years of age, and a native of Germany. After coming to America when a young man he was graduated from the medical school of Kansas City, and for years practiced at Windom and Heron Lake. His wife, three sons and eight daughters survive him.

Delavan—Mrs. William Carson, one of the earliest residents of this section, is dead as the result of a stroke of paralysis. She was born in 1850 in Duchess county, New York, coming with her parents to Blue Earth county in 1856. She was one of the first graduates of the Mankato state normal school and taught for several years. One son and four daughters survive her.

Redwood Falls — E. B. Donehew, who was arrested for robbery, has been bound over to the grand jury without bail. Fred Lobdell, arrested with Donehew as an accomplice, has been committed to the state asylum for inebriates at Willmar, and was also bound over under $400 bail to appear as a witness against Donehew.

Mapleton — Miss Pauline Payne and Edward Healey of this place were married at the home of the bride in St. Paul.

Winona — An hour and a half after they had been married in Winona yesterday, a message was received from the bride's father asking the police to arrest William Isensee and Rosie Mess, both of Sparta, Wis., in an effort to prevent their marriage. The father was advised that the service had been performed. At the parent's request the two were taken into custody, but later the father asked that they be released and permitted to return home to receive his forgiveness.

Lake City —The marriage of Miss Anna Stevenson, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Stevenson, to Dr. John A. McPhail of Blanchester, Ohio, took place Wednesday evening at the home of the bride in this city. Rev. W. C. A. Waller officiated. Among out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Stevenson, Miss Maud Stevenson and Mrs. Charles Williams, John Stevenson and Mrs. Archie Eddy of Minneapolis.

Caledonia — Miss Mathilda Schauls and William Schlitz, both of this place, were married here, Rev. Father Barresch performing the ceremony.

Brainerd — Fred H. Beck of Nokay Lake and Miss Emma M. Dykeman were married this week.

Winona — Winona poultrymen have incorporated as the Winona County Poultry association. There are over seventy-five members. The officers are: President, P. C. Shute; vice president, H. W. Buswell; secretary-treasurer, A. G. Skienar.

Brainerd — Frank Andrews, while driving his father's automobile and carrying as passengers George W. Stirewalt and two St. Paul hunters, lost control of his car and it dashed on the northeast Brainerd river bridge. The machine struck the railing and demolished a section of it. With the front wheels over the brink, the car hung there and gave the men a chance to escape.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Manitowoc—George Messman, an insurance agent, arrested on a charge of embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses, has been released under bonds for appearance, Oct. 30. It is alleged that Messmnn collected premiums on insurance policies for six years after the policies had been permitted to lapse, the money not having been paid to his company. Messman's arrest yesterday created a sensation.

Wausau—The first annual meeting of the Central Wisconsin Teachers' association will be held in Wausau, Oct. 24 and 25.

Grand Rapids—Mrs. Samuel Parker fell through a trap door and was severely injured.

Appleton—The state commissioner of banking has taken possession of the Mutual Loan & Building Association of Appleton, under authority granted by the state law, in order to liquidate the affairs of the association. Mismanagement on the part of a previous secretary is given as the cause of the financial difficulties. It is said the stockholders will realize full value of their stock.

La Crosse—Over 3,000 residents of the rural territory contiguous to La Crosse, including 1,000 persons from Houston and Winona counties in Minnesota, attended the first farmers' day held in this city. A crowning feature of the day's festivities was the marriage of Miss Jennie Linstrom and Peter Onsgard, on a platform in the market square in the presence of over 7,000 persons. Mayor Sorenson gave the bride away and Justice Herman Langstadt performed the ceremony. The couple received $600 worth of house furnishings.

Fond du Lac—Charles Mack, charged with embezzlement, and Max Gaul, facing trial on a statutory charge, were missing Sunday when the morning inspection of the county jail here was made. They escaped during the night by sawing their way through the steel lattice work of the window. The presence of a hack saw on the floor of the corridor indicated they had had help from the outside.

Madison—Work on the state capitol is being delayed by a strike of marble workers who want the question of membership in the bricklayers' union decided.

Madison—A new society of coeds, composed wholly of girls with red hair, was organized at the university on Thursday.

Oconomowoc — The Weber-Nelson company has been granted the contract for the erection of a new garage for Fred Pabst. The building will cost $10,000, will be two stories and of concrete and tile construction. The lower floor will be used as a garage and the upper rooms finished as living rooms.

Oshkosh—George H. Buckstaff, 76 years old, a retired lumberman, veteran of the Civil war and former state senator of Winnebago county, passed away at 7:15 o'clock Friday morning. He died in his home of inflammatory rheumatism, from which he had suffered for many years.

Madison—Losses from fire on state property insured in the state insurance fund were only $50 last year, according to the state insurance department. The fund now covers all state property, including capitol, university, normal and other state schools and charitable and penal institutions and also covers the property of seventeen counties. The state property insured is $17,003,618.17 and county property $1,214,485.26, a total of $18,218,103.48.

A NEW COACH IS NEEDED FOR MINNESOTA ELEVEN

Gophers' Defeat by Nebraska Indicates That Dr. Williams Has Been There Too Long.

Pittsburg Fan Tells Jack O'Leary That New York Lost $1,000,000 on the Giants.

BY BRUCE.

MINNESOTA was put out of the Western football championship rating by the Nebraska Cornhuskers last Saturday afternoon. And this brings us right to the issue of Williams.

Dr. H. L. Williams came to the university and took charge in 1900. That fall the team made in some respects its greatest showing under the tutelage of the former Yale halfback. Minnesota tied Chicago and defeated Wisconsin by the narrow margin of one point, the score being 6 to 5, the Badgers failing in the trial at goal.

In 1903 the famous 6 to 6 contest with Michigan was played at Northrop field. Perhaps this was the most historic and spectacular game ever played in the annals of Western football. Well and good; put this down to the credit of the doctor. Now let's turn to the debit side.

In 1901 with a team infinitely inferior from the physical standpoint, and also infinitely better coached, Wisconsin overwhelmed us by the count of 18 to 0. In 1902 the Giants of the North, for assuredly Minnesota still richly deserved this title, were roundly beaten at the hands of Michigan by the count of 23 to 6. In the two games played with Michigan since the famous tie conflict of 1903 the Minnesota team was beaten.

In 1910 it so happened that The Herald was the only paper in the state of Minnesota that picked the Michigan team to defeat the Minnesota eleven, which that season had displayed a form that made it an overwhelming favorite in the larger portion of the West over the team coached by Fielding H. Yost.

Minnesota's veteran team, tried and trained in the Williams school, was beaten in the great conflict of the season, as other teams coached by the man who has been at the university some thirteen seasons have been beaten in other crucial tests.

Stagg has been beaten, and the same is true of Phil King, and these men were two of the greatest coaches in the country—Stagg may be yet. Yost has been beaten, also. Here is the crux of the whole situation, the whole sum and substance of the matter. Williams has the greatest material in the West. This is an incontrovertible fact; there can be no dispute of this. Stagg has about the poorest material in the West—that is among the big schools, and yet he has beaten Williams, and with men woefully below the physical standard of the players possessed by the Minnesota coach.

Once Williams tied Yost; the other three games belong to Michigan. The year Williams came to Minnesota he found bequeathed to him a set of men of the standard of physical perfection. When the Gophers lined up on the old Northrop field on that never to be forgotten afternoon of 1900, the Badgers looked puny and physically insignificant in comparison with the gigantic members of the Minnesota team. Minnesota won by the score of 6 to 5, as was afore mentioned, and this victory gave Dr. Williams the reputation he has been more or less trading on since then.

It would be foolish and presumptuous in the extreme to set down the claim that Dr. Williams did not possess some admirable qualities as a coach. But it is held here that out of the multitude of years of his reign at Minnesota, Dr. H. L. Williams has not come anywhere near doing what might have been done by Stagg, King or Yost, had these men the wealth of material that each fall has been given to Dr. Williams.

Dr. Williams is a great coach—on paper. He has blundered repeatedly during his career as coach of the university. Times innumerable he has been outgeneraled and completely outwitted by King and Yost. He has failed abjectly at times to make the most of the material at his command. Dr. Williams has never won a big game unless the odds were in his favor; repeatedly he has been beaten by teams far inferior to his teams in the point of physical advantages—not in the point of coaching, however.

Take this year for example. How were things? Oh great. That's what they all said. This column said something about the departure of Heffelfinger and Shevlin for the East. Perhaps it was augury of dire disaster. Also something was said about the confidence being of too early a date. But none of us expected for one moment that Nebraska, the mid-season trial horse of yore, would defeat the University team and put us out of the running for the so-called Western championship—though, truth to tell it is an empty honor indeed without Michigan in the running.

Perhaps Dr. Williams has a life job at the University. Several times during the past we can distinctly recall places in the road where his job was in jeopardy. Once the incoming athletic board, if statements are correct, caucused and voted not to re-elect the good doctor. But the outgoing board beat the incoming members to it by re-electing the doctor. This is merely cited to show that during the years of his incumbency all has not been roses in the path of the doctor.

Dr. Williams is a very conservative man. He is distinctly and pre-eminently of the passe Bill Taft school. One time he elected to play a veteran who had been out of the game for a long time—and who didnt' know the signals by the way—rather than to take a chance on one of his innumerable new men. Later in the game, when Michigan had the everlasting tar beaten out of us, he stuck in Jimmy Irshfield and that stellar light made some of the best gains of the day. But it was too late to seriously affect the situation.

To deny that this was inspired by personal motives might be construed as an affirmation by some. No denial is needed. Dr. Williams has one hard working press agent in Minneapolis. To criticize Dr. Williams down in the Twin City belt has been frowned upon and labeled as "knocking." In some instances opinions have been severely trammeled. Throwing any personal belief to the four winds, one can take the facts in the case, review them critically and carefully, and then come to the same belief that several other coaches of the West, with the assistance that Dr. Williams has received from the helping hands of Shevlin, Heffelfinger and members of the alumni, might not do any worse than the present coach of the University of Minnesota football team.

They Were Sure of It.

A FRIEND from Pittsburg was visiting Jack O'Leary during the week that has flown. Sells crucible iron or something of that sort. Knows all of the members of the Philadelphia American league team by their first names. During the fanning bee this gent gave forth some interesting information.

Said he: "Pittsburg took something like a million dollars from New York. Some of us bet that the Athletics would take four straight. Here are some of my markers that called some bets that way. Course I lost; but, I didn't lose all of the bets I made.

"Say, listen but a moment. The members of the Philadelphia team didn't ever think for one moment that there was the least chance of losing. That's how they felt. Get me? Not for one moment did the team members think they had the least chance to lose. There was nothing to it; all of you fellows realize that at the present time; well the players on that team believed it before the start of the series. Mathewson was the only one who could stop the Athletics, and I don't mind telling you that the greatest ambition of the members of Connie Mack's team, was to knock Big Six out of the box. It was like purloining confectionery from some small child who has been reared and carefully nurtured in a nursery. Good night judge!"

CULLUM WINS FALL TITLE FROM TWEED.

Richard Cullum won the championship fall golf tournament at the Northland club grounds yesterday by the defeat of Chris Tweed, the winner pulling through the 37 holes one up on his opponent. The contest was close, as can be seen by the score, an extra hole being necessary.

ADAMS ELEVEN DEFEATS VIRGINIA TEAM, 13 TO 3

Visitors Put Up Best Game of Season and Show Strength.

Greisch Gives a Brilliant Exhibition of Fast Ground Gaining.

In the best independent game of the present season, the Adams yesterday defeated the crack Virginia team by the score of 13 to 3. The game was played in the first faint snow flurry of the season and was witnessed by a crowd that came near being the largest gathering that ever witnessed a football contest in this part of the state.

Great credit must be given to the boys from the range city. With but three weeks of preparation in the way of games and practice, the scrappy visitors from the range went in and at times actually outplayed the crack Adams aggregation.

In point of speed there is no one fair minded in the least who will not be willing to concede the superiority of Rademacher's bunch. In Greisch, the baseball star, Virginia has one of the best halfbacks seen at Athletic park during the present or many past seasons. The speed of this youngster baffled the Adams men at times and he made several substantial gains before he was slowed up by the strenuous play.

Team Work Lacking.

In the respect of team work the Adams excelled. In the point of tackling the visitors surely showed early in the game that they were by far the best team that has played here during the present season. When the Virginians hit a man he generally went down and once or twice the head of an Adams player would bounce off the ground from the force of the contact.

Time after time the forwards of the Virginia team pierced the Adams line and nailed the runner. On the matter of defense the Virginia backs did yeoman service and it must be stated that the Bradleys failed to gain with their customery consistency, because the second defense of the rangers often came diving in and nailed the runner in precisely the manner the runner should be tackled.

Roberts and big Capt. Buchanan were two of the most consistent ground gainers for the Adams. Stevens was out of the game until the second half and his absence undoubtedly impaired the efficiency of the back field. After Bad Bill got into the game there were more gains pulled by the backs and the interference was more compact and afforded the runner better protection.

One Tough Aggregation.

Viewing the game from all angles it might be stated that the Adams can be glad that they won. Virginia sent one tough team down here; a team of game boys, scrappy and aggressive, and the hardest playing bunch by all means that has opposed the Adams since the memorable game a year ago with the formidable Shamrocks of Superior.

Costella at quarterback was one of the prime blunders for the Virginia team. His forward passing, or attempts to forward pass were atrocious. One of the cardinal principles of football is never to run back, and this violation of the ethics of the game was performed time after time by the quarter of the opposing team, and invariably he was thrown for a loss at a time when his team was sadly in need of gains.

Virginia scored early in the game, in the first quarter, when Greisch dropped one of the prettiest goals ever negotiated at Athletic park. The kick was made from the 30-yard line and sailed fair and true between the uprights.

In the second quarter the triple A boys braced and played a hard and aggressive game. Near the middle of the quarter the Virginia team played a punt poorly and the ball was recovered on the visitors' 20-yard line. Little Roberts tore off a nice gain of ten yeards. Bill Bradley added more yards to the mark, and with the ball almost over the goal line Roberts was sent over for the touchdown. Goal was missed.

The second and final score of the Adams was made in the third quarter. As in the case of the first score, a badly played punt was responsible for landing the ball within striking distance of the visitors' goal line. Believing the ball would go out of bounds the Virginia backs made no effort to get the ball and one of the Adams players fell on it within some fifteen yards of the Virginia goal line.

The rangers made a great stand on their 5-yard line and the touchdown was made by inches almost, Roberts being shoved over the line and then kicking goal.

Some Bonehead Play.

One of the prize bonehead plays of the season, one of the richest seen in years, robbed the Adams of another touchdown in the final quarter of the game. In this period of play the Adams for a time tore to shreds the defense of the visitors. The ball was carried to the enemy's 2-yard line and then in a moment of temporary insanity Roberts called for a forward pass. The pass hit the ground and the ball was given to the Virginia team on its 25-yard line and the danger of another score was averted.

The game was a corker from start to finish and the range team has reason to be proud of the aggregation it sent here, for it proved that it has one of the best teams that has ever opposed the Adams.

JINX ON TRAIL OF AD WOLGAST.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion, cancelled his fight scheduled for next Friday night with Charlie White of Chicago, because he sustained a broken rib yesterday while training with Anton, the Greek. He will have to stop training for a least a month.

New World's Record.

New York, Oct. 20.—A world's record for throwing the 12-pound hammer from a seven-foot circle was made yesterday by Patrick Ryan of the Irish-American Athletic club. Ryan's mark was 213 feet, 9 inches. The old record, 207 feet, 7¾ inches, was made by John Flanagan three years ago.

Ouimet Loses Match.

Brookline, Mass., Oct. 20.—Poor iron work cost Francis Ouimet, the open golf champion, his match in the semi-finals in the Country club's fall tournament Saturday. The champion was defeated by F. H. Hoyt of Woodland, 2 up and 1 to play.

GOPHERS ARE DEFEATED

Nebraska Springs a Surprise in Saturday's Game at Lincoln.

Cornhuskers Win on Three Cleverly Executed Forward Passes.

Lincoln, Neb. Oct. 20.—Nebraska Saturday sent the Minnesota team back to Minneapolis with a 7 to 0 defeat, the result of three perfectly executed forward passes by Nebraska players, beginning on the Minnesota 40-yard line. The result was an overturning of football calculations, as it was a bold Cornhusker rooter before the game who could predict anything better than a tie score, and the few small wagers made were generally on the Minnesota side.

The scoring came toward the end of the third quarter. Nebraska had worked the ball into the visiting team's territory and Quarterback Towle dropped back for a field goal from the 30-yard line, but missed. Tollefson punted back and the team lined up on Minnesota's 40-yard line. Then came the series of forward passes which brought Nebraska victory. Beck was standing almost on the line when he received the ball and went over for the touchdown. Towle kicked goal.

Evenly Matched.

In weight and speed the teams were evenly matched. Howard slightly excelled Tollefson in the kicking game and in the open style of the play the Cornhuskers showed to advantage. On straight plunges through center and tackle, Minnesota was superior, twice being in striking distance after a march down the field, but at the crucial moment Nebraska held.

Gophers Start Strong.

The first quarter was clearly Minnesota's. The men from the north started with a vim and determination that fairly took the locals off their feet, but it ended after the first five minutes' play and from them on, the ball was two-thirds of the time in Minnesota's territory, save at the close of the game, when the Minnesota men fought desperately and carried the ball to the Nebraska line, only to lose it on a fumble.

The game was freely played and free from injuries, the Cornhuskers going through without a change in the original lineup, while Minnesota was called on to supply only two substitutes.

A BOOST FOR DULUTH TEAM

George Granger Says Darby Has Some Live Ones Signed.

George Granger, a well-known Cleveland ball player who is now making his home in Duluth, is greatly pleased with the ball players selected by Peerless Darby for next season's Duluth team. Flenk and Ositky he knows well and says they are live ones. Mr. Granger says Cleveland is the greatest baseball center in the world and that the people talk the game all day and dream of it at night.

He says Duluth could be sure of the pennant in the Northern league next year if it will secure the following Cleveland players: Vaugh, Bassette, Winersteller and C. Page, pitchers; Parmalee, shortstop; Page, fielder; Sweeney, catcher; Yockman, third base.

YALE ALONE IS NOT SCORED ON

Cleanest Football Record of All of the Eastern Colleges.

New York, Oct. 20.—With the half way mark passed in the schedules of the big Eastern college football teams, the strength and weakness of the elevens are beginning to be apparent to the follower of the autumn sport. Saturday's games were in many cases the final so-called practice contests and from this time on the varsity combinations will be called upon to face opponents capable of extending the leading gridiron aggregations to the stiffest kind of a contest.

Although none of the big university teams were defeated on Saturday, there were several close calls and, in the second division, more than one upset. It is becoming more apparent each season that the minor college teams must be reckoned with in schedule arrangements, and that the old-fashioned clean-slate for the season days are past. The leaders doubtless would scorn to admit that they have yet met teams equal in ability, but Yale alone has been able to keep her goal line unpassed.

The Army just avoided a defeat at the hand sof Colgate by a touchdown in the closing seconds of Saturday's game which, considered in the light of the Navy's steady playing, cannot be the basis over confidence at West Point. Although Harvard was scored upon by Holy Cross, Saturday, the Eastern championship college of 1912 appears to be moving forward at a pace that surpasses that of any of her formidable rivals at this time. In four games during which 182 minutes of actual play were recorded, the Crimson had registered 113 points. A field goal by Williams and a touchdown and goal by Holy Cross following a fumble by Freedly on Saturday is the extent of the scoring by opponents. In Eddie Mahan, Harvard appears to have a running mate for Brickley and Hardwick, who rounds out the backfield well.

PURDUE TIES THE BADGERS

Score Touchdown in Last Period on 70-Yard Run.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 20.—Purdue tied the score with Wisconsin in the last period of the game Saturday, when Oliphant made a sensational 70-yard run for a touchdown and kicked the goal that ended the game with the final result 7 to 7. Wisconsin had scored in the second quarter on straight line bucking, sending Tandberg over for a touchdown. Bellows kicked goal.

The contest had been counted the crucial one in the conference season for both teams from which the fight for the leadership must be made. A year ago Wisconsin, which won the championship, defeated Purdue 53 to 0, but the earlier games this year had indicated Purdue's strength. At every play Wisconsin used Purdue fought back successfully, until in the second period the visiting players started down the field with a series of line bucks that ended with their score. From this time on Purdue seemed to have the better of the contest, but was unable to reach their opponents' goal line.

With six minutes left to play, Oliphant skirted Wisconsin's left end, shook off first one and then another opponent, and then, knocking Quarterback Bellows aside at Wisconsin's 26-yard line, had a clear field for the touchdown that saved his team from defeat.

Early in the game both teams resorted to kicking, and Bellows of Wisconsin had the better of O'Brien, but the teams abandoned the punting when it became apparent the gains were small.

GIANTS AND WHITE SOX BEGIN TOUR OF WORLD

Play First Game at Chicago---Take Ship Nov. 16 at Vancouver Headed for Japan.

Chicago, Oct. 20. — The Chicago American league club and the New York Giants, champion of the National league, began their world's tour here yesterday. The teams were given an enthusiastic farewell, despite the fact that the weather was more suitable for football. Eight thousand fans, it was estimated, saw the game, which the Giants won, 3 to 1.

Members of both teams wore uniforms trimmed with the national colors, with the American flag worked on their sleeves.

The tourists are to travel in a special train which left last night for Springfield, Ill., where they will play today. The special train will be their home until Nov. 19, when they board the steamer at Vancouver for Japan. They expect to arrive in New York March 6, next year.

The game yesterday was a close affair with Russell and Demaree opposing each other. The score: R. H. E.

CENTRAL HAS AN EASY TIME WITH VIRGINIA HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Duluth Central high school Saturday afternoon defeated the Virginia high school football team by the overwelming score of 44 to 0. The score represented truthfully the difference between the teams. In the way of a high school aggregation of football players the range sent about the worst team that one could possibly imagine, and if the team that played Central last Saturday is the same aggregation that defeated the Superior Central eleven, then the team across the bay is more to be pitied than censured.

As a matter of fact Walter Rademacher did not ccach the Virginia team. Maybe someone did, but the results were not apparent. The boys tried their best and twice during the game made gains; but from the standpoint of football it must be painfully stated that the lads from the range did not even know the rudiments of the game, for there are some kids in the junior football league of Duluth who understand perfectly that line men are not supposed to go into the play with head high in the air and hands clawing wildly in the air.

Did Not Know Better.

This is not intended as a roast for the Virginia team or the players that made up that team. It wasn't the fault of the players; they didn't know any better. It was obvious before the start of the contest that the visitors would prove a joke, so obviously did the players tip their mitt in the brief practice before the start of the contest. Virginia was offered a game and came, resolved no doubt to play the best football the team knew. Undoubtedly the visitors did, the sad part of it that the best of Virginia was pathetic.

It is quite useless to go into detail as to the way the scores were made. Virginia possessed no defense whatever. Huge holes were torn in the line. On the defense it was nearly as bad. Capt. Stein of the visitors played at quarter and his idea of that position was to pass the ball and then stand calmy and watch the progress or the non-progress of the runner. Far be it beneath Capt. Stein to lift an aiding hand.

It wouldn't be right to say that any of the Central players starred. It wasn't in the least necessary. Brownie, Kerr, Denfeld and the rest of them took the ball and gained without serious opposition. Virginia couldn't stop the rushes of Central and Virginia couldn't gain with the ball, so obviously the ball was in possession of the Duluth team for the greater part of the time.

On the line Central simply tore the opposition into shreds, with large ambient atmosphere between the shreds. Holes of huge proportions were torn in the opposing line. During the second half the subs were put in the lineup and the progress of the oval toward the Virginia goal was not stopped in the least.

Kicks Pretty Goal.

"Rusty" Hoopes kicked a pretty drop kick, which swelled the bulging score. As for the all round play of Central, it must be said that the hill top boys have a corking team, and one that will take a lot of beating before it would acknowledge defeat. Virginia was utterly unable to test either the offense or the defense of Central. In standard of efficiency Central measures well up to the teams of other years, and it is only necessary to state that the faith of the hill top students as well as those who don't study are firmly pinned on the ability of the team to defeat St. Paul Central in the game of this Friday.

TITLE NOT AFFECTED

Football Upsets Do Not Have Bearing on Conference Results.

Middle West Decisions Are More Humiliating Than in East.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Upsets in the play of leading football teams Saturday fulfilled the prediction of the games of the week preceding that all was not going well in the camps of former leaders. From the defeat of Michigan by the "Aggies" down to minor games, reversals were the order of the day, and seldom does one Saturday offer so many defeats for supposedly stronger teams as did the last week-end. While this condition was not confined to the Middle West alone, the decisions in the West were more important and in some cases more humiliating.

While some of the scores fulfilled the "dope" of this year's games, practically all of them are the reversal either of last year's results or of the decisions of a long series of games between the schools.

The Nebraska and Michigan "Aggie" victories, the tie between Purdue and Wisconsin, the showing of Illinois against Northwestern are most important in their bearing upon sectional or Western leadership. It has been many years since Minnesota and Michigan have both suffered defeats by Western teams at this stage of the season. It has been still longer since Purdue was within possible striking distance of the Western championship at this time.

Saturday's results did but little to muddle the race for the Big Nine title. Minnesota lost some of the prestige it has enjoyed by being defeated by an outside team. The week's play narrows the conference field to Wisconsin, Purdue, Minnesota, Illinois and Chicago. The schedule of these teams is so arranged that a definite championship may result, as they all meet excepting Minnesota and Purdue.

COLE'S TEAM WINS CONTEST

The Northland club golf season was officially brought to a close on Saturday afternoon with the match between the president's and vice president's teams, President Cole's team winning out by the score of 21 to 16.

Under the system of scoring one point was given for winning the first nine holes, one point for winning the second nine holes and one point for winning the match.

Following the contest a dinner was held at the clubhouse.

MILWAUKEE WINS DECIDING GAME

Defeats Denver for Championship of Minor Ball Clubs.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 20.—The Milwaukee club, pennant winners of the American association, defeated the Denver Western league champions in a minor league championship game yesterday, 9 to 8, winning the series. Milwaukee won four games to Denver's two.

Played on a wet, muddy field, with the thermometer below the chilly mark, the game yesterday was more of a farce than baseball. Each team was credited with four errors, due mainly to fumbling of the ball because of numb fingers. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Milwaukee	1	0	1 1 0 0 0 3 3 x—9	13	3

MICHIGAN DEFEATED.

Wolverines Outplayed in All Departments By Michigan Aggies.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20.—Outplaying their rivals in nearly every department, the Michigan Agricultural college football eleven defeated the University of Michigan 12 to 7 here Saturday afternoon. It was a desperate gruelling struggle. It was the first time that the agricultural has beaten Michigan on the gridiron.

Punting and line plunging had much to do with the victory of the Aggies. In both departments they excelled. In the first period a battering-ram attack quickly brought them to a touchdown; another came in the third period by similar plays and Michigan fumbles. Michigan scored in the final period, after getting within striking distance, when Michigan Agricultural college fumbled.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed by Ursula Russ and John Russ, her husband, mortgagors, to Sattler Liquor company, mortgagee, bearing date Oct. 1st, 1909, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, in the County Court House in the City of Duluth in said County and State on Oct. 15th, 1909, at eleven o'clock A. M., in Book 267 of Mortgages on page 402 thereof.

That said default consists in the failure of said mortgagors to pay the balance of principal and interest due according to the conditions of that certain promissory note secured by said mortgage and described therein; no part of such principal and interest having been paid except the sum of $380.00, though payment of said note has often been demanded and the same and the whole thereof, is now long overdue.

The name of said Sattler Liquor company has been changed to and now is, Sattler Brothers' company; said mortgage has never been assigned and said company is now the owner and holder thereof, of record and in fact.

By reason of such default the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage.

The amount claimed to be due, and actually due, upon said mortgage at the date of this notice, is the sum of $1,289.05.

The premises described in and mortgaged by said mortgage are situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and are described as follows, to-wit: Northwest quarter (NW¼) of the Northeast quarter (NE¼) of Section Thirty-three (33) in Township Fifty-nine (59) of Range (20) West, containing forty (40) acres more or less, according to the government survey thereof and buildings thereon situate, all situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.

By written instrument dated Aug. 28th, 1911, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds on Dec. 23rd, 1911, in Book 218 of Mortgages on page 555, said Sattler Brothers' company (formerly Sattler Liquor company) mortgagee in said mortgage, released from the lien of the above described mortgage to Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota, all that portion of said mortgaged premises described as follows:

Commencing at a point where the sixteenth line of the Northeast quarter (NE¼) of Section Thirty-three (33), Township Fifty-nine (59) North, Range Twenty (20) West, intersects the westerly line of the County Road as now established; thence West, along the said sixteenth line, Three Hundred (300) feet; thence North at right angles, Two Hundred Seventy-four (274) feet; thence East, at right angles and parallel with said sixteenth line, Three Hundred and Forty-five (345) feet more or less to the Westerly line of said County Road; thence southwesterly along the Westerly line of said County Road to the place of beginning, containing two (2) acres more or less.

Said property had previously been conveyed by the mortgagors to said releasee. Now therefore:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That in virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises first above, and in said mortgage described, reserving and excepting therefrom all that portion of said mortgaged premises last above described as having been released to Independent School District No. 40 of St. Louis County, Minnesota; that said sale will be made at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, by the Sheriff for said County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, at the office of the Sheriff in the County Court House in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 5th day of November, 1913, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage and Twenty-five ($25.00) Dollars, attorneys' fees as provided in said mortgage, together with the costs and disbursements allowed by law.

Dated at Duluth, Minnesota, this 22nd day of September, 1913.

SATTLER BROTHERS' COMPANY. (formerly Sattler Liquor company), Mortgagee.

Sale of School and Other State Lands

State of Minnesota, State Auditor's Office.

St. Paul, October 6, 1913.

Notice is hereby given, That on November 19, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M., in the office of the County Auditor at Duluth, St. Louis County, in the state of Minnesota, I will offer for sale certain unsold state lands and also those state lands which have reverted to the state by reason of the non-payment of interest.

Terms: Fifteen per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1st, 1914, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year; provided, the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale. Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Not more than 320 acres can be sold or contracted to be sold to any one purchaser.

Agents acting for purchasers must furnish affidavit of authority. Appraisers' reports, showing quality and kind of soil, are on file in this office.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the State Auditor or the State Commissioner of Immigration at St. Paul, and of the County Auditor at above address.

SAMUEL G. IVERSON, State Auditor.

VIRGINIA SOCIETY REDUCES SUFFERING

Associated Charities Closes Successful Year in Helping Unfortunates.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. J. W. Deering, secretary-treasurer of the Associated Charities, has made public the report of the work done by the association from the time of its organization in February of this year up to Oct. 1. The report shows that much has been done for the relief of poverty, the prevention of pauperism and improvement of moral and social conditions of the city. It has the approval of the city council, that body having turned over $167 in cash and a large amount of fuel which will be used in the relief work during the coming winter. The churches and other societies of the city are also co-operating with the association. The association desires contributions of clothing, bedding, etc., and these may be left at the city clerk's office.

The following is the secretary-treasurer's report

Personal applications for aid, 17; transportation, 6; medical treatment, 3; friendly visiting, 20; investigation only, 2; children received from improper homes, 7; clothing, furniture and bedding supplied to the needy.

The receipts of the association were as follows: Membership fees and donations, $72; from charity ball, $494; total, $566.

The expenditures were: Charity ball, $140.70; medicines, $9.55; food, clothing and housing, $113.93; nurse's services, $40; advertising, $7.95; transportation, $18; stationary, etc., $10.45; incidentals, $14.40; balance in bank Oct. 1, $91.02.

CONTRACTOR UNABLE TO COMPLETE ROAD.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county commissioners have been notified by Contractor Ross K. Noble, that he could not live up to the terms of the contract for the building of County Road No. 114, known as the Warba road.

Noble notified the board that he was already deeply in debt for labor and supplies on the road, and that so far as he could see there was no way of his obtaining further credit. Chairman King was authorized to sign the proper notice of default and to send the same to the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company of Baltimore, Md., this company being surety for Noble.

The contract was let to Noble some little time ago for the sum of $5,600. Work was begun at once but the bad weather, and the cost of hiring men to do the work, was so much more than the contractor had figured on that there was nothing to do but cancel the contract.

Following the disposition of the contract matter, a committee comprising Commissioners Nelson, James Passard and Morris O'Brien was chosen to represent the county board at the state convention of county commissioners, which is to be held in Minneapolis from Oct. 25 to Oct. 28.

GRAND RAPIDS COURT RESUMES SESSIONS.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—District court will resume its session Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, when the remainder of the jury cases to come before this sitting of court will be taken up. The last of the court cases, ready for hearing, that of Al Wellein against Joseph William, et al., was heard Saturday.

Wellein, who conducts a garage here, is suing for $200, the amount of a bill for repairs on William's machine. William does not deny that the repairs were made, but says that the bill was exorbitants, and refuses to pay it on those grounds. Judge Stanton reserved his decision.

TWO HARBORS COAL WILL ARRIVE SOON.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two Harbors will receive its first cargo of hard coal Wednesday. A boat containing several hundred tons is on the way and will be here at that time. The price at which this coal will be sold to the citizens has not as yet been set. The council will later issue hand bills quoting prices, and will endeavor to have as much of the coal sold directly from the boat as possible. This will eliminate handling through the municipal dock.

The city recently had a cargo of about 900 tons of soft coal, which was sold at $3.90 by the car and $4 for smaller quantities. Another cargo of soft coal has been ordered and will reach here before navigation closes, it is expected.

TACONITE MAYOR WINS GOLD WATCH.

Taconite, Minn., Oct 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. Thomas Cameron, mayor of Taconite, was the winner of a fine gold watch in a contest at the Catholic fair, Saturday evening, in Coleraine, he having secured the greatest number of votes The mayors contesting for the match were: Cameron of Taconite, Supt. Earl Doud of Virginia spent Sunday at his home in the village.

INDIANS WILL SOON HAVE SPENDING MONEY

Another Distribution Early in November Makes Town Merchants Expectant.

Tower, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Once again the Indians are to enjoy the distribution of a large sum of money by the government. A year ago a number of families received as high as $800, each member having been given $75. At the distribution to occur early in November, twice this sum will be paid out. Tower merchants are expecting considerable extra business next month as a consequence.

Tower was visited Sunday by a snow storm that raged with much vigor most of the day. The disappointment to hunters of small game was intense.

Mayor Charles Roland has completed a hot water heating plant for his business block on Main street and the system is working well.

Dr. Barrett and wife and a party of friends arrived here Saturday afternoon by auto from Gilbert, en route to Joyce's Landing, at the head of Lake Vermilion, for a hunting trip over Sunday.

Dr. O. O. Benson, superintendent of the Indian school, was a Tower visitor on Saturday.

N. J. Beum and wife left by auto on Saturday afternoon for points on the Mesaba range.

Dr. Lenont and a party of friends arrived here Saturday in a large touring auto to spend the week-end at the doctor's spacious cottage on Pike bay, Lake Vermilion.

The firm of Benson & Co. is unloading its sixth car of dressed lumber this season.

Supt. Atwood and proprietors Oberg & Wernlund formed a hunting party Saturday that enjoyed the day in the woods about Tower.

The City of Holland, which has been laid up a month to receive a new boiler, is about ready for service.

Large quantities of coal are arriving at this place for the various dealers, schools and other large consumers. Private parties are having their winter supply laid in at present.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. William Haley of Lakeside is seriously ill.

Large numbers of hunters are finding their way to Tower's famous hunting grounds, many arriving by auto.

A special meeting of School District No. 9 (Tower and Soudan), may be called soon to discuss the proposed enlargement of the Soudan building, the plans for which the state commissioner of school buildings refuses to indorse.

BUHL PARK SITE CAUSES LITIGATION.

Buhl, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that the village council of Buhl has no right to purchase a park site from one of its members and that $3,500 is $2,000 too much for the land in question, John Pasich, has applied for a restraining order preventing payment.

E. A. Roberts, a member of the council, was the owner of the land which the board decided to purchase for park purposes. A deed to the land had been made out to Cashier Flynn of the Buhl bank, which Pasich in his application, claims was accompanied by no consideration.

Judge Hughes has appointed R. W. Swinnerton of Hibbing, J. H. McNiven of Chisholm, and Neil Gardner of Virginia, as a board of review to pass on the value of the tract. The board is expected to start work within the next ten days.

COURT TO DECIDE EVELETH ELECTION.

Eveleth, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The decision of Judge Hughes in the Eveleth charter election is awaited with great interest. After three conclusions had been arrived at, each tending to show that the charter had passed or failed, it was decided to submit the contest to the court.

On a recount it was found that the charter passed, after the election had shown it to be defeated. A later decision showed that the measure was lost. Judge Hughes is expected to pass on the validity of the returns Tuesday.

DEER RIVER MAN FIGHTS TAX LEVY.

Deer River, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. D. Ingersoll, on behalf of the taxpayers of the village of Deer River, has started suit before Judge C. W. Stanton in the district court at Grand Rapids to enjoin County Auditor Spang from levying any taxes against the property in the village to meet an issue of $12,000 road and bridge bonds running since 1906.

The plaintiff's contention is that the taxpayers of the village are exempt from participation in the payment of bonds issued by the township for road and bridge purposes. The township officials maintain that inasmuch as the village property is also part of the township, the people within the municipality must stand their share of the indebtedness. Thwing & Rossman represent the village, while C. C. McCarthy and H. W. Stark are handling the case for the township.

VIRGINIANS TO GIVE BALL MASQUE.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Lenont, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Griggs have invitations out for a mask ball to be given at the Socialist opera house on Wednesday evening of this week.

Ely Football Team Quits.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There was gloom here Saturday when about 200 enthusiastic followers of the Ely eleven planned to cheer their team in its game against the Two Harbors players, only to find that the boys would not uphold the school colors. Three of the star players of the Ely eleven resigned suddenly and their action so wenkened the team that there was nothing to do but call the game off, according to the other players.

NAME FRAMERS OF CITY'S NEW CHARTER

Mayor Murphy of Virginia Selects Balance of Commission.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Murphy has submitted eight new names to the judges of the district court for places on the charter commission, as follows: John D. Lamont, O. H. Griggs, Murdock McDonald, John Dahlin, John Costin, J. Cherne, Frank Hughes and B. Jereissati. Those who have already qualified are Joseph Roman, P. A. Coffey, E. C. A. Johnson, Andrew Grande, John Ketola, Charles M. Dorway and C. C. Butler.

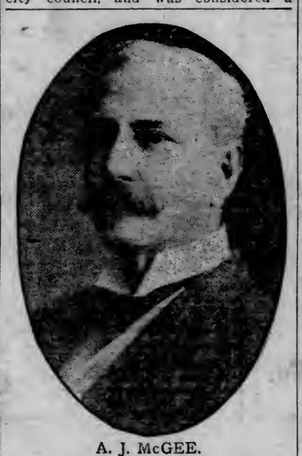

It is hoped to have the full commission in working order soon and steps will at once be taken by the commission to prepare needed revisions of the charter to submit to the voters at the next regular city election in February. Under the present charter the water and light commission is hampered in transacting its business and the revisions which will be prepared and recommended will be designed to empower it in transacting its affairs independent of the city council, which under the present condition of affairs, cannot be done. At present the water and light commission is meeting weekly, but it is expected that after the proposed revisions are made its duties will be considerably lightened.

TWO HARBORS PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Abraham J. McGee, Former County Treasurer and Alderman, Dies of Illness.

Two Harbors, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abraham J. McGee, aged 60 years, died last night at 8:30 at the Budd hospital, where he had been confined for several days suffering with cirrhosis of the liver and dropsy.

Mr. McGee was one of the old settlers of this city, having come here in 1886 from St. George, N. B., where he was born and where his parents resided. With a brother he went into the dry goods business in this city and immediately began to make friends, who later put him up for county treasurer and elected him. After serving the county one term, he expressed a desire to quit politics and tend to business. Later, however, he served the city for two years on the city council, and was considered a faithful worker. He sold his interest in his store about twenty years ago, and since that time he has held various positions in the county and with the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company. His health had been failing him for the past year or so, and towards the end he took life easy.

Mr. McGee was a member of the Masonic lodge of this city and also of the K. of P. In both lodges he was very popular and held many offices in both.

He leaves a wife and two children, two daughters, Madlin and Dorret. He also leaves two brothers, John McGee of Milwaukee, and Dr. D. McGee of St. George, N. B. A nephew, C. A. McGee of Santiago, Cal., has been notified of Mr. McGee's death and is expected here for the funeral. A niece, Mrs. Holden, resides in this city.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 o'clock from the Methodist church, and Rev. Mr. McKee will officiate. The Masonic order will have charge of the funeral. Interment will be made in the Two Harbors cemetery.

CHISHOLM MINER IS KILLED BY TROLLEY CAR

Buhl, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marko Matwego, a Chisholm miner, was killed by a trolley car near Buhl late last night.

According to the motorman, the man was lying on the track and he did not see him until too late to stop the car.

Little is known of the dead man except that he was a miner.

Aurora Club to Entertain.

Aurora, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora club, reorganized for the winter, will give its first dancing party of the season on Wednesday night in the new Finnish hall. Invitations have been sent to all range cities and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

E. H. J. Jeronimus, W. A. Abbett, Tredway Pharmacy, L. B. Maltox, A. E. Swedberg.

ELY BANK OPENS IN NEW BUILDING

Vermilion Range Financial Institution Erects Handsome Business Block.

Ely, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The First National bank began business in its new building this morning. The new building is of brick construction, built on the old site, at the corner of First avenue east and Chapman street, and cost about $13,000.

This is the oldest financial institution in Ely and has over $450,000 in deposits.

The new building is one of the best, if not the best, in the city, and every convenience for banking has been installed. The affairs of the bank are conducted by L. J. White, cashier, and A. J. Sundholm, assistant.

The interior is finished in dark oak, and is so arranged as to give a well lighted room for the working room of the banking force, and a spacious waiting room for the public, a private room for the cashier, and modern vaults. Safety deposit boxes have been installed and will be rented out to the public.

EVELETH TOO STRONG FOR HIBBING TEAM.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eveleth's football eleven defeated the Hibbing students here Saturday afternoon, by a 25 to 8 score. Forward passes that worked and snappy end runs resulted in the visitors' victory.

Emerson, substituted at fullback in the Hibbing lineup, was easily the star of the contest. His playing was responsible in the main for keeping the score down. Franzel and Levant shone for Eveleth.

VIRGINIA ELKS PLAN GAY SEASON.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A meeting of the social committee of Virginia lodge, B. P. O. E., was held yesterday afternoon in the clubrooms of the Elks' building, where plans were outlined for the social activities of the order during the winter.

The first of a series of dancing parties will be given the latter part of this month. A Bohemian night will be the feature in November, and the annual banquet will be held soon after the new year. The committee is composed of A. G. Flourney, H. S. Gillespie, H. V. Peterson, E. B. Johnson and C. L. Brundage.

Buhl Wife Seeks Divorce.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charging her husband with desertion, cruel and inhuman treatment and non-support, Katie Balch, the 17-year-old wife of Thomas Balch of Buhl, has started a suit for divorce to be tried at the Hibbing term of court. She alleges that they were married Sept. 29, 1912, and that her husband lived with her six months; that he later returned to her and threatened her with a knife. He was arrested and served ninety days in the county jail. Owing to the lack of support, the girl was obliged to work in a boarding house, she alleges in her complaint.

Columbus Knights to Dance.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Invitations have been received for the first annual dance of the Knights of Columbus to be given at Hibbing Friday night. La Brosse's orchestra of Duluth will play.

Manganese Improving.

Crosby, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work was started this week on the laying of cement sidewalks on the main street of Manganese, located four miles northwest of Crosby. The new town is following the example set by Crosby and other modern villages of the Cuyuna by starting out right with its public improvements.

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy

If you should meet anyone varnishing a sore with greasy ointment, your best advice would be to quit such things and attend to the blood.

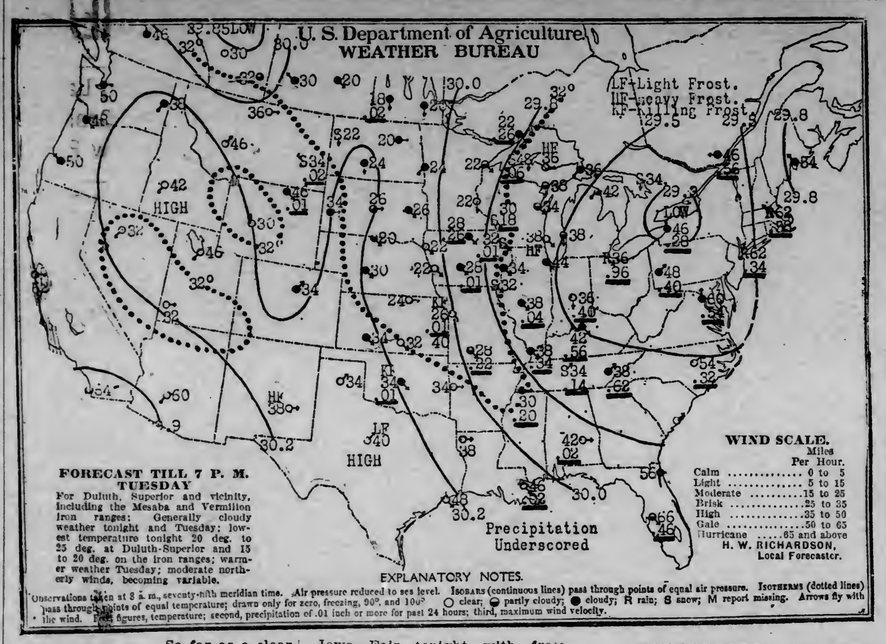

To successfully fight any blood trouble, some eruptive skin disease—call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, malaria, scrofula, or what you will—there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood, for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshalled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy to-day, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar, write to the Swift Specific Co., 216 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Do not permit anyone to talk you into some useless compound they put up as a substitute for S. S. S. No honest druggist will do this.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

So far as a clear sky and a nippy, blood-stirring atmosphere is concerned, Duluth had the real thing this morning, and to most people it seemed a trifle too much for light overcoats. Some men braved comment, questions and pneumonia by coming down to work this morning without overcoats, sporting only gloves as extra covering. The thermometer got as low as 22 above zero in Duluth during the night, the weather bureau gives promise of continued fair weather with increased cloudiness and warmer atmosphere.

A year ago today and yesterday were fair.

The sun rose this morning at 6:33 o'clock and will set this afternoon at 5:12 o'clock, giving 10 hours and 39 minutes of sunshine.

Mr. Richardson has the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable intensity, centered over Lake Ontario, caused strong westerly winds in the lake region during the last twenty-four hours and rain or snow from the Mississippi valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. Much colder weather prevails in the Middle West, Southwest and Northwest, freezing temperatures being the rule in those districts. Snow was falling this morning over portions of the Upper Mississippi valley. Storm northwest warnings are displayed on Lakes Superior and Michigan."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper and Lower Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably snow flurries; freezing temperature tonight.

Minnesota—Fair tonight; Tuesday increasing cloudiness and warmer.

North Dakota—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; probably rain or snow; warmer tonight.

Montana — Cloudy tonight with warmer in east portion; Tuesday fair.

EIGHT PROVINCES IN EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Duluth Delegate to General Convention Tells of New Organization.

Two important actions were taken by the general convention of the Episcopal church in New York city, according to Thomas S. Wood, one of the lay delegates from the Duluth diocese, who returned yesterday.

The other delegates from this district were: George H. Crosby, F. W. Paine, Rev. A. W. Ryan, Dr. F. C. Coolbaugh of Cloquet, Archdeacon Parshall of Cass Lake, and James Brown and Rev. Mr. Ward of Fergus Falls.

The convention was held in the cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

One important step was to divide the country into eight provinces for the purpose of church administration. Duluth will be in the province composed of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Colorado and Wyoming. There will be a presiding bishop in each province elected by delegates from each diocese.

The plan to change the name of the church, eliminating the word "protestant" was indefinitely postponed, and under the new conditions it will probably be impossible to change the name or to revive the agitation which has caused much dissension between the so-called "high church" and "low church" advocates. On the motion of Dr. Manning of Trinity parish, New York, the matter was indefinitely postponed and a two-thirds vote will be necessary to make the change, if it should ever be brought up again.

New York, Oct. 20.—The Protestant Episcopal church will make no change for at least three years in its method of judging heresy charges. The house of deputies, at the general convention, refused Saturday to accept a recommendation that a final court of appeals be established to determine questions of doctrine, faith and worship affecting the clergy.

The proposal was to establish a supreme court, consisting of the house of bishops. It was urged that laymen should be represented in the proposed tribunal.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES FOR WEEK

University extension lectures for the week will be as follows:

Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, Y. M. C. A., "Truth in Utopias," by Dr. Raymond Phelan.

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Y. M. C. A., civic study class, "Commission Government and the Duluth Plan," Dr. Raymond Phelan. Reports: "Our County Government," Miss Jean Poirier; "An Analysis of Our City Government," Mrs. Arthur Barnes.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Central high school, teachers' university extension class, "Remedies for Economic Evils," Dr. Raymond Phelan. Persons not teachers are invited to join this class.

Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Y. M. C. A., "The Significance of a Partial Single Entry System," Prof. C. L. Rotzel.

WILL DOUBLE CAPACITY.

Mesaba Boiler and Manufacturing Company Outgrows Present Shop.

The Mesaba Boiler & Manufacturing company has just completed for the Duluth-Superior Dredging company, the largest dredge spud ever made here. It is forty inches square by fifty-five long. Another spud of similar size is now under construction by it for the same company. J. B. Opperman, president of the company, said today that arrangements had been made to double the capacity of its boiler shop on Garfield avenue, such step having been made necessary through the marked increase in its operations during the last year.

CANDO WANTS TO ENTERTAIN PASTORS.

Cando, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Methodists of Cando have secured the co-operation of the Commercial club in their efforts to land the next state conference of their church for Cando. At the recent meeting in Lisbon the location for 1914 was left open. Both Carrington and Cando want the meeting. Carrington claims superior railway advantages but Cando hopes to overcome these by other inducements to the Methodist clergy.

CUYUNA RANGE FARMERS ORGANIZE.

Crosby, Minn., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thirty-five farmers in the Mission lake district, seven miles northwest of Crosby, met at the home of L. C. Converse recently and, with the assistance of County Agricultural Agent A. J. Gafke, organized a farmers' club. F. C. Peabody was elected president, L. C. Converse, vice president; E. E. Taylor, secrtary and treasurer, and Mrs. W. C. Borden, librarian.

The club starts with a membership of sixteen, and Mr. Gafke, who spent yesterday in Crosby, says there is great interest being taken in the work. Meetings will be held on the evening of the second Tuesday in each month, and the club plans on taking up a big program during the winter.

MINOT LIGHTING RATES MAY BE CUT.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minot city commission will receive the report of Engineer E. Walker of St. Louis tomorrow on the condition of the plant of the Consumers' Power company, together with recommendations for an adjustment of rates. This investigation has been made under the direction of the commission with the object in view of bringing about the reduction of the lighting rates, which it is charged are excessive.

Under the North Dakota law, a complete investigation is made necessary upon the part of a city governing body before any orders making reductions can be entered.

President Davis of the city commission contends that the report which will be forthcoming will be of such nature as to warrant a reduction.

IRONWOOD BANK MAY BE REOPENED.

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to advices from Ironwood, the Minneapolis Trust company of Minneapolis has taken an option for a lease on the building of the failed Bank of Ironwood and contemplates opening a branch institution in the Gogebic iron range metropolis. The company controls banks in various small towns in the Northwest. Ironwood has but one fiscal institution, a bank controlled by strong mining interests of the Gogebic district. Two older banks have been wrecked of late years and in each instance the failures were followed by the prosecution and conviction of the cashiers.

HEARING NOT SET.

No date has yet been set for hearing on the contested referendum election of Sept. 16 at which the Hicken liquor ordinance was approved by a majority of thirty-eight votes.

The inspectors of the ballots, Richard M. Funck, A. T. Banning, Jr., and Walter Gonska, have filed their report with the court, showing that 162 ballots are under dispute. As soon as City Attorney Clapp returns from an out-of-town business trip, arrangements will be made to dispose of the contest case.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE

Need Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Keep Their Blood in Good Order.

Girls in their 'teens are often troubled with thin blood, making the complexion pale, sometimes greenish, the cheeks thin, the lips colorless. There is shortness of breath after the slightest exertion, a general feeling of weariness and a disinclination to study or work. Sometimes a slight cough causes a feeling of alarm that the lungs may be affected.

There is one remedy that will surely correct this form of anaemia in growing girls and that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The action of these pills in such cases is as direct and certain as that of quinine in malaria, as sure as anything known to the science of remedial medicine.

Every mother whose daughter is pale and thin owes it to her child's future to at once give her a course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Neglect at this time may result in a lifetime of misery.

Your druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated Give "California" Syrup of Figs.

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

SHOP HEALTH SURVEY SOON

Department Stores and Factories Attract Health Officers' Attention.

The city health department is to make a general health survey of the department stores and factories of Duluth.

An investigation of this nature has been suggested to Dr. Webster by several citizens interested in those institutions. They have pointed out to the health director that similar surveys have been made in other cities, with beneficial results to the employers as well as to the employes.

As a preliminary step, Dr. Webster is sending a circular letter to the heads of the various department stores and factories in the city. Through the responses he hopes to get a general idea of the local situation, as to the number of employes of each sex, the lighting and ventilating facilities, the existence of insurance organizations, provisions for medical attendance and inspection and other features which enter into the health and well-being of the employes.

Such a survey has been urged at different times in Duluth for the last year or more. This is the first move that has been made in that direction. No definite plan of procedure, further than the sending of the letters, has been outlined. When the desired data has been secured it will be carefully analyzed and used as the basis of the succeeding steps.

MINING CONGRESS OPENS SESSIONS.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20.—Safety in the mines, workman's compensation, mine taxation, the Alaskan situation, Federal aid for mining schools, revision of mineral land laws and the Sherman anti-trust law as it relates to the mining industry will be among the subjects discussed by the American Mining congress which begins its sixteenth annual session here today.

The opening meeting was devoted to welcoming addresses and responses by delegates from many states.

The annual address of Dr. Davis W. Brunton of Denver, president of the congress, will be delivered tonight.

NO PERMIT; IS ARRESTED

Campaign Against Unsanctioned Digging in Streets Is Begun.

The first arrest in the campaign started by Commissioner Murchison against the digging in streets without permits was made this morning by Officer Youngstrom.

John Anenti, 30 years old, a laborer, was arrested for digging in East Third street. He will be arraigned in municipal court this afternoon.

Saturday afternoon Chief Troyer received the following request from Commissioner Murchison regarding the violation of the ordinance requiring permits for the digging in streets:

"I am led to believe that excavations are being made, and sewer, water and gas extensions being laid in streets, alleys and under sidewalks without permits being taken out by the parties doing such work. This is a violation of city ordinance, and I would appreciate it very much if you would report all cases where the blue excavation card is not displayed, and also give us the name of parties doing such work or the name of the owner of property where such work is being performed."

Chief Troyer this morning issued the following order to all commanding officers:

"You are hereby instructed to request all officers under your command to pay strict attention to the request from the commissioner of public works, and report to this office all violations."

CONCRETE FOR ROAD WORK

Party of Good Roads Boosters Will Visit Wayne County.

William Burgess, one of Duluth's foremost "good roads" enthusiasts, expects to have plans completed tomorrow for a trip to be taken by several members of the county board, three representatives from towns on the range and two local newspaper men, to Detroit, Mich., and vicinity this week for the purpose of inspecting road-building work which has been completed and which is in progress there.

In Wayne county, Michigan, an extensive system of highways radiating from Detroit, has been paved with concrete, the latest word in road building. The trip to Wayne county, it is understood, is to be made with the idea of viewing what has been accomplished there with the idea of perhaps duplicating at some later date the roadways in St. Louis county with highways paved with this material.

The county commissioners who will take the trip will go as individuals and not in their official capacity as members of the board. The trip is expected to be an interesting and educational one from the standpoint of the roadbuilder.

CHILD BREAKS LEGS.

Four-Year-Old Falls From Dump Car at Point of Rocks.

William Milner, Jr., the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milner of Superior, broke his leg Saturday afternoon while attempting to hang onto one of the small dump cars at the rock pile at Thirteenth avenue west.

The child had been visiting with his grandmother, Mrs. John Drennan, at the Glen hotel and was playing about the Point of Rocks with some other children during the afternoon. He had caught on one of the cars and when the workmen began moving it, the boy fell off. He was taken to the St. Luke's hospital.

ASKS $7,500 FOR HUSBAND'S DEATH

Because her husband, Anton Serjak, was struck and killed by an ore train while walking along the edge of the station platform at Aurora on May 22 last, Agnes Serjak wants $7,500 damages. In district court today, the widow, as adminstratrix of the estate, started an action against the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company.

Serjak, the widow claims, drove to the station with a team of horses. While transacting business with the depot agent, he heard a train approaching and fearing for the safety of his team, he ran out of the station and along the platform to the place where he had left the team without hitching it.

Serjak, it is claimed, did not notice the train of cars which was backing down upon him. Without warning, it is alleged, he was struck from behind by a car, knocked off the platform and under the wheels. Death was almost instantaneous.

Philip Le Fever, farmer living in the town of Great Scott, in an action started today against the Great Northern railway is asking for $6,120 damages for an accident which befell him while he was driving across a grade crossing between Buhl and Chisholm on Aug. 18 last. An ore train struck his wagon and although he was thrown clear of the tracks he claims that he sustained injuries to his ankles and feet which have permanently maimed him.

ITS SHARE IS INCREASING

Duluth Getting Larger Percentage of Grain Crops Under New Rates.

As a result of the more equitable adjustment of freight rates, Duluth has been receiving a larger proportionate share of the grain marketed so far this fall.

Prominent operators on the board of trade here aver that they are now reaching territory from which not a bushel had previously been drawn to this point. It is regarded as remarkable that in face of the greatly reduced spring wheat crop this season, receipts up to the present should have shown a substantial increase over the corresponding period last year, the figures for the present crop year for Aug. 1 standing at 39,394,925 bu all grains, compared with 37,258,457 bu. Receipts of wheat came to 26,004,134 bu against 29,706,491 bu a year ago. Marketing of oats here have been abnormal, 3,785,187 bu being reported against only 1,410,557 bu last year. Receipts of barley have aggregated 6,257,113 bu compared with 4,450,316 bu a year ago, while flax receipts here have footed up to 2,415,653 bu, as against 450,316 bu for the same period in 1912.

CUSTOMS OF HALLOWEEN

The boys and girls of Duluth are looking eagerly forward to Halloween, and the pranks and frolics of the young folk, which have been for ages associated with that night, probably will be just as spirited and general on Oct. 31 this year as ever before.

Halloween or the vigil of All Saints antedates the Christian era and is at present a combination of classic, heathen and Christian superstition. In the Roman and Episcopal churches it is the time of a great harvest festival. With children it is most popularly known as "Nut Cracking Night," "Cake Night" and "Apple Bobbing Night."

In ancient times the night had a more religious significance than at present, but the rites common to the occasion have gradually disappeared until they are observed only in remote regions of Ireland, Scotland and Wales. Apple bobbing and nut cracking are two of the most pleasing customs that still survive, while the pranks of the boys are one of the more displeasing features. One of the most prominent ancient customs was the lighting of bonfires at gatherings of young people. When the embers of the fire had almost died out, each member of the party placed a small stone at the edge of the fire. In the morning the ashes were searched, and if a stone was removed or displaced, it was a sign that the person it represented would die during the next year. This custom survived in some parts of Ireland until a few years ago.

The Druids celebrated Halloween in honor of the sun god. Many of the features of the celebration were similar to those of the Roman harvest festival for Pomona. Cracking of nuts and eating apples were features of the celebration. On this night great bonfires were lighted and it was believed that Saman, the lord of death, called out the witches and ghosts of the wicked who had been condemned during the last twelve months, to live in the bodies of animals.

DULUTHIANS OFF TO THE BOWSTRING

E. P. Alexander Will Test His Plan to Kill Partridges With Golf Balls.

Eight Duluthians left Saturday night in a special car for the Bowstring country for their annual hunting trip.

In the party were: William Morrow, Edward Windom, Dr. T. E. Chapman, A. L. Agatin, George C. Stone, William H. Bruen, Dr. W. H. Magie and E. P. Alexander.

They will be gone about ten days, looking for rabbits, blackbirds, bluejays, bear, English sparrows and partridges.

D. M. Philbin has arranged for a special refrigerator car to be left on the Great Northern siding at Grand Rapids to bring back their game.

Mr. Windom is said to have a record on English sparrows, made from his offices in the Wolvin building, and George C. Stone is the bear sharpshooter of the party. E. P. Alexander plans to try out his theory that partridges can be killed with golf balls on the wing. He took along his driver and all the old golf balls he could find around the Northland Country club.

PRIVATE CAR IS DESTROYED

The private car of General Superintendent C. O. Jenks of the Lake Superior division of the Great Northern railroad, was wrecked and burned at Bena, Minn., early this morning. Superintendent Jenks and the cook on the car were slightly injured.

Details of the accident were not to be had. The sleeper attached to the train was also derailed. Mr. Jenks and a party of friends were en route to Shevlin, Minn., for a week's hunt. The party left Superior late last night.

THREE JUDGES SIT EN BANC

In compliance with a request from the judges of the district court, Moritz Heim, St. Paul attorney acting on behalf of several consular representatives in this territory, appeared before District Judges Cant, Dancer and Fesler sitting en banc, Saturday afternoon in an ex-parte argument on the extent of powers of consular officers to receipt for and distribute funds to the residents of foreign countries received in settlement of wrongful death claims.

Attorney Heim reviewed with the court the treaties between the United States and a number of the European powers which touched upon the question under consideration. Mr. Heim's position was that under the treaties the courts are duty bound to order payment of money through the consuls to foreign beneficiaries. Under the new compensation act which went into effect Oct. 1, the consul, if he receives the death fund for distribution to foreign heirs, must give a bond. Under the old law, no bond has been required in cases of foreign consuls.

The court is expected to revise in some particulars its future procedure, to what extent, none of the judges are yet able to say.

BOY CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

The police last evening arrested Walter Walczak, 17 years old, 2327 West Fifth street, and charged him with assault with a dangerous weapon. He is alleged to have shot and wounded Clarence Stocke, 12 years old, who in company with a number of boys was returning home along the Hutchinson road, after spending several hours hunting in the vicinity of Hermantown.

The boys in the party were Walter East, 2710½ Helm street; Haylan Anderson, 2006 West Superior street; Joseph Russell, 2705 Railroad street, and Frank Galonski, 2309 West Sixth street. The Stocke boy is said to have been wounded with a bullet from a 22-caliber rifle.

The boys disagreed on the cause of the shooting. Some said it was intentional, while others maintained that it had been accidental. It is said that the boys were throwing stones, and that during the battle with stones, the shot was fired, Sergeant Holmstrom placed Walczak under arrest last night. He will be taken before the juvenile court. The Stocke boy's wound is not thought to be serious.

OVER HALF MILLION DOLLARS FIRE LOSS

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—A fire that destroyed the Advance elevator, the Chicago & Alton freight house in East St. Louis, Ill., last night and early this morning still was burning at noon today.

The loss to the elevator and its contents was $500,000, while the damage to railroad property is estimated at $90,000.

The night watchman employed at the elevator has not been seen since the fire and it is thought he perished.

STRENGTH IS MAINTAINED

Wheat Opens Higher and Holds Its Advance to the Close.

Flax Prices Weaken at the Close After an Early Advance.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 20.—The wheat market continued strong right up to the close. October wheat closed ⅝c up and May ¾c up. December durum closed 1c higher and May ⅝c up.

Oats closed ⅜c up at 35⅝c and barley unchanged at 60@69c.

Puts on December wheat closed at 81@81⅛c asked and calls at 81⅜c.

Under the impetus of lighter receipts and improved inquiry from Eastern millers, a bullish tone developed in the wheat market today and substantial advances were recorded up to the final hour.

December wheat opened ⅛c off at 81½c and advanced to 82¼c. May opened ⅛c up at 86c and gained ⅝c on steady buying. A good call for durum also turned up, resulting in a bulge of ½ cent over Saturday's closing figure to 78¾c.

Inspections here came to only 162 cars against 751 last year, while the figures at Minneapolis were 556 cars compared with 1,102 a year ago, showing a falling off of 1,135 cars. Receipts of all grains here last week were 4,143,000 bu while shipments were reported at 3,748,000 bu. In addition about 1,000,000 bu were loaded at the elevators that had not been reported, so that stocks at the Head of the Lakes were materially reduced for the first time in weeks.

The handling situation at Buffalo was advised to show improvement, the amount of grain afloat there being given at 3,400,000 bu as against 4,900,000 bu on Saturday. Liberal shipments are anticipated this week.

Flax Weakens at Close.

There were heavy buying orders in the market at the opening from crushers interests, and good buying was in evidence throughout the session. The foreign markets were all higher, and American and Canadian Northwest receipts lighter than had been anticipated. Under those conditions shorts showed some anxiety to cover, resulting in advances up to 1⅝c. Prices weakened at the close which was off from ½c to a cent off from the high.

October flaxseed opened ⅝c up at 1.37 and closed at $1.37½; November opened ¾c up at $1.36¾ and closed at 1.37½; December opened ¼c up at $1.35⅝, and closed at $1.36½, and December opened ¼c better at 1.41, closing at $1.41⅝.

MARKET GOSSIP.

C. H. Thornton of Winnipeg was a visitor on the board of trade here today. He says that the receipts at Winnipeg are likely to continue at about their present large volume right up to the close of navigation. "It is regarded as unlikely up there that any great volume of grain will be shipped to Duluth for storage this winter," he said, "as according to present indications there will be no congestion owing to the elevator capacity at Port Arthur and Fort William having been largely increased. The Canadian railroads are not going to let any more stuff than they can help get away from them, and the three roads will be in shape to haul grain all-rail to the East."

Mr. Thornton says that considerable oats will be shipped to Duluth direct from points in the western provinces in place of coming down to their lake ports. Buying of them by Duluth operators has been on a heavy scale so far. It is also thought that as a result of the American reduction in the duty on wheat to 10 cents a bushel, Canadian growers at many points will find it of advantage to market some of their lower grade stuff at least on this side of the line. "There is going to be a fight at the next session of the Canadian parliament to place American wheat on the free list over there, but no line can as yet be obtained on the outcome. Winnipeg grain operators do not appear to be paying much attention to the issue at present," he said.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Pressure was in evidence at the opening and larger speculative offers out as a result. Prices were ⅜d lower and following the opening further declined ⅛c to ¼c with the undertone easy.

"The weakness in Winnipeg Saturday and the pressure of Canadian offers with heavy Canadian shipments this week to Liverpool, together with heavy American shipments, were the main reason for the decline. During most of the trading the market was dull with some disposition shown to support it on the decline owing to the lighter Russian shipments this week and firmer Russian offers. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy, ⅝d to ¾d lower than Saturday with the principal pressure in May."

A general review of all crops up to Oct. 1 is made in Farmer's bulletin No. 560, just issued by the department of agriculture. It shows that the combined condition of all crops at that date was 13.6 per cent lower than on Oct. 1 last year, and about 9.7 per cent lower than the average condition on that date for recent years.

The general level of farm prices increased about 2.1 per cent in September, in spite of the fact that during the preceding five years the level of prices declined during that month 3.8 per cent. The average level on Oct. 1 was 8.1 per cent higher than in 1912. The average farm price of meat animals on Sept. 15 of $11.15 per 100 pounds compared with $7.20 on Aug. 15, and with $6.75 on Sept. 15, 1912.

It is thought by members of the Duluth board of trade that as a result of the general slump, speculative holdings of wheat have been thoroughly cleaned up and that the market is now in a position to do better temporarily at least. It is said that the break has stimulated Eastern milling demand.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance Early and Are Steady at the Gain.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—Wheat was strong and prices advanced early and late held steady at upturn. Strength abroad and in the domestic markets added to shorts covering, caused advance. Total Minneapolis and Duluth receipts were about half those of a week ago and a quarter of those a year ago. December closed ⅜c higher than Saturday and May ⅜c higher. Local elevator stocks increased 300,000 bu for two days.

December opened 80⅝@80¾c; high, 81½c; low, 80⅝c; closed, 81¾c.

May opened 85⅞@86c; high, 86¾c; low, 85⅞c; closed, 86⅝c.

Flax—Receipts, 51 cars; year ago, 87; shipments, 0. Demand good. Closing price, $1.36½@1.38½.

Barley—Receipts, 185 cars; year ago, 229. Shipments, 179. Barley dull and easier, demand slow for liberal offerings. Closing range, 44@65c.

Flour market unchanged. Shipments, 64,417 bbl.

Bran—Unchanged.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Stronger on Light Receipts in Northwest.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Wheat today developed strength owing to receipts Northwest being much lighter than a year ago. Arrivals at both Minneapolis and Duluth showed a decided falling off. Russian shipments, too, were smaller, and there was a decrease in stocks on ocean passage. Opening prices varied from ⅛@¼c decline to ⅝c advance, with a subsequent moderate rise all round.

Reports that the crop of India was a failure helped put backbone into the market. The close was steady, ¾c to ⅞c net higher.

Rain and snow at St. Louis led to considerable demand for corn, but leading speculators sold freely when the market advanced. The start was ⅛c to ⅝c higher. After some further hardening, however, nearly all of the gain was lost.

Later a fresh upturn took place in consequence of shorts being made timid by wheat strength. The close was firm at an advance of ⅝c to ⅞c net.

Oats followed the course of other grains. Shorts were the chief buyers.

Provisions averaged easy in line with conditions at the yards. First sales which ranged from 5c off to a like advance, gave a fair idea of the trade.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Prices Rise at the Opening But Recovery Not Enduring.

Rallies Reduce Losses to Small Fractions and Close Firm.

New York, Oct. 20.—Speculative conditions were little changed by developments over the week-end and although prices rose at the outset today, the recovery was not enduring. The appearance of new weak spots influenced traders, who took the short side again. Standard shares moved indecisively until the weakness of New Haven, Pennsylvania, Can and Tennessee Copper became noticeable. Then the whole list moved off. Union Pacific, Reading and various other issues were depressed a point or so.

Bonds were irregular.

Rock Island preferred opened 1¾ higher today, Utah Copper 1 and Can ¾. Canadian Pacific was ⅜ lower. Aside from these changes, movements were unusually small, on a light volume of trading. Fluctuations in most cases showed an upward trend.

A reaction which followed the opening rise was a bit discouraging to the bulls. Stocks were offered rather liberally at the higher level. Weakness of Can, which gave way a point, unsettled confidence in the immediate general movement. Canadian Pacific sold 1¾ under Saturday's close and Reading ½. Steel and Union Pacific surrendered large fractional gains.

More definite reports concerning the proposed new financing of the Pennsylvania, attended the sharp fall in the stock, but there was little light on the break in New Haven, which touched 83. Copper shares showed a considerable degree of heaviness, losing something more than the early gains caused by the advance in the metal figures abroad.

Fractional rallies were general around 1 o'clock when the market was in a state of complete idleness.

Sufficient buying power was created in the last half of the day to put the list well over the early low figures. The demand, however, was not vigorous and did not impress the short interest.

The market closed firm. The recuperation stimulated buying for both sides which decreased losses to small fractions. Amalgamated developed some of its earlier firmness. There was large buying of Steel and Union Pacific both of which sold beyond Saturday's closing.

WHAT!

NOT YET, A HOME OF YOUR OWN

Haven't you taken steps yet to get a home of your own? If you haven't, obey the impulse now and read the Real Estate ads of today's Herald. These columns are the starting point "homeward" for hundreds of Duluth people. No other method makes homegetting so easy.

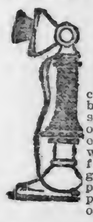

All the leading dealers use The Herald "want" ads when they have a special bargain to sell, because they know a Herald "want" is the quickest way to turn a bargain.

The buyers, too, know that it is in The Herald the best values are to be found.

If you don't find what you want TELEPHONE 324 —either phone—and dictate an advertisement. Rate 1 cent a word. Minimum charge, 15 cents.

SULZER, NOMINATED BY BULL MOOSERS, AFTER SPEAKERSHIP

Beyond That Friends Foresee Return to Executive Chair.

Impeached Governor Promises to Make Trouble for Enemies.

His Nomination Does Not Suit the Party Leaders.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21.—What will be the outcome of William Sulzer's race for the legislature? This was the question foremost in the minds of politicians around the capitol today.

It was generally agreed that he will make a great deal of trouble for the organization in New York. His fire will be directed especially against Aaron J. Levy, who is a candidate for municipal judge, and Alfred B. Smith, the speaker of the assembly, who seeks to succeed himself.

Sulzer intends to invade their districts and attempt to square accounts with them for their active part taken in his impeachment. And, of course, in that fight he will oppose the Democratic organization candidates generally.

Concede Him Victory.

Even Sulzer's worst political foes practically conceded him victory in his own assembly district. They were inclined to regard the withdrawal of the Republican candidate as a trick intended to damage the Democratic party a great deal at the cost of a small concession. There was no doubt expressed that the Republicans will work hard for Sulzer in the hope that he will repay them amply by his attacks on Tammany Hall in case he reaches the assembly.

The question which caused the greatest speculation, however, was how many votes Sulzer would be able to swing for his speakership candidacy in case of his election. The consensus of opinion was that the next assembly probably will be divided among the three parties, and if this prediction is true and Sulzer is able to muster the undivided support of one faction and a

GRAVEYARD WRECKED BY RUNAWAY TEAM

Horses Go on Rampage During Revivalist's Lengthy Prayer.

Viroqua, Wis., Oct. 21.—The cemetery at the little Norwegian Lutheran church at Three Chimneys, this county, today looks as though a tornado had gone through it. Several of the marble shafts have been laid flat and wheel tracks and marks of hoofs are found on the graves.

The devastation is the result of a runaway. Revival services are on at the church, and last night while the preacher was concluding with a particularly long and fervent prayer, the spirited team of Andrew Olson, tied in front of the church, tired of standing in the cold and ran away through the burial ground.

CORPORATION TAX IN SUPREME COURT

Millions for Federal Government at Stake in the Cases.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Millions of dollars for the Federal government depend upon the outcome of the corporation tax cases up for argument today before the supreme court.

In the case of the Strattons Independence, Ltd., of Colorado, the court was called upon to decide whether the sale price of mineral taken from a mine is income subject to the corporation tax, or whether it is to be considered as invested capital, converted into cash.

The court was ready to hear argument also in the New York street railway receivership cases, in which is involved the question whether the government may collect the tax from the income of insolvent corporations in the hands of receivers.

POSTOFFICE WILL AID IN ROAD WORK

All Postmasters Are Given Instructions From Washington.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Good roads movements throughout the country are to have substantial support of the postoffice department. First Assistant Postmaster General Roper has notified officially postmasters of all classes that "It is the desire of the department that they co-operate with state and county authorities in the endeavor to improve the condition of the public roads."

"The department's attention," continues Mr. Roper, "has been attracted to proclamations issued from time to time by the governors of states designating certain days as good road days, and postmasters, as representatives in their communities of the national government, are expected to manifest as active an interest in this movement as is consistent with the proper performance of their official duties."

REWARDS OFFERED FOR BODY OF LOST AVIATOR

ALBERT J. JEWEL.

New York, Oct. 21.—Rewards for definite information of the fate or the recovery of the body of Albert J. Jewel, the aviator who mysteriously disappeared last week while on his way from Hempstead Plains to the aviation field at Oakland Heights, Staten Island, have been increased to $1,150. Jewel was last seen alive while flying over the Far Rockaway marshes a few minutes after he left Hempstead. Some aviators still cling to the hope that Jewel was picked up at sea by some craft without wireless and that he may yet be heard from.

BRAZILIANS HONOR T. R.

Military Welcome Is Given to Traveler at Rio Janeiro.

All Branches of Government Take Part in the Affair.

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 21.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt was received with military honors as he stepped ashore from the steamer Vandyck here today.

Edwin V. Morgan, United States ambassador to Brazil, with the staff of the embassy, went on board before the vessel docked, with a reception committee including Senor Parros Moreira, representing the ministry of foreign affairs; Lieut. Col. Achilles de Federneiras, Brazilian attache at Washington; Don Jose Carlos Rodriguez, Admiral Antonio Coutincho Gomes Pereira, and Antonio Olyntho de Magalhaes of the historical institute.

The party disembarked at 8:30 on the naval arsenal quay, where a company of soldiers saluted while bands played the Brazilian and American national anthems. Several committees presented bouquets of flowers to Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Margaret Roosevelt.

Fonseca Represented.

Marshal Hermos Fonseca, president of the republic, was unable to be present, but he sent a special representative. All the cabinet ministers of Brazil, the minister of Argentina, with the members of his legation, the presidents of the Brazilian senate and chamber of deputies, a representative parliamentary committee, the chief commissioner of police, the presidents of various tribunals of the high court of justice, the members of the municipal council, headed by the mayor of Rio Janeiro, many members of the diplomatic corps, high functionaries of the government and military and naval officers in full uniform, were among the welcoming delegations.

Roosevelt Headed Procession.

A procession, headed by Col. Roosevelt and the representative of the president of Brazil, proceeded to a reception room in the naval arsenal, which was decorated with Brazilian flags and the Stars and Stripes intertwined. Here Col. Roosevelt and the members of his party were introduced to the leading officials.

After this ceremony, Col. Roosevelt was conducted to the Guanabara palace, where he will reside during his sojourn here.

All the newspapers today published articles welcoming Roosevelt.

DESPERATE BANDITS ESCAPE WITH BUT $7

Hold Up Station Agent, Rifle Mail Sack and Blow Safe.

Littleton, Colo., Oct. 21.—Posses headed by Sheriff J. W. McBroom of Arapahoe county and detectives of the Denver police, had found no trace early today of two masked bandits who last night held up Station Agent Ray Foy of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, rifled a mail sack, attempted to dynamite the station safe, and escaped. So far as known they stole only $7, from the cash drawer at the station. Postmaster E. H. Albertson stated that the mail sack contained nothing of value. Posses continued the search today.

WILL CHANGE MONEY BILL

President Wilson Will Not Oppose Some Amendments.

Plans for Recess of House Are Prevented By Mann.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Though the hearings on the currency bill before the senate banking committee may not end before Saturday, amendments have the attention of the members.

Plans of administration leaders in the house for a thirty-day recess were abandoned today because Republican Leader Mann refused to yield in his determination to keep the house in session as long as the senate awaits action on the currency bill in committee.

President Wilson's intimation that he will not object to changes in the personnel of the Federal reserve board and a reduction in the number of regional reserve banks, has made it practically certain that the desires of many senators to make those changes will be carried out, with prospect of administration approval.

Many other important modifications will be taken up when committee work begins on the measure next week. Among the proposed changes is one that will go to the very basis of the bill, the provision authorizing the rediscount of commercial paper and the issue of currency by the Federal reserve banks. The house provision, some witnesses have held, was too broad, allowing practically all paper of certain maturities designated to be discounted. Others, particularly representatives of smaller banks in the Middle West, have contended that the rediscount provisions would be useless to them.

Help Country Banks.

Senators Bristow, Hitchcock, Reed and Nelson have shown an inclination

KAISER AT FUNERAL OF AIRSHIP VICTIMS

Emperor's Six Sons Head the Procession of Mourners.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—Impressive joint funeral services were held today over the bodies of twenty-three of the twenty-eight victims of Friday's disaster to the Zeppelin airship at Johannisthal. The ceremonies took place at noon in the old garrison church near the Imperial palace. The emperor and his sons were present, accompanied by the empress and the crown princess. Count Zeppelin and about a thousand officers of the army and navy also attended.

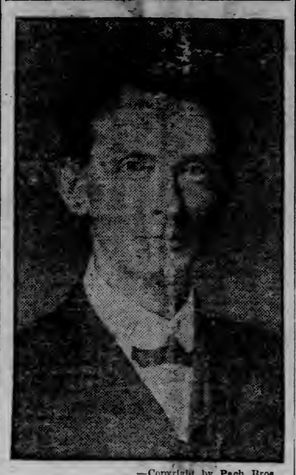

The coffins, which occupied the entire chancel of the church, were covered with masses of floral tributes from members of the imperial family, the foreign embassies and legations and various naval and military organizations.

The attaches of the various foreign legations attended in full uniform. After the services in the church, seven of the bodies were taken to an adjoining cemetery for burial, the six sons of the emperor heading the procession of mourners. The other bodies were taken to the homes of the dead men in various parts of the country.

Prince Eitel Friederich, while coming from Potsdam in his automobile to attend the funeral ceremony, struck a 5-year-old boy with the wheel of his machine while the child was crossing the street. The boy was seriously injured.

HEAVY SNOW FALLS IN CHICAGO; BADGER STATE HAS BLIZZARD

FREED OF CHARGE OF MISUSE OF THE MAIL

THOMAS E. WATSON.

CHARGES AGAINST WATSON ARE QUASHED

Former Presidential Candidate Argues in His Own Behalf.

Augusta, Ga., Oct. 21.—The trial here of Thomas E. Watson ended abruptly today when Federal Judge Foster sustained the motion of the defense quashing the indictment which charged the Georgia editor with sending obscene matter through the mails in an article in his magazine attacking the Roman Catholic church.

Watson, one time presidential candidate, addressed the bench in his own behalf before a packed courtroom. He argued that the statute under which he was indicted was aimed at persons sending literature dealing with vicious and degrading uses of drugs, and not at papers or pamphlets of the nature of his magazine. The language complained of was in what the editor presented as being questions asked by priests in the confessional.

Watson's attorneys concluded their argument for an annulment of the indictment principally on the ground of constitutional guarantees for a free press. Judge Foster ruled that the contention of the liberty of the press was beside the issue.

SEPTUAGENARIANS NOT TO HAVE DUEL.

Paris, Oct. 21.—The proposed duel between Gen. Georges Florentin, aged 77, and Gen. Bosc, aged 72, two retired French officers, was abandoned today after Florentin stated that there was nothing personal in the acts at which Bosc took offense. Gen. Bosc thereupon withdrew his challenge.

Four Deaths Reported in the Storm in Wisconsin.

Virginia, Maryland and Massachusetts Coasts Suffer.

Trees, Wires, Buildings and Shipping All Suffer.

MAN FROZEN TO DEATH.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21.—Wisconsin's first cold weather victim was found early today when the body of William Weiss, 60 years old, was discovered frozen and rigid. It is believed that the man suffered from a stroke, staggered to the porch of a house and there froze to death.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Chicago awoke this morning to witness a heavy snow storm, the first of the season. Light snow began falling last evening and continued all through the night, becoming heavier at daybreak. Almost an inch of snow fell, covering the streets and deadening the sounds of early traffic.

The mercury dropped below the freezing point.

Chicago Man Killed.

Blinded by the snowstorm, Charles Blake, 40 years old, a switchman, was run down by a freight train and instantly killed.

Traffic on the surface and elevated roads was delayed by the blizzard and half a dozen persons were reported injured in accidents caused by the snow and ice.

Snow fell heavily throughout most of the forenoon. The storm is unprecedented, according to weather bureau officials.

Four Dead in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 21. — Four deaths due to a storm which raged over Wisconsin were reported last night. The blizzard was reported the worst for several years, and snow fell

CHICAGO PAINTERS GO BACK TO WORK

Union Will Pay $2,000 Fine to Building Trades Council.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Four thousand union painters who have been on strike for two months returned to work today. The union will pay a fine of $2,000 under protest to the Building Trades council and take an appeal to the American Federation of Labor. The strike was the result of a dispute between the Painters' District council No. 14 and the Building Trades council.

HAS TROUBLE WITH THE CUBAN CONGRESS

MARIO MENOCAL,
President of the Republic of Cuba.

CUBANS DEFY THEIR CHIEF

Congress Refuses to Meet at Call of the President.

New Loan of $15,000,000 Is Imperative, Says Menocal.

Havana, Oct. 21.—In consequence of the refusal of the Cuban congress to convene in extraordinary session to consider the presidential message urgently recommending a new foreign loan of $15,000,000, President Mario Menocal today issued an appeal to the Cuban people, declaring that he may be compelled to have recourse to extraordinary measures in the event of continued obstinacy on the part of congress.

President Menocal says:

"I have been compelled to address the people of the republic directly, by reason of the gravest confusion in public affairs, produced by the lack of a quorum in both houses of congress, whereby the working of all departments of the government has been paralyzed. The people should understand the character of this most lamentable conflict and be prepared for what may result from it."

Blames the Liberals.

The president explains that the urgency of the loan is caused by the necessity of paying off the indebtedness incurred by the previous Liberal administration. He lays the blame for the present serious conditions in Cuba on the obstructive and unconstitutional tactics adopted by the Liberal senators and representatives. He does not state what course he intends to pursue in case the houses of congress remain obdurate, but the tone of his manifesto indicates that he considers some drastic action imperative.

The president, within the last few days, stated that he was still confident that congress would convene, but the issue of today's manifesto is taken as an indication that he has abandoned all hope of the senators and representatives coming together after the failure again yesterday of either of the houses to obtain a quorum.

JEROME CRITICIZED BY THAW'S MOTHER.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, who came here several weeks ago in order to be near her son, Harry K. Thaw, has left for her home in Pittsburg. After her departure Thaw made public a letter addressed to him and signed "your mother." In which William T. Jerome was attacked for his conduct of the Thaw prosecution.

Thaw also gave out a copy of a supplementary brief which he said had been sent to Governor Dix. This consisted of an elaboration of several points contained in the brief of last Saturday.

Great Northern and Soo Grant Requests of Traffic Commission.

Most Important Concession in Readjustment of Rate Structure.

Railroad Executives Are Duluth Boosters, Says Zenith City Jobber.

Duluth has gained another railroad rate concession—one of the most important in the series of readjustments in transportation conditions of the last few months.

Under an agreement reached yesterday, the Great Northern railway and Soo line will apply in its entirety between Duluth and other Minnesota stations, the Minnesota rate schedule ordered restored by the decision of the United States supreme court in the Minnesota rate case.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club; A. M. Marshall, president of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, and G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, returned this morning from the Twin Cities with the promise of the railroad executives to make the desired change in trates.

The work of checking in the rates will be begun immediately. The tariffs should be ready for filing with the interstate commerce commission in a week or ten days, and the new rates should be effective about Dec. 1, as thirty days must expire under the interstate commerce law, before tariffs filed with the commission becomes effective.

The change means that in portions of Minnesota, Duluth will be on a better basis than it has ever been before, while all over the state Duluth ship-

SPECIAL GUARDS AT THE MOHAWK MINE

Plot to Blow Up Shaft Is Reported By Detectives.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fearing an attempt to blow up No. 6 shaft of the Mohawk mine, which is isolated from the rest of the mine, a strong force of militia was kept posted there today, with orders to shoot on the approach of any one to within 100 yards of the shaft. The Ascher mine guards were warned to keep out of the path of danger because of the orders given the artillerymen regarding shooting. Every electric car running to Mohawk from Calumet was searched at every station by details of militiamen, and every man and woman was scrutinized closely for dynamite. Detectives who have access to some of the secret sessions of the leaders reported Sunday night they had uncovered a plot to dynamite the shaft. The detectives have brought word to Sheriff Cruse which may lead to the arrest of leaders in the strike and officials of the Western Federation of Miners in connection with the attempt made Saturday to wreck a Keweenaw Central mail train carrying mine guards to the Mohawk mine through Copper City.

FRENCH AVIATORS ON RECORD FLIGHT

Issy les Moulineaux, France, Oct. 21.—The longest aeroplane flight ever attempted was started from here this morning by the French aviator, Pierre Daucourt. Accompanied by another French aviator, Henry Roux, as a passenger, Daucourt rose from the aerodrome at sunup and departed on the way to Cairo, Egypt, a distance of 3,348 miles.

Stops are planned at Schaffhausen, Germany; Vienna, Austria; Budapest, Hungary; Belgrade, Servia; Bucharest, Roumania; Varna, on the Black Sea; Constantinople, Turkey, and at various cities in Asia Minor, including Jerusalem. The flight is to be concluded by way of Port Said and the Egyptian capital.

The French foreign office made elaborate arrangements through its consular officials in the various countries to facilitate the passage of the aviators. Large supplies of liquid fuel and lubricants were sent to the Turkish capital for distribution at the control stations in Asia Minor, which are separated by distances of about 200 miles.

WRECK VICTIMS DIED IN THE LINE OF DUTY

Washington, Oct. 21.—All of the men killed in the troop train wreck on the Mobile & Ohio railroad at Buckatunna, Miss., met death in the line of duty, the war department announces. It was explained in an official statement that when military organizations left their stations to attend a fair, as in this case, the war department usually paid their expenses, and that the troops were being moved under orders of their commanding officers.

Only Seventeen Dead.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 21.—Despite the long list of seriously injured in the wreck of a troop train near Buckatunna, Miss., on Sunday, the number of dead—seventeen—was not increased during the night. A sergeant who supervised the removal of the soldiers' equipment from the wreck declared that all the dead and injured had been removed from the debris of the three coaches that went over the Mobile & Ohio railroad trestle.

Bodies of only two of the wreck victims have been claimed—those of Corporal Carl Kohler and Private Frank T. Chelewskie, both of New Orleans.

AUSTRIA AIMS BLOW AT WHITE SLAVERY

Subject Is Included in Proposed Emigration Law.

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 21.—The Austrian government, as the result of recent developments in the immigration traffic from Austria to the United States and Canada, introduced today into the lower house of the Austrian parliament a bill prohibiting "any emigration likely to have an adverse effect on military recruiting in Austria."

Several interpellations on the subject of the operations of the Canadian Pacific railway agents in Austria, demanding full information as to the result of the government's investigation and the names of the Austrian officials alleged to have been involved in the transactions, were laid on the table of the house.

The bill introduced today also prohibits "emigration calculated to promote the white slave traffic."

Typothetae Meet.

New Orleans La., Oct. 21.—Employing printers, members of the United Typothetae of America, met here today in their twenty-seventh annual convention. The afternoon was taken up with reports of committees on apprenticeships. Two co-ordinate organizations, the International Cost congress and the International Association of Electrotypers, also are holding conventions here.

TAKE THIS MAN'S ADVICE

TRY THE GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY

It always gives me pleasure to recommend anything that is right and so I feel it my duty to herald the praises of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

For years I was troubled with kidney disease and it was so intense that I was bedridden for days at a time. I gave up all hope and doctors for miles around gave me no help. Incidentally I tried several patent remedies and at last tried Swamp-Root. From the first it gave me relief and it was no time before I was able to be up and around and now I am perfectly well and able to work as I used to before my terrible sickness.

So now let me thank you for your wonderful discovery and take this opportunity to recommend it to all who suffer from kidney troubles.

Your very truly,
WALTER SHIVER,
Hope, Ark.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 25th of March, 1912.
A. V. WARE, Notary Public.

Letter to
Dr. Kilmer & Co.,
Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention The Duluth Daily Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

ASK COMPANY TO CO-OPERATE

City Invites Edison Company to Assist in Valuation of Plant.

Would Insure More Thoroughness in the Work of Appraisal.

A representative of the Duluth-Edison Electric company will be invited to work with the city in making the valuation of the physical properties of the company.

This conclusion was reached at a conference this morning between the city council and Charles S. Pillsbury, consulting electrical expert; W. B. Rittenhouse, who will have charge of the work, and D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, who will co-operate with the city's experts.

Mr. Pillsbury reached the city this morning, coming from St. Paul, where he and his associates are finishing the valuations of utilities on which they have been engaged since last May. He agreed that the appraisal of the local plant should be made in three or four months, but in the interests of thoroughness he advised against rushing it.

It was following his suggestion that the officials decided to ask the Edison company to work with the men who will make the valuation. The company's employe would work with those in the field, more to insure that no property would be overlooked than anything else. Those attending the conference were certain that the company would be glad to concur in this plan.

The data which was gathered by Mr. Pillsbury and Oscar Claussen two years ago, at the time they prepared plans and estimates of two plants for the city, will be used in the present work. The material will be utilized as far as possible, but will be completely checked, that all additions, improvements and alterations may be noted.

At the meeting today the general outline to be followed in making the valuation was laid out. The preliminary work has already been started, and henceforth the actual operations will be pushed steadily ahead. One or more crews will be placed in the field to make the inventory. When this has been finished and the figures examined by Mr. Pillsbury, negotiations will be opened with the Edison company with a view to the city purchasing the plant. If a satisfactory agreement cannot be reached, the city officials have announced that they will proceed to the courts to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire the property.

ONE KILLED AND FIVE ARE INJURED IN FIRE

Man Is Trapped on Third Floor of Hotel in Ohio.

Marysville, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Alexander J. Manuel of Kenton, Ohio, was burned to death, five persons were seriously injured and more than a score of others had thrilling escapes in a fire which early today destroyed the Continental hotel here. Manuel was trapped in a room on the third floor. The injured, except Thomas Slater of Columus, were residents of Marysville. Defective wiring caused the fire.

BORAH MAY RAP THE PANKHURST METHODS

Warns Newark Women What to Expect From Him.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Senator Borah of Idaho has written the Women's Political Union of Newark, N. J., that he will not take part in any suffrage gathering where Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst appears, without taking the opportunity to denounce militant methods.

Responding to an invitation to speak in Newark Saturday night, Senator Borah wrote that if "the visitor now seeking admission" should be present at the meeting, "or if the meeting itself should indicate any sympathy with her gospel of lawlessness and crime, I should feel compelled to express my views in plain and unmistakable terms."

CLOQUET GLEE CLUB IS ORGANIZED.

Cloquet, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A city glee club has been organized at the Y. M. C. A., with Wendell Davis as leader. Following are the men who are members of the organization: T. Rosette, Emil Proulx, Mr. Rober, Moritz Johnson, Ned Blinn, Paul Leonard, Ed Dupont, Will Johnson, T. Davis, W. Davis, Bennett Skemp, Walter Nelson, Hanford Cox, John Moody, Reuben Swenson, Frank Coolbaugh, Harry Owens and Ole Erickson. Ole Erickson will act as pianist.

The club will meet every Wednesday evening at the association rooms.

MINNESOTA LANDS TO HIGHEST BIDDERS.

Menahga, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Considerable interest is manifested in this vicinity over the new method of selling farm property to be tried out by the Menahga Land company on Nov. 11 next. On that date the company is to offer for sale to the highest bidder several tracts of land located in Wadena, Becker, Hubbard, Ottertail, Cass, Norman, Todd and Morrison counties. The company is furnishing information and has promised railroad fare to a large number of inquirers, and hopes by this means to stem the tide to Western Canada and Montana by meeting the terms of promoters in those districts and "going them one better."

PRIESTS' SOCIETY HOLDS SESSION.

Boston, Oct. 21.—A meeting of the Belgian and Holland Priests' association opened today's program at the Catholic missionary congress. It was followed by a home mission session, at which Archbishop Christie of Oregon presided.

For the afternoon an immigration session was arranged, with the principal address by Bishop Muldoon of Rockford, Ill.

HEAR SUNDAY SCHOOL DATA

Episcopalians Are Told of Falling Off of Membership.

Dr. Hugh Burleson Is Elected Bishop of North Dakota.

New York, Oct. 21.—A loss of more than 16,000 pupils within the last three years from the Sunday schools of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, was reported to the general convention of the church today by the committee on the state of the church. The report asserted that the Sunday schools throughout the country had on their rolls today fewer names than they had in 1910.

The new church policy of confirmation as advocated by the committee, urged the tracing of members who leave one city for another, so that they may be brought into the church again in their new homes. Making the Sunday schools more attractive was another recommendation.

A heated debate over the negro question in the South enlivened the deliberations of the house of deputies during the morning session.

Four Bishops Elected.

Four missionary bishops were elected, as follows:

Bishop of North Dakota, Hugh Burleson of New York city; bishop of Spokane, W. B. Capers of Columbia, Tenn.; bishop of Cuba, Milo H. Gates of New York city; bishop of New Mexico, F. C. Howden of Georgetown, D. C.

Dr. Burleson, chosen for bishop of North Dakota, is secretary of the church board of missions, with headquarters in this city. Dr. Capers is principal of the Columbia Institute for Girls at Columbia, Tenn. Dr. Milo H. Gates is vicar of the Chapel of the Intercession of New York. Dr. Howden is rector of St. John's church at Georgetown.

Under the auspices of the general board of religious education, a mass meeting was held last night in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Right Rev. Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, bishop of Missouri and presiding bishop of the church, conducted the services and there were addresses on the general topic, "Religious Education and the Church."

Arraigned School System.

Right Rev. Charles H. Brent, D. D., bishop of the missionary district of the Philippines, arraigned the public school system in the United States with regard to religious training. The bishop said that the effort to start the teaching of sex hygiene in the schools was a recognition that there is and has been in our public schools and higher institutions of learning, a moral failure beyond a degree that should be expected. He, however, condemned the science of eugenics as generally taught, and said that the church should be cautious about allowing children to be taught by any men, no matter how clever, on such subjects.

"These are things," said he, "to be taught by the parents; truths to be learned from the holy lips of a mother, and in the sanctity of home."

ABSENTEES DENOUNCED

Senators on Both Sides of Chamber Join in Criticism.

"Resign or Go to Work" Is Word at the Capitol.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Demands that senators either "resign or go to work," that absent members be brought back to Washington by the use of "any force that may be necessary," and that the "miserable pretense" of trying to do business without a quorum be ended, marked the opening of today' session of the senate. Leaders of both sides joined in the demand that the "farce" of recent senate proceedings be ended.

Senator La Follette, leading the fight for the enactment of the Simmons bill, began the attack on senate absentees, but it was taken up and vigorously indorsed by Senators Kern, Democratic leader, and by Senators Borah and Cummins, Republicans, and others.

Senator Cummins said the body had allowed itself to get into a "humiliating position" and Senator Borah added that members should be kept in Washington and compelled to take up many important subjects now being put off.

Figures by Senator Kern showed 31 Democrats in Washington and 17 absent and 19 Republicans in Washington and 28 absent.

A double roll call brought in only 45 senators, and sergeants-at-arms began to scour Washington for absentees.

Later absent senators were telegraphed to return to Washington.

SPEED LAUNCH AND TWELVE MEN GONE.

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 21.—In fear that the speed launch High Ball, with twelve men aboard, was lost in Escambia bay during Sunday night's storm, the revenue cutter Penrose was ordered out for a search today. The launch left here Sunday bound for Milton. Ordinarily the trip would require only a few hours.

TAXES THEME OF MINE MEN

Speakers at National Meeting Agree Levies Are Too High.

Compensation Laws Praised in President Brunton's Speech.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—Taxation of mining property was the general subject under discussion at the morning session today of the American Mining congress, which began its sixteenth annual session here yesterday. After the prepared addresses had been read there was a discussion of taxation by delegates, under a five-minute rule. The general trend of the speeches was that taxes levied on mine property and on production in various states were too high.

Addresses were also delivered in the morning on accounting and uniform requirements of official mine reports.

"The crying need of the mining industry is a complete revision of the mining laws," asserted Dr. David W. Brunton of Denver, president of the congress, in his annual address. He referred to the so-called "Empax" law as the most archaic that was ever placed upon the statute books. He inveighed against the recently passed laws in many Western states, which he declared placed new burdens upon mining property, but pleaded for the extension of workmen's compensation acts to all states.

Likes Compensation Laws.

"In every state where compensation laws have been passed, so far as I am able to learn," said the speaker, "the results have been gratifying. The cost to the employer has been no greater than before, while the sufferers get from two to ten times as much as they did under the antiquated laws in force in most states."

Dr. Brunton declared that the mine owner and miner of the West are being throttled by a gigantic smelting monopoly which, he asserted not only dictates the price to be paid for ore, but in some instances how much ore may be produced.

"Wild cat" promotion was also scored by the speaker, who concluded his address with the statement that the greatest service that the congress has so far accomplished has been the assistance given towards the creation of a Federal bureau of mines.

EATON HOME IS DESCRIBED

Witnesses at Widow's Trial All Praise the Late Admiral.

Wife Was Continually Airing Family Trouble in Public.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 21.—Conditions in the household of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton prior to his death by poison last March were described by neighbors at the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, the widow, today.

Mrs. Charles M. Hill testified to conversations with Mrs. Eaton in which the defendant had said that the admiral was deranged and that she feared he would poison her mother.

Mrs. William Magoun told the court of a strange preparation which Mrs. Eaton said the admiral had mixed for June, her daughter by a former marriage. The mixture, according to the witness' remembrance of what Mrs. Eaton had told her, contained soap, vinegar and either peper or salt. Mrs. Magoun said she never saw any evidence of insanity in the admiral.

Aired Family Troubles.

A Rockland tradesman, Charles E. Rice, testified to Mrs. Eaton's frequent airing of family troubles.

Mrs. Abbie C. Cotrill of Hingham, who kept house for the Eatons for a time when Mrs. Eaton was not living with her husband, testified that she had never seen any signs of liquor on the admiral nor any indication that he was of unsound mind.

A month before his death, Admiral Eaton was planning to take Mrs. Eaton with him on a trip to Panama, according to Samuel W. Baker, a Rockland optician. Mrs. Eaton asked Baker to assist her in having the admiral committed to an insane asylum. She complained that her husband was dabbling in poisons and drugs and she feared he would cause the death of members of the household.

Frank L. Booth of Rockland said that Mrs. Eaton had told him her husband was trying to poison her.

Flirtation Story Denied.

Mrs. Grace E. Booth and Mrs. Maud Powers, twin sisters, of Rockland, testified that Admiral Eaton was always gentlemanly and never tried to flirt with them. It had been brought out earlier in the trial that Mrs. Eaton had complained of her husband's alleged attentions to the sisters.

TELL CONGRESS THEY CANNOT PAY FOR LAND

South Dakota Settlers Petition for Relief From Burden.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Hundreds of settlers on the Cheyenne and Standing Rock Indian reservations in South Dakota petitioned congress today through Senator Sterling for relief from further payments on their lands. Four years of drouth and poor crops, they said, had put them on the verge of ruin, and they would be compelled to leave their lands and lose their homestead rights unless relieved. The case will be taken up by the public lands committee.

BUSCH'S BODY ON WAY TO ST. LOUIS.

New York Oct. 21.—The body of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer-philanthropist, arrived here today on the steamship Kronprinz Wilhelm, and at Hoboken was transferred to a five-car special train on the Pennsylvania railroad to be taken to St. Louis, his late home. Nearly thirty members of the family and a corps of servants accompanied the body. Mr. Busch died on his estate in Germany on Oct. 14.

SLEUTHING IS COSTLY

City Has Spent $2,100 for Stool Pigeons and Private Detectives.

Shortage in Safety Fund Necessitates Laying Off Five Men.

To effect economy and in an effort to enable the safety fund to end the year without a deficit, Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, has removed two men from the West Duluth fire hall, practically putting the big engine out of active commission, and has laid off three young policemen and one older policeman who wished to be relieved because of sickness.

At an average of $80 a month, each, the combined salaries of the five active men for the last three months of this year would equal $1,200.

Since the commission was inaugurated over $2,100 has been spent from the safety fund for stool pigeon work, such as securing evidence against blind pigs, loose women and saloons, and this will in part account for the shortage in the fund at the present time.

Of this amount over $1,200 goes into the coffers of a private detective agency in St. Paul. The private agency has already been paid $762.85 and now it has turned in another bill for $477 for work which has been done recently in the city. About $900 has therefore been spent through the ordinary "stool pigeons" such as young policemen or local persons who have been secured by the police to pussyfoot in search of loose women and places selling liquor illegally.

FLASHLIGHTS FOR POLICEMEN

Stumbling Through Dark Alleys Will No Longer Be Necessary.

Duluth cops will no longer have to stumble about in the dark or rely upon their own resources for lighting their way.

At the council meeting yesterday afternoon a requisition for eighty flashlights for the police department was approved.

The bluecoats on night duty have much use for them. Their rounds take them through alleys and into many places so dark that one can't see where the next step is going to land. The glims will prove very useful in many ways.

SCHMIDT WAS SANE AT TIME OF MURDER

Decision of Alienists Is Announced By Whitman.

New York, Oct. 21.—Hans Schmidt, the priest who confessed to slaying Anna Aumuller and dismembering her body, was sane when the murder was committed, according to the report of four alienists who examined him.

The report was made public today by District Attorney Whitman, who is preparing to bring the priest to trial.

PLAN RADICAL STAND ON LIQUOR QUESTION

The Congregationalists Will Make Report at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 21.—One of the important reports to be presented to the National Council of Congregational Churches, which will begin its triennial convention here tomorrow, is that of the convention of temperance appointed three years ago to draw up a statement of the churches' attitude on the liquor question.

Members of the committee, while refusing to give out the committee report previous to presentation to the council, declare it contains a number of drastic suggestions that place the church at the head of a national movement to eliminate the liquor traffic.

New Name for Moderator.

Of the 500 delegates who arrived today, few cared to declare themselves on the question of the election of a moderator to succeed Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y. In the preconvention "milling" however, the name of Rev. Samuel Hetherington Woodrow, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church, St. Louis, was added to the candidates. The others are: Rev. Charles R. Brown, dean of Yale Divinity school, New Haven, Conn.; Rev. Horace Day, Los Angeles, and Charles S. Mills, Montclair, N. J. The election will take place tomorrow.

REPAIRS TO FIRE HALL.

New Duluth Building May Be Made Serviceable at Low Cost.

Commissioner Hicken, Chief Randall of the fire department and Ross Everly, foreman who has had charge of the repairs at the city hall, have planned to go to New Duluth this afternoon to look over the fire hall in that suburb with a view to making necessary repairs. It is believed that a concrete floor and a concrete foundation can be put in at reasonable cost, putting the building in shape for several years' more use. When the repairs have been completed a team of horses may be placed there to haul the gasoline pumper now located in that station. That section of the city has been developing rapidly and the citizens have been urgent in their demands for better fire protection.

CRIMINAL LIBEL IN PHAGAN CASE.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—Detectives in Atlanta and Birmingham today were working to uncover what they claim will prove to be an attempt at blackmail in connection with the Phagan murder case. The arrest last night of Ira W. Fisher on a charge of criminal libel is expected, according to the police, to be followed by other arrests.

Fisher's statement was that he could prove a man other than Leo M. Frank killed Mary Phagan, the factory girl, here last April. Attorneys for Frank heard Fisher's story, in which he accused a well known Atlanta furniture dealer of the crime. That they discredited his story was indicated late yesterday when they turned Fisher over to local detectives.

MANUEL'S BRIDE LEAVES HOSPITAL.

Munich, Bavaria, Oct. 21.—Princess Augustine Victoria of Hohenzollern, wife of Former King Manuel of Portugal, left the hospital, where she has been under treatment for several weeks and departed with her husband today for Sigmaringen.

A bulletin issued by the physicians at the hospital today contained an emphatic denial of various rumors which have been made public as to the nature of the princess' illness, and declare her condition of ill-health to be due exclusively to the presence of intestinal bacteria.

Youth Admits Murder.

Harper, Kan., Oct. 21.—Eli Girard, a farmhand, 23 years old, has confessed, according to Donald Muir, county attorney, that his brother, Peter Girard, Frank J. Marrion and himself murdered Charles Johnston, a wealthy recluse, in 1909 for the purpose of robbery.

HONORS FOR DULUTHIAN

T. W. Hugo Slated for Scottish Rite Inspector General for Minnesota.

Highest Honor That Can Be Conferred on Scottish Rite Mason.

Washington, Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the opinion of Scottish Rite Masons, T. W. Hugo of Duluth, present deputy inspector general of Scottish Rite Masons of the southern jurisdiction, for Minnesota, will be elected a member of the supreme council of the order before the adjurnment of the council, which is now in biennial session here. He will succeed the late Samuel Emory Adams of Minneapolis. The election will occur the latter part of the week.

Mr. Hugo is now in Washington in connection with the meeting of the council, as are W. H. Hoyt of Duluth and W. Hayes Laird of Winona.

When Samuel Emory Adams of Minneapolis died last year, it was considered a foregone conclusion that T. W. Hugo of Duluth would succeed him. Mr. Hugo was, so to speak, second in command in Minnesota among Scottish Rite Masons, although there is no such office in the order; but this was so for the reason that Mr. Adams, as years crept on him, depended more and more on the Duluth man, and gave to him more and more of the work to do. Mr. Hugo has held many positions of honor among Scottish Rite Masons and for years has been legate of the court of honor to this jurisdiction, an honor seldom conferred. When Mr. Adams died, the grand commander, J. D. Richardson, at once appointed Mr. Hugo deputy inspector general to serve in the place of the deceased inspector general until the supreme council of the order would meet. While there was nothing certain as to his election as actual inspector general, it was taken as a foregone conclusion among Scottish Riters that that would be the result of the biennial session. Heretofore Mr. Hugo has been an honorary thirty-third degree man; after his election he will be an active thirty-third. The former have no vote in the supreme council, while the latter have and also are supreme in the districts over which they rule.

To be made an active thirty-third degree Mason is the highest honor that can be conferred upon a Scottish Rite Mason. There is just one from each state, and, in fact, not all states have one. Personal fitness cuts a very large figure, and the supreme council is prone to wait until the right man develops before conferring so great an honor.

The late Mr. Adams was also lieutenant grand commander of the order, next in command to Mr. Richardson, who is the head of the mother council of the world, one of the highest, if not absolutely the highest Masonic office in the world. A successor to Mr. Adams as lieutenant grand commander will doubtless be elected at the current session of the supreme council.

"UNPLATTED LAND" IS DEFINED BY SMITH

Attorney General Gives Construction of New Tax Law.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney General Smith today construed the law passed by the last legislature relating to the classification of real estate for purposes of taxation. This law makes a separate classification of unplatted real estate. It is this expression which the attorney general defines.

The attorney general says that in his opinion the legislature, in using the term "all unplatted land," has assumed that all land within the limits of an existing and legally authorized plat, which is subdivided into tracts, should be considered platted land, whether such sub-divisions are in lots or outlots, and that all land not so included is unplatted real estate.

NURSES WILL FINISH COURSE

Graduating Exercises for St. Mary's Training School Thursday.

Exercises for the graduating class of St. Mary's hospital training school will be held at 2:30 o'clock, Thursday afternoon at the Cathedral school, Second avenue west and Fourth street. Addresses will be given by Dr. A. C. Taylor and Rt. Rev. Bishop McGolrick. "Perfect Day," a solo, will be sung by Miss Irene Tibby, and a chorus will sing "Ave Maria." KILLING FROSTS IN SOUTHERN STATES

Tennessee, Georgia and Alabama Get Low Temperatures.

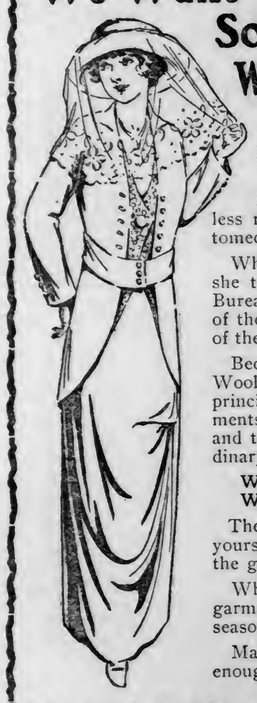

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—The entire southeast of the Mississippi river shivered this morning in what in most portions was the coldest weather ever known this early in the season. The temperature here was 30 degrees, the coldest October day in twenty-six years.

Killing frosts occurred last night in Tennessee and Northern Georgia and Alabama.

THE STORE FOR SERVICE.
113-115-117-119 WEST SUPERIOR STREET, DULUTH, MINN.

We Want You to Try on Some of the New Wooltex Garments

We want you to see for yourself just how good they are, how becoming, how refined.

These Wooltex garments are helping many women to dress better for less money than they have been accustomed to spend.

When Mme. Savarie was here recently she told you of the Wooltex Fashion Bureau in Paris and you know something of their efforts to have styles in advance of the commonplace.

Because of the enormous output of the Wooltex factory in the best stores of the principal cities in the country, these garments, though superior in style, fabric and tailoring, cost you no more than ordinary garments.

Wooltex Coats....$15.00 to $55.00
Wooltex Suits.....$25.00 to $65.00

These prices are very reasonable, as you yourself will say after having tried on the garments.

Why not come in tomorrow, select your garment and get the benefit of the early season's wear?

Many of the Wooltex Suits are warm enough to make heavy coats unnecessary.

Here Are Hints of Handsome Hats

Charming new designs—inspirations of master designers cleverly copied, or artistically adapted to suit your refined taste.

We execute orders for hats to wear with special costumes. Charming styles having individual personality moderately priced.

$6.00, $8.00, $10.00 and $12.00 are prices that will provide you with very smart hats of uncommon tone.

Our milliners understand their business—they know how to create style by the use of simple trimmings in rich materials. This simplicity makes for styles, it also brings down the cost.

Let us have your visit tomorrow.

DINNER FOR "OLD FOLKS"

Nobody Under the Allotted Span Admitted to Unique Banquet.

Sixty-Eight Guests Present Ranging From 70 to 89 Years in Age.

The "old folks" are enjoying themselves today at the First M. E. church.

A dinner for the old people, none under 70 years being eligible, was held from 11 o'clock until 3 today. Sixty-eight were present as guests of the ladies' aid and Dr. John W. Hoffmann, pastor of the church.

The "old folks'" dinner has been an annual affair in the church for the last nine years, and was started by Dr. Rice, the former pastor. This event has always been one of the most delightful of the year, and all old people of the city more than 70 years have been invited. Last year seventy-eight were present.

It has always been customary at these dinners to have a program, but this year, owing to the recent departure of Dr. Rice and various activities of the church that have taken up the time of the ladies, the program has been omitted. Dr. Hoffmann will continue the custom begun by Dr. Rice, and become acquainted with as many as possible and furnish entertainment at succeeding dinners.

The old folks today formed a merry group, and so busy were they recalling reminiscences and telling stories that they forgot they had all passed the mark of three score years and ten. A good percentage of those present were more than 80 years and several were almost 90.

After the dinner the guests were all taken home in automobiles. Following is the list of guests:

Mrs. Nullard, 77 years; H. M. Bradley, 89; C. P. Lindgren, 78; Mrs. Chambers, 78; A. Gronchhau, 81; Mrs. A. Gronchau, 70; Daniel Monroe, 84; Mrs. Schellenberger, 73; E. H. JOHN BULL WILL NOT MAKE ANY PROMISES

Declines to Say What Will Follow Mexican Election.

London, Oct. 21.—In his discussion of Mexican affairs with the American ambassador, Walter H. Page, yesterday, Sir Edward Grey declined to bind the British government to any particular policy after the elections in Mexico. In this respect, therefore, the policy of the British government differs from that of the United States.

The British attitude, according to Sir Edward Grey, is that matters should be left alone until after the election, and that future action should be based on their result.

The conversation between the two statesmen otherwise brought out the fact that the views of the British and the United States largely coincided and that both were desirous of a settlement which would assure permanent peace in Mexico.

GEORGE F. WILLIAMS MINISTER TO GREECE

Washington, Oct. 21.—George Fred Williams of Boston has been selected by President Wilson for minister to Greece. The post was offered to Prof. Garrett Droppers of Williams college, who declined that he might continue his educational work.

HABEAS CORPUS IS DENIED TO LAMAR

Impersonator of Congressmen Must Return to New York.

Washington, Oct. 21.—David Lamar's application for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent his return to the Federal authorities in New York to answer an indictment for impersonating congressmen in telephone talks with Wall street financiers, was dismissed today by Chief Justice Clabaugh of the district supreme court.

FEAR COLD HAS INJURED POTATOES.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—When the temperature dropped to 12 deg. above zero last night it is thought to have seriously damaged undug potatoes in the Red River valley. About 10 to 15 per cent of the acreage remains in the ground delay in digging being due to recent rainfall. Those with potatoes in warehouses are regarded as especially fortunate, as possible damage to the crop remaining in the field may result in an advance in price when the effect of the cold snap is fully investigated.

OUTBREAKS ARE PUT DOWN IN PORTUGAL.

Lisbon, Portugal, Oct. 21.—Many arrests were made in the Portuguese capital late last night, when several groups of opponents of the government attacked police stations and detachments of the Republican guard in various parts of the city and also attempted to release the political prisoners. The authorities eventually suppressed the outbreaks and the government today declared itself master of the situation.

Testamentary Letters Asked.
Louis F. Pfeiffer yesterday petitioned the probate court for letters testamentary in the estate of his father, Gustav Oscar Pfeiffer, who died Jan. 7, at his home in New York city, leaving an estate to be probated in this county of 400 acres in section 20, 52-18. The executors named in the will, are Louis F. and Karl E. Pfeiffer, sons and James G. Cannon. The realty belonging to the estate in this county is valued at about $4,000.

Shriners Will Meet.
A business session of Aad temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, has been called for the evening of Nov. 7 by Illustrious Potentate Bradley. At that time petitions will be balloted on. The next ceremonial will take place about Nov. 24, and the members and officers of the temple are making preparations already for the reason that the imperial potentate and other notable Shriners will be here.

Fined For Assault.
Emil Takkala was this morning fined $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail for assaulting Lena Koskela last Wednesday evening. Takkala pleaded not guilty when arraigned last Thursday morning and his trial took place yesterday afternoon. He paid his fine.

Guilty But Paroled.
Walter F. Wagner, 18 years old, was yesterday afternoon found guilty of having stolen three boxes of cigars from a wagon of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company Saturday afternoon. He was fined $40 and costs or thirty days, but sentence was suspended and young Wagner placed on parole.

Goes After Fugitive.
Detective Don Irvine left last evening for Milwaukee, where John Fauhl is being held for the local police on a charge of accepting a bribe. Young Fauhl, who is 17 years old, is the state's main witness in the case against Daniel Buchanan, the bartender for Buchanan & Horgan, but is charged with having taken a bribe to leave the city. He was arrested at Milwaukee yesterday morning. Fauhl will be arariged in police court tomorrow morning.

No More Typhoid.
Dr. H. E. Webster, director of public health, believes that the typhoid fever epidemic which threatened Gary has been effectually checked. Since the first eight cases no new ones have developed. The residents were instructed to boil all their water before using it, as it was quite certain that the typhoid had its source in the shallow wells which were furnishing the suburb's supply of water. An inspector was also detailed to cause an improvement in sanitary conditions. The residents evinced an evident desire to cooperate with the officials to better conditions.

Profanity Was Costly.
Gust Kahra, 32 years old, was impatient for his meal when he ordered it at the South St. Paul restaurant yesterday afternoon and used profane language toward the waitress. The latter told the proprietor, S. D. Hul, and Kahra was taken into custody by Officer Kreager on a charge of disorderly conduct. Kahra was found guilty in police court this morning and fined $10 and costs or ten days.

Gets New Position.
A. H. Proctor, an employe in the collection department at the First National bank and connected with that institution for the past twelve years, severed his connection with the bank today. He will leave tomorrow for Ironton, Minn., where he has taken a position as cashier of the First National Bank of Ironton.

Fined for Assault.
For assaulting Milam Luzaich last Monday, Mike Krznarich was yesterday afternoon fined $50 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. Krznich paid his fine. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned last Tuesday and his trial was then set for yesterday afternoon.

Chauffeur Pays Costs.
Frank J. Van Derhof, chauffeur, who was arrested last week on a charge of speeding, was yesterday afternoon discharged in police court on payment of the court costs. The costs amounted to $4.74. Van Derhof was arrested last Tuesday noon for running his automobile over twenty-five miles an hour.

Were Disorderly.
For creating a disturbance in a West Superior street saloon, Eli Ollikainen, 45, was this morning fined $10 and costs or ten days, while Frank Tuomi, 35, was fined $20 and costs or twenty days in the county jail. They were arrested by Officers Brouillette and Ricketts yesterday afternoon.

FRISCO RECEIVERS WOULD RAISE MONEY

Ask Permission to Issue $10,000,000 Worth of Certificates.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Receivers for the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad sprung a surprise today by asking Federal Judge W. H. Sanborn to sign an order authorizing them to issue $10,000,000 in receivers' certificates with which to pay the preferred and car trust claims. Objections were raised by Frank B. Kellogg, who represents the $28,000,000 holdings of the New Orleans, Texas & Mexico road, a subsidiary of the St. Louis & San Francisco. Judge Sanborn granted delay until Monday for the filing of official objection.

It was said at the hearing the receivers' certificates will not materially affect the holders of the $28,000,000 of bonds of the Texas Southern, but that the money raised by the sale of this issue will be issued to pay all first lien claims and preferred claims against the Frisco.

In case the New York bondholders make no formal objection before Monday, that hearing will not be held and the orders will be signed by the court. An order for the payment of $78,000 interest on the general holdings of the railroad will be signed at the same time, in all probability.

Statements of the receivers today were that the income of the railroad now is ample to pay the running expenses without special appropriation. The purchase of supplies for the road will be carried on without special order of the court.

CRAWLED THROUGH THE VENTILATOR

C. O. Jenks Had Narrow Escape in Wreck at Bena.

Suffering from burns and bruises, C. O. Jenks, general superintendent of the eastern division of the Great Northern railway, narrowly escaped death by crawling through the ventilator of his private car when the Great Northern No. 35, westbound, was wrecked at Bena, Minn., eighteen miles east of Cass Lake yesterday. He was in a stateroom, the door of which was sprung, when the private car and a sleeper attached were thrown over on their sides. There was no time to rescue him as a gas tank exploded and set the wreckage on fire.

The wreck was caused by the snapping of a rail after the train with the exception of the private car and sleeper had gone over it. Mr. Jenks, with the exception of a stenographer and two Japanese servants, was in the car alone. The other passengers were not injured.

Mr. Jenks was taken by a special train to Superior and is now at his rooms at the Superior hotel.

Health and Weight Restored

MISS K. HOWARD.

When food could not be retained on the stomach, her family physician pescribed Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, and now Miss Kitty Howard thanks this wonderful remdy because she can eat heartily, and it has increased her weight 35 pounds in six month's time. She says so herself:

"I was directed by my family doctor to take a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey before meals in a little water with sugar added. Before taking your wonderful preparation, I could not eat, and when I did, I could not keep the food on my stomach; but thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, I can now eat heartily and have increased over 35 pounds in weight in the past six months, which is the length of time I have been taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I now weigh 148 pounds, and I attribute my recovery of health and weight to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey."—Miss Kitty Howard, 290 Tillary Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

GERMAN CHURCH TO RUN COLLEGE.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 21.—The annual convention of the German Congregational church of North America, in session here, decided to take over the Redfield, S. D., college, the largest denominational educational institution of the church, and hereafter the college will be managed by a committee appointed by the conference. A crisis, it was announced, had been reached in the affairs of the college, and it must be assisted to continue effective work. An endowment fund of $350,000 is to be undertaken.

James J. Hill of St. Paul, Minn., it was announced, has agreed to give the college $50,000 if the denomination raises $350,000 and of this $250,000 has been pledged.

"JOY RIDING THIEF" GIVEN TEN YEARS.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 21.—The extreme penalty for grand larceny—ten years in the penitentiary—was imposed by Judge Willis upon G. S. Graham, who was convicted for having stolen an automobile for a joy ride.

"The joy riding thief is a menace to the public," said the court. "In the future all such thieves convicted in this court will be sentenced to ten years in prison."

The DOCTOR'S HELPS

By DONALD McCASKEY, M.D.

Member of Staff, General Hospital, Lancaster, Pa.; Fellow of the New York Academy of Medicine.

THE ELECTRIC NEEDLE WILL REMOVE HAIR

"Mr. W. H." asks: "Isn't there something to permanently remove hair and stop its future growth?"

Yes. Find out who is the secretary of the medical society in your community. Go to him. Take this article with you and have him recommend to you a competent physician skilled in electro-therapeutics and in the use also of the electric needle. You will then be on the safe side. Otherwise, by taking chances with the so-called beauty specialist, users of the electric needle, your skin might be severely damaged. Play safe.

THESE LADIES CAN'T SLEEP.

"Miss M. C. A." asks for a remedy for her insomnia. "I have tried dozens of things," she says; "eating and drinking fresh foods and so-called health tonic drinks, taken long walks, deep breathing and calisthenics; in fact, everything which I have heard or thought of except narcatic drugs. I am 30 years old and a brain worker, and believe in the practical, hard common sense of your advice."

"Miss H. H." from Tennessee, asks what she can do for sleeplessness and a twitching in her lower limbs. "I suffer intensely," she says, "for I cannot hold my limbs still; also please give a remedy for unpleasant breath caused by catarrh."

If the urine of both of you ladies were to be analyzed, the analysis would in all probability reveal a decided excess of waste matter poisons. Nervous irritation is the result. There are chemical poisons resulting from foods just the same as there is a poisonous toxic effect from alcohol or any other overdose of any plant or mineral drug. Nervousness when not due to any organic disease is the result of an internal chemical irritation.

The power of the mind can in a measure control nervousness, but the blood and body fluids which circulate through your millions of flesh cells must be pure in order to back the power of the will up properly. These accumulations must be eliminated through the bowels, the kidneys, the skin and the lungs, chiefly the first three. Furthermore, they must not be permitted to accumulate. The excreting channels of the body cannot afford to be clogged up any more than can the sewerage system of a big city. Things must be kept open and free. The result of food when eaten healthily digested is oxygen and other chemical gases, likewise a mineral matter residue. When food is incompletely assimilated into these perfect end products, it is much the same as when the refining processes of the oil refining companies in the business world become defective. There is trouble. In the human body auto-intoxication develops, with all your group of symptoms, catarrhal and otherwise. Sleeping out of doors, or with your heads out of the window, would help greatly. Have a tiny platform or framework built for privacy. See your doctor.

"THE HIGH ROAD."

Mrs. Fiske and Her Manhattan Company in Sheldon Play.

Can it be that Edward Sheldon had Mrs. Fiske in mind not only as the star who was to act his play, but as the heroine herself, when he wrote "The High Road," which was presented at the Lyceum last evening by Mrs. Fiske and her Manhattan company?

Did he see in Mrs. Fiske the Mary Page who was compelled to find expression for the thoughts and ideals stirring within herself, and go on scaling new hills. Mary Page says: "Out of my blunders and weakness and my mistakes, I have mansged to build my life. I have built it slowly. It has not been easy work. No one but myself knows how far it comes now from what I would lige it to be. But such as it is, it is mine. I made it." Might that not be Mrs. Fiske herself, not in the details of her life of course, but in her general aim?

For years Mrs. Fiske has been carving out her career as it pleased herself, until today she stands without an equal on the American stage as an actress of intelligence and understanding. She has not been content to accept a temporary success. She has had them, scores of them—Becky Sharpe, Salvation Nell, Tess, Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh, Hedda Gabler. Could any range of characters be greater? She has tried them all, and tossed them aside one by one to essay new heights—climb the next hill. Other actresses have been content to find one congenial role, and settling into it draw the comfortable cushions of financial emolument around them. When the public tired of that particular role, another exactly like it in a new play was forthcoming. Mrs. Fiske hasy systematicall and conscientiously and persistently developed herself, used all of her opportunities and in using them made opportunities for others. She has gone about it as deliberately as the athlete prepares himself for a race. And that is why Mrs. Fiske could say today, like Mary Page, "I can stand here and look into your eyes and say 'I have done my best. I am not ashamed of what I have done. I am proud of it.'" Only Mrs. Fiske does not say it. She simply goes looking about for another play, preferably one that is different from anything she has yet essayed if that is possible to find.

Failure is the bugbear of most actors and actresses. Dry rot seems to be the bugbear of Mrs. Fiske, and success or failure but a stepping stone to something better.

That is why, in an age when managers and stars are seeking something that will catch the popular fancy, Mrs. Fiske is seeking out unknown dramatists with something new to offer. She popularized Ibsen on the American stage. She discovered Edward Sheldon.

"The High Road" is interesting because Mrs. Fiske does it, and for this reason only. It is a sketchy, episodic play, lacking action and sustained interest, and being weighted down with a surplus of exposition that fills at least three of the five acts. Even as a character study it is not a strong piece of work, for it attempts to cram into the first three acts the character study of three different women, or of the same woman at three distinct stages of her life. The first act shows her an ignorant country girl, with the longings for a wider outlook on life just awakening. The second act shows her the loved companion of an artist, surrounded by the luxuries that money can bring, art, music, literature, but still with the feeling that there is a new hill to climb. The third act shows her at the height of her career of usefulness to the oppressed of society, a mature, efficient, great woman. Then begins the first suggestion of a play, in its modern accepted sense. Ibsen would have summed up the first three acts in one short exposition. Three distinct episodes precede the real drama. Each episode has its own exposition, its own development, its own climax. Throughout the episodes the only thread which holds them together is the gradually developing personality of Mary Page. The only incident that is carried over into the play itself, is the fact that Maddock remembered having seen Mary Page in the rooms of Alan Wilson.

Even in the hands of a master playwright, and Mr. Sheldon is not that yet, this episodic method can rarely result in sustained interest or a convincing drama, for the action is generally lost sight of.

"The High Road," therefore, serves chiefly to offer Mrs. Fiske a means for displaying her talents. It will probably seldom see the light of day when she drops it, and it probably would never have been produced by any other woman than Mrs. Fiske. She probably took it because back of it all she recognized the fact that the author had a message to give in his play and because it was another unexplored hill for her to climb.

Of Mrs. Fiske's work it need only be said that she makes the role of Mary Page as nearly convincing as any actress could make it. Even the 16-year-old awkward country girl is vividly presented. Youth is the most difficult of all attributes to assume. That Mrs. Fiske is able to convey the impression of youth and immaturity as well as she does is a rare tribute to her intelligence. She is at her best in the last three acts, as a woman of mature judgment and ripe experience. Her rapid fire enunciation, her short jerky sentences, her mannerisms, her self-repression are then most effective in conveying the impression of resourcefulness which the part calls for.

A supporting company of a high standard, and a wonderful production do their part in helping make the play the success it has been in spite of its weaknesses. Eugene Ormonde gives to the part of the governor a certain rugged masculinity which it calls for. Kenneth Hunter as Alan Wilson, the artist, presents a finished picture of the young art connoisseur—and by the way he was a most up to date young connoisseur, as he secured an English translation of Pelleas and Melisanda for the young country girl, the year in which it was originally published, 1892.

Arthur Byron gives a faithful and well studied picture of Maddock, the publisher. Aldrich Bowker wrestles heroically with the part of old Silas Page, a role that is torn bodily from a down east melodrama, and succeeds as well as anyone could be expected to do. Mr. Sheldon gave Mr. Bowker a rather steep hill of his own to climb.

The other parts are "bits" but bits that have not been neglected. Bits poorly done detract from the picture almost as much as a bungled "lead," and Mrs. Fiske does not make mistakes of that kind.

The production from a scenic standpoint leaves nothing to criticise. It is perfection itself.

"The High Road" will be repeated at the Lyceum tonight. In spite of many counter attractions a big audience was present last evening.

Amusement Notes.

Since their last appearance in Duluth, Muriel and Francis, the two young women who are helping to entertain Orpheum audiences this week, have had a tour of the principal music halls of England and France. They appeared on one bill at the Palace in London with Anna Pavlowa and Harry Louder as the two headline attractions.

The two young women describe social and industrial conditions in England as being unspeakable. "We, of course, saw more of actors than of other people," said Miss Francis, "but if you can judge by them the suffering and hardship in England is appalling. They get barely a living wage, outside of the few well known stars. American acts can demand their salary before going abroad but they try to shave it after you get there. English performers have to take what they are given, and it is hardly enough to keep them alive."

The secret of many a lawyer's success is strikingly divulged in Charles Klein's great masterpiece of modern topical playwriting, "The Third Degree," which is now appearing at the Empire theater.

Richard Brewster, the celebrated exponent of international law in "The Degree' says to the wife of his best paying client: "The painful part of our profession is that the client's weakness is the lawyer's strength. When men hate each other and rob each other, we lawyers don't pacify them; we pit them against each other for profit. If we didn't they'd get some lawyer who did. When a man wants to do the wrong thing, he's always willing to pay a lawyer a good price to advise him to do it."

Promising young attorneys will find a great deal of sound philosophical wisdom in "The Third Degree," and incidentally prospective legal contestants will glean much wholesome de-

GIRLS! LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR NO DANDRUFF---25 CENT DANDERINE

Hair Coming Out? If Dry, Thin, Faded, Bring Back Its Color and Lustre.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

vice, which, if sought direct of any recognized and reputable authority, would cost a pretty penny. In explanation of this clear insight into the methods of barristers by the playwright, it may be stated that Charles Klein is a lawyer of ability, having studied law at Lincoln Inn, London, England, and admitted to the English bar.

Mr. Klein abandoned his chosen calling and adopted playwriting as his profession. Thus the bar lost a brilliant advocate and the stage gained a powerful master mind that has already proved its mightiness through his other signal success, "The Lion and the Mouse."

Florence Lawrence, well known to all who attend the moving picture theaters, is playing her second day's engagement at the Rex theater, in her initial production in two parts, produced by the Universal company, entitled "The Closed Door." Florence Lawrence is the young woman who deserted her beautiful rose garden. She retired for one year, and during that time listened to the flattering offers made to her by the Universal directors, and finally she answered the call of the camera and appeared once more as she did in the past, with the same winning smile and charm, re-entering into the hearts of all those who longed for her return to the screen. In "The Closed Door" is seen again the Florence Lawrence of early days. A very beautiful love story flavors this production. It is such as will appeal to man and woman. She has made an effort in this production, such as she has never made before. She will appear in a number of productions under the Universal banner, and if this one is a sample of the others that are now in the making they should be most successful. Tonight and tomorrow will end her engagement at the Rex.

NO GAMBLING AT BAZARS

Commissioner Hicken Says Games of Chance Will Be Barred.

Gambling at church bazars or fairs is as unlawful as gambling under any other circumstances, in the opinion of Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, which includes the police department.

Henceforth games of chance, such as have been complained of, will not be allowed in Duluth, according to the safety commissioner.

The city officials explain that the practice has been followed in the city for a long time past and that as no one called attention to it, no one attached any harmful significance to it. They say that where their attention is called to it in the future those in charge of the fairs or bazars will be asked to stop the games of chance. The authorities are confident that no one will object to complying with a request of that nature.

At the meeting of the city council yesterday afternoon a communication was read pointing out that gambling has been allowed under the auspices of church organizations which would not otherwise be tolerated in the city. The matter was referred to Commissioner Hicken. He said today that all gambling is contrary to law and that the regulations would be enforced.

INSANITY, DEATH AND MARRIAGE ALL MEET.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 21.—While the county court was conducting a hearing yesterday to determine his mental condition, Dr. C. E. Hill, 75 years old, a pioneer St. Joseph physician, was stricken with heart disease and died within a few minutes.

As Dr. Hill's body was being removed from the court room a wedding party entered. The room was cleared, and Mrs. Sadie Walker and Frank Bell, both of this county, were married by the judge.

Colds Are Caught in October That Last All Winter.

In most parts of the United States October is the pleasantest month of the whole year. And yet October has especial liabilities for those who are subject to catching cold.

September is liable to be warm, and thin clothes are worn almost universally. When October begins the nights get colder, and the days also. Yet people will cling to their thin clothes. The negligee shirt without vest is so comfortable, that the men do not like to give it up. Sleeveless underwear and peek-a-boo waists have given so much comfort during the hot months that the women lay them aside with great reluctance. So it is that thin clothes are carried over into the month of October, and a great many millions of people carry them a little too long. Frequently, catching cold is the result.

A cold acquired in October may last several months and do great damage. In spite then of the fact that October is a pleasant month, it is a month that presents especial liabilities for catching cold. Of course the best way to fortify one's self against cold is to avoid exposure, but people will not always do this, hence colds are the result.

To have a remedy handy to break up a cold is almost a household necessity. It has been at least thirty-five or forty years that Peruna has been a standard household remedy for coughs and colds.

It is generally sufficient to take a few doses at the first appearance of a cold. The experience of the people has been, if taken in the early stages of a cold Peruna is prompt in its action. The cold disappears very quickly.

Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

FILE REPORT ON RECOUNT

Inspectors in Recent Election Contest Present Statement to Court.

Shows 170 Ballots Under Dispute---Thirty-six "Ayes" Needed.

Inspectors Walter Gonska, A. T. Banning, Jr., and Richard M. Funk, who conducted the recount of the vote on the Hicken liquor ordinance at the special municipal election of Sept. 16, filed their report today with the clerk of the district court.

The report shows that 9,514 votes were cast. In order for the measure to have carried, it must have received 4,758 votes, or one more than half. The inspectors, in their report, agree upon 4,722 votes having been cast in favor of the ordinance.

Of the 9,514 votes cast, three were blank and 170 are under dispute. In order for the ordinance to carry on the recount, it must receive at least 36 of the disputed ballots.

It is expected that Judge Cant will take up the election contest case the latter part of this week or as soon as City Attorney Clapp returns from an out-of-town business trip. The case may be called for trial Friday.

The inspection of ballots was begun on Oct. 6 and completed two days later. The report to the court shows that, among other things, the inspectors did not count, either for or against, any ballots to which objection was raised by any of the inspectors, or concerning which an opinion of the court was desired.

With the exception of three ballots, which were entirely blank, the inspectors counted all the other ballots either for or against the ordinance. The inspectors report that in each election precinct of the city, with the exception of one, the ballot boxes contained the proper number of ballots and were properly sealed.

In the ballot box of the Second precinct of the Third ward, according to the report, the ballot box was sealed with three seals, one across the hole at the top, one across the lower left hand corner of the top extending down to the right side, and one across the lower right hand corner of the top extending down to the right side.

On breaking the seals the inspectors found that the box contained nothing except three tally sheets, signed by the judges and clerks of election in that precinct. The tally showed 92 for and 145 against. The city clerk later discovered that the ballots which had been cast had been sent to his office with a pad of unused ballots.

On recounting the vote in this precinct, the inspectors agreed upon the following 81 for, 135 against, 23 disputed. A statement showing the result of the count for each precinct in the city, with totals for each ward and for the city as a whole is made a part of the signed report of the inspectors.

SLEIGH ON STREET; SIGN OF WINTER

Winter is coming.

Of all the signs, one of the most significant was a big sleigh being hauled down Superior street this morning. It was the property of the Gowan-Lenning-Brown company. The team was hitched directly to the sleigh, and but for the absence of the fleecy white, the sight was typical of midwinter. Although the sledding was poor, the big team had no trouble in walking right ahead with the load.

The above sleigh is part of Gowan-Lenning-Brown company's complete equipment of sleighs, all painted by the Duluth Auto Painting company, 213 and 215 East First street, the largest and best equipped paint shop at the Twin Ports. Get our prices. Grand 1539-Y; Melrose 432.

SOCIALISTS MEET DEFEAT IN MINOT.

Minot, N. D., Oct. 21.—The recall election, growing out of I. W. W. rioting here in August, proved an overwhelming defeat for the Socialists. D. C. Dorman, Socialist commissioner, was recalled and the rest of their candidates were beaten.

The Socialist candidates were defeated by a vote of more than two to one. President N. Davis was re-elected over former President Arthur Leseur, Socialist, by a vote of 776 against 359. Police Commissioner W. S. Shaw received 705 votes against 326 votes cast for Eisele, Socialist. Street Commissioner Henry Dorman, the only Socialist member of the commission, was defeated by J. M. Wilson, citizens' candidate, by a vote of 722 to 383. Police Magistrate John Lynch was re-elected, defeating Kelso, the Socialist candidate, by a vote of 773 to 326.

The election was one of the most bitter ever held in this city.

DULUTH MAN INVENTS SHOCK ABSORBING WHEEL.

A. W. Youngkvist, who has lived in the West end for the past ten years, has applied for a patent on a new improvement in resilient wheels the object of which is to provide a resilient wheel of the simplest possible construction.

Another object, as explained by Mr. Youngkvist, is to provide a wheel the cost of construction of which would be at a minimum and which could be constructed from any wheel now in existence.

At the ends of each spoke of Mr. Youngkvist's wheel is attached a metal socket holding flat band springs of circular form, which in turn are fastened to the wooden rim of the wheel. When the weight of the vehicle and the load are upon the wheels, the lowermost spokes and therefore the springs provided thereon, will be compressed and the uppermost springs will be expanded, affording a continuous and adjustable shock absorber.

Mr. Youngkvist says the springs are now being prepared by a Chicago concern and that he will be in a position to demonstrate his new invention to the public in a short time.

Railroads

WOODEN CARS OUT OF DATE

Railroads Build 1,140 Steel Passenger Coaches During Six Months.

As a result of agitation brought about through disastrous experiences in wrecks, the construction of wooden passenger cars has practically ceased in this country.

Between Jan. 1 and July 1 orders were placed by American railroads for 1,140 passenger service cars, of which 1,054, or 92.3 per cent, were of all-steel construction, and 76, or 6.7 per cent, had steel underframe. Since July 1, and particularly since the New Haven wreck, orders for modern steel passenger cars have been unusually heavy, according to a correspondent of the Wall Street Journal.

Steel Cars Increase.

In the calendar year 1909, 1,880 passenger cars were acquired by the railroads, of which 51.4 per cent were of wooden construction. In 1911 the proportion of wooden cars had dropped to 20.7 per cent, while by Jan. 1, 1913, the proportion of wooden cars to the total number under construction had fallen off 3.3 per cent of the total orders placed.

Congress Takes Hand.

There were in service on Jan. 1, 1909, only 629 all-steel and only 673 steel underframe passenger cars. On Jan. 1, 1913, there were in service 7,271 all-steel and 3,296 steel underframe cars. The increase in all-steel cars over 1909 was 6,642, or 1,055 per cent, and in steel underframe care the increase was 2,623, or 389 per cent.

There are now in service approximately 46,900 wooden passenger cars, which the special committee on relations of railway operations to legislation estimated would cost $614,000,000 to replace with cars of steel construction. Assuming an average value of $4,000 for each wooden car, the charge to operating expenses for replacement under the commission's classification would amount to $187,700,000. Interest at 5 per cent on the total cost would amount to $30,700,000 annually.

Four bills are pending in congress requiring the replacement of wooden passenger equipment with steel. The period suggested during which this be done varies from Jan. 1, 1915, to Jan. 1, 1918. The maximum capacity of all the plants of the country for production of steel equipment is variously estimated at between 3,500 and 4,500 cars per annum. If the maximum estimate is correct, the shortest period in which present wooden equipment can be replaced under present productive capacity would be ten years, unless capacity is materially increased.

C., R. I. & P. REPORT.

Increase in Revenue and Enlarged Balance Are Shown.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 21.—The annual report of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company shows an increase in operating revenues, a gain in operating income and enlarged balance for dividends and the payment of a dividend of 5 per cent with a $300,000 surplus.

The report shows total operating revenues of $71,365,000, an increase of $6,652,000 over last year's report. Operating expenses $52,504,000 or $5,745,000 over the previous year. The road spent $3,361,00 for maintenance. The balance remaining in the treasury for dividends was $4,060,000 in round numbers.

The road carried 21,102,000 tons of freight the last year, an increase of nearly 12 per cent over the year before.

FOREIGNERS TALK AT PRINCETON "U."

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 21.—Lectures by foreign delegates now in this country to participate in the dedication of Princeton's graduate college here tomorrow, were continued today at the university. Dr. Arthur Denis Godley, fellow of Magdalen college and public orator in the University of Oxford, lectured on the "Present Position of Classic Studies in England." Dr. Godley in his lecture gave the impression that the classical studies were being seriously threatened with abolition. Greek as a branch of education, he contended, was in danger of falling, and needed support.

Emile Boutroux, honorary professor in the University of Paris, planned to deliver a lecture late in the afternoon on "Science and Culture."

Freedom from simulation or hypocrisy."
—Webster.

The makers of "Sincerity Clothes" are men who believe that honesty is the best policy in business as it is in every-day affairs between man and man. They selected this name to express their idea of giving full value for every dollar paid to them. To accomplish this takes more than mere honest intention, however, and the result in their case is so eminently satisfactory to all wearers of because back of good intentions are men with life-long experience in wholesale tailoring, are high-priced expert designers, skilled journeymen and distributers of the highest standing in their respective communities. You do not find Sincerity Clothes in the old-fashioned stores where "Let the buyer beware," is a necessary rule for the man who enters. At the Head of the Lakes you will find "Sincerity Clothes" only in the Columbia Stores where a child is as safe in buying as a crack clothing man himself would be.

Sincerity Clothes

This is "Sincerity Clothes Week" at The Columbia and you are cordially invited to inspect these fine suits and overcoats, to have a try-on if you wish and to buy if you are so inclined, $14.50 and upward.

GOOD FRIEND OF DULUTH HAS BOUQUET FOR THE ZENITH CITY

George W. Rodenberg of St. Paul is making a business trip to this city.

Mr. Rodenberg is a former St. Paul member of the state legislature and was always to be counted upon in measures for the welfare of St. Louis county.

"I always feel at home when I come to Duluth," said Mr. Rodenberg, "because I meet here so many of my friends. I admire the spirit and candidness of the people of the Zenith City. When your representative citizens promised the legislature to erect in this state a mammoth steel plant, I gave no further thought to that promise, because I knew that the obligation would be met, and now, coming in over the Northern Pacific railway the traveler can see the buildings of this gigantic plant, which is nearing completion. Those who have not seen any of the buildings can never form an idea of the magnitude of the undertaking, and when the furnaces belch forth their roar, and the hum of the machinery is set in motion, then will the people of the state become the beneficiary of the promise made in 1907. Aside from the great iron ore industry of Duluth, the attention of the settlers has been called to the wonderful fertility of the soil in the county, and during the last state fair I heard words of praise over the fine exhibit of farm and garden truck raised in St. Louis county. Of course, your so-called Meadowlands exhibits brought forth a good deal of admiration. Take it all in all, St. Louis county is certainly the most unique and wonderful county of the state; rich in iron ore, rich in lumber, rich in soil and richer in men."

Mr. Rodenberg expects to visit the range before returning to St. Paul.

Farmers of Hermantown May Compete for City Milk Trade.

Investigating Cause of High Price While They Get Little.

At a meeting of the Farmers Producers' Club of Hermantown held last evening steps were taken to find out why milk is selling at 9 and 10 cents a quart in the city while the producers were getting only 15 cents a gallon, and also to inquire into the feasability of establishing a co-operative creamery.

The committee appointed consisted of James R. Grady, the club's secretary, chairman; T. W. Ruhnke, Alos Klowsky and E. S. Lawyer, the club's president. It will report at the next meeting of the club to be held on the first Monday in November.

Members of the club said that the difference in the prices received for the milk and those paid by the consumer showed too large profits for the middle man. They claimed that either the producer or the consumer is being robbed and that the blame of the high price of milk was being put on the producer.

"We receive 15 cents a gallon for the milk delivered to the creamery concerns in Duluth," said James R. Grady. "Our neighbors north and west of us haul their milk to the railroad station and receive 17 cents now and will receive 18 cents on Dec. 1. The companies on the range pay the freight. We are entitled to higher prices for delivery at the Duluth creameries when it is taken into consideration that those concerns do not have to pay any of this cost of handling."

Talks Co-operative Creamery.

E. S. Lawyer, president of the club, who for nearly ten years was manager of a creamery near Boston, Mass., spoke on the establishment of a co-operative creamery for the district. He said that the creamery would settle the problem of the milk prices and would be a paying proposition for the farmers.

"We are located in one of the best dairy sections of the state," said Mr. Lawyer. "We can not only produce enough milk here to support one of these institutions and will also receive better prices for our milk but will also be able to have the skim milk for feeding our stock. A creamery patronized by the farmers of this club would be a success from the start."

Charles S. Mitchell gave a short talk in which he advocated the establishment of the creamery as the solution of the dairy problem for the community. He said that the farmers are entitled to more pay for their product when the present price of milk in the city was taken into consideration.

The club's committee will begin at once investigating the prices of milk in the city and if conditions warrant it, according to its members, steps will be taken at once to enter the field in the city by either establishing a creamery or establishing milk routes with delivery by wagons through the co-operative effort of the farmers' club.

CHILD IS IMPROVING.

Injured Boy Is Resting Well at St. Luke's Hospital.

William Milner, Jr., the 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milner of Superior, whose left leg was broken Saturday afternoon while he was attempting to hang onto one of the dump cars at the rock pile at Thirteenth avenue west, is reported improved at the St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken immediately after the accident. The child had been visiting with his grandmother, Mrs. John Drennan, 1228 West Superior street, and was playing about the Point of Rocks with some other children during the afternoon.

ADAMS SHOWS SUCCESS.

Club Presents Good Programs Which Are Well Received.

The first performances of the minstrel show given by the Adams Glee club were voted a decided success by those who attended the shows at the Star theater last night. New jokes, new songs and special numbers given by the amateurs received the plaudits of the audience.

From the success achieved last night it is expected that the performances this evening and tomorrow evening will draw packed houses. It may be that following the productions at the West end theater, the club may make arrangements to put on the play in some of the neighboring towns and the ranges.

Luther League.

The Luther League of the Swedish Bethany Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will hold a business meeting this evening. The league's constitution will be read following which plans will be made for giving a Thanksgiving day supper. The supper will be given in the church clubrooms.

Nelson-Eck Wedding.

The wedding of Miss Olga Nelson and Erland Eck took place Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 523 Garfield avenue. Rev. M. Neeve of Beatleton, Wis., read the service. The bride was attended by Miss Esther Peterson and the groomsman was Victor Carlson. Mr. and Mrs. Eck will reside in New Duluth.

Children's Festival.

Duluth homestead, No. 3131, American Brotherhood of Yeomen, entertained last night at its second annual "children's festival" at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The affair was attended by a crowd that packed the larger of the lodge halls. Twenty-five children took part in the program which consisted of musical numbers, recitations and drills. The program was under the direction of Mrs. A. Bordeleau.

Guild Will Meet.

The St. Luke's Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. E. Halford, Thirty-first avenue east and Superior street. Plans will be made for the annual supper and sale to be held in the church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, on Oct. 30.

Annual Fall Supper.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church has completed arrangements for their annual fall supper and sale to be held tomorrow evening at the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The women of the church have planned to serve supper to 450 people. Booths at which fancy work made by the members will be offered will be arranged in the hall.

Fire Causes Damage.

Flames threatened destruction to a frame dwelling at 1109½ West Michigan street last night. The fire had spread through the living apartments of a family residing on the first floor when checked by the fire department. The building is owned by John Atol. An overheated stove caused the fire.

St. Clement's Bazar.

A large crowd attended the opening night of the bazar given by the ladies of St. Clement's Catholic church, Twenty-first avenue west and Third street, last night. The school hall of the church was prettily decorated for the occasion and booths tastily arranged along the walls of the large rooms. The bazar will be continued every evening this week. Those in charge expect to realize a sum sufficient to make a big inroad on the debt on the church.

Supper and Sale.

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church, will give their annual fall supper and sale at Woodman hall tomorrow evening. Supper will be served from 5:30 to 8:30 o'clock.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Robert O'Malley of Milwaukee, Wis., is a guest at the home of Mrs. Fred Stafford, 19 North Twenty-eighth avenue west.

Miss Helen Dunlap of White Bear, Minn., is a guest at the home of Miss Katheryn Conroy, 505 North Twenty-first avenue west.

C. B. Nunan, 324 North Twenty-fifth avenue west, will leave tomorrow for a month's trip through Western Canada.

Mrs. John Lingiebach and son, Reiner, 2922 Helm street, have left for a month's visit to relatives in Chicago and Ottawa, Ill.

George A. Eklund, 1823 West Superior street, left yesterday for the Twin Cities, where he will spend two weeks on business.

BUSINESS ON SOUND BASIS

Savings Deposits in Duluth Growing Faster Than the Populaton.

Gratification is expressed by Duluth bankers over the general trade outlook here.

"The business situation here is strong and virile," said an official of the First National bank today. "The demand for money in all lines of trade is good, but there is no financial stringency in prospect. The grain trade has financed itself, so that providing for handling that movement is no longer the subject of any anxiety, especially so in view of the fact that receipts have fallen off so heavily of late. A good feature that might be drawn attention to is that savings bank deposits in Duluth are growing much faster than the population. This goes to show that people here are generally well employed and are getting ahead of the game nicely."

ONE DOSE RELIEVES A COLD---NO QUININE

"Pape's Cold Compound" Ends Bad Colds or Grippe in a Few Hours.

Relief comes instantly.

A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up a severe cold either in the head, chest body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

Police Clerk Admits Theft.

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Carl Seybold, fugitive police court clerk, pleaded guilty on a charge of embezzlement when arraigned before Judge Ahern in common pleas court. He was given an indeterminate sentence of from 1 to 7 years in the Ohio state prison. Seybold was apprehended last Saturday in Pittsburg and brought back for trial. He is alleged to have embezzled $5,000 of public funds.

COMMEND FRED WARD'S ABILITY

Commercial Club's Agricultural Committee Passes Resolutions.

The agricultural committee of the Commercial club met yesterday afternoon to discuss the matter of a successor to Fred Ward as county agricultural agent. Mr. Ward has just been appointed superintendent of the city and county work farm, and the matter of his successor as county agent is considered to be a most important one. When the committee will have decided upon somebody as a successor, recommendations will be made to Dean Woods of the agricultural college. Yesterday resolutions of congratulations and commendation over Mr. Wards new appointment were passed by the committee. The resolutions read as follows:

"Resolved, That the agricultural committee of the Commercial club wishes to express its satisfaction and hearty approval of the energetic and efficient work performed by Fred Ward in the capacity of county agent in St. Louis county, and

"That we regret very much the loss of Mr. Ward in this field by reason of his having been offered and having accepted the position of superintendent of the correctional farm of the city of Duluth and the county of St. Louis—a position of greater responsibility and one of first importance to the county; and

"That we give our consent to such a change more readily because of Mr. Ward's peculiar fitness for the difficult position which he is called upon to fill and for the fact that his personality and force will continue to be a live factor in the county along agricultural lines."

TENTATIVE PLEAS IN COTTON CASE.

New York, Oct. 21.—Eugene B. Scales of Texas and Frank B. Hayne and William P. Brown of New Orleans entered tentative pleas of not guilty to the superceding indictment accusing them of having operated a corner in cotton in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law. They were given ten days to demur or take other action and were released on $2,000 bail each.

The defendants were originally indicted with James A. Patten of Chicago, who pleaded guilty and was fined $4,000. The new indictment, which included Col. Robert M. Thompson as a defendant, was drawn to conform to a decision of the United States supreme court in the matter.

WAYWARD GIRLS IN "FIRE TRAP."

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 21.—More than 100 girls are each night locked in rooms behind padlocked doors and heavy wire screens at the girls' industrial school at Beloit, with no chance of escape in the event of fire, is the text of a report made to Governor Hodges by Deputy State Fire Marshal C. N. Miller.

The report recites that the windows in the rooms are four feet from the floor, that individual keys are required for each of the more than 100 rooms, that there are no fire escapes on the four-story building in which the girls are caged, and that the building is a veritable fire trap, with a wooden stairway as the only possible means of escape.

Following the filing of the report, Governor Hodges ordered the placing of electric locks on the doors. This will enable the superintendent to unlock all rooms by use of a switch in her office.

LORIMER IS ASKED TO RUN FOR SENATE.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—A petition to Lorimer, asking him to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator next spring, was circulated here yesterday.

The place for which Lorimer was asked to run is the senatorship to be vacated at the expiration of the term of Senator Sherman, who was elected to fill the vacancy caused when the senate held that Lorimer had not been properly elected to his seat. Lorimer refused to comment on the petition.

TWO COOKED TO DEATH.

Four Others Injured By Explosion in Smokestack.

Ely, Nev., Oct. 21.—Two men were burned to death and four others received minor injuries at McGill when an explosion occurred in the smokestack of the Steptoe smelter. The men were lining the interior of a new smokestack with an acid-resisting compound. The hose connecting with a gasoline torch they were using became disconnected, and the explosion followed. A. A. Ellis and a Greek laborer were on a platform in the stack twenty-five feet from the ground and were literally cooked to death. Although the other men were within the stack, they escaped with slight injuries.

VOTE ON SEAMAN'S BILL THURSDAY.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Absent senators have been notified to return to Washington at once for the debate on the seaman's servitude bill, which is to be voted on Thursday. Progress on the measure was delayed again yesterday because of the absence of a quorum, all efforts of senate employes failing to bring out enough members to enable the senate to do business.

Senator La Follette insisted that absent senators should be recalled so that the seaman's bill might be acted on. Its provisions increasing the safety of passengers and crews at sea ought to be put into operation, he said, to prevent any further marine disaster such as has recently cost many lives. The senator declared the measure, which President Taft refused to sign, has the indorsement of the present administration.

SUES CITY FOR INJURY.

Fred Colby Demands $1,275 for Fall on Slippery Sidewalk.

The city is made defendant in a personal injury action filed in district court yesterday by Fred Colby, who wants $1,275 damages for injuries claimed to have been sustained in a fall on a slippery sidewalk last New Year's day.

Charlotte C. Robinson, in front of whose home at 1811 West First street, Colby slipped on the ice and snow, is joined with the city as a defendant in the action. Colby claims he fractured his collar bone. He charges the defendants with negligence in allowing snow and ice to accumulate on the sidewalk.

NAMES COMMITTEES.

President Silberstein of Associated Charities Selects Assistants.

The personnel of the advisory and finance committees of the Associated Charities for the ensuing year has been announced by E. A. Silberstein, recently re-elected at a meeting of the directors as president for the coming year. The committee appointments are as follows:

Advisory committee: Dr. O. W. Rowe, Mrs. H. A. Dancer, B. C. Wade, Dr. E. L. Tuohy, Stillman H. Bingham, Rabbi M. Lefkovits, W. L. Smithies, J. H. Hearding, C. S. Mitchell, Rev. William F. Hovis, A. D. Goodman, Warren E. Greene, Miss Esther Adams.

Finance committee: C. C. Cokefair, chairman; Frederic W. Paine, W. B. Brinkman, Ralph Brown, J. W. Lyder, Mrs. J. L. Washburn, C. F. Graff and W. A. Hicken.

The newly elected officers, besides the president, are: W. E. McEwen, vice president; Carrol F. Graff, treasurer, and Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary.

WILL ATTEND CHURCH COUNCIL

Rev. C. N. Thorp of Pilgrim Church and Others at Kansas City.

The Triennial Council of Congregational Churches, which is the great international gathering of Congregationalists, is to convene at the First church, Kansas City, this week and next.

Rev. Charles N. Thorp, pastor of Pilgrim Congregational church in this city, left Monday afternoon to attend. Mrs. Thorp, who is one of the Minnesota delegates to the Home Missionary federation, accompanied him, also Mrs. Thorp's father, C. L. Long of Rutland, Vt., who has been spending several weeks here with his daughter. In connection with the council will occur the annual meetings of the American board and other Congregational missionary societies.

Rev. and Mrs. Thorp will return to Duluth via Chicago about Nov. 1, in time for the November communion service, which will occur Nov. 2. Miss Elizabeth Field is a guest at the manse in their absence.

DEMANDS REPRISAL FOR TARIFF ACTION.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—The Novoe Vremya demands that the government impose a prohibitive tariff on all American products imported into Russia, as a reprisal for the American tariff regulations imposing 5 per cent on goods from countries where no treaty exists.

In an angry article the Novoe Vremya declares:

"America has sacrificed its old friends, France and Russia, to the Jewish magnates under whom the American people have bowed their heads."

Bryan Cancels Mobile Date.

Washington, Oct. 21. — Secretary Bryan announced today that he had cancelled his engagement to speak at the Southern Commercial congress at Mobile, Oct. 27 to 21. Mr. Bryan said he thought it unwise to fulfil an engagement which would necessitate his absence from the city for so long a period immediately after the Mexican elections to be held Oct. 26.

McReynolds in St. Paul.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Attorney General McReynolds expects to appear in St. Paul Nov. 3 to argue in the case of the Federal anti-trust suit instituted by the government against the International Harvester company.

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

Start Them Off Right With a Good Laxative and Then Watch Their Food.

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Colds, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands indorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionately more.

Every one likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-griping and free from injurious ingredients.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

Woman's Realm

The standard of excellence set by the Matinee Musicale for its programs was admirably maintained yesterday afternoon in a piano and song recital given by Miss Cordelia Ayer Paine and Miss Mary Gladys Reynolds before the club members and their guests at the auditorium of the Masonic temple.

Miss Paine opened the program with a Liszt arrangement of the Bach organ prelude and Fugue in A minor in the rendering of which she displayed the soundness of musicianship and vigorous technic which the interpretation of Bach demands. In her playing of the Schumann sonata in G minor which followed, Miss Paine manifested growing assurance and in the andantino movement showed a breadth of tone in her cantabile work and observance of nuance that was altogether satisfying.

Miss Reynolds, who was in excellent voice, followed with a group of songs. Huntington Woodman's "Ashes of Roses," a plaintive melody, and "Come Down Laughing Streamlet" by Shross with its note of joyous abandon, acted as charming foils for each other and drew amply on Miss Reynolds' resources as an artist of versatility.

Miss Paine delivered a Chopin Nocturne and Mazourka, which elicited an encore from the audience to which she responded graciously before playing her final number—Liszt's arrangement of Isolde's Love-Death from the Wagnerian operd, "Tristan and Isolde." Miss Paine was most convincing in this impassioned number and quite equal to the heavy demands the composer makes on the performer both technically and interpretively.

Miss Carlotta Simonds added greatly to the afternoon's pleasure in playing Miss Reynolds' accompaniments with unusual charm and sympathy.

The program was arranged by Miss Mary Bradshaw.

OLESSEN-DANN.

Pretty Home Wedding Takes Place.

A pretty home wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. Olessen, 102 South Eighteenth avenue east, when their daughter Anna Marie became the bride of Nathan Fulton Dann of this city. Dr. Thomas MacLean, vicar of Trinity procathedral, performed the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride wore a pretty gown of crepe de meteor and her sister, Miss Iva Olessen was her bridesmaid, wearing a gown of pink. Mr. Dunn was attended by his brother, Joseph J. Dann of Virginia, and the little flower girls were Vivian Olessen and Margaret Jane Nuss who wore gowns of pink silk mull and carried baskets of flowers.

Harry McMartin played the bridal marches before and after the ceremony and refreshments were served following the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Dann left last evening for a weeding trip and will be at home after Nov. 15, at 1011 East Fifth street.

TEA FOR VISITOR.

Mrs. George Richards Hostess for Miss Paine.

Mrs. George S. Richards was hostess at a prettily appointed tea yesterday afternoon at the Spalding hotel palm room in compliment to Miss Cordelia Ayer Paine of Carlton, pianist, who played a delightful program for the Matinee Musicale at the first of their regular meetings for the year. Baskets of mountain ash berries were used about the room and a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums adorned the table. The guests included the musicians who took part on the program yesterday and a few intimate friends of Miss Paine's making twelve in the party.

Miss Paine and her sister, Mme. Blanden of Paris, were the house guests while here of Mrs. A. M. Miller and were entertained at the concert given last evening by Miss Senta Erd. They left for Carlton today.

MERRITT-CHINNICK.

Marriage Oct. 30 at Clarksville, Tenn.

Announcements have been received here from Mrs. Henry Clay Merritt of Clarksville, Tenn., of the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Maude Bailey Merritt, to Percy James Chinnick of this city, which will take place on Thursday, Oct. 30, at Clarksville. Mr. Chinnick and his bride will make their home in that city.

Morris-Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Mills have arrived in Duluth from their wedding trip and will be at home at No. 8 Wahldorf apartments after Nov. 15. Mr. and Mrs. Mills were married Wednesday, Oct. 15, at Mexico, Mo. An account of the wedding from the Mexico Ledger of Oct. 16, follows in part:

"The wedding of Miss Lillian Morris and Roy DeVere Mills at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, was one of the most beautiful and elaborate ever held in this city. It was one of the society events of the fall season.

"The altar and choir loft were covered with greenery lighted by candles.

THINKS FEAR IS NECESSARY TO LOVE

MARGARETE MUNSTERBERG.

Margarete Munsterberg is the daughter of Prof. Munsterberg. She has just entered the career of letters by writing a novel called "Anna Borden's Career." Prof. Munsterberg has indorsed the story. It is the tale of a girl who likes a man of brilliancy and promise, but will not marry him because she does not fear him and because she believes love cannot exist without fear. Prof. Munsterberg says the book is "psychologically correct."

APPOINTMENTS FOR Christmas Portraits NOW BEING ACCEPTED Dworshak

Alex Mounts, organist played the overture from 'Martha' and during the ceremony the Barcarolle from 'Tales of Hoffman.' Miss Ligia Botts sang 'It Is Not Because Your Heart Is Mine.'

"The bride wore a beautiful white charmeuse gown and bride's veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. Rev. Mr. Hayne performed the ring ceremony and after the wedding a large reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnes on South Jefferson street."

LA CROSSE WEDDING.

Oadams-Bentley Nuptials Pretty Event.

Of interest here is the account of the wedding of Miss Hazel Adeline Oadams of La Crosse and Walter Hyett Bentley of Chicago, which took place Saturday evening at the First Methodist church of La Crosse, Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, father of the bride, performing the ceremony, assisted by Rev. L. A. Brenner, district superintendent of Sparta. The La Crosse Sunday Chronicle says of the wedding:

"One of the handsomest fall society events took place last night at 8:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church, when Hazel Adeline, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. T. Stanley Oadams, and Mr. Walter Hyett Bentley of Chicago were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

"The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. Mr. Oadams, assisted by the Rev. L. A. Brenner, the district superintendent of Sparta.

"The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Oadams, as maid of honor. Miss Louise Bentley of Oak Park, Ill., sister of the groom, and Miss Mary Stratton of St. Cloud, Minn., were the bridesmaids. Mr. Aldridge Bentley, brother of the groom, was the best man and the ushers were Messrs. J. D. McCarthy of Chicago and Thomas Etratton of St. Cloud, Minn. Little Louise Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dunham was flower girl.

"Preceding the ceremony, a quartet composed of Mrs. D. C. Faber, Mrs. Harry Watkins, Messrs. James R. Kerr and Harry Marshall, sang the wedding hymn, 'The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden.' The beautiful ring service was used and the party left the church as the organist played Mendelssohn's processional march.

"A reception followed at the parsonage, 231 South Eighth street.

"Mr. and Mrs. Bentley left in the private car of the groom's father for Oak Park, Ill., where they will be at home to their friends after Dec. 1. The groom is a representative of the Baldwin Locomotive & Standard Steel company, and is often in Duluth, and his bride has many friends here.

Mr. Oadams was formerly pastor of the Two Harbors and later the Hibbing church.

Liked Miss Frankenfield.

In a column of notes from "One-Night-Stand Critics," in the Minneapolis Journal appears the following note concerning Miss Laura Frankenfield, of this city, who is playing in, "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie."

"Marshall, Minn.—We have been manager of Marshall opera house for thirty-six continuous years. In the meantime we have played meritorious attractions, many of them, but I am not alone when I state 'The Awakening of Helena Ritchie,' with Laura Frankenfield, was by far the smoothest and best attraction ever given in Marshall. For instance, I had to go to our furniture dealer and borrow a fancy chair to complete our stage setting, and of course I favored him in return with a complimentary. When he passed out of the hall at the close of the performance he said: 'Mr. Chittenden, don't return that chair. I think I have been fully paid for it in witnessing such an attraction as you have given your patrons this evening.' On every hand as I pass among our people this morning I hear such expressions as the following: 'Some play you gave us last night.' 'Wasn't that play a great one, though.' 'Say, what business has Miss Frankenfield playing towns the size of Marshall? She is some actress, you bet.'"

A Little Talk With Women About Life Insurance.

In the first place, I do not know a whole lot about insurance, of course, but I know enough to realize its great value, and what a boon it is and has been to thousands of women in this country of ours.

I believe that nowadays most women understand what insurance means, and believe in it and accept it for what it is worth. But there are doubtless others who do not do so. It is for the benefit of these that I am writing.

A young woman friend of mine for a long time was opposed to life insurance for any of her male relatives, and declared that she would never accept a penny of money that came to her through the death of one near and dear to her. Her father was a little old-fashioned in his notions, and took no stock in insurance, and she entertained her own sentimental ideas about the matter.

Late in life, however, her father had business reverses, or rather was compelled to retire under circumstances that impaired his income seriously. Shortly before this time she married, and, in the course of the next four years, two children came.

Her husband was a firm believer in life insurance, and he was not long in convincing her of the wisdom and necessity of it, for she already had seen how wise it would have been in her father's case, and saw, of course, the wisdom of it in the case of her own family.

Life insurance should be taken out by every husband and father, as a protection for his family in case he is taken and their means of livelihood ceases. I mean, of course, those who are not amply provided for by other means already in hand. A man takes a big chance to rely on "making his pile" in order to protect his family.

ROUSING WELCOME FOR MISS SENTA ERD AT FIRST RECITAL

Duluth Shows Its Enthusiastic Appreciation of Young Singer in No Uncertain Manner.

In Miss Senta Erd, dramatic soprano, Duluth has a musical artist in whom it showed its pride in no uncertain manner last evening.

An audience which filled to the doors the Pilgrim Congregational church at her first recital here, was genuine in its hearty applause and every number was rewarded with justly earned expression of the appreciation and delight of her hearers. Never has there been a more enthusiastic audience for any musical event in Duluth. Few if any professional artists have aroused such enthusiasm.

Miss Erd has made her study in Europe well worth while and has come back a most finished singer. Those who heard her expect that she will climb to the very top of the musical ladder.

Her voice is pure soprano and aside from the fact that it is delightfully true and sweet and well handled, it shows a strong temperamental and emotional quality, which reaches the hearts of her hearers.

The program which she gave last evening was sufficiently varied to give an idea of what she can do. Her audience liked her best, perhaps, in her two big arias, one from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" and the aria from Freischutz, "Wie Nahte Mir der Schlummer" by C. M. Von Weber. Her comprehension of her songs and the strong dramatic force in her work simply carried the house by storm, and they broke into applause before her final note was ended and refused to make any move to depart until she had responded with another encore. Miss Erd is partial to the German music, but her English aria and a Liza Lehmann group "Bird Cycle," also in English, were exquisitely given with fine enunciation and coloring, and throughout her phrasing was marked as one of her best points.

A French song, "Chanson de Florian," by Godard, given as her last encore proved her mastery of that branch of the art as well as of the German and English music.

Opens With Wagner.

Miss Erd opened her program with Wagner's "Dich teure Halle" from "Tannhauser," and for an encore sang "Heut" by R. Bergh. Her second number was "Das Verlassene Magdlein," (the Forsaken Maiden) by Hugo Wolf. Other numbers were the Bird Cycle by Liza Lehmann, including "The Woodpigeon," "The Starling," "The Yellow-Hammer," "The Wren," and "The Owls." The aria from "Mme. Butterfly," was followed by the exquisite little lullaby from the same opera and other German songs were "Oversenk Dein Lcid" and "Standchen," by Brahms; "Waldesgesprach," by Schumann, and her encore numbers included the Schubert Serenade.

Marx Oberndorfer, playing Miss Erd's accompaniments and a group of piano numbers contributed no small part to the artistic finish of the concert. His accompaniments were made a perfect setting for the voice of the singer and he showed a good understanding of his art. His work here was not new as he was formerly a resident of Duluth and a popular member of the musical circles. His solo group was received with general favor, his numbers including Brahms' "Intermezzo, Opus 117 No. 2"; the Debussy "Reflets dans l'eau," and "Play of the Water," by A. Oberndorfer, all of which were given with wonderful tonal quality and delicate shading. The Debussey number and the rippling little piece written by the player's brother, were exceptionally charming in his interpretation and execution. He was called back for an encore which was also much enjoyed.

By 8 o'clock the church was filled and many were unable to have seats even after extra chairs had been put in. Miss Erd received magnificent floral gifts from the Matinee Musicale and from friends.

"CONCENTRATE."

Speaking of the campaign for economy and efficiency in state affairs, the St. Cloud Journal-Press says:

> The problem, after all, is up to the people. Governor and commissioners may propose but the legislature disposes—too often in the waste basket. The only way to secure a sensible, workable revision of state affairs is for the people to take an active interest and pledge candidates for the legislature—and then elect men who will keep faith with the voters.

This is the idea precisely.

It would be utter waste to elect a governor pledged to reorganize the state government unless a legislature similarly pledged is elected.

It would be utter waste for the unofficial commission appointed by the governor to devise a plan of reorganization, no matter how wise and practical, unless a legislature is elected that is pledged to reorganization.

Without neglecting the governorship and the other state officers, therefore, the people should concentrate their attention largely on the legislature, and see to it that the right kind of men, rightly pledged, are elected to it. The non-partisan election of lawmakers, now in effect in Minnesota alone among the states, clears the way for that.

But the Journal-Press goes further and says:

> Real reform is centered in one word: concentrate. Confine the election to the governor, lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, and judges of the supreme court. * * * Governor Eberhart's commission can help along the good work by recommending the short ballot, and the concentration of authority.

Though we agree thoroughly with almost every word of this—except that we would not further complicate matters by providing popular election of speakers—it is a little ahead of time and a little out of place just now.

All the next legislature can do is to reorganize the state government along the lines of the Constitution as it stands.

It cannot adopt the short ballot—though it might do away with the absurdity of popular election of railroad and warehouse commissioners—because that can be done by the people through a constitutional convention.

If the next legislature will reorganize the state government so far as the Constitution will permit, and will then submit to the people a proposal to summon a convention to revise the Constitution, it will do all it possibly can accomplish; and then will be the time to take up the short ballot.

When a constitutional convention is called—and the state needs one—its members should be pledged to the short ballot. But that is getting ahead of our horses.

The motion before the house now is to elect a legislature pledged to a business reform of the government provided for by the present Constitution.

Now Tennessee has passed some more prohibition laws. Opie Read will have to dig up his old books and revise them for the next generation.

PARTISANSHIP AND PROGRESS.

The Chicago Tribune is one of the most eminent Bull Moose newspaper advocates in the country. And now it seems that its party loyalty is being challenged by Bull Moosers because, forsooth, it has dared to pick a local judicial candidate who is not the candidate selected by its party.

Says the Tribune: "There are men of high and fine spirit in the Progressive party in Illinois, and even if their disagreement with the opinions of the Tribune were intemperate they would be respected. There are other men, and they are the loudest, unfortunately, whose only ambition in any activity is one of self-interest. Their words are new; their desires are old. They go with the highest wind. They discredit the progressive movement; they make its ways difficult; they turn men from it."

Such men are in all parties. Disregarding the question whether the Bull Moose party is the "high wind" that attracts the band-wagon following—it is anything but that in Minnesota, whatever it is in Illinois—we can still take pleasure in the way the Tribune disposes of their case.

The Tribune's only offense against party loyalty, apparently, lies in its support of a judicial candidate who is not the party nominee. On this point it says: "The Tribune has supported the policies of the national Progressive party. It will not follow the Chicago or Illinois Progressive party candidates irresponsibly wherever their hunt for office leads them. The local needs of the state must govern any independent opinion. The Tribune endeavors to stand for the best man, irrespective of party label."

And there only can any newspaper and any patriotic individual stand. Even the party newspaper and the individual partisan serves party best when support is given to party candidates when they deserve it, and not otherwise.

In this episode the Tribune shows itself to be more progressive than the Progressives.

Nonpartisanship in judicial selection is the very A-B-C of progress.

One of the patent office officials had his pocket picked right in the national capitol, and the next day a movement began to get a recess for congress.

A PROBLEM AND THE REMEDY.

The farmers of Hermantown have discovered that where they are getting less than four cents a quart for their milk, consumers are paying nine to eleven cents.

They think they are not getting their fair share of what the consumer pays, and it looks as though they were right. It ought not to cost a hundred and twenty-five to a hundred and seventy-five per cent to do the middleman's office of getting milk from the producer to the consumer.

Considering what to do about it, they are thinking of adopting co-operative methods. Obviously, that is the answer. Through co-operation they may themselves become the middleman, and gain larger profits without increasing the price to the consumer.

With milkmen talking about milk being so scarce that they may have to raise the price to the consumer, it is small wonder that producers who are getting less than four cents a quart for their milk should be considering ways and means of doing better for themselves.

And co-operation is the word, not only in milk but in other food products.

Sometime, maybe, co-operation between consumers may meet co-operation between producers, thus cutting out all the kinks and needless expenses of marketing and profiting largely both producer and consumer.

The bed of the Atlantic near Panama is found to have sunk three thousand feet. Some of those natives down there must wonder what's struck the old swimmin' hole.

A SPLENDID GIFT.

Mr. Snively's letter in The Herald last evening makes it plain that we did an injustice unconsciously in dividing between him and Mrs. W. M. Prindle the praise due for the splendid gift to the city of a beautiful tract of land spanning two and a half miles of Lester river.

The gift is entirely Mrs. Prindle's. The credit for the thought and deed belongs to her. While manifestly she did it for the good of the city, and not for applause, we hasten to make amends so far as we can. It is a splendid gift, and it was a beautiful thought that prompted the deed. It is a rare exhibition of generous public spirit, for the time is coming soon when such park property as this will be priceless. It is a heritage which coming generations will enjoy, and for which they will remember the giver with affection.

Probably it is only due to the law of compensation that white snow and black coal should be prominently before the public at the same time of the year.

CURRENCY PROSPECTS ARE GOOD.

With the tariff bill out of the way, President Wilson was able to give more direct attention to the currency bill. The result after a week or two of consultations at the White House, in which both Republicans and Democrats participated, is that a report on the bill from the senate committee is looked for soon, and favorable action by the senate is expected in November.

This is good news to the nation, and especially to its business interests. With the tariff question settled for a long time to come, and with a banking and currency system that will safeguard against panic instead of inviting panic, there will be nothing in the way of prompt and prolonged prosperity that will flood the country and profit everybody.

Concessions to banking opinion are to be made, of course, and that is wise—for its moral effect if not for its practical effect. Bankers can do much to make the new currency law a success, and they could do much to hamper it if they chose. So long as the principle of government control in the public interest is preserved the public, knowing that President Wilson will not accept any measure that betrays its interests, will be well content with the result.

And if in practice defects develop—as may well happen—what more obvious and easy than to correct them by subsequent legislation?

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

MEAT SHOP ETIQUETTE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would like to write a few lines in the Open Court of your valuable paper, as to conditions in our meat markets that I have noticed from time to time when I have had an occasion to enter same.

Some women are in the habit of touching every piece of meat they can lay their hands on when in a shop. Now I do not think it is fair that people should be obliged to purchase meat that has been handled by a dozen or more of these women. Some of these women are none too clean, and may be the means of spreading disease germs, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever, etc., which I am sure, does not appeal to people who know that some time they will have to eat this meat.

It seems to me there ought to be some restrictions prohibiting people from touching meat that may be found on the counter, or any other place in the shop, as the clerk might just as well show the meat to the customers. This, I believe, ought to be considered by our health department.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The Normanna Male Chorus fall carnival proved a great success, which was mostly due to the splendid assistance rendered in various ways by the friends of the chorus and admirers of song and music.

The committee in charge of above said carnival wishes to extend to you a most hearty thanks for your kindness, assuring you of our appreciation.

Respectfully,

NORMANNA FALL CARNIVAL COMMITTEE.

A Declaration of Belief

The Independent (New York): The Independent believes:

In the absolute and untrammeled right of the people to rule themselves.

In a strong central government both in state and nation in order that the people may have as efficient an instrument as possible with which to rule themselves.

In the use of the government not merely to protect life and property, but to do anything which the people can do better collectively than they can as individuals.

In the duty of the people to assure through government to every man and woman and every family the opportunity for the highest possible development.

In the co-operative development of business up to and only to the point where it involves the selfish exploitation and oppression of business rivals, of wage workers, or of the consuming public.

In the democracy of industry, through which the workers shall come more and more into ownership of the tools with which they produce, and capital and labor shall become more and more partners in industry rather than rivals for a disproportionate share of the products of industry.

In the enlargement of the part of women in the life of the world to the end that men shall recognize more completely the rights of women, and shall realize more profoundly their responsibilities.

In the substitution, in the settlement of disputes between nations, for the crude arbitrament of war—which never determines who is right, but only who is the stronger—of the ideal of justice which rules between man and man, and the calm methods of judicial procedure which society has adopted for the settlement of disputes between individuals.

In the service of truth first, in the constant search for the new truths, and in the pursuit of all fair and beautiful things in poetry, music and art that make life sweet and society a source of cheer to all its members.

In the permeation of the whole of society by religious inspiration and aspiration, in the liberalization of theology in the light of modern thought, in the adaptation of church methods to the needs of the times, and in the application of Christian ethics to modern problems.

The spirit of the Independent can not be better expressed than in the motto which the French revolutionists made glorious as the ideal—Liberty, Equality, Fraternity.

Liberty for all men and women to do what is for their best good unless by so doing they restrict the liberty of others.

Equality of opportunity for all men and women to develop their highest possibilities and greatest usefulness.

Fraternity—the brotherhood of man and the federation of the world.

The Old Home.

An old lane, an old gate, an old house by a tree;
A wild wood, a wild brook—they will not let me be,
In boyhood I knew them, and still they call to me.

Down deep in my heart's core I hear them, and my eyes
Through tear mists behold them beneath the old-time skies,
'Mid bee boom and rose bloom and orchard lands arise.

I hear them; and heartsick with longing in my soul,
To walk there, to dream there, beneath the sky's blue bowl;
Around me, within me, the weary world made whole.

To talk with the wild brook of all the long ago;
To whisper the wood-wind of things we used to know,
When we were old companions, before my heart knew woe.

To walk with the morning and watch its rose unfold;
To drowse with the noontide, lulled in its heart of gold;
To lie with the night-time and dream the dreams of old.

To tell to the old trees and to each listening leaf
The longing, the yearning, as in my boyhood brief,
The old hope, the old love, would ease me of my grief.

The old lane, the old gate, the old house by the tree;
The wild wood, the wild brook—they will not let me be.
In boyhood I knew them, and still they call to me.

—Madison Cawein.

A Reflection

By Savoyard.

Washington, Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Col. Henry Watterson has been urging Mr. Carnegie to supply a "home" for broken-down newspaper writers, old, hopeless, helpless men, who fall in fortune's strife. It is a consummation devoutly to be wished, a charity on which would beam the smile of Heaven. But there is a better way to do it.

I would not insult the publisher by even alluding to the corroding invective that Honore de Balzac writ against him. But I am free to say that there is an unpaid debt due from the man who prints things to the man who writes things. One of these classes is thrifty, the other too oft prodigal. The bankrupt publisher is rare; the bankrupt author is as the sands of the sea, the leaves of the forest.

* * *

Then why should not 100 prosperous publishers of newspapers and magazines—without calling on Mr. Carnegie—set aside the gross receipts of one day of the year as a fund to found a home for poor devils of writers who find themselves in want when the public will no longer dance to their piping? It would be a noble charity. That "home," if propery administered, would become one of the "institutions" of our land. The inmates would not be mendicants, but the guests of the letters they had helped to make. And yet it might fail.

Certainly it would fail if the inmates surrendered their independence and their individuality when they entered its portals. He must be a man owning all between earth and sky he occupies. Confessing that he has failed, he enters here with opportunity to try again.

I have heard that there are daily newspapers in the United States each of which gathers $1,000 net receipts a day. Would it not be an action approved of all good men if each of these and those of lower but prosperous degree should contribute to a fund to found a home for the men and women who made their columns worth the reading? I would think that every publisher would leap with joy at the suggestion to give this mite of his income to help folks who, by, their own fault, possibly, cannot help themselves.

Sir Charles Sedley made the sage remark that it was a mighty short pedigree that did not embrace some rogue and harridans. He was the father of that Catherine Sedley, a favorite of the last king of the Stuart dynasty.

And so there are scamps even in our noble profession. The other day I met a splendid fellow, a newspaper man, a writer of national repute, a Kentuckian by birth, who had made his mark even in that ghoulish pit, the "yallers" of New York. He was long the loyal, devoted, faithful friend and follower of Mr. Bryan, and the secretary of state some months ago gave him an office that yields a handsome salary. I wish I was that close to some cabinet minister. I would gladly swap the terrible uncertainty of my profession, much as I love it, reverently as I honor it, for a job that pays $300 a month.

* * *

Well, my friend said to me that the night before he sat at meat with a squad of newspaper men at the swell chophouse of this town. One of them had wrestled with the world and thrown it. He was a rich man, his money earned and saved, though his abilities were hopelessly mediocre. The dinner was sumptuous, and that fellow would take off the board bread and butter and things and hide them in his pockets, insisting every few minutes that the waiter bring more bread and butter.

I was humiliated to learn that one of our cloth could be guilty of such a contemptible meanness.

* * *

And then I related to my friend, the anecdote that grew out of an episode in London when Oliver Goldsmith was a "Grub Street hack." A prosperous man gave a dinner to which he invited several poor devils who wrote for a living. During the entertainment a rare jewel was passed about for the inspection and admiration of the company and bye and bye it disappeared. One of the guests, a thoughtless fellow, proposed that all submit to search. With a single exception all agreed to it, and that man proudly said: "No man shall search me; I am no thief, and this is a cup I will not drink."

Instantly every one—all gentlemen—saw the point, and there was no search. That man, who made that haughty declaration, was the last guest to leave that night. As he bade his host goodbye, he said:

"I want to explain to you. I refused to be searched tonight because I have at home two hungry children and I had abstracted from your table this food to supply them."

And he showed it. He was as honest as the sun, prouder than Lucifer, poorer than poverty.

The jewel was found by the servants next day. And good came of the episode, for that rich man got that poor devil a place under government—something I'm going to strike for as soon as I can find the job I can discharge the duties of with credit to myself and profit to my country.

Developing Cut-Over Lands.

Louisville Courier-Journal: A lumber corporation at Duluth, having denuded 150,000 acres of land of its timber, has announced the intention of setting aside a tract and establishing a model farm thereon. The rest of the land is to be cut up into small tracts and sold to farmers.

There are not many lumber companies that are so considerate with regard to the lands which they denude. Most of them have little further interest in the property once they have exhausted the timber. As a rule they sell only in large tracts to individuals, or to other companies which see a prospect of speculation. Failing in this, the lands lie idle.

No doubt there are thousands of farmers in Minnesota who would be glad to have the opportunity to buy a farm on easy terms, especially if it can be demonstrated that the land is productive. A model farm, showing the various crops that can be grown successfully in that region, will be an incentive to investment. If a country left depopulated and desolate by the sawmills can be made attractive to any considerable number of energetic farmers, there will be great gain for general prosperity.

The big lumber corporations can very well afford to make such disposition, wherever practicable, of their cut-over lands. They would make a better profit from their holdings in this way than by allowing the tracts to remain idle or selling them off in large blocks. In this way they not only would benefit themselves, but would benefit communities and would have the satisfaction of helping many deserving men to obtain a foothold and thereby promoting the common welfare.

Thrifty Minnesota

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

A little more than fifty years ago a Constitutional convention met in St. Paul to frame an instrument of government for the new state of Minnesota. It was long before the word "conservation" had become a political shibboleth, but the leaders of the convention made shift to advocate such a policy without it. Through the influence, among others, of Alexander Ramsey, first governor of the territory, and afterwards war governor of the state, a provision was inserted in the Constitution establishing a central fund from the proceeds of the sale of public lands granted by the United States for the use of schools. The income from this fund was to be distributed among the townships in proportion to the number of pupils they had between the ages of five and twenty-one. No land was to be disposed of except by public sale. This was the initial step in a policy of public thrift which it would be hard to parallel, in our own history at least.

By itself, however, it would have been altogether insufficient to attain the truly magnificent results which have been the reward of the effort thus auspiciously begun. The statesmen of the new commonwealth not only adhered faithfully to the injunction laid upon them by the Constitution which they had framed, but they added laws in accordance with its spirit for the purpose of enhancing the advantages it contemplated. One of the first and most important of these was the imposing of a minimum price for state lands. In his message of 1861, Governor Ramsey pointed out the choice that lay before the state as to "whether these vast estates, consecrated to the noblest aspirations of a free people shall be husbanded with a wise and statesmanlike economy, or squandered with a blind improvidence." He decried a "selfish eagerness for premature results." In consequence, the legislature fixed a minimum of $5 an acre for farm lands, and $7 for timber lands. But the great step came in 1863, when it was further enacted that the timber should be sold at public sale, separately from the land, which might be disposed of later. Here luck stepped in to bestow upon these pioneer conservationists a rich treasure of which they had not dreamed. Underneath large tracts of these timber lands lay deposits of iron ore, all undiscovered. Had the usual policy of disposing of the land along with the timber been followed, this great source of wealth would have gone into the hands of individuals. As it was, it has been reserved for the state.

Even so, Minnesota owes much to the refusal of State Auditor Braden to sell lands in the iron range at the minimum price fixed in 1863. Believing that the law should be amended so as to retain all mineral rights for the state, he stopped the sales of such lands, and in the end the legislature passed a law providing for the leasing of ore areas, and naming a royalty of 25 cents a ton on ore mined under these leases. It has been since felt that this sum is too small, and the law has been repealed, with the result that leasing of ore lands has ended. The state believes that there is no need of haste, and that a suitable royalty can be fixed when the demand for these lands becomes insistent.

It would be a mistake to suppose that Minnesota has been absolutely faultless in her administration of public lands. One exception was made to the policy of a permanent fund, when some "salt spring" lands were turned over to the state university, to supply, by their sale, money for a geological and natural history survey of the state. Over $300,000 of principal went in this way. Another loss was of the proceeds from the sale of 500,000 acres of land which the people, by direct vote, took out of the permanent fund and devoted to payment of bonds that an early legislature had repudiated.

With all deductions, however, the record of the state is unique. Newspaper readers are becoming accustomed to incredible estimates of the income of Minnesota and the University of Minnesota from these ore lands so fortunately reserved. But conservative figures are wonderful enough. To be appreciated, they must be placed along beside those of other states. Iowa has sold all but 200 acres of the 6,000,000 granted her. Never having a minimum price limit, she has as a fund from the proceeds of their sale somewhat less than $5,000,000. Wisconsin is in much the same class. Michigan, with nearly 9,000,000 acres, all gone, has nearly $6,000,000 from them. Illinois, with about as many acres to dispose of as Iowa, and none left, has a paltry million from them in her treasury.

Turn to Minnesota. Of the imperial domain of more than 8,000,000 acres granted to her, she still has over 2,000,000 acres, and those of the richest; and what she has sold has yielded her the sum of $30,000,000 in the form of a permanent fund, upon which she receives an average of 4 per cent interest.

Equally interesting is the record of the states which have been wise enough to profit by her example. North Dakota, with a total acreage of 3,000,000, of which more than half remains unsold, has $9,000,000 in her treasury—over twice as much as Iowa or Wisconsin, which have stripped themselves bare of a far larger heritage. South Dakota has done even better, for with 3,000,000 acres left of her original 3,500,000, she has a fund of $12,000,000.

Minnesota expects $1,000,000 this year, merely from her ore royalties on lands leased before the repeal of the royalty law. Auditors' estimates of her ultimate receipts from the sale of all lands have steadily mounted, until now the figure is $200,000,000. Each of the Dakotas looks forward to a total fund of $50,000,000.

Persistent Man.

Chicago Journal: Two thousand years ago, a certain town in Northern Etruria was remarkable for the fine physique of its inhabitants. They were both tall and sturdy. In days when battle meant hand to hand combat such qualities were in demand; and the Romans used to recruit their legions at this place to get stalwart swordsmen.

Today, people of that same town of Lucca average more than an inch taller than their fellow-Italians of surrounding communities. In spite of wars, invasions and empires, the old stock has clung to the soil and has kept its ancient characteristics.

Man is the most persistent creature on earth. When a race once settles in fairly large numbers in any locality nothing short of geological upheavals can dislodge it. Ten thousand years from now, some "traveler from New Zealand" may find a blue-eyed population in Minnesota and the Dakotas as a result of Scandinavian immigration.

Elect a Legislature Pledged to Action

The State Press on the Issue of State Reorganization for Economy and Efficiency.

People Should Act.

Der Fortschritt, New Ulm: From time to time attention is called to the growing extravagance and waste of public life, but usually little or nothing is done about it, and these solitary voices are as wasted as a voice in the desert. It is a pleasure, therefore, to find that The Duluth Herald, in calling attention to the high state tax rate and the need of a house-cleaning in an editorial which is reproduced herewith brings the matter to public attention in a way to challenged public thought. While we believe that there is need of a thorough change in the system of government, and in going to the root of things instead of merely cutting the tops of the weeds, at the same time much can be done if the people will apply the broom thoroughly and vigorously and bring about a legislative house-cleaning in the next election.

Too Many State Boards.

Waseca Herald: The Herald agrees that Minnesota has too many state boards, and should have a centralization of authority and responsibility. It would be a sad day for Minnesota, however, if that authority were centralized in one Edward E. Smith of Minneapolis.

Should Be the Issue.

Greenbush Tribune: The state tax rate for next year will be 5.03 mills, the largest in half a century, and this in spite of the fact that the state has been receiving a large amount of revenue from gross earning tax, iron ore tax and taxes from incomes. The Duluth Herald says the issue in the coming campaign should be "Economy and Efficiency" and we believe that should be the issue.

Need Improved Methods.

Mahnomen Free Press: The enormous increase in the state tax rate from 3.58 mills to 5.03 mills should be a just cause of apprehension on the part of the citizens of the state. The people are entitled to an economical administration of its affairs. Is it the way in which the business of the state is transacted that keeps up the cost of running its affairs? By changing to more efficient methods the cost of manufacturing of products have been greatly reduced even under our system, wasteful as it is. It is apparent to those who have observed the workings of legislatures and state administrations that the cost climbs, but the improved methods that work private industrial enterprises don't seem to spread their contagion to legislatures and the administrators of the state's affairs. The newspapers over the state can do much to arouse the people to the need of a more economical administration of the affairs of the state. With the railroads paying nearly five millions a year in gross earnings taxes and the state iron ore mines paying another million and a quarter it would seem that the state tax rate at 5.03 mills is unnecessarily high. If the voters of the state would require a pledge of the candidates to work for improved methods and economy in the state's affairs there would no doubt soon be a decided improvement along this line. If every senatorial and legislative district would elect none other to represent them than those pledged to reorganization of the legislature on this line some improvement would surely be the result.

Waseca Journal-Radical: Do you realize how rapidly the tax rate in this state is going upwards? An article from the Duluth Herald appearing in another column of this issue gives some interesting information on this subject and you should read it. Since 1910 the rate has gone from 1.47 mills to the 1914 rate of 5.03 mills. This is an enormous increase. The 1914 rate is a 40 per cent increase over the 1913 rate. These figures give much weight to The Herald's suggestion that the legislative issue for 1914 should be economy and efficiency. Since 1865 the tax rate has not been as high in the state of Minnesota as the rate set for 1914, which is 5.03 mills.

Good May Come of It.

Cass Lake Times: The editorial from the Duluth Herald produced elsewhere is worthy of the most careful reading and mature thought. The craze of our state officials for several years past to manufacture methods of spending money, creating new and useless commissions has been apparent to the newspaper management of the state, but few of us had the courage to discuss the subject or to bring the barefaced methods of larceny before the public. The Times has never been a favorite with the state administration, has never asked for the little patronage doled out to the country printer to keep him in line; we have always expressed our opinion of their schemes freely and it has not always been an opinion as the political management craved. We are not sorry that the burden The Herald complains of has been put upon us. It is wrong to tax our people unnecessarily, but sometimes good comes out of error and it is quite possible the infliction this time will arouse the taxpayers sufficiently to secure a protest that will be heard around the state. The national government is now in good hands and it is quite evident that a cleaning of "The Aegean stables" at home might give relief for a season.

Close to Land.

Philadelphia Evening Telegraph: Here is one that was told by Senator Charles R. Crisp of Georgia, the other night when reference was made to the million questions that the steamship captain has to answer every minute of the day.

While a ship was bumping the waves somewhere between here and Europe some time since, so related the senator, a passenger sauntered up and started to tease the captain. All about the sun, stars and navigation, of course, and then the inevitable one.

"Captain," said the passenger, "how far do you suppose we are from land?"

"Just about a mile and a half," was the prompt response of the captain.

"Only a mile and a half!" exclaimed the surprised passenger. "You don't really mean it! In what direction, captain?"

"Straight down," was the calm rejoinder of the captain.

Who Walks the World With Soul Awake.

Who walks the world with soul awake
Finds beauty everywhere;
Though labor be his portion,
Though sorrow be his share,
He looks beyond obscuring clouds,
Sure that the light is there!

And if the ills of mortal life
Grown heavier to bear,
Doubt come with its perplexities
And whisper of despair,
He turns with love to suffering men—
And lo! God, too, is there.

The Doctor Came Back.

Washington Star: Recently, Attorney General McReynolds told a story of his participation as co-prosecutor in a case where a physician was called by the defense to testify. The physician's testimony ran through most of one day, and when he was recalled on the following morning for cross-examination he announced that he first wished to make some preliminary remarks:

"What do you wish to say?" inquired the other prosecutor, raspingly.

"I wish to correct some mistakes in my testimony of yesterday," said the doctor.

"It is a fact, isn't it, doctor, that many of your mistakes are buried under ground?" said the prosecutor, ironically.

"Possibly," retored the physician. "But while we're on the subject, I wish to state that I have often suspected, sir, that many of your mistakes were hanged ten feet above!"

BRINGS SUIT FOR $300 COMMISSION

A dispute over a real estate commission today occupies the attention of Judge Ensign and a district court jury, who are trying a lawsuit brought by John B. Greenfield, real estate agent, against John B. Arnold and wife, in which a judgment of $300 is asked. Greenfield asserts that, while acting as agent for Arnold, he secured a purchaser for the Arnold residence at Forty-fourth avenue east and McCulloch street on May 1, 1913, for $6,500. The claim is made that after Greenfield had so informed Arnold, the latter made the sale direct to the purchaser with the view of depriving the plaintiff of his commission.

WANTS FUNDS FOR HIS PLAN

Secretary Redfield Asks Detroit Men to Help Him Along.

Proposes They Ask Congress to Make an Appropriation.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 21.—With the declaration that "the tide of American business in the foreign field is at its flood" and that means must be employed to maintain it, Secretary Redfield, addressing the board of commerce here today, made a direct appeal to business men to ask congress to appropriate more funds for the prosecution of the work of his department.

The secretary explained his proposed reform of commercial representation abroad, through the appointment of a corps of special agents and supervision of the commercial activities of the various consuls.

Mr. Redfield declared his department had an ambitious trade furtherance. He said it was the intention of the government to press it vigorously "if funds were provided."

"For example," said he, "at this present moment the inquiry into the pottery industry, which is a very important and intended to be a very helpful investigation, is almost at a standstill for lack of funds.

Change in Exports.

"I assume you are aware of the great advance of American export trade in manufactures during the last year. Time was, within the memory of most of you, when we sold abroad chiefly the products of our fields and farms or of our mines. We were known as a food-exporting country, and in a sense did largely feed the nations. That day is gone. Our exports of crude foodstuffs are but 18 per cent of the total, and the major place in our export trade is filled by the products of our manufacturers, in which work you of Detroit have had a large share. "To sell our manufactures abroad to the extent of over $1,500,000,000 in value in one year is no small thing; but when this continues to expand at the approximate rate of half a million dollars daily and when in this total the largest item by far is that of fully finished manufactures, which is not only, as I have said, the biggest item, but that which is growing fastest, then the statement is very much more marked."

Look Into Combines.

In concluding, the secretary told his hearers that if the funds were forthcoming, he proposed to recognize the bureau of corporations so that a systematic inquiry into all big combinations could be made. This, he said, would not be undertaken in any inimical spirit, but solely for the purpose of securing information which he believed the government should have.

RAISES THE CLASS LINE

Single Tax Exponent Condemns Taxation of Anything That Is Produced.

Lands Should Bear Burden; Would Wipe Out All Tariff Revenue.

Declaring that the assessment of taxes against production and allowing lands to go was the basis for the structure of class distinction and hatred, one class being democratic and the other aristocratic, John Z White, a real estate man and lecturer of Chicago, delivered an address on, "The Single Tax" under the auspices of the Rotary club last night at the F. S. Kelly Furniture company's store. Mr. White has been on the lecture platform for many years, traveling from coast to coast, and is a champion of single tax, commission form of government and many other up-to-date and progressive measures.

"I would wipe out the protective tariff with one blow," said Mr. White, "and turn the custom houses of the country into libraries. The system of putting a tax on production is fundamentally wrong while the taxation of lands is fundamentally just. The first curtails and discourages development while the latter would in no wise affect production or development.

Corporations Untaxed.

"There isn't a corporation in the United States that pays a dollar of tax to the federal government on its lands while the poorest men and women in the country must pay their share through taxation in one form or another."

Mr. White has made a study of single tax for years and has collected statistics to support his claims from all quarters of the globe. In support of his argument he gave illustrations from various states and cities in this country, Canada, Germany and other places.

"In Colorado,' he said, "the cities under commission form of government are allowed to raise taxes as they please. In Pittsburg a law has just been passed to exempt one half of the value of property with buildings, the reduction to be made gradually. Houston, Texas, has exempted all personal property entirely, and taxes only 25 per cent of improvements. The tax on land is figured on about 70 per cent of its value. The result in Houston was the doubling of the building enterprises.

"About 450 cities in Germany have adopted this method of taxation, and the German government has even adopted it in its holdings in China, south of Port Arthur.

Effects in Canada.

"Single tax in Western Canada has doubled building and improvements in many cities. There the farmers never paid taxes on buildings or improvements of any kind. In Moose Jaw, Saskatoon and other cities the building has been rapid, and ten-story structures are being put up.

"In Victoria they pride themselves on their English habits, turning their teams to the left and all that, and they refused to adopt the single tax. It was not until 1910 that the new system went into effect and business was revolutionized. The first year building was doubled, and continued to double each year following.

"The idea of the whole matter is, 'don't tax what you want done,' but rather take revenues from land, which is not an article of production but exists as does the sunlight. Taxation of land neither increases nor decreases the supply, whereas the taxation of other property has a pronounced effect on supply. Low taxes permit us to hold land vacant. Did any merchant ever sell goods to a vacant lot. Did any merchant ever pay taxes to carry fire and police protection past vacant lots? Does he drive his delivery wagon past vacant lots? Do vacant lots increase the work of the people of a city?"

To Speak on Burns.

Mr. White will be in the city several days, and his time will be well occupied.

At 6:30 tonight he will be present at a dinner at Webster's in honor of the poet, Bobbie Burns, and he will deliver the address.

At 9 o'clock he will speak at Foresters hall under the auspices of Clan Stewart, the Jackson school club and the Fifth Ward Improvement club.

The lectures are free and women are invited.

LEFT DULUTH ESTATE VALUED AT $20,000

Salome James, who died, aged 71, at her home in San Diego, Cal., on June 8, owned Duluth real estate valued at $20,000, according to a petition for administration filed in probate court by her relatives today. The petition requests the appointment of Henry Nolte of this city, to manage the property.

The estate in this county consists of the following descriptions of Duluth property: an undivided one-half interest in lot 1, 44, and an undivided one-half interest in a row of four houses on lots 9 and 10, block 43, Endion division.

The heirs are Joseph James, husband, and Joseph H. James, son, both of San Diego, Cal., and Elizabeth Persons of Duluth, daughter.

Erick G. Ek today petitioned for appointment as administrator in the estate of his son, Gustave George Ek, who died, aged 24, at Boise, Idaho, on Oct. 14 last, leaving $300 worth of personal property and a life insurance policy for $1,000. The father resides at 2620 West Fourth street.

TEACHER SUES TRACTION COMPANY.

Miss Leslie Gage, school teacher, has started suit against the Duluth Street Railway company for $2,500 damages as a result of injuries which she claims to have received when she was struck by a street car at Twenty-first avenue east and Fourth street. The plaintiff asserts that a concrete mixer which was being used for street work at that point blocked her vision of the car and that no warning signals were given. She was thrown to the curb and received a number of bad bruises and injuries, she says. Miss Gage declares that she was incapacitated for work and that she has a widowed mother dependent on her for support. Mrs. I. C. Buell is her attorney.

DIES AT HOSPITAL.

Young Woman Found in Tenement Fails to Regain Consciousness.

Brought to St. Luke's hospital in a semi-conscious condition three days ago, Grace Nalshak, 22 years old, died yesterday afternoon without regaining consciousness. The young woman was found lying in an old tenement at 1014 West Superior street by Rudolph Shogran, assistant clerk of the poor commission, who had her removed to the hospital last Friday.

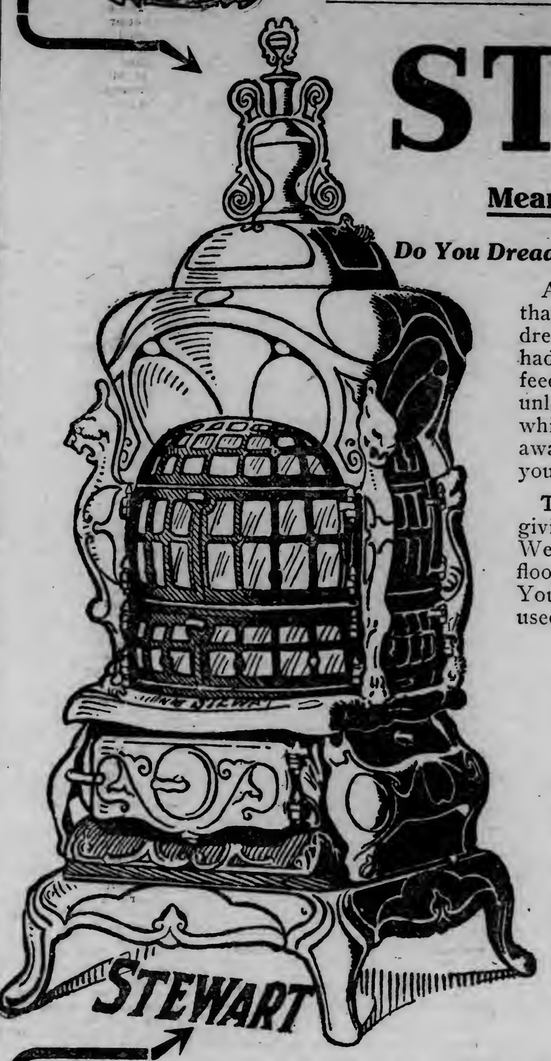

The authorities at the hospital were unable to learn anything about the young woman. This morning Mrs. Mary Cizak came to the Crawford undertaking rooms and said that she is the young woman's womans mother. the young woman's mother. She will arrange for the funeral this evening.

Mrs. Cizak said this morning that her daughter left her about three years ago, just after Mrs. Cizak had married a second time and that she had never seen the girl since. She believes that her daughter married some time ago, but is not sure of it.

The young woman was registered at St. Lukes hospital as Grace Walker, that being the only name the hospital authorities could obtain.

Means—Heat, Heat, Heat and Less Coal

Do You Dread the Coming Winter With Its Sharp, Frosty Nights?

Are you prepared for it with a proper economical heater, one that will save fuel and not be a constant source of expense and dreaded annoyance? If your last year's stove wasted coal, you had to crowd it to the limit, constantly poking, shaking and feeding it with expensive coal. Were you kept warm? Not unless you kept close to the stove, your face burning with heat while your back and feet were cold. The moment you got away you were glad to get up near the stove again, resting your feet on the side rails.

The Stewart will keep you comfortable and burn less coal, giving a greater heat and more comfort than any heater made. We'll be glad to prove this to your entire satisfaction. The floors are kept warm by the double heating flue in the base. You don't have to crowd the Stewart. Every unit of heat is used and no unused heat passes up the chimney.

Let the Mighty Stewart Keep You Comfortable

The Stewart Flue System is the most perfect system known. It has accomplished two important things—increased the direct radiating surface of the stove without decreasing the radiation from the main bottom or main back and by surrounding the hot air flue entirely by heat, an extra strong hot air flue of large capacity is secured.

We have a genuine Stewart Base Burning Heater, with revolving fire pot and full nickel trimmings, at.. $27.50

HAD A BAR IN HIS BASEMENT

Andrew Molesky Found Guilty of Keeping Unlicensed Drinking Place.

Andrew Molesky was yesterday afternoon found guilty of conducting an unlicensed drinking place at 3822 West Fifth street. He was fined $50 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. Molesky was granted a stay of twenty days.

The home of Molesky was raided Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12, by Detectives Toewe and Bradley, who found nine men drinking there. The basement of the house had been arranged like a saloon and a small bar at one end was used in the dispensing of the beer. A keg of beer was also found in the room by the officers.

In police court last Friday afternoon Molesky claimed that he was entertaining some of his friends, who had purchased the beer themselves and had come to his home to spend the afternoon.

Sues for Commission.

C. W. Ostdiek brought suit in municipal court this morning against E. H. Whitney for $146.70, commission and expenses alleged to be due him. A jury was impaneled to hear the case.

Ostdiek claims that he made an agreement with Whitney to sell automobiles for the latter on a commission basis of 2 per cent of all the business done. The expenses were to be paid by the defendant, the plaintiff claims. Ostdiek says he did business during July to the amount of $5,700, and that he now has coming to him, together with expenses, a total of $146.70.

CO-ED SPECIALIZES IN LORE OF BEDBUGS

Wisconsin Student Is Doing Work for the University.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 21.—The University of Wisconsin has tackled a brand new problem. In the biology building are being carried on some scientific researches into the old question of "why is the bedbug?" A charming young woman experimenter is doing the researching, and aesthetically minded friends are carefully shielding her from publicity.

The purpose of the experimenting is to determine whether or not the little household pests have any faculty for carrying and spreading disease, particularly typhoid fever germs. It is believed by authorities on the subject that they do, but this has not been definitely ascertained.

The experimenter studies the breeding and habits of the bugs under different conditions, how far they travel when fed, how they are affected by light, etc. The results will undoubtedly be regarded as of great importance in determining the exact status of the bedbug.

ENGLAND WILL SEND WARSHIPS.

London, Oct. 21.—Great Britain today accepted the invitation from the United States government to send representative vessels of the British navy to the gathering of the international fleet in Hampton roads early in 1915. The fleet will celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterways.

The acceptance by the British foreign office has been forwarded to the secretary of the United States navy at Washington.

MASSACHUSETTS HAS "APPLE DAY."

Boston, Oct. 21.—National Apple Day was observed throughout Massachusetts today. This state is the home of the Baldwin apple, which was first discovered and developed in the town of Wilmington. During the last few years many old orchards have been renovated and new ones started throughout the state, largely through the efforts of the state board of agriculture.

WILSON COMPANY IN RECEIVER'S HANDS.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a strenuous time for some months, the North Dakota Improvement company is in the hands of a receiver, the court having named M. A. Baldwin, former president of the Commercial bank, to close up the affairs of the institution. It has some valuable property in Fargo and flats and hotels elsewhere in this state and Minnesota. Thousands of shares of stock were sold in this state, and some of the property is of a most desirable character. The exact amount of the assets and liabilities has not been announced.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

Cuyuna Range Iron Mines Will Ship Heavily Next Year.

Several New Shippers on the List for Next Season.

Increased ore production from now till the close of navigation to fill Eastern contracts is the rule with producing mines on the Cuyuna range.

The Cuyuna-Mille Lacs Iron company advises that it is now employing eighty-five hands and that its payroll is aggregating $7,000 monthly. An average of six cars of ore daily is being raised at the mine, and it is intimated that two small cargoes will be shipped out from the new Northern Pacific dock at Allouez bay this week, one going to the Pittsburg Steel company of Cleveland and the other to the Standard Steel company for delivery at Parry Sound, Ont. It is proposed by the company to operate through the winter with about the present force.

As soon as navigation closes, shipments will be made under contract all-rail to South Chicago, and during any extreme cold weather, stockpiling will be proceeded with.

Officials of the company have arranged to adopt the cut-and-slice system in development work, the aim being to enlarge the workings so as to ensure a heavy tonnage for next season.

"We plan to ship 250,000 tons of ore from the Cuyuna-Duluth Iron company's Ironton shaft next year," said W. H. Looker, its treasurer, today. "We now have sixty-five men on our payroll there, calling for a monthly wage outlay of approximately $4,000. We will continue to drift and open up the mine thoroughly during the winter, and expect to have a stockpile of about 70,000 tons by spring. A cargo of ore will be shipped down to Cleveland yet this fall. The ore continues high grade, running from 60 to 65 per cent iron."

Two shifts are at present engaged at the Duluth-Brainerd Iron company's property, and the shaft is now down 30 feet. It is proposed to bring the mine up to the shipping stage by next spring. It is said that the Northern Pacific railroad's proposed extension to the location from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine will be ready for operation by June.

The shaft at the Iron Mountain Mining company's mine is reported to be at present over thirty feet in ore, and the stockpile is accumulating. It is expected that the rails of the Soo line's extension from Iron Hub will be laid into the mine within ten days. Negotiations have been opened with a prominent iron company that, it is thought, will result in the arranging of a contract for the mine's output next year.

ELEVATORS CONGESTED

Shippers Fear Buffalo Terminals Cannot Handle Immense Grain Supply.

Big Stocks Still in Storage at Head of Lakes.

A development that is the cause of great anxiety to Duluth grain men at present is the elevator and handling congestion at Buffalo. It is feared that unless that situation is materially relieved within the next few days, large stocks will remain in the elevators here when navigation closes.

It is realized that with over 16,000,000 bushels in store here and increased receipts to be expected next month, it will be necessary to enlist a large vessel tonnage in the grain trade from now on and that good dispatch must be given boats at the lower end. Duluth operators lay emphasis on the point that while handling facilities here have expanded, the grain storage capacity at Buffalo is not equal to what it was ten years ago, two elevators burned in the interval not having been replaced.

Buffalo Situation Serious.

The seriousness of the situation at Buffalo is to be realized from the following dispatch received from there today:

"Boats in the Buffalo harbor, carrying cargoes of grain aggregating 4,000,000 bushels and the Buffalo elevators having facilities to take care of only 1,000,000 bushels. This is the situation that confronts the shipper in this city at the present time."

This was the statement made by one of Buffalo's largest ship owners. He further remarked that grain was being turned into other channels on account of the congestion at this point, the city thereby losing thousands of dollars annually.

"Only yesterday," continued the ship owner, "I talked with a man of this city, who stated that he refused a cargo of grain from Fort William, on account of the situation that confronts the city of Buffalo at the present time. The elevator men are not to blame. They are moving the grain as fast as possible, although they are preferring export grain and the local grain remains for a period of from three to ten days, thereby causing a demurrage of from $300 to $600 daily, according to the size of the vessel."

Can't Get Vessels.

It was brought to light this morning that one shipper, in desperation, scoured the marine center of Buffalo for canal boats to unload his cargo of grain in order not to pay a demurrage to the ship owner of $600 daily. He could not find a canal boat at any price and, therefore, his boat has been moored at the dock for the past four days, unable to be unloaded on account of the congestion that confronts the elevator men.

Out of all this chaos arises the fact that there is sufficient room for other elevators in Buffalo. The interest of the city demands this. Cargo after cargo is being turned away from the doors of the city on account of the lack of facilities for handling the grain when it arrives in port.

There was nothing but praise for the local elevator men in handling of the situation that confronts the city at the present time. Forwarding men were unanimous in stating that they were doing the best they could, despite the fact that the grain was piling up daily. It is the opinion of a great many grain men that there are plenty of sites about the waterfront that could be utilized for the erection of elevators. It has been stated that Buffalo loses thousands annually through the congestion in the spring and fall due to the lack of proper facilities.

SALOON MAN SUMMONED

Seventh License Is Likely to Go Into the Discard.

City Commissioners Hold the Shortest Meeting Since Election.

The city council held the shortest meeting since the inauguration of commission government last April yesterday afternoon, convening at 3 o'clock and adjourning half an hour later.

J. W. Buchanan, licensee of the saloon at 119 East Superior street, was cited to appear next Monday afternoon to show cause why his license should not be revoked upon motion of Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division. The resolution states that the safety division has positive information that the provisions of the bond have been violated.

It is almost a foregone conclusion that the saloon of Buchanan & Hogan will be the seventh to be put out of business in Duluth by the new regime. Dan Buchanan, bartender, was arrested last week on a charge of having sold liquor to John Faulk, a 17-year-old youth. Since that time it is alleged that the boy was induced to leave the city, being given $50. He has been apprehended in Milwaukee and will be brought back to Duluth, probably today or tomorrow.

In revoking licenses the city council is not governed by the findings of the police court. If the commissioners are satisfied that the law has been violated they will take away the license in question. There is no appeal from their action.

• • •

The alley between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues east on Second and Third streets was declared vacated. The council was informed that the others interested had purchased the lot of the owner who was objecting to the vacation. No action was taken upon the vacation of four blocks of Crescent avenue, Woodland. It is understood that the property owners are endeavoring to raise funds to recompense the city for the rights which it would cede by vacating.

• • •

City Clerk Charles S. Palmer was directed to advertise for bids for miscellaneous stationery, printed blanks, printed books, blank books, engineering supplies, letter heads and envelopes. The bids will be asked on the basis of a year's supply, as ascertained from the statements recently submitted by the various departments, in accordance with the resolution offered by Finance Commissioner Fred J. Voss.

• • •

The council authorized the refunding to property owners the excess of the assessment above the actual cost of the improvement of Kent road between Woodland and Cottage avenues. It amounts to several hundred dollars.

• • •

A resolution was passed awarding the contract for the installation of electrical fixtures and glassware in the city hall to the Burgess Electric company. The work has already been done.

• • •

The communication protesing against allowing the operation of gambling devices at church bazars and fairs was referred to Commissioner W. A. Hicken, head of the safety division, which includes the police department.

• • •

The ordinance changing the name of Princeton avenue and Vermilion road to Vermilion road for the entire distance was given its third reading and passed.

• • •

The ordinance appropriating $1,700 for the construction of a culvert at Forty-third avenue west and Oneota street was passed.

• • •

The application for the vacation of the building line easement on East Second street between Fifth and Sixth avenues was tabled.

DOUBT NEW STORY OF MARY PHAGAN'S DEATH

Atlanta Police Discount Effort to Free Leo M. Frank.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 21.—Little credence is placed by Atlanta police in the story of Ira W. Fisher of Atlanta, who told officials in Birmingham that he knew who killed Mary Phagan and that Leo M. Frank was innocent. Frank has been sentenced to death for the murder.

Fisher claims that on April 26, the day that Mary Phagan, the factory working girl, was killed, he drove a well known Atlanta man to the pencil factory where the murder occurred. This man, according to Fisher, said he had an appointment with Mary Phagan. The man left the building hurriedly half an hour later, saying "something awful has happened," according to Fisher. He supplied Fisher with funds and told him to leave town, Fisher says. The name of the mysterious man has been made known, according to Mr. Rosser.

Can't Help But Admire Babies

Every Woman Casts Loving Glance at the Nestling Cuddled in its Bonnet.

A woman's heart responds to the sweetness of a pretty child, and more so to-day than ever before since the advent of Mother's Friend.

This is a wonderful external help to the muscles and tendons. It penetrates the tissues, makes them readily yield to nature's demand for expansion, so there is no period of pain, discomfort, straining, nausea or other symptoms so often distressing during the anxious weeks of expectancy.

Mother's Friend thoroughly lubricates every nerve, tendon and muscle involved and is a sure preventive for caking of the breasts.

And particularly to young mothers is this famous remedy of inestimable value. It enables them to preserve their health and strength, and they remain pretty by having avoided all the suffering and danger that would otherwise accompany such an occasion.

You will find this splendid remedy on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle.

OLD PHILOSOPHY, MODERN DOCTRINE

Dr. Phelon, University Extension Lecturer, Quotes Bacon on Fair Play.

Dr. Raymond Phelon of the faculty of the University of Minnesota lectured last night in the university extension course on "Truth in Utopias." He discussed in a practical way the teachings of Francis Bacon, Thomas Campanella and Morelly. He said in part: "Bacon and Campanella were both advocates of eugenics and of the laboratory methods of study. Bacon believed with Plato in the philosopher's state, but philosophy should be a common possession. In Morelly we find an advocate of teaching children the laws of the state, and an exponent of the 'socialized man.' The House of Soloman in Bacons New Atlantis, was a modern university with elaborate research facilities and an extensive service to universalize education.

"In Bacon's seventeenth century observation 'whosoever is unchaste cannot reverence himself,'" said Dr. Phelon, "is a profound American lesson. The cardinal moral principle in America is fair play. To be really American a man must be chaste, he must stand staunchly by the single standard of morality."

DR. RAYMOND PHELON.

REARRANGE PRECINCTS

City Clerk Palmer Would Equalize City Election Divisions.

Some of Large Precincts to Be Divided and Others Combined.

City Clerk Charles S. Palmer has worked out a rearrangement of the precincts of the city, which is believed, will equalize the vote cast in the election divisions.

The precincts have remained practically the same for years. Some have grown rapidly, until in a number of them the normal vote has run to about 600 votes. To facilitate the counting and reduce the possibility of mistakes it is said that the vote should not run more than 300 to 400.

The city clerk has prepared a copy of his proposed changes for each of the commissioners. It is probable that they will be adopted with few or no alterations at the meeting of the council next Monday afternoon.

Clerk's Suggestions.

The suggestions of the city clerk are as follows:

Division of the present Fifth precinct of the First ward at Fourth street, Wallace avenue, Princeton avenue and St. Marie street, and that the part of the city known as Crescent View Park be taken from the Woodland precinct and placed in the present Fifth precinct of the First ward.

Division of the Sixth precinct of the First ward at Fourth street, with the suggestion that it might be desirable to enlarge the portion of the precinct below Fourth street by incorporating therein that part of the city between Fifteenth and Seventeenth avenues east to add approximately 100 voters and take them from the Fifth precinct, which will be the precinct in that part of the city that will grow faster than any other on account of the large territory between Twenty-fourth avenue east and the golf links.

Combination of the First and Second precincts of the Third ward.

Combination of the Second and Third and Fourth and Fifth precincts of the Fourth ward.

Combination of the First and Second precincts of the Sixth ward.

Precinct Changes.

Formation of one precinct of that part of the First and Second precincts of the Seventh ward below Third street, leaving the boundary of the rest of these precincts unchanged.

Changing of the present boundary line between the Third and Fourth precincts of the Seventh ward and the line of the Fifth precinct to the center line of the right-of-way of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway to the point where it intersects the westerly boundary of Centerdale division, then along the western boundary of Centerdale division, Bryant's division and Bryant's Second division to the southern boundary line of section 32, 50-15, and along the southern boundary of this to the corporate limits.

Formation of a new precinct at Gary.

Numbering of precincts from one up, regardless of wards, but to specify in what wards precincts will be located.

INDIAN LIQUOR LAW PASSED ON.

Washington, Oct. 21.—The supreme court holds that the Pueblo Indians are under the guardianship of the government and liquor cannot be taken into their country without violating the Federal law. The decision marks a long fight to distinguish those Indians who have lived in towns since long before the first white settlement in the United States, from the tribes which have been held to be wards of the government.

AT ONCE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN, HEAD COLDS AND CATARRH VANISH

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge—Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake to-night struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

PASTORS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Rev. C. R. Oaten Elected President of Head of Lakes Association.

The Head of Lakes Methodist Ministers' association, including Duluth, Superior and the range, held its annual meeting and elected officers for the year yesterday afternoon at the First Methodist Episcopal church in this city. Dr. J. W. Hoffman, pastor of the M. E. church, read a paper on "Mysticism in the Life and Message of the Minister." A resolution of sympathy for Dr. Forbes, who has been ill for some time, was passed. Following are the officers elected: President, Rev. C. R. Oaten; vice president, Rev. Elmer F. New York, Oct. 21.—Announcement of a campaign to raise $2,000,000 within two weeks for use by the Young Women's Christian association and the Young Men's Christian association, was made last night at a dinner held jointly by representatives of the two associations. The campaign will begin Nov. 10 and continue for two weeks. Three-fourths of the fund, if raised, will go to the women's organization, and the rest to the men's.

COUNCIL OF ADVISERS

Duluth Has Material for Consultation Board of Farm Experts.

Specialists in Many Lines Now Engaged in Work Here.

Those interested in the agricultural development of Northeastern Minnesota would like to know why there should not be an agricultural consultation board named by some organization, or formed voluntarily in this section.

This suggestion is brought about by the fact that with the various agricultural boards, extensions, schools, etc., there are now several agricultural experts in this vicinity, especially in Duluth, more than enough to form such a board. It is believed that such a board, working co-operatively, would do wonders for St. Louis county and the northeast corner of the state in general in an agricultural way.

The suggestion came from one prominently connected with the Commercial club. He observed that with Fred Ward, A. B. Hostetter and some others in the field, actively engaged in agricultural promotion, there should be plenty of material for a consultation board that would be able to outline campaigns for the furtherance of agricultural activity in this community, educational work among those already in, and general work for the development of the section covered and the increasing of prosperity for those who are engaged in farming now or hereafter.

Men Available.

When the matter was investigated, it was found by The Herald that there are more people engaged in agricultural propaganda in this section of the state and in and about Duluth, than was figured on. For instance there are:

W. A. Dickinson, superintendent of agricultural development of the Duluth & Iron Range road; whose specialty might be said to be the treatment of muck soils and the clearing and opening of farms.

Mark Thompson, superintendent of Duluth's agricultural school, who is credited with being a specialist in general farm management.

Prof. George P. Grout, superintendent of the Jean du Luth farm, who is an acknowledged authority on the mechanical end of dairying, dairy cattle and dairy feeding and nutrition.

Fred Ward, the newly appointed superintendent of the correctional farm, but who has been agricultural agent in St. Louis county since last February, serving with exceptional success. His specialty is known to be co-operative marketing and general farming.

A. B. Hostetter, supervisor of this agricultural district, who is known for his knowledge of general farming, and his specializing in homecrofting and gardening; but whose particular liking and ability is along the lines of marketing and display of products.

Then there are yet to come Mr. Ward's successor as county agent, whoever he may be; and the rest of the faculty of the agricultural school, a noted city farmer, and a member of the state fair board.

This morning C. P. Craig suggested that the consultation board, which idea he considers a most excellent one, should not be confined to St. Louis county but that it should take in all of the northeast corner of the state, taking the various county agricultural agents, A. J. McGuire of the experimental station at Grand Rapids, and such other authorities as the district affords.

In speaking of the consultation board idea to The Herald, Mr. Craig grew quite enthusiastic. Said he:

"The idea appeals to me as a most excellent one. I believe that these men, working together, would do wonders for this section of the state. They are experts in their various lines and I would like to see them get together."

Speaking of the method of getting them together, he said:

"I think that A. B. Hostetter, as supervisor of this district would be the proper man to call such a meeting and arrange for the work. The Commercial club's agricultural committee might call it but I do not think that such a move is within its functions, and after Mr. Hostetter has taken the initiative I am sure the agricultural committee would be glad to extend the courtesies of the club. I would be glad to see this idea take root and be acted upon."

SULZER, NOMINATED BY BULL MOOSERS, AFTER SPEAKERSHIP

Only Needs Majority.

A majority of the assembly is required to elect a speaker, and only a landslide for one party can prevent a long deadlock if Sulzer wins.

Sulzer himself does not admit that he has deserted the Democratic party by accepting the Progressive nomination and the Republican indorsement.

"I am a non-partisan candidate," he declared today. "And I am fighting for a principle instead of a party."

The impeached governor confided to a friend last night that the opposition of Theodore Douglas Robinson to his candidacy did not surprise him, but he thought that if Col. Roosevelt were in this country he would have his support.

Speculation was rife here today as to just what Tammany would do in the fight. It is known that all of the unused evidence in the impeachment is in the hands of the Tammany leaders, and rumor has it that this material soon will appear in pamphlet form for general distribution.

Sulzer planned to leave here for New York today. He will live in a hotel there until he can obtain a suitable house.

Issued a Statement.

A few minutes after the Progressive committee met in New York last night and nominated him for assembly, William Sulzer issued a statement telling why he had "consented to come back to Albany."

Throughout the evening he was in communication by telephone with Progressive leaders in New York. There never was any doubt but that he could have the nomination if he wanted it, he declared. Nor does he doubt that the first of January will see him back where he began his political career twenty years ago. He and his friends also are convinced that he will go from there to the speakership and thence back to the governor's chair.

Sulzer plans to speak day and night up to election time. After that he will accept some lecture engagements up to the first of January. His promise is to make the "fur fly" if he is made an assemblyman.

Make Enemies Take Notice.

"And not only will I make it warm for my enemies in the assembly," he said, "but I'll make them take notice in other places too."

His statement follows in part:

"In view of the urgent pleadings from life-long friends and the request in writing from more than half of the registered voters of the Sixth assembly district, regardless of party affiliations, begging me to accept the nomination for member of the assembly to further the cause of honest government, I have consented to come back to Albany as a member of the assembly for the good that I can do.

"I shall be a non-partisan candidate, however, having no ax to grind, nor any purpose other than to do what I can for the good of good government—the struggle for which accomplishment brought about my removal from the governorship by an arrogant boss whose dictates to do wrong I defied."

Sulzer agreed to run after consulting with a score of political advisers. The rabbis of every synagogue in the Sixth district called at the executive mansion to urge him to make the race. They brought petitions signed by 3,800 voters in the district asking Sulzer to run. There are said to be only 5,700 voters in the entire district. Mrs. Sulzer urged him to accept the nomination.

Opposed By Leaders.

New York, Oct. 21.—The nomination of the impeached executive was brought about against the desires of the state and county leaders of the Progressive party. The sentiment among the Progressives throughout the state and in other states was generally against the move, according to State Chairman Theodore Douglas Robinson and County Chairman Francis M. Bird.

Mr. Bird, in a letter to Mr. Steindler before the meeting began, cautioned him regarding the "unwisdom of nominating Mr. Sulzer."

After Mr. Sulzer had been nominated there was a demonstration in the East side meeting hall. Bands in the street outside played national airs. The nomination was made unanimous.

HEAVY SNOW FALLS IN CHICAGO; BADGER STATE HAS BLIZZARD

even as far south as Milwaukee. The casualties are:

Two Milwaukee hunters, George McEachron and Thomas Stolz, were drowned in Shawano lake at Shawano, Wis., when their skiff was capsized by the gale as they were trying to reach shelter.

Two men were drowned when their motor boat capsized in Chequamegon bay at Ashland, Wis., trying to take provisions to a coal barge in the harbor. The men are David Zohberty and a companion, name unknown. A rescue yawl from the steamer Colonel, near which the launch capsized, went out but was driven ashore and its crew narrowly escaped.

One Ashland Man Saved.

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tony Mattis, one of three men on board a motor boat which was swamped in Chequamegon bay last night, was picked up today by the steamer Harvey Brown. He had been given up for lost and was in the icy water an hour and a half. Frank Marz and Dave Zoberty were drowned and their bodies were not recovered. Their motor boat was swamped by heavy seas and the wheel of the steamer Colonel, to which they had made their boat fast.

Maryland Coast Suffers.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 21.—The eastern shore of Maryland was visited by a furious storm of wind and rain last night. Practically every town along the water front suffered severe damage from high water, the tide being the highest in twenty years. In many places the water covered the streets from 12 inches to 5 feet in depth.

A new $20,000 concrete bridge near Easton was carried away, and during the height of the storm the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's building in Easton caught fire and was destroyed.

Crisfield reported the water front flooded to a depth of 3 feet and people were using rowboats to reach their homes.

U. S. Barge Safe.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 21.—Today's estimates of damage by shifting gales which swept the coast here yesterday place the losses as low as $40,000. A government ammunition barge with $50,000 worth of ammunition aboard, reported sunk, is safe at the navy yard.

Many Craft Ashore.

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 21.—Eighteen barges bound for New York were driven on the mud flats here during the gale of last night. They are undamaged.

Boy Was Drowned.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 21.—A high wind storm that swept over the Connecticut shore last night cost one life, and did much damage to small craft. Russell B. Young, aged 10, who was rowing with his father, was drowned when their boat was capsized.

At New London, the sea was said to be the highest in five years.

Damage in New England.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—Tangled wires, prostrated trees and other inland damage marked today the course of the Ohio storm, the tail of which swept New England last night on its way down the St. Lawrence valley. Unlike the storm of last week, yesterday's gale spent its fury inland instead of on the coast.

Wire conditions in Northern New England today were the worst since last winter.

DOES YOUR HAIR SPOIL YOUR FACE?

If your glass reflects good looks—nice features that would make you considered pretty if only your hair were more becoming—don't you mourn about it. Instead of mourning or envying others whose hair is prettier than yours, use Harmony Hair Beautifier, and let others envy you. It is a delightful liquid hair dressing to beautify the hair—make it glossy, softer, easier to put up in graceful, wavy folds that will "stay put." It polishes the hair until it shines, and overcomes the unpleasant, oily odor, with a delightful, fresh rose fragrance. Harmony Hair Beautifier is very easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change the color of hair, nor darken gray hair.

To keep hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store—one of the more than 7,000 leading drug stores of the United States, Canada and Great Britain, which own the big Harmony laboratories in Boston, where the many celebrated Harmony Perfumes and Toilet Preparations are made.

to extend the length of the maturity of a certain percentage of the paper the reserve banks might rediscount, to enable country banks holding six and nine-month paper to enjoy the advantages of a new system. Some amendment along this line, coupled with a more definite designation of "commercial paper," probably will be written into the bill.

Under the bill as passed by the house, the regional reserve banks may discount paper without limit for their member banks, but no provision is made that gives member banks the right to demand such discounts. Members of the committee are practically agreed that it is necessary to provide that a member bank, as a matter of right, may apply for and receive discounts up to a fixed limit.

The compulsory feature of the bill, under which all national banks would be required to join the system and subscribe 20 per cent of their capital in stock of the Federal reserve bank of their district and turn over 5 per cent of their deposits to the reserve bank, also may be changed. In that connection the committee will make more definite the provisions relating to state banks and trust companies, to insure that both state and national banks shal lenter the system with as nearly equal privileges as possible. A plan to open the stock of reserve banks to public subscription will be considered.

Collection System.

Another suggestion was an amendment that would limit reserve banks in their clearing to checks drawn by banks, leaving the present collection system for personal checks unchanged.

The provision limiting the dividends to be paid by reserve banks to 5 per cent may be increased to 6, and the provision that after the accumulation of a 20 per cent surplus, all profits of the reserve banks, except the dividends, shall be distributed, 60 per cent to the government and 40 per cent to the stockholding banks, may be changed to give all the surplus profits to the government.

The problem of whether the Federal reserve banks are to be allowed to enter the open market to buy or sell commercial paper in competition with other banks to maintain the discount rate also will be considered.

Victor Morawetz of New York, who was before the committee yesterday, resumed a discussion of the bill when the reading was taken up by the committee today.

RAILROADS ACCEPT IN ENTIRELY MINNESOTA RATE CASE SCHEDULE

pers will be able to enter under conditions materially improved over those now existing.

Interstate Roads.

When the decision of the United States supreme court, reversing the Sanborn decision was handed down, the railroads restored the Minnesota rate policy which between points wholly within the state, but the Soo line and Great Northern did not apply these rates between Duluth and points on their lines in Minnesota. The Northern Pacific put the new rates into effect from Duluth because their line from Duluth to other Minnesota stations lies wholly within the state. The Great Northern and Soo line operate through a portion of Wisconsin between Duluth and points in Minnesota, and their routes are therefore interstate, not subject to the rules of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission.

When the Minnesota schedule was first published in September, 1906, the railroads made it effective from Duluth to a portion of the state, but that was purely a voluntary act so far as the interstate lines are concerned. When the Minnesota rates were ordered out under the Sanborn decision, they were withdrawn from Duluth also.

The failure of the railroads to restore the Minnesota rates to Duluth after the decision of the supreme court last summer placed Duluth at a serious disadvantage, as the reduction of rates from the Twin Cities in a great many cases allowed the Twin Cities to ship into territory nearer to Duluth at rates lower than those applying from Duluth. Negotiations were immediately opened with the interested carriers and as a first result, the Great Northern and Soo line reduced the rates from Duluth to stations on their lines, Bemidji, west and north, to the same rates as applied from the Twin Cities, although the distances from Duluth to those points are considerably less than from the Twin Cities, and under the Minnesota rate schedule, the rates from Duluth should be less than from the Twin Cities.

Apply in Entirety.

The negotiations, looking to the application of the Minnesota schedule in its entirety, from Duluth to all stations on the Great Northern and Soo line in Minnesota, were continued, Mr. Barnes, Mr. Marshall and Mr. Hall making several visits to the Twin Cities to confer with the railroad executives. The situation was complicated and embarrassing. The interested lines wanted to meet the wishes of the Duluth people, but felt that they would be placed in an embarrassing position if it were done. The conferences finally resulted in the agreement reached yesterday.

The many readjustments in rates and service from Duluth to the territory served by the city have had a real effect in increasing the volume of business of Duluth jobbers and manufacturers and in firmly establishing a spirit of optimism in the city.

"The rapid increase in the jobbing business of Duluth is indicated by the fact that the business of our Duluth house alone is $750,000 greater thus far this year than for the same period last year," said Mr. Marshall this morning. "This may be attributed to the extension of the territory by the reconstruction of freight rates, the improvement of service and the rapid settlement of Duluth's own territory. The statistics of the movement of immigrant movables into Northern Minnesota still show a very large movement into this territory. Settlement will soon be followed by additional railroad lines. The vice president of the Soo Line is quoted as saying that in his opinion the northern half of Wisconsin is capable of the same measure of development as the southern half of the state, and that is strictly Duluth territory. Increased settlement in Duluth trade territory means increased business, not only for the manufacturer and jobber but for the retail dealer and every other business man in the city.

"No real estate boomer we have in Duluth is more enthusiastic in his forecasts of the future of Duluth than the executive officers of the big railroads centered here. They are already considering the rate structure to be made for the handling of Duluth tonnage with the completion of the steel plant and other developments that are imminent."

Moving Surely.

Mr. Barnes, who is chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, as well as chairman of the traffic commission, expressed his satisfaction over the success of the negotiations with the Great Northern and Soo Line officials.

"It may appear at times that we are moving slowly in obtaining the desired readjustment of our transportation conditions, but results have shown that we have moved surely and effectively," he said. "Because of the peculiar transportation complications affecting Duluth and because of the fact that the rate structure involving the city has stood for twenty-five years without question, it seems that Duluth must fight harder and work longer for results than any other city with rate problems calling for solution. Though we may have to fight hard and work long for results the results are coming. We have attained some, and there are others directly in sight, and the establishment of Duluth in its proper position in the transportation world is only a matter of time and unremitting effort."

The situation, and the effect of the rates to be established, is illustrated by G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Commercial club, by the following comparisons, which show the present and the new rates, first class, from the Twin Cities and Duluth to representative points in Minnesota:

Effective, Economical Complexion Beautifier

(Julia Orff in The Clubwoman).

One reason I so strongly recommend mercolized wax is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time, patience and expense. It is better than any cleansing cream, better than any massage cream, and better than any rouge, for accomplishing the results for which such articles are used. As the wax actually absorbs an old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin which gradually appears, is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. Spreading on a thin coat of this wax at night, washing it off mornings, in a week or so produces a marvelous transformation. Just one ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will do the work. There's nothing better to remove freckles, moth patches, liver spots, sallowness, blotches, pimples or blackheads.

For wrinkles and loose, saggy skin, I invariably recommend a face bath made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties. Adv.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head

BY A SPECIALIST.

Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add half to one teaspoonful of To-Kalon Perfume, which unites perfectly with the other ingredients. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

THIEVES AVERAGE ABOUT $130 DAILY

Duluth Pays This Tribute to Crime, But Half of Money Is Recovered.

Police records for the past nine months show that an average of $130 worth of goods of every description is being stolen daily in Duluth, and if this ratio continues for the remainder of the year, the total will almost reach $50,000.

Although these figures look exceptionally large, much of this property is recovered. The total of $130 a day includes the amount either lost or stolen and that only when it is reported to police headquarters. There are hundreds of cases of petty thievery that are never reported, however.

The total amount either lost or stolen up to Sept. 30 of this year was $35,000, and the property recovered during the same time totals $20,000, or more than half of the property lost. The average property recovered each day of the past nine months amounts to $75.

During 1912 there was property worth $39,883.42 either lost or stolen, while $21,205.18 was recovered. The last figure is 53 per cent of amount stolen.

Duluth has a large floating population and many petty thieves drift into Duluth. It is only occassionally that a big "job" is pulled off by the thieves, most of the thefts being for small amounts.

ALMOST "ORIGINAL WILSON MAN" HERE

Marc Atkinson, New Postmaster of Crosby, in Duluth.

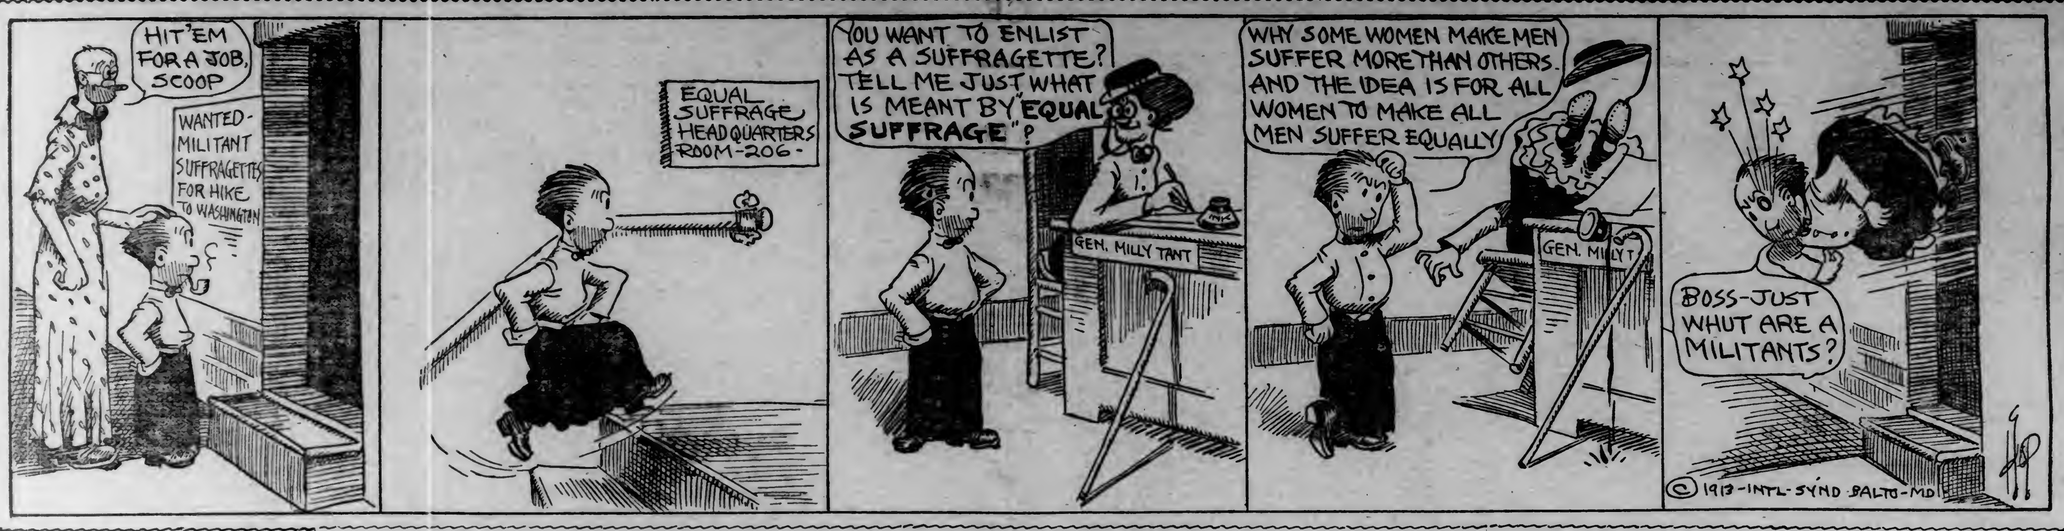

Marc Atkinson, the newly appointed postmaster of Crosby, is in the city today. Mr. Atkinson is a son of Claude Atkinson, the well known newspaper man of Hibbing, and ever since he could toddle has been brought up on printers' ink and innoculated with "type insects," which he was taught to see at an early age. He is an editor himself, being publisher of the Crosby Crucible. Mr. Atkinson lays close claim to being "the original Wilson man" for the first editorial efforts were devoted to boosting Woodrow Wilson for president, when the latter was first elected gocernor of New Jersey.

Mr. Atkinson's appointment is a presidential and not a department one. He does not know just when he will take hold of the new job, but would prefer that it will be about Jan. 1, in order that he may get his business affairs adjusted. Mr. Atkinson said this morning that Crosby is a third-class office, but he is informed that it will probably soon have a postal savings bank attached.

BRAINERD HONORS HER FAMOUS PITCHER

Leslie Bush Is Banqueted and Everybody Pays Him Tribute.

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following Leslie Bush's homecoming, when the depot and the streets were black with fans cheering him, and the great auto parade about town and the other courtesies shown him, came the banquet at the Ransford hotel last night. Former City Attorney M. E. Ryan presided. He called on Mayor H. A. Heming as the first speaker. The mayor referred to the honor which had come to Brainerd through the victory of her native son. He alluded to President Vincent's injunction to "Play the Game." Leslie Bush, said the speaker, had played the game and had played it well. We raised Bender and Bush. To be a good player one needed brains and sand and Brainerd had furnished both. Walter Ellis was heard in his imitations of birds, [illegible]

Senator C. D. Johnson delivered one of his humorous, witty addresses for which he is justly famous. He was glad of the testimonial given Bush this evening. He liked the loyalty and enthusiasm shown. Thirty-three years ago he had played on the Brainerd silk stocking nine which had crossed bats with the Gull River lumberjacks, led by John W. Bush. And the strength of arm Leslie Bush had inherited from his famous father and the bewitching fancy of his mother. Remember the fans in Brainerd, was his parting injunction to the young pitcher. He referred to Fatty Wood, the boyhood friend of Bush, who now closed his prayer with "God bless Bush, Bender and Brainerd."

Mayor H. P. Dunn said it pleased him to hear the tributes paid Bush. The boy had received much praise, but came back as pleasant, smiling and unassuming as ever. It should be a matter of pride for former managers of Brainerd baseball teams to know that at one time they had playing on their teams one of the greatest pitchers of the country.

Former Mayor H. R. Wise said words were not adequate to express his entire appreciation of the fine work done by Bush in pitching the decisive game in the world's series. He sang an original song recounting Bush's victory, set to the tune of "On the Trail of the Lonesome Pine." "Fatty" Woods was called on and said he had fully determined to make a speech until he had heard Senator Johnson speak.

John W. Bush, father of Leslie, thanked the people of Brainerd for the honors shown his son, and hoped that next season he would bring more glory to Brainerd.

"We have saved for the last the hero of the day and the hour, Leslie Bush," said Toastmaster Ryan. The hero of the Athletics said he was proud and happy to be among Brainerd friends. He had often thought of them while away and nothing pleased him more than the numerous telegrams of congratulation he had received. The night would long remain in his memory as one of the happiest moments of his life. The gathering then dispersed and the grand ball at the Gardner auditorium completed the evening's entertainment. Great credit is due D. A. Peterson and T. H. Considine, managers respectively of the Brainerd ball teams of 1912 and 1913, for the success of the Bush homecoming celebration.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. L. McVey, formerly head of the Associated Charities of Minneapolis, will again head the Associated Charities of Grand Forks, the work of which was formally placed under way yesterday in the annual tag day, when about $1,000 was realized.

The tag day proceeds will be used in the employment of a visiting nurse.

MICHIGAN VILLAGE UPSET BY A KISS

Pretty School Ma'am Is Charged With Bestowing Favors in Public.

Iron River, Mich., Oct. 21.—The whole village of Iron River is in an uproar and it all started because a pretty school ma'am here is said to have kissed a young man in his auto right at the school door in the day time in full view of her pupils.

A charge to this effect was contained in a letter sent for publication to Patrick O'Brien, editor of the Iron River-Stambaugh Reporter, and the editor published the communication. The name of the young lady accused was not given in the letter but it seems that most of the townspeople had no trouble in deciding who was meant.

Then came excited meetings of the school board and finally a condemnation of the editor by resolution, and a statement that after an investigation the board finds that the young lady did not bestow the kiss.

O'Brien is sitting "pat" and says that in spite of numerous threats of libel suits he wishes the world to know that the school board made no investigation whatever and that the members do not know whether the charge against the young lady is true or not; that the editor was not asked or allowed to produce proof of the charge or the person who wrote the letter and that because of such fact the resolution condemning him is simply the school board's attempt to make him "the goat" in the whole matter.

ELEVATOR COMPANIES ON THE CARPET NOV. 4

Farmers' Concern in North Dakota Charges Unfair Methods.

Jamestown, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Just when competitive methods reach the point of being unfair is the big problem that the North Dakota rail commission will attempt to sift when it holds a hearing in this city Nov. 4 on the complaint of the Farners' Elevator company against the Powers Elevator company and the Occident Elevator company, both of Minneapolis.

This hearing is the first that has grown out of complaints, filed from time to time with the rail commission, and which commission only got authority to conduct such investigations under an act of the last legislature, will formally open a question that problem will go to the courts for final adjudication.

Since independent companies began encroaching on the territory that was formerly occupied almost exclusively by the line elevator companies, charges of unfair competition have been made. Line concerns were accused of offering higher prices for grain at competitive points, while overgrading and underdockage were other methods of discrimination that were complained against by the independents.

It was not till last winter that the independent concerns secured legislation on the subject, and it has only been within the last few weeks that the attorney general has ruled the law sound. It was on this ruling that the rail commission determined to begin proceedings when the Eldridge Farners' company made complaint.

Line elevator companies that are attacked under this law, should they be found guilty and should the rail commission attempt to exert its power of revoking their franchise to engage in business in the state, doubtless will resort to the courts before complying with any orders to withdraw from business in the state.

"The question of competition is a hard one to adjust," said Commissioner Stutsman, head of the rail board, today. "It will be necessary for the commission to proceed cautiously in the matter just opened."

IRONWOOD TAX LEVY IS GIVEN INCREASE

Higher State and School Rate Responsible for Change.

Ironwood, Mich., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tax rate in Ironwood will be $1.28 per $100 assessed valuation for 1913, an increase of 24 cents per $100 per year, the rate having been determined at the annual meeting of the board of supervisors. The increase is due entirely to higher state and school levies, the former being $26,000 in excess of last year and the school tax $24,000 more than a year ago. The city tax is the same as last years, the county and county road taxes being somewhat less than last year. The following figures show the levies for all purposes in Ironwood: State tax, $79,558.18; county tax, $47,682; county roads, 31,788; city tax, $90,000; school tax, $69,700; total, $318,728.18.

FARGO LEADS IN Y. M. C. A. CONTEST.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fargo has the pole in the tri-city contest between the Y. M. C. A's. of Grand Forks, Jamestown and Fargo, formally opened yesterday. Fargo leads with 2,074 points, Grand Forks is second with 664 and Jamestown is third with $50.

The contest is based on new memberships, renewals of memberships and a series of athletic events, the latter of which will be held as the concluding feature.

Possession of a banner for a year is the prize in the annual contest.

"PURE FOOD" LADD IS STILL ACTIVE.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Another campaign is being waged in this state by Pure Food Commissioner Ladd for better sanitation in bakeries, grocery stores and dairies. For years he has been after these and the restaurants. Quite a little progress has been made along all lines but there remains a great deal of room for improvement and it is for the purpose of securing more general co-operation that the commissioner has re-engaged in the campaign. He makes an appeal to the proprietors for their assistance and if this falls he will try more drastic measures. The grocers are requested to screen or enclose in cases all exhibits of goods.

CARELESS FARMHAND BLOWN TO PIECES.

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Martin Torgerson, who was working around a gasoline tractor at the John Dairymple farm in this county, was instantly killed this morning. He lighted some waste but it would not burn very good, so he stepped to a gasoline tank and turned oil on the burning rag. There was an explosion which wrecked the engine and instantly killed Torgerson, whose body was mutilated.

WHOLESALE CATTLE THIEF CAPTURED.

Bowman, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Stealing cattle by the wholesale is the strong suit of Mike Cherviskow. He is the man who took sixty head of cows from the pasture of P. T. Peters of this county. The animals were driven to Stark county, where he was overtaken and placed under arrest. He had killed sixteen of the animals and sold the beef.

Cherviskow was assisted by Henry Pierson, a youth of White Bear, Minn. The boy was evidently not criminally liable, as he had been hired by the elder man. When the officers found the two they were in a shack north of Belfield. After Cherviskow was manacled and while the officers were placing the irons on Pierson, Cherviskow ran. He was shot in the arm and recaptured after a quarter of a mile chase.

Cherviskow is a Russian who served one term in the penitentiary for stealing a horse in Morton county. He was released last May. Cherviskow at first denied his guilt but later admitted the theft. He is about 28 and was formerly a butcher.

Probe Postal Robbery.

Baldwin, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Federal detectives of the postoffice department reached Baldwin yesterday to conduct an investigation into the recent robbery of the Baldwin postoffice, in the I. M. Capper store. Three times in seven weeks robbers have visited the store, but not until the last time did they molest the postoffice. Mr. Capper believes the robberies have been staged by the same men, and that they are the work of local parties.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Valley City, N. D.—Miss Franceska Winterer was married to LaFayette Knox of Medicine Hat, Can. The bride was gowned in white silk crepe with rose point, and carried white roses and orchids. Her sister, Miss Florence Winterer, was maid of honor, and wore pale green satin. Rev. W. C. Lyon read the service. Mr. and Mrs. Knox were University of Minnesota students and will spend some time in Minneapolis before going to their home in Medicine Hat.

Dolton, S. D.—While eating dinner at the home of Joseph Griller, Albert Sisley, who was traveling through the country, was attacked with heart failure and fell dead.

Highmore, S. D.—The little son of Mr. and Mrs. James Palon was perhaps fatally injured by being kicked in the forehead by a horse.

Onida, S. D.—A monument to the unknown dead has been erected here by members of the G. A. R. and will be dedicated on Oct. 25.

Menno, S. D.—Farmers of this vicinity are feeding what is known as Lewis lye to their hogs to cure them of cholera, and it is stated the lye does the work.

Egan, S. D.—Charged with grand larceny, a penitentiary offense, an Englishman named C. Bishop has been lodged in the county jail.

Groton, S. D.—On Sunday practically the entire town will gather for the purpose of assisting Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Johnson in observing their golden wedding anniversary.

Aberdeen, S. D.—The Aberdeen lodge of the Knights of the Maccabees has instituted a membership contest.

Aberdeen, S. D.—In circuit court here the jury decided for the plaintiff in the case wherein Sarah E. Holzer sued the A. O. U. W. of South Dakota for $2,000 on an insurance policy. The jury was granted the entire sum, with interest.

Lemmon, S. D.—The city of Lemmon is a near-millionaire. The assessed valuation this year is $911,703.

Wilmot, S. D.—A fire of unknown origin broke out in one of the barns of G. W. Smith, destroying it and another barn nearby, with seven horses and nine hogs.

Casselton, N. D.—The Casselton corn show is to probably be an annual event hereafter. At an enthusiastic meeting of the Casselton business men it was decided that the success this year would be repeated next year. Already the work has started and the show next year will be even greater than the splendid exhibition shown a week ago. An active committee was named to assume charge of the plans for the 1914 show. The committee comprises H. P. Cooper, M. G. Straus, H. H. Walters, C. R. Meredith and William McRoberts.

Fargo, N. D.—A great deal of fruit is being shipped into North Dakota by independent dealers and sold from the car as a rebuke to the fruit trust, that is holding the price at unreasonable figures in many instances.

Cavalier, N. D.—The potato warehouse is a busy place these days. During the past week it has handled between 7,000 and 8,000 bushels of potatoes.

Forman, N. D.—The teachers of Sargent county, in institute, assembled at the county courthouse Friday for a two days' session. Prof. Hollis, formerly of the Valley city normal and Miss Amidon of the Valley City normal were the instructors secured by Supt. Ulwe. About 100 teachers were in attendance.

Velva, N. D.—William Stromberg of Bowbells and Miss Josephine G. Haugen of De Lacs were united in marriage at the brides home at De Lacs.

Minot, N. D.—Gordon Wilson's arm caught in a threshing machine and was broken in two places. His condition is critical, as his arm was terribly mangled.

Minot, N. D.—The Grand Trunk will be running trains from Regina, Sask., to Minot within two weeks, according to present indications.

Anamoose, N. D.—Despite the fact that his neck and back were broken, Carl Doctor, 56, a wealthy farmer, was conscious when taken from a ditch into which he had been thrown by a runaway team. He died twelve hours after the accident.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Littlefork—The contractors on the ditch west have finished the work on the lateral running north to a point near Ben Boutin's place and have returned to the main ditch. They are now working west past and between the Hinckley and Dan Fitzpatrick places.

International Falls — The unknown man who was brought from Ranier and died a few hours later from apoplexy at the county jail, where he had been taken to be temporarily cared for, was George Fowler. He was about 30 or 35 years old and had worked on the railroad at Ray.

St. Cloud — Herman Schneider, who has been at work at the St. Cloud normal school, was rendered unconscious for several hours from a severe shock received from a strong electrical current. Schneider was working up above the top of a hot steam boiler when he lost his balance and in an effort to save himself he took hold of some electric wires.

Bemidji — One hundred and thirty-nine ducks in one day divided between Martin Longabba, Barney Erickson and Jack Young appears to be the record shoot of the season. The party returned yesterday from Ballclub where they have been hunting. The 139 does not include anything but large sized mallards, as the ducks were so plentiful the hunters had their choice and did not hinder the smaller species.

Austin — Thirteen automobile loads of farmers from Freeborn county came to Austin Saturday to be present at a hearing before Judge Kingsley. Rev. H. I. and T. J. Strand, who have been pastors of five country Lutheran churches, have been asked to resign and refuse to do so, and the members have asked the court to oust them. The matter has not been decided.

Caledonia — Joseph McKenna, 50 years old, well-to-do farmer, had cramps late last night and going into the pantry without troubling to turn on the light, reached for the brandy bottle. He took one swallow, then realized that he had taken a deadly poison by mistake and cried for help. Physicians were called quickly, but the man died before they arrived.

Brownton—Friday was a gala day for Brownton when the public schools, under the principalship of A. H. Granger, gave the first school fair ever held in McLeod county. The spacious new city hall was used for the occasion and it scarcely furnished sufficient room for the large and varied amount of exhibits supplied by the children of the local schools.

Crookston — Word was received of the marriage of Forest Lancaster, a former Crookston boy, to Miss Laura Harmon. The young people will make their home in North Yakima, Wash.

Stephen — On Wednesday occurred the marriage of Miss Amanda Clark of this place, to Louis Haupt of Argyle. The wedding was performed by Rev. Gravdal, pastor of the Lutheran church.

Moorhead — Julius C. Johnson, manager of the Northwestern Lutheran hospital, has given out the amounts of the receipts from patients during the three years of the existence of the institution and they are as follows, showing an increase in favor of the current year: Jan. 1, 1911, to Sept. 30, 1911, $11,238.37; Jan. 1, 1912, to Sept. 30, 1912, $12,539.08; Jan. 1, 1913, to Sept. 30, 1913, $13,642.37. The increase this year over 1911 amounts to $2,404.

Luverne — William Carstens and Miss Edna Kaufman were married here. Clifford Walton and Miss Cleo Werthens were married at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Yeager by Rev. W. H. W. Webster.

Hastings — James Croxford of St. Paul and Miss Nellie A. Hardy of this city were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hardy, by Rev. E. A. Oldenburg.

Caledonia — Albert Schumacher of Pandora, Ohio, and Miss Elizabeth Weida of this place were married by Rev. Mr. Kelly of Winona.

Albert Lea — Dr. Christian Larsen of this city and Miss Laura Erickson were married at the bride's home last evening.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Chippewa Falls—Mrs. Catherine Van Name passed away at her home, 706 South Barstow street, Friday morning. She was born at Lancaster, Pa., April 15, 1830, and married to William Van Name in 1858. They had two children, one of them, Miss Janette, surviving.

Racine—Farmers from the northwestern section of Racine county, who were in the city today, are authority for the statement that the "Soo" line will endeavor to seek an entrance into Racine by building from the main line at Honey Creek and tap a wealthy farming country and also obtain large shipments from Racine. The farmers claim that efforts are soon to be made to purchase a right-of-way for the new line.

Ashland — The marriage of Miss Esther James to Joseph Thibodeau took place in the St. Agnes church at 9 o'clock this morning by Rev. Father Bede. Both are well known in the city and have a large number of friends. A number of showers have been given during the past week for Miss James.

Durand—Because there was no justice of the peace in Durand, J. Lanphere of Arkansas, accused of having robbed Charles Heisel, was released.

Maiden Rock—While Peter Demarce and G. Hotter were hunting, the latter fired a shotgun, and the full charge struck Demarce in the head, side and arm. Physicians think he may recover.

Oshkosh—On Saturday evening occurred the wedding of Roy Meredith of Appleton, Wis., and Miss Jewell Chase of this city. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curry C. Chase. Mr. Chase is president of the Banderob-Chase Manufacturing company. Miss Jewell Chase is the granddaughter of Edgar P. Sawyer, president of the Oshkosh Gas Light company.

Oconomowoc—The marriage of Miss Mae Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Snyder, Oconomowoc, and George Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pearson, formerly of Milwaukee, took place Wednesday night, Oct. 15, at 6 o'clock, at St. Jerome's parsonage, Oconomowoc, the Rev. James McCarthy officiating.

Beloit—The soliciting committee for the $100,000 campaign for a building for the Y. M. C. A. reports $40,000 pledged. The campaign closes next Wednesday. The association is hopeful, but appreciates that a hard undertaking is before them.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Chassell — The Worcester Lumber company expects to put into operation at its mill here, this fall, a horizontal resaw which, it is believed, will increase the capacity of cutting lumber about 15 or 20 per cent.

L'Anse—In the state tax commission's recent boost of valuations Baraga county also came in for a substantial increase. The local board of review placed the valuation of Baraga county at $3,467,471.45 in 1912, but this year the tax commission boosted the assessment to $7,071,807, an increase of $3,479,086.

Atlantic—Miss Grace Miron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miron, and Gottlieb Haischer, son of Mrs. Mary Haischer, were married at the St. Mary's parsonage. Rev. Father Richter officiating at the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Rose Messner, and the groom by Christ Welter, a brother-in-law of the bride.

Iron River—At the regular meeting of the board of education of the public schools of Iron River, President John E. McGillis was instructed to take steps to secure at as low cost as possible, transportation for the pupils who live along the Crystal Falls road. A petition was received by the board from the residents of that part of the township requesting the transportation.

Crystal Falls—The Northern Timber company, a firm controlled by local capital, which has been quietly buying up timbered land for the past five years, has completed its organization and will start active operations in the near future. William McEachern is secretary-treasurer of the new company and Robert Lyons is president and manager. The concern has established two camps and will employ about 150 men.

Calumet—The X-Ray Debating club, connected with the educational department of the Calumet Y. M. C. A., has elected officers as follows: President, E. B. Switzer; critic, J. V. Chapman; vice president, Henry Hoehner; treasurer, George Fuller; secretary, Arthur Erickson.

Crystal Falls—Alice Linn Campbell, 16 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Campbell of the Hiawatha location, died suddenly Wednesday morning.

Cheap and Easily Made, But Ends a Cough Quickly

How to Make the Very Best Cough Remedy at Home. Fully Guaranteed.

This pint of cough syrup is easily made at home and saves you about $2.00 as compared with ordinary cough remedies. It relieves obstinate coughs—even whooping cough—quickly, and is splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, spasmodic croup and hoarseness.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Tastes good.

This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimulates the appetite, and is slightly laxative—both excellent features.

Pinex, as perhaps you know, is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements.

No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this mixture, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired.

Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy. This plan has often been imitated, but the old successful combination has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

LIVE SPORTING GOSSIP

By BRUCE

A VAST amount of interest has been taken from the college football situation in the West because of the wholly unexpected results of last Saturday. The great army of followers of the greatest of all college games has looked upon the coming clash between Minnesota and Wisconsin as the supreme test of the year. It may develop into that despite the defeat of the Gophers and what practically amounts to a great moral victory of Purdue over Wisconsin; but, nevertheless, the interest is bound to be greatly diminished, for the tone of the struggle has been hurt.

Like the old stuff regarding thunder out of the pale blue and untroubled panoply of heaven, came the defeat of the Gophers. Most of us were borne proudly aloft upon the opinion that the team of this season was of the caliber of the eleven of 1910—and then suddenly came the defeat at the hands of the lowly Cornhuskers—lowly in the comparative sense of speaking.

Likewise the holding of Wisconsin to an even game amounts to almost a defeat. Not since the long ago year of 1894, when brave and gallant Hinckey Harrison was a valiant freshman end, has the Purdue team been considered in the proud light of formidable rivals. But lo and behold, the lowly arise occasionally and it is ever the unexpected that is occurring, and its occurrence only occasions the greater surprise and a prodigious wailing and gnashing of teeth.

Can it be tht Fielding H. Yost is losing his grip? Who knows? Time passes, and with its passing, with the effluxion of the years there are new wrinkles to the game. Maybe with the advance of the years some of the magnetic fire of Yost has been lost. Maybe his mind is more concentrated on his coal interests of West Virginia. Phil King was wise: more sagacious than Theodore Roosevelt, Bill Sulzer, John L. Sullivan or Doc Williams. He quit when the quitting was good, when he was literally and lavishly begged to come back. Always will the memory of the little Napoleon of Western football, if we care to haggle over the title with the followers of Alonzo Stagg, be green and fragrant in the memories of the followers of Wisconsin football.

Yost's last great team was in 1910: that was the season the Yostites defeated the followers of Williams by the score of 6 to 0, and it marked the passing of Benbrook and some of the other lustrous lights of the Wolverine camp.

Alas and alack, to what a low state have we fallen! We perceive with welling orbs the defeat of haughty Michigan by the other branch of the school, the muley cow department, and then we shudder to think of the humiliating of Minnesota by Nebraska. It doesn't in the least seem natural. We will have to call on Brother Ritchie to square the thing. The smaller colfges are getting too all fired impertinent.

Billy Walters a Gent.

BILLY WALTERS is one of the nicest young fellows that you would want to meet. He doesn't look like a fighter. Funny, isn't it—the best actors don't look like actors in the least, and the best fighters, as a rule, don't look like fighters. Dave Warfield, for instance, looks like some little dry goods merchant—off the stage. Jim Corbett looks like an actor—off the stage. Excuse me, James.

Walters is one of the most intelligent boys in the ring. He is married—which shows that he is sensible. You're welcome. He is a kid who reads, who is a gentleman by instinct, which has the gent by proxy of polish beaten several ways from the draw. He is a clean-lived boy, and he is quick to decry the fellow who goes around creating the impression that all boxers are rough-necks, file-necks, or strong-arm gents.

Walters was over here yesterday and the writer has the pleasure of having a long talk with him. In this case the use of the word pleasure is quite genuine and not the least perfunctory. Neatly dressed, sincere, a good listener as well as a good conversationalist, a chap with a multitude of ideas outside of the ring, he is one of the exceptions.

Most boxers are expected to foregather around pool rooms or saloons. It is believed by some that this helps the gate. This is one of the customs the little boxer confided he seriously objected to following. The best boys re drifting away from that customary proceeding. Walters is one of the kind of boys you instinctively like to see succeed. The Chicago boy is but 22 years of age.

A Letter From Klank.

LARGE Emil Klank, the manager of Freddy Beell, wrote yesterday that Freddy is nearing the stage of training where he is beginning to show the result of his training. In the same mail came a letter from old Mike Yokel. Among other things the Salt Lake City boy stated that it was believed that the house that will gather to witness the match between Jordon and Yokel will reach $10,000.

Yokel is doing a lot of road work for the Jordon meeting. He says he is alredy in good shape. In the same sentence Mike declares that he is going against one of the toughest boys in the whole world. One of the characteristics of this Yokel, one of the things that has made him a favorite with people everywhere he has wrestled, is the fact that he is always ready to praise the man he is going to meet or the man he has met, which is more than some of the others do.

FREDDIE WELSH WINS ON A FOUL

Young Saylor Knocks Him Out By Striking Low.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 21.—Freddie Welsh, claimant to the English lightweight championship, was awarded the decision over Young Saylor of Indianapolis, in the ninth round of their scheduled 12-round bout last night, after he had been knocked out by the American fighter by a blow which the referee declared foul.

Saylor was warned at the opening of the ninth round against hitting low, but continued his tactics and finally sent the Britisher to the floor of the ring by a stiff blow which landed in the groin.

Up to the ninth round Welsh outboxed his opponent and his clever ring generalship kept the Indianapolis boy guessing. The latter, however, showed flashes of clever work with the gloves, but blows which might have caused damage, went wide of their mark. Welsh brought blood to the nose and mouth of his opponent during the early rounds and at times appeared to strike him almost at will.

When the ninth round drew near an end the two fighters mixed. Suddenly Welsh groaned and sank to the floor after receiving a blow that looked low from the ringside. After a heated discussion, during which both sides claimed the match. Referee Foley stated that the blow was foul and gave Welsh the decision. The club doctor, after examining Welsh, claimed that he had been hit in the groin.

Supporters of "Young" Saylor of Indianapolis, are dissatisfied with Referee Foley's decision last night and claim that a clean blow knocked out Freddie Welsh, the English fighter. Before the referee gave the Britisher the decision on a foul, a heated discussion took place with both sides claiming the match.

Outpoints Rough House Burns.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 21.—Frank Barieu, Canada's aspirant to lightweight championship honors, easily outpointed "Rough House" Charley Burns of Chicago in a 12-round bout here yesterday.

VIRGINIA WAS BEATEN BY EVELETH TEAM.

A letter from Eveleth says: In regard to the statement The Duluth Herald made in stating that the Virginia high school football team was the champion team of the range, I take pleasure in stating you are wrong. Eveleth high school football team won from Gilbert, Ely, Virginia, and Hibbing by one-sided scores, and stands undefeated to date. The statement greatly wrongs the Eveleth high school and sincerely hope you will print the right dope as to which team has the right to claim the championship of the Mesaba range.

GIANTS WIN ANOTHER IN WORLD TOUR SERIES.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—The New York Giants defeated the Chicago White Sox in the third game of their world's tour yesterday 6 to 4. Snow fell during the game.

Governor Dunne, escorted to the mound by Manager McGraw of the Giants, and Owner Comiskey of the White Sox, pitched the first ball. The Sox got an early lead but were unable to retain it.

Chicago Alone Can Win a Clear Title to Supremacy.

By BRUCE.

Someone must be wrong; this dope about the university meeting North Dakota is at variance with the schedule of the Gophers. Iowa is to be the next foe of the Minnesota team, according to the printed schedule of the team—not North Dakota.

Another thing, this dope about Dr. "H. R." Williams—it used to be Dr. H. L. Williams—being worried about the Chicago game sounds rather peculiar when the game with the University of Wisconsin comes two weeks ahead of the contest with the University of Chicago.

In the contest with Iowa there will be the first opportunity to get some line on the relative strength of the Chicago and Minnesota teams. Last Saturday Papa Stagg's bunch gave the meek and lowly Iowans a sound trouncing, and it is said that there is hope that the Maroons will be the conference champions of the West.

On the afternoon Minnesota and Wisconsin are fighting it out to keep the remnants of their football honor from being entirely swept away. Chicago and the University of Illinois will be fighting it out at the new and more majestic stadium of the Rockefeller institute.

This game will clear away some of the complications of the football situation in the West—but not all of 'em.

You see when this admirable schedule was arranged it was not in the least anticipated that Nebraska would defeat Minnesota and that moribund Purdue would hold doughty Wisconsin to a tie.

Now it is decidedly different. Minnesota is a defeated team and Wisconsin has been smudged on her proud escutcheon.

As was stated, we play Chicago on Nov. 15. On the following Saturday Minnesota meets Illinois at Urbana and Chicago and Wisconsin fight it out. Now in the event of Minnesota having defeated Nebraska and Wisconsin having trounced the Lafayette bunch, the teams would enter the finals of the Western championship—pardon us, the conference championship—with clean whistles and all the crowd doping out the final games.

But no matter what the result may be of the meeting of Minnesota and Wisconsin, Minnesota and Chicago and Minnesota and Illinois, or similarly the meetings between Wisconsin and Chicago, or Chicago and Illinois, there will the smudge of the Nebraska incident and the claims of Purdue, in the event of Wisconsin beating the bunch in the remainder of the games.

It Is the Voice of the Weak.

Some years ago, in 1909 to be exact, the University of Notre Dame unexpectedly and quite rudely, to be sure, defeated the great team of the University of Michigan. The rampant cry of professionalism was raised to the four winds of heaven. The pale blue panoply of heaven must have echoed with the shout of protest. But nevertheless the victory stood.

Later, as you must remember, Michigan came to Minneapolis with the flare of indignant trumphets and somewhat atoned for the beating at the hands of Notre Dame by defeating the Minnesota team.

It is quite needless to state here that the cry of supremacy that emanated from those thoroughly Irish throats of South Bend, Ind., was not crushed, quashed or stilled by the several indignant meetings that were held in some of the more select college circles.

Therefore this consolation cry that Minnesota is not out of the conference running is puerile and quite in constant keeping with the twaddle that has animated that childish and rather pathetic humoristic society of college professors and antediluvian athletic instructors.

A Win Is a Win! Quite So.

No matter whether Nebraska is in the conference or not, the fact stands, a firm geographical one, that Nebraska is in the West, as William Jennings Bryan has firmly and quite thoroughly established. Nebraska defeated Minnesota—what's the use of rubbing it in—and the victory will stand, and in the case of Minnesota pulling out in the remaining game of the struggle, this fact will only emphasize the belief that the conference teams are lamentably weak. The victory can't be hushed up or explained away, despite the somewhat frantic efforts of some of the downy-lipped correspondents.

Chicago can win undisputed possession of the championship of the West by the defeat of Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin. This is quite a prodigious task to set before Alonzo Stagg, and yet the little Napoleon of Western football, as he is lovingly called in the precincts of the hallowed midway, has been beset with formidable undertaking in the past, and has got away with the job. There was the winning of the Western championship in the post-season game of 1899. But that, as Kipling would say, is another story.

In the event of Chicago winning all of the games, people—those who pay to get into the games—would be amply justified in stating that Chicago had the best team in the West. It is a peculiar but nevertheless a trite and true fact that the little teams strike their gait faster than the larger teams; or perhaps it would be better to state that the larger teams develop faster at the close of the season. The extra coaches gather and more pressure is brought to bear than the little teams can muster. It is quite logical to suppose that Minnesota and Wisconsin will be stronger later in the season than was the case last Saturday. Therefore, should Chicago come through clean and an alibi be needed for the championship stuff, in rigid refutation of the claims of Nebraska, it could be stated that it would have proved impossible for the Cornhuskers to have defeated either Minnesota or Wisconson when Chicago accomplished the trick—if Chicago does.

But, nevertheless, the fact remains, immutable as the hills, cold and stern, refusing to smile in the least—Nebraska defeated Minnesota.

SPEARS PROVES EASY VICTOR

George Spears last evening defeated Ben Ounist of this city in an exhibition of billiards by the score of 200 to 7. The average run of the Minneapolis crack was 40, while his opponent attained but a fraction over 1.

Following the game the visitor gave an exhibition of fancy billiard shots, finger billiards and a lecture on how to play the game.

There will be an exhibtion this afternoon and tonight. Mr. Spears will take on the best player on hand at balk line. There will also be an exhibition of pool shots.

COACHES MUST BUILD ENTIRE BACK FIELD.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The Northwestern university football squad resumed practice yesterday with the coaches facing the task of rebuilding the entire backfield. Gruhn and Patterson probably will be out of the game the rest of the season. Gruhn, who played fullback, had the ligaments of one shoulder torn in the game with Illinois Saturday. Patterson, who played halfback, sprained his ankle in the game.

Cruse probably will be taken from tackle and tried at fullback. Grasett and Whiting will be tried at halves.

MARINES WILL PLAY ADAMS TEAM FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Crack Minneapolis Eleven to Battle Locals for Northwestern Independent Title.

Manager John Geistman of the Adams football team announced yesterday that the famous Marines of Minneapolis would be the opponents of the Adams team for next Sunday. The game will be played at Athletic park and will reach the high-water interest mark of the season and will probably also determine definitely the independent championship of the Northwest for the present season.

While it is true that comparisons are often futile when it comes to football, it might be stated that, judging of the strength of the Marines and Adams from the showing the two teams made against the Kents of St. Paul, the Minneapolis team shows undoubtedly greater strength than the Duluth aggregation.

Last Sunday at Minneapolis the Marines simply walked away with their St. Paul rivals, winning the contest by the score of 56 to 0.

Some Crack Players.

On the Marines are some of the crack players of independent fame. Ursella at quarter back is one of the best known of all the independent stars of the Twin Cities. For a number of years this boy has been ranked as about the best of all the backs in either of the two cities. His kicking is liable to cause some of the members of the Adams team a lot of trouble. In the matter of kicking, Ursella is pretty certain to outclass anything the three A team can muster.

Wegfors at center and Redeen at left end are two of the other stars of the team. Labe Safro, a Minneapolis boxer, is playing at left half. Palmer at left tackle is considered the best lineman in the Twin Cities, and the duel between this chap and Art Buchanan will no doubt prove one of the interesting spectacles of the contest.

Buland at the other tackle is also highly touted by the followers of independent football in the Mill City town.

The Marines should prove the class of all the teams that have appeared here during the present season. Virginia, one might say, is the only team that has been able to prove in any way a formidable rival for the Duluth team. If the Marines are as good as some of the followers of football of the Twin Cities believe, it will be necessary for the Adams to play better football than they have shown during the present season to win.

Jack Doyle, boxer and baseball player, who was in left field for the Minneapolis team of the Northern league last season, is another of the stars of the Minneapolis pigskin chasers. With Doyle and Safro in the lineup of the visiting aggregation, it might be stated that the Bradley boys may find some keen competition.

In the event of the Adams defeating the Marines, it will generally be admitted that the Duluth team is worthy of the championship of 1913. The Minneapolis team is just as anxious to cop the cup, and the contest will be one hard fought from whistle to whistle.

BRAINERD GIVES BUSH ONE GRAND RECEPTION

Brainerd, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The hero of the world's series came into his own yesterday. Brainerd acclaimed with strident thousand-voiced welcome the youngster who made baseball history in the recent world's series and made the name of Brainerd known across the continent.

At shortly after 1 o'clock there was an expectant mob lined up at the Great Northern depot. One unfamiliar with the situation might have thought that the president was coming through on a special. But it was nothing like that. Joe "Bullet" Bush, one of the greatest young pitchers in the world, a lad who learned at least the rudiments of his skill on the lots of Brainerd, was coming back to the old town, after being acclaimed by the world as one of the greatest twirlers of all time, after decisively beating the New York Giants when all the world was pitying Connie Mack for possessing a pitching staff so inadequately unable to meet the strain of the situation.

"It's good to see you all," cried the youngster as the crowd surged forward and literally grabbed the famous pitcher from the coach. Aloft on the shoulders of the surging and swaying mob, young Joe was triumphantly borne. Those nearest shouted and those further away pressed in eagerly, making a maelstrom of humanity.

Brainerd Is All Het Up.

Brainerd sure was excited. It was snowing and it was cold, but this fact served not one whit to put a damper on the occasion. The people of Brainerd had waited since the close of the world's series to welcome the boy who pitched his first game on the corner lots of the town, and a real blizzard or a hail storm would not in the least have deterred the proceedings.

"I'm glad to be home. You make me feel that it is good to call this my home, and you make me glad of the fact that I was born here. I always thought that Brainerd was a pretty good place to live in, but after what you people have shown me I am convinced of it," said Joe after he was given time to recover from the strenuous reception.

Last evening the kid pitcher was given one of the greatest and most impressive banquets in the history of the city. The banquet was the windup to the reception that will go down in the history of Brainerd as one of the great days.

Bush was met in St. Paul by his father and brother on Sunday. A huge reception committee had general charge of the arrangements. It is believed that the reception to the victorious pitcher was one of the most remarkable ever given to a baseball player in the history of the great national pastime.

Pennsy's Coaches Dislike Work of Line in Brown Game.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—Despite the overwhelming victory over Brown on Saturday, the University of Pennsylvania football coaches were not pleased with the work of the linemen and yesterday sent the players through a half hour of hard drill in defensive work against the scrubs.

The team came out of the Brown game in good condition. The coaches expect to spend the next few days in strengthening the defense for Carlisle next Saturday.

STOVALL WILL MANAGE FEDERAL KAWS TEAM.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 21.—George Stovall, former manager of the St. Louis American baseball club has come to terms with directors of the Kansas City club of the Federal league to manage the local team next season.

It is understood Stovall's three-year contract calls for a salary of $7,000 a year and a substantial bonus for signing.

NORTH DAKOTA "U" TEAM IMPROVING.

Grand Forks, N. D., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakato university football team yesterday afternoon began preparations for its game next Saturday with Minnesota at Northrop field. Light practice will be the rule this afternoon, giving the men an opportunity to take out a few of the kinks received in the Carleton game Saturday.

The Flickertails have never been in condition this season to show just what they are capable of, and they may prove a more worthy foe for the Gophers next Saturday than might be supposed in looking over the scores to date.

Burdened with a schedule that gave the men an extremely hard week, the team being pitted against three college elevens in eight days, North Dakota begins its practice for Minnesota in a badly crippled condition. Several of the best men, however, were not used in Saturday's game against Carleton, the purpose being to keep them in shape for the Gopher contest.

In eight days the North Dakota team played Hamline and St. Thomas in this city, and then followed with a trip to Northfield, Minn., and a game with Carleton. The Flickertails went into the game at Northfield after an allnight ride on the cars, as well as spending half of the morning en route. The hardships of traveling, when the men were still hardly over the effects of their game Wednesday, left them without pep and Carleton had an easy time.

Coach Wells, who has taken charge of the team, will be in control of the work this week. Since the beginning of the season three coaches have been used—Wells, Grogan and Archer. Friction between the faculty and the student athletic board resulted in more or less difficulty in the handling of coaches, and the result was bad early season practice. Grogan, who has been with the team since the beginning of practice, has ended his work Saturday.

The North Dakota men passed through the Carlton game without additional injuries, and Coach Wells is confident that the greatest strength of the team will be in condition for the Minnesota game despite the handicap of a badly arranged schedule.

Boston Buys Pitcher.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 21.—Announcement of the purchase by the Boston National league club of Pitcher Beck from the Philadelphia Nationals, was made yesterday. Beck was drafted by Philadelphia from Nashville.

Tigers Given Rest.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 21.—Coaches gave the Princeton football players a comparative rest yesterday, sending them through a light signal drill. The team came through the game with Syracuse Saturday in good condition. Practice today will be secret.

Griffith Gets Decision.

Youngstown, Ohio, Oct. 21.—Johnny Griffith won a decision over Tommy Bresnahan of Omaha in a 12-round bout here last night. They are lightweights.

CHEERY FRIEND SAVES GIRL FROM SUICIDE

Former Nurse of Lepers Is Ostracised By Society.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Miss Mary Collier, who disappeared Friday, leaving a note saying that she had been ostracised by society because she formerly was a nurse in a leper colony, has returned.

She asserted that the unfounded reports that she was suffering from leprosy, causing her friends to forsake her, had so discouraged her that she had determined to shoot herself. She said that Miss A. Benjamin of Milwaukee, an acquaintance, had persuaded her not to end her life.

"I became so dispirited Friday that I concluded there was no use living any longer," said Miss Collier. "As I was tearing up some old letters I came across one from Miss Benjamin. It brightened me up, and I now intend to go back to the lepers. I am an outcast of society. A number of doctors have made examinations and reported that I am free from leprosy, but my friends refuse to believe it. If I go to any reception, the crowd near me dwindles until I find myself standing alone.

"I have taken an inventory of my life and I can see no ray of hope. I sent letters today to a number of leper colonies in the United States asking for a position as a nurse."

Miss Collier spent several months at a leper colony near Tracadie, N. B. She was forced to leave because the climate was damaging her health.

SERVIA ORDERS HER MEN FROM ALBANIA.

Belgrade, Servia, Oct. 21.—The Servian government has notified the European powers that it has ordered its troops to withdraw immediately behind the Albanian frontier fixed by the peace conference held in London at the conclusion of the first Balkan war. This step complies with Austria's ultimatum.

CLOSE MARGIN FOR CHARTER

One Vote Will Decide Fate of Eveleth's New Constitution.

Man Casts Ballot in Wrong Precinct and Is Point at Issue.

Hibbing, Minn., Oct. 21.—Upon the acceptance or rejection of Pasqualia Piccannio's vote, hangs the fate of the Eveleth charter. If Judge Hughes of the district court who is considering the case, decides that the vote shall be counted the charter will have carried by one-tenth of a vote; if it is thrown out the charter will have lost by three-sevenths of a vote.

In the arguments of attorneys before Judge Hughes here today it was contended by those opposing the charter that the disputed vote should not be allowed because Piccannio had cast his ballot in the wrong precinct. The other side admitted this but declared that it was merely a mistake and that no fraud had been or could be shown. They pointed out that Piccannio had always voted at the fire hall and that when the voting precincts were changed he did not know that he was to cast his ballot elsewhere.

The court has taken the case under advisement but is expected to render a decision tomorrow.

GUN VICTIM BURIED AT GRAND RAPIDS

Young William Giethbrock Instantly Killed While on Hunting Trip.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of William Giethbrock, 16 years old, who was accidentally shot and killed while hunting, Saturday, at his home near Ball Club, was brought here yesterday, and the funeral was held here from St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church this morning.

Young Giethbrock, in company with a younger brother, started out hunting Saturday morning, and when they neared Dodson's lake, in the Vermilion district, the boy stepped up onto a log, to look out over the lake It is supposed that the gun, which was a 10-gauge, double barrel, in some manner slipped off the log, for the load of buckshot passed through his heart and lungs and death was instantaneous. The younger boy, frightened by the report, ran home, but it was more than four hours before the body could be reached and brought in. The father, who was working in the village of Ball Club was summoned, but although he ran most of the way, after getting the message, he failed to reach home until nearly 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Both the father and mother of the boy are prostrated with grief. He leaves beside his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Giethbrock, five brothers and three sisters.

ITASCA TAXPAYERS ARE GIVEN A JOLT

State Commission Makes Heavy Increases on Personal Assessments.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The county auditor's office has received the increased valuation list for personal property tax in Itasca county for use next year, the list having been compiled by the Minnesota state tax commissioners.

Increases are due in nearly half the classes, particularly in live stock. The increases named are as follows: Horses, under 1 year, 30 per cent; stallions and fine brood mares, 15 per cent; horses, 1 year, 25 per cent; cattle, 1 year, 66 2-3 per cent; cows, 20 per cent; sheep, 50 per cent; hogs, 33 1-3 per cent; farm tools, 10 per cent; wagons and carriages, 12½ per cent; autoes, 12½ per cent; pianos, 5 per cent; household goods, 20 per cent; stock of retail merchants, 30 per cent; logs, poles, posts and ties, 10 per cent; lumber, lathes and shingles, 10 per cent; manufacturers' tools and implements, 25 per cent; stock and furnishings of sample rooms and saloons, 20 per cent; stock and furnishings of restaurants, 33 1-3 per cent.

BORROWED COAT LEADS TO MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Man Killed By Trolley Car Near Buhl Was Mike Belto.

Chisholm, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of the man found on the range trolley car tracks near Buhl Sunday has been identified as Mike Belto, and was not Marco Marzurga, as first believed. Marzurga himself appeared in town this morning and the mistake in identity was explained when it was learned that Belto had borrowed his coat.

Belto was about 30 years old and leaves a family in Montenegro. He was known as considerable of a "rounder" and the theory is that he had been drinking heavily and laid down on the track to sleep. He was employed at the Shenango mine.

RANGE MOTORISTS TO PLAN ANOTHER RACE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Banks of Hibbing, who recently won the forty-mile endurance race between Grand Rapids and Hibbing, has accepted the challenge made by Will Messner, one of the defeated contestants, and it has been announced that a second race will be run off within the next few days.

The exact date has not, as yet, been settled upon, but Mr. Banks made the statement while in town a few days ago, that there was no question but that it would take place. He is confident of his ability to win a second time, and is as anxious as is Mr. Messner to make a second run.

NEW APPOINTMENT PLEASES VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The appointment of J. H. Fleming as postmaster of Virginia, which was announced in The Herald yesterday, is received with general satisfaction among the Democrats of the city. John W. Murphy, who had also been prominently mentioned for the place, expressed himself as well satisfied at the outcome.

Mr. Fleming is well known on the range, having first come to Virginia in 1893. After a short residence here he moved to Biwabik, where he remained for seven years, returning to this city in 1900. During his residence in this city he has been prominent in public affairs and has served as a member of the school board. At the present time he is superintendent of Virginia's parks. Mr. Fleming will assume his new duties as soon as his commission reaches here from Washington.

PIKE RIVER TO HAVE GRIST MILL.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers of the Pike River district are going to have a grist mill in the very near future. They have formed an association and each farmer is subscribing for the stock in amounts ranging from $5 to $10 for the purchase of the machinery. The mill will be built on the Ole Jacobson farm, which is about fifteen miles north of here on the Tower-Virginia road. Mr. Jacobson has operated a saw mill there for some time past and he will use the boiler which furnished the power for the mill to operate the flour mill. The farmers of the district are very enthusiastic over the enterprise. They raise a considerable amount of grain in that section, but have been handicapped owing to there being no mill in that vicinity where they could have their products turned into flour or feed. About 200 farms will be regular patrons of the mill.

ANCIENT DRAMA IS CLUB TOPIC.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to the Herald.)—The Virginia Study club met yesterday afternoon in the library building, the meeting being the second of the fall and winter series, which this season is being devoted to a study of the drama, ancient and modern. The program was as follows:

Roll call, Ancient proverbs; ancient drama, Greek drama and comparison of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides, Miss Mabel Newhard; Influence of Greek drama on modern, reading from, "The Servant in the House," Mrs. C. M. Dorway; Hindu drama, readings from Sakuntala, Mrs. J. H. Crowe.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Nov. 3.

Virginia Couple Engaged.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to the Herald.)—The engagement of Miss Lorna May Bates to Frederick David Walker was announced this afternoon at a very prettily appointed luncheon given by Mrs. C. W. Miller. The date of the wedding has not yet been set.

Farmer's Child Dies.

Cohasset, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Agnes Amelia Koplay, aged 10 years, died Sunday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Koplay, on Vermilion brook, southwest of this village, after a short illness. The funeral was held from St. Augustine's Catholic church here, this morning, with burial in the new Catholic cemetery.

GIRLS TAKEN FROM DISSOLUTE INDIANS

Parents and Grandparents Found Drunk in Pelican Rapids Home.

Orr, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Goodsky's two daughters, Effie and Maggie, were taken from their parents yesterday for delinquency, by order of Judge Martin Hughes, and placed in the Vermilion Lake Indian school.

Complaints have been made on many occasions that the Goodskys were drunk and leading disorderly lives of the worst sort. On July 30 last, Government Supervisor L. T. Michaels, Supt. Albert B. Reagan of the Nett Lake agency, Deputy Sheriff James Green and J. Paul visited Pelican Point and found all the Goodskys drunk—the father, mother, grandfather and grandmother and several friends that were on the place. Twenty-nine whisky bottle were found in the house, and nineteen whisky half-gallon jugs were covered up near by. The place was unfit for a family of girls to be reared in.

This makes eleven cases that Supt. Reagan has prosecuted within the year and the cause of all the cases was whisky.

Supt. Reagan is here today, starting on his annual pay trip. He will pay Indians as follows: Oct. 20 to 24, at Kettle Falls and Moose River; Oct. 27, Tower; Oct. 28, Winton and Ely; Oct. 29, Duluth and Superior, Wis.; Oct. 30, Brookston, Minn.; Nov. 3, Nett Lake. The payment this year will be $18 per capita and 644 Bois Fort Indians will be paid.

Chief Moses Day visited Washington last spring and on his return promised the Indians they would get an immediate payment of $150 per capita. There will now be much weeping and gnashing of teeth, and another trip to Washington.

Six inches of snow fell here this morning and a northwester is still continuing. It is a hard blow to the hunters as cold weather was not expected for two weeks. A heavy flight of ducks was on all the lakes, especially Nett lake, and every northbound train on the Canadian Northern is loaded down with hunters. It is hoped the weather will moderate.

Special trachoma doctor, Polk Richards, of Lac du Flambo is filling the vacancy of physician at Nett Lake, pending the filling the postion by regular appointment.

L. C. Paul of Superior, Wis., arrived here Thursday.

VIRGINIA GARAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Virginia, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hom Shannon's garage was destroyed by fire here last night and two automobiles were also burned. The loss will approximate $5,000. Shannon asserts that the fire was of incendiary origin. He recently came here from Hibbing.

Deer River Man Dies.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Harland, aged 25, died Saturday at St. Benedict's hospital here, after a brief illness. Young Harland, who made his home in Deer River, came to the hospital a few days ago for treatment, but nothing could be done for him. He leaves a sister in Ladysmith, Wis., but the authorities had been unable to locate her. The body is at the Kremer morgue, awaiting the arrival of relatives.

Bovey Couple Marry.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Oct. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The marriage is announced of J. C. Hamling and Miss Vina Yell, both of Bovey. The marriage was solemnized here on Oct. 4, by Justice Charles Kearney, but the marriage was kept a secret until the returns were made to the clerk of courts.

ARRANGE FOR NORWAY EXHIBIT

Governor Eberhart Names Committee to Make the Necessary Plans.

Pursuant to the arrangements to have a Minnesota exhibit at the centennial of Norwegian independence at Christiania, May 17, 1914, Governor A. O. Eberhart has appointed an executive committee to raise money and make other arrangements. The committee follows:

J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner, chairman.

T. Guldbransen, publisher Minneapolis Tidende.

Dr. H. G. Stub, St. Paul, president Norwegian Lutheran synod.

BRYAN SAYS BIBLE IS PEOPLE'S NEED.

Washington, Oct. 21.—"There was never a time when the people needed the inspiration of the Bible more than they do at present," said Secretary Bryan last night in addressing the delegates to the Women's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, in session here.

"And" the secretary added, "there is not a community which cannot be purified, redeemed and improved by a better knowledge and larger application of the Bible to the daily life."

Mr. Bryan strongly advocated higher education of the young men and women of the country.

Makes Unsightly Hairs Quickly Disappear

(Beauty Culture)

A smooth, hairless skin is possible for every woman if she uses a delatone paste to remove the ugly hairs. This simple treatment quickly banishes all hair or fuzz and leaves the skin firm and spotless. The paste, made by mixing water with powdered delatone, is applied to the skin for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to see that you get delatone in an original package. Adv.

MURDER BY MAIL CLAIMED IN LETTER

F. M. Steele of Chicago Receives Threatening Communication.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—A letter, the contents of which may reveal a new and deadly method of extortion or may prove only a hoax, is being investigated by postal inspectors and police. The epistle was received at the home of Frederick M. Steele, a millionaire manufacturer, in Highland Park. The letter, the sender wrote, was filled with deadly germs from which the handler could not avoid contracting a deadly disease for which only the sender knew the cure.

"It is already too late for you to escape innoculation," the letter continued.

Mr. Steele said the writer demanded that $1,500 be placed at the foot of the Logan monument in Grant Park and that the cure would be mailed.

A physician will make daily examination of Mr. Steele for several days.

THREE FRENCH ARMY AVIATORS ARE KILLED.

Epinal, France, Oct. 21.—Lieut. Garnier and Sapper Jenrot, of the Epinal military aeroplane depot, were returning from Buc when the engine of their monoplane stopped suddenly. The machine capsized and the aviators, falling 800 feet, were killed.

About the same time Corporal Aviator Dautroche, of the same depot, met with an almost similar accident. The engine of his machine became detached and the biplane turned over and fell into the river Moselle. Dautroche was drowned.

BULL MOOSER BAD THIRD FOR JUDGE.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 12.—In the most fiercely contested judicial election in the history of Illinois, Charles C. Craig of Galesburg was elected to the supreme bench to succeed Judge J. P. Hand, by a majority of 3,640 over Judge Leslie D. Puterbaugh, Republican, of Peoria. Arthur H. Shay, the Progressive candidate, ran nearly 5,000 votes behind the Republican.

NEGAUNEE'S NEW MINE IS ACTIVE.

Negaunee, Mich., Oct. 21.—The erection of two large steel pulley towers at the new Athens property owned by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and the Breitung Interests has been completed and the building of the shaft house will be started this week, as the remainder of the structural steel will arrive within a few days. The work is being done by the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron company. The concreting of the shaft from the ledge at a depth of approximately fifty feet is nearing completion and the sinking of the shaft will continue as soon as this is finished.

The concrete foundations for the steel work of the shaft house are now in position and its erection is to start shortly. The crew of the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron company will be employed here for at least two months, as the building of the shaft house, which is to be slightly larger than that of the Negaunee mine, will be an extensive piece of work.

The concrete foundation for the engine house on the rock bluff nearby, is finished and the erection of the building will commence within a short time.

From fifty to sixty men are now employed at the Isabella property of the Cascade Mining company at Palmer. The erection of the mine buildings is to start shortly. Men have been busy the past week excavating for the foundations of the buildings. The shaft is now down a distance of 450 feet. Capt. Nichols of Palmer, is in charge of the work.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FORECAST TILL 7 P. M. WEDNESDAY

For Duluth, Superior and vicinity, including the Mesaba and Vermilion iron ranges: Cloudy and warmer tonight and Wednesday with light rain or snow flurries; lowest temperature tonight about 20 deg. at Duluth-Superior and close to 15 deg. on the iron ranges; moderate variable winds.

EXPLANATORY NOTES.

Observations taken at 8 a. m., seventy-fifth meridian time. Air pressure reduced to sea level. Isobars (continuous lines) pass through points of equal air pressure. Isotherms (dotted lines) pass through points of equal temperature; drawn only for zero, freezing, 90°, and 100°. ○ clear; ◒ partly cloudy; ● cloudy; R rain; S snow; M report missing. Arrows fly with the wind. First figures, temperature; second, precipitation of .01 inch or more for past 24 hours; third, maximum wind velocity.

The chill is still in the air hereabouts and the cloudy condition promised by the weather man yesterday made good although the warmer part of it did not. So far as prescribed conditions for tonight and tomorrow are concerned, rain or snow are on the card; but it is said that the weather will be warmer tonight somewhere in the state, and in this section tomorrow.

A year ago today the weather was fair.

This morning the sun rose at 6:35 and will set this afternoon at 5:11 o'clock. The length of sunshine hours will therefore be ten hours and thirty-six minutes, three minutes less than yesterday.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance overlying the St. Lawrence valley caused further rain or snow in the lake region. Ohio valley, North Atlantic states and Eastern Canada during the last twenty-four hours. A west gale is blowing on Lake Erie. Abnormally low temperature prevails throughout the middle states and the Northwest, freezing weather being the rule southward to including Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Northwestern Ohio. The depression centered over Eastern and Southwestern states."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Minnesota—Unsettled weather tonight and Wednesday; probably rain or snow; warmer tonight and in east portion Wednesday.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Wednesday; slowly rising temperature Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Fair tonight with warmer in west portion; Wednesday probably unsettled and warmer.

Iowa—Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight; Wednesday unsettled and warmer.

North Dakota and South Dakota—Unsettled tonight and Wednesday; probably rain or snow; warmer in east and central portions tonight; colder in west portion Wednesday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; colder tonight.

DUKE FACES CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 21.—Lawrence Duke, son of Brodie Duke, the millionaire tobacco manufacturer, was formally charged with manslaughter today as the result of an accident to an automobile driven by him which struck and killed Henry N. Farr and Thomas G. Simmons last week.

It is alleged that Duke was "drunk and intoxicated and unfit to drive and operate the automobile," and that he drove on the left hand side of the road and at an unlawful rate of speed.

Duke will be arraigned Wednesday.

BIRD PROTECTION RULES IN EFFECT.

Washington, Oct. 21.—In view of a misunderstanding as to whether or not the new federal regulations for the protection of migratory and insectivorous birds are now in effect, the department of agriculture states that these regulations have been in effect since Oct. 1, 1913, when they were signed by the president.

TWO KILLED BY ELECTRIC WIRES.

Malden, Mass., Oct. 21.—Samuel Peters of Providence was killed and John L. Hurley, a former Bowdoin college football captain, will probably lose an arm as a result of contact with a live wire last night.

Another death from a live wire was reported, that of Ralph Boutilier, aged 17. Boutilier, noticing a blaze in a pile of leaves in front of his house, kicked the debris aside, struck the end of a fallen wire, and was knocked to the ground. He was hurried to a hospital, where all efforts to revive him failed.

GESSLER HEAD OF ISLAND PRINTING.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Edward E. Gessler, craftsman instructor in the public printing office of the Philippines, has been appointed to serve temporarily as director of printing, to succeed John S. Leech, who resigned at the request of Governor General Harrison. James Hoggsette, assistant director, also has been removed.

Leech and Hoggsette ignored Governor General Harrison in sending to President Wilson and to the president of the typographical union in the United States a protest against an alleged contemplated salary cut. Officials here say no such cut was contemplated.

DENOUNCES RACE SEGREGATION.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 21.—Segregation and other alleged discriminations against the negroes were denounced by Oswald Garrison Villard, president of the New York Evening Post, and other speakers at a mass meeting yesterday under the auspices of the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Negroes.

Mr. Villard characterized the race segregation ordinance recently enacted in this city as "contrary to the Constitution of the United States."

The speaker also opposed the proposal of the plan of segregation in certain departments of the government at Washington.

ACCEPT ALTMAN ART COLLECTION.

New York, Oct. 21.—The trustees of the Metropolitan museum of art have accepted the collection of paintings and works of art bequeathed to it by the will of Benjamin Altman, the late department store proprietor. Mr. Altman's art possessions, estimated to be more than $15,000,000, formed one of the most important private collections in the world. The trustees elected Robert W. Deforest president of the museum. Mr. Deforest succeeded to that office upon the death of J. Pierpont Morgan.

SMELL OF CIGAR LED TO KILLING.

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 21.—The odor of a cigar offensive to John Kraft, resulted in the death of Herman Muhsfelt, and Kraft is on trial for his life here. Muhsfelt died from a blow received in a fight with Kraft, started by Kraft's objection to the odor of Muhsfelt's cigar. Kraft was indicted for murder.

RUSSELL WILL CASE FINDING REPORTED.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 21.—The finding in the second trial of the Russell will case, in which a claimant from North Dakota, representing himself as Daniel Blake Russell, seeks a share in the $500,000 estate of his alleged father, the late Daniel Russell of Melrose, was reported to counsel yesterday by Gilbert A. A. Pevey, the master who conducted the hearing. The finding will not be made public until the text of the decision is filed in court next week.

The first trial resulted in a decision against the claimant, after more than seven months had been consumed in presenting evidence.

OVER 40,000 ARE AFTER HOMESTEADS.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 21.—When the registration booths were opened yesterday, more than 1,000 home-seekers were waiting to register for lands in the North Platte forest reserve, and for the Niobrara military reservation. Between midnight and 4 a. m. 1,003 were registered. The total registered at North Platte was 18,326, of which 3,331 registered yesterday.

Booths will remain open day and night until next Saturday midnight, when registration will end. The drawing will take place here three days later.

Registration at Broken Bow yesterday exceeded 3,000. More than 40,000 have registered at all points thus far.

BOY IS FINED FOR HAVING WIRELESS.

New York, Oct. 21.—Elmer B. Myers, a Brooklyn youth who set up a wireless plant on the roof of his home without first securing a Federal license to do so, was fined $50 by United States Judge Mayer yesterday for violation of the radio act passed last June by congress. He is said to be the first defendant under this law. His machine, according to the complaint, was tuned in pitch with the big government stations along the Atlantic coast, and several of his messages were intercepted, leading to discovery of his plant.

The law forbids unlicensed operators picking up messages sent ashore from ships or from one state to another.

AGED FRENCHMEN PROPOSE A DUEL.

Paris, Oct. 21.—A challenge to a duel has been sent by one French septuagenarian warrior, Gen. Bosc, aged 72, to another still older, Gen. George Florentin, aged 77, grand chancellor of the Legion of Honor. The quarrel originated in legal proceedings started by Gen. Florentin to prevent the members of the Society of National Merit, founded by Gen. Bosc, from wearing a button among its insignia, and thus infringing the privilege of members of the Legion of Honor.

The seconds of the two aged officers met to deliberate as to whether a combat would be necessary.

TEAMSTER ARRESTED

H. J. Campbell Charged With Horse Stealing By Patrick O'Hara.

H. J. Campbell, who formerly resided at 511 North Central avenue, faces a possible term of five years in the penitentiary for horse stealing. He is alleged to have stolen a horse belonging to Patrick O'Hara, 3821 Magellan street and to have sold the animal to a man in Carlton for $125.

Campbell was arrested yesterday afternoon by Lieut. Charles Wilcox of the West Duluth police station following an investigation made by the police. The horse was missed Saturday morning by O'Hara and suspicion rested on Campbell, who had suddenly become "flush" with money.

Campbell is said to have borrowed 20 cents on Friday evening and to have purchased oats for this amount. It is claimed that he then went to the pasture where the horse was grazing and with the aid of the oats as bait, caught the animal. Taking him to Carlton that night he disposed of it in Carlton for $125, is the claim.

On Saturday he paid up his back rent at the Central avenue place and moved to 422 Second avenue east. It was at this place that the police found him. Campbell is 54 years old and has a wife and seven children. He is a teamster.

O'Hara, whose horse was taken has been laid up for some time owing to a street car accident which occurred near the ore docks. Since the accident the horse had been allowed to roam in the pasture near the O'Hara home.

The capture of a horse thief carries with it a standing reward of $200 paid by the state. This is the first time in several years that an offense of this nature has taken place in this city.

NO VERDICT YET RETURNED

Strafaccia Jury Has Been Out Twenty-Four Hours.

Wife and Three Children Spend Day of Anxiety.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, the jury which was drawn to decide whether or not Joseph Strafaccia shot Mike Rossi in self defense or murdered him following a quarrel over a card game at the Strafaccia home on the night of March 2 last, had failed to agree after having spent nearly twenty-four hours on the case.

The case was given to the jury at 2:48 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In its charge, the court gave the jury an opportunity to bring in any one of five verdicts: Guilty of murder in the first degree, guilty of murder in the second degree, guilty of murder in the third degree, guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, and not guilty.

Failing to reach an agreement last evening, the jury retired at 11 o'clock. An hour before this, the jury appeared before the court and asked for additional instructions. Among other things the jury wanted to know the law of the state with regard to carrying concealed weapons. Judge Fesler enlightened the jury.

It was a long day yesterday for the prisoner's wife and three small children, who waited around the courtroom and corridors until late in the evening eagerly waiting word from the jury. Finally when the children became drowsy and sleepy-eyed, the mother broke her vigil and left the courtroom for her home.

Marine

Lackawanna in Port.

According to members of the crew of the Lackawanna there was not much difficulty encountered on the rudderless voyage of the boat.

What kept the vessel over time on the trip up the lakes was the fact that part of the journey there was a tow behind the Lackawanna.

The vessel is at the Superior shipyards at the present time and it is believed that the boat will leave during the present week for the down lake journey.

Draft at Soo.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

A Mortgage with Power of Sale, was made and delivered by Virginia and Knife River Land Company, a corporation created and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Minnesota, as Mortgagor, to George B. Morley and Waldo A. Avery, as Mortgagees, dated the 5th day of October, A. D. 1912, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 4th day of December, A. D. 1912, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 218 of Mortgages, on page 364.

Default has been made in the conditions, agreements and covenants of said Mortgage, the said default consisting in the non-payment of Eighteen Hundred Fifty-eight and 29-100 Dollars ($1,858.29), being a part of the principal sum of said mortgage debt, which part became due and payable on the 5th day of July, A. D. 1913, and in the non-payment of One Hundred Twelve and 12-100 Dollars ($112.12) interest, to date of this notice on said sum so due, and in the non-payment of One Hundred Eighty-five and 83-100 Dollars ($185.83), annual interest on Three Thousand Ninety-seven and 15-100 Dollars ($3,097.15), of said mortgage debt, which annual interest became due and payable on the 5th day of October, A. D. 1913, and the said mortgage containing a provision that in case of default, it shall be lawful for said Mortgagees, their heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, or their attorney, to declare the whole sum specified in said mortgage to be due and payable, and the said Mortgagees having so elected, do hereby declare the entire sum secured by said Mortgage to be now due and payable; and there is claimed to be due and is due to the subscribers at the date of this notice, upon said Mortgage, in principal and interest, the sum of Five Thousand Two Hundred Fifty-four and 42-100 Dollars ($5,254.42), and no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the Power of Sale contained in said Mortgage and of the Statute in such case made and provided, said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises described thereln and hereinafter described, to satisfy the amount which shall, at the date of sale, be due on said mortgage, together with the costs and expenses of said sale, as allowed by law, and taxes if any on said premises, paid, or that shall have been paid by said mortgagees prior to said sale, and the further sum of One Hundred Dollars ($100.00), attorney's fees, as stipuated in said Mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure. Said sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County at his office in the St. Louis County Court House, in the City of Duluth, in said County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on Friday, the 21st day of November, A. D. 1913, at ten (10) o'clock A. M. of that day, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

The premises described in said Mortgage, and so to be sold, are situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and are known and described as follows, to-wit:

The East half of the Northeast quarter, Northwest quarter of the Northeast quarter, Northeast quarter of the Northwest quarter, West half of the Northwest quarter, and the Southeast quarter of the Southwest quarter, in Section One; Southeast quarter of the Southeast quarter, the East half of the Northeast quarter, the Southwest quarter of the Northeast quarter and the East half of the Southwest quarter, in Section Two; the North half of the Northeast quarter, the North half of the Northwest quarter and the Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter, Section Three; the Northeast quarter of the Northeast quarter, the Southwest quarter of the Northeast quarter and the Southeast quarter in Section Ten. East half of the Southeast quarter, Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter, the West half of the Northeast quarter, the East half of the Southwest quarter, the Southwest quarter of the Southwest quarter, and the East half of the Northwest quarter, in Section Eleven; the North half of the Northeast quarter and the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter, in Section Fourteen; the West half of the Northeast quarter, the Northeast quarter of the Southwest quarter, the East half of the Northwest quarter and the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter, in Section Fifteen; the West half of the Southeast quarter, the Northeast quarter of the Northeast quarter, West half of the Northeast quarter, the Southwest quarter, and the Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter, Section Twenty-two; the Northeast quarter of the Southeast quarter, the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter and the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter, Section Twenty-three; the Northwest quarter of the Southwest quarter, Section Twenty-four; the Southwest quarter of the Southwest quarter in Section Twenty-five; the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter, and the Northwest quarter of the Northeast quarter, Section Twenty-six; and the West half of the Northeast quarter, Section Twenty-seven, all in Township Fifty-three North, Range Twelve West, containing Two Thousand Four Hundred Seventy-seven and 72-100 acres, more or less, according to the government survey, with all the hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

Saving, excepting and reserving, however, unto said George B. Morley and Waldo A. Avery, all minerals and mineral rights in said premises.

WHEAT HAS STRONG TONE

Rules Firm Throughout Session With Good Buying in Evidence.

Flax Develops Weakness When Crushers' Demands Are Satisfied.

Duluth Board of Trade, Oct. 21.—The wheat market ruled strong up to the close with good buying in evidence. December wheat closed ½c up and May ⅞c up. December durum closed ¾c higher and May ¾c up.

Puts on December wheat closed at 81½c bid and calls at 82c bid.

Light receipts at Duluth and Minneapolis, unfavorable crop news from India, higher cables and improved demand from millers furnished incentives for a stronger market in wheat here today.

December wheat opened ⅛c up at 82⅜c, and advanced ½c further during the first three hours' business. May opened unchanged at 86⅝c and also gained ½c. Durum was especially strong through the session, with a good milling call for macaroni purposes reported. The December option opened unchanged at 79⅜c and it bulged a cent. May opened unchanged at 82⅜c and gained ⅞c later.

As a result of the small marketings of grain of late, elevator stocks are at last beginning to show some reduction, a decrease of 138,000 bu being reported in stores of all grains here during the past two days. This leaves total stocks of 16,046,060 bu, of which 10,797,000 bu is wheat. Receipts of wheat at Duluth and Minneapolis showed a falling off of 801 cars as compared with last year.

The elevator situation at Buffalo was reported to be improved this morning, over 1,200,000 bu having been elevated yesterday. As a result of strong representations, the railroads there are said to be making special efforts to supply cars and rush stuff forward to the seaboard.

Flax Slumps at Close.

After strong opening on light offerings and fair crushers, and short covering demand, an average advance of October flax was scored during the early trading in flaxseed. The call from crushers supplied, the market afterwards sagged of its own weight and prices fell 1¼c below yesterday's final figures. Quotations slumped rapidly on heavy selling just at the close.

October flax opened unchanged at $1.37½ and closed at $1.36¼; November opened unchanged at $1.37½ and closed at $1.36¼; December opened ¼c up at $1.36¾ and closed at $1.35¼, and May opened ⅝c up at $1.42, and closed at $1.40½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

John Fennelly of the Hall, Baker Grain company, Kansas City, was a visitor on the floor of the Board of Trade this morning. "Our farmers and the grain trade generally sustained a severe blow through the drying up of their corn fields," he said. "As a result there has been a general selling of stock, feed supplies being entirely inadequate. Considerable supplies of wheat are still being held in the state, growers generally looking for higher prices."

Mr. Fennelly expressed the opinion that large quantities of Manitoba wheat will be bought by Kansas City millers to mix in export flour grades. He thinks that the removal of the duty on Canadian wheat would ultimately be a good thing all around, and would not work to the disadvantage of the American grower. He regards grain prices as at as low a level at present as they will be on this season's crop.

* * *

It is estimated by Duluth elevator men that 55 per cent of the wheat crop has thus far left farmers' hands. There advices are to the effect that

A wire from Chicago said: "Broomhall's cables failed to confirm the serious damage to the Indian wheat crop, as indicated in private dispatches yesterday. Our domestic situation continues very strong and cash premiums are increasing. There will probably be some little setback on the lack of confirmation of the Indian news, but sentiment is switching decidedly to a belief in higher prices, and we favor purchases on all declines."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market opened with shorts covering, induced by the strength in Buenos Ayres, firmness in America and some apprehension regarding the outlook in India, and values were ⅝@¼d higher. Foreign offers continue disappointing with the quality in many countries unsatisfactory. Following the opening there was realizing and prices declined ¼d on the poor demand for parcels, further decline in No. 1 Manitoba spot on rain in India yesterday. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy, ⅛@¼d higher, with support in May at ⅜d advance.

"Corn opened ⅛d higher in sympathy with America. Later there was general heavy profit-taking, which resulted in a decline of ⅞@1d. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weak, ¾@⅞d lower."

Foreign crop summary: United Kingdom—Threshing returns show a good average. Area for wheat officially placed at 161,000 acres and oats 97,000 acres less than last year.

France—Seeding for the new crop making satisfactory progress.

Germany—Weather mostly favorable for seeding new wheat crop and gathering potatoes.

Russia—Some southern districts need rain for seeding wheat, which is backward. Otherwise the outlook is favorable. Corn mostly favorable.

Roumania—Weather favorable for wheat seeding and corn.

Hungary—Weather seasonable. Quality of last wheat crop very unsatisfactory.

Portugal—Wheat crop very short with quality unsatisfactory. Outlook for corn poor.

Wheat yields of the seven leading countries of the northern hemisphere for the current season are estimated by Broomhall at 2,557,600,000 bu, a gain of 9,600,000 bu over last year. To that there is to be added the production of India, Australia and Argentina, which last year amounted to 647,200,000 bu. It is thought that India and Argentina will show a considerable falling off in their coming harvests, while the crop in Australia is estimated to be well up to an average one.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Strength Grows on Outlook for Light Receipts.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Wheat developed fresh strength today, influenced by signs that the sharp decrease in Northwestern receipts would prove lasting. The falling off at Minneapolis and Duluth continued, with Winnipeg also moderating somewhat. Anxiety regarding the crop outlook for India and Argentina counted, too against the bears. Opening prices were ⅛@¼c to ⅛@⅜c higher, and an additional upturn followed.

Despite free selling on the advance, the market held up well. Closing prices were steauy ¼c to ¼@⅜c advance over last night.

Corn rose on account of unsettled weather, although weak cable quotations checked the buying to some extent. The market which started unchanged at ⅛@¼c higher, made a subsequent further gain.

Prospects of increased feeding because of lower temperatures prevented any important reaction. The close was firm at ¼c to ½@⅝c net advance.

Scantiness of offerings resulted in causing oats to bulge more decidedly than other grain. Several large concerns were conspicuous buyers.

Provisions rose in response to a fair demand for lard. Transactions at the outset varied from 2½c off to 7½c advance and afterwards climbed higher.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Large Gains By Steel, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific.

Amalgamated Also Rises Briskly and the Close Is Strong.

New York, Oct. 21.—The ruling of the interstate commerce commission vacating rate suspensions in the Missouri river district was an important factor in the buoyant rise of stocks today. Speculators regarded the decision as significant chiefly as an indication of the attitude of the commission and based upon it the most vigorous demonstration which the street has seen in weeks.

While there was increased buying for the long account, the demand came chiefly from the shorts who covered heavily, particularly in Union Pacific and Steel. Prominent stocks bounded up 2 to 4 points. Bonds were strong.

The stock market showed decided strength at the opening today. The demand was much more active, with especially heavy trading in Steel, Reading and the coppers. Nearly a score of stocks rose a point or more. Included in the list were Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, Amalgamated, Steel, New York Central and Canadian Pacific, the last named rising 2¾.

Evidence of a sold-out condition was furnished by the celerity with which prices advanced on the least encouragement from the buying side of the list. Blocks of 1,000 to 3,500 shares were turned over frequently, with the rise reaching 3 points in Union Pacific. Steel, Amalgamated and Reading gained 2 points.

The run-in of the short interest continued, although the buying was not so brisk as in the forenoon. London representatives took round amounts of various shares on the definite change in speculative sentiment here. Various specialties made material gains, particularly high-priced shares such as American Tobacco and Sears, Roebuck.

Active bidding for stocks ceased late in the afternoon and there was a slight recession. The success with which large speculators attracted in following on the bull side induced some of the pools in various stocks to begin work again.

The market closed strong. Speculation broadened to a marked degree and prices reached considerably higher levels. The periods of greatest activity were when quotations were rising briskly and the day's total of more than 500,000 shares was equal to any day for the recent bear campaign. Canadian Pacific made a gain of 6 points, Union Pacific nearly 4 and Reading, Steel and Amalgamated about 3.

—THE NEW— AMERICAN WOMAN

can be a business woman as well as a homemaker. All avenues are open to her and she justifies the confidence reposed in her.

The New American Woman is equally the master of the situation at the counter, the auditor's desk, in the doctor's role or as the legal adviser.

The modern woman is a constant reader of The Herald "Want" ads. She early recognized the value of these helpers and they have played a prominent part in her development.

BOOKKEEPER AND GENERAL office work; one who can operate typewriter; bring reference. Sample ad

When you wish to reach the best women workers to fill any position telephone a "Want" to Melrose or Grand 324.
